FILMS | VIDEO | TV FILMS | RADIO | MUSIC | STAGE

VARIETY

PRICE 35¢

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th Street, New York, N. Y. 10036, by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $15. Single copies, 35 cents.
Second Class Postage Paid at New York, N.Y.
© COPYRIGHT, 1964, BY VARIETY, INC., ALL RIGHTS RESERVED
Vol. 234 No. 6 NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1964 88 PAGES

JUMPING JET SET'S DISK DEN

Old Guests Unwelcome During Fair?

A recent VARIETY story made reference to travel agents not being sure even with confirmed hotel reservations during the upcoming tourist influx into New York for the World's Fair, and the N.Y. Visitors Bureau took exception to this. The bureau rightly spotlighted the fact that hotels, motels, etc., had pledged "no gouging" so it may still come as a surprise to them that some midtown hostelries (1) have jacked up new minimum rates, and (2) are making no bones about trying to ease out permanent tenants in favor of the expected avalanche of trade.

Hostelries are naturally being cautious for fear of reprisals from municipal agencies (fire exit inspections and the like, which can make things uncomfortable for them) but incumbent residents have been given the "message" about permanent guests no longer being as welcome as heretofore.

100,000 Rooms for Tourists As New York World's Fair at Mark

As the April 22 premiere date is now on the count-down, all Gotham facilities are geared into high for the N.Y. World's Fair influx, and particularly conscious about the whole thing is the Hotel Assn. of New York. Daniel C. Hickey, who was president of the Zeckendorf Hotels Corp. and president of the Hotel Commodore Corp., both New York, resigned to become the first paid prez of the trade association which embraces 165 metropolitan New York hotels with over 70,000 rooms.

Accenting yesterday (Tues.) that New York's hotels and motels afford 100,000 rooms, fortified by nonmember hostelries of the trade association, Hickey says that this means more than twice the number of rooms of any other capital of the world, and he wants to dissipate recurring rumors about hotel shortages.

Working with the N.Y. Visitors'
(Continued on page 72)

1st Tour of 400-Yr.-Old Lipizzaner Horse Display (Vienna) SRO in U.S. Bow

Entire Philadelphia and Washington stands of the North American tour of Vienna's famous white stallions, The Lipizzaner Horses of the Spanish Riding School, have been sold out since February although first performance, at Philadelphia Arena, isn't until April 9.

Tour, under auspices of Colum-
(Continued on page 24)

ZOOM LENS WITH INSTANT FOCUS DEBUTS NAB
See Angenieux-Eversheb orthicon zoom lens demonstrated by ARTHUR CHALLINOR and JACK LITTLER at Television Zoomar booth 8E NAB Convention.

adam young inc.
NAB CONVENTION
Conrad Hilton Suite
1100
OPEN HOUSE

Bamboo Curtain Ballerina

Peking, March 31.

Beryl Grey, former ballerina of the Saddler's Wells from London, is here for a half dozen guest performances with the Chinese National Ballet.

She is the first dancer from the Western World to appear here since the induction of the Communist regime.

Help My Picture?, What'll You Pay?

Staging of film premieres is getting to be almost more-trouble-than-it's-worth. With most "name" actors and actresses no longer under the control of studios, getting them to cooperate on a "reasonable" basis is a real pain in the head, according to a company pub exec.

To start with these actors stall until last minute as to assurances of their presence. Once they do agree to participate, getting them then becomes a major feat of organization and often expense. Agents get into the act, demand exorbitant fees for their client's publicity appearance.

One talent peddler recently asked distrib pay the actor $1,000 just to, as the pub exec put it, "stand in the lobby and have his picture taken." This kind of van-
(Continued on page 87)

Reds Dig America As Circus Act Showcase

Henry Ringling North, who is running this year's Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus, says that "for some reason the Iron Curtain countries now want us to see their circus acts." That's why (brother) John Ringling North is scouting Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary and may also go into Russia.

J. R. North will also o.o. several circuses in Turkey, says H. R., and kindred Middle East countries, where the tanbark entertainment is a centuries-old tradition.

PANAMA CUTS AN EAST SIDE CANAL

By ABEL GREEN

Swingin'est room in Gotham is Shepheard's in the Hotel Drake on Park Ave. It's a Michelin-type, three-star gourmet restaurant with a glorified discotheque policy as its prime draw. And the headliner is George (Slim) Hyatt, a little known $175-a-week, 35-year-old Panamanian potentate of pops who performs his diskology and parades his purposeful terpers with hidden persuasion.

His extra-sensory perception via the three turntables, on which he seems to magically mix the waddle, the frug, the madison, the mashed potato, in alteration with anything and everything from conventional foxtrotology to a Charleston, a Viennese Waltz to a tango, and then back to a paso doble, merengue, tamure or a pot-pourri of Brazilian mardi gras songs and the inevitable bossa nova makes him the monarch nightly for several hours of marathon dancing.

While little known, per se, to the masses he's very much "in" with the decidedly jet set patronage Shepheard's attracts. It's the most "in" room in Gotham and the management, from bossman Bill Zeckendorf Jr., managing director Max Blouet, vet maitre d'hotel Nino (Schiavon) and headwaiter Frank Melanesi somehow still can't understand it.

While presumably an anonymous disk jockey of the three turntables which he manipulates back of the bandstand, on which a live trio alternating plays in 30-minute sessions, the hip youngsters (and not-so-youngsters) know him from his
(Continued on page 85)

Dewey Vs. Nizer In Re Bronston

Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York and twice the Republican candidate for the presidency of the U. S., is now representing Pierre S. DuPont III in the latter's legal negotiations with Madrid-based film producer Samuel Bronston. Bronston's side of the hassle is being masterminded by attorney Louis Nizer.

Dewey, senior partner in the law firm of Dewey, Ballantine, Bushby, Palmer and Wood, is understood to have come into the case about a week ago. At the moment, both sides are said to be "talking," with no decisions yet reached.

It was reported at the time Bronston hired Nizer that the producer was seeking an end to the "voluntary" trusteeship arrangement whereby, in February, he assigned all his rights as general partner, in his various partnerships with DuPont, to a trustee (attorney Jesse Moss).

Gen. Motors Wants 'Bonanza' Negro Seg Bumped, But NBC Stands Pat

General Motors last week was applying all the pressure it could muster in an attempt to force NBC-TV to shelve a "Bonanza" episode scheduled for next month featuring Negro actress Ena Hartman, a talent groomed by and under contract to the network. At last report the network wasn't budging on the scheduled airing of the hour stanza, which guests Miss Hartman as the daughter of a Negro opera singer staying in Virginia City who gets involved with the show's regular all-male ranch family (plot is said to concern prejudice in some way)

General Motors tv brass headed by Gail Smith were slated to fly in from Detroit Friday (27) to face off against NBC programming execs. Despite earlier-threats that the car company would appeal its case against the stanza all the way up to NBC board chairman Robert Sarnoff, the network reportedly stood firm. GM may order the withdrawal of Chevrolet commercials for the Sunday night show in question.

Miss Hartman, a former model, was a network "talent find" and has been taking dancing, singing and acting lessons under NBC guidance. General Motors raised its objections on the premise of not
(Continued on page 19)

The Convincer

Paris, March 31.

French Authors' Society sure takes care of its aged. About 20 years ago Paul Derval had a couple of one-act playlets produced and became a member. Last week he got a letter from the Society saying that, now that he has reached a ripe old age, they would send him a monthly check from their old-age pension.

Not that Derval is in financial need; he is the proprietor-producer of the Folies Bergere, which brings in a few pennies regularly.

IATSE Secret War On World's Fair

Officials of various eastern entertainment unions, including several locals of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, met last Monday (30) to discuss some jurisdictional problems which have developed in connection with the N.Y. World's Fair.

It is understood that some decisions were reached by the unions regarding their problems but a spokesman for the group wouldn't discuss the nature of the jurisdictional squabbles or what decision was reached pending a meeting within the next few days between union reps and a World's Fair committee.

One problem, aside from the jurisdictional matter, that has already come to light is a dispute between commercial film producers and the Screen Actors Guild over a set of higher-than-standard scales being called for by SAG for work done by its members in films made in connection
(Continued on page 87)

B'way Chowmeinery Into Teenage No-Booze Boite

A teenage nitery, tabbed Teen Haven, the first such venture on Broadway in many years, is set to preem April 15 on the site of a now defunct Chinese restaurant. Soft-drink boite will cater to youngsters with such gimmicks as amateur talent contests, fashion-shows, deejay displays, teen-queen & king contests, and other events.

Jack Barone, a mathamatics teacher at St. John's Univ., is president of the venture.

Some years ago, a similar liquorless project for youngsters, the Danceteria, thrived on Times Square. That cafe was on a name policy, but it was found that they couldn't dish out that many scoops of icecream to make the spot pay.

Dirksen on American Image Overseas: Ought 'Monitor' Our Exports

Portland, March 31.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said here that motion pictures for the overseas market should be "monitored." Due to speak at the Lincoln Club, his remarks were made during a pre-dinner press conference.

Republican leader was asked whether he had seen "Dr. Strangelove" or "Seven Days in May" and whether he considered them as putting our leaders in a poor light. He hadn't seen "Dr. Strangelove"
(Continued on page 21)

TOM HOWARD
WBTV CHARLOTTE

"One of our most useful production devices is our Angenieux-Zoomar lens. This lens has brought us numerous compliments from our clients on the quality of our product. Optical performance of our Angenieux-Zoomar is outstanding . . . the 35 mm. wide angle view and the three foot minimum focusing distance make this the finest and most versatile lens you have yet produced."

On display at Television Zoomar's booth 8E, N.A.B. Chicago.

Cold Cultural War Sees More Yank, European Pix, Plays Breaking Thru Iron Curtain; Black Market Ducats

By HAZEL GUILD

Frankfurt, March 31.

The cold war severing Europe and Asia is apparently breaking down under the warming spring winds, as reports creeping through the Iron Curtain reveal an upswing in popularity for the so-called "decadent Western authors and playwrights." As sort of a back handed slap at the increasing status of U.S. and European films, it's just been revealed that several citzens in Prague, Czechoslovakia, were arrested and jailed because of black-marketing tickets to see "Gone With the Wind" (MGM).

The No. 1 film star in Prague is Brigitte Bardot. Her current big hit is "Babette Goes to War," with waiting lines holding as many as 5,000 people standing patiently to get tickets.

On the other side of the picture, a report from a Hungarian newspaper in the city of Debrecen noted that the "hooligans" dared to jeer and demonstrate against an "outstanding Soviet film" titled, "The Russian Wonder."

The most popular films in East Germany are not those which the propaganda-mill of the DEFA pro-

(Continued on page 24)

L.A. 'Surprise' Party For Winchell's 67th Birthday Grows Into Public Bash

Hollywood, March 31.

A "surprise" party for Walter Winchell's 67th birthday, which started spontaneously with the 55-man press corps covering the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnapping trial here, comes to fruition with a public bash in the Cocoanut Grove of the Hotel Ambassador next Tuesday (7).

When Winchell heard of it, he asked that the party be restricted to $5-a-head at the L. A. Press Club "just with the boys" but it has snowballed into a blacktie affair and a mixed attendance.

By coincidence, J. Myer Schine's top man at the Ambassador Hotel, Philip Weber Sr., also marks his birthday on the same day and Winchell insisted it be a "double feature." The Schine management also told WW to tell the press bunch not to worry about the tab (Winchell guests at the local Ambassador Hotel).

Roberta Sherwood is cutting short her Bal Harbour (Fla.) engagement to fly here as part of an al fresco show that will be on hand for the Winchell birthday. The Grove is dark next week until the new show opens on Friday, Hollywood AP bureau's Jimmy Bacon is sparking the "do."

Hearts of Gold

Maybe the ultimate in just-lucky-I-guess legendary rewards for winners of beauty contests: former Miss America (Amede Chabit) and the 1963 Miss Canada (Danica d'Hondt) are among the beauties set to work in the film "A House Is Not A Home" for Embassy.

Based on Polly Adler's book.

Post-Preem 'Funny Girl' Party a Rainbow Room Coup for Jerry Brody

Considered a restaurant showmanship coup was the deal that Jerome Brody, new boss of the Rainbow Room, N. Y., made with Ray Stark for the latter's post-premiere party of "Funny Girl" in the Rockefeller Center 65-story-high dine-and-dancery.

Whatever the terms—the party is said to have cost Stark around $5,000—the booze and food were good and generous and kept flowing. Because the invitees were a generous cross-section of show biz, socialite, politico, press and other VIPs, the plus for Brody's RR was the comment, "Why don't we ever think of the Rainbow Room?" Many seemingly pigeonholed it with the Empire State as "just for the tourist."

"Funny Girl" star Barbra Streisand deferred her entrance until the Times, Trib and News reviews were in and she did it in traditional "Sardi's entrance" manner with much salvoing.

For some reason, Rainbow Room batoneer Tony Cabot appeared partial to "Hello Dolly!" and deficient on his musical arrangements from the Jule Styne-Bob Merrill score.

Incidentally, publicist Philip Miles, now a veepee with Brody's new operation—both were ditto titled when Brody was prez of Restaurant Associates—says that the "other" room—the Rainbow Grill—will also add dansapation. Idea is to make that "the swingin' room" and the main (Rainbow) room for the more posh dining and dancing.

John D. 3d's Medallion

Handel Medallion, City of New York's top music award, will be handed John D. Rockefeller 3d at the New York Hilton Hotel April 8 when he is honored at dinner concert for his leadership in developing Lincoln Center.

Host of occasion is the Concert Artists Guild. Tickets cost $50 per seat.

BERT BACHARACH

Columnist King Features Syndicate

"Like a newspaper columnist, PAUL ANKA'S following takes in all classes of people and every age group. His assignments cover all countries and his talent is firmly established as a top composer-actor-singer."

Rare Music, Big Ballet Emphasis At Spoleto Fest

Seventh season of the Festival of Two Worlds at Spoleto, Italy, is set, June 9-July 19. Opener is Richard Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" with Thomas Schippers, a Spoleto regular, conducting. He's also artistic director. Louis Malle, the French film director, will stage the work. It's Malle's maiden effort in staging either opera or legitimate.

"Rosenkavalier" sets are designed by Ghislain Uhry of France. Singers will include four Americans, Joan Marie Moynagh, Marguerite Willauer, Marianne Weltman and James Billings. The German bass, Frido Meyer-Wolff, will also appear. There will be six performances of the opera in all at the Teatro Nuovo.

Schippers will conduct the annual outdoor concert on the Cathedral Square, combining Rossini's "Sabat Mater" and Beethoven's "Cantata on the Death of Emperor Joseph II." This is for July 19. Latter composition was re-discovered in the past two years. Soloists for these two works will include Nancy Tatum, soprano, and Justino Diaz, basso. The chorus will be from National Academy of Santa Cecilia in Rome.

There will be the daily chamber music concerts in the intimate Teatro Caio Melisso at noon, under the direction of Charles Wadsworth. Associated artists include John Browning, pianist; Diaz; Gary Karr, double-bass, and the Beaux Arts String Quartet.

Princeton High School Choir, under the direction of Thomas Hilbish, will be part of the festival for the first time, appearing in three concerts with the Trieste Philharmonic (June 26, 27 and 28).

Festival has contracted America's Paul Taylor Dance Co. and the entire Royal Ballet of London. The latter will undertake for the first time in its history the full-length production of Alexander Glazunov's "Raymonda" with the original choreography by Petipa. This version, which has been seen in Europe and America only sporadically, will be re-created by Rudolf Nureyev, who will also dance opposite Dame Margot Fonteyn, appearing in the title-role for the first time in her career. (Conductor and designer now negotiating.) The performances at the Teatro

(Continued on page 19)

Catching Up

Paris, March 31.

Maurice Escande, top man of the Comedie Francaise, will return to the business of acting on April 15 for one performance of "Andromaque." Seems that, while he was a thespian, he played all the male roles except one, at various times.

Now he will play that one, Phoenix, to close the gap.

Godfrey's 'Golden Age of Radio'

Chicago, March 31.

Arthur Godfrey, in his address to the American College of Radio banquet here last Thursday (26), offered this slate for a new golden age of radio:

"Can You Top This?"	—	with Henry Cabot Lodge
"Let's Pretend"	—	with Harold Stassen
"Amateur Hour"	—	with George Romney
"Right To Happiness"	—	with Barry Goldwater
"Queen For a Day"	—	with Margaret Chase Smith
"The Shadow"	—	with Richard Nixon
"Lone Ranger"	—	with Lyndon B. Johnson
"Gang Busters"	—	with Bobby Kennedy
"Truth Or Consequences"	—	with Bobby Baker
"Second Mrs. Burton"	—	with Liz Taylor
"It Pays To Be Ignorant"	—	with Cassius Clay
"Answer Man"	—	with Joe Valachi
"Our Gal Sunday"	—	with Christine Keeler

'FANNY HILL' A-FILMING IN GERMANY—IN SPADES

Frankfurt, March 31.

Now that it's taken over a century for "Fanny Hill" to be considered table talk, it looks as if it's going to be cinema fare as well—with two versions of the notorious 19th century bestseller coming up.

British producer David Pelham is going all-out on a big "Fanny," with production costs estimated at about $550,000 and with play-for-pay girl Mandy Rice-Davies in the lead. Miss Rice-Davies broke into show business as a singer at the Eve Bar in Munich and apparently indicated that she is suitable professional for this role.

And in Germany, producer Ar-

(Continued on page 21)

Dick Gregory No Victim Of Racial Discrimination, Rochester Comish Rules

Rochester, N.Y., March 31.

Negro comic Dick Gregory and a party were not refused service at the Monroe County Airport because of racial discrimination. So has ruled the Human Relations Commission after taking extensive testimony.

Report raps the county and the cafe lessee, Sky Chefs Inc., for giving the manager of the cafe discretionary right to close the eatery whenever in his judgment business is slack. Many white travellers were similarly inconvenienced in the past. Apparently Gregory and party found the doors closed in their faces though bartenders inside were still in uniform.

Commission recommends that the privilege of closing an airport facility at the sole discretion of its manager should be cancelled by the county.

However the facts may be, Gregory is not convinced and says he will sue the airport cocktail lounge, Cafe Avion. Episode in question occurred Feb. 15. He wants his group to take lie detectors and the bartenders to be subjected to similar test. National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People is involved in the case.

Producers Org Seek Offset To Pic Bureaucracy

Madrid, March 31.

Recent one-day general assembly meeting of the International Federation of Film Producers' Assns. (FIAC) marked a swing toward a prepared program of activity to soften and curtail bureaucratic road blocks impeding free film commerce. The meeting also produced FIAP signs of an international drive to expand and strengthen the world film market.

Madrid meeting, presided over by America's Ralph Hetzel, concretely acted to authorize the election of three regional veepees at the coming meeting from candidates nominated by producer groups in the Western Hemisphere, Europe, and Asia.

Planned action to protect producer interests will send FIAP execs to negotiate with government

(Continued on page 85)

Talent Agents Feel Heat on Hot Springs Will Cool Off in Time

Talent agencies feel that the current crackdown on gambling in Hot Springs, Ark., is temporary. The green baize tables and the slotmachines are too important to the local economy and public pressure is expected to return gambling.

Hot Springs as a "wide open" resort was ended Saturday (29) by executive order of Gov. Orval E. Faubus who declared that unless the illegal operations shuttered he would send state troopers to close the spots. Such clubs as the Southern, Vapors and Belvedere are now in a position where they must either play out their entertainment contracts under conditions in which the bonifaces will lose considerable coin, or get postponements.

Some contracts have 20-day pro-

(Continued on page 72)

4/1

VARIETY

Subscription Order Form

Enclosed find check for $.....

Please send VARIETY for ☐ One Year ☐ Two Years ☐ Three Years

To .....
(Please Print Name)

Street .....

City..... Zone.... State.....

Regular Subscription Rates

One Year—$15.00 Two Years—$28.00

Three Years—$39.00

Canada and Foreign—$1 Additional Per Year

VARIETY Inc.

154 West 46th Street New York, N. Y. 10036

VARIETY

Trade Mark Registered.

FOUNDED 1905 by SIME SILVERMAN; Published Weekly by VARIETY, INC.

Syd Silverman, President
154 West 46th St., New York, N. Y. 10036 JUdson 2-2700

Hollywood, Calif. 90028
6404 Sunset Boulevard, HOllywood 9-1141

Washington, D. C. 20004
784 National Press Building, STerling 3-5445

Chicago, Ill. 60611
400 No. Michigan Ave., DElaware 7-4984

London, S.W.1
49 St. James's Street, Piccadilly, HYde Park 4561-2-3

SUBSCRIPTION Annual, $15; Foreign, $16; Single Copies, 35 Cents

ABEL GREEN, Editor

Volume 234 120 Number 6

INDEX

Bills	76	New Acts	76
Casting	84	Night Club Reviews	76
Chatter	86	Obituaries	87
Film Reviews	6	Pictures	3
House Reviews	77	Radio	29
Inside Pictures	28	Record Reviews	66
Inside Radio-TV	58	Television	29
International	25	Television Reviews	51
Legitimate	79	TV Film	39
Literati	85	Tollvision	28
Music	65	Vaudeville	70
		Wall Street	17

DAILY VARIETY
(Published in Hollywood by Daily Variety, Ltd.)
$20 a year. $25 Foreign.

EGYPT SEEKS COPRODUCTIONS

Yank Party for Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, March 31.

Despite earlier protestations that the policy-setting execs of the Buenos Aires Film Fest were "not interested" in any out-of-competition showings, Tony Richardson's "Tom Jones" (UA-Lopert) kicks off the 10-day affair here tonight (Wed.) with a special out-of-comp screening.

Karl Malden heads the official U.S. delegation to the fest, with Robert Corkery, veep of the Motion Picture Export Assn., and George Rylance, deputy public affairs officer at the U.S. Embassy here, completing the official delegation.

Yank film personalities due in include actresses Janet Leigh and Paula Prentiss, actors Tony Perkins and Richard Benjamin (husband of Miss Prentiss).

Natalie Wood, star of the official U.S. entry, "Love With The Proper Stranger," was a last-minute cancellation. Producer Arthur Loew Jr., who set to come, bowed out with Miss Wood.

Director David Miller is the U.S. member of the fest's international jury.

In addition to "Stranger," the Yanks also are being officially repped by the U.S. Informational Agency documentary, short, "Grand Central Market."

Fred Hift's Shift to London

Will Handle 20th-Fox Production Publicity — Rosenfield Separates Distribution Touting

With two pix now shooting in England and no less than 15 more due to lens wholly or in part in Britain and Europe between now and late fall, 20th-Fox ad-pub veep Jonas Rosenfield Jr. is separating European production and distribution publicity chores, heretofore vested in one guy.

Fred Hift, who has been ad-pub director for Britain, Europe and the Near East, based in Paris, is being named director of production publicity for Britain and Europe. Hift will move his headquarters to London next month, base of operations of 20th's European production boss, Elmo Williams. Hift, working in close cooperation with Williams, will be directly responsible to Rosenfield.

As yet, no man has yet been found to take over the distrib publicity chores in Paris. Under the new set-up, however, this exec's territory will be limited to Europe and the Near East. John Fairbairn, pub director in Britain who used to report to Hift, will in the future report directly to Rosenfield anent his release promotion activities.

Prior to taking on the European ad-pub post for 20th in September, 1962, Hift had headed production publicity units on Otto Preminger's "Exodus," Robert Rossen's "The Hustler" and Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Longest Day."

Among the pix on 20th's overseas calendar are the currently shooting "Guns At Batasi" (Britain) and "Zorba The Greek" (Crete), plus: "Sound of Music," Austrian locations, starting April 21; "Patate," French language production, France, May 10; "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," Britain, May 18; "Bonfire," French language production, France, May; "The Pleasure Seekers," locations in Spain, May-June; "The Agony and The Ecstacy," Rome, June 1; "Rapture In My Rags," France, June; "A High Wind in Jamaica," Britain, July; "Von Ryan's Express," Italy, July; "Epitaph for An Enemy," France, July; "Promise At Dawn," France, September; "My Mother's House," Britain, September; "Lady of The Camillias," French language production, France, October; and, both for fall starts, "A Share of The World," Britain, and "A Sleepless Night in Capri," Italy.

In order to simplify liaison, the new European production publicity chief will be responsible for all 20th pix shooting in Britain and Europe, whether or not they are being filmed there in their entirety, or are Coast studio pix on location junkets.

Shirley Clarke's Checkup

Femme film director Shirley Clarke checked into Medical Arts Hospital Monday (30) for a checkup to clear up touch of flu she has been unable to shake.

Miss Clarke, who helmed "The Connection," expects to be back at work by Monday.

Nod to Quincy, Mass.

Also a winner, but not listed in original story, in MPAA's Boyd Martin Motion Picture Page Awards was the Patriot Ledger of Quincy, Mass.

It won in group three (circulation under 100,000). Runnerup was Houston Press.

Paul Lazarus Turns Producer

Paul N. Lazarus Jr., recently out as exec veepee of Samuel Bronston Productions, is joining the producer ranks. Exec reveals that his first production has, in fact, been quietly in work for some weeks.

Pic is a feature-length documentary, "Report: The Teenager and Sex," which producer Max J. Rosenberg, of Van Gurd Productions, is shooting for Lazarus' new indie company, Penell Pictures. Rosenberg already has shot footage in England and France and is currently working in Japan. Production will wind with shooting in the U.S. Rosenberg produced "Girl of the Night" for Warners several years ago.

According to Lazarus, no distrib deal has been set, but it's understod that there have been talks at 20th-Fox.

Pat Boone Looms as Yank Star (First) in Feature Made By Japanese

Tokyo, March 31.

Winding a smash singing tour of Nippon, Pat Boone began discussions with a major Japanese studio for him to star in a feature to be lensed here.

Although he's flexible on the project, what Boone has in mind is a Japanese-language picture in which he'd be the only foreigner. If necessary, he might go co-production, but at this time he's thinking in terms of a guarantee salary against a percentage for the Japanese market. If the film gets released beyond these shores, he would want a heftier slice.

Should the film materialize, Boone would become the first bonafide non-Nipponese star to appear in a Japanese picture.

The story Boone suggests for the picture concerns a cocky American baseball player coming here and painfully discovering that he must extend himself if he wants to be a winner—both on and off the field.

GOVT. ERECTS A 'CINEMA CITY'

By VINCENT CANBY

Cairo, which has long regarded itself as the Hollywood of the Arab world, is now about to make a bid for status as an international production center. To this end, the government of the United Arab Republic is:

(1) Sponsoring the construction of a giant, $10,000,000 Cinema City on the outskirts of Cairo, containing within its 50 acres nine sound stages, labs, exterior shooting areas, animation facilities and even a motel;

(2) Prepared to enter into coproduction agreements with overseas producers, even to the extent of putting up actual production capital, and

(3) Making plans to host its first international film festival in Cairo this coming October.

Details of Egypt's ambitious film program were revealed in New York this week by Fathy Ibrahim, vet motion picture exec who, until late last year, was head of 20th-Fox operations in the UAR. Ibrahim is now chairman of the Egyptian General Co. for International Film Production and Distribution. Company is part of the government's Cinema, Broadcasting and Television Organization which, in turn, is governed by the Ministry of Culture and Tourism.

The Ibrahim company, in addition to overseeing the construction and operation of the new Cinema City, blueprinted for completion in 18 months, also controls three existing Cairo studios, the Misr, El Ahram and Galal, which contain a total of nine stages.

Principal purpose of the new Cinema City is to attract to the shores of the Nile overseas production interests who, in turn, will aid Egypt in cracking the international film market. To date, foreign producers have come to Egypt on a strictly occasional basis, either for quick location work (20th's "Cleopatra" unit was there for 11 days) or grade B specs and mellers ("Son of Spartacus," "Cairo," etc.).

While up to 70 or 80 Egyptian films made annually have a ready market throughout North Africa and the Middle East (and can be

(Continued on page 21)

Eddie Fisher As Maker of 'Wagon' (Lerner & Loewe)

Eddie Fisher wrapped up three projects before he took off yesterday (Tues.) from New York to open at Sammy Lewis' Melodyland, Anaheim, Calif., the kingsize nitery which has a drawing population of 8,000,000 from the adjacent aviation and kindred industry workers. For a non-Las Vegas operation, the mass-capacity Melodyland has been playing top names at top terms. Fisher gets $30,000 a week for his one-week stand against 75-25% terms.

The second project is acquisition by him of film rights from the Louis B. Mayer estate to "The Painted Wagon" which he considers the "best" Lerner & Loewe musical. He will produce it independently, probably in Cinerama. He paid $199,000 (a gag figure to get under the 200G) for a property which the late movie mogul planned as his "comeback" undertaking but was taken ill. Mayer had some $450,000 invested in the property at the time.

Alan Jay Lerner meantime has been working on the screenplay and he, with composer-collaborator Frederick Loewe, are committed to four new songs as part of the picture package.

Fisher, in between looking for a director "of the calibre of Jerome Robbins or Gower Champion," who he feels "right" for the Cinerama

(Continued on page 28)

'Cardinal' Never Meant for Cartagena; Rothman Refutes Arlene Dahl 101%

The rap handed Columbia Pictures re the no-show of Otto Preminger's "The Cardinal" at the recent Cartagena (Colombia) film fest was totally unjustified and based completely on misinformation, according to Col International exec veepee Mo Rothman.

Exec takes sharp exception to almost all the "facts" that were related by Arlene Dahl in a Hollywood datelined story in the March 25 issue of VARIETY. Star had charged that U. S. good will efforts at the fest had been crippled by Col's "last-minute yanking" of "The Cardinal." This could hardly be true, says Rothman, because the picture had never been skedded for the fest.

Nobody connected with the Cartagena fest, he continues, ever asked Columbia, producer Preminger, nor the Motion Picture Assn. of America for the participation of "The Cardinal."

On Feb. 12, two weeks before the fest's start, he says, Columbia was informed that "Cardinal" star Tom Tryon was to be a member of the U. S. delegation. In this connection, Col dispatched a number of publicity kits to their man in Bogota for use at the festival. Rothman heard no more about the fest until March 2 when he received a call from Col first veep Mike Frankovich who told Rothman he had just had a call from Miss Dahl in Cartagena asking him where "Cardinal" print was.

Since there had never been any idea of the picture's being shown at the fest, Rothman on March 3 dispatched a cable to Col's manager to Bogota telling him the facts and asking him to tell Miss Dahl, adding that if there was any confusion, Miss Dahl could contact him (Rothman) directly.

Miss Dahl's subsequent report to a VARIETY reporter that she had cabled Rothman and had in turn received a "sorry — film cannot be shown" reply was completely false, the Col Int'l exec veepee states flatly. He had no communication with her whatsoever. Perhaps, he adds, her remarks to the press were inspired more by a desire for publicity than from a sense of national outrage.

Rothman is baffled as to how word spread that the picture would be shown since there wasn't even a print of the film in Colombia and the picture still hasn't been set for release there.

The Col exec is further rankled by the fact that Columbia, of all film companies, should be so bumrapped re Cartagena. This is the first year since 1960 that Col has not been repped at the fest, Col having had entries in 1961, 1962 and 1963. In fact, the company was cited by the Cartagena fest heads in 1962 with an award praising Columbia for its "constant cooperation" with the fest.

Dahl, Girl Reporter

Hollywood, March 31.

Arlene Dahl commenting on Mo Rothman's rebuttal, said that when she arrived in Cartagena Fest, officials assured her that arrangements had been firmed for "The Cardinal" to be shown there out of competition. Actress also asserted she did not "mean to give impression" she had cabled Rothman directly, which impression she did give. She communicated with Rothman through a phone call relayed by Col production chief Mike Frankovich.

Spain's Own Reply

Madrid, March 31.

Spain will undertake a documentary reply to the unfavorable French film "Morir a Madrid" (To Die in Madrid) lensed in part by French director Rosif here.

A Spanish documentary, "Morir en Espana" (To Die in Spain) will be directed by Esteban Madruga from a script by ex-film critic and current San Sebastian director, Carlos Fernaidez Cuenca. Rafael Mateo is producing and Sebastian Luca de Tena will act as military advisor.

Film makers will have access to governmental archives of Civil War newsreels and documentary footage. The film, using professional actors, will be rushed into production to meet a press screening date at the San Sebastian film festival in early June.

UA Spreadout Of 'Tom Jones' in N.Y.

"Tom Jones," United Artists-Lopert's smash pic which has been doing rubber walls biz at Cinema I & II, N. Y., will open a 15-theatre Gotham area break April 8.

The Tony Richardson pic, which has been doing sock biz throughout the country since spreading into upwards of 100 situations a while ago, will continue at Cinema I & II when making its spread. Interestingly, UA is not billing the 15-house split a "Golden Showcase" or other tag to that effect as it has done in the past with such situations.

It is understood that, following the 15-theatre spread, "Jones" will go into some kind of "showcase" release, including neighborhood situations. Such a "showcase" release would merely be a nabe multiple, however, since the pic would already have played a first-run and limited multiple booking, thereby hardly qualifying for "showcase" handling as presently defined. Such plans further demonstrate the widening application of the "showcase" handle and the widespread changes also taking place.

One of the major changes, for example, is the fact that "Jones" may not go on the RKO-Skouras "showcase" plot. This is indicative of a growing dissatisfaction being expressed by some distribs as to how "showcase" is working out on the major circuits. It may also indicate a possible split by UA with RKO-Skouras "showcase" plan as it now exists—running several tracks at once to accommodate Universal, Warner Bros. as well as UA and others. "Jones" is one of the year's major attractions and if it doesn't go to RKO as other lesser pix have, the omission could point to other "showcase" moves in the making.

Buenos Aires Fest Jury Includes Zoltan Fabbri, Last Year's Winner

Buenos Aires, March 31.

Seven-member jury for the competitive pictures at the International Film Festival of Buenos Aires, opening April 1, is as follows:

Carlos Fernandez Cuenca, Spain; David Miller, U.S.A.; Jacques Demy, France; Zoltan Fabbri, Hungary; Sergio Amidei, Italy; and one Argentine—either Leopoldo Torre Nilsson, the director; or Orestes Caviglia, the actor; or Robert Talice, the playwright; or Hector Grossi, a film critic.

Seventh member, from West Germany, to be picked any minute.

Fabbri is the director of last year's Mar del Plata prize-winner.

Lebworth to Coast

Joseph Lebworth, former production assistant for Darryl F. Zanuck at 20th-Fox, and now set up as an indie producer, flew to Hollywood for a week's consultations with 20th studio chief Richard Zanuck.

Concerns filming of Joseph Conrad's novel "Nostromo."

Weitman Details Metro Production: Balance of Home Team 'n' Outsiders

By EDDIE KALISH

At a time when other companies tend to a production system based on deals with "independents," the thinking at Metro is to utilize such outsiders in balance with a sizeable slate of house-produced product. Also, Metro is undertaking a talent building program via its tv production operation, seeking to develop players, writers and directors for work in features.

Both of these strategies are coordinated under the eye of v.p. Robert M. Weitman, making frequent trips to New York and to the MGM London studio. In Gotham last week, he noted that the company presently has 36 features lined up for lensing into 1965. Of these, 27 will be made at Culver City and nine will be lensed in the English plant with some sequences also in Hollywood. He characterized this prospect as "diversified" and "one of the strongest the company has had."

Weitman noted that several of these features are specifically planned at a certain price bearing in mind certain markets. This is in line with an attitude which says "cover all bases but do so at the right price." This carries through in the buying of properties as well as making the product and is a carefully plotted production scheme, planned for tight budget control and a knowledge of where each pic is going by prez Robert H. O'Brien and Weitman.

As to studio-produced films, idea is that there are some properties which should be purchased immediately by the studio without waiting for an independent to bring it to the company. Such was the case with both the musical "Unsinkable Molly Brown," which Metro bought and assigned to Lawrence Weingarten to make, and the novel "The Prize," which the studio purchased and gave to Pandro S. Berman. These are studio producers among whose number are also Ted Richmond, Ivan Tors, George Pal, Arthur Freed, Joe

(Continued on page 24)

HIT NEAR AND FAR

Rackmil, Aboaf on Tour of Exotic Countries

Universal Pictures president Milton R. Rackmil and veep-foreign general manager Americo Aboaf leave New York Saturday (4) on an extensive trip through the Far and Middle East, returning to the States by way of Europe late this month.

Execs will first visit Japan where they will attend the company's annual Japanese sales conference in Tokyo starting April 6. Trip will conclude the U toppers' survey of company operations around the world begun last December with sales meets in Europe and continued with the Latin American meets in Mexico in January.

A David Wolper Pic for Theatres

David L. Wolper, the tv documentary producer, is working on his first theatrical feature. Pic will initiate a deal with United Artists, which will involve other production plans in both the feature and tv fields.

During the current tv season, Wolper produced a series of documentaries for UA-TV. He will do the same for the coming season. Wolper is also the producer of the "Hollywood and the Stars" NBC weekly half hour series, also a UA-TV show.

The UA deal is understood to be a multi-million dollar pact involving considerable production activity. Details aren't available at present. A special press conference will be held later in the week in New York by Wolper and UA to discuss the pact.

Joe's Got Dick-Liz

Boston, March 31.

Joseph E. Levine, visiting the hometown where his wife, Rosalie, is at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital for minor surgery, revealed he hopped to Toronto and inked Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor to a contract to make a film, "Sands of Kalahari," to be shot in Africa.

Burtons are now in Hub, where Burton is playing the title role in modernized "Hamlet" at the Shubert.

OBRENTZ EXITS METRO, RESUMES AT COLUMBIA

Bert Obrentz has resigned his post as veepee of Metro International to rejoin the exec staff of Columbia International. Obrentz began his new duties as general assistant to Col International exec veep Mo Rothman on Monday (30). (30).

The switch back to Col by Obrentz follows five years of previous experience with the company when, from 1955 through April, 1960, he served as assistant to Lacy Kastner, then operating head of Col International. At Metro, he was veepee in charge of the Far East, Australasia and Africa.

Ferreri's 'Ape Woman' Looks Hot for Cannes

Rome, March 31.

Marco Ferreri's "The Ape Woman," a Carlo Ponti production, is believed a hot contender for an invitational position at the Cannes Film Festival, where "Seduced and Abandoned" is the official Italian entry. Pic gets Embassy Pictures release in U.S.

Would run at Cannes in its original version. New ending has since been filmed by Ferreri, with collaboration of stars Annie Girardot and Ugo Tognazzi.

Ferreri's previous pic, "Conjugal Bed," won Marina Vlady a "best actress" prize at the 1963 Cannes event.

Glucksman Expands

Hollywood, March 31.

Ernest D. Glucksman, Jerry Lewis' exec producer and personal manager for the last five years has a new expanded working agreement with the comedian. In addition to continuing as Lewis' manager, Glucksman will concentrate on creation, development and production of packages in tv, films and legit for the Lewis company.

Plans include management of a "limited number" of personalities as well as merchandising and recording. Glucksman on June 1 completes producer chores of latest Lewis starrer, "The Patsy," for Paramount.

U.S. to Europe

Lorenzo Alvary
Ernie Anderson
Gene Barry
Herb Brenner
Peter Bridge
Clint Eastwood
John Ericson
Lennie Hayton
Lena Horne
Fred Hift
Phil Gersdorf
Ben Henry
Nunnally Johnson
Marion Kurtz
Jack Lenny
Virginia Martindale
Stephen Mason
Kevin McClory
Tom McDermott
Laurence M. Parnes
Walter Reade Jr.
Manny Reiner
Evelyn Rothwell
Stephen Sharmat
Kenneth J. Stein
Rudolf Stoiber
Bill Stuttman
Rosalyn Turek
William Tuttle
Hugh Walker

National Boxoffice Survey

Easter Week Booms Biz; 'World' Champion, 'Jones' 2d, 'Strangelove' 3d, 'Newman' 4th, 'Panther' 5th

Soaring grosses, boosted by Easter holiday session, dominated the key cities covered by VARIETY this round. Great showings are being made in most major keys despite some cold weather, snow and rain.

Extra matinees and holiday scales (in some instances) will push "It's a Mad World" (UA) (19th wk) back into top position, from second place of a week ago. "Tom Jones" (UA) (18th wk), not playing on hardticket or on as high scales as "World" is capturing second spot. It was No. 1 last week.

"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk) is winding up third, same as week ago. "Capt. Newman" (U) (3d wk) is pushing up to fourth position compared with sixth last stanza.

"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk) is taking fifth money, same as a week ago. "Seven Days in May" (Par) (6th wk) is winding up sixth. "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk) will finish seventh.

"Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk) again is landing eighth place. "Cardinal" (Col) (14th wk) is copping ninth spot. "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) is taking 10th position although out for first time this round.

"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM), also in first stanza, will be 11th while "Silence" (Janus) (8th wk), rounds out the Top 12 grossers. "7 Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM), "Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "America, America," also from Warners, are the runnerup pix in that sequence.

Several new pictures, just launched this week, hint promise. "Flight From Ashiya" (UA) is a bit spotty but fine in Denver and socko in L.A. "Muscle Beach Party" (AI), stout in Omaha, shapes big in Frisco.

"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par), another newcomer, shapes smash on initial session at N.Y. DeMille. "Becket," also from Paramount, is capacity in N.Y. at the State, and looms socko in Chi, big in L.A. and good in Omaha.

"Brass Bottle" (U) is rated good in Pitt on its initial playdate. "World of Henry Orient" (UA), just getting started, is landing a huge take at N.Y. Music Hall in second session, with boost from Easter stageshow.

"To Bed or Not To Bed" (Cont) shapes mostly lusty to lofty in some seven key cities where playing arty theatres. "Easy Life" (Embassy) is doing nicely in some four keys, also art houses.

Note: The number of weeks out in release for bigger and longrun pix are designated in such cases.

Complete Boxoffice Reports on pages 12-13-15).

British Film Academy Awards

'Jones' and 'Servant' Divide — Two Nods To Dirk Bogarde — Patricia Neal Also Wins

London, March 31.

Two British features dominate the awards handed out by the British Film Academy, with three prizes apiece to "Tom Jones" and "The Servant." The presentations will be made next Friday at the Academy Awards annual dinner at the London Hilton.

"Tom Jones" copped the dual honors of being named the best film from any source and, therefore automatically, the best British pic. Additionally, John Osborne was accoladed for the best British screenplay.

"The Servant" collared two acting awards for Dirk Bogarde (best British actor) and James Fox (most promising newcomer) as well as the best black and white cinematography for Douglas Slocombe.

Among other awards, Patricia Neal got the nod as best foreign actress for "Hud"; Marcello Mastroianni as best foreign actor ("Divorce, Italian Style"); Rachel Roberts, best British actress ("This Sporting Life"); Ted Moore, best color cinematography, ("From Russia With Love"); United Nations Award, "Inheritance" (Britain); best short, "Happy Anniversary" (France); best animated film, shared by "Automania 2000" (Britain) and "The Critic" (USA).

'OUR PATRICIA NEAL'

Actress Ups Knoxville Zest For Oscar-Guessing

Knoxville, March 31.

A record number of entries are being received in the annual Knoxville Journal Oscar-guessing Contest. The promotion is co-sponsored by the Tennessee, New Riviera, Capri, Bijou, Park and Tower theatres.

Local interest is stronger this year because Patricia Neal, nominated for her role in "Hud" is a Knoxville native. The contest gives film fans an opportunity to second guess the actors and actresses who vote for the winners. Ballots are carried in the Knoxville Journal and are available at the participating theatres.

Several prizes and a number of theatre tickets are given to winners and runners-up.

Extras' New Rule Peps Its Politics

Hollywood, March 31.

A record number of 44 extras have entered the race for 11 three-year terms on the board of directors of their Screen Extras Guild. High number of contestants is attributed to a revision in guild by-laws whereby no administration slate is nominated. Instead any member can be nominated by individual petitions signed by 35 other extras.

Nominated are Leo Abbey, Robert Allen, Beau Anderson, Don Anderson, Russell Ash, Ron Brown, Hazel Lee Burgess, William

(Continued on page 24)

MILTON PLATT'S ROLE AT CONTINENTAL DIV

Milton Platt, who has been assistant general sales manager of the Continental Distributing division of Reade-Sterling, is now acting general sales manager, succeeding Sidney Deneau. Latter resigned last week to join Rugoff Theatres.

Norman Weitman, who has been Continental's metropolitan district manager, becomes assistant to Platt.

Europe to U.S.

Ken Giniger
S. A. G. Swenson

N.Y. to L.A.

Geraldine Brooks
Jack Goldstein
Joe Lebworth
Mike Merrick
Budd Schulberg
Gene Shefrin

L.A. to N.Y.

Marty Allen
Sherwin Bash
Herschel Bernardi
Polly Connell
Dick Dinsmore
Martin Gabel
Monty Hall
Mikki Jamison
Victor Jory
Jeremy Lepard
Allen V. Martini
Walter Matthau
Howard Morris
Steve Rossi
George Schlatter
Thomas D. Tannenbaum

N. Y. 52nd St. to N. Y. 88th St. (and back)

(Far Rockaway was beautiful last week.
What a way to go to the Coast!)
Mark Lawrence

(Advertisement)

TWA steals show between Los Angeles and New York!

New First Class service for show business travelers.

Non-stop flight, non-stop service: all the luxury of TWA Royal Ambassador First Class, with some bright new trimmings just for you. For instance: vodka, sherry and Michelob Beer added to the standard liquor list. A choice of sizzling Prime Sirloin or Lobster Thermidor. And don't forget—you can take in a first-run movie* by Inflight Motion Pictures, Inc. Next time you plan a trip to New York, call TWA or your travel agent and ask for Flight No. 8.

Nationwide Worldwide depend on TWA

*Such as the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Seven Arts production, "Sunday in New York," starring Cliff Robertson, Jane Fonda and Rod Taylor.

LIZ'S CORPORATION HAS NO SEX

Metro Joyous in Making Music Hall During Summer of World's Fair

Metro is heading into one of the biggest summers in its recent history, numerically at least. The company will put six new pix into release during that period and will also be continuing the circulation of another item which has been doing solid biz in its followup 35m release, "How the West Was Won."

Included in this summer array will be the company's second pic of the year to play Radio City Music Hall. This is "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" which will attempt to corral a large chunk of that valuable summer playtime at the Music Hall, particularly enhanced this year by the run of the New York World's Fair which is expected to attract a hefty number of out-of-towners to the City. Radio City is listed among the top few tourist attractions in Gotham.

Another pic of interest is "Night of the Iguana," the adaptation of Tennessee Williams' Broadway drama which has received considerable pub space via Richard Burton and related events at the pic's Mexican location. There's "Viva Las Vegas," an Elvis Presley pic which teams the rocker with femme comer Ann-Margret. Also in the music groove is "Loooking For Love" which toplines pop singer Connie Francis, the MGM Records thrush. Rounding out the program is a followup to the successful "Flipper" of last summer, a sequel called "Flipper's New Adventures," and an action pic tagged "Rhino."

This is a healthy array of product for the company. It has been doing smoothly in the first few months of the year with "The Prize," which did oke biz at the Music Hall and is now scoring solidly on a Gotham "showcase" break and elsewhere throughout the country. "The Wheeler Dealers" and "Sunday in New York" have also been taking in coin.

Metro has already predicted that its 35m dates on "West" will compare favorably if not excessively to the performance of "Ben Hur," one of the company's all-time hot items. The film grossed over $41,000,000 world-wide in 107 roadshow dates since its preem in London in November, 1962. It is currently playing in over 26 situations in its first 35m weeks and doing large biz, in many cases running ahead of "Hur" for comparable periods. To date "West" has corraled $750,000 in this 35m issue, and is holding.

All of this, plus a large-scale production program which has been purring for the past several months and is projected through the next couple of years, is making for a very upbeat attitude at Metro these days. Predictions are being made as to one of the biggest years the company has enjoyed for some time. Other indicators, such as the option recently picked up by NBC on a package of Metro post-1948 pix for web airing, as well as hefty production of tv series in addition to the upbeat picture on the feature side would seem to indicate that cheery crystal ball gazing might be on the right track.

$443,435 Plaster, Re Astor Films, Hits Ev Crosby

A judgment for $443,435, against Everett N. Crosby in favor of Inland Credit Corp., was last week entered in the County Clerk's office of the N. Y. Supreme Court. Inland's suit against Crosby and other charged that Crosby had unconditionally guaranteed a $500,000 Inland loan to Astor Pictures, of which Crosby was an officer.

Action against Franklin F. Bruder, who also was an officer of Astor, was dropped. Astor last year filed a Chapter 11 petition under the Bankruptcy Act.

IA Crafts Mark 25th

Hollywood, March 31.

Five locals of International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees will jointly celebrate their 25th anniversary June 6 at the International Hotel. Locals include: 44, property men; 80 grips; 165, studio projectionists; 727, craft service; 728, electricians.

Honorary chairmen of event are George J. Flaherty, Cappy Duval, Zeal Fairbanks, Charles Boren and Richard W. Jencks, Leo S. Moore, biz rep for 165, will chair celebration and Bruce Colville, 44's biz rep, will cochair.

N.Y. Crafts Make Progress; Meet Anew April 10

A group of union leaders, repping a cross-section of eastern filmmaking labor met in New York last Friday (27) and approved the prospectus drawn up by an appointed subcommittee which has been studying plans aimed at the formation of an organization comprised of reps from all labor groups currently involved in eastern picture production.

The union reps at the meeting were mostly business agents. Plan which they have now approved goes to the exec boards of all the crafts involved for endorsement. This is to minimize possibility of wrangling over points after the organization is formed.

Union reps will assemble again on April 10 to attempt to put the organization on a working basis. By this time it is hoped all unions involved will have reacted. Any gripes will be taken up at that time. Ideally officers would then be elected and the organization given a title.

In an unusual show of harmony and strength, the unions have all moved swiftly toward the establishment of the new organization. Each planned meeting has come off as scheduled and attendance has usually been near 100%. Such was the case last Friday, though climactic holidays in both the Christian and Jewish religions. Every rep that was expected showed except for Jay Rescher of IATSE cameramen local 644, who was ill.

In attendance at the meeting were John Hall of the makeup union, Milt Felson repping assistant directors, Tommy O'Donnell of the theatrical teamsters, Jim Gartland of IA studio mechanics local 52, Andy Clores of the scenic artists, Barbara Robinson of the script clerks, Bill Bennett of the Washington, D.C., screen mechanics, Harold Hoffman of Screen Actors Guild and Steve D'Injillo of the East Coast Motion Picture Council, the IA body which suggested the organization in the first place.

Although the final shape of the body will not be known until all the exec boards approve, the support of all the groups involved is assumed by the founders. As soon as the organization is formally established, requests for membership from those not presently involved in the formation talks will be accepted. This would, of course, include the Screen Directors International Guild which has already expressed itself as being sore at not being in on the formation stages. The aim is to eventually encompass all labor groups involved in eastern filmmaking to establish a united front in dealing with union-producer problems and to encourage the making of pix in the east.

SUIT SAYS 20TH IS DISRESPECTFUL

Los Angeles, March 31.

Charging lack of "sound business judgment" in distribution and exploitation of the motion picture, "Cleopatra," which it's claimed will lessen gross receipts from film by an "aggregate between 25 and 50%," Elizabeth Taylor's MCL Films, S.A., asked for a receivership of all prints and negatives in Federal Court suit filed against 20th-Fox. Action also asked for declaratory relief on a distribution agreement between MCL and 20th-Fox, which is releasing pic.

Complaint filed by attorney Martin Gang asserted that 20th had failed to abide by terms of a contract with MCL whereby film company had not paid MCL—in which Miss Taylor is one of shareholders—its share of monies already collected in gross receipts which "presently exceeds $20,000,000." Suit alleged that the defendant had "improperly managed" and directed distribution of proceeds for its own "separate corporate purposes," to meet its current operating and overhead expenses.

In attempting to offset such expense burdens, according to action, 20th-Fox in diverting such proceeds had done this "without regard to attaining the maximum amount of gross receipts over a longer term." Consequently, action continued, gross receipts from film would be affected by between 25-50% figure than if pic were properly exploited "pursuant to sound business judgment."

Action asked that James A. Mulvey, a "recognized expert" in motion picture distribution, be therefore appointed to act as receiver—or any other the court might designate—for the purpose of distributing and exploiting film "according to sound business judgment." Complaint also asked that Mulvey—whom it stated had consented to act as receiver—be awarded as receiver the custody, control and possession of all prints

(Continued on page 28)

Loyal to Elvis

Minneapolis, March 31.

Britain's Beatles or not, this area's teen-agers still go for Elvis Presley. This was demonstrated here on Sunday (22), the third day of the local first-run of Presley's "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM), at the loop Gopher. It gave that theatre the biggest Sabbath day gross ever and while local boxoffice generally was under par.

Pull was partly attributable to youngsters who stayed here over after the weekend because of state high school basketball tournament.

"Kissin' Cousins" didn't receive favorable newspaper reviews here.

20th-Fox Net, 1963: $9,115,393; Loss Carry Forward Absorbs Taxes

As 20th-Fox prez Darryl F. Zanuck predicted at his special press conference in February, the company showed a net profit of $9,115,393 for the year ended Dec. 28, 1963. Earnings are equal to $3.44 a share and contrast with a loss of $39,796,094 for 1962.

Theatrical film rentals in 1963 were $74,051,664, an increase of $2,476,413 over 1962. Total income from all sources was $102,940,436, against the 1962 total of $96,355,871.

No Federal income taxes were provided for in 1963 because of a net operating loss carry-forward from 1962. Company says it still has approximately $11,000,000 of net operating loss carry-forward, of which $7,000,000 will be available for use in 1964.

Two productions, "The Longest Day" and "Cleopatra," were attributed by 20th as making the greatest contribution to the 1963 income.

As film rentals from theatrical sources were up in 1963, so were rentals from tv, up to $22,815,196, from $18,626,316 in 1962.

Book value of the stockholders' investment at the 1963 yearend is figured at $59,449,258, compared with $50,333,866 at the 1962 yearend.

Re: Shorts' Neglect

Paris, March 31.

Believing that shorts get shortchanged in re distribution in Britain, and elsewhere in Europe, British film critic, writer and filmmaker Derek Hill has set up his own shop, Short Film Service.

Hill decided to do it after attending several short film fests and viewing a wealth of material that rarely aver got playoff in Britain, either in theatres or on tv.

Commerce Data: 'Bout Same With Raw Stock, Gear

Washington, March 31.

Showing no spectacular spurts or declines, U.S. exports of motion picture film and equipment in 1963 offered a mixed batch, the U.S. Commerce Dept. reported. Exports of 35m and over positive film raw-stock slumped slightly from $5,886,429 in 1962 to $5,492,556 last year. Negative film exports showed a similar decline to $5,883,815 last year compared to $5,922,211 in 1962.

In contrast to those marginal slides, exports of 35m and over picture cameras rose to $1,126,486 in 1963 from $978,893 in 1962.

Down were exports of sound reproducing equipment from $680,979 in 1962 to $562,762 last year.

Showing gains were exports of motion picture screens rising to $2,914,339 last year over $2,223,644 in 1962. Exports of other projection equipment and parts inched up to $3,644,671 from the $3,077,914 registered in 1962. Studio equipment and parts exports similarly moved up to $3,611,761.

SIG KUSIEL HEADS 7-ARTS LATIN BIZ

Sig Kusiel, formerly a veep of Columbia International supervising Latin America, has been named manager and supervisor for all Seven Arts theatrical and tv activities in Latin America.

Kusiel, who'll report directly to 7A's foreign operations veep Norman Katz, is due to make an extended trip throughout Latin America beginning next week.

Gate Film Club Sues Louis Pesce, New York Censor

Gate Film Club of New York has filed suit in N.Y. Federal Court against Louis M. Pesce, director of the motion picture division of the N.Y. Board of Regents, charging that the state's film licensing laws are unconstitutional and invalid. Suit seeks to enjoin Pesce and the board from interfering with the plaintiff's rights to exhibit films at the Gate Theatre on Second Avenue (N.Y.C.) and to have the action heard by a three-judge court.

Plaintiffs, James McBride and Jack Baran, have been operating the theatre since January. Early in March they advertised that they would show four pix at the Gate March 16. On March 12, the complaint charges, Pesce told the plaintiffs, as well as the owners of the theatre, that the films would have to be submitted for license and approval. If not, they were warned, they would be criminally prosecuted and the theatre's license would be revoked.

The plaintiffs, in turn, told Pesce that they intended to show the films without a license, claiming that submission of the pix for approval represented an invasion of their Constitutional rights. When McBride and Baran refused to submit the films to Pesce, the owners of the theatre refused to allow the plaintiffs to use the Gate. By that time, says the complaint, it was too late to obtain another theatre for the advertised showing.

Town Can Use Own Aud for Films Competing With Private Taxpayer

Red Wing, Minn., March 31.

Jack Wright, long-term Minneapolis exhibitor, has gone down to defeat in a seven-year legal fight to halt the use of the municipal Auditorium in this city of 12,000 population as a film theatre in competition with his own local taxpaying showhouse.

Deciding against him in an appeal from a lower court adverse decision was the three-judge federal court of appeals in St. Louis, Mo. This suit, considered his last resort, was an antitrust, conspiracy action aimed at eliminating film exhibition from the city-owned building.

Winning defendants were Auditorium board members and James Frazer, the Auditorium's present leassee. Prior to the appeal's rejection, the editor of the daily paper had been dropped as one of the defendants who were accused of conspiring to put Wright's own theatre out of business and create an alleged illegal town exhibition monopoly.

Wright's losing fight started in February 1967. Initially, suing in the Minnesota state court, he enjoyed success to the extent that this city was stopped by the state supreme court from operating the Auditroium itself as a movie theatre, which it had been doing. The court ruled that a municipality cannot engage in the movie business itself in competition with private enterprise.

After this setback for the municipality, however, the city leased the Auditorium for a movie theatre to Fraser, who had been its manager, at a $500 a month rental. Wright then carried his battle to the federal courts in the effect to knock out the competish in its changed form.

During the scrapping there was competitive bidding for pictures by Wright's theatre and the Auditorium and that increased his theatre's operating cost.

Fix Up Palace, Cincy

Cincinnati, March 31.

A $100,000 facelifting for the RKO Palace is set to start April 28 and be completed for scheduled May 29 premiere of "Chalk Garden" (U), followed by "Ensign Pulver" (WB) and "Beckett" (Par).

The improvement, approved second step in the parent RKO Theatres key city International 70 program, will be an eye opener for Cincy's Core Redevelopment plan. Present 2,600 seating capacity of the Palace will be reduced to 1,500 by a sealoff of the upper balcony. The heart of the downtown location will have a new marquee and be equipped for every type of screening except Cinerama, said Joe Alexander, area manager.

Elwood Jones is longtime manager of the Palace.

What A Way To Go
(CINEMASCOPE-COLOR)

Big, gaudy comedy. Telegraphs too many of its yoks and lacks consistent style, but has a powerhouse cast and enough laughs to indicate good boxoffice response.

20th-Fox release of Arthur P. Jacobs production. Stars Shirley MacLaine, Paul Newman, Robert Mitchum, Dean Martin, Gene Kelly, Bob Cummings, Dick Van Dyke. Directed by J. Lee Thompson. Screenplay, Betty Comden, Adolph Green, based on story by Gwen Davis; camera (De Luxe color), Leon Shamroy; music, Nelson Riddle; special songs, Julie Styne; editor, Marjorie Fowler; assistant director, Fred R. Simpson. Reviewed at Criterion Theatre, N. Y., March 23, '64. Running time, 111 MINS.

Louisa	Shirley MacLaine
Larry Flint	Paul Newman
Rod Anderson	Robert Mitchum
Leonard Crawley	Dean Martin
Jerry Benson	Gene Kelly
Dr. Steffanson	Bob Cummings
Edgar Hopper	Dick Van Dyke
Painter	Reginald Gardiner
Mrs. Foster	Margaret Dumont
Trentino	Lou Nova
Baroness	Fifi D'Orsay
Rene	Maurice Marsac
Agent	Wally Vernon
Polly	Jane Wald
Hollywood Lawyer	Larry Kent

"What A Way To Go" is a big, gaudy, gimmicky comedy which continually promises more than it delivers by way of wit and/or belly-laffs. Still, with the many yoks and unsubtle clowning it does have, and with a cast headed by Shirley MacLaine and four of Hollywood's top male stars, it looks to establish a fine grossing record at the b.o. The disappointment is that—had it been played and directed with more original wit and sense of cinema style—it might have been a swinging classic.

The screenplay by Betty Comden and Adolph Green, based on a story by Gwen Davis, is, at its very promising basis, the sad, sad story of a little poor girl from Ohio who, though she wants only true love, is married and widowed in succession by four diverse types who eventually make her the richest woman in the world. It's a sort of ironic True Story, related in flashbacks from a psychiatrist's couch after the troubled, multi-widowed heroine has tried unsuccessfully to sign all her dough over to the Internal Revenue Service.

Essentially, the film is a series of blackout sketches, enlivened from time to time as Miss MacLaine tells of her marriages in styles of various types of films. Thus, in recalling her life with a Thoreau-reading idealist, Dick Van Dyke, she sees it in the jerky, exaggerated terms of a silent movie romance; her life with a beatnik, abstract-impressionist painter, Paul Newman, in Paris, is viewed as sexy French film (including a series of takeoffs on the bathtub scene from "The Lovers"), complete with English subtitles; and her life with tycoon Robert Mitchum is remembered as one of those overdressed Ross Hunter productions.

Some of these parodies are very funny but, with the exception of the silent film and "The Lovers" sequences, there often isn't much difference between the style of the parody and that of the encasing flashback. For all the laughs based on Miss MacLaine's too many costume changes in the Ross Hunter parody, it seemed (to at least one, not especially clothes conscious reviewer) that the star was just as overburdened with not particularly becoming clothes in most of the rest of the film. There is also the added problem that director J. Lee Thompson too often allows his punch lines to be telegraphed, and there's no surer way to kill a blackout.

Yet, there is much that hits the correctly wild and wacky tone that Comden and Green intended. Many individual lines stick in the memory. There's the blunt advice of that fine old vet of so many Marx films, Margaret Dumont, to daughter Shirley MacLaine, who prefers to marry a poor-but-honest type instead of the rich boy: "You have something to sell. Take a mother's advice—sell it now!" Or Dean Martin's genial comment about the squalor in which Miss MacLaine and first husband Van Dyke live: "Why shouldn't you be happy? You have a good roof under your feet and (looking into a soup pot) you certainly have all the grass you can eat!"

The Parisian episode with Paul Newman also has a dizzy kind of eccentricity which is fun. Though abstract impressionism may well have had it, both as an art form and a source of humor, there still are a lot of laughs to be had from a painting chimpanzee named Frieda and a machine which paints in response to sonic impulses. Perhaps the most consistently amusing flashback is the final one featuring Gene Kelly. When the richer-and-richer heroine marries him, he is a happy-go-lucky roadhouse entertainer who suddenly hits it big in Hollywood and quickly gets a head to match. One of his final triumphs is producing, directing and starring in a comedy 5-1/2 hours long ("They said it couldn't be done! My next picture will run 8 hours!) before he is literally loved to death by his fans.

Kelly, in fact, gives the most consistently stylish performance in the film, closely followed by Newman. Mitchum, Bob Cummings (as the psychiatrist) and Martin (as the guy who finally wins her) do what they have always been doing quite naturally. Being on so much of the time, Miss MacLaine obviously has the toughest assignment, and while she is always appealing, there are indications that she needs the supervision of a director with a dominating talent for comedy.

Picture has been gaudily, expensively mounted in CinemaScope and brilliant DeLuxe color. Producer Arthur L. Jacobs, whose debut production this is, certainly didn't stint. A couple of songs by Julie Styne, including an hilarious production number (choreographed by Kelly) which might have come out of "Follow The Fleet", may well serve to hypo promotion on the film. All other technical credits are okay. Anby.

Tamahine
(C'SCOPE—COLOR)

Romanticomedy with Nancy Kwan. An uninspired effort.

Hollywood, March 25.

Metro (in association with Seven Arts) release of John Bryan production. Stars Nancy Kwan, John Fraser, Dennis Price. Directed by Philip Leacock. Screenplay, Denis Cannan, based on novel by Thelma Nicklaus; camera (Eastman), Geoffrey Unsworth; editor, Peter Tanner; music, Malcolm Arnold. Reviewed at the studio, March 25, '64. Running time, 85 MINS.

Tamahine	Nancy Kwan
Richard	John Fraser
Poole	Dennis Price
Madame Becque	Coral Browne
Storekeeper	Dick Bentley
Clove	Derek Nimmo
Diana	Justine Lord
Cartwright	Michael Gough
Oliver	James Fox
Housemaster	Allan Cuthbertson
Mrs. MacFarlane	Noel Hood
Bash	Derek Fowlds
Fiend	Robin Stewart
Mrs. Spruce	Viola Keats
Major Spruce	Howard Marion Crawford
Mrs. Cartwright	Lally Bowers
Mr. O'Shaughnessy	Max Kirby
Mrs. O'Shaughnessy	Joan Benham
Lord Birchester	William Mervyn
Manservant	Ian Fleming
Nun	Barbara Cavan
Nun	Bee Duffell

"Tamahine" is the British equivalent of a "Tammy" picture. It stars Nancy Kwan, a kind of Eurasian Sandra Dee, as the title character, a kind of cross between "Tammy" and "Tondelayo" who comes across the sea to a staid English boys' school and, before you can spell Gauguin, just upsets the institution with her naughty but nice Tahitian ways. The future looks rather bleak for this contrived, stale and predictable effort, a product of Associated British Picture Corp. and joint presentation of Metro and Seven Arts.

The John Bryan production, filmed in England and on location in Paris and Bora-Bora (a South Seas isle), was written by Denis Cannan from the novel by Thelma Nicklaus. In describing the impact of this Polynesian girl on the flabbergasted scholastic community, the script focuses on her more intimate relationship with an uncle (Dennis Price), a lonely widower-headmaster, and a cousin-once-removed (John Fraser), a spirited student. Utilizing her instinctive insight and athletic prowess (she out-hurdles, out-shimmies, out-foots and out-swims every male on campus—she's a regular superwoman), "Tamahine" sets everything in order at the school.

As actress, Miss Kwan leaves a lot to be desired, but she's a decorative heroine. Any dramatic contrivance seems to suffice in order to get her soaking wet or down to her panties. Fraser, an up-and-coming young British actor, works at maximum percentage of efficiency, as does that old pro, Dennis Price. Derek Nimmo and Justine Lord are effective in a romantic sub-plot.

Geoffrey Unsworth's photography capitalizes on scenic values. Peter Tanner's editing seems sluggish in spots. Polynesian airs and conventional screen melodies of the western world alternate in Malcolm Arnold's rather uninspired score. Philip Leacock's direction injects occasional moments of amusement, but the prevailing tone is forced and artificial. Tube.

The Best Man

Skillful conversion to screen of Gore Vidal's play. Election year accent on national politics should boost b.o. chances.

Hollywood, March 18.

United Artists release of Stuart Millar-Lawrence Turman production. Stars Henry Fonda, Cliff Robertson, Edie Adams, Margaret Leighton, Shelly Berman, Lee Tracy, Ann Sothern; features Gene Raymond, Kevin McCarthy. Directed by Franklin Schaffner. Screenplay, Gore Vidal, from his play; camera, Haskell Wexler; editor, Robert E. Swink; music, Mort Lindsey; assistant director, Richard Moder. Reviewed at Directors Guild of America, March 18, '64. Running time, 102 MINS.

William Russell	Henry Fonda
Joe Cantwell	Cliff Robertson
Mabel Cantwell	Edie Adams
Alice Russell	Margaret Leighton
Sheldon Bascomb	Shelley Berman
Art Hockstader	Lee Tracy
Mrs. Gamadge	Ann Sothern
Don Cantwell	Gene Raymond
Dick Jensen	Kevin McCarthy
Mahalia Jackson	Herself
Howard K. Smith	Himself
T. T. Claypoole	John Henry Faulk
Oscar Anderson	Richard Arlen
Mrs. Claypoole	Penny Singleton
Speechwriter	George Kirgo
Tom	George Furth
Janet	Anne Newman
Mrs. Merwin	Mary Lawrence
Sen. Lazarus	H. E. West
Zealot	Michael MacDonald
Gov. Merwin	William R. Eberson
Mrs. Anderson	Natalie Masters
Cleaning Woman	Blossom Rock
Bill Stout	Himself
Chairman	Tyler McVey
Doctor	Sherwood Keith

Gore Vidal's substantial and provocative drama of political infighting on the national level has been skillfully converted to film in this Stuart Millar-Lawrence Turman production. Although not an especially fresh or profound piece of work, it is certainly a worthwhile, lucid and engaging dramatization of a behind-the-scenes party power struggle that accompanies a contest for presidential nomination. The fact that this is a presidential election year should improve the boxoffice destiny of the United Artists relase.

Sly references and character similarities to certain controversial politicians will help, too. But for all of its merit, "The Best Man" does not shape up as a surefire big moneymaker because there will be those who will be offended by some of its points-of-view (although, opportunistically exploited, this could be reversed into a positive commercial factor as a word-of-mouth germinator). In short, a clever, robust ad-promo campaign will be required to bring out the full audience potential.

Vidal's straightforward, sharply-drawn scenario describes the bitter struggle for a party's presidential nomination between an ambitious, self-righteous character assassin (many will see him as a Nixon-McCarthy composite) and a scrupulous intellectual (of Stevensonian essence) who, ultimately faced with a choice of resorting to his opponent's smear tactics or bowing out of the race gracefully, decides he'd rather be right than president—leading to a somewhat pat and convenient conclusive development.

Between these two antagonists, portrayed with conviction and sensitivity by Cliff Robertson and Henry Fonda, respectively, stands the imposing figure of the mortally ill but still politically virile ex-president, a character likely to be associated with Harry S. Truman. Lee Tracy repeats his Broadway characterization in the role and just about steals the show with his expressive, colorful portrayal. Another flashy performance—perhaps a trifle too flashy—is Shelley Berman's as a jittery informer.

Of the three females involved, Ann Sothern has the meatiest part (an influential lady delegate) and makes the most of it. Edie Adams, as Robertson's wife, and Margaret Leighton, as Fonda's spouse, make do with roles of rather secondary import. Kevin McCarthy registers solidly as Fonda's campaign manager (he's a fine southpaw dart-thrower), and Gene Raymond is excellent, too, as the rival manager. John Henry Faulk scores in a key portrayal. Balance of support is satisfactory, with prominent work from Howard K. Smith and, melodically, Mahalia Jackson. Vidal himself has a brief walk-on as a Senator.

Director Franklin Schaffner has done a fine job, especially in his execution of scenes to match the razzle-dazzle of a political convention. Schaffner came up through the live television ranks ("Playhouse 90," etc.) and his staging of these sequences reflects the air of spontaneity that is a hallmark of that medium.

Dexterous lenswork by Haskell Wexler and trim editing by Robert E. Swink are sizable assists, as are the authentic-looking artwork of Lyle R. Wheeler and unobtrusive score by Mort Lindsey. But what gives "The Best Man" its distinction and flavor is Vidal's writing—his bold, tangy dialog, her perceptive, intelligent point-of-view and his admirable hero. Tube

Ring of Spies
(British)

Painstaking but unexciting reconstruction of Britain's Portland Spy case. Neatly acted and directed.

London, March 24.

British Lion release of Leslie Gilliat production. Stars Bernard Lee, William Sylvester, Margaret Tyzack. Features David Kossoff, Nancy Nevinson, Thorey Walters, Patrick Barr, Hector Ross, Newton Blick. Directed by Robert Tronson. Screenplay, Frank Launder and Peter Barnes; camera, Arthur Lavis; editor, Thelma Connell. At Rialto, London. Running time, 90 MINS.

Henry Houghton	Bernard Lee
Gordon Lonsdale	William Sylvester
Elizabeth Gee	Margaret Tyzack
Peter Kroger	David Kossoff
Helen Kroger	Nancy Nevinson
Commander Winters	Thorley Walters
Marjorie Shaw	Gillian Lewis
Lt. Downes	Brian Nissen
P. O. Meadows	Newton Blick
Capt. Ray	Philip Latham
Anderson	Cyril Chamberlain
Christina	Justine Lord
Capt. Warner	Patrick Barr
Chief Supt. Croft	Derek Francis
Supt. Woods	Hector Ross

Three years ago five British spies were sentenced to long spells of forced reflection for their part in the Portland Spy Case. This film purports to give "the inside story" of the case. Instead, it merely presents a realistic documentary of the surface events leading up to the uncovering of the spies. It is not a highly exciting operation, but there is interest in watching the thorough, painstaking way in which the authorities seize on the blunders of the spies and eventually land them in the Old Bailey. There's precious little cloak-and-dagger stuff of the James Bond vintage and merely emphasizes that truth is not always stranger or more exciting than fiction.

Use of authentic backgrounds in London and on the South Coast and the fact that the five actors playing the leads use the spies actual names are a reminder that what the tab-buyer is watching is authentic stuff. Else it would seem fairly flat entertainment and seems unlikely to create standout prospects at the boxoffice.

Henry Houghton (Bernard Lee) is sacked from the British Embassy at Warsaw as a bad security risk. He is transferred to records at the Portland Underwater Weapons Establishment. With a chip on his shoulder and a desire for easy money he is readily blackmailed into borrowing secret documents from Portland. He inveigles Elizabeth Fry, a respectable spinster who is in charge of the safe keys, to help him. The Russian contact passes the info on to a middle aged couple in the suburbs who are ostensibly bookdealers. They ingeniously transmit it by short wave to Russia.

Like most crooks who come into money Houghton becomes a boastful spendthrift. Soon the spy ring is under observation. The whole paraphenalia of hidden microphones, "tails" and undercover security men swings into action. Unwittingly Houghton and Fry lead the police to Lonsdale, the contact, and he in turn to the little house in suburbia. Then the police move in and cash-in on the gang's overassurance.

Bernard Lee and Margaret Tyzack play the dupes with conviction, William Sylvester is a suave, formidable Lonsdale and David Kossoff and Nancy Nevison successfully complete the quintet as the fake bookdealers. Dialog is straightforward and there are one or two lighter touches such as when two-spy-catchers decline to leave Lord's cricket ground in the middle of an over, and when two policewomen disguised as nuns, following the suspects in a car, resort to such dialog as: "Hurry up, Amy, or some bastard will cut in on us."

Robert Tronson has directed with a documentary touch, editing is okay and Norman Arnold's artwork satisfactory. But, somehow, "Ring of Spies" seemed a much more fascinating project as read in the newspaper headlines three years ago. Rich.

Cherchez L'Idole
(Find the Idol)
(FRENCH—FRANSCOPE)

Paris, March 24.

UGC-Sirius release of France Cinema-Adelphia production. Stars Dany Saval, Franck Fernandel, Berthe Grandval, Dominique Boschero; features Nancy Holloway, Johnny Hallyday, Charles Aznavour, Frank Alamo. Directed by Michel Boisrond. Screenplay, Richard Balducci, Annette Wademant; camera, R. Lemoigne; editor, Genevieve Vaury. At Normandie, Paris. Running time, 90 MINS.

Corinne	Dany Saval
Robert	Franck Fernandel
Gisele	Berthe Grandval
Vanni	Dominique Boschero

Modest budgeted, snappy little programmer cashes in on the big interest in rock and pop singers via ringing many known ones in through a simple chase story. No characterization or depth here, but a brisk pic that should pay off on its home marts if export is limited.

A young worker is talked into robbing a jewel which he hides in a guitar when chased. But he has remorse, breaks with a climbing, ruthless girl who egged him into the theft, and tries to find the guitar and return the jewel. But naturally one of five noted singers may have it. The film is concerned with the chase for it.

So Sylvie Vartan and Johnny Hallyday, two of the lead rockers here, get to do a number as well as singer-cleffer Charles Aznavour, French twist singer Frank Alamo and U.S. belter Nancy Holloway, now a local fixture on the song scene.

Miss Vartan and Hallyday, being themselves, show they register better than when trying to act. Aznavour's bonhomie and intense song thrust come through as well as Miss Holloway's musky appeal and song knowhow.

Comic Fernandel's son, Franck Fernandel, is a pleasantly homely, young actor who shows presence and individuality while Berthe Grandval has charm. Dany Saval is rightly odious as the climbing crime-provoking mistress. Director Michel Boisrond just keeps this moving, and story does not get in the way, which gives it natural charm for monied youngsters if oldsters may abstain. It is technically okay. Mosk.

Advance To the Rear
(PANAVISION)

Glenn Ford, Melvyn Douglas starred in wacky comedy about raw recruits in Civil War period; shapes as moneymaker for Metro.

Metro release of Ted Richmond production. Stars Glenn Ford, Melvyn Douglas, Stella Stevens; features Jim Backus, Joan Blondell, Andrew Prine, Jesse Pearson. Directed by George Marshall. Screenplay, Samuel A. Peeples, William Bowers, based on novel by Jack Schaefer; camera, Milton Krasner; editor, Archie Marshek; music, Randy Sparks. Previewed in N. Y., March 27, '64. Running time, 97 MINS.

Capt. Jared Heath	Glenn Ford
Martha Lou	Stella Stevens
Col. Claude Brackenby	Melvyn Douglas
Gen. Willoughby	Jim Backus
Jenny	Joan Blondell
Pvt. Owen Selous	Andrew Prine
Corp. Silas Geary	Jesse Pearson
Sgt. Beauregard Davis	Alan Hale
Hugo Zattig	James Griffith
Capt. Queeg	Whit Bissell
Thin Elk	Michael Pate

"Advance to the Rear," an Army comedy with a Civil War background, is the wacky sort of laugh-maker that promises to be a box-office "sleeper." Pic stars Glenn Ford, Melvyn Douglas, and Stella Stevens, and includes such featured players as Joan Blondell, Alan Hale and Jim Backus. There is much to be savored in this Ted Richmond production, and it is a vehicle which should make a trim profit for Metro. Maybe some will find some of the antics ridiculous, as often they are, but the pic holds audience interest, which is all to the good.

"To the Rear" is filled with amusing verbal exchanges, several clever visual comedy sequences and some pert performances by the highly capable cast.

Film is from Jack Schaefer's novel, "The Company of Cowards," but Metro has changed the tag to this probably more saleable one. It concerns the exploits of a Union Army company of misfits, headed by vet career officer, Douglas, who follows the strict rule that he must be absolute commander of his outfit, right or wrong. In this case, most of the time he is wrong even if a West Point grad. Some of the

(Continued on page 23)

LIP SERVICE TO FAMILY FILMS

Combat Atheism on Screen

Valladolid, March 31.

Rev. Joss Burvenich will preside at a series of film conversations during the International Film Week Religious & Human Values in Valladolid during April 12-20 competition. Other panel speakers include Charles Ford of France, Monsignor Angelicchio of Italy, and Sanchez Munain of Spain.

Film Week talks have this year been themed to "Religion in Motion Pictures" and have been organized around the following subjects: religious agnosticism in human conduct as revealed in a variety of films; the substitution in cinema of religion by myths and atheistic mysticism; the search for God in films as a solution for existencialist anguish; man's encounter with God in non-Christian films and, the Christian film and the presence of God.

The Film Week jury includes Charles Ford (France), Edmund Lrfht (Germany), Jose Maria Podesta (Uruguay), Hank Werba (U.S.A.), Claudio Bertieri (Italy), and two Spanish film directors—Nieves Conde and Jorge Grau.

Its' Cold Shooting Outside In Canada

Angles on 'Luck of Ginger Coffey' — Based On Montreal Gazette But Can't Photograph There

By PAUL A. GARDNER

Ottawa, March 31.

Brian Moore's novel "Luck of Ginger Coffey" was set mainly on a newspaper that was obviously the Montreal Gazette, where he was once a reporter. Ironically, Gazette is the only English-language daily in either Montreal or Ottawa where the screen version isn't being shot.

Reason? "Not suitable facilities at the Gazette," coproducer Leon Roth told VARIETY here last week. "It's changed a lot since Moore worked there and wouldn't have the right feel now."

"Sort of like 'Oklahoma' being shot in another state because it looked more like Oklahoma than Oklahoma did?" "That's right," agreed Roth during a break in filming scenes in the lingerie department of Charles Ogilvy Ltd. department store in this capital. He said the Gazette had been generous with publicity, nonetheless, during Montreal shooting, now concluded. All this week the company is shooting at Crawley Films Ltd. studios here, whose president F. R. "Budge" Crawley is exec. producer.

"Ginger Coffey," budgeted at around $500,000 with eight-week shooting sked, is financed about equally by Crawley Films, whose idea it was to film the book, and Walter Reade-Sterling Inc. (Continental Distributing) of N. Y. Crawley Films is prime producer and responsible for completing the film here.

Exteriors of Montreal Star were used, and Ottawa Journal's lobby and Ottawa Citizen's pressroom—"because they looked like our idea of the Gazette when Moore worked there," said Roth, whose comely non-pro wife has just arrived from Hollywood with their two children, on pre-Easter vacation. Nancy Roth, 10, is an extra in a couple of scenes.

Mary Ure, who appears with hubby Robert Shaw says they agreed to the long trek to a little-known film-production centre because Roth and Kershner journeyed to England with a script (by Moore and Kershner) which they found highly promising. She finds the crew "cosmopolitan" with, a N. Y. continuity girl; another American on sound—Stan Kasper; a French-Canadian costume designer—Claude Bonniere; and an English cameraman—Manny Wynn, with whom she worked in Jerry Wald's "Sons and Lovers," which drew her an Oscar nomination.

"It's been tough," she said, "working in the cold. One night in Montreal it was 15 below zero—and we were shooting outside, of course. The only studio work so far has been in a temporary setup in a Montreal diaper factory, supposed to represent Joe McGlade's apartment in the book." Miss Ure, a blonde in other films, is a brunette for this one—"It's supposed to make me look more Irish." After this stint she and Shaw vacation for a month in Jamaica. Then he may do a musical in London; she's "considering two or three things."

"Ginger Coffey" also has Anthony Gibbs from England as editor—as he was on the smash "Tom Jones"—and Harry Horner from Hollywood as designer; he won an Oscar for designing "Hustler." Kershner, who directed Don Murray in "Hoodlum Priest," is helming this as well as co-producing. Tom Glynn, vet Crawley staffer, is production manager. Asst. directors are Mickey Rich of N. Y. who was first asst. on "Black Like Me," and Dave Battle of Ottawa.

Tom Harvey of Toronto will have third billing, followed by Elizabeth McClintock of Montreal, Lianm Redmond of N. Y., Powys Thomas, Welsh actor now heading Canadian Theatre School in Montreal; Leo Leyden, Vern Chapman and Tom Kneebone, all of Toronto.

Science Replaces Oats on Budget

Hollywood, March 31.

Under the assertion that "Science-Fiction has taken the place of the western as a low budget film of appeal to exhibitors," Hugo Grimaldi Film Productions Inc. has joined with distributors Larry and Barney Woolner on a series of sci-fi films aimed in the $125-150,000 area.

Woolner Bros., who with their brother, David, operate drive-ins in New Orleans, will release all pix through Woolner Bros. Releasing Co. First to go will be the just-completed "Invasion to the Moon," with company to have four pix in release by mid-June, execs said. Quartet includes upcoming "The Human Duplicators," to start shooting in three weeks, and pair of Italian films purchased outright, "Castle of Blood" and "Hercules in the Haunted World."

Woolners, who also are exec producers with Grimaldi, also said they have U.S. rights to music from "Castle," written by Riz Ortolani, who wrote the Academy Award nominated song, "More."

Writer Arthur Pierce is partnered with the combine on most projects. Pierce is now prepping "The Amphibians," "The Automaton" and "The Frozen Continent," latter a color spectacle aimed at $500,000 budget. Company is housed at Producers Studio where all U.S. pix will be made. Italian co-production is now being sought on "Five Billion Years," to be made in Rome from a script by Pierce.

Grimaldi, a member of the family of Monaco fame, formerly was a film editor, makes his directorial bow on "Invasion" and will direct several of the other pix. He was an exec producer with Fred Gebhardt's Four Crown Productions on other sci-fi material.

Meiselman's New One

Rockingham, N.C., March 31.

A 700-seater will be built at the Richmond Plaza shopping centre here. It will be operated by H. B. Meiselman Theatres, owners of the Strand, Rockingham.

Bids for the theatre's construction are being received in Charlotte.

'ONLY DISNEY A TRUE BELIEVER'

By ROBERT B. FREDERICK

Pious spouting by major film studios about a need for family pictures is, in the opinion of producer Robert Radnitz, just that. "The only man who makes what he considers family pictures," said the producer of "Island of the Blue Dolphins" last week, "is Disney. For some strange reason, however, though he is successful year after year, other studios won't follow his example. Disney does it because his heart is in it but this isn't true with others. They will not compete in this market."

Radnitz, whose film Universal will release in August, also deplores producers who seemingly wash their hands of a film once it is finished. "The idea that a producer doesn't have to care about his picture once it is made is antediluvian," said the youthful filmmaker.

Although he's working on four other projects, Radnitz is contributing his time and talents to help Universal promote "Island." This, for the most part, consists of personal appearances and talks before educational groups plus press-radio-tv interviews.

The film, based on the Scott O'Dell novel which won the Newbery Medal, a top trophy in field of children's literature, is permitted to use the medal in ads. Sale of the tome, however, even after three years, has been such that publisher Houghton-Mifflin have consistently refused to put it out in paperback.

Librarians To O.O.

"Island" will be shown in St. Louis this month at national meet of the American Library Assn., which has officially endorsed the film, the first time it has done so for a motion picture. It was also screened for National Education Association execs in Washington (at which Supreme Court Justice William Douglas was present), which endorsed it. Radnitz plans showing it at NEA's annual meeting in Seattle. He'll also address both groups on general subject of "necessity for making this type of film." He is a guest speaker today (1) at Federation of Motion Picture Council's national convention in Atlanta. Again, he will show the film.

Secretary Udall will host screening for families of members of the foreign embassies on April 24.

His one-man "grassroots movement" is one of Radnitz's pet conversational topics, but said that he was unable to convince 20th-Fox, who released his two previous films, "Dog of Flanders" and "Misty," of the importance of this type of selling.

"They considered my notions old-fashioned," he said. "I believe it's the right way. When you believe in something you should do

(Continued on page 23)

Publicly Shown Sex Act 'Lewd' By Law Since 1663 & Still Is; N.Y. Regents Win 'Knocks' Victory

By JAMES L. CONNERS

Albany, March 31.

Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 ruling upheld the decision by the Board of Regents that "A Stranger Knocks", made in Denmark, cannot be licensed in New York State, without the deletion of two sexual scenes. State's highest tribunal had divided 3-3 on merits of the case, instituted last May by Trans-Lux Distributing Corp.

A seventh judge, Alger A. Williams, presiding justice of Appellate Division, Fourth Department, was summoned to sit with six regular members, on the reargu-ments. Justice Francis Bergan, newest judge of the Court, could not participate, because he had, as presiding justice of Appellate Division, Third Department, participated in majority finding last November, that Regents' determination should be annulled.

Visiting Justice Williams, who wrote one of the four majority opinions—each also concurred in the others'—broke the deadlock.

Dissenting judges voted to "affirm majority memorandum in the Appellate Division"—a 50-word statement that U.S. Supreme Court decisions in Times Film Corp. vs. City of Chicago and Roth vs. United States "compelled" the four justices to "annul the determination of the Regents."

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond, in perhaps the tartest opinion wrote: "This order (of Appellate Division) if affirmed will be (as I am persuaded after some research) the first court determination in recorded history holding to be non-obscene and constitutionally protected the portrayal on the stage or a screen of the very sexual act itself. An affirmation would license the inclusion, in a stage play or a movie (or on television?) of actual scenes of intercourse and other kinds of behavior always and everywhere considered to constitute indecency when carried on in public. The question presented on this appeal is, therefore, a new one, not controlled by any earlier censorship decisions."

Judge Desmond has pressed attorney Harry I. Rand, counsel for Trans-Lux (holding American rights to award-winning Danish

(Continued on page 19)

UA Won't Snip 'Jones'

Regina, Sask., March 31.

Latest word on "Tom Jones" (UA-Lopert) is that the distributors won't allow it to be shown in Saskatchewan if cuts are insisted upon.

Same with Province of Alberta.

Okay In Manitoba

Regina, Sask., March 31.

Censorship in Saskatchewan is becoming "more ridiculous all the time," in the opinion of H. C. Vassos, theatre owner in the town of Melville.

In the nearby Province of Manitoba the uncut film will be permitted for adult viewing.

Blow Up 30 Cars With French Help

Why film overseas? An example will be provided when a special effects crew working on United Artists' "The Train" will set off an explosion which effects boss Lee Zavitz estimates would cost $1,000,000 if it were filmed in Hollywood.

UA is appropriately calling the scene "the $1,000,000 minute." It involves the blowing up of a 30-car German military train (in the script) in an aerial attack. It will involve some 140 explosions, involving 4,000 pounds of explosives, 1,500 gallons of gasoline and 300 sacks of cement.

The shot will be much cheaper when made in Gargenville, France. This is primarily because of cooperation of the French government which is supplying the railroad cars which will be blown up. Also, the French army, including engineers, signal corps and demolition experts, is participating in both the planning and execution of the scene, courtesy of the government.

Three manned bunkers and six camera bunkers have been constructed to photograph the shot. Additionally, an 150-man policy security team, also largely made up of French police, will be on hand to hold back the curious. "Train," which had suspended shooting for a few weeks to allow for spring foilage to begin to appear, resumes with the making of this shot. Afterwards there are some other exterior scenes to be filmed and the picture will then be completed, thus wrapping up a costly project for UA and director John Frankenheimer.

RETURNS FROM SPAIN

Milt Goldstein at Par After Years With Bronston

Milton Goldstein has been named assistant for special productions to Par International Films prez James E. Perkins. In another move, Julian Binstock has been appointed general manager in Japan for the company.

Goldstein will base in New York and be responsible for Par's sales and activities on special productions throughout the world, exclusive of the U.S. and Canada. He returns to Par after three years in Spain with Samuel Bronston Productions where he was v.p. in charge of foreign sales, having previously been with Par for 11 years as foreign sales coordinator for various pix.

Binstock replaces S. Sasho who recently resigned. He was previously the company's general manager for Belgium and Luxemburg and will now headquarter in Tokyo, reporting to S. A. Henriksen, Par division manager for the Far East.

Various-Sized Roman Catholic Frowns

'Tiger Walks' Exalts Beasts Over Humans — 'Best Man' Is a Pagan — 'Canvas' Called Peepshow

U.S. Roman Catholic Legion of Decency has given an A-I (morally unobjectionable for general patronage) rating to Walt Disney's "A Tiger Walks," but with certain reservations; an A-IV (morally unobjectionable for adults, with reservations) rating to United Artists' "Best Man," and a C (condemned) rating to the Embassy Pictures-Carlo Ponti Bette Davis starrer, "Empty Canvas."

Re the Disney pic, Decencyites say that some parents will have reservations, even though the pic is designed as family entertainment. "The film's affirmation that animals have rights just like people' is clouded thinking," says the Legion, adding, "Moreover, most adult characters are presented in an unfavorable light."

Legion objects to the fact that in "Best Man," story of opposing presidential candidates, the hero is a "pagan humanist" and the villain "a professed Christian." "In the ensuing conflict," says the Catholic group "the question of belief or non-belief is so highlighted that the result could appear to be a purposeful attack upon the relevance of religious principle to contemporary life."

"Canvas" is condemned with this objection: "Under the guise of art, this film is nothing but a 'peep-show' excursion with a special appeal to the prurient-minded."

'Chalk's' London Start

"The Chalk Garden," Ross Hunter's production of the Enid Bagnold play, will have its world premiere Thursday (2) in London at the Leicester Square Theatre. John and Hayley Mills, who star with Deborah Kerr, will head celebs in attendance.

American premiere of the Universal release will be at Radio City Music Hall in late May.

Foreign Production Still Significant On Embassy Picture Slate For 1964

Embassy Pictures has several imports set for release between now and the end of the year, some of which have been a while in getting to U.S. shores. In all, the company will have at least seven foreign-made pix going into release in that period.

One such pic is "Threepenny Opera," based on the old "Beggar's Opera", a project which has long been promised. The problem has been the film's soundtrack. It required re-recording. Such a process means the rounding up of the instrumental and vocal talent who performed originally, something which was a vexation. At any rate, "Threepenny" is now skedded for release late this summer.

The South African-Made

Another film skedded for release this summer is "Zulu," the British made picture which Embassy is distributing in the U.S. and Canada while Paramount is releasing in the rest of the world. This pic has opened in London and is scoring well at the wickets. It is being held until summer for U.S. release to capitalize on the hefty seasonal biz potential for such a pic, what with school out and other such factors.

Just recently, Embassy unleashed "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," the first of four coproductions made by prez Joseph E. Levine and Italo producer Carlo Ponti. This film has been doing sock biz in New York and Los Angeles. Another Levine-Ponti coproduction is "Empty Canvas," the Bette Davis-Horst Buchholz-Catherine Spaak starrer. This is now set to open May 30 in New York, daydating at the Forum Theatre on Broadway and at an eastside house as yet undecided. A third of the four coproductions, the Brigitte Bardot-starring "Contempt," will not be seen here until the fall. The fourth Ponti-Levine coproduction will not be made until this summer. It's "Casanova," to topline Marcello Mastroianni.

Another import, this one not a coproduction of Levine's, will open April 28 at the New Embassy Theatre on Broadway and an eastside artie. This is "Crazy Desire," a Ugo Tognazzi starrer. Also due to be seen shortly is "Ape Woman," made by Ponti but not as a Levine coproduction. This film will be shown at Cannes before making its U.S. debut. Another film skedded for release before the end of the year is "Italia Brava Gente," the Embassy-Italo-Russian coproduction lensed in Russia. Delivery of a print on this project is expected by Embassy late in May, with no definite release date set except for the plan to let it go before 1964 closes.

It is the plan at Embassy, which has undertaken considerable domestic production and coproduction, to continue to buy foreign-made pix and to make more overseas coproduction deals such as the one recently made between Ponti and Levine for "Marriage—Italian Style." By maintaining these two spheres of operation the company figures to develop a rounded operation and it is this plan which is shaping the outfit into one of the most active independents on both sides of the pond.

In line with this thinking, Embassy is currently talking with Federico Fellini about his next pic which will be made with Cineriz in Rome, most likely as a coproduction with Levine and possibly even involving Paramount. Fellini is coming to the States in April to attend the Academy Awards ceremonies and will be discussing his plans with Levine at that time.

In London, Embassy currently has the Diamond Films indie (Stanley Baker and Cy Endfield) working on "Sands of Kalahari," a coproduction with Paramount. This outfit will probably also be involved in the making of "The War Horses" as well. These are, of course, in addition to several domestic productions either awaiting release, being made or planned. These include such as "Carpetbaggers," "Where Love Has Gone," "A House Is Not a Home," "The Minister and the Choir Singer," "Nevada Smith" and others, all of which adds up to a hefty array of product due from Embassy within the next months. It also marks a year of great progress for the indie in that the fruits of its first coproduction labors both here and abroad are beginning to be seen.

Oscar Song Quintet

Hollywood, March 31.

James Darren, Harve Presnell, Katyna Ranieri, Debbie Reynolds and Andy Williams will sing the five Oscar nominated songs on the April 13 Academy Awards show.

Darren will sing "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World"; Presnell, "So Little Time," from "55 Days at Peking"; Miss Ranieri, "More," from "Mondo Cane"; Miss Reynolds and Williams, "Call Me Irresponsible," from "Papa's Delicate Condition," and Williams the title tune from "Charade."

Presenters set so far include Julie Andrews, Anne Bancroft, Ed Begley, Patty Duke, Rita Hayworth, Carol Lynley, Rock Hudson, Steve McQueen, Gregory Peck, Sidney Poitier, Donna Reed, Miss Reynolds, Edward G. Robinson and Tuesday Weld. Jack Lemmon emcees.

'Blood Feast' Arrest; Hold House Manager On 'Delinquency' Angle

Philadelphia, March 31.

Newest wrinkle in official harassment of film showmen showing films offensive to the bluenose underground: George H. Norcutt, 44, manager of the Nixon, a nabe situation, was held in $1,000 for the action of the grand jury on charges of (1) "giving and advertising an obscene show" and (2) "contributing to the delinquency of minors."

Police and county detectives halted the final (sic) day's showing of the film, "Blood Feast." They said four-fifths of the audience of 200 were under 18.

District Attorney James C. Crumlish, Jr. called the film was "obscene, sadistic and perverted."

AUSTIN AND SULLIVAN RE-POSTED AT METRO

In line with the active summer release sked planned by Metro, the company has done some reorganizing in its ad, pub and exploitation departments. Emery W. Austin has been named assistant to exec director Dan S. Terrell and Andrew M. Sullivan is appointed exploitation manager.

Austin has been in charge of Metro's homeoffice exploitation activities since 1953, having previously served the company in the field. Sullivan also came to the New York homeoffice from the field where he was a press rep. He transferred to Gotham in 1960 as Austin's assistant. Both had been theatre managers before joining Metro.

ED SCHUMAN'S THIRD

Reade's Head Booker Expands His Detroit Arters

Detroit, March 31.

A new 500-seat artie, the Studio-8, will open soon in suburban Oak Park. It's third in a chain of Detroit area arties owned and operated by Edward L. Schuman, former Detroit resident who now lives and works in New York as head film buyer for the Walter Reade-Sterling chain.

Schuman's other theatres are the 343-seat Studio and the 417-seat Studio North. Those and the new theatre are managed locally by Ross Caccavale.

Studio-8's opening feature has not been set, but house expected to maintain first-run art policy of the other Studios.

Innovations of the new theatre include a sloping auditorium floor to provide each seat with a line of sight lower than that found in most theatres. This new angle will enable viewers to read sub-titles without having to crane or bob their heads between the shoulders of people in the next row.

Question for Moyer: Can 'Moving Finger' Get Shown Sans Union Label?

The exec board of International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees editor's local 771 in expelling indie filmmaker Larry Moyer for having made his "Moving Finger" non-union brings up the possible situation of a projectionists boycott against this film if and when it is brought to market, in New York City at least.

Local 306 has long been a booster of the union label drive of the AFL-CIO. Although the local cannot actually take any formal action against a pic legally, the "spontaneous" actions of the individual members are a different matter.

In the past, projectionists have refused to show certain pix. This has usually forced a showdown between the union and the theatre owner involved over the threatened discharge of the projectionists in question and has also caused problems when other boothmen refused to work the house. In instances these tactics resulted in the pulling of the pix in question, although again the union cannot legally stop its men screening any feature legally licensed for showing in a given theatre.

At to the Moyer pic, a 306 rep last week said that he has "serious doubts" as to whether many 306 members would care to man the machines for it. Film is about to open in London but has not as yet secured a U.S. distributor.

Moyer has been "made an example" by the East Coast Motion Picture Council which recommended his expulsion from 771. The Council hasn't requested that projectionists to not work the film but subtle labor word-of-mouth is anticipated.

Meanwhile, Moyer is planning to appeal the 771 board's action to the membership at its next meeting. Failing in that he will go to the IA itself and, should that fail, he'll appeal directly to the IA convention this summer. In the meantime, the eventual showing of the pic, in the important New York "artie" market, might now be jeapordized as well.

NAB ASST. MANAGER ON HOUSE ROBBERY

Greensboro, N.C., March 31.

A 34-year-old former assistant manager of a theatre has been charged by police on two counts of larceny and receiving and one count of breaking and entering.

Morris Melvin Miller, 34, was charged with larceny and receiving at the Cinema Theatre, of $469 on March 9, and breaking and entering and larceny and receiving at the same establishment on March 19 where he is alleged to have stolen $102.07, police said.

Miller was the assistant manager of the Cinema Theatre at the time of the thefts, police said.

Miller has been in city jail in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

ED FISHER TOURNEY

Another Substitute for Film Glamour Goes Forth

Supplementing usual policy of having star, director, etc. of a particular film tour key cities for press interviews, Universal is sending national newspaper contact, Ed Fisher, on an eight-week trek of 20 key cities, to plug six pix.

He'll take along speical material on "Wild and Wonderful," "The Chalk Garden," "Bedtime Story," "Marnie," "Island of the Blue Dolphins" and "McHale's Navy." Besides confabs with editors he'll also meet with exchange managers. Tour, which started in Dallas Monday (30), takes in Ft. Worth, Houston, New Oorleans, Miami, Atlanta, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, N.Y., Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Denver and Frisco.

New York Sound Track

First project on Max Youngstein's multiple-pic deal with Col will be a screen adaptation of Steven Gethers' play, "A Cook for Mr. General," done on Broadway a couple of years ago with Bill Travers . . . Indie producer Kane Lynn back at his N. Y. desk from Manila where he just completed "Amok" (for Lippert and 20th-Fox) and "Walls of Hell." Both star Jock Mahoney . . . Ruth (Mrs. Albert) Zugsmith and son Michael leave here April 7 on the SS United States en route to Germany to join the head of the family, now prepping his production of "Fanny Hill" in West Berlin.

Any p.r. firm which sends out the following cannot be all bad: "Martin Goldblatt, veteran industry publicist, who started as a still department clerk with Columbia Pictures in 1947 . . . is entering his 10th record-breaking week at the Solters, O'Rourke & Sabinson publicity firm" . . . "Sunday on The River," a documentary short about Harlem which won two prizes at Venice in 1962, currently on the bill at the Trans-Lux at Broadway and 49th . . . Producer-director Robert Aldrich flies to London to attend the British Academy Award ceremonies.

Among pix acquired by Times Film prez Jean Goldwurm during his recent trip abroad are "The Red Lanterns," a Greek film due to represent Greece at the upcoming Cannes fest, and "The Grand Olympics," a two-hour color doc on the 1960 summer olympics in Rome . . . As of April 26, Trans World Airline coach passengers, as well as those in first class, will get Inflight pix on the non-stop, coast-to-coast flights. The airline estimates that during the peak summer travel season it will be operating more than 300 film flights weekly.

Reade-Sterling chairman Walter Reade Jr. left Monday (30) for London to firm up his participation in Sir Michael Balcon's syndicate acquisition of British Lion . . . 20th's overseas publicity exec Fred Hift gabbed on Arlene Francis WOR gabfest Thursday (26) . . . Add German star Heinz Ruehmann to Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools" cast . . . Col's assistant general sales manager Milt Goodman and his family spending a 10-day vacation in Palm Beach.

Fred Wiseman-Shirley Clarke made-in-New York indie, "The Cool World," will follow "Tom Jones" into the Cinema II here. Pic is being preemed sans distrib . . . Film copyright expert Edward A. Sargoy, guest-lectured at Columbia Law School on his favorite subject last week . . . Portia Nelson and Anna Lee will don habit for nun roles in 20th's "Sound of Music" . . . Harold Danziger is acting as special coordinator for all promotional activities on Col's "Hey There, It's Yogi Bear."

Cinema V's new exec veep Carl Peppercorn has returned from a product-hunting trip to Europe . . . Bette Davis, Edward Albee, Joe Levine and Judith Crist will discuss "Broadway and Hollywood: Why All The Awards" at an NYU seminar April 14, the day after the Oscars . . . Jimmy Van Heusen and Sammy Cahn will write three songs for 20th's "The Pleasure Seekers" . . . Harry Kurnitz will do the screenplay for 20th's upcoming "Venus Rising."

Now it's Sam Goldwyn Jr. at Vasar. The producer-director of "The Young Lovers", currently swinging through eastern campuses on tub-thumping work, today (Wed.) is making the scene at Poughkeepsie . . . "Tom Jones" will be the opening attracting at Fabian's new 1,4000-seat Bay Terrace Theatre in Bayside April 8 . . . Steve McQueen will topline Robert Wise's "The Sand Pebbles" for 20th.

Robert H. O'Brien, Metro prez, off to London yesterday (Tues.) for a few days studio visit . . . Lyle Wheeler set as production manager for Otto Preminger's "In Harm's Way," a job he has handled for the producer-director on several of his pix . . . Paramount will put "Seven Days in May" onto a "showcase" break, continuing at the Criterion on Broadway, starting April 15 . . . Mike Hutner, UA pub manager, back from Washington, D.C., where he supervised the special politico screenings for "Best Man."

Arnold Picker, UA exec v.p., vacationing in Florida, due back in harness next week . . . Jim Velde, UA sales boss, also on holiday . . . Joe Levine and Metro international division chief Red Silverstein lunch huddling last week . . . UA's "How To Murder Your Wife" will location in Gotham for about 10 days in mid-April, with Jack Lemmon, Verna Lisi and others from the cast due in town . . . Charles K. Feldman dickering a multi-pic deal with UA and also talking production dealings with Paramount.

Joseph E. Levine is hosting a press reception for Bette Davis in Gotham this Friday (3) at the Four Seasons Restaurant to toast completion of "Where Love Has Gone" and her work in "Empty Canvas" . . . UA today (Wed.) opens a double bill of "One Man's Way" and "The Miracle Worker" in 32 New York nabes, including RKO and Skouras houses . . . Harold Salemson has joined Taplinger Associates, pubrel firm, having ankled Embassy Pix last week . . . Shirley Eaton inked for the latest James Bond adventure pic, "Goldfinger."

William Tuttle, Metro makeup department head, in Europe plugging "7 Faces of Dr. Lao" and working in Lisbon on cosmetics for James Garner in "36 Hours" . . . Marcello Mastroianni does the cover bit in the April issue of Gentleman's Quarterly . . . UA's "From Russia With Loves" opens April 8 in 23 "Hollywood Showcase" houses in the New York area . . . Debbie Reynolds set to do a fashion spread in Harper's Bazaar in the July issue, pegged to Metro's "Unsinkable Molly Brown."

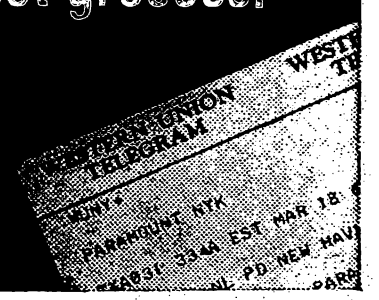
Dimitri Tiomkin to score MGM's "36 Hours" . . . UA's "World of Henry Orient" has nabbed Scholastic mag's "Bell Ringer Award" . . . Mike Ross appearing in his 28th Jerry Lewis pic with "The Patsy" . . . Allied Artists has tied up with Pepsi-Cola, with special stuffers and truck posters to plug its "Soldier in the Rain" . . . Wometco Enterprises will hold its annual stockholders' meeting April 27 at the Forest Hills Theatre, N. Y., instead of at the Florida World's Fair exhibit as previously planned.

Joseph E. Levine and Par ad-pub v.p. Martin Davis in Denver for an active advance campaign for "Carpetbaggers" leading to its April 9 world preem at the Paramount Theatre . . . James Garner in Lisbon for "36 Hours" location lensing . . . George Chakiris and Diana Hyland spotlighted in Sunday's (30) N. Y. News Coloroto mag section.

Paddy Chayefsky signed to write the screenplay for Metro's filmization of the bestseller "The Cincinnati Kid" in which Spencer Tracy will topline . . . Martin Ritt has checked into the Par studio to begin work on his next project, the filmization of John Le Carre's thriller novel "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold" . . . Edie Adams in Gotham for a Waldorf-Astoria Empire Room stint through April 25. She'll also attend the world preem April 5 of UA's "The Best Man," in which she appears . . . producer-director Lamont Johnson forming an indie film production company in Gotham.

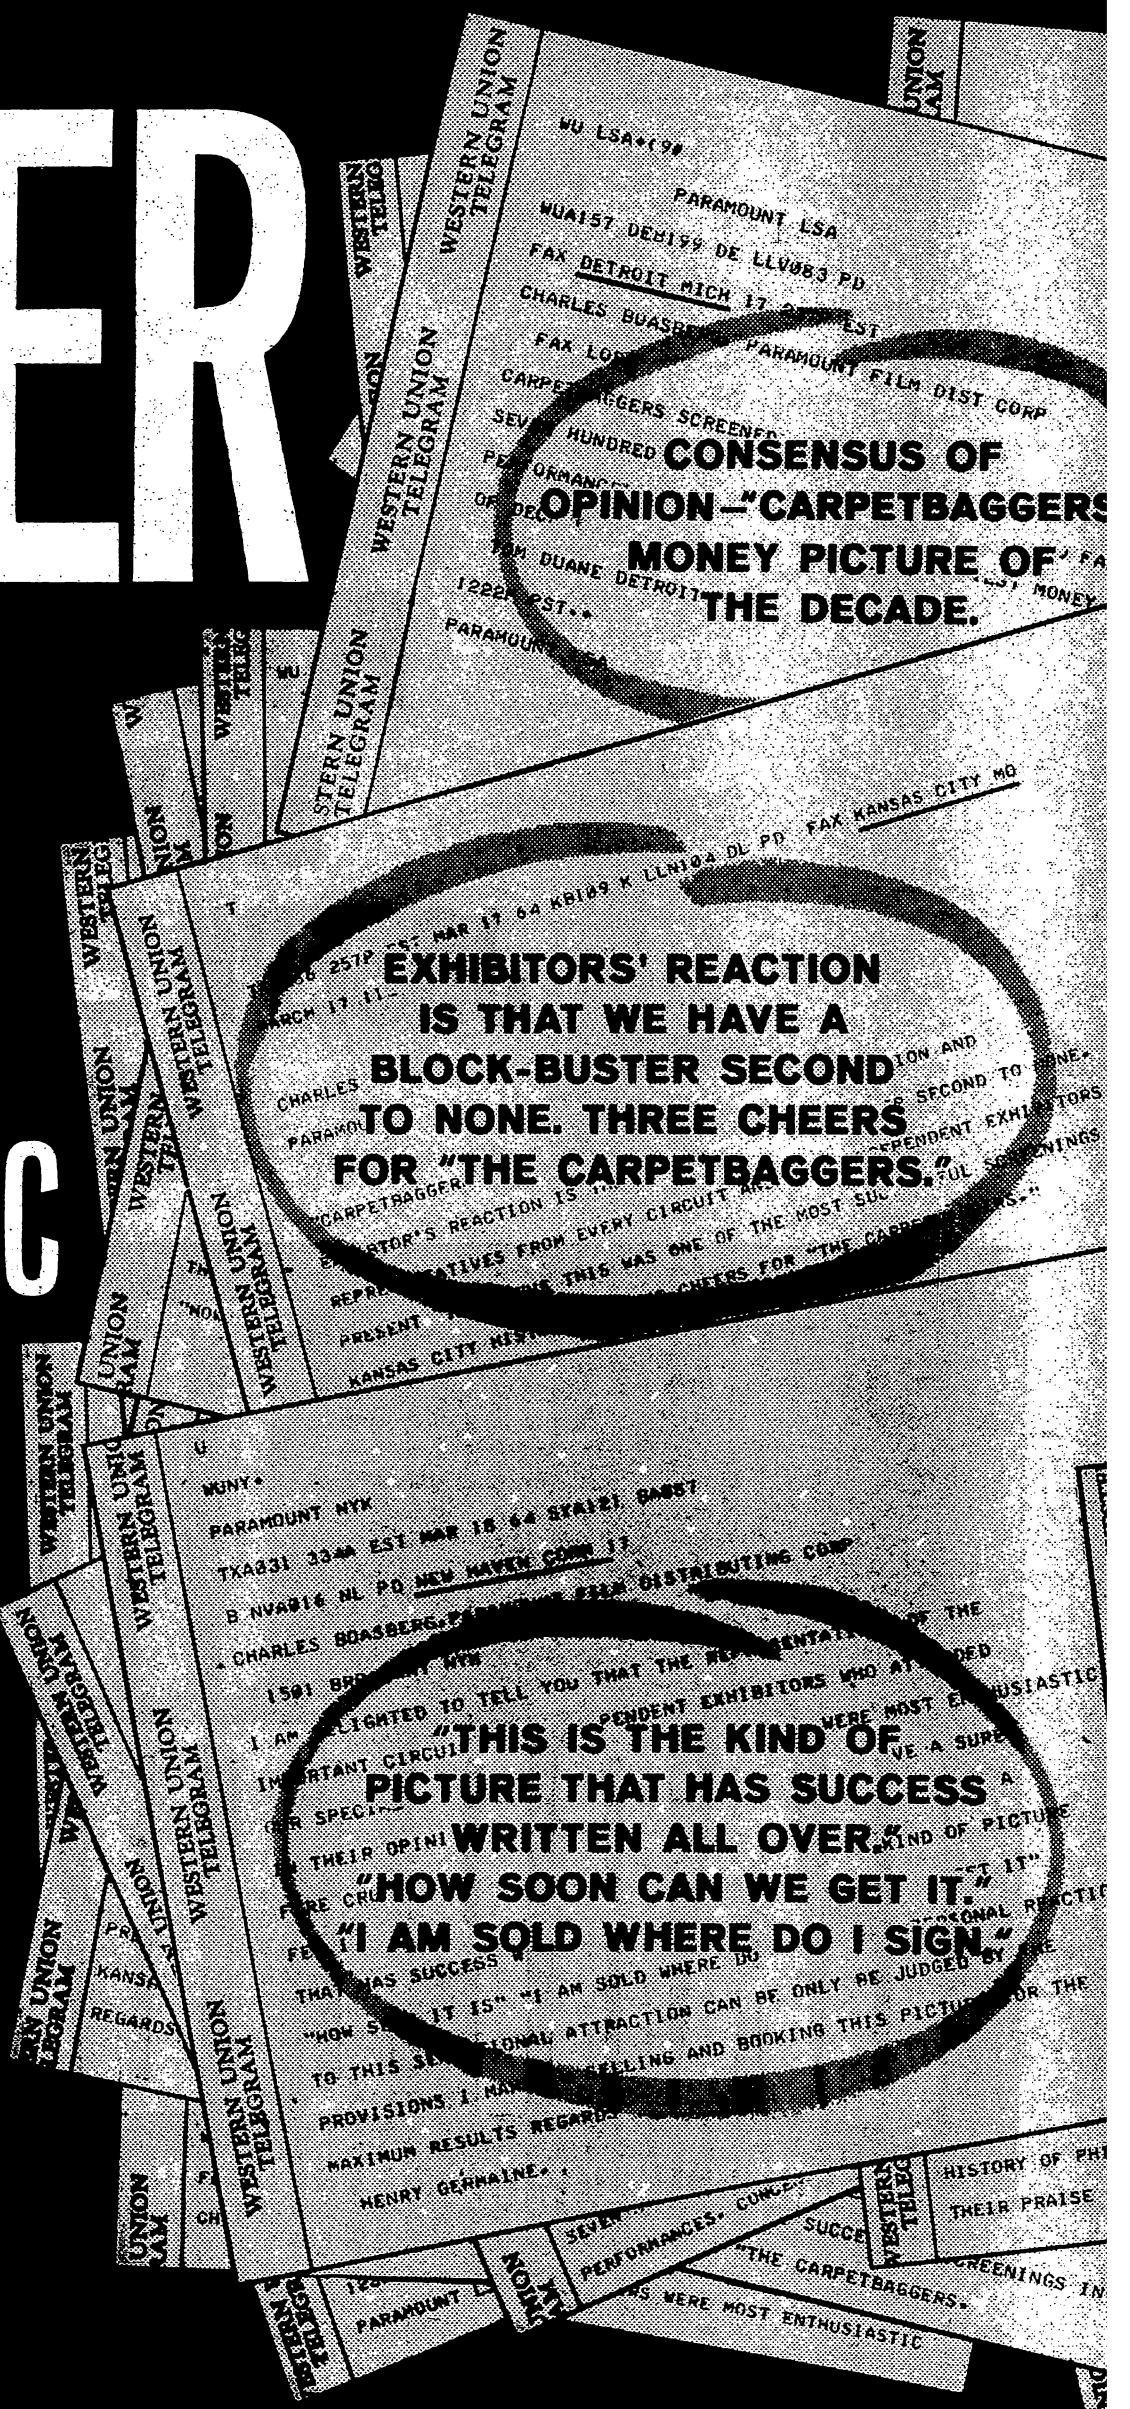
Legit actor Robert Morse to do two pix in six months for Metro, "Quick, Before It Melts" and "The Loved One" . . Allied Artists planning a mammouth booking of "The Strangler" (about the unpleasant Bostonian who has murdered umpteen women) in the Boston-New England area starting April 8, including 110 theatres and drive-ins.

Fred R. Frank Jr. appointed southern sales manager for Embassy Pictures' tv department . . . the New Christy Minstrels will plug Metro's "Advance to the Rear" in three months of concerts beginning Friday (3) . . . Luther Davis, writer-producer of Paramount's "Lady in a Cage," has returned to Hollywood from Gotham and confabs with Par execs . . . Metro's "7 Faces of Dr. Lao" awarded Scholastic mag's "Bell Ringer Award" . . . with three more preems in April, UA's "Mad World" will be playing in 31 national engagements.



Joanne Woodward featured in a special "Murder in Fashion Kit" beging serviced to fashion mags and newspaper editors around the country pegged to Metro's "Signpost to Murder" . . . "El Cid" doing boff biz in Mexico where it racked up $280,000 at the Diana Theatre, Mexico City, alone . . . Janie Gray in Hollywood from London for MGM's "Quick, Before It Melts."

PARAMOUNT SALUTES JOSEPH E. LEVINE AND

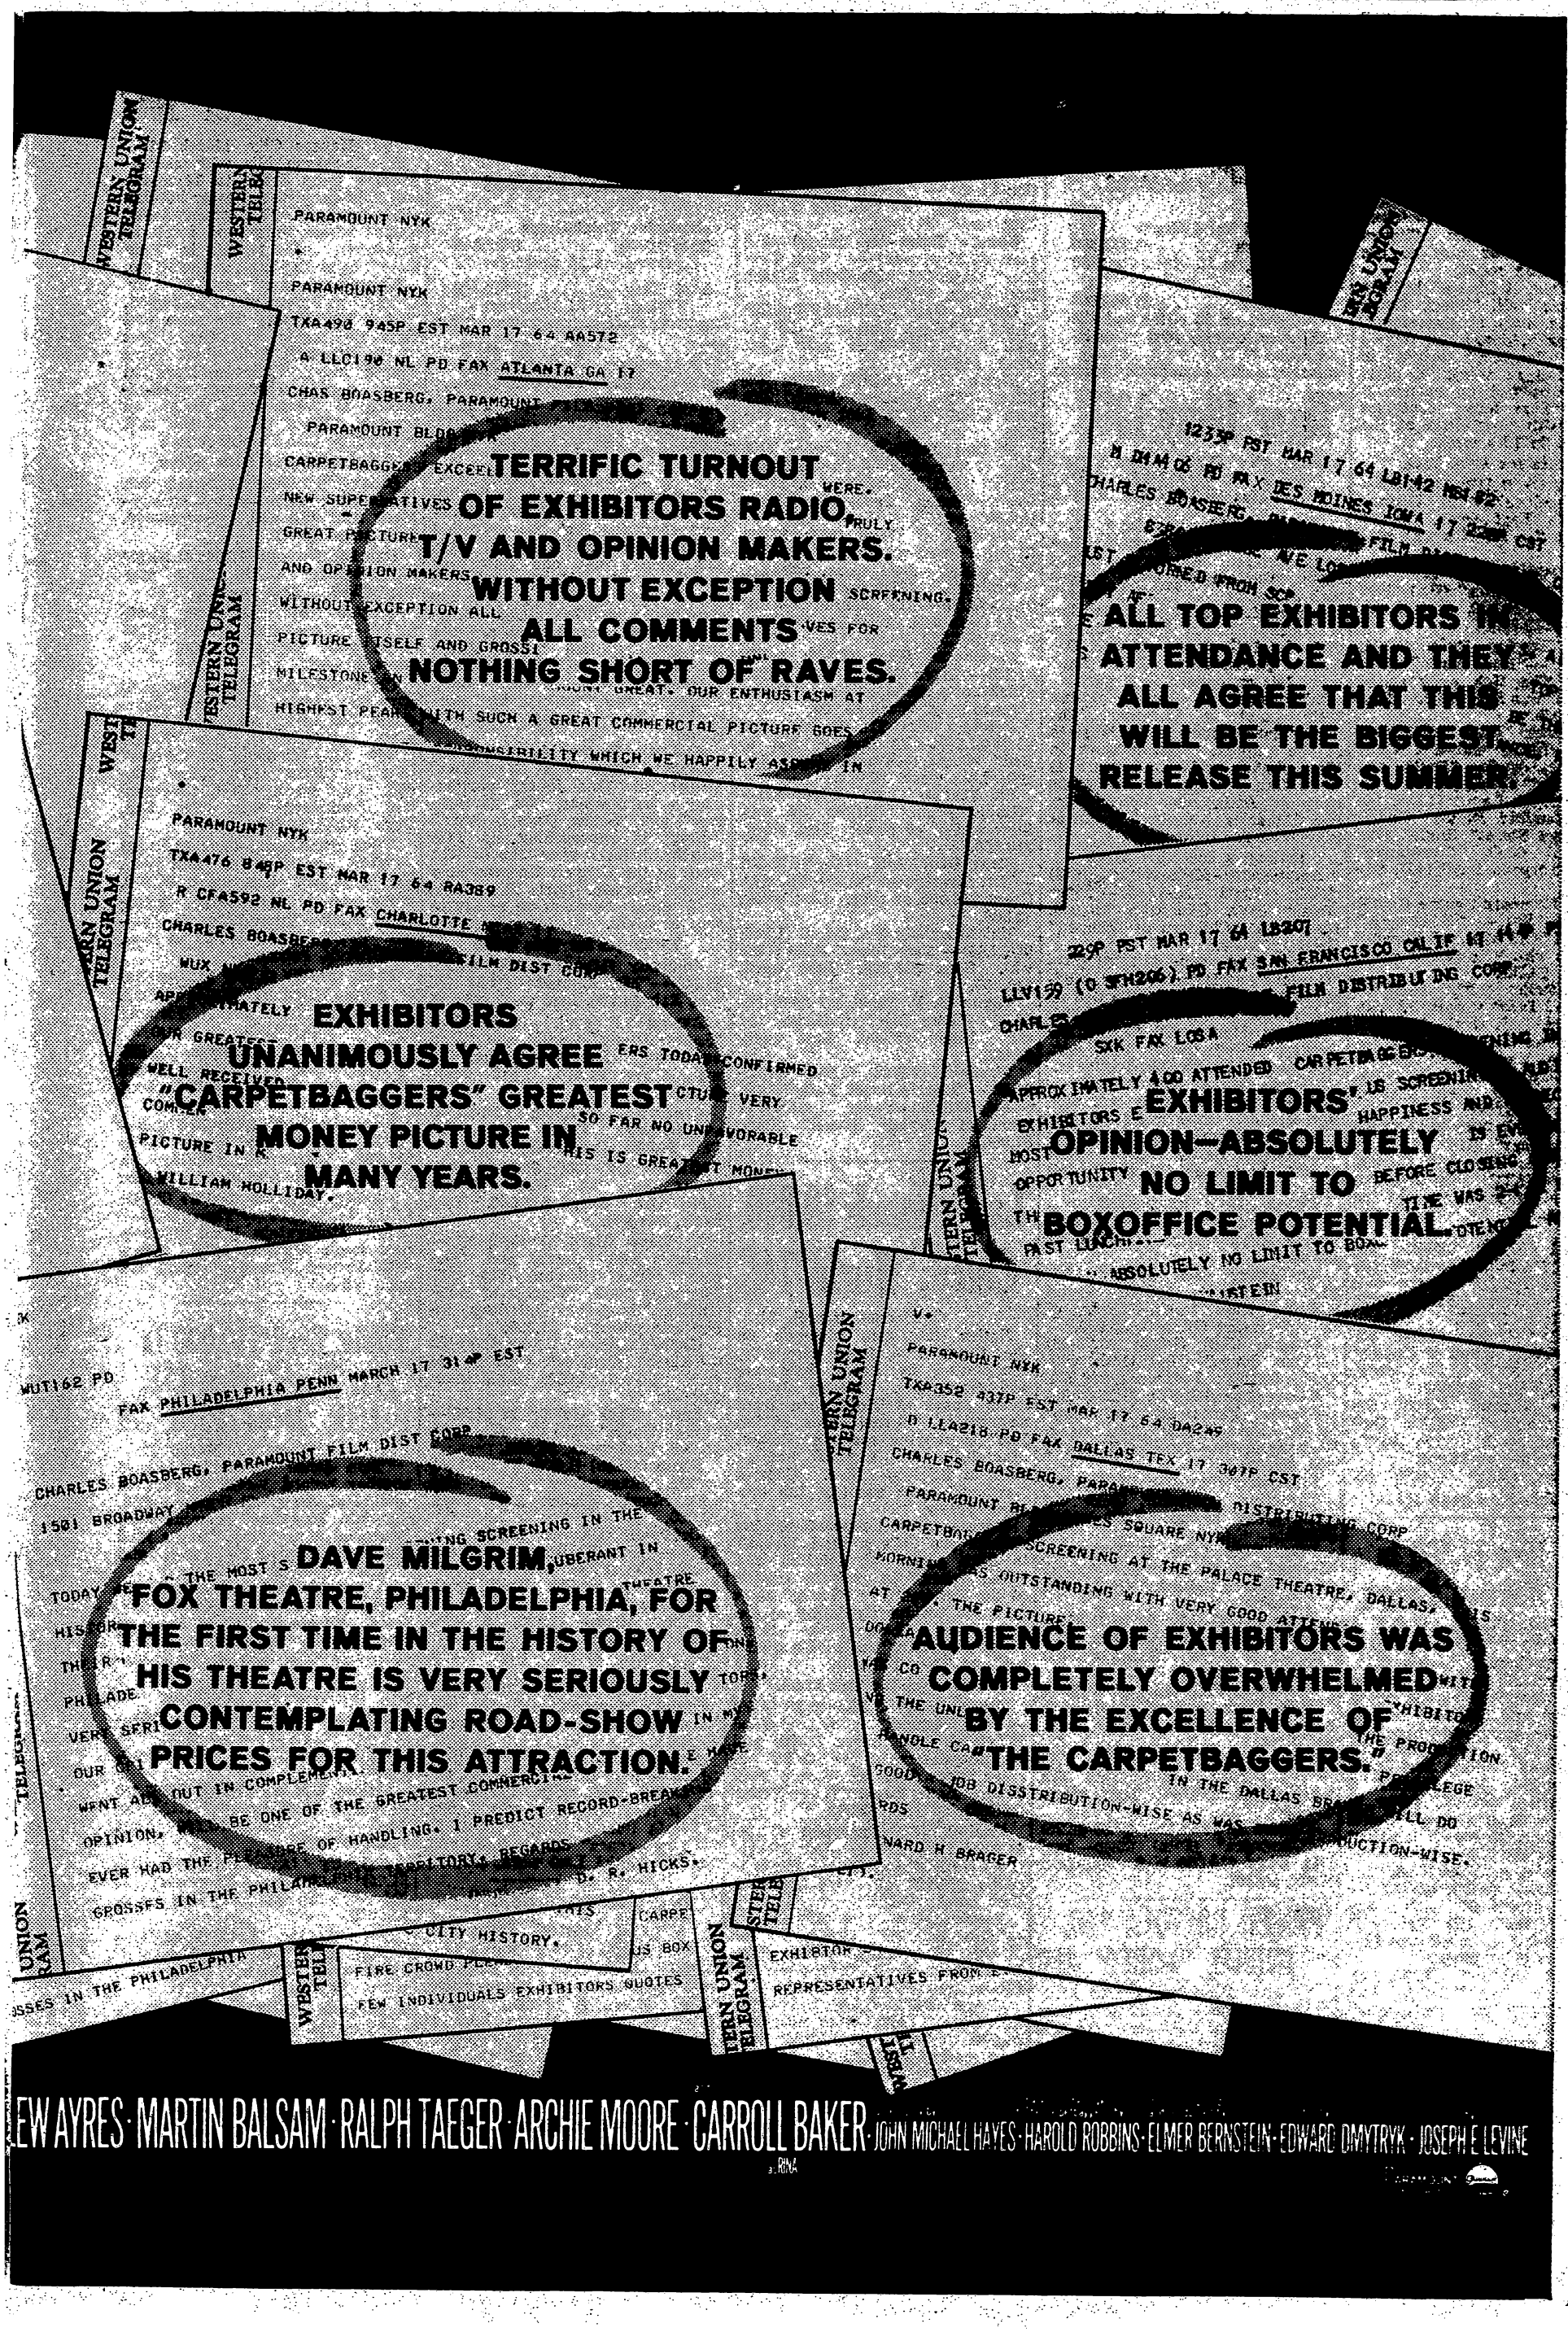


THE CARPETBAGGERS

The hottest, sure-fire combination for this summer's biggest grosses.

HAVE YOU EVER READ SUCH FANTASTIC REACTIONS . . .

NEVER HAVE THERE BEEN SUCH WILDLY ENTHUSIASTIC REACTIONS FROM EXHIBITORS AND OPINION MAKERS!



JOSEPH E. LEVINE presents

THE CARPETBAGGERS

TECHNICOLOR® · PANAVISION®

GEORGE PEPPARD · ALAN LADD · BOB CUMMINGS · MARTHA HYER · ELIZABETH ASH

PARAMOUNT NYK
TERRIFIC TURNOUT OF EXHIBITORS RADIO T/V AND OPINION MAKERS. WITHOUT EXCEPTION ALL COMMENTS NOTHING SHORT OF RAVES.
ALL TOP EXHIBITORS IN ATTENDANCE AND THEY ALL AGREE THAT THIS WILL BE THE BIGGEST RELEASE THIS SUMMER.
EXHIBITORS UNANIMOUSLY AGREE "CARPETBAGGERS" GREATEST MONEY PICTURE IN MANY YEARS.
EXHIBITORS' OPINION—ABSOLUTELY NO LIMIT TO BOXOFFICE POTENTIAL.
DAVE MILGRIM, FOX THEATRE, PHILADELPHIA, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF HIS THEATRE IS VERY SERIOUSLY CONTEMPLATING ROAD-SHOW PRICES FOR THIS ATTRACTION.
AUDIENCE OF EXHIBITORS WAS COMPLETELY OVERWHELMED BY THE EXCELLENCE OF "THE CARPETBAGGERS."
FAX PHILADELPHIA PENN MARCH 17 31
CHARLES BOASBERG, PARAMOUNT FILM DIST CORP
1501 BROADWAY
FAX DALLAS TEX 17 341P CST
CHARLES BOASBERG, PARAMOUNT FILM DISTRIBUTING CORP
FAX SAN FRANCISCO CALIF
FILM DISTRIBUTING CORP
FAX LOSA
EXHIBITORS' OPINION—ABSOLUTELY NO LIMIT TO BOXOFFICE POTENTIAL.
FAX PARAMOUNT NYK
FAX ATLANTA GA 17
CHAS BOASBERG, PARAMOUNT
PARAMOUNT BLDG
FAX CHARLOTTE
CHARLES BOASBERG
FILM DIST CORP
FAX DES MOINES IOWA 17
FILM DISTRIBUTING CORP
FAX PARAMOUNT NYK
TXA352 437P EST MAR 17 64 DA249
D LLA218 PD FAX DALLAS TEX 17 341P CST
CHARLES BOASBERG, PARAMOUNT FILM DISTRIBUTING CORP
CARPETBAGGERS SQUARE NYK
SCREENING AT THE PALACE THEATRE, DALLAS,
THE PICTURE
IN THE DALLAS BR
JOB DISSTRIBUTION-WISE AS WAS THE PRODUCTION
PRODUCTION-WISE.
HOWARD H BRAGER
EXHIBITOR REPRESENTATIVES FROM FEW INDIVIDUALS EXHIBITORS QUOTES
CARPE
IS BOX
CITY HISTORY.
SSES IN THE PHILADELPHIA
EW AYRES · MARTIN BALSAM · RALPH TAEGER · ARCHIE MOORE · CARROLL BAKER · JOHN MICHAEL HAYES · HAROLD ROBBINS · ELMER BERNSTEIN · EDWARD DMYTRYK · JOSEPH E LEVINE

Hub Uneven But 'Newman' Loud 19G, 'Shock' Sad 8G; 'Jones' Wow 20G, 15

Boston, March 31.

Film biz took traditional dive, with Holy Week doldrums setting in. Little activity here although new films opened. "Tamahine" shapes dull at Orpheum. "Seven Days in May" was nice at the Astor in seventh round.

"Paris When it Sizzles" is light at the Music Hall. "Shock Treatment" looks drab at Paramount. Second week holdovers are topped by "Pink Panther," bright in second round at Gary. "Captain Newman" was fast on opener at Memorial. "Tom Jones" continues to amaze with long lines at the Beacon Hill in 15th week.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (B&O) (1,117; 90-$1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col). Opened Friday (27). Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk), nice $7,500.

Beacon Hill (Sack) (900; $1-$1.80) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (15th wk). Mighty $20,000, with lines. Last week, $19,500.

Boston (Beacon Ent.) (1,354; $1.20- $3.95)—"Mad World" (UA) (20th wk). The 19th week ended Monday (30) was fine $16,500. Last week, $17,000.

Capri (Sack) (850; 90-$1.50)—"Servant" (Indie) (subrun). Okay $9,000. Last week, "Doll" and "Psychomania" (Vic), $3,500.

Center (E. M. Loew) (1,250; 90-$1.25) — "Naughty Dallas" (Indie) and "Passion Street" (Indie). Oke $5,500. Last week, "Commando" (AI) and "Torpedo Bay" (AI), $6,200.

Cinema, Kenmore Square (Indie) (320; $1.50-$1.90) — "Silence" (Janus) and "Old Man and Flower" (Indie) (6th wk). Nice $3,500 again. Last week, $3,300.

Exeter (Indie) (1,276; 90-$1.49) —"High and Low" (Cont) (3d wk). Good $8,000. Last week, $9,000.

Esquire (Indie) (500; $1-$1.50)—"Sunday in New York" (MGM) (subrun). Oke $4,500. Last week, "Suitor" (Atl) and "Dead Ringer" (WB) (2d wk), $3,800.

Gary (Sack) (1,277; $1.25-$1.80) —"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Bright $11,000. Last week, $15,000

Mayflower (ATC) (689; 90-$1.50) —"West Side Story" (reissue) (2d wk), Oke $4,000. Last week, $3,800.

Memorial (RKO) (3,000; 90-$1.50) — "Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (2d wk). Second week began Friday (27). First was fast $19,000.

Music Hall (Sack) (4,400; 90-$1.80) — "Paris When it Sizzles" (Par). Fairish $14,000. Last week, "Servant" (Indie), $13,000.

Orpheum (Loew) (2,900; 90-$1.65)—"Tamahine" (MGM). Dull $8,000. Last week, "One Man's Way" (UA) (2d wk), $6,000.

Paramount (NET) (2,357; 90-

(Continued on page 15)

'Limpet' Nice $7,500 In Prov.; 'Newman' Bangup 7G, 2d; 'Cardinal' 8G, 4

Providence, March 31.

"The Cardinal" in fourth session and "Tom Jones" in eighth round have Strand and Elmwood respectively on the happy side here this week. Majestic was helped by Easter school holiday and gave "The Incredible Mr. Limpet" a nice weekend sendoff. State is only mild with reissue of "South Pacific." "Capt. Newman" is potent in second at the Albee.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (2,200; 90-$1.25)—"Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (2d wk). Potent $7,000. First week was $10,000, despite Holy Week.

Elmwood (Snider) (2,200; $1-$1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Big $11,000 or near. Seventh was $11,500.

Majestic (SW) (2,200; 90-$1.25) —"Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "Ballad of Gunfighter" (Indie). Nice $7,500 looms. Last week, "Shock Treatment" (20th) and "Harbor Lights" (20th), $4,500.

State (Loew) (3,200; 90-$1.25)—"South Pacific" (reissue). Mild $4,000. Last week, "L-Shaped Room" (Col) and "Sundays and Cybele" (Indie) (reissues), $4,500.

Strand (National Realty) (2,200; $1.25-$1.75)—"Cardinal" (Col) (4th wk). Smash $8,000 or close. Third was $9,000.

Key City Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $3,211,550
(Based on 23 cities and 289 theatres).
Last Year $2,653,900
(Based on 23 cities and 288 theatres, chiefly first runs including N. Y.)

'Tiger' Okay 10G, D.C.; 'World' 18G

Washington, March 31.

Trade is spotty on mainstem this holiday round. Among the bright spots, "Captain Newman" shapes sock at the Town. "Pink Panther" is headed for second smash session at Keith's. "Tom Jones" figures ditto in 14th frame at the Ontario. "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" looks fair on opener at Palace.

"Cleopatra" is okay in closing 38th round at Warner. "Dr. Strangelove" looms boffo in sixth at the Dupont. "Seven Days in May" figures socko in seventh at Trans-Lux. "Tiger Walks" looks okay at Ambassador-Metropolitan and "America, America" is oke at Playhouse for third week.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador - Metropolitan (SW) (1,480; 1,000 $1-$1.49)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Oke with $10,000. Last week, "Children of Damned" (MGM), $6,000.

Apex (KB) (940; $1.25-$1.40)—"Humpbacked Horse" (Indie). Modest $7,000. Last week, "To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (4th wk), $3,800.

Calvert (Mann) (900; $1.25-$1.50) —"Easy Life" (Emb) (4th wk). Hep $4,500. Last week, $5,200.

Dupont (Mann) (400; $1.50-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Boff $14,000. Last week, $13,000.

Embassy (Loew) (567; $1.25-$2)—"Mail Order Bride" (MGM). Soft $4,000. Last week, "Victors" (Col) (6th wk), $3,500.

Keith's (RKO) (1,838; $1-$1.49)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Smash $24,000 after initialing at $25,000.

MacArthur (KB) (900; $1.25-$1.40) — "Guest" (Indie). Quiet $4,500. Last week, "Pair of Briefs" (Indie) (2d wk), $3,000.

Ontario (KB) (1,240; $1.75-$3) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (14th wk). Smash $26,000. Last week, $20,000.

Palace (Loew) (2,360; $1.25-$1.80) —"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" MGM. Fair $8,000. Last week, "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (3d wk), $6,500.

Playhouse (TL) 459; $1.25-$1.80) —"America, America" (WB) (3d wk). Okay $5,000. Last week, $5,900.

Plaza (TL) (278; $1.25-$1.80)—"Lorna" (Indie). Trim $6,500. Last week, "Sin in Suburbs" (Indie) (3d wk) $3,900.

Town (King) (800; $1.25-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) Sock $20,000. Last week, "Charade" (U) (13th wk) $5,500.

Trans-Lux (TL) (598; $1.49-$2)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk). Boff $9,500. Last week, $11,000.

Uptown (SW)(1,300; $1.55-$2.75) —"It's a Mad World" (UA) (6th wk). Great $18,000. Last week, $14,800.

Warner (SW) (2,250; $1.50-$2.75) —"Cleopatra" (20th) (38th—final wk). Okay $10,000 in 5 days. Last week, $8,000.

'PARTY' BOFFOLA 24G, FRISCO; 'WORLD' 41G

San Francisco, March 31.

Holiday traffic is lifting firstrun grosses out of doldrums here this round. "It's a Mad World" shapes wow $41,000 for session at Orpheum to set a record for that house. "Muscle Beach Party" looks smash, daydating Warfield and Mission Drive-in on opening round. "Dr. Strangelove" is heading for new high at 444-seat Stage Door in sixth week.

Estimates for This Week

Alexandria (Un. Calif.) (1,444; $3-$4) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk). Big $10,500. Last week, $11,000.

Bridge (Schwartz) (500; $1.50-$1.75) — "Sound of Trumpets" (Titanus). Okay $2,500.

Clay (Ros) (360; $1.75) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Great $5,000. Last week, $6,000.

Coronet (Un. Calif.) (1,250; $2-$2.50) — "Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Sock $13,000. Last week, $14,000.

Embassy (Dibble-McLean) (1,400; $1.49) — "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (2d wk). Big $7,000. Last week, $11,000.

Geneva Drive-In (Syufy) (910 cars; $1.25 person) — "Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Solid $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

Golden Gate (RKO) (2,850; $1.25 $1.50) — "Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Nice $12,000 or near. Last week, $16,000.

Metro (Un. Calif.) (1,000; $2-$2.50)—"The Silence" (Janus) (6th wk). Good $4,500. Last week, $5,000.

Mission Drive-In (Syufy) (950 cars; $1.25 person)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI). Good $6,000. Last week "Seven Faces Dr. Lao" (MGM), $6,000.

Music Hall (Ros) (364; $1.49-$1.75)—"Point of Order" (Indie). Fair $3,500. Last week, reissues.

Orpheum (Cinedome) (1,439; $1.50-$3.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (14th wk). Wow $41,000. Last week, $32,500.

Paramount (Par) (2,646; $1.50-$1.75)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Fair $12,000 or near. Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par), $8,500.

Presidio (Art Th. Guild) (750; $1.25-$1.50)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (5th wk). Good $1,800. Last week, $2,000.

St. Francis (Par) (1,400; $2)—"Global Affair" (MGM) (2d wk). Slow $6,000 or close. Last week, $10,000.

Stage Door (A-R) (444; $1.75-$2) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Great $14,000 or over. Last week, $9,800.

United Artists (No. Coast) (1,148; $2-$2.40)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (15th wk). Sock $13,500. Last week, $13,000.

Vogue (S. F. Theatres) (365; $2-$2.25)—"Easy Life" (Embassy) (3d wk). Fine $3,500. Last week, $4,000.

Warfield (FWC) (2,656; $1.25-$1.50)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI). Sturdy $18,000 or near. Last week, "Son of Captain Blood" (Par), $7,000.

'Lao' Smash $9,000, Cincy; 'World' 14G

Cincinnati, March 31.

Easter fragrance abounds on the Cincy film front currently, contributed by hardy holdovers and fresh pix. "Merlin Jones" looks smash at Keith's to front newcomers, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" is shaping socko at Palace. "Incredible Mr. Limpet" bidding okay at flagship Albee. "Captain Newman" rates swell at the outlying Valley.

Increasing the tempo of winning streaks are "It's a Mad World," in 15th round at Capitol, and "Tom Jones," in seventh session at the Times. "The Silence" rates as a biz builder daydating at Esquire and Hyde Park arters. "Kissin' Cousins" rates as a spring tonic at Twin Drive-In.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (3,100; $1.25-$1.50) —"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Good $7,500 or less. Larry Smith and his puppeteers of WCPO-TV onstage two days as Easter juve treat. Last week, "The Prize" (MGM) (3d wk), $7,000.

Capitol (SW-Cinerama) (1,329; $1.25-$2.75)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Bids for climb to socko $14,000 on extra matinees. Last week, $13,500.

Esquire (Cin-T-Co) (500; $1.25) —"The Silence" (Indie). Good $2,300. Daydating with Hyde Park. Last week, "Boccaccio 70" (Embassy) (reissue), $1,000.

Grand (RKO) (1,396; $1.80-$3)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk). Fair $4,500, a stepup near finish line. Last week, $4,000. "Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) bows April 5.

Guild (Kilgore) (272; $1.25)—"Room At Top" (Cont) and "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning" (Cont) (reissues) (2d wk). Okay $1,200. Same for opener.

Hyde Park (Cin-T-Co) (700;

(Continued on page 15)

Additional Picture Grosses On Page 15

'May' Rousing $11,000, K.C.; 'Paris' Hot 9G, 'Limpet' 7G, 'Tiger' 10G

Broadway Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $822,200
(Based on 35 theatres)
Last Year $519,400
(Based on 31 theatres)

'Cousins' Sock 8G, Mpls; 'Newman' 7G

Minneapolis, March 31.

The local Loop currently has reverted to the sort of 100% holdover condition that has prevailed much of the time the past year. But there's not one newcomer downtown this week. Easter week's school vacation and a three-day state high school basketball tournament which brought in an army of teen-agers spelled initial stanza prosperity for "Kissin' Cousins," "Incredible Mr. Limpet," "Capt. Newman" and "Tiger Walks" warranting their staying over this round.

And still in the big money are roadshow "How West Was Won" along with "Tom Jones," particularly a barnburner, "Dr. Strangelove" and "Seven Days in May." "West" is approaching its 14th month, hitting a wow take in 56th week at the Cooper. Unseasonably wintry weather hurt this week, with temperatures down nearly to zero at night.

Estimates for This Week

Academy (Mann) (1,050; $1.25-$1.50) — "Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). Fair $4,000. Last week, $6,000.

Avalon (Frank) (900; $1)—"Saucy Aussie" (Indie) and "Man on Moon" (Lopert) (subrun) (3d wk). Okay $1,000. Last week, $1,200.

Century (Par) (1,300; $1.50-$3.50) —"Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk). Fair $4,000. Last week, $3,500.

Cooper (CF) (905; $1.25-$2.50)—"How West Was Won" (MGM) (56th wk). Great $13,000. Last week, $14,000.

El Lago (Carisch) (800; $1)—"Fourth Sect" (Indie) and "Balcony" (Cont) (subrun). Tidy $1,100. Last week, "Virgins of Bali" (Indie), "Dangerous Relations (Indie) and (subrun), $1,200.

Gopher (Berger) (1,000; $1-$1.25) —"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) (2d wk). Loud $8,000. Last week, $12,000.

Lyric (Par) (1,000; $1-$1.25)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk). Okay $5,000. Last week, $6,000.

Mann (Mann) (1,000; $1.25-$1.50) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Sturdy $8,000. Last week, $9,000.

Orpheum (Mann) (2,800; $1-$1.25)—"Irma La Douce" (UA) and "Some Like It Hot" (UA) (reissues). Satisfactory $6,000. Last week, stageshow.

Park (Mann) (1,000; $1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk). Loud $4,500. Last week, $5,000.

State (Par) (2,000; $1.25-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Virile $7,000 or over. Last week, $12,000.

Suburban World (Mann) (800; $1.25)—"Easy Life" (Embassy). So-so $3,000. Last week, "To Ber or Not to Bed" (Cont) (2d wk), $2,000.

World (Mann) (400; $1.25-$1.50) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Smash $10,000. Last week, $11,000.

'Doctor' Dandy $8,000, Port.; 'Jones' 10G, 7th

Portland, Ore., March 31.

Bulk of strength here currently is with holdovers and long-runners. "Paris When It Sizzles," one of few newcomers, shapes trim at Music Box while "Dr. Strangelove" is rated tall in first at the Fox. "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" is dullish on opener at Paramount. "It's a Mad World" is top longrun, with a wow take at the Hollywood in 15th week.

Estimates for This Week

Broadway (Parker) (1,890; $1-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) and "One Man's Paris" (U) (2d wk). Okay $5,000. Last week, $9,100.

Cinema 21 (Foster) (648; $1.50)—"America, America" (WB) (5th wk).

(Continued on page 15)

Kansas City, March 31.

A late-season bliz with accompanying temp drops to 14 above will hold back most Easter holiday trade currently. "Dr. Strangelove" shapes wham in second week at Brookside. Also terrific is "Tom Jones" in sixth round at the Kimo.

Newcomers are spotty. "Mr. Limpet" at Paramount is just good. "Tiger Walks" at Up-town and Granada looms passable. But "Paris When It Sizzles" at Plaza shapes hotsy. "Seven Days in May" getting excellent word-of-mouth at Roxy looks socko on opener. "It's a Mad World" still is torrid in 15th Empire round.

Estimates for This Week

Brookside (Fox Midwest-Nat. Gen.) (800; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (2d wk). Wow $9,000. Last week, $9,500.

Capri (Durwood) (1,260; $1.85-$3) —"Cleopatra" (20th) (20th wk). Pine $8,000. Last week, $7,500.

Empire (Durwood) (866; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Socko $14,000. Last week, $10,500.

Crest, Riverside (Commonwealth) (900 cars each). Boulevard (Rosedale) (750 cars. Hiway 40 (General) (1,000 cars); Isis (FMW) (1,360; $1)—"Comedy of Terrors" (AI) and "Pyro" (AI). Okay $12,000. Last week, Crest, Riverside and Boulevard only, "My Son, Hero" (UA), $3,500.

Kimo (Dickinson) (504; $1.50-$2) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Torrid $8,000. Last week, $7,000.

Paramount (Blank-UP) (1,900; $1.25-$1.50)—"Incredible Mr. Limpet" (WB). Good $7,500 or less. Last week, reissues.

Plaza (FMW) (1,630; $1.25-$1.50) —"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Hot $9,000. Last week, "Victors" (Col) (2d wk), $5,000.

Rockhill (Art Theatre Guild) (821; $1; $1.25)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont). Smooth $3,000. Last week, reissues.

Roxy (Durwood (664; 76-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par). Socko $11,000. Last week, "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (5th wk), $5,000.

Uptown, Granada (FMW) (2,043; 1,219; $1.25-$1.50)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Moderately good $12,000. Last week, Uptown only. "Love with Proper Stronger" (Par) (3d wk). $5,500.

'Bottle' Good $10,000 In Pitt; 'World', Wow 13G, 15th; 'Jones' 15½G, 7th

Pittsburgh, March 31.

"Tom Jones" is racing toward another record week in seventh session at the small Squirrel Hill. "Captain Newman" remains sock in second at Gateway. "It's a Mad World" is headed for smash total in 15th round at the Warner.

"Tiger Walks," in first at the Stanley, is very drab. Other newcomer, "Brass Bottle" at Penn, is rated good. "America, America" shapes solid in fifth at the Shadyside.

Estimates for This Week

Forum (Assoc.) (380; $1.75)—"Lillies of Field" (UA) (21st wk). Excellent, $3,500. Last week, $3,400.

Fulton (Assoc.) 1,900; $1-$1.75) —"Flight from Ashiya" (UA) (2d wk-5 days). Weak $3,000. Last week, $7,000.

Gateway (Assoc.) (1,900; $1-$1.75) — "Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Fat $10,500. Last week, $11,000.

Penn (UATC) (3,472; $1-$1.50)—"Brass Bottle" (U). Good $10,000. Last week, "Shock Treatment" (20th), $6,700.

Shadyside (MOTC) (623; $1.75) —"America, America" (WB) (5th wk). Neat $3,500. Last week, $3,400.

Squirrel Hill (SW) (800; $1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Heading for another record with $15,500 and ahead of last week's $14,000.

Stanley (SW) (3,700; $1-$1.75)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Drab $5,500. Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB), $10,000.

Warner (SW) (1,260; $1.50-$3)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Holiday big help for boffo $13,000. Last week, $11,000.

ROCK 'N' ROLL EASTER; NO EGGS

This Week's N. Y. Showcases

"Merlin Jones" (BV)—$135,000 for 20 spots.
T-L 85th St. (Manhattan), Loew's Olympia, American; Brandt's Post Road, 167th St.; Randforce Beverly; Town & Country's Sea View, Wantagh, Glen Cove, Hewlett; Century's Marine, Oceana, Morton Village, Bliss, Prospect, Queens; Interboro's Fortway; Fabian's St. George; Island's Parkway; Westchester Town.

"Incredible Mr. Limpet" (WB)—$85,000 for 19 spots.
Astor (Manhattan); RKO's 58th St., Coliseum, Dyker, Kenmore, Madison, Castle Hill, Keith's Flushing, Strand, White Plains; Skouras Riverside, Valentine, Forest Hills, Merrick, Playhouse, Rivoli (Hempstead), Lynbrook, Bronxville; Randforce Duffield.

Snowstorm Sloughs Chi Biz; 'Tiger' Smart $18,000; 'Newman' Lusty 25G, 'Becket' Boffo 20G, 'Silence' 13½G

Chicago, March 31.

Chi firstrun biz, which was soaring, was sloughed by a Sunday snow storm. Despite this, many pix are doing okay. New this round is "A Tiger Walks," which is preeming to a classy $18,000. at the Roosevelt. "Sanjuro" is bowing nicely at the Town.

A big batch of hefty second rounders are all picking up solid coin. "Captain Newman" is nabbing a solid second at the Chicago while "The Pink Panther" is fast for the same State-Lake session. "Flight From Ashiya" is nailing a tame second Oriental frame. "The Silence" is posting a rousing second round, daydating the Loop and Carnegie.

"Seven Days in May" is tallying a brisk fifth United Artists lap. "Dr. Strangelove" continues wham in its Esquire sixth.

"The Cardnal" is nailing a stout 13th Woods outing while "Tom Jones" is loud in its Todd 19th session. On hardticket, "Becket" is racking up a smash second canto at the Cinestage.

Outlying houses suffered less, with "Mr. Limpet" doing well in 60 spots and subrun of "8½" nifty in 23 locations.

Estimates for This Week

Carnegie (Brotman) (495; $1.25-$1.80)—"Silence" (Janus) (2d wk). Excellent $4,500, or near. Last week, $6,500.

Chicago (B&K) (3,900; 90-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Tall $25,000. Last week, $24,000.

Cinema (Stern) (500; $1.50)—"To Bed Or Not To Bed" (Cont) (2d wk). Smart $3,800. Last week, $5,000.

Cinestage (Todd) (1,038; $1.75-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (2d wk). Sock $20,000. Last week, $19,000.

Esquire (H&E Balaban) (1,236; $1.25-$1.80)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Dandy $17,000. Last week, $18,000.

Loop (Brotman) (606; 90-$1.80)—

(Continued on page 15)

'Newman' Loud $8,500, Omaha; 'Party' Hot 10G

Omaha, March 31.

"Captain Newman" looks big on opening round at Orpheum. "Muscle Beach Party" is rated strong for opener in two spots. "Becket" shapes socko for initial session at Cooper. "Tiger Walks" looks modest for first at State.

Estimates for This Week

Orpheum (Tri-States) (2,870; $1.25)—"Captain Newman" (U). Big $8,500. Last week, "To Catch Thief" (Par) and "Verdigo" (Par) (reissues), $3,500.

Omaha (Tri-States) (2,066; $1.25)—"Yank in Viet Nam" (UA) and "Cry of Battle" (UA). Bad $2,000. Last week, "Victors" (Col), $2,500.

Cooper (Cooper) (687; $1.25)—"Becket" (Par). Sock $8,000 or near. Last week, "Global Affair" (MGM), $3,500.

State (Cooper) (752; $1.25)—"A Tiger Walks" (BV). Modest $4,500. Last week, "Wuthering Heights" (Cont) (reissue), $3,800.

Admiral (Ralph Blank) (1,000; $1.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Socko $6,500. Last week, $5,700.

Chief, Skyview (Ralph Blank) (1,234, 1,122 cars; $1.25)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI). Strong $10,000.

'World' Great $13,000, Col.; 'Merlin' Fat 14G

Columbus, O., March 31.

Holdovers are scheduled at all firstruns for Easter week with solid business looming in most spots. "Cleopatra" in second stanza at Beechwold and New Main shapes sock. "Misadventures of Merlin Jones" is giving the Palace a crowded second week. "Seven Days in May" still is pleasing in second inning at the Ohio. Extra holiday performances should boost Grand's seventh week of "It's a Mad World" to a smash total.

Estimates for This Week

Beechwold (Academy-Neth) (860; $1-$2) and New Main (Yassenoff) (1,100; $1-$2)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (2d wk). Socko $16,000. Last week, $17,200.

Grand (RKO) (860; $1.50-$2.75)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (7th wk). Smash $13,000. Last week, $10,000.

Ohio (Loew) (3,079; 50-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (2d wk). Pleasing $9,000. Last week, $11,000.

Palace (RKO) (2,845; 75-$1.50)—"Merlin Jones" (BV) (2d wk). Large $14,000 or less. Last week, $15,000.

'World' Wham 13G, Cleve.; 'Jones' 11G

Cleveland, March 31.

Standout biz being done currently is by "It's a Mad World," which shapes smash in 15th round at the Palace. "Tom Jones" is giving it a tight race for b.o. laurels with a hearty take in sixth week at the Ohio.

"Capt. Newman" is rated fine in second stanza at the Hipp while "Tiger Walks" shapes weak in second at the Allen. "Dr. Strangelove" looms lofty in fifth sessions daydating two smaller houses.

Estimates for This Week

Allen (Stanley-Warner) (2,868; $1.25-$1.50)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) ((2d wk). Weak $8,000. Last week, $8,500.

Colony Art (Stanley-Warner) (1,354; $1.50)—"Easy Life" (Embassy) (3d wk). Routine $2,600. Last week, $2,500.

Continental Art (Art Theatre Guild) (925; $1.50)—"I Love, You Love" (Royal). So-so $2,200. Last week, "Monkey in Winter" (MGM), $1,400.

Heights Art (Art Theatre Guild) (925; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Great $5,600. Last week, $5,300.

Hippodrome (Hipp Bldg. Co.) (3,500; $1.25-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Good $12,000. Last week, $10,000.

Ohio (Loew) (1,020; $1.25-$1.85)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Sock $11,000. Last week, $12,000.

Palace (F&A Theaters) (1,265; $1.50-$3)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Socko $13,000. Last week, $9,500.

State (Loew) (3,450; $1.65)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (2d wk). Average $9,000 or less. Last week, $11,500.

Westwood Art (Art Theatre Guild) (955; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Smart $4,400. Last week, $4,700.

WEEK'S GROSS MAY TOP 822G

Helped by Easter Week days which offset last part of Holy Week, increased by vacationing students, and usual holiday scales plus new product, Broadway is booming in the current session. It now looks like the total gross for 34 theatres will top an amazing $822,000, biggest figure since the year-end holidays, and one of biggest Easter weeks ever.

Greatest coin total, of course, is being racked up by the Music Hall with its Easter stageshow and "World of Henry Orient." Current (2d) stanza looks to soar to a mighty $215,000 in second week ending today (Wed.). "Fall of Roman Empire" is hitting a smash $46,000 opening round at the DeMille.

Rock-n-roll stageshow with "No, My Darling Daughter" did a huge $50,000 in first four days of opening week at the Paramount. Present bill is a 10-day booking. Par showcase was capacity every show, with long lines the first four days. Also new, "Incredible, Mr. Limpet" looks like a fair $14,000 on opener at the Astor.

"The Cardinal," playing subsequent-run at the Cinerama, hit a big $22,000 opening session despite longrun just ended at the DeMille. "Capt. Newman," also a fresh entry, looks like a fat $22,000 opening round at the Palace, where also on subrun.

"Becket" is soaring to a capacity $58,000 in third session at the State, being helped by six extra matinees. "Seven Days in May" is holding with a sock $39,700 in sixth round, daydating the Criterion and Sutton.

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" is holding close to opening week's record figure, with wow $51,000 for second stanza, daydating the Festival and Tower East. That's a new high for second weeks at both houses. "Dr. Strangelove" still is boffo at $47,000 for ninth week, daydating the Victoria and Baronet.

"It's a Mad World" edged up to a great $27,000 in 19th round at the Warner. "Night Must Fall" looks trim $12,000 in second frame, daydating the Embassy and Murray Hill.

"The Servant" held with great $19,300 in second week at the Little Carnegie. "Tom Jones" is holding with a smash $37,500, for 25th session at the Cinema One and seventh week at the Cinema Two.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (City Inv.) (1,094; $1.25-$2)—"Incredible Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). Initial round finished yesterday (Tues.) was fair $14,000 or close. Playing Showcase.

Cinerama (Loew) (1,552; $1.50-$2.50)—"The Cardinal" (Col) (subrun) (2d wk). First stanza ended yesterday (Tues.) was solid $22,000, but this is very big in view of its previous longrun at the DeMille and that it is also playing in some other houses on saturation booking.

Criterion (Moss) (1,520; $1.50-$2.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk). Sixth session ended yesterday (Tues.) was great $25,000 or over after $26,400 for fifth. Daydating with the Sutton.

DeMille (Reade) (1,463; $1.50-$3.50)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par). Initial week ending tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like mighty $46,000 despite crix barbs. Stays on.

Embassy (Guild Enterprises) (500; $1.50-$2.50)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM) (3d wk). First holdover round completed yesterday (Tues.) was very good $8,500 or near after $9,500 for opener. Daydating with Murray Hill.

Forum (Norel) (813; $1.25-$1.80)—"The Prize" (MGM) (subrun) (3d wk). Second session finished yesterday (Tues.) was smash $16,000 or close after $17,000 for

(Continued on page 15)

L.A. Biz Still Stout; 'Sunday' Solid $19,000; 'Jones' Boffo 30G, 'Panther' 28G, 'Today' Sock 26G, 'May' 20G

Estimates Are Net

Film gross estimates as reported herewith from the various key cities, are net; i.e., without usual tax. Distributors share on net take, when playing percentage, hence the estimated figures are net income.

The parenthetic admission prices, however, as indicated, include U. S. amusement tax.

'Paris' Fast 12G, St. L.; 'Jones' 17G

St. Louis, March 31.

Lone newcomer to get far this stanza is "Paris When It Sizzles," which looks hotsy at the Ambassador. "Alone Against Rome" looms drab in first round at State. "Tiger Walks" shapes okay in second at the St. Louis.

"Tom Jones' is sock in fifth at Loew's Mid-City. "It's a Mad World" is heading for a smash take in sixth session at Martin Cinerama, climbing considerably ahead of last week's take.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador (Arthur) (2,976; 90-$1.25)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Fast $12,000. Last week, "America, America" (WB), $10,000.

Apollo Art (Grace) (700; 90-$1.25)—"Swedish Mistress" (Indie) and "Fiances" (Indie). Nice $2,000. Last week, "Suddenly It's Murder" (Indie), $1,500.

Esquire (Jablonow-Komm) (1,800; $1.25-$1.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (3d wk). Good $10,000. Last week, same.

Fox (Arthur) (5,000; 90-$1.25)—"Man's Favorite Sport" (U) (4th wk). Big $15,000. Last week, $10,000.

Loew's Mid-City (Loew) (1,160; 60-90)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (5th wk). Sock $17,000. Last week, $14,000.

State (Loew) (3,600; 60-90)—"Alone Against Rome" (Indie) and "Witch's Curse" (Indie). Drab $7,000 or less. Last week, "One Man's Way" (UA), $7,000.

Martin Cinerama (Martin) (913; $1.30-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (6th wk). Big $18,000. Last week, $15,000.

Pageant (Arthur) (1,000; 90-$1.25)—"Fantasia" (BV) (reissue) (2d wk). Good $2,500. Last week, $3,000.

Paris Art (Chernoff) (800; $1)—"Flamboyants" (Indie) and "Girl With Suitcase" (Indie). Average $1,200. Last week, "Sweet Ecstacy" (Indie) and "Weird Love Makers" (Indie), $1,200.

St. Louis (Arthur) (3,800; 75-90)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk). Okay $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

Shady Oak (Arthur) (760; 90-$1.25)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (3d wk). Good $3,500. Last week, $3,000.

'Newman' Trim $16,000, Buff; 'World' Okay 10G

Buffalo, March 31.

"Captain Newman," playing in two houses, looks standout here currently with nice takings. "Kissin' Cousins" is fairly good on opener at the Buffalo. "A Global Affair," is only moderate on initial round at Center. "It's a Mad World" shapes okay if a bit below hopes in first at the Teck.

Estimates for This Week

Buffalo (Loew) (3,500; $1-$1.49)—"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) "Battle of World" (MGM). Good $13,000. Last week, "One Man's Way" (UA), $3,000.

Center (AB-PT) (2,500; $1-$1.49)

(Continued on page 15)

Los Angeles, March 31.

Firstrun biz here this week is continuing on the hot side, with latter half of session aided by Easter school vacation. However, strength lies in holdovers rather than in most newcomers.

"Sunday in New York" tops fresh entries with a solid $19,000 expected in three theatres. "Flight From Ashiya" looks only soft $13,000, also for three spots, while "Tiger Walks" is rated slow $12,000 in same number of sites.

Of regular holdovers, "Tom Jones" remains torrid with $30,000 while "Pink Panther" shapes socko $28,000 in second at Hollywood Par. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" in second at Fox Wilshire looks smash $26,000.

"Seven Days in May" looms big $20,000 in fourth Chinese week. "Becket" looks socko $25,000 in second at Warner Beverly.

On multiple spreads, "Sunday in N. Y." shapes handsome $141,000 for 26 locations; "Flight From Ashiya" looks soft $11,000 for 28 spots; and "Tiger Walks" is slow $104,000 in 27 situations.

Estimates for This Week

Baldwin, Iris, Los Angeles (State-FWC-Metropolitan) (1,800; 825; 2,049; $1-$1.50)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Starfighters" (Indie). Slow $12,000. Last week, Baldwin, Los Angeles with Pix, "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM), "Beauty and Body" (Indie), $15,800. Iris with Hillstreet, Wiltern, "Son Capt. Blood" (Par), "Law of Lawless" (Par), $11,600.

Beverly (State) (1,150; $1.49-$2.40)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Sock $18,200. Last week, $18,700.

Chinese (FWC) (1,408; $1.49-$2.40)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (4th wk). Lusty $20,000. Last week, $19,800.

Cinerama (Pac) (915; $1.49-$3.50)—"Mad World" (UA) (21st wk). Hefty $25,000 or near. Last week, $33,900.

Crest (State) (750; $1.25)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "Legend of Lobo" (BV) (reissue) (2d wk). Busy $3,000. Last week, $5,000.

Egyptian (UATC) (1,392; $1.25-$3.50)—"The Cardinal" (Col) (15th

(Continued on page 15)

'Tiger' Smooth $8,000 In L'ville; 'World' 9G, 15

Louisville, March 31.

Bright sunny Easter Day and brisk weekend was a boon to firstruns, with fresh product bringing patrons into the central area just like old times. Penthouse, with "Love With Proper Stranger" will ride the top spot while the United Artists is heading for a nice gross, boosted by kid trade, with "Tiger Walks." "Mr. Limpet" is fine at the Mary Ann. "Paris When It Sizzles" at the Ohio looks okay. "It's Mad World," in 15th week at the Rialto, shapes socko.

Estimates for This Week

Kentucky (Switow) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Big $5,500. Sixth week, $6,000.

Mary Ann (People's) (1,100; 75-$1.25)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Nice $5,500. Last week, "America, America" (WB) mild $3,000.

Ohio (Settos) (90; 75-$1.25)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Okay $4,500. Last week, "Merlin Jones" (BV) (5th wk), $6,500.

Penthouse (Fourth Avenue) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Love With Proper Stranger" (Par). Sock $11,000. Last week, "Seven Days In May" (Par) (2d wk), $5,500.

Rialto (Fourth Avenue) (1,100; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Robust $8,000. Last week, $8,200.

United Artists (Fourth Avenue) (1,700; 75-$1.25)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Nice $8,000. Last week, "Soldier In Rain" (AA) (2d wk), $5,500.

*tăm a·hĭne

MEANS MONEY IN ANY LANGUAGE!

*LOOK IT UP IN YOUR TAHITIAN DICTIONARY!

M-G-M IS ON THE MOVE!

Broadway Grosses

Continued from page 13

opener. Daydating with Trans-Lux 52d Street.

Palace (RKO) (1,642; $1.25-$2)—"Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Opening round was big $21,000 or close. Also on saturation booking.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,665; $1-$2.50)—"No, My Darling Daughter" (Zenith) with rock 'n' roll stageshow. First four days ended Monday (30) hit an amazing $50,000, with long lines. If it maintains this clip, Par flagship could hit better than $90,000, which would be a new high for years here. Booked only for 10 days.

Radio City Music Hall (Rockefellers) (6,200; 99-$2.85)—"World of Henry Orient" (UA) with Easter stageshow (2d wk). Business started perking here as of last Friday, and as a result the current week ending today (Wed.) is soaring to mammoth $215,000 and maybe a new high for Easter week. Opener was $170,000. Holding, natch! Hall started adding five shows beginning on last Friday, which, of course, helps swell total.

Rivoli (UAT) (1,545; $2.50-$5.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (43d wk). The 42d stanza completed yesterday (Tues.) perked up to nice $17,000 or near, with holiday scales helping, of course. Last week, $13,500.

Rialto (Brandt) (600; $1.25-$2.50)—"Silence" (Janus) (9th wk). Eighth round ended Sunday (29) was big $9,000 after $9,800 for seventh week.

State (Loew) (1,850; $1.50-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (3d wk). This session winding today (Wed.) looks like capacity $58,000 after $43,500 for second, which was near capacity). Third week was helped by holiday prices and six added matinees. Continues on indefinitely.

Victoria (City Inv.) (1,003; $1.25-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (10th wk). The ninth round completed yesterday (Tues.) was smash $27,000 or near after $21,600 for eighth. Daydating with Baronet.

Warner (SW) (1,504; $2.50-$4.80)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (20th wk). The 19th week finished Saturday (28) was boffo $27,000, with two extra matinees after $26,000 for 18th round. Helped by holiday scales. Current week starting Easter Sunday (29th) will be helped by extra matinees, too.

First-Run Arties

Baronet (Reade) (430; $1.25-$2—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (10th wk). The ninth round completed yesterday (Tues.) was great $20,000 or near after $17,700 for eighth.

Beekman (Rugoff Th.) (590; $1.50-$2)—"Given Word" (Lionex) (2d wk). Initial week finished Monday (30) was big $7,000.

Carnegie Hall Cinema (F&A) (330; $1.50-$2)—"Dimka" (Artkino) (2d wk). This round ending tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for smash $11,000 or close after $9,500 for opener. Aided by juvenile patronage in current week. Stays indef.

Cinema One (Rugoff Th.) (700; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (26th wk). The 25th round ended Sunday (29) was smash $24,300 after $23,500 for 24th week.

Cinema Two (Rugoff Th.) (300; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). The seventh week finished yesterday (Tues.) was sock $13,200 after $13,000 for sixth.

Coronet (Reade) (500; $1.50-$2)—"They All Died Laughing" (Cont) (3d wk). Second frame completed Saturday (28) was good $8,000 or close after $11,000 for opener.

Festival (Embassy) (546; $2-$2.50)—"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (3d wk). First holdover session completed Monday (30) was whopping $28,000 after $29,500 on opener. Daydating with Tower East. Both are record weeks here.

Fifth Ave. Cinema (Rugoff Th.) (250; $1.25-$2)—"Open the Door and See All People" (Indie). Opens today (Wed.). In ahead, "Beat the Devil" (UA) (6th wk) was okay $3,200 but very nice longrun here.

Fine Arts (Davis) (468; $1.80-$2)—"La Bonne Soupe" (20th) (3d wk). Initial holdover round finished Saturday (28) was great $13,000 after $14,000 for first.

Guild (Guild) (450; $1-$1.75)—"Mistress For Summer" (Indie). First week ending tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like sockeroo $15,000 or close.

Little Carnegie (Landau) (520; $1.25-$2)—"The Servant" (Landau) (3d wk). Second session completed Sunday (29) was record $19,300 after $18,000 for first week.

Murray Hill (Rugoff Th.) (565; $1.50-$2) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (3d wk). First holdover frame ended yesterday (Tues.) was fair $3,500 after $9,300 for initial week.

Paris (Pathe Cinema) (568; $1.50-$2)—"Of Wayward Love" (Pathe) (2d wk). Initial stanza completed Sunday (29) was mild $3,500.

Plaza (Lopert) (525; $1.50-$2)—"Great Dictator" (Indie) (reissue) (6th wk). Fifth round winding up tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like giant $19,000 or close after $11,900 for fourth.

Sutton (Rugoff Th.) (561; $1.50-$2)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk). Sixth session completed yesterday (Tues.) was sock $15,000 or close after $14,500 for fifth week. Daydating with Criterion.

Toho Cinema (Toho) (299; $1.50-$2)—"Stray Dog" (Toho) (5th wk). Fourth stanza ended Monday (30) was good $5,400 after $6,300 for third. "Challenge To Live" (Toho) opens April 7.

Tower East (Loew) (588; $1.50-$2) — "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (3d wk). First holdover session ended Monday (30) was giant $23,000 after $26,500 for opener. This means record highs for first two weeks.

Trans-Lux East (T-L) (600; $1.25-$2) — "The Silence" (Janus) (9th wk). Eighth round completed Sunday (29) was great $7,500 after $8,700 for seventh week. Daydating with Rialto.

Trans-Lux 52d St. (T-L) (540; $1.25-$2) — "Prize" (MGM) (subrun) (3d wk). First holdover week ended yesterday (Tues.) was great $9,000 after $11,000 for opener. Daydating with Forum, and also on saturation booking.

Trans-Lux 85th St. (T-L) (550; $1.25-$2) — "Merlin Jones" (BV) (2d wk). Initial week finished yesterday (Tues.) was $7,000, not so bad in view of fact that it's playin on Showcase, too.

World (Perfecto) (390; 90-$1.50)—"Psychomania" (Vic) (7th wk). This session winding tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for great $10,800 after $10,000 for sixth week.

LOS ANGELES

(Continued from page 13)

wk). Fair $12,300 in five days. Last week, $16,400.

El Rey (FWC) (856; $1.25-$1.49)—"America, America" (WB) and "Mary, Mary" (WB) (reissue) (5th wk). Fair $3,000. Last week, $4,200.

Fine Arts (FWC) (631; $1.50-$2)—"Silence" (Janus) (8th wk). Okay $3,000. Last week, $3,600.

Four Star, Hillstreet, Loyola (UATC - Metropolitan - FWC) (868; 2,752; 1,298; (1-$2)—"Flight From Ashiya" (UA) and "House of Damned" (20th). Soft $13,000. Last week, Four Star, Loyola with Hollywood, Warren's, "Brass Bottle" (U), various second feature pix, $14,600.

Fox Wilshire (FWC) (1,990; $1.49)—"Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" (Emb) (2d wk). Smash $26,000. Last week $28,000.

Hollywood, Warren's, Wiltern (FWC - Metropolitan - SW) (856; 1,757; 2,344; $1-$1.49)—"Sunday in New York" (MGM) and "Tiara Tahiti" (Indie). Solid $19,000.

Hollywood Paramount (State) (1,468; $2-$2.40)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Wow $28,000. Last week $30,000.

Lido (FWC) (876; $1.50-$2)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont). Tall $5,000. Last week, "Easy Life" (Emb) (7th wk), $2,200.

Orpheum, Picfair, Vogue (Metropolitan-State-FWC) (2,213; 750; 810; $1.25-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (18th wk, Orpheum; 14th, Picfair, Vogue). Mighty $30,000. Last week, $29,900.

Pantages (RKO) (1,512; $2.50-$5.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Bright $23,500. Last week, $22,800.

Pix (Prin) (756; $1.25-$1.49)—"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) and "Four for Texas" (WB) (subrun) (2d wk). Mild $3,500.

Village (FWC) (1,535; $1.25-$1.50)—"Charade" (U) and "Wheeler Dealers" (MGM) (4th wk. Steady $6,000.

Warner Beverly (SW) (1,316; $1.65-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (2d wk). Big $24,500. Last week, $24,200.

Warner Hollywood (SW) (1,391; $1.25-$2.80) — "How West Was Won" (MGM) (58th wk). Flashy $21,500. Last week, $32,300.

CHICAGO

(Continued from page 13)

"The Silence" (Janus) (2d wk). Fat $9,000. Last week, $12,500.

McVickers (Beacon) (1,100; $2.20-$3.80)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (19th wk). Socko $26,000 or over. Last week, $20,000.

Monroe (Jovan) (1,000; 65-90)—"Shameless Women" (Indie) and "Hot Money Girl" (Indie). Slick $5,000. Last week, "The Suitor" (subrun) (Indie) and "Road to Shame" (Indie), $4,800.

Oriental (Indie) (3,400; 90-$1.80)—"Flight From Ashiya" (UA) (2d wk). Mild $14,000. Last week, $17,000.

Roosevelt (B&K) (1,400; 90-$1.80)—"A Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Arizona Sheepdog" (BV). Fast $18,000. Last week, "Dead Ringer" (WB) (2d wk), $12,000 in nine days.

State-Lake (B&K) (2,400; 90-$1.80)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Fancy $20,000. Last week, $18,000.

Surf (H&E Balaban) (664; $1.50-$1.80) — "Wuthering Heights" (Cont) (reissue) (2d wk). Fine $3,500. Last week, $3,900.

Todd (Todd) (1,089; 90-$1.80) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (19th wk). Great $22,000. Last week. $21,000.

Town (Teitel) (640; $1.25-$1.80)—"Sanjuro" (Indie). Good $3,500. Last week, "Knife In Water" (Kana) (5th wk), $1,700.

United Artists (B&K) (1,700; 90-$1.80)—"Seven Days In May" (Par) (5th wk). Brisk $15,000. Last week, $16,500.

Woods (Essaness) (1,200; 90-$1.80)—"Cardinal" (Col) (13th wk). Solid $12,000. Last week. $14,000.

World (Teitel) (608; 90-$1.80)—"Passionate Demons" (Indie) and "Lowest Crime" (Indie) (reissues) (2d wk). Okay $3,000. Last week, $4,000.

Philly Stout But 'Way' Dull 6G; 'World' Socko $18,000; 'May' Brisk 12G

Philadelphia, March 31.

There's only one new entry here this stanza but the Easter holiday week sees a brisk pickup in trade generally, with some of the longruns contributing the bulk of strength. Soaring trade Sunday made up for wet Saturday. "One Man's Way" shapes slow on opener at the Goldman. "Seven Days in May" looks sharp in fourth Fox round.

"It's a Mad World" still is great in 15th session at the Boyd. "Tom Jones" continues smash in fifth week at the Midtown as does "Dr. Strangelove" at Randolph, also in fifth. "America, America" shapes up smartly, daydating two small arty houses.

Estimates for This Week

Arcadia (S&S) (623; $1.20-$1.85)—"Sunday in New York" (MGM) (6th wk). Plush $7,000 or over. Last week, $6,500.

Boyd (SW) (1,536; $2-$2.75)—"Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Socko $18,000. Last week, $17,000.

Bryn Mawr (Goldman) (630; $1.49)—"Ameerica, America" (WB) (3d wk). Nice $3,800. Last week, $4,000.

Fox (Milgram) (2,400; 95-$1.80)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (4th wk). Busy $12,000 or close. Last week, $13,000.

Goldman (Goldman) (1,000; 95-$1.80)—"One Man's Way" (UA). Slow $6,000. Last week, "Cardinal" (Col) (14th wk), $8,500.

Lane (SW) (1,000; $1.49)—"To Bed Or Not to Bed" (Cont) (4th wk). Trim $2,700. Last week, $2,000.

Midtown (Goldman) (1,200; 95-$2.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (5th wk). Wow $29,000 or over. Last week, $28,000.

Randolph (Goldman) (2,200; 95-$1.80)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Lusty $15,000. Last week, $13,500.

Stanley (SW) (1,450; $1.49-$2.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk). Good $8,000. Last week, $9,000.

Stanton (SW) 1,483; 95-$1.80 — "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk). So-so $7,500. Last week, $9,000.

Trans-Lux (T-L) (500; 95-$2)—"Charade" (U) (14th wk). Slick $6,500. Last week, $5,500.

World (Rugoff) (499; 95-$1.80)—"America, America" (WB) (3d wk). Smart $4,800. Last week, $4,700.

'Jones' Tops Balto, $18,000 in 5th; 'Newman' Big 12G; 'Panther' 15G, 2d

BOSTON

(Continued from page 12)

$1.65)—"Shock Treatment" (20th) and "Surf Party" (20th). Sad $8,000. Last week, "Love With Prop Stranger" (5th wk), 7,000.

Pilgrim (ATC) (1,909; 75-$1.25)—"White Slaves of Chinatown" (Indie) and "Surfside 77" (Indie) (reissue). Oke $4,500. Last week, "Paradisio" (Indie) and "Peekaboo" (Indie) (reissue) (2d wk), $4,500.

Park Square Cinema (Indie) (608; $1.80)—"Young and Passionate" (Indie) and "One Summer of Happiness" (reissue). Oke $3,200. Last week, "Point of Order" (Indie) (subrun), $4,000.

Paris Cinema (Indie) (608; $1.75)—"America, America" (WB) (4th wk). Oke $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

Saxon (Sack) (1,100; $2-$3.90)—"Cardinal" (Col) (16th wk). Great $18.000. Last week, $20,000.

State (Trans-Lux) (730; $1-$1.50)—"Indecent" (Indie) and "Striptease Scandals" (Indie). Hotsy $7,500. Last week, "Sin in Suburbs" (Indie) and "Hideout in Sun" (Indie) (rerun) (3d wk), $6,000.

West End Cinema (E. M. Loew) (500; 75-$1.50) — "Hallelujah the Hills" (Indie) (3d wk). Okay $7,000. Last week, $8,200.

'Doctor' Mighty $18,000, Seattle; 'Jones' 15G, 4

Seattle, March 31.

Big news among newcomers here currently is the wow take being racked up by "Dr. Strangelove" at the Coliseum. "Tom Jones" also is amazing in fourth round at the Blue Mouse. "Muscle Beach" is rated drab at Paramount for opener. "How West Was Won" still is smash in 51st session at Martin Cinerama.

Estimates for This Week

Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (739; $1.50-$1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (4th wk). Amazing $15,000 or over. Last week, $14,300.

Coliseum (Fox-Evergreen) (1,870; $1.25-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col). Wow $18,000. Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par) and "Paris Pickup" (Par) (3d wk), $5,700.

Fifth Avenue (Fox-Evergreen) (2,500; $1.50-$2) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (4th wk). Big $14,000. Last week, $16,300.

Martin Cinerama (Martin Theatres) (870; $1.25-$2.25) — "How West Was Won" (MGM) (51st wk). Smash $12,000. Last week, $14,000.

Music Box (Hamrick) (738; $1.50-$1.75)—"Irma La Douce" (UA) (36th wk). Swell $7,000. Last week, $6,300.

Orpheum (Hamrick) (2,700; $1.25-$1.50)—"Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Slow $5,000. Last week, $6,300.

Paramount (Fox-Evergreen) (3,000; $1.25-$1.50) — "Muscle Beach" (FF) and "Pyro" (FF). Drab $7,000 or near. Last week, "Commando" (FF) and "Torpedo Bay" (FF), $4,200.

PORTLAND, ORE.

(Continued from page 12)

Warm $3,000. Last week, $5,100.

Fine Arts (Foster) (421; $1.50)—"Irma La Douce" (UA) (m.o.) and "Mary, Mary" (WB) (reissue) (11th wk). Okay $2,000. Last week, $4,000.

Fox (Evergreen) (1,600; $1-$1.49)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col). Tall $8,000. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Cavalry Command" (Ind) (2d wk), $4,500.

Hollywood (Evergreen) (1,890; $1.49-$2.75)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Wow $10,000 or close. Last week, $11,100.

Irvington (Smith) (650; $1.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Giant $10,000. Last week, record $11,800.

Music Box (Hamrick) (640; $1-$1.50)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) and "Tammy and Doctor" (U) (reissue). Trim $4,000. Last week, "Seven Days In May" (Par) and "Cry Battle" (Par) (3d wk), $4,500.

Paramount (Port-Par) (3,006; $1-$1.50)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) and "Flipper" (MGM). Dullish $4,500 or near. Last week, "Wuthering Heights" (Cont) and "Our Very Own" (Indie) (reissues), $3,400.

Baltimore, March 31.

Still in the lead here and as strong as ever is "Tom Jones," now in fifth smash week at the Charles. "Captain Newman" looks nice in opening round at the Hipp. "Dr. Strangelove" is hep in sixth at the New. "Seven Days in May" is holding socko in fifth session at the Mayfair.

"Pink Panther" is socko in second at the Senator. "It's a Mad World" is holding boffo in sixth session at the Town. "To Bed or Not To Bed" is okay on opener at the Five West.

Estimates for This Week

Charles (Fruchtman) (500; 60-$1.85) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (5th wk). Smash $18,000. Last week, $17,500.

Five West (Schwaber) (435; 90-$1.50)—"To Bed or Not To Bed" (Cont). Good $2,800. Last week, "Any Number Can Win" (MGM) (5th wk), $1,700.

Hippodrome (T-L) (1,800; 50-$1.50) — "Captain Newman" (U). Nice $12,000. Last week, "Come September" (U) and "Lover Come Back" (U) (reissues), $4,000.

Little (T-L) (300; 60-$1.65) — "Cleopatra" (20th). Fair $3,000. Last week, "Spartacus" (U) (reissue), $1,700.

New (Fruchtman) (1,600; 50-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Hot $7,000. Last week, $8,000.

Mayfair (Fruchtman) (700; 50-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (5th wk). Sock at $8,000. Last week, $10,500.

Playhouse (Schwaber) (700; 90-$1.90) — "High and Low" (Toho) (2d wk). Good $2.300. Last week, $2,500.

Senator (Durkee) (960; 60-$1.65)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Smash $15,000 or over. Last week, $12,000.

Stanton (Fruchtman) (2,800; 50-$1.50) — "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (3d wk). Good $7,000. Last week, $9,000.

Town (T-L) (1,125; $1.50-$2.65)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (6th wk). Boffo $16,000. Last week, $14,700.

Rex (Freedman) (500; $1.50) — "At Lil's Place" (Mishkin). Big $4.500. Last week, "Once Upon Knight" (Indie) (2d wk), $1,800.

BUFFALO

(Continued from page 13)

—"A Global Affair" (MGM). Modest $6,000. Last week, "Prize" (MGM) (5th wk), $6,500.

Century (UATC) (2,700; $1-$1.49)—"Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Nice $10,000. Last week, $10,500.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,000; $1-$1.49)—"Tiger Walks" (BV). Mild $9,000. Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par) (3d wk), $5,500.

Teck (Loew) (1,200; $1.25-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA). Disappointing $10,000 or over. Last week, house closed.

Cinema (Martina) (450; $1-$1.49)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Fast $4,800 after $4,500 last week.

Amherst (Dipson) (1,000; $1-$1.49)—"Tom Jones (UA) (8th wk). Neat $6,000 after $6,200 last week.

Granada (Schine) (1,000; $1-$1-$1.49) — "Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Okay $6,000 after $6,500 last week.

CINCINNATI

(Continued from page 12)

$1.25) — "The Silence" (Indie). Hep $2,000.

Keith's (Cin-T-Co) (1,500; $1.25-$1.50)—"Merlin Jones" (BV). Big $15,000 or close. Last week, "Man's Favorite Sport" (U) (3d wk), $7,000.

Palace (RKO) (2,600; $1.25-$1.50)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM). Strong $9,000. Last week, "Any Number Can Win" (MGM), $7,000.

Plaza (Fine Arts) (600; $1.25)—"Story of Joseph and Brethren" (Indie). Eleven days. Fair $1,500.

Times (Mid-States) (660; $1.25-$1.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Socko $12,000 or near. Last week, $11,000.

Twin Drive-In (Cin-T-Co) (West side only. 800 cars; $1)—"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) and "At War With Army" (Indie) (reissue). Okay $7,000. Last week, "Charade" (U) and "Lonely Are Brave" (U) (subruns), $4,500.

Valley (Cin-T-Co) (1,275; $1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U). Swell $10,000. Last week, "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (4th wk), $6,000.

THE SOUND OF THE FIRST OF 20TH'S 1964 ROADSHOWS IS NOW IN PRODUCTION!

A ROBERT WISE PRODUCTION

STARRING
JULIE ANDREWS · CHRISTOPHER PLUMMER

CO-STARRING
RICHARD HAYDON · PEGGY WOOD · AND ELEANOR PARKER AS "THE BARONESS"

DIRECTED BY ROBERT WISE · SCREENPLAY BY ERNEST LEHMAN · ASSOCIATE PRODUCER SAUL CHAPLIN

MUSIC & LYRICS BY
RICHARD RODGERS & OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN, II

Based on the Stage Play THE SOUND OF MUSIC · Book by HOWARD LINDSAY & RUSSEL CROUSE · Produced by LELAND HAYWARD, RICHARD HALLIDAY, RICHARD RODGERS & OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN, II · Produced by ARGYLE ENTERPRISES INC. · Released by TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX

Amusement Stock Quotations

Week Ended Tues. (31)

N. Y. Stock Exchange

1963-'64 High	1963-'64 Low		*Weekly Vol. in 100s	Weekly High	Weekly Low	Tues. Close	Net Change for wk.
153⅜	117⅜	ABC Vending	128	141½	131½	141⅛	— ⅛
38¼	27⅞	Am Br-Par Th	828	39⅜	37⅜	37⅝	— ¼
22¼	14½	Ampex	429	16⅜	15¾	16	— ¼
45¾	36½	CBS	706	44⅛	41⅝	42⅞	+1
18¾	12⅛	Chris Craft	740	18¼	16⅝	16⅞	— ⅝
29½	21⅛	Col Pix	108	22	21¼	22	+ ¾
46¼	45⅛	Decca	1	46¼	45¾	45¾	— ½
46⅜	27¾	Disney	198	46¼	43¾	43¾	— ½
131¾	106⅛	Eastman Kdk	234	128¾	126½	127¼	— ¾
6½	5¼	EMI	176	6⅛	5⅞	6	+ ⅛
27⅞	20⅝	General Tire	1709	26¾	24¾	26½	+1¾
16½	9⅝	Glen Alden	123	14¼	13⅞	13⅞	— ¼
86¾	57½	Litton Ind	543	71½	66	69	+3
23¾	15¾	Loew's Thea.	262	24¾	21¾	24¼	+2¼
68¾	48	MCA Inc.	58	59	56	58½	+2⅛
38⅜	15	Metromedia	149	33⅜	32⅜	33	..
37¼	26½	MGM	153	29⅞	28⅞	29¼	+ ⅛
24¾	20¼	Outlet	†760	20¾	20¼	20⅜	— ¼
12¾	7⅞	Nat. G'l Corp.	225	9	8¾	8¾	— ¼
62⅝	35¼	Paramount	76	59¾	58⅛	58⅞	+ ½
211½	120½	Polaroid	415	168¾	164½	165	—2⅜
39¼	33¼	RCA	2446	36⅞	35¼	36⅜	+ ½
10¼	6¾	Republic	52	8¼	8	8¼	+ ¼
16¾	14	Rep., pfd.	4	15⅛	15	15	..
27⅞	20½	Stanley War.	177	27⅞	26⅝	27⅛	+ ¼
45⅜	31	Storer	23	41¾	40	40½	..
28¼	17⅞	Taft Bdcst.	54	28	26¼	28	+1⅝
37	20	20th-Fox	325	25⅛	23	23½	+ ½
32	17¾	United Artists	158	25	24⅛	25	+ ½
16¼	11¾	Warner Bros.	129	13	12⅞	13	..
87¼	51	Zenith	445	86⅝	82¼	84	+1½

American Stock Exchange

4	2⅛	Allied Artists	29	2½	2¼	2¼	— ¼
12¼	5	BalM'nt GAC.	18	11⅛	10¾	10¾	— ⅜
12¼	6¾	Cam-P'kway	27	7⅛	6¾	7	— ⅛
24⅞	16⅞	Cap. Cit. Bdc.	263	26⅞	25⅛	26¼	+1⅛
17½	10	Cinerama Inc.	390	11⅛	10½	10½	— ⅝
9	6½	Desilu Prods.	18	7⅜	7⅛	7⅜	— ⅛
9⅞	4¾	Filmways	43	8¾	8¼	8¾	+ ½
13⅞	5¾	MPO Vid.	14	11⅜	11¼	11½	— ⅛
3⅝	2⅛	Reeves Bdcst.	9	3	2⅞	3	+ ⅛
5⅛	2⅜	Reeves Ind.	170	3¾	2⅞	3¾	+ ¾
17¾	13¼	Rollins Bdcst.	10	16¼	16	16	..
25⅜	16¾	Screen Gems	9	19¼	18¾	19⅛	..
22	8⅝	Technicolor	224	18⅞	17⅝	17¾	+ ⅛
6¾	4⅛	Teleprompter	93	6⅝	5⅞	6½	+ ⅛
2¾	⅝	Tele-Indus.	12	13/16	¾	¾	..
14½	10½	Trans-Lux	3	12⅝	12½	12⅝	+ ⅛

*Week Ended Mon. (30).
†Actual Volume.

(Courtesy of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc.)

Over-the-Counter Securities

	Bid	Ask
Commonwealth Theatres of Puerto Rico	5⅜	6⅛	— ⅜
Four Star Television	5⅜	6	— ⅜
Gen. Aniline & Film	315	342	—5
General Artists Corp.	7⅛	7½	— ¼
General Drive-in	10⅝	11⅝
Magna Pictures	2	2⅜
Medallion Pictures	16⅛	17⅜	+ ⅜
Pickwick International	4⅛	4¾	— ⅛
Premier Albums	6	6⅞	— ⅝
Rust Craft Greeting Cards	13¾	14⅞	+ ⅛
Seven Arts Productions	11⅛	11⅞	+ ⅜
Transcontinent Television	21	22½	..
U.A. Theatres	8¼	9½	+ ¼
Universal Pictures	66	70	..
Walter Reade-Sterling Inc.	2⅜	2¾
Wometco Enterprises	34½	36⅞	— ¼
Wrather Corp.	3½	4⅛

(Source: National Assn. of Securities Dealers Inc.)

'Newman' Showcasing Sans Descriptive 'M.D.'; For 22 Sites; $274,479

"Captain Newman" grossed $274,479 in first five days of its 22-theatre "Premiere Showcase" and 11-theatre "Perimeter" booking in greater N. Y. area through last Sunday (29). Universal release stars Gregory Peck, Tony Curtis.

Although title originally was "Captain Newman, M.D." the medical degree was dropped for neighborhood dates to play down medical aspect of film and spotlight the comedy.

National Screen Brochure Goes to 4,000 Exhibs

National Screen Service has mailed its 1964 Drive-In Theatre Directory to more than 4,000 U.S. exhibitors. The showmanship aid, according to general sales manager Melvin L. Gold, was developed by NSS's research department to assist theatres in increasing boxoffice grosses. General response has been enthusiastic.

The 26-page brochure covers various types of trailers, signs and other promotional material.

A ROSE AS IN ART

Winnipeg House Loses 112 Seats In Change

Winnipeg, March 31.

City's second theatre devoted exclusively to art films opened here last week. Theatre is the 35-year old Rose, complete with a face-lifting and a name change to the Towne Cinema.

The 550-seat west end house is similarly named to a Toronto operation run by Twinex Century Theatres Corp. Ltd., of Toronto. International Film Distributors Ltd., Twinex subsidiary, will do the booking for the suburban theatre, which is jointly operated by Famous Players Canadian Corp. Ltd., Paramount subsid, and locally-based Western Theatres Ltd.

Renovation, estimated at $20,000, includes a new entrance and lobby and loss of 112 seats in the theatre interior from the 662-seat arrangement of the previous operation. Seating reduction is designed to provide additional legroom and improved viewing. New lobby excludes candy bar and popcorn, in keeping with a policy established in many IFD booked houses.

WILLIAM LOEB AGAIN

He Praises Religioso Pic and Pans Bad Copy

Manchester, N.H., March 31.

Manchester Union Leader, noted for being "choosey" about movie ads, went "all out" in support of the religious film, "Day of Triumph," which had a three-day run at the Palace here under sponsorship of Protestant, Catholic and Orthodox youth organizations.

The newspaper gave a three-column-wide area of its front page for reproduction of a letter from the clergyman-adviser of one of the sponsoring organizations, in which he pointed out that publisher William Loeb would "probably welcome the competition" for "Cleopatra," playing nearby at the Strand, on Hanover street's theatre row.

In a footnote to the lengthy layout, publisher Loeb boasted that the Union Leader has long refused to accept "obscene" theatre advertisements.

He praised the religious youth organizations for sponsoring "Day of Triumph."

Court Spurns Citizen's Plea That Home Unfairly Taken for Film Museum

Washington, March 31.

The U.S. Supreme Court cleared the way Monday (30) for the proposed Hollywood Motion Picture and Television Museum. Court rejected an appeal from a Los Angeles homeowner whose property had been condemned in the landtaking for the museum.

Homeowner Steve Anthony had carried his fight against the condemnation from the superior court of Los Angeles county to the high court. He claimed the county violated the constitutional provisions of eminent domain by taking land for public and then turning it over to a private corporation to control and operate at a profit.

SUNDAY SPORTS NOW OKAY FOR 1:05 TEEOFF

Albany, March 31.

Public sports and entertainment may now start at 1:05 p.m., instead of 2 p.m., on Sunday, in New York State. Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller signed, last week, a bill introduced by Senator William F. Condon to achieve the change, through amendments to Sections 2145 and 2152 of Penal Law. It became effective immediately.

Measure, which the Westchester County legislator explained had been presented on behalf of sports participants and spectators, chiefly, was somewhat similar to one vetoed by Governor Rockefeller, with a message, several years ago.

Admission Decline Ending In Britain?

London, March 31.

Steady decline in paid admissions to picture theatres in Britain appears to have been halted, and attendances are levelling off. Last year there was a fractional decrease of less than one per cent, far better than anything experienced in the past 10 years.

This was stated by D. J. Goodlatte, managing director of Associated British Cinemas, and C. J. Latta, managing director of the parent Associated British Picture Corporation, when speaking at the company's annual showmanship awards dinner in London last Monday (23). Goodlatte also noted that in the past year there had been three or four films that had beaten all previous boxoffice records, and that a successful film today can take more money than ever before.

Observing that they were entering a new era, Latta was confident the industry would survive provided it kept up with the times. He predicted new developments in presentation, among them third dimensional films, keener competition which would lead to better pictures, and a new generation to pick up the reins and carry the business to greater heights than ever before.

Pittsburgher's Descriptive Word For Distribs' Attitude: 'Disgusting'

Pittsburgh, March 31.

By insisting that "Dr. Strangelove" and "Best Man" go into art houses, distributors are forcing a product shortage on downtown Pitt deluxers which may get very serious. Right now both the Stanley and Gateway have nothing for the entire month of May and the Penn has only two weeks booked in that month.

Columbia decided to take "Dr. Strangelove" from the Fulton at the last minute and put it up for bids at the four art houses in the city. Fulton hastily booked in "Irma La Douce" and "Some Like it Hot," a tandem reissue, starting tomorrow (Wed.).

George Stern, g.m. of Associated Theatres which operate the Fulton, said, "Distributors make such a fuss about plenty of product and orderly release but their whole attitude is disgusting when you see them release pictures in other cities but wait until what they think is the day school's out here. School is out in the city on June 19 but what they can't understand is that two thirds of our business comes from the county area and schools are out there on Decoration Day. The whole thing is disgusting."

Stern pointed out that "To Russia With Love" opens at the Fulton on April 22 and there is nothing else on his booking chart for the house until Decoration Day when he has "Pink Panther."

Stern pointed out that playoff dates in key commercial houses are off unless the picture plays a downtown theatre but the distribs still like the long runs and small advertising costs that the art houses offer.

Stern concluded with: "The best thing to do is close up the downtown houses and let them all (pictures) play the art houses."

New Film Companies

Sullivan Productions Inc. has been authorized to conduct a motion pictures, television and radio program business in New York. Capital stock is 21,000 shares, no par value. Rubin, Baum & Levin were filing attorneys at Albany.

Manhattan Effects Inc. has been formed to conduct a motion picture and television production business in New York. Capital stock is 200 shares, no par value. Joseph Tannenbaum of Bayside, was filing attorney at Albany.

AIP'S DAVID HORNE SETS ASIAN DEALS

Tokyo, March 31.

Here on the last leg of his first swing through Southeast Asia and Australia since assuming post as American International Pictures' foreign distribution veep, David Horne revealed deals made in the territory and discussed some pending action.

Horne said pacted franchise arrangements with Blake Films for Australia and New Zealand, with the Cathay Organization for Malaysia, with Edko Co. for Hong Kong, Kowloon and Macao and with Mever Films for the Philippine Islands. All are one-year deals for AIP's 1964 production annum. These terms, Horne cited, call for substantial advance guarantees against AIP's share of returns for exclusive AIP distrib in the area.

In addition, Horne closed some contracts for outright deals on individual pictures for Taiwan.

Horne reported he's seeking an exclusive distrib arrangement for Japan also. Although AIP product has had plenty of exposure in other markets in these parts, the filmery hasn't had too many releases in Nippon. Horne feels that at least part of the reason stems from long-time import quota setup here. But with the Japanese market expected to become free from July 1, Horne hopes to step up AIP releases here. He said he already has one bid for a franchise pact and other offers for individual pictures.

The exec indicated he might have a story on AIP's Japan situation shortly after returning to his N. Y. office.

Horne also said he'll explore possibilities of making one or two co-production a year here and would also be on the lookout for Japanese product suitable for handling outside Nippon.

In trekking through the Australasian area, Horne was particularly impressed with biz being scored by "Beach Party." He said that in Singapore it's a sellout and in Sydney has already played eight weeks of day and dating at two houses. In the Philippines, Horne noted, the picture has racked up boffo gross of $200,000. "Beach Party" has not yet been released in Japan.

Jim Burkett Seeking Settlement From Pathe

Hollywood, March 31.

James S. Burkett, former Coast veepee and general sales manager of Pathe Laboratories, demanded an accounting and settlement of commissions claimed due him in Superior Court suit brought against lab.

Burkett alleged that over 12-year period he brought to Pathe various producers with business aggregate between $12-$20,000,000. He asked court to put reasonable value on commissions allegedly due him in accordance with industry fair business practices.

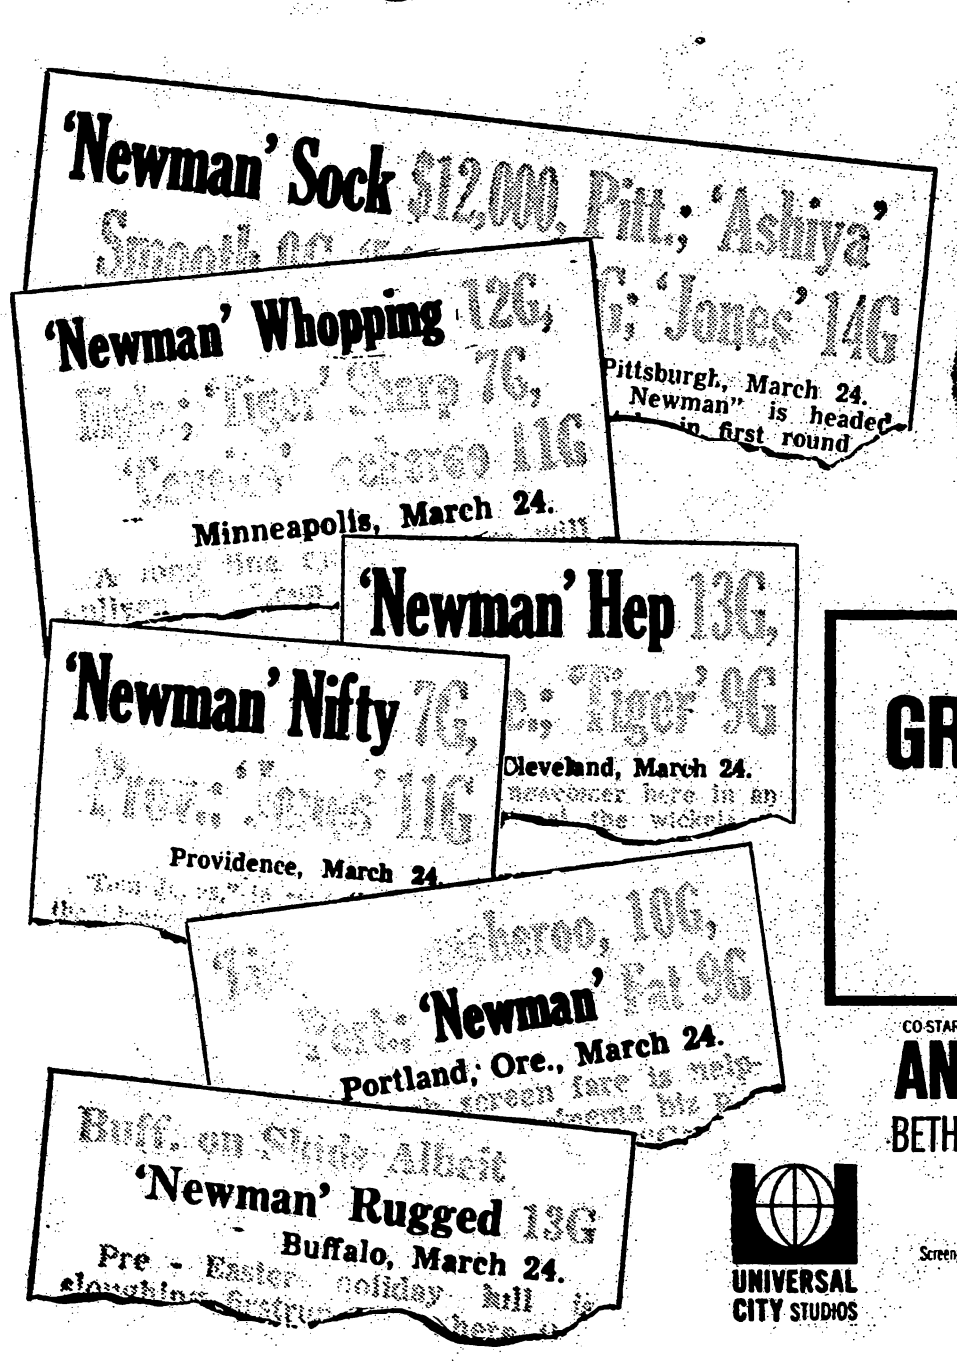
Max Youngstein's Corp.

Max E. Youngstein Productions Inc. has been authorized to conduct a motion picture business, with office in New York. Capital stock consists of 10,000 shares, $1 par value.

Strasser, Spiegelberg, Fried & Frank were filing attorneys at Albany.

Lumiere Freres Pix, 1895, Amusing Still, Unspooled On Old Silent Projector

Ottawa, March 31.



Films from the believed first motion-picture exhibition ever shown in public were screened last week for members of Ottawa Film Society in the National Museum of Canada. Series of shorts, filmed by Lumiere Freres and preemed in Paris in 1895, was still interesting and, intentionally, amusing—and was notable for lacking the jerkiness usually found in silents unreeled at new sound speed. These were seen on a silent film projector owned by Roy Little, exec. director of Canadian Film Institute here. (First public film show in Canada, incidentally, was in Britannia Park, Ottawa, June 15, 1896.)

Also shown the first Canadian film with an original musical score (by Howard Fogg)—and which influenced a big Hollywood musical. Gordon Sparling's "Rhapsody in Two Languages" (Associated Screen News, Montreal, 1933) had opening and closing shots (walking legs) that were virtually copied in Warners' "Gold Diggers of 1935." According to notes by Elizabeth Van Every, "The similarity was neither accidental nor illegal. During that period the major Hollywood studios would quite frequently purchase a short film and release it under a trademark they themselves owned. However, she adds, this was probably one of the very few times when a short directly influenced a feature."

Showing's feature was "Bed and Sofa" (USSR, 1927), an amusing, realistic, non-propaganda film directed by Abram Room. Miss Van Every noted that North Americans at the time thought a film called "Bed and Sofa" by a man named Room must be "some sort of Slavic practical joke." Called "one of the great films of the world" by the critic Bryher, it was banned to the public in Britain—even after censor cuts. An abortion bit is integral to the story, the word is even used once, and there's a long scene in a busy abortionist's anteroom. It was shown by London Film Society and revived by National Film Theatre in '56.

The Captain JOINS UNIVERSAL'S HIT PARADE!

"Captain Newman" matches "To Kill A Mockingbird" business all over the country.

GREGORY PECK · TONY CURTIS

in the hilarious, heartwarming adventures of

"Captain Newman"

in Eastman COLOR

CO-STARRING

ANGIE DICKINSON · EDDIE ALBERT · JAMES GREGORY

BETHEL LESLIE WITH ROBERT DUVALL · DICK SARGENT · LARRY STORCH

AND CO-STARRING BOBBY DARIN AS CORPORAL JIM TOMPKINS

Screenplay by RICHARD L. BREEN, PHOEBE and HENRY EPHRON · From the novel by LEO ROSTEN · Directed by DAVID MILLER

Produced by ROBERT ARTHUR · A BRENTWOOD-REYNARD PRODUCTION · A UNIVERSAL PICTURE

UNIVERSAL CITY STUDIOS

Hollywood Production Pulse

ALLIED ARTISTS
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 2

AMERICAN INT'L
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 2

COLUMBIA
Starts, This Year 5
This Date, Last Year 5

"HEY THERE, IT'S YOGI BEAR"
(Hanna-Barbera Prods.)
Prod.-Dirs.—William Hanna, Joseph Barbera
Voices: Daws Butler, Mel Blanc, Don Messick, Julie Bennett, Hal Smith, J. Pat O'Malley (Started June 24)

"LOVE HAS MANY FACES"
(Bresler Prods.)
(Shooting in Mexico City)
Prod.—Jerry Bresler
Dir.—Alex Singer
Lana Turner, Cliff Robertson, Hugh O'Brian, Ruth Roman, Stefanie Powers, Virginia Grey, Ron Husmann
(Started Feb. 3)

"MAJOR DUNDEE"
(Bresler Prods.)
(Shooting in Mexico)
Prod.—Jerry Bresler
Dir.—Sam Peckinpah
Charlton Heston, Richard Harris, Jim Hutton, James Coburn, Michael Anderson Jr., Mario Adorf, Brock Peters, Warren Oates, R. G. Armstrong, Ben Johnson, Slim Pickens, Karl Swenson, L. Q. Jones, John Davis Chandler, Jody McCrea
(Started Feb. 6)

"RIDE THE WILD SURF"
(Jana Films)
(Shooting in Hawaii)
Prod.—Art & Jo Napoleon
Dir.—Art Napoleon
Fabian, Shelley Fabares, Tab Hunter, Barbara Eden, Peter Brown, Susan Hart, Jim Mitchum, John Anthony Hayes, Roger Davis, Catherine McLeod, John Craig, Murray Rose
(Started Feb. 28)

"MICKEY ONE"
(Arthur Penn Prod.)
(Shooting in Chicago)
Prod.-Dir.—Arthur Penn
Warren Beatty, Hurd Hatfield, Alexandra Stewart, Teddy Hart, Jeff Corey, Franchot Tone
(Started March 13)

WALT DISNEY
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 1

METRO
Starts, This Year 1
This Date, Last year 4

PARAMOUNT
Starts, This Year 2
This Date, Last Year 6

"ROUSTABOUT"
(Hal Wallis Prod.)
Prod.—Hal Wallis
Dir.—John Rich
Elvis Presley, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Freeman, Leif Erickson, Sue Ann Langdon, Joan Staley
(Started March 9)

20th CENTURY-FOX
Starts, This Year 7
This Date, Last Year 1

"ZORBA THE GREEK"
(Shooting in Crete)
Prod.-Dir.—Michael Cacoyannis
Anthony Quinn, Simone Signoret, Irene Papas, Alan Bates
(Started March 9)

"GOODBY CHARLIE"
(Venice-20th-Fox)
Prod.—David Weisbart
Dir.—Vincente Minnelli
Tony Curtis, Debbie Reynolds, Pat Boone, Walter Matthau, Joanna Baines, Martin Gabel, Laura Devon, Ellen McRae
(Started March 18)

"RIO CONCHOS"
(Shooting in Moab, Utah)
Prod.—David Weisbart
Dir.—Gordon Douglas
Stuart Whitman, Richard Boone, Tony Franciosa, Jim Brown, Timothy Carey
(Started March 16)

"JOHN GOLDFARB, PLEASE COME HOME"
(S. Parker & J. L. Thompson Prods.-20th)
Prod.—Steve Parker
Dir.—J. Lee Thompson
Shirley MacLaine, Peter Ustinov, Richard Crenna
(Started March 23)

"SOUND OF MUSIC"
(Argyle-20th)
Prod.-Dir.—Robert Wise
Julie Andrews, Christopher Plummer, Peggy Wood, Eleanor Parker, Richard Haydn
(Started March 26)

UNITED ARTISTS
Starts, This Year 7
This Date, Last Year 3

"MR. MOSES"
(Frank Ross-Talbot Prod.)
(Shooting in Kenya)
Prod.—Frank Ross
Dir.—Ronald Neame
Robert Mitchum, Carroll Baker, Alexander Knox, Ian Bannen
(Started Jan. 9)

"KISS ME, STUPID"
(Mirisch-Billy Wilder)
Prod.-Dir.—Billy Wilder
Dean Martin, Peter Sellers, Kim Novak, Felicia Farr, Cliff Osmond
(Started March 6)

"HOW TO MURDER YOUR WIFE"
(Murder Inc.)
Prod.—George Axelrod
Dir.—Richard Quine
Jack Lemmon, Virna Lisi, Terry-Thomas, Eddie Mayehoff, Claire Trevor
(Started March 16)

UNIVERSAL
Starts, This Year 5
This Date, Last Year 3

"McHALE'S NAVY"
Prod.-Dir.—Ed Montagne
Ernest Borgnine, Joe Flynn, Tim Conway, Carl Ballantine, Edson Stroll, Gavin MacLeod, Gary Vinson, Billy Sands, John Wright, Yoshio Yoda, Bob Hastings, Claudine Longet, Jean Willes, George Kennedy
(Started March 9)

"BUS RILEY'S BACK IN TOWN"
Prod.—Elliott Kastner
Dir.—Harvey Hart
Ann-Margret, Michael Parks, Janet Margolin, Larry Storch, Kim Darby
(Started March 19)

WARNER BROS.
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 2

INDEPENDENT
Starts, This Year 5
This Date, Last Year 5

"THE LUCK OF GINGER COFFEY"
(Crawley Films-Roth-Kershner Prods.)
(Shooting in Canada)
Prod.—Leon Roth
Dir.—Irvin Kershner
Robert Shaw, Mary Ure, Liam Redmond, Libby MacClintock
(Started Feb. 21)

"A HOUSE IS NOT A HOME"
(Embassy Pictures Corp.)
(Shooting at Paramount)
Prod.—Clarence Greene
Dir.—Russell Rouse
Shelley Winters, Robert Taylor, Ralph Taeger, Cesar Romero, Mickey Shaughnessy, Kaye Ballard, Jesse White, Michael Forest, J. Pat O'Malley
(Started March 10)

"SPACE STATION X"
(Hugo Grimaldi Film Prods.)
(Shooting at Producers Studio)
Prods.—Hugo Grimaldi, Arthur C. Pierce
Dir.—Hugo Grimaldi
William Leslie, Pamela Curran, Dolores Faith, Richard Garland, Richard Palmer, James Dobson, Glen Largan, Joel Smith, Francine York, Carl Crow, Harold Lloyd Jr., Ron Stokes, Bagriel Curtiz, Helen Stephens
(Started March 18)

"REBELS AGAINST THE LIGHT"
(David Prods.)
(Shooting in Israel)
Prod.-Dir.—Alexander Ramati
Diane Baker, David Opatoshu, Tom Bell, Didi Ramati, Paul Stassino, Theodore Marcuse, Odet Kotler, Ben Yosef
(Started March 9)

BRITAIN

ANGLO-AMALG
Starts, This Year 1
This Date, Last Year 1

ASSO. BRIT.-PATHE
Starts, This Year 1
This Date, Last Year 5

"RATTLE OF A SIMPLE MAN"
(Martello Films)
Exec. Prod.—Sydney Box
Prod.—William Gell
Dir.—Muriel Box
Harry H. Corbett, Diane Cilento
(Started March 9 on location in London, into Assoc. Brit. studios, Elstree from March 23.)

BRITISH LION
Starts, This Year 1
This Date, Last Year 1

"DO YOU KNOW THIS VOICE?"
Prod.—Jack Parsons
Dir.—Frank Nesbitt
Dan Duryea, Gwen Watford, Isa Miranda
(Started Feb. 17 at Shepperton studios.)

BUTCHERS
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

COLUMBIA
Starts, This Year 3
This Date, Last Year 1

"DELAYED FLIGHT"
(Winwell Prods.)
Prod.—Bill Luckwell
Dir.—Tony Young
Hugh McDermott, Helen Cherry
(Started Feb. 27 at Bray studios.)

"EAST OF SUDAN"
(Ameran Films)
Prod.—Charles H. Schneer
Dir.—Nathan Juran
Sylvia Syms, Anthony Quayle
(Started Feb. 24 at Shepperton studios)

"CURSE OF THE MUMMY'S TOMB"
(Hammer Films)
Prod. & Dir.—Michael Carreras
Terence Morgan, Ronald Howard, Fred Clark
(Started Feb. 21 at Associated British studios, Elstree.)

"LORD JIM"
(Keep Films)
Prod. & Dir.—Richard Brooks
Peter O'Toole, Curt Jurgens, James Mason, Eli Wallach, Jack Hawkins
(Started Nov. 18 on location Hong Kong. Into Shepperton in April.)

DISNEY
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

GALA
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

METRO
Starts, This Year 2
This Date, Last Year 0

"MURDER AHOY"
Prod.—Lawrence P. Bachmann
Dir.—George Pollock
Margaret Rutherford, Charles Tingwell, Lionel Jeffries
(Started March 26 at Metro, Elstree. Some location in Cornwall.)

PARAMOUNT
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

PLANET
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

RANK
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 1

REGAL INT'L
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

20TH-FOX
Starts, This Year 1
This Date, Last Year 0

"GUNS AT BATASI"
Prod.—George Brown
Dir.—John Gilliam
Richard Attenborough, Jack Hawkins, Flora Robson
(Started Feb. 24 at Pinewood studios.)

UNITED ARTISTS
Starts, This Year 4
This Date, Last Year 0

"GOLDFINGER"
(Eon Prods.)
Prod. & Dir.—Harry Saltzman & Cubby Broccoli
Sean Connery, Shirley Eaton
(Started March 16 at Pinewood studios.)

"THE BEATLES"
(Proscenium Films)
Prod.—Walter Shenson
Dir.—Dick Lester
John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison, Ringo Starr, Wilfrid Bramble
(Started March 2 at Twickenham studios. Various locations.)

"ONE WAY PENDULUM"
(Woodfall Presentations)
Prod.—Michael Deeley
Dir.—Peter Yates
Eric Sykes, Jonathan Miller
(Started March 2 at Twickenham studios.)

"MISTER MOSES"
(Frank Ross Prods.)
Prod.—Frank Ross
Dir.—Ronald Neame
Robert Mitchum, Caroll Baker, Alexander Knox
(Started January 9 in Nairobi, Kenya. Shot entirely on location.)

UNIVERSAL
Starts, This Year 0
This Date, Last Year 0

John Wayne Gracing Gordon McLendon Affair

San Antonio, March 31.

In addition to actor John Wayne attending a special fundraising dinner here for Gordon McLendon, a number of other Hollywood stars are slated to appear here on April 6.

Chill Wills, Rhonda Fleming, Joey Bishop, Robert Cummings and Ken Curtis who appears on "Gunsmoke" as Festus, are among the other Hollywood film and tv stars who may attend the dinner.

'The Molesters' From Switzerland To Loew's After Atlanta Test

Atlanta, March 31.

Premiere engagement of "The Molesters," Aristocrat Films import, got under way Thursday (26) at Loew's Grand with a $2,000-plus gross, one of best openings for the 2,200-seat house in long time according to Bob Moscow, Atlanta exhibitor who has interest in film. Film has held over.

"Molesters" is Swiss-made film, originally titled "Der Sittlichkeitsbrecher," and directed by Lazar Wecksler, long-time Swiss producer. Because of strong kickoff here, Loew's Theatres has booked film in 20 houses, exclusive of N. Y. theatres.

Aristocrat Films is newly-formed company, h.p. in Manhattan and "Molesters" is its first release. Company imported pic, made a few excisions and dubbed it before the Atlanta test. Gordon Craddock, son-in-law of UA veepee William Heinemann, is president of Aristocrat.

Report from South on "Molesters" is that film deals with "perversion, rapists, sadists, masochists and so on but that it does not glamorize and is not salacious and can be said to teach lessons about the "shadowy' side of life inhabited by the unfortunates and criminals thus afflicted."

Under -16s are barred from Atlanta showing unless accompanied by parents. Ads state "It is an absolute adult motion picture, dealing with many of life's hidden and strange desires."

Mann Not In

Minneapolis, March 31.

Ted Mann, the local circuit operator is not partnered in "The Molesters," import now market-testing in Atlanta, though this had been trade-rumored.

Mann denies any tie.

Sensitive Reporters

Pittsburgh, March 31.

Kap Monahan, Pittsburgh Press drama critic and one-man defender of the faithful representation on the screen of working newspapermen, has taken Disney's "A Tiger Walks" to task for distorting "image" of the American newsgatherer.

Followup comment on film deplored failure of films to recognize improvement in typical reporter since the "raffish" days of the "Front Page." Monahan, who says erroneous depiction of Fourth Estate hasn't changed since days of Douglas Fairbanks the Elder, played a newsman several years ago in Paramount's "Teacher's Pet."

ROBERT FRANK MAKING 1ST FEATURE, 'KADDISH'

Avant garde film director Robert Frank, who has heretofore made only shorts, is planning his first feature length effort, "Kaddish," suggested by the poem of the same name by Allen Ginsberg. Ginsberg and Norman Fruchter are doing the screenplay.

Plan is to start production in New York and vicinity in May, with the budget in the neighborhood of $100,000. Edwin Gregson, who produced Frank's "O.K. End Here," shown at last September's New York film fest, will produce the feature with backing coming from private sources.

Poet Ginsberg was seen as a performer in Frank's earlier "Pull My Daisy."

Sex Act: 'Lewd'

Continued from page 7

film), during the reargruments, on the question of "a first."

Rand, who did not "pretend to be an expert," offered to "do some research" on the point, but his proffer was not accepted. Court of Appeals thought a prompt decision to be imperative. Rand has previously complained that Regents' appeal was not being expeditiously conducted by Charles A. Brind, Jr., Board's counsel.

Informed sources believed there would be at least one motion, on which Regents would have 30 days to answer. Board, through its counsel, could also move for dismissal of Rand's appeal, on the ground "No constitutional question is involved." Trans-Lux, of course, holds the contrary view. Rand, during the reargruments, asserted that Section 122 of the Education Law (licensing statute) is "a violation of the First and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution."

Chief Judge Desmond also commented: "Lest we get too far away from the actual question, let us remind ourselves the Regents did not refuse to license this picture but went no further than to direct the elimination therefrom of the two scenes of sexual congress. If we were to hold this Regents' determination was illegal, we would be saying that there is a constitutional right to include in a motion picture a direct acting out of coitus.

"To fornicate in public or to exhibit the sexual organs in public," continued Judge Desmond, "has been considered obscene conduct at least since 1663 in case of King vs. Sedley (1 Keble 620) wherein Sir Charles Sedley was convicted of obscenity." Because, "standing on a London balcony, he exhibited himself in the nude to the public."

"The ban on such exhibitions is probably as old as human society and it has never disappeared from our law," commented Judge Desmond.

"It is unthinkable," continued Judge Desmond, "that a civilized community would permit actors to simulate sexual acts in a play or a movie, just because the play or movie is said by some critic or other to be an artistic work. Lewd conduct in public, whether on the sidewalk, the stage or the screen has always been forbidden and controllable by police power statutes (see Commonwealth vs. Leavitt, 64 Mass. 177, and Penal Law, Art. 106)."

More Industrials For Stanley Warner Corp.

Stanley Warner Corp. will invest over $2,000,000 in major expansion of company's chemical manufacturing facilities. Decision was made after inspection of its Cheswold, Delawer, plant by directors of its International Latex Division.

According to W. O. Heinze, head of ILD, it will be fifth expansion in past five years. Chemical division of SW is becoming major position in company's diversified activities, which includes operation of 240 film houses and tv station WAST.

Spoleto Fest

Continued from page 2

Nuovo will take place on July 10, 12, 14, 15, 17 and will close the season on July 19th.

Taylor will present the world-premiere of a new ballet entitled "The Red Room," to music of Gunther Schuller's "Seven Studies on Themes of Paul Klee." The choreography will be by Taylor himself, with sets and costumes by Alex Katz.

Dance will also be part of the daily "Seven O'Clock Theatre," which was inaugurated last season, and which this season will be under the directorship of Ivan Uttal.

GM & Negro 'Bonanza'

Continued from page 1

wanting to whip up national anxieties during the current integration crisis.

But the company is already in a hassle with the Seven Arts Chapter of CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) in New York for snubbing the integration group on its request for representation of Negro talent in GM's industrial shows. The Seven Arts Chapter, composed of performing talents, sent wires to the major car companies under the signature of CORE head James Farmer requesting negotiations. Only General Motors flatly refused to discuss the matter. Ford flew in a veepee, who said the company would go along with the idea of integrated industrial shows if the other companies fell in line. Group found American Motors had a satisfactory record in the hiring of Negro talent, and negotiations are current with Chrysler.

From Alfred Hitchcock
With Sex and Suspense
"Marnie"
starring 'Tippi' Hedren and Sean Connery for release by Universal in Mid-July !

UNIVERSAL CITY STUDIOS

'Green Sheet' Can Help Parents' Problem - If They Know About It

Albany, March 31.

In recommitting two film bills to Assembly Rules Committee last week, Chairman Luigi R. Marano of Joint Legislative Committee on Offensive and Obscene Material expressed confidence in Motion Picture Assn. of America's plan to finance increasing circulation of "The Green Sheet" in New York State and for making it available to "all interested parents, at a cost of few pennies."

"They can, from its audience-ratings decide whether their children should or should not see a particular picture."

Marano warned, in a brief but vigorous speech before the Lower House, that if "the motion picture industry does not fulfill its moral obligation to the people of this State, the Joint Committee will consider further action." He expected the "agreement" made to be kept; reported on Joint Committee's meetings with "the biggest producers of motion pictures in the United States."

Cooperation by newspapers in publicizing "the industry's own classifications" was asked by Chairman Marano. He praised the Long Island Press (Sunday edition) for "printing long lists of Green Sheet" ratings. Marano, who will continue to head the Committee until Dec. 31, criticized the Regents for "failing to take a definite stand on the classification bill we introduced at their request." The result: "it was not reported from committee for a floor vote."

Assemblyman Marano, in submitting a rough draft (bulky) of Committee's annual report, promised that a printed copy would be sent to every legislator.

He was pleased when the Rules Committee reported favorably Marano resolution for continuing Committee's life another year, with a $20,000 appropriation ($5,000 more than for fiscal year 1963-64). Only one dissenting vote was cast against the resolution.

SIDNEY DENEAU TO RUGOFF AS EXEC V.P.

Sidney Deneau, who resigned last week as veep-general sales manager of Reade-Sterling's Continental Distributing division, is joining Rugoff Theatres as exec vicepresident.

Deneau earlier was general manager of the Schine Circuit and after that was veep-assistant general sales manager of Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp.

The execveepcy at Rugoff is a new post.

Lana Turner Sick, 'Many Faces' Suspends

Mexico City, March 31.

Lana Turner, taken ill in Acapulco during filming of Jerry Bresler's "Love Has Many Faces" and who suffered a relapse after first couple of days shooting here, has not recovered sufficiently to continue in the film and shooting has been suspended.

Although a week of interiors were shot on the Columbia release at Churubusco Studios near Mexico City while waiting for star to recover, filming ceased on March 19 and most of the personnel returned to Hollywood. While Miss Turner is convalescing in Acapulco, male lead Hugh O'Brian has been fishing in Zihuatenajo. Also remaining, to scout locations for a bull-fight sequence, are production manager Joe Behm, director Alex Singer, cameraman Joe Rutenberg and art director Dick Maders.

(Acapulco police have not yet solved robbery of Miss Turner's hotel suite, done during her first sick spell.)

25 Days Behind Sked

Hollywood, March 31.

Jerry Bresler's Columbia production of "Love Has Many Faces" has been postponed for an additional week. It is 25 days behind schedule.

Major reason for delay is illness of Lana Turner.

Knoxville's $100 Per Diem But Lighting Missing

Hollywood, March 31.

Pitch is being made by Knoxville, Tenn., fathers to Hollywood and New York producers to make use of a new $250,000 municipally-financed sound stage being built there which will be ready for occupancy in July. Mayor John J. Duncan heads a five-man delegation of civic leaders here on serenade.

Stage is offered at $100 per diem —compared with a general Hollywood price of $500—but there's this catch, it lacks any lighting equipment. This limitation may be bridged, however, according to Duncan, by obtaining equipment from a local film equipment rental house.

Facility, named the James Agee Memorial Studio in honor of late author, a resident of Knoxville, was motivated by the Knoxville filming last year of two features, Ely Landau's "The Fool Killer" and David Susskind's "All the Way Home."

Showmen Make 1964 Mob Scene Of Film Councils

Atlanta, March 31.

Five new films will be unreeled at annual conference of the Federation of Motion Picture Councils in Atlanta today (1) and tomorrow. Robert Radnitz will address conference tomorrow on "Why I Produce Films for the Family Audience," with his Universal release, "Island of the Blue Dolphins," as the case in point. Actor-singer Harve Presnell will entertain at tomorrow's banquet with numbers from Metro's "Unsinkable Molly Brown," in which he's starred.

Lilia Skala will be on hand to accept, on behalf of UA's "Lilies of the Field," Federation's award for "outstanding motion picture of the year." Atlanta history professor Dr. Francis Benjamin will discuss Paramount-Bronston's "Fall of the Roman Empire" and show a 23-min. trailer on the film. Film ad-pub man Gerald Rafshoon will speak on his work and show a 12-min. trailer, narrated by Edith Head, featuring costumes from 20th-Fox's "What A Way To Go!"

Also on speakers' list is Metro's Silas Seadler who will accept, for Metro, an award for "continuing to reissue all-time favorite films based on the classics," and will talk on "Bringing Back Great Motion Pictures." Film Estimates Director Marie Hamilton will discuss "Motion Picture Council and the 'Green Sheet' Expansion Program." Metro branch manager in Atlanta W. W. Sherrill will participate in panel discussion and local exhibitor. Mel Brown will discuss "The Exhibitor and the Film Council—Their Common Objectives."

Theme of this tenth anni conference, according to Federation prexy Mrs. William G. Sullivan, is "A Decade of Progress." Delegates from 35 councils are expected. MPAA will be repped by Taylor Mills.

Turn Sod for Shopper

Minneapolis, March 31.

Ground has been broken for a local suburban shopping centre's new $360,000 1,200-seat four-waller to be leased to and operated by circuit owner Ted Mann. Construction is expected to be completed by early October.

It'll be the first new hardtop film showhouse to be built hereabouts since 1961 and will be equipped for cinerama, 35m, Todd A-O and any other kind of projection which may develop.

The theatre will bring to 20 the number of those in localite Mann's chain which includes 10 of the Twin Cities' leading firstrun houses and also one in Washington, D.C., where Mann is planning another. Further expasion of the circuit also is contemplated.

Dirksen on 'Image'

Continued from page 1

but knew its plot. He said he saw "Seven Days."

He said that while the pictures might show fumbling in high government places he considered them "a departure from reality." He said he did not think the releases in question had much of an effect in the United States. But said the senator: "I sometimes think perhaps it might be best if we monitored those movies a bit before we sent them overseas."

He recalled that during his trips to Latin America and the Far East certain American films being exhibited there at the time did not put the U.S. in its best light.

He did not mention the pictures by name.

'Fanny Hill'

Continued from page 2

thur Brauner of CCC Films is set for a German-American coproduction of "Fanny," which he thinks he can bring in for an investment of only about $350,000.

His copartner is Albert Zugsmith, American indie producer, and the pair has picked striptease dancer Syra Marty for the lead.

Miss Marty's acting background is as dubious as Miss Rice-Davies, since she is being publicized in Germany as the stripper who formerly worked for Dallas nightclub boss Jack Ruby. She was a stripper in the Carousel there and, like Miss Rice-Davies, has never before done a film.

Egypt Opens Up

Continued from page 3

profitable within the confines of that territory), they have yet to make any real dent outside. A few Egyptian spectacle pix, dubbed into local language, have done okay in Italy, Germany and in some Iron Curtain locales, according to Ibrahim, and there are plans to push these sales further afield. The big need, however, is to bring more offshore production interest to the Nile.

To this end, Ibrahim says the Egyptian General Co. is prepared to make cofinancing deals of all types and fiscal size. For the right property, money should not be a problem. The advantages? Modern studio and lab facilities, plus technical talent, extras, etc.—all at a "right price."

Ibrahim feels that "misconceptions" may have held back Egypt's film development in the past, particularly publicity anent various Yank film personalities whose pix have been banned from the UAR because of their political activity on behalf of Israel. Such bannings, he says, have always been based on politics, not religion. That the confusion over who was or who wasn't "banned" has resulted in a "bad press" for the UAR, he acknowledged, but he feels that much of the confusion was inspired by half-knowledge, or, no-knowledge. As an example, he said that stories to the effect that "Lawrence of Arabia" had been banned were never true, for the reason that Columbia Pictures had never sought an entry permit for it. Col did recently, and the permit was issued, period.

Before departing from New York for visits to London and Paris en route back to Cairo, Ibrahim met with various major company execs to talk up the Cinema City and Egypt's new open-door coproduction policies. He also met with Ralph Hetzel, acting prez of the Motion Picture Assn. of America who, in addition, is the current prez of the International Federation of Film Producers Assns. Recognition by the latter will be sought for the upcoming Cario fest in October, and the degree of recognition will determine the fest's status—that is, competitive or non-competitive.

Also due to be explored by Ibrahim with his industry associates and superiors in Cairo is the subject of inducements which might be offered to films entered in the fest. Suggested possibilities include free remittance of monies earned in Egypt by the entered film and/or an additional import license to the entering company. For foreign companies with Egyptian distrib affiliates, these could be quite persuasive.

Universal's Market Strategy Swings on Schedule of 25

With six productions already launched, more than twice the number started at the same time last year, Universal is gearing 1964 production plans for a minimum of 25 features. This, according to Edward Muhl, production v.p., would be more than double the number of pix turned out by Universal in one year since 1957.

Already completed are "Send Me No Flowers," "Kitten With a Whip," "Daffy," "McHale's Navy" and "The Lively Set." "Bus Riley's Back in Town" is still shooting.

Also started is Panama and Frank's "Strange Bedfellows," which teams Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida for second time (they also did "Come September" first of six features to start this month). The others are "Father Goose," Cary Grant-Leslie Caron starrer to be filmed in Jamaica; William Castle's "The Night Walker"; "Fluffy," Tony Randall-starrer; Gordon Kay's "Taggart"; and "The Truth About Spring" (formerly "Miss Jude"), which stars John and Hayley Mills and James MacArthur.

Scheduled for June and July starts are Ross Hunter's "Art of Love," starring James Garner and Dick Van Dyke; "The 12th of Never"; "The Favor," comedy by Stanley Shapiro and Nate Monaster to star Rock Hudson; and "Fields of Honor," starring James Stewart.

Undisclosed Treaty Pact Of Par and Drive-In

Paramount has settled an anti-trust action which had been brought against it by the Star Drive-In Corp., operator of the Elmsford Drive-In Theatre of Westchester County, N.Y., per papers filed in N.Y. Federal Court. The suit had charged that Par had discriminated against Star in runs and clearances. No details of the settlement are disclosed.

Star's action had sought treble damages. Various other distribs and circuits had also been named in the suit. Of these, Universal settled recently but action is still continuing against Metro, Loew's Theatres, Warner Bros., Columbia, RKO Theatres and Suburban Theatres.

'Becket' & 'Fall' Ducats Peddled At Sears, Roebuck

Paramount has made arrangements with Sears, Roebuck, the retail store and mail order chain, to put tickets for "Becket" and "Fall of the Roman Empire" on sale in Sears stores. Also, ducats to the roadshow attractions will be made available to Sears customers via mailing pieces through which folks at home will be able to purchase seats by mail order from the chain.

To spur interest in salesmanship on the part of the Sears stores involved, the company has set up a special contest with prizes for the outlet which sells most tickets. In the overall, Sears gets a commission on the ducats it sells as though it were a ticket agent.

This is, of course, not the first time such retail outlets have been used as ticket outlets for pix, particularly roadshow entries. In the past such plans have worked effectively, especially in surburban areas where ticket buying is made easy by the convenience of having pasteboards available right in the backyard as opposed to having to trek to a Gotham boxoffice or agency to get them. The mail order biz scheme also proves effective since it directly reaches many people in the home, along with other Sears items of interest.

"Becket" and "Empire" are major pix for Paramount, the first roadshows the company has handled since "Ten Commandments." An all-out drive has been in effect to sell both epics, with special departments for each pic established at the company. This Sears tieup is but one of many gambits being tried by Par in an attempt to further the success of the pix.

Pennsylvania Situation Okayed for Stanley Co.

Stanley Warner Corp.'s petition to build a new motion picture theatre at King of Prussia Plaza Shopping Center, Montgomery County, Penn., was approved Friday (27) by Federal Court Judge Edmund L. Palmieri.

Court decision said SW had proved to its satisfaction that acquisition of the 1300 to 1450 seat house will not unduly restrain competition, and indicated competition will be stimulated and increased. Opposition had been voiced by Sam Shapiro, Claude Schlangor and Lew Sablosky.

'Goose' to Jamaica

Kingston, Jamaica, March 31.

Shooting is due to start here May 1 on Universal's "Father Goose," Cary Grant-Leslie Caron-Jack Hawkins feature. Locale will be North Coast, approximately where UA's "Dr. No." was shot.

Cast and crew will headquarter at the Jamaica Hilton near St. Ann's Bay.

ALBUQUERQUE GETS 'THIS IS CINERAMA'

Albuquerque, March 31.

Premiere of Cinerama in Albuquerque last Tuesday (24) was for 650 persons, with Governor Jack Campbell as host to the "invitational" debut at the remodled Fox-Winrock Theatre. On screen was the initial film in the process, "This Is Cinerama."

Tickets for opener were sold at $5, with proceeds going to Albuquerque United Community Fund. Several dozen cuffo tickets went to reps of two local newspapers, television and radio stations.

Prior to screening, an entertainment program was provided and included concert by Norman Russell Bell's "Bell Canto Singers" and the seven-piece Vern Swingle Dixieland Band.

Victor Rosen, national director of special services for Cinerama, from Los Angeles, represented the company at the premiere.

Rosen, along with Gov. Campbell, and house manager Lou Gasparini, and Ray Davis of Denver office of Fox-Intermountain (owner of the house), made brief speeches before the screening.

Remodeling enlarged the screen from 65 to 100 feet in width, and called for removal of about 35 seats from the 800-seater. Tickets for Cinerama are priced from top of $2.50 a person on Fridays and Saturdays.

National Library Week's Books That Made Films

National Library Week, April 12-18, will be saluted by the motion picture industry with a special poster, prepared under supervision of Motion Picture Assn. of America ad-pub directors committee, headed by Fred Goldberg. Poster, which features 16 books recently filmed or in production, was mailed to 5,500 key libraries. Theatre Owners of America is arranging distribution to membership. Army and Air Force Motion Picture Service has requested 600 for military post display. Total of 8,500 copies of poster will be distributed.

Pictures promoted are AA's "Soldier in the Rain" and "Thin Red Line"; Columbia's "The Collector" and "Lord Jim"; Metro's "Night Must Fall" and "Of Human Bondage"; Paramount's "Carpetbaggers" and "Spy Who Came In From the Cold"; 20th-Fox's "Von Ryan's Express" and "The Agony and the Ecstasy"; UA's "Satan Bug" and "Mister Moses"; Universal's "Marnie" and "Island of the Blue Dolphins"; Warner's "Act One" and "A Distant Trumpet."

"MUSCLE BEACH PARTY"

31%

AHEAD OF "BEACH PARTY"

FIRST 5 DAYS IN 300 PREMIERE OPENINGS

$1,526,031

Naturally... it's from American International Pictures!

Film Reviews

Continued from page 6

Advance To the Rear

misfits in the outfit include a bone-crushing muscle man, a punch-drunk former fighter, an arsonist and a klepto.

Yarn's complications take in a Confederate femme spy, a group of ladies of ill-repute, a band of renegades and an Indian chief. Aside from the scene where the infantry company is ordered to take over the usual cavalry mounts and learn how to drill on horseback, which is sheer slapstick, the sequence where the company, sans uniforms and guns, attacks the southern troops and a "battle episode" in which a hurriedly-built rock catapult and other missiles are used prove to be highlights.

Ford follows his usual low-pressure, authoritative portrayal of the Union captain, who is constantly held back by his superior, Col. Douglas. Miss Stevens makes an excellent femme spy, displaying real thespian ability in her role as a southern miss. Douglas comes close to thefting this pic with his rather jovial interpretation of the peace-loving inept commander.

Veteran Alan Hale does a yeoman job as the company sergeant while Miss Blondell, relegated to the part of the lady in charge of the prosties, makes something of a minor role. Backus is superb as the pompous general. James Griffith, Jesse Pearson, Andrew Prine, Whit Bissell and Michael Pate are best of a large supporting cast.

Direction by George Marshall is one of his better efforts, being especially topflight on visual comedy episodes. Milton Krasner's lensing is unusually fine. Archie Marshek has edited with smartness, making for a fast flow of action. Randy Sparks' western-type score provides a commendable assist to the action. New Christy Minstrels are credited with playing and singing the music. Wear.

Yesterday, Today And Tomorrow

(ITALIAN-COLOR)

Engaging contrivance of three episodes given big lift by Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroianni. Good moneymaking potential.

Hollywood, March 24.

Embassy Pictures release of Carlo Ponti production. Stars Sophia Loren, Marcello Mastroianni. Directed by Vittorio De Sica. Screenplay, ("Adelina"), Eduardo De Filippo, Isabella Quarantotti; ("Anna"), Cesare Zavattini, Billa Billa, from short story by Alberto Moravia; ("Mara"), Zavattini; camera, Giuseppe Rotunno; editor, Adriana Novelli; music, Armando Trovajoli; assistant director, Luisa Alessandri. Reviewed at Warner BevHills Theatre, March 24, '64. Running time, 120 MINS.

(1) "ADELINA" (NAPLES)

Adelina	Sophia Loren
Carmine	Marcello Mastroianni
Pasquale Nardella	Aldo Giuffre
Lawyer Verace	Agostino Salvietti
Amedeo Scanece	Lino Mattera
Bianchina Verace	Tecla Scarano
Elvira Nardella	Silvia Monelli
Auctioneer	Carlo Croccolo
Police Captain	Pasquale Cennamo

(2) "ANNA" (MILAN)

Anna	Sophia Loren
Her Lover	Marcello Mastroianni
The Other Man	Armando Trovajoli

(3) "MARA" (ROME)

Mara	Sophia Loren
Rusconi	Marcello Mastroianni
Grandmother	Tina Pica
Umberto	Giovanni Ridolfi
Grandfather	Gennaro Di Gregorio

The wonders of Italy and Sophia Loren are the objects of intimate attention in this breezy, noncerebral, three-episoder. Glamorously mounted and sensually inclined, Joseph E. Levine's Embassy release is an engaging trifle and has what it takes to make lots of money in any market. A minor drawback to its popularity and appeal in the mass exhibition circuit in which it has been unleashed is the use of sub-titles, a bothersome distraction to which the average easygoing customer, unlike his culture-conscious cousin who inhabits the art house, is not accustomed.

All three parts, separate entities save for the fact that they are set in Italy and co-star Miss Loren and Marcello Mastroianni, have been directed for Carlo Ponti with cinematic flair and invested with sensual gusto by Vittorio De Sica.

The first episode, "Adelina," illustrates the method by which a Neopolitan black-marketeer evades imprisonment over a seven-year span. The law says pregnant women may not be arrested, so she sees to it. This creates an exhausted, mercy-begging husband, a la "Conjugal Bed."

Episode number two, "Anna," is a brief interlude describing the abrupt dissolution of an affair between a Milanese Rolls-Royceterer and her lover. Third item, "Mara," is the flashiest but hokiest of the three. It explores the adventures in Rome of a lovable prostitute, a fanciful client and a confused young student priest. It amounts to an elaborately contrived excuse to get Miss Loren into a bikini.

Mastroianni and Miss Loren both are excellent in all three of their characterizations. Of the supporting players, the most vivid and lasting impressions are made by Giovanni Ridolfi and Tina Pica in the "Mara" episode and Aldo Giuffre in the "Adelina" installment. Ridolfi has all the earmarks of a teenage heartthrob.

Rich production values dress up "Yesterday, Today And Tomorrow" (a meaningless title), a reflection of the astute contributions of such men as photographer Giuseppe Rotunno, composer Armando Trovajoli, editor Adriana Novelli and art director Ezio Frigerio. Tube.

Une Ravissante Idiote

(A Ravishing Idiot)

(FRENCH)

Paris, March 24.

SNC release of Belles Rives production. Stars Brigitte Bardot, Anthony Perkins; features Gregoire Aslan, Andre Luguet, J. M. Tennberg, Charles Millot. Directed by Edouard Molinaro. Screenplay, Molinaro, Andre Tabet, Georges Tabet from book by Charles Exbrayat; camera, Andreas Winding; editor, Robert Isnardon. At Marignan, Paris. Running time, 110 MINS.

Penny	Brigitte Bardot
Harry	Anthony Perkins
Bagda	Gregoire Aslan
Dumfrey	Andre Luguet
Cartwright	J. M. Tennberg

Main handles for this uneven situation comedy-actioner are the names of Brigitte Bardot and Anthony Perkins. But Miss Bardot is only caught with her scanties twice, for quick flashes, and this does not quite have the inventive spark, balanced mock seriousness and comedic aspects for anything but playoff possibilities abroad.

Miss Bardot is made to play a dimwitted girl with a horselaugh who turns out to be a British secret agent. She takes up with Perkins, who is a disgruntled Britain of Russo origin, who gets mixed up with Russian spies. Naturally all turns out for the best after some killings, romantic byplay and usual complications.

Miss Bardot is shapely, pouting and nimbly silly, but without the right comic touch and timing as yet. Perkins is forced to play his timid, smiling stereotype which also does not get much help from the uneven scripting and direction.

It just lacks the free wheeling creativeness to give this the pace and zest it calls for to achieve that suspension of disbelief that this type of film demands. The supporting players are properly heavy-handed and menacing. This does get a good production dress and the proper lush lensing. B.B. will have to be the main selling point and it looks more promising at home than for foreign cinematic climes. Mosk.

Flight From Ashiya

(PANAVISION—COLOR)

Poorly engineered action melodrama about Air Rescue Service exploits. Handsome mounting and decorative players will have to carry b.o. ball.

Hollywood, March 16.

United Artists release of Harold Hecht production. Stars Yul Brynner, Richard Widmark, George Chakiris; features Suzy Parker, Shirley Knight, Daniele Gaubert. Directed by Michael Anderson. Screenplay, Elliott Arnold, Waldo Salt, based on Arnold's novel; camera (Eastman), Joseph MacDonald, Burnett Guffey; editor, Gordon Pilkington; music, Frank Cordell; assistant director, Milton Feldman. Reviewed at Goldwyn Studios, March 16, '64. Running time, 102 MINS.

Sgt. Mike Takashima	Yul Brynner
Col. Glenn Stevenson	Richard Widmark
Lt. John Gregg	George Chakiris
Lucille Carroll	Suzy Parker
Caroline Gordon	Shirley Knight
Leila	Daniele Gaubert
Tomiko	Eiko Taki
Sgt. Randy Smith	Joe de Reda
Japanese Boy Charlie	Mitsuhiro Sugiyama
Capt. Walter Mound	E. S. Ince
Doctor Horton	Andrew Hughes

Save for some physical production flair and a respectable array of marquee names, there's very little in this Japanese-American coproduction to whet a picture-goer's appetite or reward his curiosity. A joint enterprise of Japan's Daiei Motion Picture Co. Ltd. and America's Harold Hecht Films, with the latter individual as producer, the United Artists release is a hodge podge of aerial, nautical and romantic melodrama, unstable and overly-involved in dramatic design and fuzzy in thematic destination or resolution. "Flight From Ashiya" never really gets off the ground.

The three-pronged scenario by Elliott Arnold and Waldo Salt, based on the former's novel, traces the pasts of three members of the Air Rescue Service as they participate in a daring air-sea operation to save a small group of survivors shipwrecked in a typhoon. Lengthy flashbacks illustrate the personal problems of: (1) Yul Brynner, a Japanese-Polish pararescueman who has a tragic affair with an Algerian girl, (2) Richard Widmark, an Air Force officer who has a tragic affair with an American magazine shutterbug, and, (3) George Chakiris, who has a tragic affair with his own conscience as he absurdly blames himself for a disaster. None of the three characters is sharply or substantially drawn and none of the three stories is clearly resolved.

The dramatic architecture of the film is rickety and erratic, with at least one redundancy and so many flashbacks that a spectator is unable to get his bearings. At one point there is even a flashback-within-a-flashback. What rewards there are, are strictly physical or pictorial. Some spectacular and convincing special effects by the Daiei craftsmen enrich the production, and these efforts are backed up by those of cinematographers Joseph MacDonald and Burnett Guffey (there's at least one strikingly-composed and colored interior sequence), and art director Tom Shimogawara. Frank Cordell's music is melodic and atmospheric. Editor Gordon Pilkington could still do a lot for this film with his shears, especially in the lethargic romantic passages.

Michael Anderson's direction is more successful in bringing flavor and impact to action sequences than it is in the more introspective love scenes or static cockpit exchanges. There's nothing very impressive in the histrionic department. Brynner is rather wooden. There's at least one spot where he fails to convey a required nuance of expression. Widmark is the most effective, but even he gets a little sticky around the edges. Chakiris' range of expression is narrow. Of the three leading ladies, lovely Daniele Gaubert makes the most vivid impression as Brynner's ill-fated Algerian lady love. Suzy Parker has surprisingly little to do, considering that she's top billed of the three females. Shirley Knight labors with the part of Widmark's sweetheart, a role that requires her to say and do some very odd things. Tube.

Faites Sauter La Banque

(Rob the Bank)

(FRENCH)

Paris, March 24.

Comacico release of Copernic production. Stars Louis De Funes; features Anne Doat, Georges Wilson, Yvonne Clech, Jean-Pierre Marielle, Jean Valmont. Directed by Jean Girault. Screenplay, Jacques Vilfrid, Girault, Louis Sapin; camera, Andre Germain; editor, J. M. Gautier. At Marignan, Paris. Running time, 90 MINS.

Garnier	Louis De Funes
Durand	Jean-Pierre Marielle
Daughter	Anne Doat
Policeman	Georges Wilson
Philippe	Jean Valmont

Louis De Funes, a middleaged little man, has proved himself an adept comedian on stage and on screen. But the limpid, low budgeted lack-lustre film vehicles he's been in so far may kill him off at the boxoffice. And this pic will not help. And is not much for export.

Direction is flaccid and a good idea rarely brought off. De Funes is a storekeeper who is fleeced of his money by a shady banker. He decides to rob the bank by burrowing under the street, from his store to the bank vault. And thus to retrieve his money.

But the obvious plotting, quickie look of the production and the ordinary thesping around De Funes soon make the laughter forced and the idea overworked. He can vacillate from determined sadism to winning archness and has a flawless sense of timing.

He seems to need a writer and director that could channel this high comic presence into the right vehicles. This may do alright here. Below par lensing also detracts. Mosk.

Challenge To Live

Japanese color pic by director Eizo Sugawa, opening April 7 at the Toho Cinema, was described from Hollywood by Tube., in the March 7, '62 VARIETY, as having "inspirational value and romantic appeal for Japanese market in this country but lacks the kind of provocative approach, novel cinematic technique and universal significance and clarity that can carry an art house entry."

Toho release, which features Yoko Tsukasa and Tatsuya Mihashi, is combined effort of Japanese new-waver Sugawa and modern writer Shintaro Ishihara on whose novel the film is based.

Voir Venise Et Crever

(See Venice and Die)

(FRENCH-DYALISCOPE)

Paris, March 24.

Cocinor release of Metzger & Woog, Marceau-Cocinor, Eichberg, Adelphia Films production. With Sean Flynn, Karin Baal, Pierra Mondy, Ettore Manni, Hans Messemer. Directed by Andre Versini. Screenplay, Jacques Robert, Versini from book by James Hadley Chase; camera, Andre Germain; editor, Henri Taverna. At Lord Byron, Paris. Running time, 85 MINS.

Michel	Sean Flynn
Maria	Karin Baal
Paul	Pierre Mondy
Giuseppe	Ettore Manni
Karel	Hans Messemer

Actor-scripter Andre Versini shows himself sans much in handling his first directorial stint on a familiar spy actioner. Mainly home playoff chances are in store for this.

The son of a deceased famous secret service man gets embroiled with saving an old friend of his father's who has been deemed a traitor. But the youth finds him being tortured by Reds in Venice and rescues him after the usual fights, suspense and love interest.

Sean Flynn, son of the late Errol, is a good looking youth but, as yet, lacks much of the charm and projection of his father. Others fill in adequately in stereotype roles of friends, valet, heavies and bystanders. Fights lack the snap and precision that these films need. The story does not get the avid treatment and interest it requires.

Result is that this lags despite some good scripting and the Venice background. Technically okay, this coproduction (has minority German and Italo investments) emerges hybrid rather than a solid action opus. Too many nationalities seemingly have spoiled the filmic broth. Mosk.

The Crimson Blade

(BRITISH-MEGASCOPE-COLOR)

Presentable partner in a dual exploitation package from Britain. Adventure meller with historical roots.

Hollywood, March 19.

Columbia Pictures release of Anthony Nelson Keys production. Stars Lionel Jeffries, Oliver Reed, Jack Hedley, June Thorburn. Directed and screenplay by John Gilling; camera (Eastman), Jack Asher; editor, John Dunsford; music, Gary Hughes; assistant director, Douglas Hermes. Reviewed at the studio, March 19, '64. Running time, 83 MINS.

Colonel Judd	Lionel Jeffries
Sylvester	Oliver Reed
Edward	Jack Hedley
Clare	June Thorburn
Pablo	Michael Ripper
Jacob	Harold Goldblatt
Major Bell	Duncan Lamont
Philip	Clifford Elkin
Constance	Suzan Farmer
Sergeant Grey	John Harvey
Drury	Charles Houston
Lieut. Hawke	Michael Byrne
Beverley	John Stewart
Cobb	Harry Towb
King Charles I	Robert Rietty
Fitzroy	John H. Watson
Blake	Douglas Blackwell
Gonzales	Leslie Glazer
Lieut. Wyatt	John Woodnutt
Duncannon	Eric Corrie
Chaplain	Denis Holmes

Columbia has marketable exploitation merchandise in its British-spawned coupling of "The Crimson Blade" and "Devil-Ship Pirates," two historically-motivated adventure melodramas endowed with the coat of production polish that is a specialty of Hammer Films. Lack of cast names recognizable to Yank audiences will probably limit the draw, but it's an attractive twin-bill for youngsters in that the events are not only liberally invested with action but convey a rough idea of two periods of English history. "Blade" is concerned with 17th century Royalist underground resistance to the forces of Oliver Cromwell.

Anthony Nelson Keys produced the Associated British-Hammer entry, which was written and directed by John Gilling. Gilling, on the whole, has done a highly commendale job. His original screenplay has its holes and contrivances (some of the poorest marksmen in history seem to pull Cromwell triggers), but it is fairly strong on characterization, and that's the heart of any script. As for the execution, Gilling is especially fortunate in having enlisted the services of some highly skillful players.

Lionel Jeffries creates an interesting, shaded portrait of a "Roundhead" colonel torn between concern for his daughter, who's serving the Royalist cause, and his duty to Cromwell, which he dispatches in ruthless fashion. Oliver Reed limns with intensity a treacherous officer in love with Jeffries' daughter, attractively played by June Thorburn. Jack Hedley is capable as the title character, except that there's no such thing as the title character since the "Crimson Blade" is referred to as the "Scarlet Blade" in the picture itself. Apparently, crimson blades are out this year.

Balance of support is effective, and so are the efforts of the production team. Particularly valuable are Bernard Robinson's handsome production designs and Jack Asher's valuable easy-to-follow photography. Also commendable are John Dunsford's editing and Gary Hughes' musical score. Tube.

Who's for Disney?

Continued from page 7

everything you can to sell it, and you need the help of centers of influence and opinion-makers. If they don't know about the film, how can they help?"

Unhappy Term?

Radnitz hates the term "family picture" and says that anyone who could come up with a better and more accurate description would rate a medal. He insists that he has never made children's films, as such. Admitting that in his films children have been the protagonists, he claims that all great literary works in which children are the protagonists, as "The Yearling" and "Great Expectations," have an appeal that transcends an appeal purely to children. He believes the same is true in films.

On the other hand he does not ignore the tastes and opinions of children. His one complaint with Disney's films is that they use too much sentimentality and violence. "I try to stimulate creatively. I talk up to children, never down. I try to use film in its true sense as an art form and to make it transcend age borders."

Radnitz insists today's children are too realistic to accept artificial stimulation. "They're aware of death, they're even more aware of life. That is why throwing in violence merely for shock effect is not only wrong, it isn't necessary. There's no reason why a film that concerns children, and which they will see, cannot be completely sophisticated. It's a matter of taste and your own particular conscience. Even nudity is natural within its proper framework."

From a dollars and cents standpoint he believes the most short-sighted thing the film industry does is to alienate tomorrow's audiences which, of necessity, are today's children. "They provide material that is so violent, so hopped up, that the kids come out of the theatre reeling. If they continue to do this, the only audience that stays will always want this type of film—or they'll be lost as an audience. It's stupid from a financial standpoint. Still they turn out all types of junk but won't compete with Disney."

Engel Circumnavigates For Missionary Picture

Hollywood, March 31.

Samuel G. Engel is back from a 40,000-mile world tour which started in the Far East in mid-February, scouting location sites for "To the Golden Shore," biopic of first American foreign missionary, Adoniram Judson, authored by Courtney Anderson.

Engel will produce for Imperator Productions Inc., newly-formed by group of churchmen with knowledge of showbiz, including Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy, prexy of company.

Accompanying Engel on tour were Walter Reisch, who is scripting; Frederick L. Essex, associate producer, and Jesse Corvallo, location advisor.

Cold Culture War

Continued from page 2

duction company is churning out under Soviet orders, but those imported from Germany, America and English. List of the longest-running hits in 51 East Germany cinemas shows that first place went to a German pic "Nights in Green Cockadoo," followed by a reprise from old American comedies called "When Laughter was Triumph," with third place going to a British pic, "A Touch of Bliss." The DEFA comedy about some criminals titled "The Egghead Band" is running only seventh in popularity.

Last year in East Germany 110 films were distributed, of which 30 came from the West. Russians placed first with 25 pix, DEFA came second with 14 films and 2 documentaries. Then came Czechoslovakia with 16 films.

From the West came seven from France, six from the U.S.; three from Austria and the same number from West Germany; two from Italy and one from Japan. Except for the single DEFA pic, though, the Red films did slow business in East Germany last year.

East German Stages Troubled

Even the stages in East Germany were in trouble last year, as the government put accent on the works of "approved" playwrights who followed the Red line of thinking or unthinking. Seven stages folded last year in East Germany. And in nine of the 55 stages staying open, the general manager was changed during the year, another sign of the unrest that reaches across the boards.

In Czechoslovakia, the Red contro's have loosened slightly on the cultural life. Thirty-five-year old dramatist Pavel Kahout, who is one of the most famous stage writers in his land, was permitted to come into West Germany to help with West Germany's televising of a play of his, "Journey Around the Earth." He reported that in Prague alone there are 20 stages, and that the most popular playwrights there are the Swiss Friedrich Duerrenmatt and the American Tennesee Williams.

In Roumania, it's reported that modern Western dramatists have made the grade, with Bucharest theatres presenting the works of Duerrenmatt and Anouilh. Right now, a performance is planned of "The Rhinoceros," another departure from the usual Red regime, since this is authored by a Roumanian living in exile, Eugen Ionesco.

Guest Appearance in E. Germany

A recent surprise success was the unusual guest appearance of a small group from West Germany, the City Theatre of Hildesheim. Last month, the general manager of this city stage, Walter Zibell, managed to break down all the barriers to get his group of 46 people into Magdeburg, East Germany, to do a one-night stand with Eugene O'Neill's "The Straw." It was the first time since Aug. 13, 1963, that a West German theatre had played in East Germany. The house was sold out several days in advance.

Not only did the East Germans suddenly allow all the West Germans to come in without protest, but they also promised that there would be no possible repraisals against several members of the cast who had fled from East Germany after the Iron Curtain went up, and they kept their word.

For about a decade after World War II ended, West Germans were wary of producing the plays of the late playwright Berthold Brecht, who was a Communist sympathizer, and whose widow Helene Weigel heads a Brecht theatre in East Berlin. But times have changed so much that Brecht has become a big hit on the West German stages. In Spain, Brecht's "Three Penny Opera" has just been performed for the first time.

Russos Like Some U.S. Authors

The Russians like authors Arthur Miller, Ernest Hemingway, John Steinbeck, Eugene O'Neill and Thomas Mann. But the shortage of paper for printing books makes it difficult for the Reds to sell as much as they would like.

In Czechoslovakia, works of modern Western authors are much in demand and Kafka has become highly popular. Also big sellers are the works of Artur London and Laco Novomesky, who both spent years in jail for their political ideology. Nineteenth Century novels of French and English writers are at the top of the best-seller list in Poland. Last year, there were 500,000 copies of British novels sold, and only 400,000 Russian novels.

A little jealousy between the Redlands cropped up with Helene Weigel protests at the Polish theatre's performance of "Unusual Climb of Arturo Ui" in London, set for the international fest in Great Britain. She noted that the East Berlin Theatre Ensemble (which she heads) was due to do the same production last year in London, but prevented because no visas were granted. Now she feels that the Polish guest appearance with th Brecht play will spoil subsequent chances for her theatre to do the drama later in London. It is possible that the Polish theatre will comply with her demands, and replace the Brecht play with two contemporary Polish dramas.

Radio, Tele Score in E. Germany

Even in radio and television, the word from the West gets quite freely across the border. As against the 17,000,000 radios and 8,800,000 tele sets in West Germany, the East has about a third that number of radio and television sets in East Germany. Despite Red disturbances, it's noted that more than 70% of the East German tele sets can receive programs from the West German First Tele Net.

Deputy manager of the North German TV at Hamburg, Ludwig von Hammerstein, estimates that the East German residents can pick up at least one radio program during the day from West Germany and at least three at night, despite the Reds' jamming efforts.

William Elder out as northern div manager of Loew's Theatres.

SPECIAL OFFER
Good Until April 15
TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE
$2 PER WEEK
Mon. thru Fri.
JU 2-6730
minimum four weeks
ALFA TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE

Hear . . . Hollywood Commentator
DICK STROUT
ON Over 800 STATIONS IN AMERICA

JAKE TRUSSELL'S AFTER HOURS POETRY:
Written from a background of experiences as a combination amusements columnist, jazz disc jockey, sportswriter, radio commentator-sportscaster, managing editor, band leader, and Associated Press correspondent. Nothing else in the world like it. For your copy send $1.00 to Jake Trussell, P. O. Box 951, Kingsville, Texas.

NEAR, NOT IN, QUAKE

Two Shooting Units Safely Out Of Alaska

Hollywood, March 31.

One of three location units which has been filming Metro's "Quick, Before It Melts" in Nome, Alaska, narrowly missed being in Anchorage at the time of Friday's (27) earthquake. A group of six was en route to the now-ravaged community when their pilot picked up word of the disaster on his radio and landed instead in a small Eskimo village which had an airstrip.

Early Saturday morning he flew the group to Anchorage and landed without clearance. The troupe then waited several hours for a U.S.-bound plane, as air service was at a virtual standstill because of the quake.

Another unit, which included director Delbert Mann, assistant director Eric Von Stroheim Jr. and four others, was in Fairbanks at the time of the disaster but left without incident. A third unit of six men is still in Nome wrapping up their location assignment.

Interboro Circuit Taking Hardtop at W. Haverstraw

Interboro Circuit, which operates 20 theatres in the New York area, has signed a lease for a 600-seat hardtop which is slated to be built later this year at the planned Samsondale Plaza Shopping Center, West Haverstraw, N.Y.

Construction of the new centre is plotted to start later this spring, with initial occupancies due late in the year and in early 1965. The Plaza will include, in addition to the theatre, a Food Fair store, a national department store, other retail outlets, a three-story office building and parking for about 950 cars.

Metro Credo

Continued from page 4

Pasternak, Dick Lyons and the Perlberg-Seaton operation. All are pacted to Metro.

Independents

In addition to these men, Metro has considerable dealings with indies. Martin Ransohoff recently made "The Americanization of Emily" and is now working on "The Cincinnatti Kid" and will also make "The Loved One." Delbert Mann & Dale Wasserman are making "Quick, Before It Melts" and Martin Ritt recently completed "The Outlaw." Sextant Productions (Robert Graff & Robert Gianna) is going to make "Young Cassidy," the biopic of the life of Sean O'Casey, Anatole de Grunewald, who made "The V.I.P.s" for Metro, will soon begin "The Yellow Rolls Royce" in England and Max Youngstein will make "The Money Trap." Italo producer Carlo Ponti has a three-pic deal with MGM and will make "Dr. Zhivago."

The tv operation is quite important to the Metro film side as well. The studio uses its various tv series as proving grounds for people it thinks will click in pix and to develop others. It also tests ideas there such as the recent teaming of Yvette Mimeux with Richard Chamberlain on a "Dr. Kildare" episode to get public reaction to the combo. It was substantial and the two will be put together in a feature, the plans for which are currently being worked out. Another example of a different use is that Boris Sagal, who has directed lots of tv, will lens Pasternak's next Metro project.

The idea is to work everything under one roof, drawing from all sources. This is like the Universal operation, which has a stable of pacted producers to whom various properties are assigned and which attempts to segue players, directors and writers from Revue Productions, its tv production operation, into features. Warners has also tried the tv bit with success.

1st U.S. Tour of Lipizzaner Horses

Continued from page 1

bia Festivals, takes in eight cities in U.S. and Canada, with longest stay (six days) at Madison Square Garden, May 19-24. Promoters are taking ads in Philly and Washington papers suggesting tardy ticketbuyers try for the N.Y. booking.

Although no New York ads have been placed, Garden has received mail orders amounting to $73,000 to date. Prices will be steep, with $3-8 price range, and $3-15 for opener. Besides mail orders, attraction also has $90,000 in advance orders for groups and benefits.

This is first visit to North America for tour purposes of the Lipizzaners. A picked team exhibited at the National Horse Show in 1950. The earlier visitors made the trip by ship, but Columbia chartered two KLM jets to handle transatlantic crossings. Extra plane for the 20 equines was necessitated by airline ruling of only 12 horses to a plane.

Entire project has been a maze of logistical problems for Columbia (usually concerned with more temperamental but human artists) and it is still something of an experiment. Not only have the horses never toured the U.S. before, their only previous official visit away from Vienna was to Berlin for Konrad Adenauer's inauguration as chancellor. At the Spanish Riding Academy (their home in Vienna) they give a single performance every Sunday afternoon (during the summer). While in the U.S. they'll be giving performances daily with only short rest breaks between.

Scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia last Friday (27), the steeds will go through an acclimatization and rehearsal period before the April 9 opening. A selected team of American show horses has been invited to work with the Austrian visitors. Whether the Vienna equines will be returned to Europe immediately after tour winds in Montreal on May 31, hasn't been decided, but general belief is that they'll get another rest period. If so, they've been invited to be guests of many horse-lovers, including Mrs. Winston Guest.

Pre-tour preparation includes such problems as making sure arena floors are covered with nine-inch special mixture of soil, shavings, etc. If too hard or too soft, highly-trained horses will know automatically that it's bad for their hooves and may balk.

This equestrian attraction claims to be the oldest continuing performing group in the Western world, having been established for 400 years, which doesn't prevent promoters getting such queries as one from a Philadelphian who wished to know whether this "was the original cast."

Global fame of horses has been created by many things—history of the Spanish Riding School, previous viewings by European visitors, more current spotlighting by Walt Disney's "Miracles of the White Stallions.' Some ancients even remember them from Metro's 1940 "Florian."

Asked whether Disney would tie-in visit with his film, Columbia Festivals exec Bill Judd said he would not but that the Disney office had offered use of its research material. This includes suggestions for decorative converting of stadiums into reasonable facsimiles of the Spanish Riding Academy, involving much colorful bunting and school's famed crystal chandeliers. Tour will, in fact, use two of latter (not crystal, of course). American Express will handle transport of horses in specially-equipped vans.

Heading Viennese delegation is Col. Alois Podhajsky, considered top master of Academy's classic riding style. Horses, and Academy, are under jurisdiction of Austrian Dept. of Forestry and Agriculture. School drives name from 16th century belief that Spanish horses were best suited to classical riding.

Four 'Mary Poppins'

Four more of 16 pre-release premiere engagements for Disney's "Mary Poppins" have been set by Buena Vista, joining previously dated Radio City Music Hall and Grauman's Chinese.

Opening Oct. 16 at the Adams Theatre, Detroit, "Poppins" will follow same week at Midtown, Philadelphia, on Oct. 21 the Delman, Houston and the Gary, Boston on Oct. 22. Remaining ten houses wil be announced as engagements are set for the musical-fantasy which stars Julie Andrews and Dick Van Dyke.

Extras' Guild

Continued from page 4

Burnside, James Casino, Roy Damron, Joe Dougherty, Henry Faber, Jac Lucas Fisher, Don Leo Gray, Ralph Grosh, Bill Hampton, Harry Hollins, Shephard Houghton, Slosson Jong, Jack Krupnick, Joseph LaCava, Louise Lane, Jay Loft-Lynn, Alan Marston, Buddy Mason, Charlie Murray, Carmen Nisbet, Herb Pacheco, John Reed, Frieda Rentie, Edwin Rochelle, Clark Ross, Cosmo Sardo, Jeffrey Sayre, Bernie Sell, Jack Semple, Jordan Shelley, Miles Shepard, George Simmons, Dorothy Smith, Norman Stevans, Roy Thomas, Alan Thomason, Maxie Thrower. Eight are incumbents.

Each nominee is required to file with SEG affidavits showing he meets qualifications of the by-laws of SEG, including the requirement that he hasn't been a member of the Communist Party in the preceding five years or been convicted or in the same period for a list of criminal offenses listed in Federal law.

Ballots will be mailed members about April 15, and the results will be known about three weeks later. SEG board members whose terms do not expire this year are Thomas Anthony, Emile Avery, Margaret Bacon, Tex Brodus, Joe Brooks, Bob Burrows, Kit Carson, Albert Cavens, Evelyn Ceder, Roydon Clark, Bill Dyer, Richard Elmore, Joe Evans, George Holmes, Chester Jones, Kenner G. Kemp, Hubert Kerns, Tina Menard, Murray Pollack, prexy Tony Regan, Tanya Somova and Kenneth Young.

New York's largest specialists in motion picture & TV insurance
(cast, film, weather, liability, cameras, props, plagiarism...)
WINKLER ASSOCIATES, LTD.
120 W. 57 St., New York 19, Circle 7-3366

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
JOHN WAYNE?
OR IS IT JOHN WAYNE

New York Theatres
RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL
Rockefeller Center • PL 7-3100
PETER SELLERS
Paula PRENTISS • Angela LANSBURY
In "THE WORLD OF HENRY ORIENT"
A Pan Arts Company Picture from United Artists in Color
ON GREAT STAGE "Glory of Easter" and... "ALICE IN EASTERLAND" in the EAST it's MOVIELAB for...

COLOR
BLACK & WHITE
FOR YOUR SCREENINGS
Film & Tape EDITING & STORAGE Rooms
MOVIELAB BUILDING, 619 WEST 54th STREET, NEW YORK 19, PHONE 586-0360 (AREA CODE 212)

Italo Film Biz Watches Hopefully For Them in Banks' Pix Credit Funds

Rome, March 31.

The Italian film industry is keeping an anxious eye on the Banca del Lavoro and its special film credit fund, in the hopes that recent hints of a thaw in the key Bank's film credit operations would prove true.

Banca del Lavoro's vital position in the local film finance picture is evident in fact that each year the BNL provides funds for about 40% of Italy's film production as well as assisting exhibs, labs, and studios with loans and credit. In fact, it has been the slow freeze of the BNL funds last year, and the subsequent shutdown of all finance to the industry in January, which has helped add to the local filmbiz jitters and crisis talk. Many basically okayed productions have as a result been forced to postpone starts or cancel out completely, awaiting action by the Bank plus its assurance of support.

BNL's contributions for 1963 in the film section totalled some $48,000,000 (some $6,400,000 more than in 1962) according to recently published yearly statement. Last finance granted Italo productions reportedly totalled some $1,350,000 and was granted at last committee meeting on Jan. 30 this year. Since then—nothing. Some say this is because of general policy, others because of a technicality caused by red tape. Some members of the three-year committee which decides on loans has not yet been formally constituted. There is likewise talk, however, that the Bank has assured certain local filmmakers that when (and if) the situation is eased, they will be granted requests compatible with the BNL fund status at the time.

Another important factor in determining future BNL film fund operations and possibilities apparently is tied to approval of a BNL request that the working capital of the fund be raised to at least $7,000,000.

Meanwhile, the current tight situation in which the BNL film fund finds itself is outlined in the annual BNL statement. BNL calls the situation "delicate," and regrets fact that "redemensioning" of financial situation in Italo film industry was not successfully brought off. As it did in 1956, the film industry boom has been followed by what bank calls "widespread financial tension." BNL also hoped that its position of "support and balance" in the film industry would be aptly considered when the new film aid legislation is discussed in coming weeks (it expires next June 30).

In a significant passage, Bank report notes that Film Fund section's 1963 operations were maintained on a sustaining level only thanks to a hefty contribution by Banca del Lavoro itself (to the tune of some $30,000,000), and that such "internal" support could only be temporary. This presented the problem of "outside" contributions to fund, statement goes on to say, noting that the progressive repayment of film loan deposits which (up to June 30, 1962) were mandatory for foreign imports (the so-called "dubbing licenses" which principally hit U.S. imports) would further deplete the already depleted BNL film fund.

Some local viewers see in this note, as well as in other local reports, a hint that the BNL and/or the Italo film industry will perforce seek new and additional, funds to bolster the BNL fund finances. And that Yank companies again may be imposed upon in one form or other in their operations in what is still a lucrative market.

Yank Tourists Spent $34,412,000 in Ireland At Hotels Past Year

Dublin, March 24.

Americans spent an estimated $34,412,000 paying hotel bills in Ireland last year, according to Central Statistics Office report here.

Expenditure was 13% ahead of 1962. Statistics embrace "U.S. and Canada" under a single heading, but it is known that by far the larger number of visitors have U.S. as their hometown.

The transAtlantic visitors made a total of 204,000 guest registrations and spent 418,000 nights in Irish hotels. Overall biz for hotels in the Republic was up 13% to a record high level of $481,712,000.

'The Best' Official British Pic Arg. Fest

London, March 31.

Nat Cohen, joint topper of Anglo Amalgamated Pictures, heads the official British Film Delegation at the Buenos Aires Film Fest which opens tomorrow (Wed.). "Nothing But The Best," an Anglo Amalgamated pic, is the official British entry.

Cohen's delegation will comprise Clive Donner, the film's director; Sue Lloyd, a feature player in it; and John Troke, AA's tub-thumper. Anglo Amalgamated distributes the film worldwide, but the Rank Organization handles in Latin America.

Many Entries For Milan Film Mart

Milan, March, 24.

Large number of participants already have reserved space and facilities for the upcoming ninth MIFED Film Market, to be held here April 15-25. Advance bookings, according to MIFED topper Guido Franci, are for both film and telepix sectors of the twice-yearly affair, and include a number of Yank participants. He expects total activity to top previous year's figures.

Entire MIFED activity in the April show will be dedicated to film and videopix purchase and sale, whereas the October MIFED will also include a repeat of last fall's International Salon of Technical Innovoations (SINT), together with the normal activity of the Milan mart. Particular accent at the October SINT will be on up-to-date novelties in the field of tele.

April MIFED coincides, as every year, with dates of the general Milan Trade Fair, one of the top industrial gatherings and displays on the Continent.

'The Silence' Stirs Up Many Noisy Debates In Germany; Ask More Cuts

Frankfurt, March 24.

Ingmar Bergman's startling "The Silence" is stirring up lots of noise in West Germany. Even the West German Parliament is currently debating just whether "The Silence" should be exhibited. The pic, which is doing sellout biz in key cities, was brought up during an angry debate in the West German Parliament, with six queries from the Christian Democrats party (largely Catholic).

It was questioned whether this film, which has been awarded the "especially worthy" category of the German Film Classification Board, should have some additional censoring of the more sexual scenes. Federal Minister of the Interior Hermann Hoecherl said he felt that the "artistic quality" of the film would not be reduced if three particularly questionable scenes were shortened or changed.

Meanwhile on another front, the states' attorney in Duisburg, whose area is responsible for the film since the distributor is located there, said he did not plan to ban the picture despite some official complaints since he did not feel the pic is immoral under the terms of German law. However, he admitted that it is "shocking," but viewable only by those over 18.

Now in Bavaria, the State Assn. of Catholic Women have protested against the pic. It sent a letter to the West German Film Censorship Board in Wiesbaden querying why such a film should be deemed "especially worthy," inasmuch as it presents two hours of perversities.

And in Stuttgart, the Protestant church office has sent out a special flier "explaining" the film to young people, with 25,000 copies distributed. The cinemas are in agreement and are even distributing the pamphlets, which help to clarify Bergman's meaning—that this is a Godless group of people without any hope or belief in the world.

Activity in Sweden

Stockholm, March 31.

A total of 24 feature films opened at Stockholm's first-run cinemas during February Nine came from United States, five from France and four from Britain. Two of the films were of Swedish origin. Other films were imports from Denmark, Finland, and Italy.

Censorship Board banned one film during February, the American "Nightmare" (U). In altogether, including shorts, newsreels, cartoons and trailers, 123 films were presented to the censors during February. Top longrunner in Stockholm is "Cleopatra," now on its 19th week.

New Italo-UAR Film Pact Signed

Rome, March 24.

A new Italo-UAR film agreement has been signed in Cairo.

This pact, which is automatically renewable every three years, calls for "encouragement" of coproductions between two countries, notes that actors and technicians for such pix will be restricted to Italians and Egyptians, and that they will be lensed either in Italy or Egypt.

Annibale Scicluna of Italy's Entertainment Ministry signed for Italo interests. U.A.R. was repped by Salah Amer, prexy of that country's Assn. of Film, Radio, and TV Directors.

St. Marks Square May Be Setting for Preem Of Venice Film Fest

Venice, March 31.

Famed Saint Marks Square here may serve as the spectacular setting for Venice Film Fest opening night gala. The possibility is being considered by festival topper Luigi Chiarini as a means of attracting worldwide attention to the event.

Quoted by authoritative Italo news agency, ANSA, Chiarini said: "We must make festivals interesting once more, and also better their content and present films which expose problems."

The Venice budget remains a major obstacle in any thinking about necessary refurbishing—especially regarding the event's main theatres, still equipped with seats installed in 1937. An attempt will be made to get a larger government grant, closer to the $320,000 minimum needed to run the show properly than the current (reported) budget of only $208,000. Of this, some $170,000 is contributed by the government, according to unconfirmed figures. Because of slowdowns in government payments of grants, festival is forced to pay some $15,000 each year in interest, making the burden even greater.

Chiarini also revealed that this year's fest retrospective will be dedicated to the Scandinavian film.

Salzburg's Agenda

Salzburg, March 31.

Salzburg Festival program for 1964 is completed. Events as follows:

"Ariadne of Naxos" (conductor Karl Boehm) with Christa Ludwig, Sena Jurinac, Reri Grist, Jess Thomas, Paul Schoeffler.

"Electra" (conductor Karajan) with Astrid Varnay, Martha Moedl, James King.

"Cosi fan tutte" (Boehm) with Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, Christa Ludwig, Graziella Sciutti, Walter Kment, Herman Prey, Peter Doench.

"Rosenkavalier" (Karajan) with Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, Sena Jurinac, Annelises Rothenberger, Otto Edelmann.

"Figaro" (Maazel) with Hilde Gueden, Graziella Sciutti, Evelyn Lear, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Geraint Evans.

"Magic Flute" (Kertesz) with Roberta Peters, Pilar Lorengar, Walter Kment, Walter Berry, Peter Kreppel, Paul Schoeffler.

"Macbeth" (Sawallisch) with Grace Bumbry, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Giuseppe Zampieri.

The drama will be represented by Goethe's "Faust I" and "Faust II" and the annual openair performances of "Everyman."

Britain's Films Council Winds Its Probe of British Trading Practices; Sees Need for Third Big Circuit

London, March 31.

Nine months after it started its investigation into the structure and trading practices of the British film industry, the Cinematograph Films Council has completed its report, which has been published as a governmental White Paper, and which was presented to the House of Commons last Thursday (26) on the eve of its closure for the Easter recess. The main recommendation in the report, which runs 28 pages, is that the industry should make a new effort to reopen negotiations for the establishment of an adequate third release. That recommendation carries the proviso that failure to take action of this kind may lead the Board of Trade to consider what further action could be taken.

The report opens with an exchange of correspondence between Sir Sydney Roberts, the independent chairman of the Films Council and the president of the BOT, Edward Heath, in which the Minister declares he is giving careful consideration to the main recommendations about the desirability in principle — subject to its practicability — of more competition in the exhibition of films. And that he would also be consulting appropriate industry bodies about the application of the other recommendations.

Sir Sydney's letter to the Minister also quotes a Films Council resolution which urged the BOT to examine the feasibility of taking all practicable measures to increase competition in exhibition.

White Paper in 4 Sections

The White Paper is divided into four sections, starting with an exhaustive analysis of the events that led to the present situation, followed by a summary of complaints and allegations and an outline of the remedies proposed to the Films Council's investigating sub-committee. The final section is devoted to actual conclusions and recommendations.

First part of the report pinpoints the widespread closure of theatres from 4,609 in 1952, when paid admissions ran to 1,312,000,000 a year, to 2,429 hardtops in 1962, by which time admissions had dwindled to 415,000,000. That had affected the balance of power of cinemas owned by the circuits, which had increased from 28% in 1952 to 42% for 10 years later. The two majors, Rank and ABC, had increased their share in that period from 20% to 26%. Additionally, it was re-affirmed that the two majors now control about 41% of the total seats in the country, against 33% in 1952.

One of the major complaints put to the investigating committee was that the amalgamation of the Odeon and Gaumont circuits and the decline in the number of independent theatres had increased the relative power of Rank and ABC to the detriment of producers and competing exhibitors. It was suggested that the dominance of the two circuits conferred too much power on the two corporations to decide which films should have a chance to succeed and that the lack of real competition between them reduced potential returns to the producers.

It was also alleged that the majors reserved the best exhibition dates for product in which they had an interest, leaving the inferior dates for other distributors. There were also many complaints in regard to extended barring practices, particularly in relation to 70m films.

Remedy to Cut Power of Majors

Among the remedies suggested to the Films Council were two designed to reduce the booking power and growing dominance of the two majors. Both have previously been published, but for the record the first recommended that circuits should be re-organized for booking purposes into local area groups of not more than 25 each, with a local booker picking the product, under the supervision of an independent tribunal. The second proposed that Rank and ABC should be required to dispose of theatres in the London area which were redundant to their own release to a third party, possibly the National Film Finance Corp. It was estimated there were 30 such theatres, and with an unspecified number from other circuits such as Granada and Essoldo, as well as independent situations, there would be the nucleus of a useful third outlet.

The first proposal was rejected by the Council because it had to recognize that without the "prospect of a major circuit release it would be difficult, if not impossible, to finance the production of a first feature film." On the other hand, the Council felt there was much to be said for co-operative booking by substantial groups of independent cinemas, and urged that the Kinematograph Renters Society should be asked to give positive encouragement to such arrangements.

Big Third Release Issue

On the third release issue, the report regrets the breakdown of the negotiations and felt that with a more generous attitude on the part of the circuits, major and minor, something might have been achieved. It recognized the shortage of product, but had been told that at present there were too many films for two and not enough for three releases. If however, a solid third release, and thus an additional basis for finance, could be established, it was thought possible that production might be increased and the indie producers given a widespread range of potential support.

In its summing up, the White Paper endorses the view that the major circuits have a giant's strength and asks the question: "is there any danger of their using it as a tyrant?" Two things are clear, it adds: (1) that the growth of Rank and ABC has been of great value to the stability of the film industry; (2) that the danger inherent in this growth lies not only in the size of their circuits but also in the fact that each of them combines the function of producer, distributor and exhibitor. Sir Sydney Roberts' letter to the Minister draws attention, however, to the fact that certain members of the Films Council disassociate themselves from certain statements in that observation.

Reason For 3d Release Setup

The report also says that it may be regrettable that in the present circumstances of the industry producers should, for the most part, be dependent for finance upon Rank or ABC, or upon American companies. To this it may well be replied that it is fortunate for the industry that these sources are available; but the fact remains that the two combines naturally give preference to films in which they have a financial interest, with a result that the independent producer may be faced with a long delay in release. And consequently in obtaining funds for fresh production. It is these considerations that led the Council to place particular emphasis on renewed efforts to establish an adequate third release.

Although suggesting that the future of the industry is uncertain, the Council believes that since it is a creative industry it has a future—perhaps of contracted range from the commercial point of view. But still it's a range within which new ideas and new formats of presentation could be developed.

First All-Purpose Fun Centre Bows in Scotland; Has Bingo, Plans Rassling

Lochgelly, Scotland, March 31.

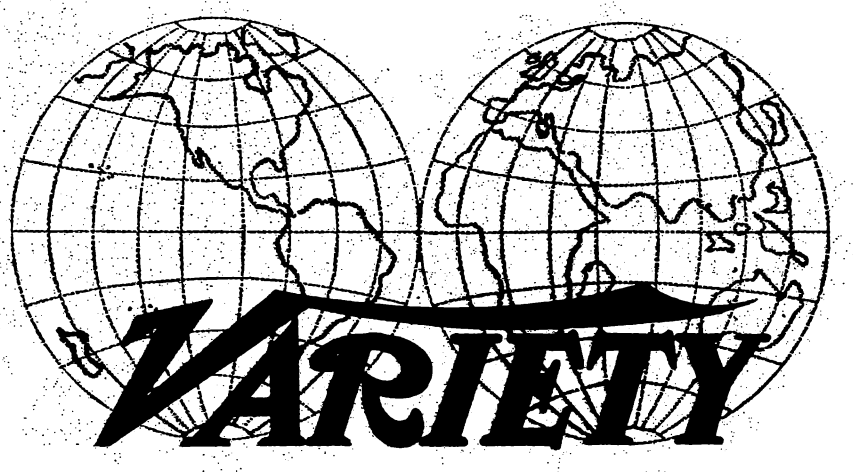
Scotland's first all-purpose entertainment centre opened here tonight (Tues.) in the former Cinema de Luxe, owned by local exhib Joe Timmons.

New building, transformed from its former cinema interior, has a modern dance floor, refreshment bars, and a new hall and foyer. Despite removal of seats to allow for alterations, the seating capacity (for stage shows, films, etc.) remains at 800.

Comedian Jack Radcliffe topped the layout at opening gala night, with Jimmy Blair's band and singer David Kinnaird.

Along with vaude shows and films, Timmons also hopes to stage wrestling matches. Bingo, first featured in the district at the Cinema de Luxe, is continuing.

GROWING FILM INDUSTRY ALMOST AS INTERNATIONAL AS THE UNITED NATIONS



Nations with Film-Producing Industries

Argentina	Great Britain	Philippines
Austria	Greece	Poland
Belgium	Hong Kong	Red China
Brazil	India	Roumania
Canada	Israel	South Africa
Cuba	Italy	Soviet Union
Czechoslovakia	Japan	Spain
Denmark	Malaysia	Sweden
Egypt	Mexico	Switzerland
Finland	Morocco	Taiwan
France	Netherlands	Turkey
E. Germany	Norway	United States
W. Germany	Pakistan	Yugoslavia

The sweeping panorama of all this multi-cultural, polyglot activity, with its generation of export and import values, will again be brought to vivid reality by a special issue whose appearance coincides with the first of the big summer film festivals in Europe.

Make Your Space Reservations Pronto
Prepare Your Advertising Tout de Suite

7th ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL FILM EDITION OF

Variety is read Wherever Films are Produced Usual Advertising Rates Apply

NEW YORK 10036 154 West 46th St.
LONDON S.W.1 49 St. James's St. Piccadilly
PARIS 80 Ave. de Neuilly Neuilly-sur-Seine
ROME 3 Via Sardegna 43
TOKYO Press Club
BERLIN Ernst Strasse 1 Lichterfelde, West Germany
MADRID 16 Avda. de la Habana 86

International Sound Track

London

Peggy Mount inked by Woodfall Films for a key role in "One Way Pendulum," now rolling at Twickenham Studios. Pic, which is based on the N. F. Simpson play, is being produced by Michael Deeley, directed by Peter Yates, and is for release through United Artists. Starring roles are being filled by Eric Sykes, George Cole. Jonathan Miller, Alison Leggatt, Julia Foster and Mona Washbourne . . . A promotional tieup between Odeon and Gaumont Theatres and Lyons Quick Brew Tea, is to start next month and will be linked as a start with the opening of "The Fall of the Roman Empire." The Lyons outfit has bought 20,000 Odeon and Gaumont tickets which will be awarded to housewives in a contest in which they have to name in order of importance eight good reasons why people enjoy the cinema. The first three prizewinners will get a fortnight's holiday in Spain, presented by the Rank Organization . . . And yet another film festival. The fifth International Industrial Film Fest, which will run in London for five days starting Nov. 2, is being supported by 16 countries. The 15 British contenders are being picked from about 200 entries . . . A special "Chalk Garden" gown, designed by Julie Harris, is being shipped to Hollywood for a gala fashion show.

Paris

Arthur Miller caught a private screening of Stanley Kubrick's "Dr. Strangelove or How I Stopped Worrying and Learned to Love the Bomb" (Col), ha'd all through it, then said he was glad to feel alive after it. Pic comes out here April 15 . . . Jean Schmidt prepping a pic to be based on Yank piano player Bud Powell "The Bud Powell Story" and looking for an American Negro thesp. Powell has been here several years and is recovering in a TB sanitorium. Film would cover mainly his Paris days . . . Simone Signoret finished a disk in which she reads the late Jean Cocteau's "The Human Voice," about a woman given the air over the phone by her lover, before heading for Greece for a starring role in "Zorba the Greek" (20th) . . . French all singing pic "Les Parapluies De Cherbourg" (Umbrellas of Cherbourg) will probably be the French entry at the Karlovy Vary Film Fest in Czechoslavakia next July . . . Newshen France Roche, who penned the script of a French pic "La Chasse A L'Homme" (Manhunt), now shooting exteriors in Greece, tried to do a story on it by overlooking she did the script, but found herself, instead, pushed into bit parts when everybody turned seasick on a boat in which they were shooting. Edouard Molinaro directs . . . Andre Hakim's next pic production for 20th-Fox release worldwide, after "La Bonne Soupe," is based on the Marcel Achard play"Patate." Like for "Soupe," Robert Thomas is adapting and directing. Jean Marais, Pierre Dux, Danielle Darrieux and Anne Vernon are cast and a search is on for a 19-year-old girl . . . Singer-composer Charles Aznavour back from his recordbreaking singing tour in Russia and then off for a U.S. stint and then back here to continue his pic acting career with two pix lined up. In May he plays a secret service agent in "The Adventures of San-Antonio" and then a man who gives some of his bone marrow to Yugoslav scientists suffering from radiation in "A Dav Like Another" to be directed by Georges Lampin . . . Romy Schneider may do a play again here after her coming stint in H. G. Clouzot's pic "Hell." She would do Strindberg's "Miss Julie". . Prix Jean Vigo, critic's prize, going to Robert Enrico's first pic "La Belle Vie" (The Good Life) which had a short firstrun here . . . Some producers feel that May is a bad date for the Cannes Fest since releases can not be held up. They still feel late December would be better. But Cannes would not hear of it since sun and sand are integral parts of event . . . Irwin Marks named assistant to UA Continental and Near East manager Norbert Auerbach . . . Governmental Centre Du Cinema will give special loans to favor the building of hardtops in the new residential centres springing up around France and especially Paris. This emphasizes the changing pattern of firstrun that will also encompass outlying districts . . . Simone Signoret may later do "Cheri" with Alain Delon under the direction of Tony Richardson . . . Yves Montand is set to come back to pix with the first film of tv director Jean-Christophe Averty "Coustarache". . Alain Resnais having trouble with his producers over the script of his next "The Adventures of Harry Dickson."

Rome

Pietro Germi, whose "Seduced and Abandoned" (Vides) is Italy's official Cannes entry, is Cannes vet, with five previous pix of his in running at event over past decade or so: "Cammino della Speranza," "Brigante di Tacca del Lupo," "Ferroviere," "Uomo di Paglia," and "Divorce, Italian Style"; last-named won a prize at Riviera gathering . . . Eduardo de Filippo has scripted "Marriage, Italian Style" which starts early in April in Naples for Ponti-Levine, basing it on his own hit stage play, "Filumena Marturano," written originally as starrer for his late sister, Titina . . . and since reprised over Italy's telenet, RAI-TV . . . New ending being shot for Carlo Ponti's "Ape Woman," with Marco Ferreri directing Ugo Tognazzi and Annie Giradot in new Naples-set wind-up scenes; Italian audiences have seen original ending, which for a while was out short by Ponti, then re-instated . . . Miss Giradot does "La Ragazza in Prestito" (A Girl on Loan) for director Alfredo Giannetti next.

Registered at ANICA title bureau: "Oggi, Domani, a Dopodomani" (Today, Tomorrow, and Day After Tomorrow), which Carlo Ponti's Champion Films apparently has in mind . . . still on titles: after snappy local b.o. results for Metro's "The Prize" ($35,000 in first 3 days) (titled "Intrigue in Stockholm" for Italo run), comes announcement that latest Jean Gabin release here will be called "Intrigue in Paris" by FIDA, its local distribs.

The opposition: latest figures show RAI-TV's video subscription totals have reached 4,700,000 . . . Head-'em off at the Colosseum dept: a Rome Studio, Helios Films, is building a western street to jump on the current European oater boom . . ."I Mostri" (The Monsters), produced by Fairfilm & featuring Ugo Tognazzi and Vittorio Gassmann, has been invited to Buenos Aires Fest; "I Compagni" (Vides) is official Italo entry . . . George Sherman here to prep Italo-Spanish item, "Joaquin Murieta". . RAI-TV featuring a series of Italian Resistance films, leading off with "Paisan"; also series on U.S. gangster cycle of the '30s ("G-Men," etc.), plus another dedicated to Ingrid Bergman starrers . . . Ray Danton here to start two "Sandokan" adventure items for Ottavio Poggi's Leer Films; Luigi Capuana directs, Guy Madison, Franca Bettoja co-featured.

Maleno Malenotti prepping "La Passione" (Passion) from story by Brunello Rondi, which Rondi would direct . . ."The Last Gun" is new title for Cameron Mitchell western (originally called "Jim the First") thesp espects to start here soon for Rasfilm . . . Dino DeLaurentiis reportedly screened material shot by Alberto Sordi against Rio Carnival backdrop for upcoming feature; Sordi just back from S. American stay . . . Giuseppe Patroni Griffi prepping his second feature, to be based on life of Emperor Caligula . . . Marcelli Baldi has gunned "Saul and David" at Cinecitta'. . . Documento follows up "High Infidelity" with another episoder "I Complessi" (Complexes), with segments contributed by Franco Rossi, Antonio Pietrangeli, and Mario Monice.

Ingmar Bergman's "The Silence" has passed the Italo censor with minor cuts, gets mid-April release in Rome; local trimmings said to approximate those in U.S. version . . . Dear Films' 20th's division re-releasing five oldies: "Love Is Many Splendored Thing," "Broken Lance," Jesse James," "The Tall Men," and "The Rains of Ranchipur"

Institute on Films

Belgrade, March 24.

An Institute on Film has been founded here recently to seek improvement in the work of Yugoslavian film technicians.

In addition, the Institute will deal with the film scientific research phase of motion picture production and reproductive cinamatography, plus the systematic collection of domestic and foreign film documentaries.

Summer Festivals Threaten Italian Opera Season

Milan, March 31.

Again, as in January 1960, Italy's state backed opera-houses have been silenced. Some 4,000 musicians, stage hands, singers and dancers went on strike because the trade unions asked for 20% raise in their basic pay and improved over-time compensation. La Scala cancelled the scheduled Palm Sunday night performance of Arrigo Boito's "Mefistofele," the opera in Rome cancelled its "Boheme" and the San Carlo Theatre in Naples, its "Carmen." Talks with union representatives continued in Rome, called by the Minister for Tourism and Entertainment, Achille Corona.

Apart from a shortened regular opera season, the conflict affects also the summer season and Festivals of such houses as the opera in Florence where important rehearsals are to begin shortly for the May Festival and the open air opera in Rome's ancient theatre Terme di Caracalla and the Arena in Verona.

Italy gives $12,000,000 (estimated) in opera subsidies, although exact figures have never been disclosed because contributions are paid at the end of the fiscal years, whereas the hard pressed theatres, needing the payroll, seek bank loans with a state guarantee of repayment (at 8% interest).

Filipino Pix Producers To Contact 27 Nations

Manila, March 24.

The local film producers association (PMPPA) has established liaison with 27 film-producing countries all over the world. "The purpose," according to PMPPA Secretary Ben Pinga, "is to get vital information regarding other countries' film industries."

Following recent studies made by the PMPPA, the following recommendations were made:

1. Considering the present unfavorable situation of the film industry here, it would be wise to exploit foreign markets intensively, particularly the tele market.

2. The PMPPA should adopt a long-range program in exhibiting films abroad at trade festivals.

3. International relations should be maintained more vigorously.

J. English Smith, an executive of General Film Laboratories, was here recently to visit the studios of FAME, Inc.

ONE WAY TO BEAT CREDITORS

Hungarian Composer Uses Novel Means of Avoiding 100G in Debts

Vienna, March 31.

Composer Janos Valent, 45, Hungarian exile, with the sideline of wholesale-merchant of vegetables, not only tricked his business associates out of $100,000, but also managed to arrange the most spectacular escape. Valent was released on bail after charges of fraud had been brought against him.

Valent induced his creditors to permit him to fly to Budapest for the preem of his "Symphony of the Great Hungarian Plains." This apparently was the only truth he told them.

On the day of the preem, he arrived at the Schwestat airfield. And somehow or other he managed to get on board a plane flying to Zurich. He now is on his way to South America, according to the report issued by police headquarters. The preem in Budapest was canceled.

LADS 'N' LASSES WAIL

Horrid Weekends in Scot Village Sans Cinema

Tain, March 31.

Young filmgoers in this Scottish village signed a petition calling on the management to keep the town's cinema open. More than 80 of them attended a public meeting called to raise support to carry on the cinema. Known at Tain Picture House, it has been shuttered by the owners, Caledonian Associated Cinemas.

The young people formed a committee to examine prospects of reopening. Two local organizations, the British Legion and the Amenities Association, will be asked to help finance the scheme.

In their petition, the town's young residents said: "If this cinema is closed, most of the children in town will have nothing to do at week-ends. The age of the children is from 12 to 17 years, and we don't want to hang around the streets as others do."

Spain & Morocco Swap Pix, TV, AM

Madrid, March 31.

Spain and Morocco will cooperate actively in the field of cinema, television, and radio according to the terms of an agreement signed last week by Spain's Information Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne and his Moroccan counterpart Muley Ahmed Alaui.

Film section of the pact opens the way for reciprocal importation of films in original version, exchange of cultural and scientific pics and the eventual interchange of newsreel footage.

During official talks, Uniespana chiefs reached preliminary agreement with Moroccan authorities to set up a partnership film distribution company for the release of Spanish pics in Morocco as an initial step toward expansion in North Africa and the African continent.

The pact also authorizes Spain to relay Eurovision across the Mediterranean to Morocco and exchange program material for small screen audiences in both countries. A radio and television delegate will be assigned to Madrid and Rabat to develop areas of cooperative activity.

Agreement also covers tourism and information. Immediate results of ceremonies in Madrid is the elimination of visas for travel between the two nations strengthening of information contacts

Toho Shooting Pair Of Films In Hawaii

Honolulu, March 31.

Toho Studios of Japan will make two color films here this summer, "Hawaii no Kisetsu" and "Ekimae Ondo." Decision reflects the b.o. draw of four films Toho made in the islands last year.

First of the two films will get under way in June or July, coincidental with the opening of the $1,000,000 Toho theatre, going up on a site between downtown and Waikiki.

German Bakers Seek Culture for Members

Frankfurt, March 24.

Pity the poor baker! He has to get up at four in the morning to heat the ovens for the morning "broetchen" (little breads) or the buns which are delivered to nearly every German home early in the morning. As a result his culture is lacking.

The poor bakers are unable to go to the stage performances at night, attend the cinema or even to watch the later tele programs because they have to get up so early.

Survey revealed that bakers' helpers are ruining their health and letting their culture drop below the dough-level. Hence, the bakers' union has protested, asking that the bakers come to work no earlier than 6 a.m.

Nearly All Firstruns in Sydney, Aussie Key City, Now Hardticket

Sydney, March 24.

Presently in this key city, there is only one weekly-change house. The others are hardticket or semi-hardticket operations. The day of the family price cinema has faded from the Aussie scene or at least in Sydney. Even the foreign language cinemas are operating with upped admissions. Key suburban cinemas likewise have upped admissions to $1.75, with the top city firstruns hitting as high as $3.

Current hardticket pix here include "Celopatra" (20th), "Lawrence of Arabia" (Col), "55 Days at Peking" (AA), "Great Escape" (UA), "Brothers Grimm" (MGM), "Irma La Duce" (UA) and "8½" (Col). Semi-hardtickets are "Yum Yum Tree" (Col), "Love With Proper Stranger" (Par), "Gathering of Eagles" (U) and "Take Her, She's Mine" (20th).

Figuring by distributors here is that with the Aussie keys swinging strictly to hardticket, the revenue intake will show a great upswing after a downbeat with run-of-mill pix. One report is that on many films routed to this territory print, costs have not been recovered by distributors; hence, the reason for so much red showing with minor product. Another headache, long facing distribs is a 25% right of rejection played to the limit by the local exhibs who are only interested in buying big pix, even at 60% of the gross, and scrapping other contract product via that right of rejection.

The Aussie cinema patron is willing to pay high admissions for class product, refusing to buy ordinary fare at any price. This is back of current trend by distributors and the major loops to educate the public that a night at the cinema is now equal to a night at a legitimate theatre even if at legit ducat scales.

Hardest hit today in this territory is the indie suburban exhibitor fighting to win family trade with run-of-the-mill pix. Some indie exhibitors point out that by the time the big pix come his way, the product has lost its drawing power. The indie man also is faced with opposition from sporting clubs with gambling machines and 16m pix, and some hotels building up their beer biz with flesh-and-blood shows.

Many show biz toppers here figure that before very long suburban cinemas will cease to operate. Right now the shutters are going up each week, even theatres hooked to such key circuits as Greater Union Theatres and Hoyts also are closing.

Joe Fryd Gets World Release on 'Amore'

Rome, March 31.

Joseph Fryd has secured worldwide release rights to the new Italo episoder, "Amore in Four Dimensioni" (Love in Four Dimensions), which is about to get its local release. Adelphi produced. Also on the Fryd agenda are "An Italian in Warsaw," comedy shot in Poland with Italo thesp Antonio Ciffariello and a 13-pic tele series.

Latter is via a deal just inked in Rome with Southern Cross which calls for films to be lensed in Italy with a Yank principal in each of the 13 segments. Antonio Margheriti directs, with the start expeced late in June. Fryd retains release of telepix in Italy and Germany. Southern Cross holds the remainder of the world.

Glasgow's Show Biz Center

Glasgow, March 24.

A start is likely to be made before December on the construction of the city's new multi-million-dollar Culture Center, replacing the burned-out St. Andrews Hall, razed to the ground in October 1962. Plans include a main concert hall, small theatre, exhibition hall, and, in a separate building, the new Glasgow Citizens' Theatre.

The concert auditorium will have seating capacity for 2,000 customers, and the new Citizens' Theatre will house about 1,000 payees. City treasurer, Richard Buchanan, said the new Center must take into account changing habits, a higher standard of living, the better use of more leisure time and a growing appreciation of the arts.

Labor Unions and Theatre Operators May Mess Up British Toll Start

By HAROLD MYERS

London, March 31.

Independent action by exhibitors and the unions is threatening the launching of Britain's pay television service, due to start this autumn in several test areas in London and the provinces, for a three years' trial run.

The five companies who have been awarded franchises, but which have not yet received their license agreements, have been called to a crucial meeting by post office officials tomorrow (Wed.). It is expected that they will be told of the decisions made at a recent secret meeting of the Cinematograph Films Council, the statutory body appointed by the President of the Board of Trade to advise on film industry affairs.

Although the Postmaster General indicated when the licenses were first awarded that toll operators would be subject to the theatrical quota regulations, and would be obliged to have a minimum of 30% British programming the Films Council has recommended otherwise. By a unanimous vote the Council has informed the Board of Trade president that the quota should be nearer the commercial tv figure of 86%.

The Council also made recommendations to protect the interest of independent exhibs, who fear that the advent of payvision could put them out of business. It was suggested, therefore, that tollvision contractors should compensate picture theatres for loss of business, including a total shutdown.

And just to make the lot of the payvision companies tougher, it was recommended that they should contribute to the statutory Eady fund in the same way as picture theatres.

While it is conceded that there is a big gap between a Films Council recommendation and a statutory ruling, the payvision companies are concerned at the pressures being applied from various quarters in the film industry, which threaten to put them out of business before they can get started. There has already been comment to the effect that it would be economically impossible to launch a service if hampered by so many restrictions and some of the companies would threaten to pull out.

Plans for launching the service are also being suggested for the transmission of current film releases. It is understood that an independent exhib campaign for a six months' time lag between general release and pay-tv transmission is gaining ground and such a clause may be written into the agreement.

To co-ordinate their campaign, independent theatremen are setting up a defence committee within the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association, to continue the fight against pay-tv. This committee is known as the Independent Exhibitors Defence Committee (INDEC), and although there has been a public announcement, there has been no mention of any names.

Eddie Fisher

Continued from page 3

filmusical, has James Cagney in mind for the lead role created by the late James Barton. Fisher will play the Spaniard, originally done by Tony Bavaar. The legit femme lead was originally Olga San Juan. Attorney Greg Bautzer handled the details.

Fisher must do this one within a year, per contract, but is also working on "The Goufe Case," a German novel with a French setting, for which Natalie Wood is set. Joachim Maas wrote it. It's based on a real-life wierdie whodunit and will be shot partly in Marseilles and Paris. "Painted Wagon" will be filmed in New Mexico. Alain Delon may be Miss Wood's male lead.

"Eddie Fisher Sings the Words of Alan Jay Lerner" was the third project the singer wound up in New York—an album for his own Ramrod label.

Warner Bros. purchased "The Other Charles," unpublished novel by Joseph Hayes, and assigned property to Sinatra Enterprises to film, with Sinatra likely to star.

Natural Pair

Honolulu, March 31.

Titles of a Queen Theatre double bill:

"Love With the Proper Stranger" — "Who's Been Sleeping in My Bed."

63 Keys Taking '500' Via Cable

Closed-circuit telecast by MCA-TV of the Indianapolis "500" Mile Race has been set in 63 key cities according to sales chief Richard Graff. Other locations are being finalized.

Theatre chains that have set the telecast to date, and cities involved, include Balabank & Katz Theatres (Chicago, Rockford, Evanston), Blumenfield Theatres (Oakland), California-Paramount (Frisco), Cinedome (Fresno), Essaness (Chicago), Famous Players (Canada), Fruchtman (Baltimore), Intermountain (Salt Lake City), Interstate (Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio), Loew's (Akron, New Orleans, Atlanta), Madison-20th Century (Madison, Wisc.), George Mann (Eureka, Modesta, Calif.), E. D. Martin (Columbus, Ga., Nashville, Chattanooga), Metropolitan (L.A.).

National General Corp. (Long Beach, Kansas City, Mo., L.A., Sacramento, San Diego), Nederlander (Detroit, Dearborn), RKO (Frisco, Davenport), Skirball (Toledo), Stanley Warner (L.A., Chicago, Erie, Pa., Youngstown, Ohio), United Detroit (Detroit), Wilbey Kincey (Atlanta, Birmingham), Wisper & Wetsman (Detroit) and Wolfberg (Denver).

Large sports arenas that have contracted for the telecast include Boston Garden, Boston; Civic Center, Baltimore; Civic Arena, Pittsburgh; Cobo Arena Hall, Detroit; Convention Hall, Philadelphia; Hippodrome, Minneapolis; Sam Houston Coliseum, Houston; International Amphitheatre, Chicago; Kiel Auditorium, St. Louis; Long Beach Sports Arena, Long Beach; L.A. Sports Arena, L.A.; Memorial Coliseum, Portland; Milwaukee Arena Milwaukee; State Fairgrounds, Dallas; Sports Arena, Hershey, Pa.; War Memorial, Rochester, N.Y.

Arenas and auditoriums also carrying the event have been set in Albuquerque, N.M.; Austin, Texas; Charleston, W.Va.; Colorado Springs; Corpus Christi, Texas; Denver; Fresno; Grand Rapids; Greensboro, N.C.; Hempstead, Long Island; Jacksonville, Fla.; Little Rock; Memphis; Miami; Miami Beach; Pasadena; Reading, Pa.; San Bernardino; San Diego; San Jose; Santa Monica; Santa Rosa; Seattle; Shreveport, La.; Spokane; and Stockton, Calif.

Calgary's Nose Blue

Calgary, Alta., March 31.

Calgary Film Society's efforts to have the provincial government lift censorship from "adult only" type films (VARIETY, Feb. 11) have failed.

The society had asked that a new "X" category be set up in Alberta, the category to be for adults only and not subject to censorship.

Provincial Secretary Ambrose Holowach, the cabinet minister responsible for censors, replied by letter, saying the government is unwilling to make the changes.

Paul Schau, a society director, said the group was "very disappointed." He declared it had "tried to follow the reasonable course in solving this problem. Our concern is to save good films from censorship, and we hoped this would be one way of doing it."

The society had high-level support for its position.

At a Calgary forum on censorship last October, Col. P. J. A. Fleming, chief censor, said he had no objection to a restricted classification. "I think it is required," he said, "but it is not my job to decide. I merely follow policy."

ADD'S CLOSED-CIRCUIT TEACHING-BY-DOING

Widening uses of closed circuit tv are demonstrated by a plan presently in operation aboard the hospital ship S.S. Hope, now anchored off Guayaquil, Ecuador. Over 115 U.S. medical personnel are teaching and training Ecuadorian counterparts in medical procedure followed in the States. One of their major tools is a closed circuit tv set up donated by Theatre Network Television.

The tv operation is used for a teaching-by-doing program. Lack of space aboard ship limits the number of foreign medical people who can see what is going on in the operating room in person. With the closed circuit arrangement, up to 100 doctors, nurses and technical personnel located in an adjacent lecture room can follow every step of an operation while listening to explanations in Spanish.

The Project Hope medical staff has performed over 4,000 major operations so far in Indonesia, South Vietnam and Peru and has trained nearly 2,000 personnel in these countries. The use of closed circuit tv is now enabling a much-increased reach, as the Ecuadorian experiment has proven.

The project itself was formed in 1958 and obtained a former Navy hospital ship from mothball fleet. This ship has been visiting medically-depressed areas, training new doctors, technicians et al. To date over 600 members of the medical profession have served aboard the S.S. Hope. Over 800 U.S. companies have donated in excess of $4,000,000 worth of products to equip the vessel.

Liz's Corp.

Continued from page 5

and negatives of "Cleopatra" presently in 20th-Fox possession, and that he also take possession of all funds thus far collected from film's release and hold until further order of the court.

In asking for declaratory judgment on MCL's distribution pact with 20th-Fox, complaint charged that defendant had refused to recognize MCL's ownership in film or to comply with its obligations to MCL. This arrangement, according to action, which originally was based upon terms calling for 20th to hold 55% interest, MCL 35% and 10% to go to a Swiss corporation, Walwa Films, S.A., provided for MCL to receive 6-2/3% of the first $7,500,000 of gross receipts and 10% of such gross receipts in excess of this figure. Suit asks that 20th-Fox be ordered by court to pay all sums due under this distribution agreement.

Can't See Her (or it)

Twentieth-Fox, according to suit, had steadily refused to recognize plaintiff as a corporation and the validity of the distribution pact, and refused access to financial information relative to picture. Company also had made decisions, according to complaint, which were "solely within the province of the producer and not the defendant," the complaint holding that MCL was producer of the film. MCL also had been refused to permit MCL —which held a joint production agreement with Walwa—to produce location scenes in Spain.

Defendant likewise, suit claimed, had made public statements that payments which 20th had agreed to make to MCL under its distribution pact "were in fact payments to be made by defendant to Elizabeth Taylor, one of the shareholders of plaintiff."

Action further charged that 20th-Fox contended that its distribution agreement was invaded and unenforceable by plaintiff on grounds that Miss Taylor, one of the individual shareholders of MCL, breached her obligations under her pact with 20th-Fox and by such breach of contract "caused defendant damages, sufficient in amount so that defendant claims not to be obligated to make any payment" under its distribution agreement with plaintiff. This is disputed in the action.

Inside Stuff—Pictures

The Feb. 25 death of Grace Metalious whose "Peyton Place" and "Return to Peyton Place," both were made into films by the late Jerry Wald, has resulted in an opinion by the N. H. Supreme Court that New Hampshire's body disposal laws are "inadequate" and there is an "urgent need" to reappraise them. In a death bed will signed in the Boston hospital where she succumbed, Mrs. Metalious left her body to medical science. But her offer was rejected by medical schools. Also she specified that there were to be no funeral services, but the New Hampshire Court ruled against this proviso. She was a loser on still another count! She left her fortune to a British journalist living in Boston and her collaborator on a new book but he renounced the bequest in favor of her kin.

Washington newsmen Fletcher Knebel and Charles Bailey II, have had a flat turndown "for the time being" on film rights to their new fiction effort "Convention." It is seen as a conflict with United Artists' "The Best Man," based on Gore Vidal's Broadway play. Both works are set at a national political convention and the stories concern the battle for the Presidetial nominaion between good guys and bad guys. Harper & Row, publishers of "Convention" and agents for the film rights, were told to return to Hollywood for reconsideration in a couple of years.

Georgia's Gov. Carl Sanders recently transferred more than $50,000 from his emergency funds to bail out a motion picture venture that was supposed to be supported by industrial contributions. Quarrels have surrounded film, titled "Susan Hayward Invites You to Georgia," ever since it was proposed. It is being produced by Tommy Reynolds Production. Last July a trade association complained the state was putting "pressure" on it and other organizations to help raise $110,000 needed to make picture. Atlanta and Georgia Chambers of Commerce did not contribute.

Flying time between N.Y. and San Francisco gets to be shorter and shorter. The other day a plane, because of a favorable tailwinds, arrived 40 minutes before the scheduled time. The passengers remained seated after landing in spite of the air hostess' request to debark. Reason: during the flight a picture had been shown (Rock Hudson's "Man's Favorite Sport") and the plane had landed before the picture had ended.

Union Cash Demands Crimp Hope For Telemeter Repeating Its 'Showgirl'

When Telemeter, Paramount's tollvision subsid, taped the Broadway musical "Showgirl" a season ago it was at considerable expense and the showing via Telemeter's Toronto system didn't begin to recoup that outlay, although it was a mild success. With the click on Broadway this season of "Hello Dolly," which also stars Carol Channing, Telemeter has been considering bringing back "Showgirl" but the reprise has been hampered by union demands for additional payments for each new showing.

The "Showgirl" presentation originally cost in the neighborhood of $90,000 to produce for tollvision. In its initial, and only in fact, showing in Toronto, it took in nearly $6,000 which obviously leaves a lot of recoupment coin still to be made. With Miss Channing's estimated renewed sales potential this year via "Dolly," Telemeter has wanted to re-show "Showgirl" in Toronto and possibly make a deal for its telecast over the RKO-General system. Also a possibility was an offer of the item to National General for its toll system.

A snafu has developed via a union demand that Telemeter pay $16,000 in additional fees every time the presentation is aired again. This immediately makes the plan to reprise the package prohibitive, according to Telemeter thinking, since such a levy would virtually defeat the grossing potential of the return engagement. What has happened now is, in effect, a standoff. Telemeter refuses to pay the additional coin and the union insists it be paid.

Par prez Barney Balaban has long been a bit bugged by the fact that the "Showgirl" project is a deficit operation. The plan to reshow it in Toronto and peddle it to other toll outfits was geared to offset this unpleasant situation. However, as long as union demands for additional payment are maintained, it is unlikely that "Showgirl" will again see the light of the tube.

Shares With Workers

Hollywood, March 31.

Hanna-Barbera cartoonery has its own way of expressing its gratitude to employees. Firm will share its profits with personnel "as long as financial curcumstances of the company permits," according to William Hanna and Joseph Barbera.

Initial payments will be made before Dec. 31. Letter to each employee said, "this is our way of saying thank you to the people who have contributed so much to the growth and success of the company."

$679,400 Deposit For Phone Lines

Hollywood, March 31.

A check in the amount of $679,400 will be deposited by Subscription TV with Pacific Tel & Tel as a guarantee against installation costs of the tollvee concern's initial L.A. operation which Bell subsid will service. This developed last week during a California State Public Utilities Commission hearing on proposed pact between program and lines firms.

Federal Tariff Engineer Charles R. Gondak made disclosure by way of assuring Commissioner William Bennett and Examiner Thomas Dailey that should the feevee operation abort, phone stockholders wouldn't be out of pocket. Essence of presentation made by PT&T, as guided by attorney George Sears, was that service could be extended on a fiscally sound basis without affecting company's regular service to customers.

Tollsters propose to launch a three-channel, closed-circuit home operation July 1 in a three-square mile west-central L.A. area. A second hearing will be held this week before Commission in San Francisco where STV also plans to open shop in near future.

Murray Kaplan to 20th, After Bronston Switch

Murray Kaplan, formerly a member of Samuel Bronston Productions' sales org, has joined the 20th-Fox homeoffice domestic sales staff.

According to domestic sales veep Joe Sugar, Kaplan will be assigned specific duties at 20th later.

SEE TOLL SYSTEMS GOING AIRBORNE

Los Angeles, March 31.

Subscription tv utilizing the air will probably be the ultimate method for pay-tv, rather than the cable system. Such is belief of Dr. Robert Ramsay, exec director of recently-formed Academy for Subscription Television.

Ramsay has pledged support of Academy, however, to cable or any other subscription system, as long it gives public the right to decide whether or not it wants subscription tv.

TV'S DAN, DICK AND BARRY

Buying Spree Of the Big Three

As in the past few seasons, next year's tv network buying pace has been set by the "Big Three" of Dan (Seymour of JWT), Dick (Pinkham of Ted Bates) and (Y&R's Bud) Barry. All told, the powerful trio have placed, thus far, 106 weekly prime time minutes for next season (three-fourths of a network).

But their network stripes remain unchanged .

Perhaps the most striking feature of their buying patterns lies not in their No. 1 web choices, but in each case the virtual non-patronage of one of the networks.

Thus NBC is low network on Pinkham's list, with less than 10% of his business placed to date. CBS gets the wrong end of Seymour's stick; it has been awarded but 14% of the billings placed by tv's most affluent advertising agency. And Y&R's Bud Barry has once again underscored his opinion of ABC by placing 7½% of his lush billings with that network. On the other hand Barry is the No. 1 spender on CBS, where he places over two-thirds of his business.

Seymour maintains his NBC proclivities by placing 60% of his evening business on the RCA-owned web, with two-thirds of the overflow going to ABC. Seymour, it appears, will replace Pinkham as ABC's No. 1 customer. While Pinkham places over half of the Bates billings on CBS, he still qualifies as one of ABC's biggest spenders (second largest on CBS). Pinkham's NBC business is confined to the Colgate placement of an alternate half-hour of "Dr. Kildare" and an alternate minute on both the Wednesday and Saturday night movies.

Here are the varied ways in which the "Big Three" are placing their '64-'65 chips:

WEEKLY EVENING MINUTES BOUGHT

	CBS	NBC	ABC	Total
Seymour (JWT)	6.0	24.5	12.0	42.5
Barry (Y&R	26.0	9.0	3.0	38.0
Pinkham (Bates)	13.0	2.5	10.5	26.0
Total	45.0	36.0	25.5	106.5

More and More TV, Radio Giving Prominence to Distaff Journalist

For the distaff journalist, horizons in broadcasting appear to be broadening. The ladies are increasingly visible and audible fronting the hard news wraps in radio and tv that used to be reserved exclusively for the male staffers.

Femmes are so employed regularly at most of the Group W tv stations, and the Westinghouse chain is beating the bushes to fill the need for its Baltimore outlet. Over at the nets, ABC-TV has Lisa Howard doing a mid-afternoon strip ("News With a Woman's Touch"), and NBC has been in the act for some time by spotlighting its UN correspondent, Pauline Frederick, on five-minute radio wraps.

Not only Group W, but ABC also has the "help wanted" shingle out for another gal, and the stress is on "a good news background"—a femme "able to do what any man on this staff can do," per a news exec at the web. This means a woman who can both cover the beats and perform on-camera. Several aspirants have already had interviews, but the search goes on.

As it stands, only CBS among the networks is all-male, Nancy Dickerson having some time back made the switchover to NBC. She's without a newscasting berth, albeit active with cut-ins, and integrated with the net's election coverage team.

Expanding recognition of the newshen in radio and tv is, of course, a far cry from the longtime and far more extensive usage of distaffers by newspapers and magazines, harking back to such star byliners as Anne O'Hare McCormick, Dorothy Thompson, Helen Kirkpatrick, etc. Granting these were the heavyweights (figuratively), there

(Continued on page 58)

TV 'Finest Hour'—Maybe

That old stalwart gang from the socalled "golden age" of tv drama may be doing a comeback next year.

The projected reprise, via a 39-week anthology of hourlong drama billed "The Finest Hour," would involve producer-directors Worthington Miner, Fred Coe, Max Liebman, Robert Herridge and Robert Saudek. Ensemble is being repped in sponsor and network dickers by Directions in Marketing, Manhattan ad-promotion agency.

Failing a network ride for the 1965-66 season, the skein would go into syndication, according to DM creative director Jack Godler.

NABET Poised For ABC Walkout Fri.

NABET membership is in process of voting on the latest ABC contract proposal, with the tally slated to be disclosed on Friday (3). If it's nixed again, the union is authorized to stage a walkout as of 5 a.m. eastern time Saturday—barring a network [illegible] talks.

Latest package is understood to be substantially the same previously rejected by NABET, albeit this one does contain some modifications. Union reluctantly put the package to a vote after some prodding by Federal mediators.

NBC Recipient Of Adult Coin Splurge By Baby Food Co.

Gerber foods, via D'Arcy agency, has made its first buy of prime-time network tv with a bankroll of more than $2,000,000 for an alternate-week half-hour of NBC-TV's 90-minute comedy spread for next fall, "90 Bristol Court."

The baby food maker becomes the second "Bristol" sponsor with Coca-Cola, via McCann-Erickson, in earlier for a weekly minute. Network sales now reports that the Saturday and Sunday feature pix have been sold out along with Jack Paar on Friday nights. Mutual of Omaha last week renewed for another season its full sponsorship of the network's "Wild Kingdom," the Marlin Perkins show from the St. Louis Zoo.

Abbott Labs has joinel Benrus and Standard Brands in bankrolling the network's primary, convention and election coverage. The buy makes the primary coverage a sellout, with the pre-convention shows 75% sold and the election 60% sold.

General Cigar, with its greatly increased budget in the light of the post cig-cancer report cigar boom, has bought an alternate quarter hour of the Huntley-Brinkley half-hour news strip for $2,600,000, leaving only one alter-

(Continued on page 56)

THE PENALTIES OF ENMITIES

By GEORGE ROSEN

The 1964-65 selling season, now well past its peak with the bulk of bluechip budgets already committed, has shifted attention from the sellers (the network execs) to the buyers (the tv agency chiefs).

Whereas the network heads dominated center stage in the past few annual sales semesters, the agency tv factotums—who control the advertiser purse strings—are believed to be using their inherent "life and death" power to control a network's program structure and financial fortunes with more telling effect.

Thus the Dan Seymours (J. Walter Thompson), the Dick Pinkhams (Ted Bates) and the Bud Barrys (Young & Rubicam) — to name the biggest nighttime buyers of NBC, ABC and CBS respectively—loom as the decisive factors which will help "make or break" each of the three webs in the coming television season.

A comparative examination of the same statistical data—Nielsen ratings, clearances, costs—and a scrutiny of the identical program offerings make a Dan Seymour respond by becoming NBC's biggest customer when, at the same time, he fails to qualify as one of CBS' top 10 customers. (Seymour is ABC's fourth largest nighttime customer). A Bud Barry, looking at the same information but reacting to a different "relationship" to the execs of the webs involved, proves to be CBS' biggest evening customer, No. 2 at NBC and ninth at ABC. And a Dick Pinkham, whose objectivity is likewise conditioned by subjective "personality interrelationship" factors, winds up as ABC's largest customer, second most important on CBS and fails (despite the size of Ted Bates budgets) to qualify as one of NBC's 10 biggest nighttime spenders.

While such a ranking of agency patronage by networks is subject to an awareness of the actual sums involved (as for example the fact that Dick Pinkham, as Jim Aubrey's second best customer, spends over twice as much on CBS as he does on ABC, where he's the biggest spender), the listing sheds telling light not only on individual agency network preference (see box) but on the "chemistry" of the top execs who personify and implement the relationships.

And thus a "no man's land," if not an incipient or even semi-active hostility, between an Aubrey and a Seymour is thought to explain the telling fact that J. Walter Thompson, as the largest tv spender, has—in relation to its size — but "token" business on CBS. And why a rapport, which has replaced past rifts, between Aubrey and Barry—or at least Barry's clients such as General Foods, Proctor & Gamble, Drackett, etc. — accounts for Y & R sending tons of money each month from 285 to 485 Madison while a mere trickle finds its ways to ABC's 7 W. 66th St. precincts. Or why Pinkham sends a sizable chunk of his tv largesse from his sixth floor executive suite at 666 5th Ave. to 7 W. 66th St., over half of it to 485 Madison, but only an occasional "bone" to 30 Rock.

'I Remember When—'

Such instances — irrational as they may seem—are, in the view of insiders, rooted in fundamental causes that typically extend back into broadcast history and the lives of the agency protoganists involved. Thus a Dick Pinkham, who was one of Pat Weaver's top lieutenants at the "old" NBC, can scarcely forget his progressive loss of status as an NBC middle-echelon exec when Weaver left and Bob Kintner arrived at NBC in '56. Pinkham, together with his close co-workers at the time, has never forgotten his abrupt fall from prestige and grace which attended Weaver's ouster and which was intensified with the changing of the 30 Rockefeller guard as

(Continued on page 64)

'Let's Not Agitate the Citizens' Themes 3 Networks' Program Skeds With 'Light Pop Wave' Moving In

By MURRAY HOROWITZ

Nighttime network television next season goes the way of "Beverly Hillbillies," in the three-network rating scramble for success via light entertainment. With few lone dissenters, those examining next season's prime time schedules find television fleeing reality like never before. "It's the Bomb," says David Susskind, citing one reason. Producer Herb Brodkin finds it's the fashion.

Sundays in '64-'65 on either of the three networks won't find one program themed to agitating any U.S. citizen. It's pop time on all three networks, unless NBC-TV's movie slot has a realistic theme which touches the nerves of its audiences.

On Monday nights, CBS-TV feels that "Slattery's People," dealing with a legislator, handling human problems such as slum clearance and narcotic addiction, falls in the realistic drama niche. There's also ABC-TV's "Ben Casey" topping that web's schedule for Monday nights.

In the contemporary realistic category, Tuesdays will have Mr. Novak," and actualities alternating with NBC-TV's "Bell Telephone Hour that night. CBS-TV will have the "Nurses," which occasionally has more reality than suds. ABC-TV's "Peyton Place" is hardly cut to the same cloth as "East Side, West

(Continued on page 60)

An Exception

For the first time in a "Defenders" episode, the non-violent civil rights struggle will serve as a theme. Titled "The Non-Violent," the teleplay was scripted by Ernest Kinoy, and is slated for airing later this season on CBS-TV.

As described, the Kinoy script deals with two principal characters engaged in the non-violent struggle to win jobs for Negroes in the construction industry. One of the two principal characters is a pastor and the other a young man searching for an identity.

Dinah Shore's 7 ABC Purex Specs If NBC Gives OK

Hollywood, March 31.

Dinah Shore will emerge from her one-year retirement from television and star in seven Purex-sponsored specs on ABC-TV next season, if current negotiations to obtain a release from NBC-TV are successful.

Foote, Cone & Belding West Coast tv veepee Jack McQueen is currently negotiating with NBC-TV anent a deal, since the thrush is under contract to that network which has first refusal on her appearances. A release for the seven specs is sought.

Under deal now in negotiation, Miss Shore will star in four hourlong nighttime specs, and be hostess on a trio of daytime specs geared for the femmes, such as Purex sponsored several years ago. Nighttime shows would be a variety format.

IN COLLINS' CORNER —DELTA SIGMA RHO

Washington, March 31.

If his broadcast brethren aren't all that excited about the speeches of NAB prez Le Roy Collins, a national speech honor society is. The honorary Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha Society gave Collins their "Speaker of the Year Award" for 1963.

At the Indianapolis award ceremony, Collins was cited as "forthright and courageous" and for "provocative leadership."

New Title for 'Solo' As Film Producers Squawk

NBC-TV and MGM Television have been trying to come up with a new title for their new adventure-suspense hour. "Solo," scheduled at Tuesday 8:30 p.m. in the fall lineup. Napoleon Solo, lead character in the series, is a creation of Ian Fleming, British whodunit author, and film producers Cubby Broccoli and Harry Saltzman have complained to MGM about use of the handle in the series title.

The film producers, makers of the recent "Dr. No" and "From Russia With Love" pix based on adventures of Fleming's fictional investigator James Bond, are objecting to the use of the Fleming name in the title, but not within the show itself. Network for a while was considering the title, "UNCLE," letters of the world sleuth org that Solo works for, but scrapped it as too cryptic.

Oscar Katz Exits CBS-TV for Desilu

After 26 years with CBS, during which time he worked his way up from the research dept. to become veepee in charge of tv programming for a couple of years, Oscar Katz has resigned from the network. He shifts to the Coast where he joins Desilu in charge of production with title of exec veepee.

Katz, who in recent years had touched base in practically all areas of programming for CBS, took over the program dept. when Hubbell Robinson left a few years back to produce vidfilms for Revue. When Robinson returned to the network for a short period to resume his program role Katz was more or less put into limbo (although retaining his veepeeship) and even though Robinson again checked out of the network Mike Dann was moved into the program post.

Katz takes with him a bundle of pension fund loot. He checks into Desilu today (Wed.).

O.K.'s FH to BH

Around CBS they're alluding to Oscar Katz as the Forest Hillbilly who's gone Beverly Hillbilly.

In shifting to Desilu and the Coast, Katz is selling his Forest Hills home to become a Beverly Hills resident. (During his tenure as program chief at CBS he was instrumental in the web's acquisition of "Beverly Hillbillies").

Keesely's Cig Gig

Traditional windup show at the Miami Beach conventon of the National Assn. of Tobacco Distributors will be hosted by P. Lorillard, with Lennen & Newell tv topper Nick Keesely repeating as producer.

Cast for the gig includes Joey Bishop, Dick Van Dyke, Mary Tyler Moore, Morey Amsterdam, Rosemarie, Corbett Monica, Bob Wright (Kent pitchman) and the Guy Lombardo orch.

Parley opens April 5 at the Fontainebleu Hotel.

Enough Pay-TV Outlets (vs. Com'l) To Wheel & Deal on Attractions

For the first time, there are enough potential pay-tv outlets to allow show packagers to wheel and deal for attractions. That's the word from Arnold Brown, head of an independent production firm bearing his name, which recently completed the vidtaping of the satirical revue now at N.Y.'s "Upstairs at the Downstairs" club.

Current potential pay-tv outlets listed by Brown are the RKO General-Phonevision experimental station now operating in Hartford, Conn., the Paramount Telemeter station in the outskirts of Toronto, and the planned Subscription TV outlets for Los Angeles and San Francisco, due to begin operation in July. Additionally, there's toll tv due in England and Telemeter plans to expand by going into Montreal. All of these pay-tv situations, whether in operation or not, are buying product, says Brown.

For the topical "Upstairs at the Downstairs" revue, Brown in his 90-minute vidversion added songstress Georgia Brown and actor David Wayne. It will be played on Hartford pay-tv. The way Brown operators, he first lines up the pay-tv customer, then produces the show, reserving distribution rights to himself for a sell-off in other pay-tv markets, foreign television, and eventual commercial television in the U.S. Commercial (free) tv in the U.S. will get the Brown attractions on a delayed basis, he explained, much the same way theatrical pix first play in box-office exhibition situations then eventually are sold either in syndication or via networking to commercial (free) tv.

Brown's company did pay-tv adaptations also of "Spoon River Anthology" and two off-Broadway productions, "Ole, Ole," and "Streets of New York." To provide more name value for the latter two, Jose Ferrer and dancer Roberto Iglesias were brought into "Ole" and Marc Connelly was secured for "Streets."

As far as the talent unions are concerned, Brown said he pays according to the various union provisions governing pay-tv and commercial tv. Being a small company, Brown said that he estimates he can bring a show in at about 25% of what a comparable show would cost on the network. He said the 90-minute "Upstairs" show had a production cost of about $30,000. He estimated that he could gross about the cost of the show from pay-tv, a cost which includes a profit for his company. Another $30,000, he estimates, can be secured from selling the show abroad. With a click, that eventually would gain domestic syndication distribution, he could see another $40,000 stemming for such a show as "Upstairs."

Associates of Brown include Don Silverman, producer, formerly attached to NBC-TV's "Today" show and ABC-TV's "Hootenanny." Dave Geisel, formerly director of "The Garry Moore Show," directed the "Upstairs" revue for Brown.

Brown's indie company plans to do a two-hour show on San Francisco for pay-tv, the show themed to a tourist's view of the city.

(Continued on page 56)

GAC's Powwow

Hollywood, March 31.

Plans for the 1965-66 television season are being discussed here by General Artists Corp. board chairman and chief operating officer Larry Barnett, here from N. Y. for confabs with agency personnel and clients. Accompanying the GAChief is John Redway, head of the agency's London office, making his first trip here as a GAC exec, meeting with clients and agency personnel.

Barnett said the agency is "well off" for next season in the tv field, has already firmed up "The Jackie Gleason Show," "Hollywood Palace," "That Was the Week That Was," "The Reporter," all for the 1964-65 semester, also "Parade," a half-hour variety show which is a summer replacement, sold to NBC-TV. Other deals are still in negotiation, he added. GAC-TV prexy Herman Rush is due in from N. Y. April 6 for detailed conversations anent the 1965-66 season, Barnett said.

GAC reps the British Beatles, and Barnett said all theatres haven't yet reported returns on their recent closed-circuit appearance, so agency does not yet know what the quartet has racked up for this date.

Elsinore 'Hamlet' (3 Hrs.) in Canada Bow on April 15

Ottawa, March 31.

Two-hour "Festival" production of "12th Night" tees CBC's specials marking 400th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth.

On April 15 comes North American preem of BBC's three-hour "Hamlet," filmed at Elsinore. "12th Night" is cast from Stratford, Ont., Shakespeare Festival company, produced and directed by George McCown. Third, April 22, is Verdi's "Othello," based on Shakespeare's play, produced by Franz Kraemer. There'll also be a tv documentary filmed around Stratford-on-Avon by Vinvent Tovell, with the Bard read off-camera.

CBC radio celebrations include "Julius Caesar," "Anthony and Cleopatra," "Tempest," "A Day in the Life of Shakespeare" and a series of five talks on the Bard by Tyrone Guthire et al.

"Hamlet" is the most costly production ever made by BBC—$150,000—according to Oliver Clausen in Maclean's mag, who says Denmark's state radio-tv bureau suggested BBC do it because their own budget was too low. (Danish tv is on the air only around 25 hours a week.) Ten-day shooting sked went five days over because of illnesses and interruptions like a foghorn blowing every 24 seconds in peasoup weather. Lloyds of London insured against cancellation due to illness of leads.

Ophelia is Jo Maxwell Muller, 18, whom Plummer caught in the role on stage in London and insisted on. Philip Saville directed.

"Hamlet" has been sold in the U.S. and a dozen European and Commonwealth countries, says Clausen, adding that it will run longer in all the latter because North American tv projects 24 frames a second, compared with 25 elsewhere.

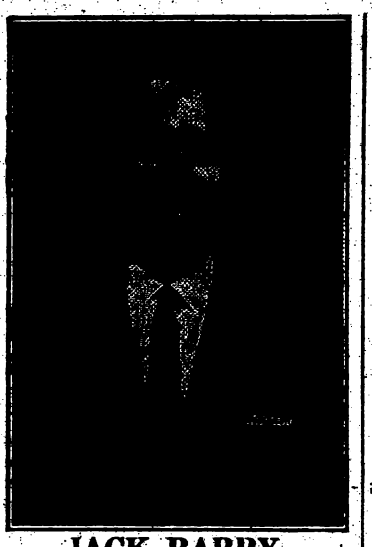
CBS' All-Cartoon Sat. Ayem Format

CBS-TV has revamped its Saturday morning lineup for next season, offering three solid hours of cartoons, from 9 to noon.

Two new cartoons which are being added to the schedule are "Linus, the Lionhearted," a half-hour General Foods package, and "The Jetsons," a Screen Gems series which is moving over from ABC-TV.

Web is expected to retain a half-hour pubaffairs show following the morning entertainment kiddie bloc. The pubaffairs show for youngsters has yet to be announced.

'64-'65 Saturday morning lineup is as follows: "Captain Kangeroo" from 8 to 9 a.m.; "Alvin," "Tennessee Tuxedo," "Quick Draw McGraw," "Mighty Mouse," "Linus, the Lionhearted," "Jetsons," "Sky King" and "Flicka." Coming out of the lineup are "Roy Rogers" and "Rin Tin Tin."



Japan Assures FCC Of All-Channel Compliance

Washington, March 24.

Japanese electronic industry executives assured FCC they would comply with the April 30 deadline for new television sets to receive all channels.

Commissioners Rosel Hyde and Robert E. Lee met with Japanese industry reps recently and received their promise to abide "in the letter and spirit" of the all-channel law.

Meet was partly prompted by the increase in Japanese tv set imports

JACK BARRY

Now producing five pilots for CBS-TV—Paramount TV Production Development program

Mao Tse Tung's Okay to Canada For TV Filming

By PAUL A. GARDNER

Ottawa, March 31.

Canadian Broadcasting Corp. has scored a beat with permission for the first North American filming in mainland China. A three-man crew leaves this capital April 15, via Vancouver and Hong Kong, to spend up to two months in Mao Tse Tung's domain. They are Pat Watson, producer of CBC-TV's weekly network pubaffairs "Inquiry"; his director-script editor Roy Faibish as writer-director; freelance Erik Durschmied on camera and sound. Results will be aired on CBC-TV web come fall.

"It sounds arrogant," Watson told VARIETY, "but we hope to produce the first decent documentary made in China in a long time. I've caught the recent few and I haven't seen a good one—all very formal and unpenetrating. Erik is a top cameraman and the visual results at least should be unexcelled." Durschmied has no address, says Watson—"he lives where his camera is. He comes to us from jobs in Spain, for BBC's 'Panorama,' and Singapore, for the new untitled BBC-2 show. He'll go direct from there to Hong Kong to meet us."

An Ottawa Citizen report, which said the crew would enter China via Soviet Union and that BBC had offered $250,000 for British rights to the future footage, Watson said was "full of misinformation." It also said he planned 12 shorts and two hour-lengths, whereas all he envisages is "a 60- or 90-minute documentary — though we don't rule out additional specialized shows if we get the footage. This won't be for 'Inquiry,' by the way, but for a network special." As to BBC's interest, he said he'd had talks with a couple of producers there and if a U.K. deal eventuates "it'll be with BBC, because they approached me first; but they'll look at the footage, of course, before deciding whether to buy."

"We'll be free to go anywhere except where there are military installations—and we're not interested in them," said Faibish, who flew to Hong Kong to iron out numerous details, after Watson had got Chinese government's provisional permission

Herschensohn's USIA Documentary on JFK

Washington, March 31.

Bruce Herschensohn, writer and director of the U.S. Information Agency's Academy Award entry "Five Cities in June," has been signed on for a USIA documentary on the late President Kennedy.

USIA film chief George Stevens said the film "Years of Lighting, Day of Drums" will be released in May for distribution in 106 nations. It will include footage from other USIA documentaries plus exclusive color coverage from the "Four Days" and the Kennedy funeral.

Besides writing and directing, Herchensohn will also write the musical score for the picture.

NBC Trims Huntley Beef

Newsman-cattleman Chet Huntley is still just that, but with reservations. Promotion of Chet Huntley's Nature Fed Beef has come to an abrupt halt, following a meeting last week between NBC top news execs and the newsman.

Huntley, who on the side runs a New Jersey cattle ranch with about 500 head, was criticized in the press March 20 for using an NBC radio news-feature seg to discuss the problems of beef prices caused by imports. The criticism came to the attention of NBC-TV prexy Robert Kintner, who telephoned from Phoenix, where he was on vacation, calling for an investigation of the matter.

Huntley agreed to withdraw his name from the beef, and posters plugging his high protein line of meats will be discontinued. Network points out that it contractually has the right to prohibit product endorsement without its consent.

The newsman reportedly also will withdraw his Chet Huntley's Nature Fed Beef account, which was recently assigned to an ad agency.

Sidney Bernstein's Politicast Credo; Deplores Boredom and Propaganda

London, March 31.

Sidney L. Bernstein, chairman of Granada, which operates one of the big four commercial tv stations here, continues to fight for a freer hand to cover the political scene. He said in London, last week, that from the day of dissolution of Parliament until Britain goes to the polls that two—maybe three—tv channels will offer three and three-quarter hours of party propaganda. He emphasised: " . . . (we are promised) a great deal of boredom and a minimum of opportunity for lively reporting."

By lively reporting, he did not mean use of aggressive interviewers "whose personal vanity obscured the real value of the interview."

He is seeking, rather, an alternative to so much official propaganda. Bernstein said: "In politics, as in the theatre, it is not always good to have public attention riveted on a few stars. What about the gallant 600, the private members of Parliament? Not enough is heard or seen of them . . . it must be right to give them an opportunity to communicate with the public. This is what television can do . . ."

Bernstein revealed that via a "gentleman's agreement" between politicians and broadcasters the rule is that whenever a Parliamentary candidate is invited to appear on tv, he must be "approved" by his party's London h.q. Another rule is that no audience should be present when a Conservative, Labor or Liberal candidate speaks in front of the vidcameras.

Bernstein asked: "By what right do the party officials regulate the appearance of individual candidates?"

Even in outside party political broadcasts, Bernstein asserted that the political parties will still extend their influence upon normal hours of broadcasting by means of those "typically British 'gentlemen's agreements' which have no basis in law or politics, or, as I personally think, no place in a democratic country."

Nielsen's Spruce-Up

A. C. Nielsen Co. in a letter to clients has announced major changes in revision and turnover of the tv sample homes along with other improvements in the NTI service, and a price increase in the service.

The latter, signed by Nielsen exec veepee Chat Shaw, says that the entire NTI sample is in process of changeover to "new 1963 master sample specifications." The changeover, it says, is slated for completion by the end of 1965 and will be followed by "systematic forced sample-replacement which will turnover the NTI sample completely during each subsequent five-year period."

The letter, signed by Nielsen increase on the service of 7.5%, and word that the new sample will for the first time include the Mountain Time Zone. It will be, the letter states, "a proportional sample of all continental U.S. households, excluding Alaska."

Embassy's Major Bid in TV Arena; 'Steptoe', 'Lloyds'

Embassy Pictures' tv production planning is expanding. Following a recent trip to London by exec v.p. Leonard Lightstone and tv veep E. Jonny Graff, the company has set two one-hour color series to be made there, one of which will also have some filming in the U.S., probably in New York and also in Hollywood. Additionally, Embassy has acquired the production rights to make a Yank version of the successful British series, "Steptoe & Son" and has previously set the production of at least one other series in Rome.

The two British series will be "Our Men From Lloyds" and "I Married a Psychaitrist." Both will be made in color, which is apparently a growing factor in series production, in association with a British co-financer. The British interest, yet to be disclosed pending signing of the final papers, will put up half the production coin with Embassy supplying the other half.

They will be made under the British quota system (not the Eady Plan) which allows a 50-50 Yank-British cast, a U.S. writer and a U.S. director or producer. Both the British company and Embassy will have equal shares in the profits from the series, with the British co-financier distributing them throughout the U.K. and Embassy handling them in the rest of the world. Embassy is currently talking with the three webs here as to a telecast deal, production coin not presently a factor.

The "Lloyds" series will be made both in England and in the U.S., with side trips to other European locations also planned. It will deal with the activities of a U.S. and British Lloyds of London agents dealing with claims around the globe. "Psychiatrist" is a property which Embassy has had for a while now. It will be made into a feature before the tv series version is done.

(Continued on page 64)

Cox's Offering: 630,000 Shares

Washington, March 31.

Newly reorganized Cox Broadcasting Corp. filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission proposing to offer 630,000 shares of common stock, it was disclosed Monday (31).

Offering will be made through underwriters headed by Lazard Freres & Co. of New York at an $18 per share maximum selling price.

Included in the bundle are 35,231 shares to be offered by present holders and another 20,000 to be sold to company employees.

Cox also plans to borrow $15,000,000 from an insurance company. From this, $14,823,700 will go to repay debts to stockholders, mainly the $11,000,000 red ink incurred when Cox purchased KTVU-TV, San Francisco-Oakland. Another $3,823,700 came from the buy of several community antenna television systems.

Cox already has 2,000,000 common shares outstanding.

Company owns tv and radio stations in Atlanta, Dayton and Charlotte as well as KTVU.

'BETTER DEAL' THEMES NAB

NAB's 'Won't Attend' List

For all the fact that their eyes will be on the agenda and their ears cocked to the off-the-agenda talk, there's an imposing list of broadcaster personalities with major financial-ownership stakes in tv and radio properties who, in traditional absentee fashion, can be counted on not to attend the NAB convention next week in Chicago.

These include, among others, John Hay (Jock) Whitney, of the Corinthian Broadcasting chain;

Dick Berlin, of the Hearst chain;

Sam Newhouse, of the Newhouse broadcasting empire;

Walter Annenberg, of the Triangle Stations;

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, whose lucrative tv station in Austin has been put in trust during the tenure of her residency at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. in Washington;

Henry R. Luce, of the Time-Life stations.

Magnuson-Pastore Bill Would Ban Booze Blurbs; Harris Bothered

Washington, March 31.

Two strong doses of Congressional pressure were added to the controversial recipe conjured by the decision of Gothom's WQXR to advertise hard liquor.

In the Senate legislation to bar booze blurbs was introduced by Commerce Committee chairman Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Communications subcommitee ditto Sen. John Pastore (D-R.I.).

Refusing to go quite that far was House Commerce Committee chairman Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) who wrote QXR exec v.p Elliot Sanger of his "serious concern" about the outlet's booze breakthrough.

The Magnuson-Pastore bill not only would put a bar on broadcasters but would also hold the liquor folk accountable. Under the bill Federal permits issued distillers by the Treasury Dept. would be revoked if the prohibition was violated.

Also called for are fines ranging from $100-$1,000 and prison terms from six months to one year.

Pastore's hopes for quick hearings on the bill by his subcommittee could conceivably be squelched by the civil rights debate. Southern segregationist Senators as part of their filibuster against the civil rights bill could prevent all committees from meeting, perhaps for as long as two or three months.

In his letter requesting Sanger respond to seven questions, Harris stressed his preference for self-regulation.

He asked Sanger if he believed in broadcast self-regulation on booze blurbs by either broadcasters or distillers or if legislation or gov-

(Continued on page 56)

BBC Radio Series On Negro in U.S.

London, March 31.

BBC Radio has set producer-writer Geoffrey Bridson to line up an "all-embracing series of programs on the American Negro—including plays, musicals, poetry, folk songs, jazz, serious music and so on."

He is planing out for a month's stay in the U.S. on Saturday (4) where he hopes also to snare leading Negro writers for on-air dickers about their work. He is also planning to write an historical documentary in two or three parts.

Programs are skedded to hit British airwaves in the fall.

Elliott Lewis Pacted By Bing Crosby Prods.

Hollywood, March 31.

Bing Crosby Productions has signed Elliott Lewis, exec producer of Desilu's "The Lucy Show," starring Lucille Ball. Lewis has resigned from the Lucille Ball starrer and ended his duties last week when production on this season's product finished.

Deal calls for Lewis to work on new projects for the vidfilmery, also help on the new half-hour series starring the company's boss, Bing Crosby.

It's Just Rediffusion

London, March 31.

London weekday major commercial tv station Associated-Rediffusion is changing its name as from April 6.

According to general manager John McMillan: "At the present the name is very long. We are changing it to 'Rediffusion' which is easier to read and remember."

Stanton's Stance On TV Spellout Of A Coverage Code

Philadelphia, March 31.

A public policy for tv coverage of legislative and judicial proceedings and of pre-trial situations should be spelled out, it was advocated by CBS prexy Dr. Frank Stanton in a Annenberg School Lecture at Pennsylvania U.

Stanton, in furthering his proposal, said that the Brookings Institution, an independent research and education organization in the social sciences, has agreed to consider a CBS grant to assemble a task force of distinguished citizens representing the bar, the bench, the various branches of journalism, government, public administration and the public to study and report on what could be a national "code of fair practices" governing coverage of such news events.

CBS prexy, in an unusual swipe at tv coverage, as well as coverage by other news media, called the handling of the Lee Oswald case in Dallas as tending toward "anarchy." Needed, said Stanton, is a "voluntary, inter-media code of fair practices."

In connection with the proposed Brookings Institution study group, Stanton suggested Newton N. Minow, former FCC chairman, as possible chairman of the group. Stanton pointed out that all public

(Continued on page 64)

British Granada Yanks 'Entertainers' Rather Than Censor Strip Seg

London, March 31.

Granada-TV's documentary "The Entertainers," scheduled for prime time viewing on the whole commercial network, has been yanked by the company because the Independent Television Authority ordered cuts of scenes featuring two strippers.

The hourlong program, made by award-winning producer Denis Mitchell, shows the backstage lives of seven club and music hall acts. It included shots of a semi-nude dancer and other skin takes. But rather than censor the program Granada has "postponed" it. Indefinitely.

The Granada-ITA clash follows the Authority's tough rebuke of Associated-Rediffusion for showing a stripper in its pubaffairs show "This Week," which was taking a serious look at the "dirty book trade" in London.

HENRY SEEN AS KEY TO FUTURE

Chicago, March 31.

The nation's broadcasters pour into Chicago this weekend to learn if they too are in for a "better deal."

This year's NAB Convention shapes up as a time for reassessment by broadcasters both of themselves and of the new administration in Washington.

Though the industry's trophies from last year are on prominent display, NAB prez Le Roy Collins will have to apply his charms and forensics in a continual reminder of the political and economic forces making laurel sitting a dangerous practice.

If relatively sure of themselves at this year's Hilton hassle the broadcasters are looking to Washington to discern the depths and significance to them of the change in the old order. It is this question, of the several industry puzzlers, which might be answered best of all by FCC Chairman E. William Henry at his Tuesday luncheon address.

The industry is still trying, with limited success, to probe the nature of this man. From his words and promises he seems part lion, but his record in bringing those promises to fruition has shown him to be part lamb.

Not a publicity hawk like his predecessor Newton Minow, his program is not the talk of the general press. Furthermore his reception in Congress is subject to continued interference.

But when batted down, as in the commercial fight, Henry has managed to bounce back. This he demonstrated last winter in what was probably his most spirited speech when he told a group of advertisers FCC would still crack down on commercials, rules or no rules.

With the accession of the Johnson Administration Henry, with his ties to Robert Kennedy, has come down some in the Washington power structure. But the extent of his decline, both in terms of personalities and within the wider scope of regulatory policies of President Johnson, will probably not be known until after the November election.

Oren Harris To Talk

The topic of Henry's talk remains undisclosed but from its content and spirit the industry should get some inkling of where it stands in the new order on the Potomac.

The view from Congress will be spoken by one of Henry's hidden Capitol nemeses Rep. Harris (D-Ark.). The House Commerce Committee chairman, scheduled to speak at the Monday afternoon session, has been content with sitting back and letting his subaltern Chairman Walter Rogers of the Communications subcommittee stick pins in an ambitious FCC.

Why Texas Democrat Rogers, who would probably win any popularity poll of station owners, was not invited to the convention, remains a mystery.

The inspiration Rogers might have provided will be offered instead by the Rev. Billy Graham who will speak at the Wednesday noon session.

The choice of Harris as a speaker reflects the concern in some industry circles of Rogers' campaign against the FCC and the worry that some marginal operators, feeling they have Congressional sanction, might get carried away and bring the house crumbling down. If this ever became the case, these same industry folk know it would be up to an angry Harris to put the pieces back together.

Convention festivities open Friday (3) with the National Assn. of FM Broadcasters who will meet through Saturday. The Assn. of Maximum Telecasters will be having get togethers Sunday as most of the conventioneers arrive.

Collins will deliver his keynote address at the Monday luncheon and undoubtedly will proudly speak of his thwarting FCC on commercials and of other victories.

Like Henry, Collins has also had

(Continued on page 58)

'Virginian' Added To BBC-2 Roster As Initial Schedule Is Locked In

London, March 31.

Less than three weeks before the kickoff, BBC-2 topper Michael Peacock has locked in tight his initial schedule. For better or for worse, his arch-enemy, time, has forced him to fill in the many gaps in his 30-hours-a-week prime time lineup.

Illustrative of Peacock's hectic, helter-skelter program-plotting life over the past months (in which he has had to build a schedule for a web which, by decree, must have a "new and different" concept but at the same time prove popular enough to catch the mass audience for at least some of the time) is the the fact that many of the shows he has slotted are either "experimental" or are still, even now, drawingboard projects which have not had a dry run. It's a time-enforced case of throwing shows into the deep end to see which come up swimming.

But amid the welter of new and projected shows, Peacock has brought in another major American series, "The Virginian." Skedded to follow the "Danny Kaye Show" on Mondays, the Western has been cut back from 90 to 75 minutes. (Acquisition of "The Virginian" by BBC is something of a triumph for the network because, it's understood, only after hard bargaining did MCA-TV decide to shelve its plan to theatrically release the western in these parts. Third Yank program inked for the opening of BBC-2 is "Arrest and Trial" berthed on Fridays at 8:45 p.m.

For the rest, within the framework of projecting seven faces of BBC-2 on seven days of the week, the mix involves documentaries, discussions, current affairs, pubaffairs, politics to a larger extent than either of the existing tv outlets, but, at the same time, has its quota of drama, vaudeo, comedy and music.

In his endeavor to come up with an alternative to the commercial web and BBC-1, Peacock has shuffled his pack in such a way that the "serious" or non-fiction material will be in opposition to the prime time "entertainment" schedules of the existing networks on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Monday and Friday on BBC-2 are designed on more "entertaining" lines.

Basically, Peacock's first schedule for BBC-2, which will carry it for the vitally important first few months of its life, is this:

Monday—7:30: "Impromptu," an experimental half-hour comedy show completely ad libbed, in which five performers, unrehearsed, gag it up from angles thrown at them by a studio audience. 8:00: "Danny Kaye Show." 8:50: "The Virginian" (approximately once a month latter will be

(Continued on page 64)

Czechs Dig 'Saint'

London, March 31.

One ITC source reports that an increasingly large fan mail for Roger Moore, star of "The Saint" vidseries, is coming in from Czechoslovkia. In fact, fan mail output from the Czechs is now larger than any other European country.

Which is intriguing since ITC has not sold "The Saint" to Czechoslovakia yet.

WGA Asks Agents To Go Easier On 10% of Everything

Hollywood, March 31.

Current talent agency practice of getting 10% of the top on a tv package, also 10% of residuals and royalties will be the principal targets in upcoming negotiations between Writers Guild of America and the agents, with WGA seeking clamp down on both these practices.

Writers feel strongly that the percentery's current 10% off the top of a video package acts as a deterrent to many a sale, and is harmful to the scripter.

They feel equally as strongly that agents are not entitled to 10% of residuals and/or royalties, their contention being that the guild membership went out on strike on two occasions to obtain formulas for residuals and royalties. Their position is that inasmuch as these were not negotiated by agents, the percenters are not entitled to a cut. It's expected agents will strongly resist both these WGA demands.

WGA West council met Monday night to go over proposals to be presented the agents in detail. On April 4-5 there will be a national WGA session in Hollywood, with the eastern branch sending delegates here for the conclave. On the agenda are the agent proposals, and these will be coordinated between east and west memberships, to be approvated at subsequent membership meetings here and in N.Y.

Hollywood members will vote on proposals for a new agents' pact at the guild building, at a special general membership meeting to be held April 9. Guild's current pact with the agents expires June 15.

Journalistic Big Guns En Masse to ABC Affil Meet; B-5000 'Preview'

Now that it's positioned for a hoss race in the three-network news sweeps, ABC as never before will be out to impress its affils at the NAB convention.

Network is packing off its journalistic big guns to Chicago, including Edward P. Morgan, Howard K. Smith, Ron Cochran, Bob Young and William Lawrence. News chieftain Elmer Lower heads the contingent, with Jesse Zousmer, tv news director, also making the scene.

For Smith and Morgan, it'll be a bit of a scramble since both have speaking dates in and out of Chi concurrent with NAB. Key date for both is a joint appearance tomorrow (Thurs.) night before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Pick-Congress Hotel.

Lower & Co. are also planning a press demo for the Burroughs B-5000 computer which the net is committed to for this year's election coverage, including the upcoming Illinois and Oregon primaries.

All-Star Cast For ABC's Affil Meet

Only ABC of the three networks plans to make a splash with talent for affils at the Chicago NAB convention.

NBC's show will offer a "TW3" lampoon of the net's affils, and CBS will raise the curtain on the comedy team of Allen & Rossi, chirper Tina Robin and the Madison Trio.

ABC looks to have its largest lineup yet. Crowding the marquee will be Gene Barry, Ernest Borgnine, David Janssen, Walter Brennan, George Burns, Connie Stevens, Patty Duke, Inger Stevens, Tim Conway, William Windom, Sammy Jackson, Joan Staley, Cathy Nolan, Sheila James, Lois Roberts and Dorothy Malone.

All, natch, are in the fall schedule, and that's what ABC wants to stress.

'Today's' Footloose & Fancy Free Format as 'Only Wheel in Town'

By JILL GREELEY

NBC-TV producer Al Morgan says his show is the "only wheel in town—" that is, the only consistent road show left in television that will strike out for distant locations in search of diverse programming.

A closeup view of the effort that went into "Today's" five-day strip last week on Tucson, Ariz., is a clue to why Morgan's show is the only wheel. The production logistics and complexities would stagger a monthly series, let alone a two-hour, daily show.

Initially, there are the negotiations with local officials and promoters. To do the remotes—which have included San Juan, Holland, New Orleans and others—the producers must come up with the money it will cost beyond the show's regular weekly budget. In the case of Tucson, the Chamber of Commerce came up with $50,000, living quarters, and transportation was angled through TWA. A lot of time can be burned up in these initial negotiations. Deals to location in Southern Italy, Texas and other places fell through before Tucson came through. When a commercial minute on "Today" goes for around $7,000, it is not hard, however, to see the advantage of five shows devoted entirely to an area.

Three months before the actual Tucson shooting, which was week before last for airing on last week's Monday-Friday shows, Morgan and a survey team went to Tucson. They clocked 1,200 miles in covering Southern Arizona (including the border town of Nogale, Mexico, which was quickly rejected) in finding five suitable locations.

The final selections were carefully picked to cover the tourist scene, the traditional, the modern, the cultural and working aspects of the community. In order of production and airing, the five shows covered the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum; Old Tucson, a motion picture set turned into a tourist attraction; the University of Arizona; Davis-Monthan Air Force Base; and the Thurber cattle ranch in Sonoita.

Actual production took a compliment of 47 "Today" staffers and technicians flown in from NBC's Coast headquarters. It also called for a rented vidtape mobile facility from the Coast, a big fleet of rented cars and a fleet of golf carts. The latter was used by production staffers who were billeted at the local country club in cottages usually occupied by weekending club members. The "Today" hq at the club was down a good stretch of twisting road from the billet area. "Today" writers, who are involved in production of their particular shows, covered many, many miles in the pre-shooting arrangements (and filming of clips for insert) on the far-flung locations.

Actual taping was accomplished sytematically on a Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, with the first two shows already on the air while the Monday and Tuesday productions were underway.

Each day's production had an early-morning call, the earliest being the Thurber ranch—2:30 a.m. The predictable unpredictable cropped up almost immediately at the first location, the Desert Museum. During the dry run, the actors in the Prairie Dog Village performed magnificently. They went on an underground strike, however, the minute the vidtaping began. Just before going to black, one (possibly the union agent) poked his head out of a hole, peered at the camera, then turned his back on the proceedings.

Arizona Gov. Paul Fannin, was a much more cooperative show

(Continued on page 56)

Steinberg to Coast To Resolve CBS Press Job

Charles Steinberg, vp., press information for CBS-TV, leaves for Coast later this week to resolve the West Coast press info directorship following the death last weekend of Ernie Stern. Latter died of a heart atack Sunday at the age of 48 (see Obits).

Jack Cowdin, v.p. in charge of press-advertising-promotion, flew to the Coast to attend yesterday's (Tues.) funeral services for Stern.

Chas. Denny's Son Killed

Charles R. Denny 3d, son of Charles R. Denny Jr., RCA v.p., was killed Friday (27) night when a car he was driving overturned in Palos Verdes, Calif.

He was 18 years old and a freshman at Claremont Men's College in California. His father was former FCC chairman and ex-NBC exec. His mother and two sisters also survive.

Meredith Willson Specs for Texaco

Hollywood, March 31.

Meredith Willson has been signed to star in three hour-long specs for Texaco, the shows to be aired this summer on CBS-TV. Willson, long a holdout from tv, was persuaded to do the three shows by Lee Rich, senior veepee in charge of tv for Benton & Bowles, repping Texaco. Willson's wife, Rini, will also topline the specs.

Willson will be exec producer and host, will do integrated commercials, which he did long ago in radio, when he had a network show on NBC, with his sponsor Maxwell House. Benton & Bowles was the agency on that show, so it's a reunion for Willson and the agency.

Rich explained he has been two years working on the project, talking the "Music Man" maestro into it.

First spec will be aired June 4, the second one June 30, the third July 28 and a repeat will be shown Aug. 31. Rich said once he had nailed down Willson, he contacted CBS-TV prexy Jim Aubrey about having the shows on that web, that Aubrey was "delighted."

Willson will compose some original numbers. Negotiations are now on for a producer, director, writers and other members of the production staff.

Rosenberg Tapped For Kraft Suspense Series

Hollywood, March 31.

Frank P. Rosenberg has been named exec producer of Revue studio's "Kraft Suspense Theatre" series, replacing Roy Huggins, who is moving into a "wider area of responsibility" at the telefilmary.

Rosenberg this past season produced the studio's "Arrest and Trial" series, 90-min. show on ABC-TV. No decision has been made as yet anent its renewal.

Huggins, exec producer of the hourlong Kraft show on NBC-TV for the past year, and an officer of Revue and MCA, is currently in discussions with Revue regarding his future work.

'Romper Room' for Papas

Aberdeen, Scotland, March 31.

"Romper Room," produced here by Grampian Television, commercial station covering northern Scotland, is getting occasional late-night repeats in response to requests from fathers who have heard much about the program from wives and children.

Program here has attracted a larger audience relative to regional population than any of the other 200 television stations throughout the world which screen this kindergarten program.

It is now viewed by children from Mexico to Japan.

Grampian-TV introduced "Romper Room" to the U.K. five months ago, and is still the only station in Britain to produce and transmit it. It has been gaining high ratings. Program is screened normally four times weekly at at 4:30 p.m.

LA SALLE GRANT OKAYED

Washington, March 31.

FCC voted 4-3 to grant La Salle County Broadcasting Corp. a class A FM station construction permit in La Salle, Ill.

Chairman E. William Henry and Commissioners Kenneth Cox and Lee Loevinger, dissented in their request the issue go to hearing.

Wally Jordan's Asst. Quits to Join Kummer

Bernie Brillstein, assistant to Wally Jordan, head of the William Morris Agency television dept., has resigned to join the Martin Kummer management office. He'll work in the handling of television personalities and packaging. Brillstein has been with the Morris office for nine years and worked in the publicity dept. before helping organize the dept. for commercials.

Kummer, himself a Morris alumnus, had been with MCA and with its demise joined Creative Management Associates. He left that outfit recently, taking Jack Paar with him.

Cochran's Moveup In Nielsen Audits

Ron Cochran's ABC-TV evening news strip, though still trailing by a wide margin, has been picking up ground on hotshot rivals Huntley-Brinkley and Cronkite, the latter two apparently suffering from the central time zone moveups occasioned by their 30-minute formats.

This appears, at least, to be the inference from the Nielsen audits of the past few months. In any case, compared to a year ago, the Cochran report has notched a ratings gain of 31%. For the first time since he launched a few seasons ago, Cochran has gone over the 4,000,000 homes-per-average-minute hump. Specifically, with a national Nielsen of 8.0, Cochran now has a 4.1 million homes audit.

What's equally pleasing to ABC is the way their boy has climbed in certain key markets, in some cases actually outpulling both rivals, as in Houston ad Kansas City. And just vis-a-vis Cronkite, Cochran has pulled ahead in such markets as Philadelphia, Cleveland, Cincy, Seattle, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh.

Cochran's evening news strip is approaching SRO for the first time since its per-minute price went up 35% this year. Actually, the show is about 20% shy of sellout status at the moment.

Fourth quarter coin riding with him includes renewals from Brown & Williamson, U.S. Plywood, Bristol-Myers and Shulton, and a fresh-to-tv order from the National Institute of Life Insurance Agents. Show had been SRO before, but at the old price level.

TAM More Conservative Than BBC on Estimate Of 2d Channel Viewers

London, March 31.

Hot on the heels of BBC's estimate of homes able to receive the new BBC-2 signal when it goes on the air on April 20, TAM has come up with its own estimate which exactly halves the Corporation's forecast.

TAM, an independent ratings organization, maintains that a survey carried out in February in the projected area of the first BBC-2 telecasts (London and around), shows that some 250,000 homes are already equipped to take the new channel. BBC forecasts 500,000 homes.

And while BBC is counting three or more people per set (according to Michael Peacock, web program controller, between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 will be viewing the opening week's shows) TAM is more conservatively setting its per-set viewership at two or fractionally more.

According to TAM, there are 4,035,000 homes in the planned area for the start of BBC-2, of which 3,390,000 have tv receivers.

San Antonio — Eddie Daniels, member of the disk jockey staff of KBER, local country and western music station, was guest of honor in Nashville, when he was named "Mr. D. J. USA" for that date.

TV-Radio Production Centres

IN NEW YORK . . .

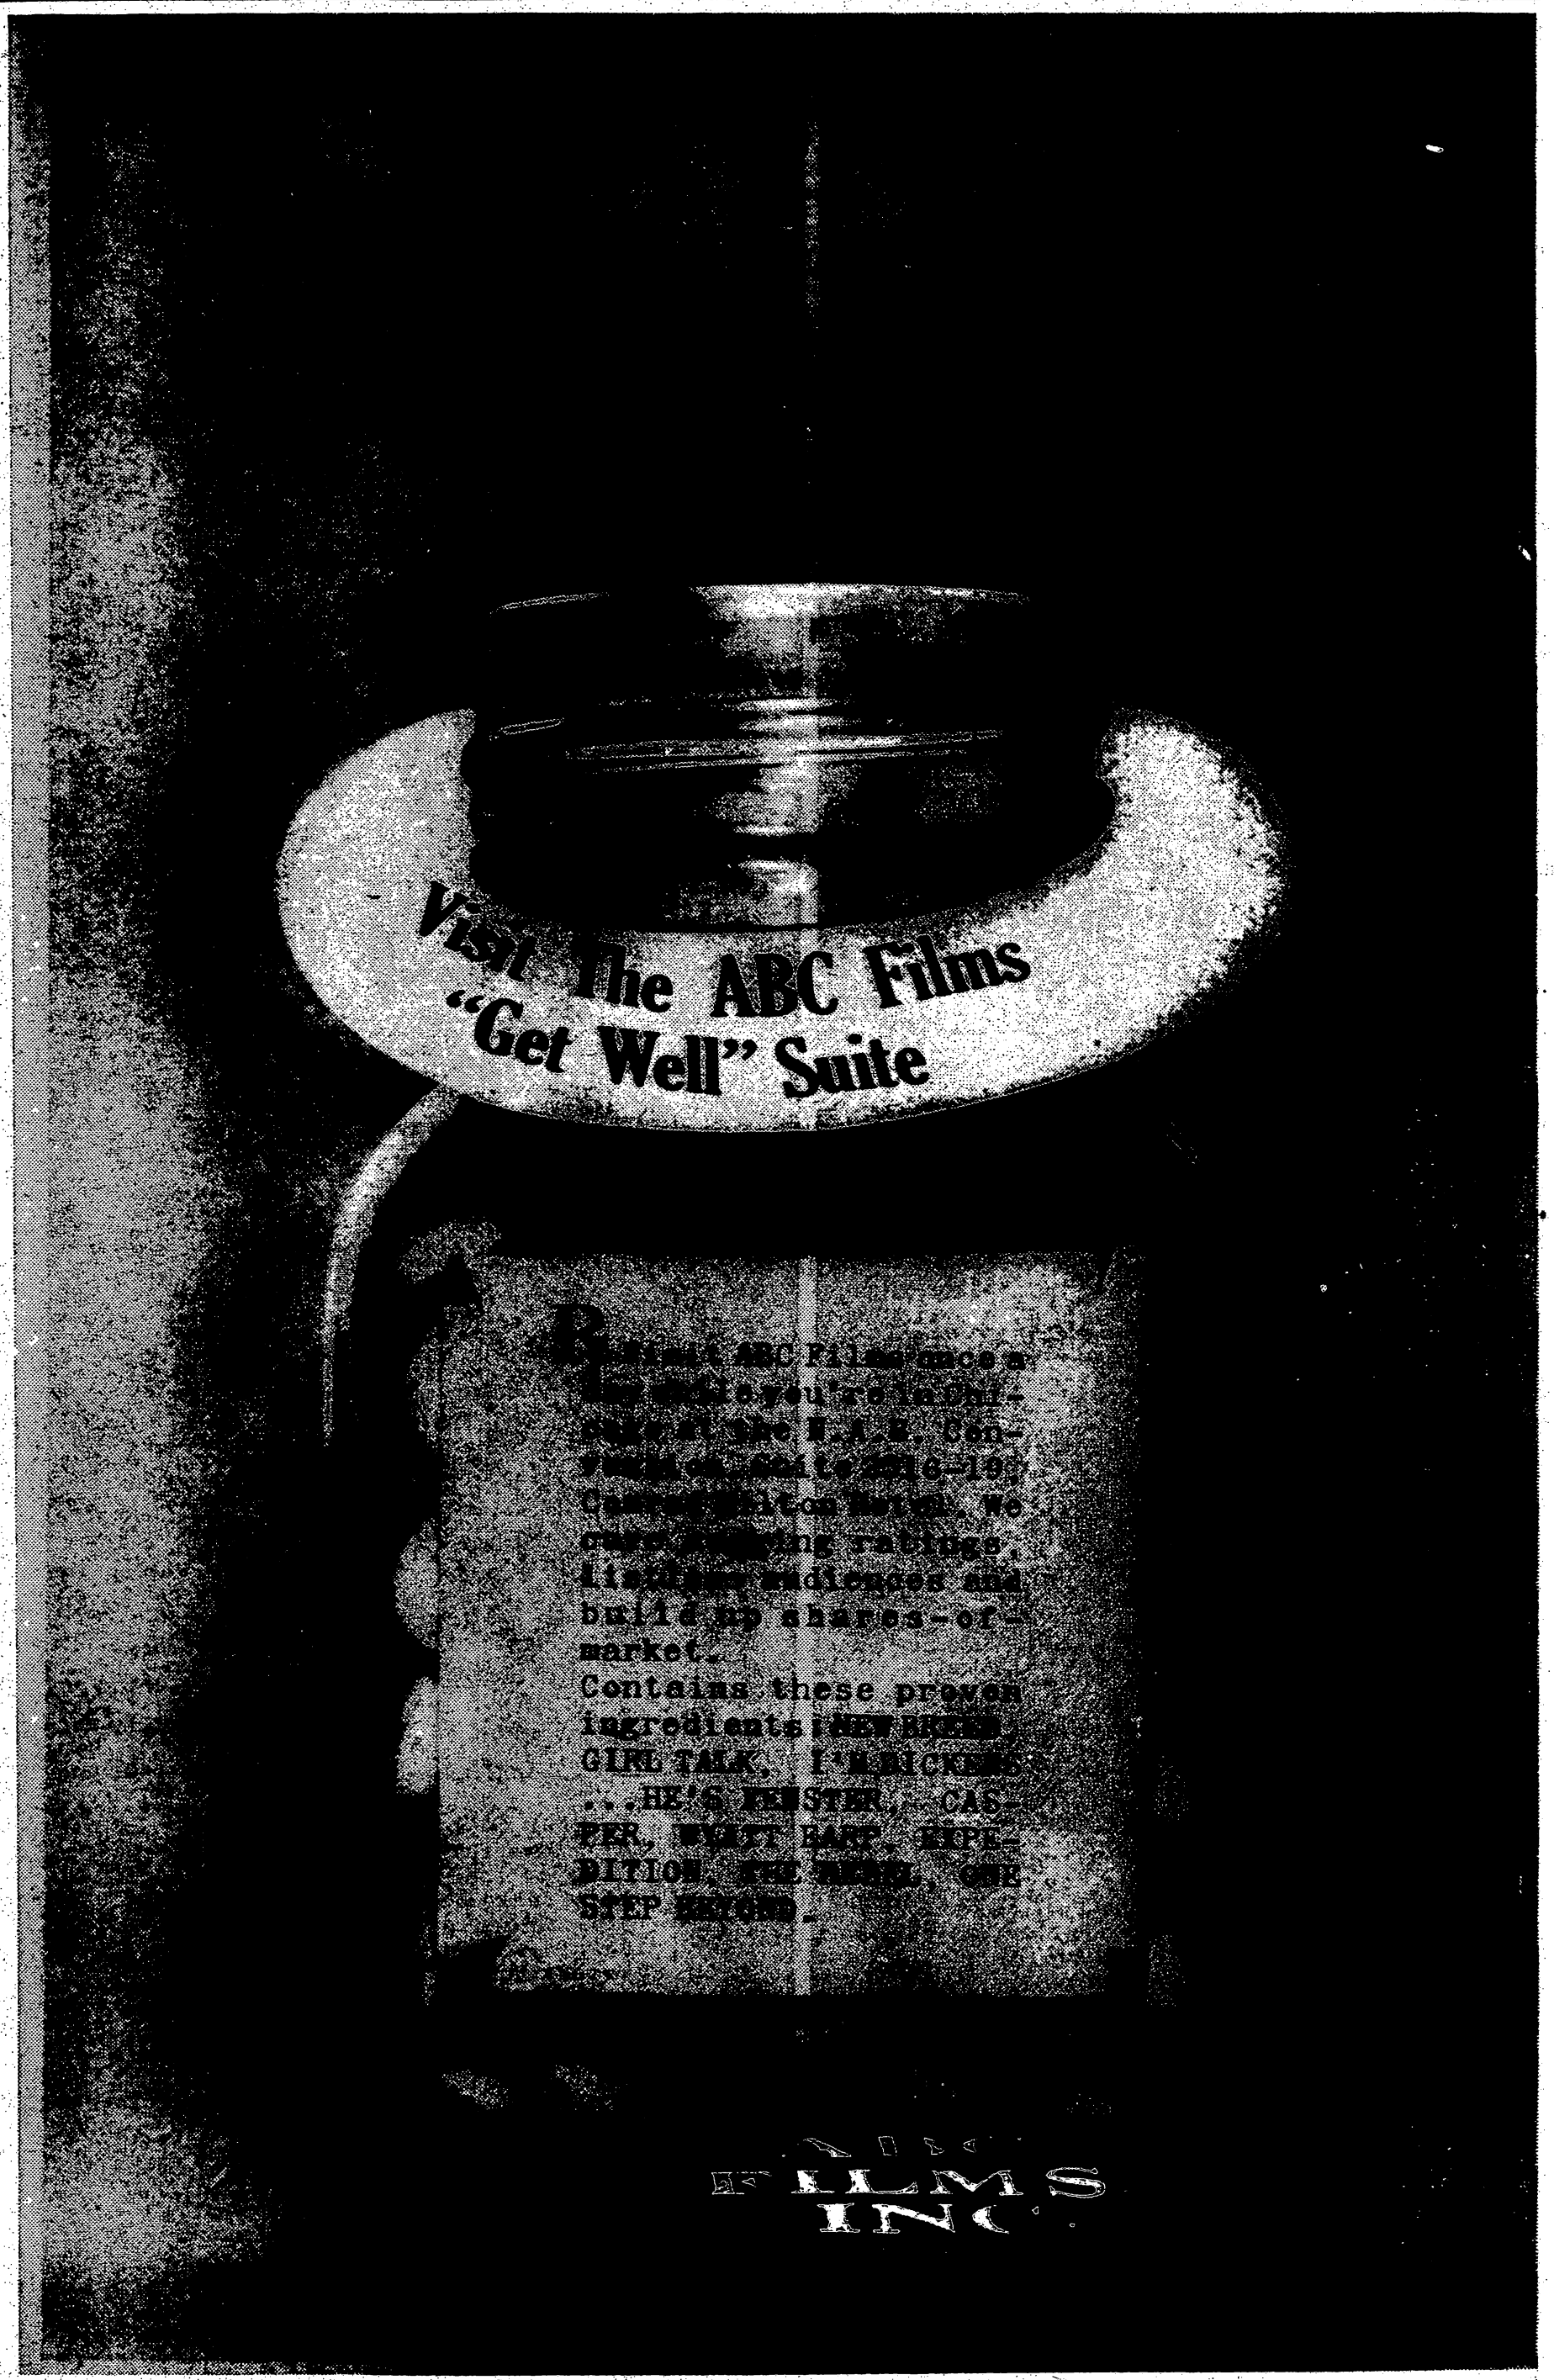
CBS-TV sports producer John Pokorski and writer John Mosedale off to East Africa to cover East Africa Safari Rally, a 3,200-mile sports car race, for airing on CBS Sports Spectacular series . . . CBS-TV soapers, "As the World Turns" and "Edge of Night", racking up nine years on the air . . . Mary Tyler Moore of CBS-TV's "Dick Van Dyke Show," signed two guest shots on "Ed Sullivan Show." . . . Golf champ Byron Nelson joins Chris Schenkel, Jack Whitaker and John Derr on CBS-TV coverage of Masters Golf Tourney in Augusta, Ga., April 11-12 . . . Jim Lavenstein, manager, program liaison, CBS-TV, to Utah on skiing vacation . . . John Hart succeeds John Edwards as bureau manager-correspondent of CBS Television Stations' Washington bureau . . . CBS Radio prexy Arthur Hull Hayes back from five-week world tour . . . Mort Lachman named producer of "Red Skelton Hour," succeeding Cecil Barker, who resigned to form his own company . . . David Susskind to be presented with "Producer of the Year" award by Scarsdale's Anti-Defamation League unit . . . CBS News correspondent Dallas Townsend will moderate a panel discussion "Political Previews for 1964," at New York U. on April 18 . . . Andrew A. Rooney has joined CBS News as a staff producer-writer.

Jan Murray plays himself in the April 11 stanza of CBS-TV's "Defenders" . . . Neil Hickey has been named New York bureau chief of TV Guide. He was with True mag . . . Groucho Marx and wife, Eden, will make their dramatic debut as a couple April 24 in Bob Hope Chrysler Theatre on NBC-TV . . . NBC Radio veep Marian Stephenson speaks to Ohio State University women April 16 . . . James T. Inch named NBC veepee & GM of NBC-Canada Ltd. . . . Aaron Cohen joined NBC as manager, program services for sales development and merchandising in participating program area . . . NBC News' Russ Tornabene is "visiting professor" in seminar series at Syracuse University . . . J. Larre Barrett new NBC manager, sales service, central sales . . . Broadcast Pioneers will hold 23rd annual awards banquet Tuesday (7) at Conrad Hilton Hotel . . . NBC Sports veep Carl Lindemann Jr., tv producer Jim Kitchell and radio sports editor Len Dillon winging to Japan in April for survey on Summer Olympic coverage . . . NBC taped a "Today" salute to Hoagy Carmichael with Hoagy, Julius LaRose and Fran Warren for airing April 24 . . . Dorothy Sarnoff, singer-actress, will be cited April 13 by Women's Division of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine of Yeshiva University for her contributions to public service, philanthropy and the arts . . . Karolyn Kennedy named research assistant on NBC-TV's "Sunday".

George Wolf named senior v.p. at Lennen & Newell . . . Richard Sarno, still director in the ABC-TV press info dept., addresses the Michigan Press Photographer's Assn. Friday (3) . . . Pamela Mason will do the handshake and palaver bit with press and broadcasters at the NAB meet. All in behalf of her hourlong interview show which Reade-Sterling handles . . . Sig Kusiel named tv sales topper for Latin America by Seven Arts . . . Lobby of the ABC exec offices now sports blowups of Smith & Morgan, plus Gen. Ike. Web assures that Humphrey & Ervin will shortly join the gallery . . . Hollywood film coutourier Edith Head set to repeat this year on the radio coverage of the "Oscar" awards April 13 via ABC. Whereas Joe Layton was partnered with her for last year's blow-by-blow, the nod this time goes to Jack Linkletter. He does the commentary and color, while Miss Head concentrates on calling the fashions.

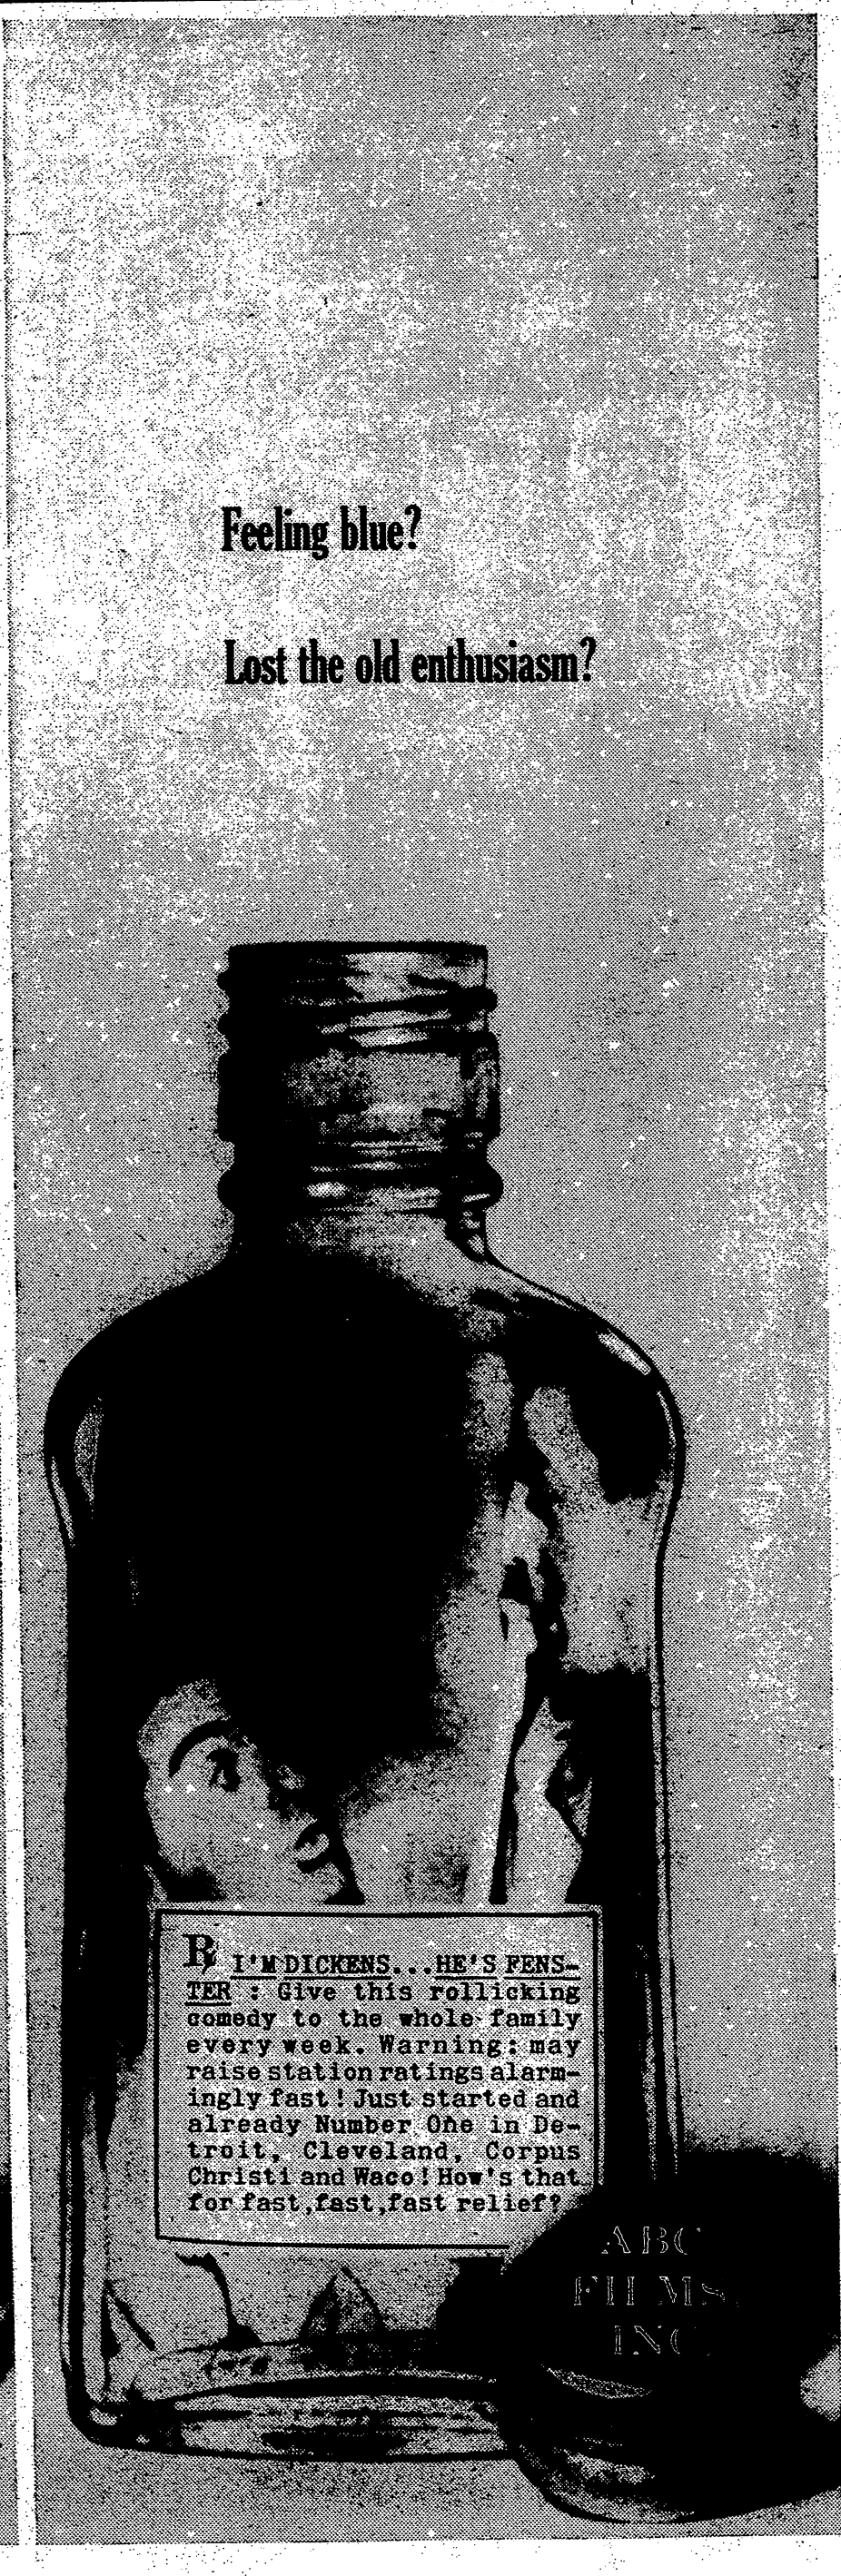
IN HOLLYWOOD . . .

Hunt Stromberg Jr. passed out promotions to four of his underlings within two weeks after he moved into the top program slot at CBS' Television City. Peter Robinson moved up to program development, a post Stromberg recently held. Other advancements went to Bruce Lansbury, Len White and Ethel Winant . . . The wreckers started demolishing the old NBC studio at Sunset & Vine. John West and his RCA staff moved into the company's new building one block up Sunset. What goes up on the square block site is still undetermined by the owners, Home Savings . . . George Schlatter flew to N.Y. to produce the RCA hour show from the World's Fair grounds. Offered $7,500 to produce an hour special from the Fair for NBC, which would take two months, Schlatter stuck to his asking price of $25,000. Someone else will produce it . . . Sol Saks now supervising all comedy shows out of CBS-TV . . . Prominent figures in radio and tv conducting sessions at three-day meet of Catholic Broadcasters Assn.'s western region at Serra retreat in Malibu . . . Beach Rogers staffed up as newsman at KFWB on a move from KIEV . . . Art Linkletter's son, Robert, getting teethed in communications as assistant to the program director at KFWB . . . Papa Linkletter, back from 40,000-mile cruise in the South Pacific, bending Jim Aubrey's ear about a series of daytime specials with femme appeal and a Purex slant.



IN CHICAGO . . .

NAB prexy, Gov. LeRoy Collins, gets a grilling from Terry Turner of the Daily News and Lawrence Laurent of the Washington Post next week on Northwestern U.'s "Your Right To Say It," carried by WGN-TV here and WNYC-TV, New York . . . Gary Arnold, one of WBBM-TV's new faces, is now permanent narrator-reporter for the station's monthly documentaries, "WBBM-TV Reports" . . . Russ Bensley, Chicago bureau manager for CBS News, is on a month leave to produce the Walter Cronkite early newscasts for the network . . . Felix Kubik has been named chief cameraman for WGN-TV News . . . WFMT has set a seven-month series of Shakespeare's plays. Tuesday night broadcasts will make use of the BCC and Spoken Word series . . . WGN-TV's Ray Rayner addresses the Chi chapter of American Women in Radio and TV tonight (Wed.) on the use of comedy in kidshows. AWRT, incidentally, is auspicing the visit this week of Electra Mirta Arlt, tv performer and director from Buenos Aires . . . Stuart Brent's new book, "The Strange Disappearance of Mr. Toast" (his golden retriever), is out this week . . . WBKB's Nancy Berg makes a personal appearance at Lincoln Chicago Boy's Club next Monday (6) . . . Bill Mainey will sub for WMAQ sportscaster Johnny Erp for a fortnight while he vacations in Florida . . . Jack Quinlan, who does the Cubs' games on WGN, copped the Illinois sportswriters' award as outstanding sportscaster in the state for the third successive year.



IN LONDON . . .

Derrick De Marney and Diane Noel penning a series around racing titled "They're Off!". . . Anglia-TV, which produced Britain's first Dawn University, is evolving another adult education series which should emerge later this summer . . . Associated-Rediffusion's tavern-based vaudeo show "Stars And Garters" collected the Top Entertainment Show of the Year award from Weekend, a local mass circulation weekly . . . John Coates joins Granada-TV as photographic manager . . . Nicholas Spargo elected chairman of the British Animation Group . . . A-R, which beams the hip show "Ready, Steady, Go!" organizing a "mod" ball at the vast Empire Pool. Wembley for April 8 . . . Same station is activating yet another series of its Moroccan-set actioner "Crane". . . Associated TeleVision program exec Bill Ward nominated as the U.K. member on the panel of judges for the Montreux Golden Rose competition . . . Ace interviewer Dan Farson is not renewing his contract with A-R though he intendes to work with the company as a freelance . . . Ann Beverley, junior designer at TWW's Cardiff studios, gained one of the two awards given by the Royal Society of Arts under its Industrial Arts Bursary Competition . . . BBC Radio launching a

(Continued on page 58)

Visit The ABC Films
"Get Well" Suite
ABC Films
INC.

Evening programming look glum and listless?
R THE NEW BREED: This miracle drug consists of cop scientists. A guaranteed sure cure if taken once a week. Proof? KABC, Los Angeles was the top station in the area. At 9:30 P.M. "Breed" became #1 and increased ratings 54% over previous programming. It was later switched to 6 P.M. and again became tops in the market. That's not only proof, that's power!

Feeling blue?
Lost the old enthusiasm?
R I'M DICKENS...HE'S FENSTER : Give this rollicking comedy to the whole family every week. Warning: may raise station ratings alarmingly fast! Just started and already Number One in Detroit, Cleveland, Corpus Christi and Waco! How's that for fast,fast,fast relief?
ABC FILMS INC

Take one of these every week for 30 minutes:
BY WYATT EARP: Delicious Western flavor--good for the whole family. Made with Hugh O'Brian. Will they really like it? They liked it better than anything else in Oklahoma City, Toledo, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Kansas City, Nashville, Miami, Portland, Oregon, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, etc.

How about a tried and proven tonic—good for general program aches?

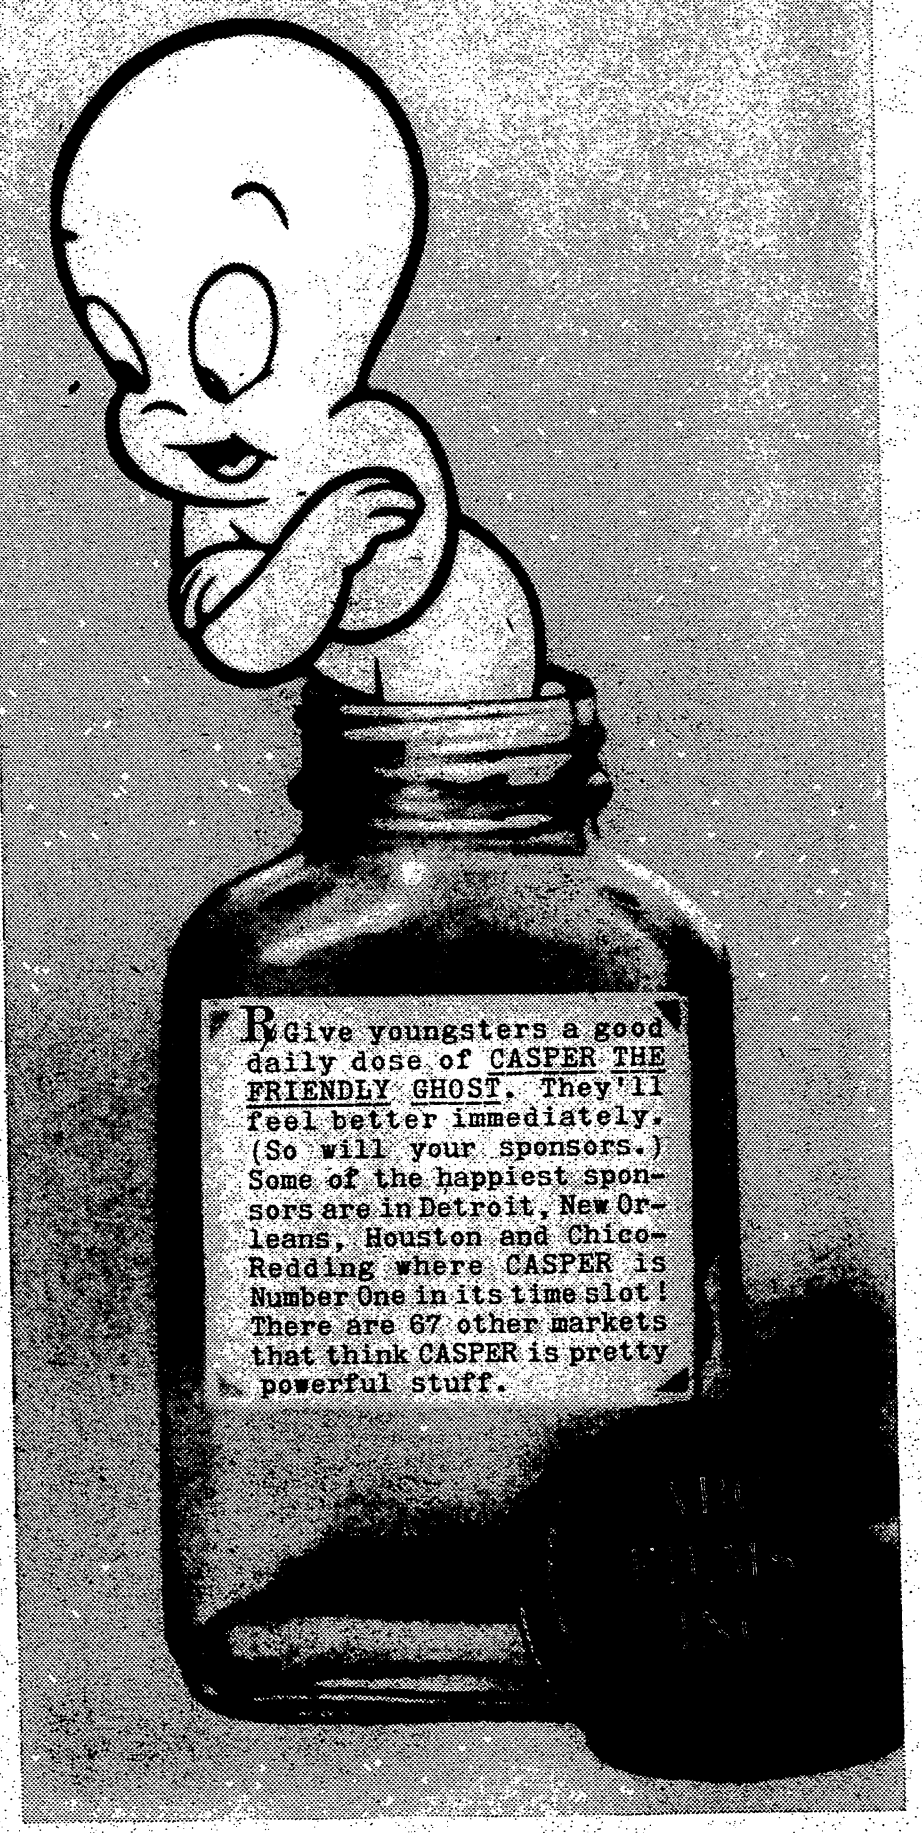
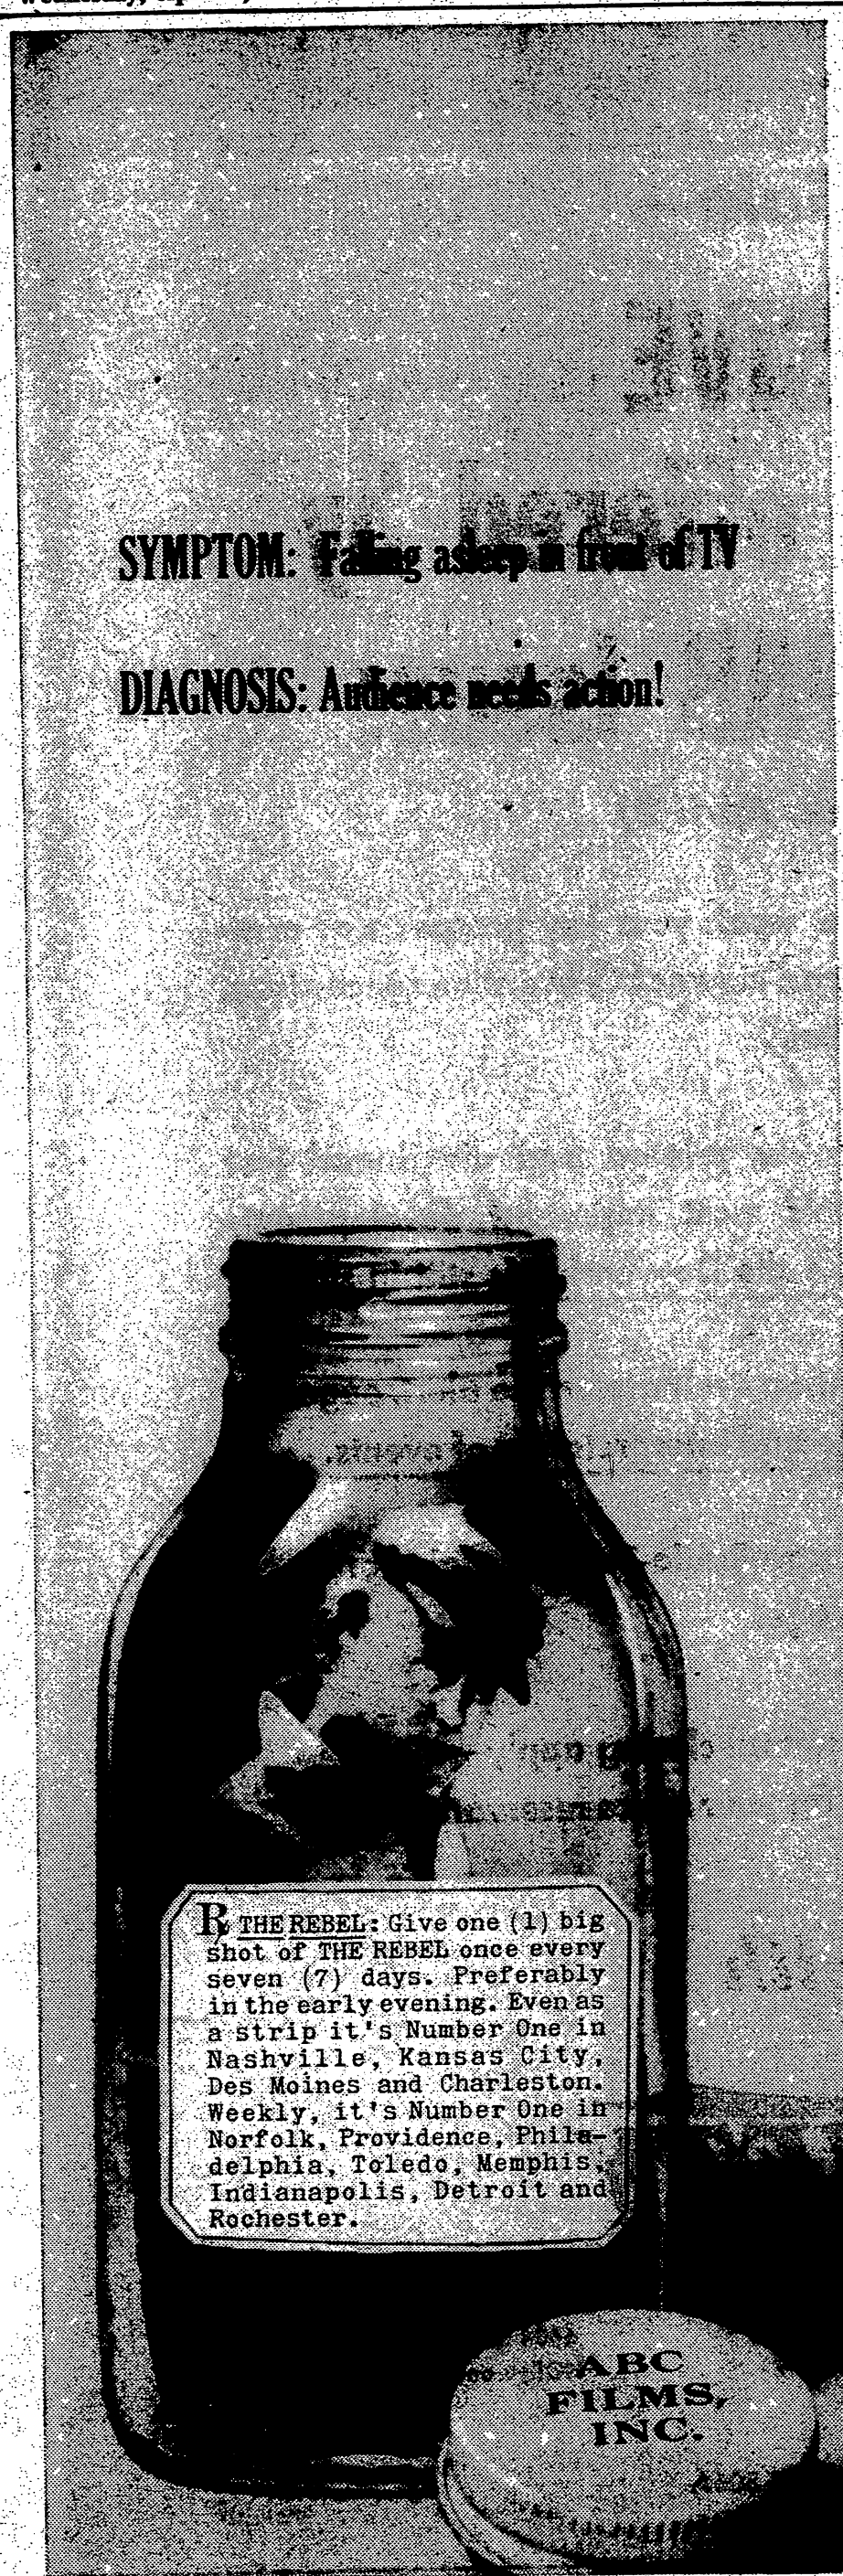
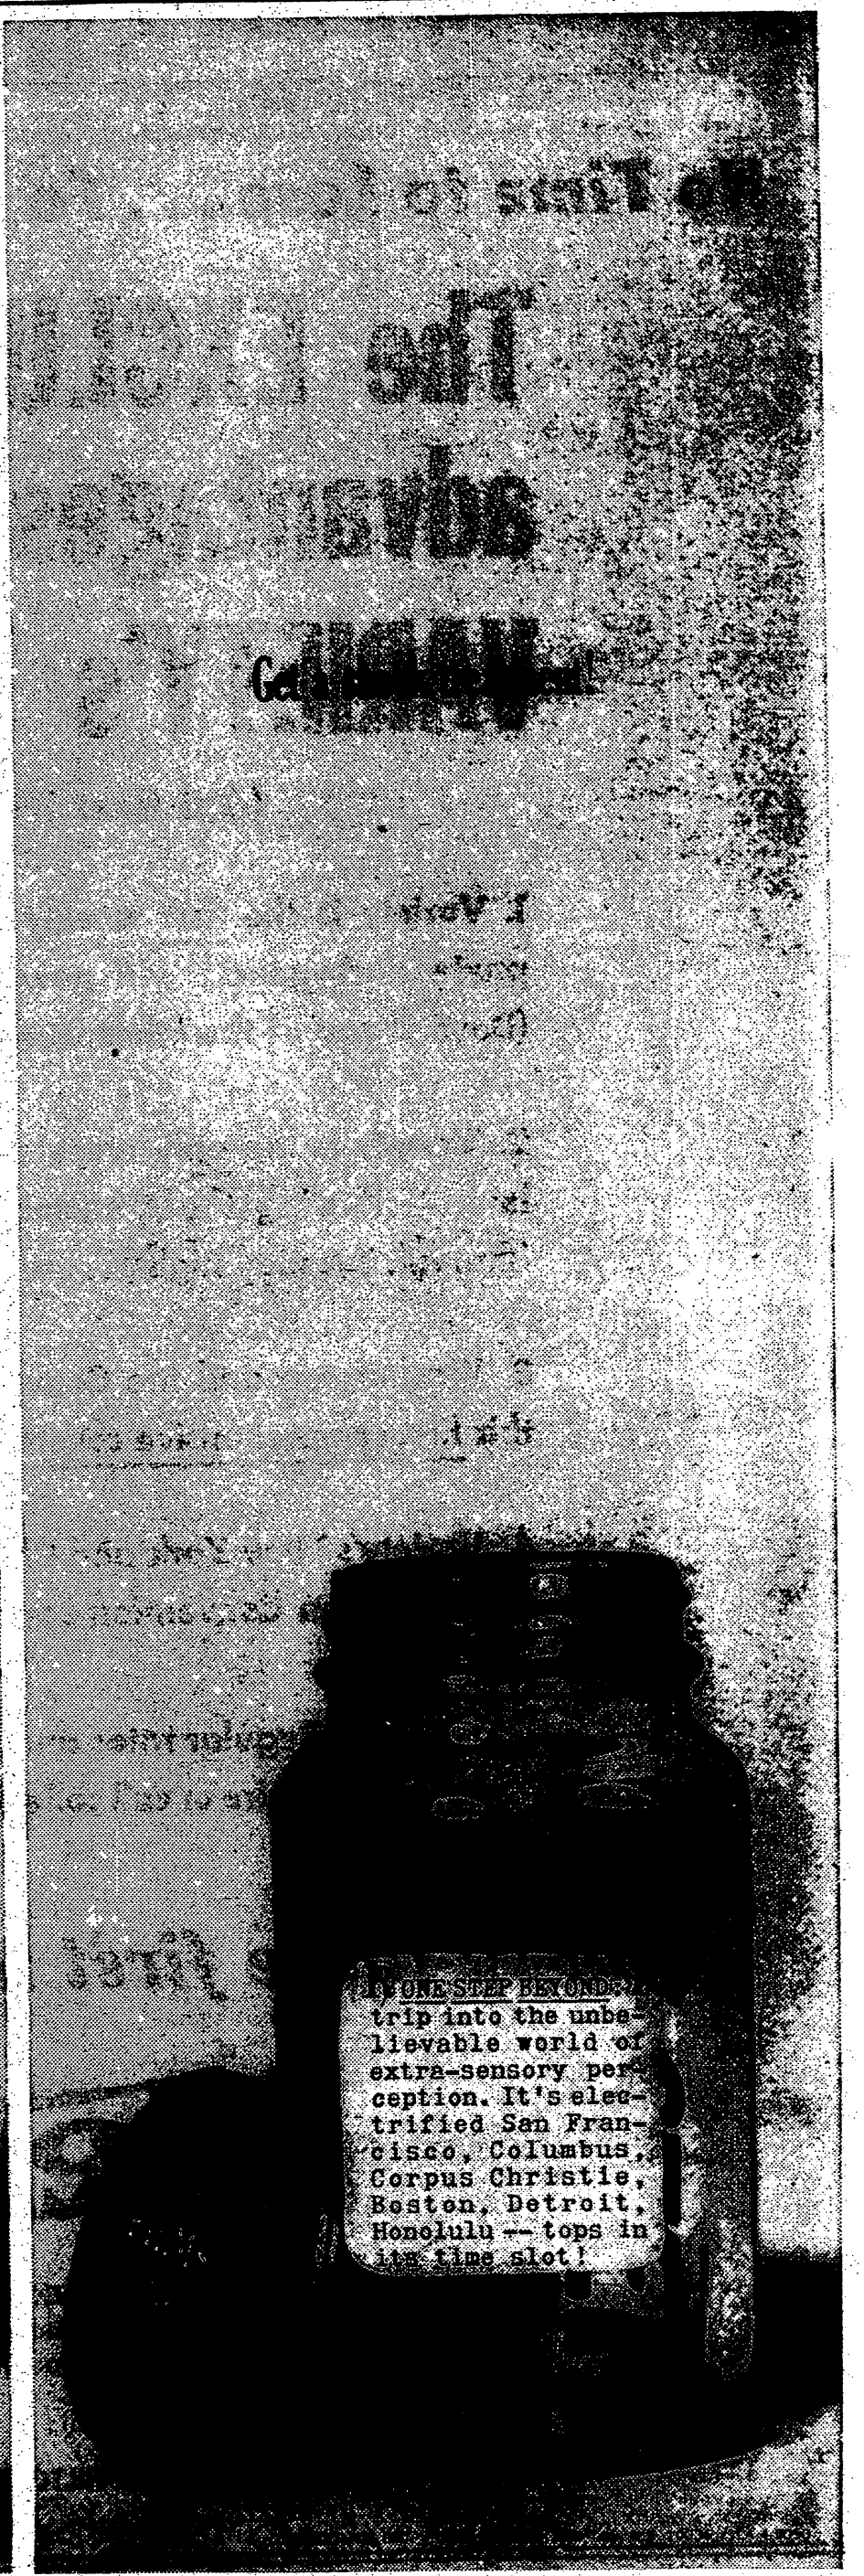
Sagging mid-day ratings?



Ladies ignore you?

SYMPTOM: Children seem listless and bored
CURE: CASPER





℞ GIRL TALK: A daily injection of GIRL TALK every day in the morning or early afternoon will pep you up, make you irresistible. The secret formula? Virginia Graham -- unrehearsed and spontaneous. Does it really work? LOOK! Number One in Albany, Providence and Portland. In Detroit ratings up 92%, New Orleans -- up 130%! Other pepped-up stations on request.

ABC FILMS, INC.

℞ Give youngsters a good daily dose of CASPER THE FRIENDLY GHOST. They'll feel better immediately. (So will your sponsors.) Some of the happiest sponsors are in Detroit, New Orleans, Houston and Chico-Redding where CASPER is Number One in its time slot! There are 67 other markets that think CASPER is pretty powerful stuff.

SYMPTOM: Falling asleep in front of TV
DIAGNOSIS: Audience needs action!
THE REBEL: Give one (1) big shot of THE REBEL once every seven (7) days. Preferably in the early evening. Even as a strip it's Number One in Nashville, Kansas City, Des Moines and Charleston. Weekly, it's Number One in Norfolk, Providence, Philadelphia, Toledo, Memphis, Indianapolis, Detroit and Rochester.
ABC FILMS, INC.

ONE STEP BEYOND: trip into the unbelievable world of extra-sensory perception. It's electrified San Francisco, Columbus, Corpus Christie, Boston, Detroit, Honolulu -- tops in its time slot!

No Time to Lose . . . To Gain—

The EXCLUSIVE advantages offered by VARIETY's NAB Issue:

(Out Next Week, April 8)

1. Variety is the first weekly to reach your key prospects at companies and agencies with news and views of Convention conclusions. (Days ahead of the other weeklies.)

2. Variety is the only weekly to be printed and distributed just hours following the Convention's most important developments (through Tuesday night) . . . while the Convention is still in session.

3. Washington and the Convention itself are on the alert, eager for this first comprehensive coverage and interpretation of events.

4. Variety's New York and Chicago Radio-TV staffs join forces for full, in-person Convention coverage.

Regular rates and normal closing apply—
Just wire or call collect for your space reservation

You're there first with

VARIETY

NEW YORK 10036
154 W. 46th St.
JUdson 2-2700

CHICAGO 60611
400 N. Michigan Ave.
DElaware 7-4984

HOLLYWOOD 90028
6404 Sunset Blvd.
HOllywood 9-1141

CONRAD HILTON SUITE 806A

TV AND RADIO: DESERT-STYLE

21 Syndie Unveilings at Chi

At least 21 syndicated properties will be unveiled at the NAB conclave which opens Sunday (5) in Chi, with the majority of the syndie product reruns.

To be offered at the broadcasters' sessions are three from Desilu Sales: "The Greatest Show on Earth," three 90-minute pix and "Alcatraz: The Lonely Rock," latter a first-run.

From Walt Disney, the third-year reruns on "Mickey Mouse Club."

Four Star, "Ensign O'Toole," and possibly "McKeever and the Colonel."

CBS Films, "Marshall Dillon," reruns of "Gunsmoke," and "America."

Jack Webb, "True."

Twentieth-Fox TV, "A Day to Remember," first-run.

ITC, "Man of the World," 20 hours starring Craig Stevens, and possibly "The Saint."

MCA, "Wells Fargo."

NBC, "The Richard Boone Show" and "Lawless Years."

Official Films, "Survival," first-run.

Seven Arts Associated, second year of Boston symph.

UA TV, "East Side, West Side," "The New Phil Silvers Show" and "The Human Jungle."

Warner Bros., "77 Sunset Strip," "The Dakotas" and "Room for One More."

Screen Gems, "Empire."

'Philly Story' Gets a D.C. Replay As NBC Swap Nears Its Climax

Washington, March 31.

The Philadelphia story, FCC style, drew closer to the finish line as lawyers from NBC, Philco, RKO General, the FCC Broadcast Bureau and Westinghouse spent three hours rearguing the dizzying nine-year history of ever-embroiled WRCV there.

Four Commissioners were on hand to hear oral arguments in the hotly contested effort of NBC to trade off its o&o WRCV radio and tv for RKO General's WNAC radio and tv in Boston. Philco is trying to nab Philadelphia's channel 3 before NBC can comply with a Justice Dept. consent decree to shed its Quaker City outlet.

Leading off the colloquy was Philco's Henry Weaver who said FCC would have to make judgments on how far licensees can place the private interest above the public interest, NBC's "gross abuse" of network affiliation power to originally garner the station in 1955 and WRCV's "incredibly poor" programming.

Lashing out at the point stressed by FCC's Chief Hearing Examiner James Cunningham in recommending renewal for WRCV that NBC had the most broadcast experience, Weaver said:

"If experience produces the results NBC's experience produced in Philadelphia, you can't renew this license."

The gist of the Broadcast Bureau's argument against NBC was spelled out in a virtually minute-by-minute recapitulation of dealings between Westinghouse and NBC brass in the web's acquisition of WRCV.

Arguing for the Bureau, Thomas Fitzpatrick attempted to drive home the point that NBC abused its affiliation power and coerce Westinghouse Broadcasting in 1955 to trade its Philadelphia channel for one NBC occupied in Cleveland.

Looking slightly askance at the Bureau's intense preoccupation with that issue, Commissioner

(Continued on page 56)

Look to TFE-'65

The executive committee of Television Film Exhibit-'64 will call a meeting of all tv film distributors in N.Y. the last week of April to start the ball rolling for the next TFE event in '65.

This was decided at a committee meeting a week before TFE-'64 in Chicago, held April 5-8 in conjunction with the NAB convention. The main business of the end-of-April meeting will be to select an exec committee to steer TFE-'65.

Godfrey's Bid To Radio Advertisers: 'Use Personal Sell'

Chicago, March 31.

Radio Day, being an afternoon of seminars for the local industry climaxed by a banquet and special broadcast in the evening, had the ideal headliner in Arthur Godfrey, the medium's foremost salesman and ambassador. To a group of agency men who had spent most of the afternoon praising radio's potential but lamenting the lack of audience measurement tools, the CBS star let loose his well-traveled sermon on the evils of buying by numbers and the virtues of measuring radio by sales results. He rejoiced over Nielsen's departure from the scene and said he couldn't understand why anyone would still try to measure listening habits when it's obviously an impossibility.

Godfrey said that radio advertisers could be sure of three things: "that there are people out there, that they are listening and that they will respond." He strongly advocated the use by advertisers of "personal sell" by the medium's proven personalities, either on the nets or local stations. "In every town there are a few personalities

(Continued on page 56)

MGM-TV's Spires Gets Int'l Slot

John B. Spires, Paris-based European sales chief of MGM-TV, is being moved up to international sales director. This is a new post, not to be construed as filling the gap left by Dick Harper's move-over to Samuel Goldwyn. Harper, a syndication sales topper, ruled the domestic roost but had been increasingly active in the foreign sphere to boot. His slot remains vacant, and reportedly will for some time.

Spires has been sales topkick for Britain and the Continent since August of '61. Prior to that he'd been with MCA and several movie companies. The new post will switch him from Paris to the New York homeoffice in early June.

Baldwin & Humphrey Paired By Metromedia

A "two childhoods" hour special on Negro author James Baldwin and U.S. solon Hubert Humphrey has been prepped by Metropolitan Broadcasting for the Metromedia stations and projected syndication thereafter.

Both subjects voiceover the camera harkbacks to their respective boyhood locales—Baldwin's Harlem and Humphrey's upper midwest. Each retrospective has been designed as its own half-hour entity, or for back-to-back airing.

A MOTHER LODE OF LOCAL SPOTS

By BILL GREELEY

Tucson, March 31.

There is a section of roadway here that jets from downtown out into the desert hills which is called the Miracle Mile. The only miracle is that it could have so many lights and so little action.

Along this Hollywood-strip-on-the-hoof, that giant, twirling neon sign which should signal a posh nitery with naked dancing girls turns out to be the lure for the drive-in branch of a bank. Those dazzling strings of mazdas that look from a little ways off like the Johnny J. Jones midway come up nothing but a massive used car lot as quiet as the cemetery in Tombstone, Ariz., with no life but a nightside drummer adoze in the lot shack.

But if vaude and night life are not only dead but stillborn, this blooming desert community, which has grown from 25,000 to 300,000 population since the war (with about 1,000 increase a month) is much alive in its broadcast and print media—and other advertising carriers (there are those swirling neons on old East Speedway, and a match folder of wide distribution carries this message: "If you land in jail . . . let Reed go your bail . . . Ask jailer, attorney or friend to call us. Fast, courteous, confidential, 24-hour service—city, state or federal bonds."

There are as many tv channels as in Philadelphia—four. There are 14 radio stations with a variety of program formats and some surprising regional vigor. And for newspapers, Tucson is in the lucky 5% or so in the nation that has two of opposing editorial slant. And can anybody think of a better date for the British feature film "Tom Jones" than a drive-in theatre? Said pic is showing here at an ozoner on a day-date with a hardtop for those who just want to watch.

There's a tv channel for each network — KOLD-TV (13), CBS; KVOA-TV (4), NBC; and KGUN-TV (9), ABC—and the University of Arizona has KUAT-TV (6), an educational outlet. The network affiliates are caught in the Mountain Time Zone between the midwest and far-west feeds, and solve the problem mainly by taking the early line. Thus, on a Monday night, "I've Got a Secret" plays at 6 p.m.; "Outer Limits" at 6:30; and such "adult" shows as "East Side, West Side" and "Breaking Point" air at 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. respectively. Same time, by delays, the likes of "Tell the Truth" run Monday nights at 9:30 p.m. "Richard Boone Show" airs Tuesday nights at 7 p.m., and Mitch Miller's singing nostalgia hits the locals at 6:30 p.m. Mondays (sing along with mouthful of dinner).

That Extra Com'l

Miller is lucky at that. He personally called KVOA to get on the air at all. Station throws out the Monday night NBC feature film rerun for its own pix. A spokesman said, "We simply went out and bought a package better than theirs (the UA bundles). Anyhow, Miller got the station to sing along on a delayed basis at the early hour, which could be done after a second vidtape machine was acquired. If the early schedules and delays are calculated to kill the network sense of humor, there is one provincial trick gauged to make them cry out loud. In what apparently is a nationwide practice, the stations here will chop the network fades by up to 10 seconds to squeeze in another commercial at the break. Visiting web program folk have recently been heard to howl like a desert coyote.

But the tv boys should be at ease. On radio, they just might lift a whole network spot. On a recent night, a monitor caught a Mutual Broadcasting co-op newscast in which the Tucson affiliate tossed in a commercial for the Las Vegas Dunes Hotel French girlie

(Continued on page 62)

NAB Convention as Syndicators' Showcase for New Product Kickoff But Most of It Comes Off Networks

Nature of the syndication terrain on the eve of next week's National Assn. of Broadcasters convention finds new product in the field, more openings for possible winners, and the competition tougher than ever.

Annual conclave of NAB, to be held this year again in Chicago, to all intents and purposes marks the start of the selling season for vidfilm syndication houses. This year, too, the bulk of the new product being launched for the market-by-market route is off-network properties.

The relative few first-runners will either be British made or documentary in nature. In terms of total product, there are fewer new entries than last year in this spring period of the NAB meet.

Most heartening development this selling season, from the viewpoint of syndicators, is the ABC-TV move to return the periods of from 10:30 to 11 p.m. four nights a week to local stations. Another plus is the return of Tuesdays from 7 to 7:30 p.m. to CBS-TV affils.

These developments, in toto, open up hundreds of possible slots for syndicators which heretofore had been programmed by the networks. Compared to the syndicated product available, time slots even with the moves of ABC-TV and CBS-TV, remain in terrible short supply.

Although virtually all major syndicators have new entries to offer, timed to the NAB convention, the total product is less than in the past. In recent years, major syndication houses had a backlog of off-network product. When this backlog was released, it swelled the total number of vidfilm series in the product pool. This year out, very few syndicators have more than two or three new entries, many of them having one.

Prices, generally, have been depressed, although the better series have been earning their way. With station management now savvier than ever, selling in syndication has become research oriented. Another development is that station deals on the major off-network series, those entries involving

(Continued on page 58)

Log This!

Washington, March 31.

WTOP, which will carry the Senators home-and-away ballcasts, got out a program log correction to wit:

"The opening game of the regular season will be played in Washington against the Los Angeles Angels in the new D. C. Stadium, game time convenient to the President of the U. S."

WNEW'S 'Strictly From Show Biz' Status Unimpaired

By JACK PITMAN

While most of the AM radio band across the land projects a formula image of one sort or another—reliance on the talk or music-and-news formats—WNEW, N. Y., seemingly has dominant claim by a long-shot to identification as the show business station. Not so much in consequence of artful publicity as in on-air performance.

Be it an Audrey Hepburn or Robert Horton intoning house promos, a live nitery gig with an Ella or Tony Bennett, or a Sarah Vaughn doing the deejay bit for a week (commercials and all), the Metromedia outlet's affinity for the showbiz milieu easily puts it in the unmatched, if not unique, status.

Because WNEW digs the showfolk, they in turn are usually quick to respond, and not only for airtime. A bunch of 'em crowded the marquee when the station tossed itself a 30th anni bash in Madison Square Garden, N. Y., last July (benefiting the Musicians Aid Society), packing the place with eleven-three-oh faithful. So successful was it—premumably in goodwill harvest as well as the benefit b.o. (scaled to a $5 top)—that station steward John V. B. Sullivan is planning a repeat, and it's possible the shindig could become a perennial.

Part of the logic in the indie's penchant for personality is the fact of New York as showbusiness mecca. Thus, any station in the market can presume an unusually hip audience. In so presuming, WNEW generally eschews the pablum palaver and plays it for the hip values. Hence, and apart from some relatively square formats, the disposition under major domo Sullivan is to the elongated (up to an hour) conversation with artists that may probe such categories as race, personal trauma, politics, global jazz forms, etc.

Likewise in the sense of "hip," the staffers' (and station's) taste inclines mostly to the better pops and jazz. Besides the disks in this groove, the live hourlong nitery remotes have spotlighted a Duke

(Continued on page 56)

CBS O&O Pubaffairs Exchange Bows April 18

CBS-TV o&o's annual public affairs program exchange kick off this year April 18, when each o&o contributes 20 half-hour programs of a local public affairs series for broadcast by all five stations.

This year's series and producing stations are: "The American Musical Theatre (WCBS-TV, N.Y.); "Sum and Substance," (KNXT, Los Angeles); "Science Unlimited" (WBBM-TV, Chicago); "Love to Read," (WCAU-TV, Philadelphia), and "Food for Fun" (KMOX-TV, St. Louis).

The exchange will commence April 18 on WCBS-TV and KNXT, April 25 on WBBM-TV and WCAU-TV, and May 2 on KMOX-TV.

Brazil Nuts About 'Kildare,' 'Bon'za'

Hottest tv shows in Brazil currently are the NBC-TV series, "Dr. Kildare" and "Bonanza," says Ralph Norman sales rep for NBC International in the South American country who was in the New York offices last week.

"Bonanza," Norman reports, is South America's first color show, being aired in tint in Sao Paolo, which has six other channels operating. He says two more of the stations plan to go to color this year, as will one of Rio de Janeiro's stations.

Norman says that Brazil, which is South America's No. 1 tv market, is roughly comparable to the Canadian market. The SA country now has 35 tv stations (all commercial) on the air.

'Outer Limits' a Hot Sales Item Overseas

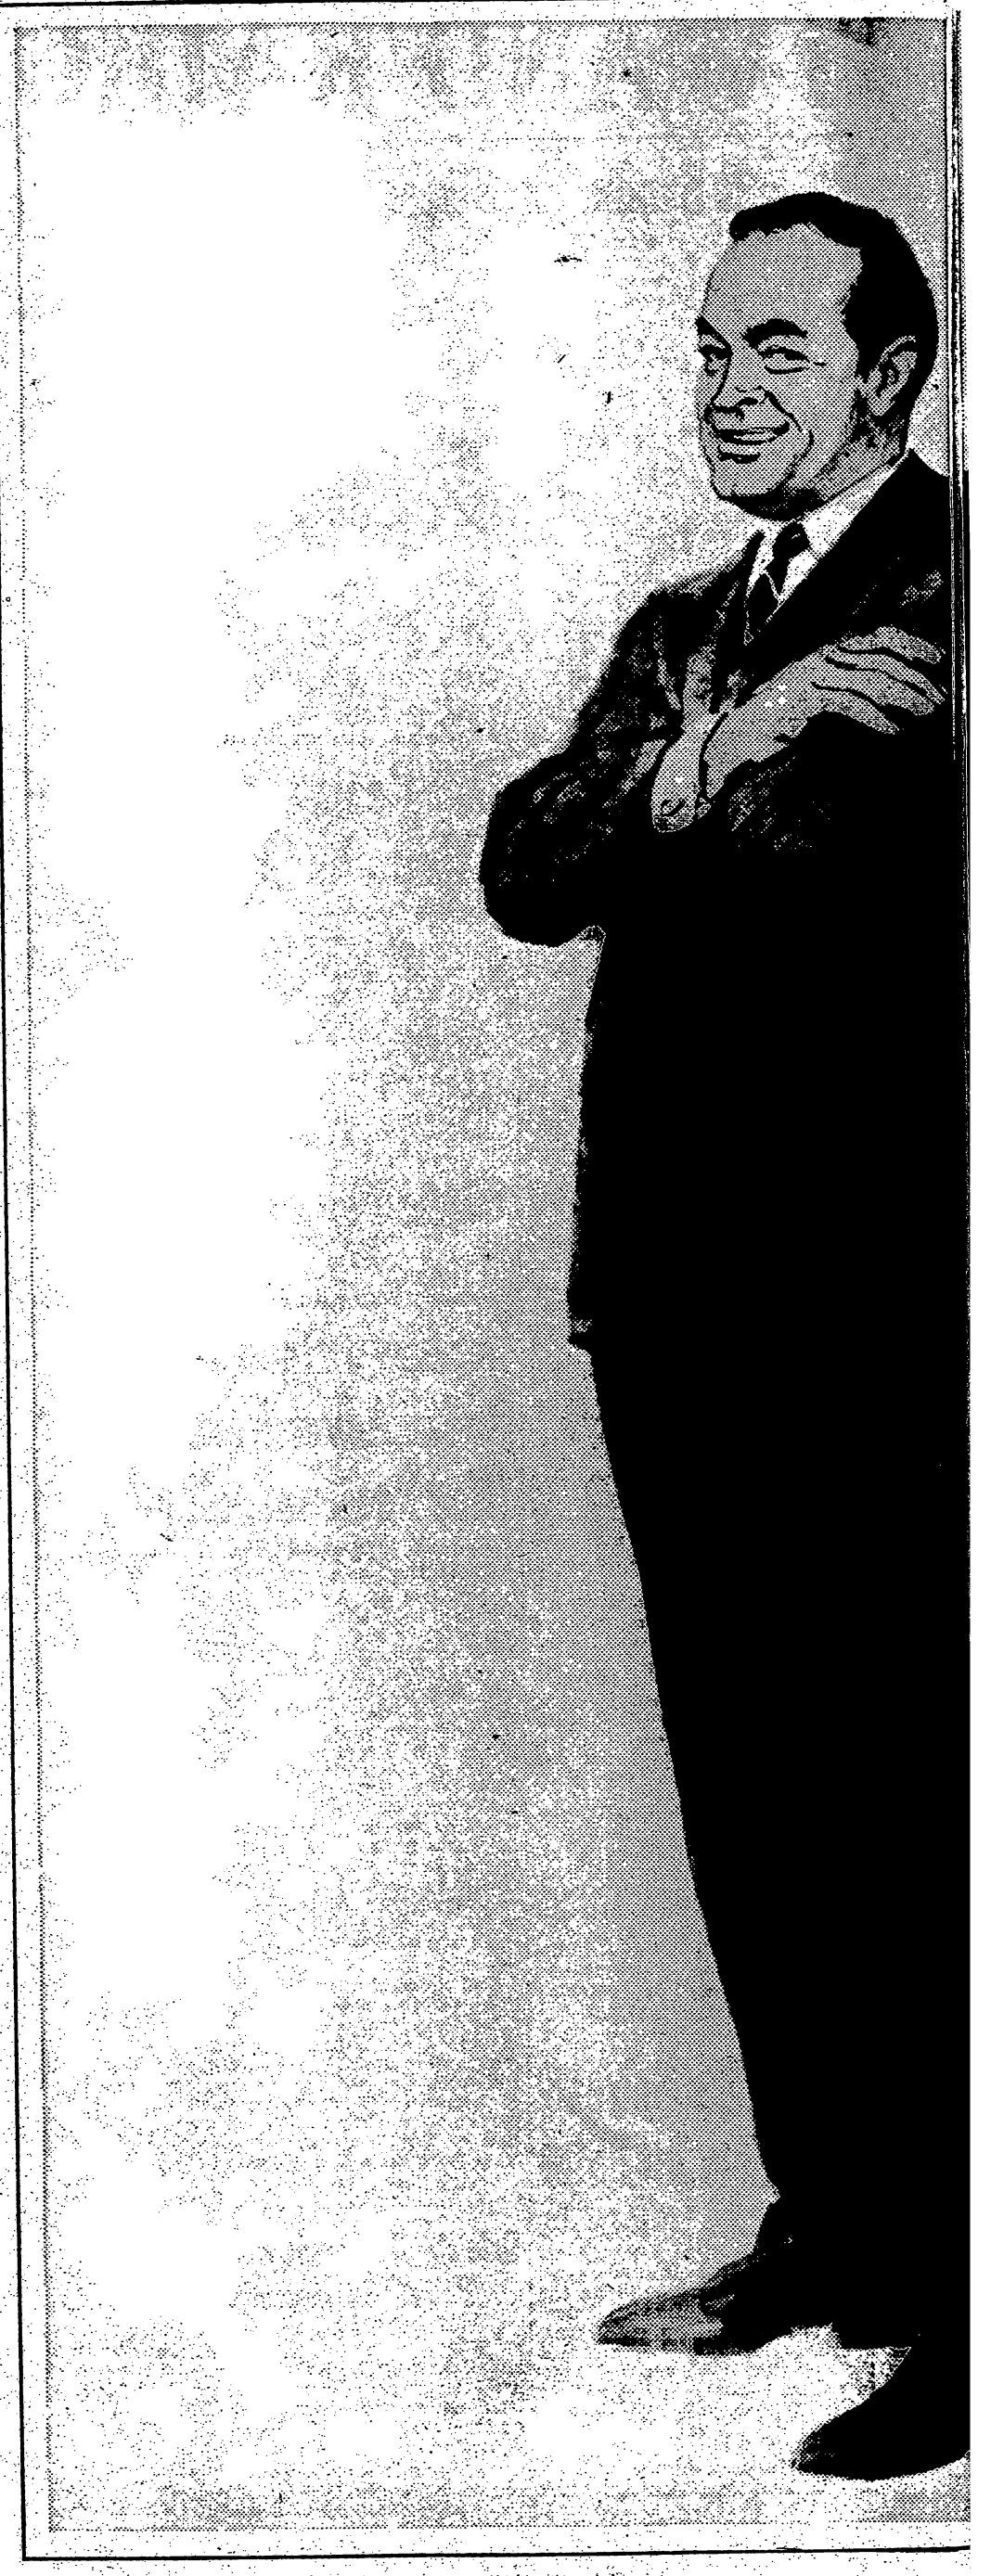
"Outer Limits," science-fictioner completing a year's run on ABC-TV, has been sold in 20 countries by United Artists Television International.

Deals were made with Granada Television in the United Kingdom; TV Excelsior in Brazil; WAPA-TV, Puerto Rico: Mirror Enterprises in Australia; Nippon Educational Television in Japan; Philippines, Thailand, Argentina, Uruguay, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Mexico, among other countries.

HOW TO IDENTIFY A NETWORK

The sight of the nation's finest performers on the screen has always been an entertaining way to identify NBC Television. And next season it will be more fun than ever.

Friday nights, for example, Jack Benny returns to NBC to continue the illustrious show business career he began at this address. When he becomes the man in the middle of a Friday lineup that already includes Bob Hope and Jack Paar, viewers can look for one of the most diverting program parlays television has ever offered. But of course, delightful as that Friday combination promises to be, it represents only a fraction of the glittering NBC Television star roster.



The multi-talented Danny Thomas will also be showing up at NBC in the Fall, in a group of special programs, while Alfred Hitchcock will preside at a merrily macabre hour every Monday on this network.

On the same distinguished roster are Don Ameche, Johnny Carson, Perry Como, Walt Disney, Andy Williams and Jonathan Winters in variety entertainment. Drama or comedy series will showcase Shirley Booth, Charles Boyer, Richard Chamberlain, Gary Clarke, Lee J. Cobb, James Drury, James Franciscus, Dean Jagger, Raymond Massey, Doug McClure, David Niven, Fess Parker, Gig Young, Robert Vaughn, Dennis Weaver, and—back at the ranch—Lorne Greene, Pernell Roberts, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon.

In short, television's most familiar faces will be at NBC in the Fall—which really is no surprise. This is the network, after all, that was bringing the nation such performers as Bob Hope and Jack Benny when they were only familiar voices.

NBC

Look to NBC for the best combination of news, information and entertainment.

Every Friday night next season on NBC: 8:30 pm BOB HOPE, 9:30 pm JACK BENNY, 10:00 pm JACK PAAR

Public and critical acclaim of the initial Boston Symphony concerts has prompted the release by Seven Arts of a Second Series of 13 One-Hour TV Concert Specials featuring the world renowned 104-piece Boston Symphony Orchestra conducted by Erich Leinsdorf.

"...Erich Leinsdorf's batonless conducting technique molded the music he drew from his superb orchestral instrument with extreme plasticity....Televised concerts, to be successful, must achieve a mystic marriage between sonic and visual arts, and this one comes off well."

(Excerpts from critical review of debut of series on WTTG, Sunday, Feb. 2, 9-10 P.M.) —THE EVENING STAR, Washington, D.C.

"WNEW-TV last night (Sunday 9-10 P.M.) began another series of taped concerts featuring the Boston Symphony under the direction of Erich Leinsdorf. It was a delightful alternative to the viewer so disposed, particularly because the visual coverage was so tastefully restrained and unobtrusive.

—THE NEW YORK TIMES, February 3, 1964

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
13 One-Hour TV Concert Specials—Second Series
Erich Leinsdorf, Music Director

1 Wagner: Good Friday Spell from "Parsifal" Strauss: Don Quixote (Soloists: Samuel Mayes, Cello and Joseph de Pasquale, Viola)
2 Hindemith: Metamorphosis on Weber
Schumann: Piano Concerto (Soloist: Theodore Lettvin)
3 Brahms: Haydn Variations · Mendelssohn: Midsummer Night's Dream (Speaker: [illegible])
4 Mozart: Minuet, K. 320 · [illegible] Symphony No. 10
5 Milhaud: Viola Concerto (Soloist: Joseph de Pasquale)
Dvorak: Symphony No. [illegible]
6 Bach: Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 (Soloists: Doriot Anthony Dwyer, James Pappoutsakis and Joseph Silverstein)
Bartok: Violin Concerto No. 2 (Soloist: Joseph Silverstein)
7 Schubert: Symphony in C (Posthumous)
8 Schumann: Symphony No. 4 · Strauss: Till Eulenspiegel
9 Piston: Symphony No. 4 · Rimsky-Korsakoff: Coq d'Or Suite
10 Mozart: Two Minuets · Strauss: Ein Heldenleben
11 Mahler: Symphony No. 1
12 Mahler: Adagietto, Symphony No. 5 · Tchaikovsky: Suite No. 3
13 Rossini: Overture "Il Signor Bruschino"
Beethoven: Symphony No. 7

Complete and successful [illegible]

[illegible]

SEVEN ARTS ASSOCIATED CORP.

A SUBSIDIARY OF SEVEN ARTS PRODUCTIONS, LTD.
NEW YORK: 200 Park Avenue, YUkon 6-1717
CHICAGO: 4630 Estes, Lincolnwood, Ill., ORchard 4-5105
DALLAS: 5641 Charleston Drive, ADams 9-2855
LOS ANGELES: 3562 Royal Woods Drive, Sherman Oaks, Calif., STate 8-8276
TORONTO, ONTARIO: 11 Adelaide St. West, EMpire 4-7193
LONDON W1 ENGLAND: 24 Berkeley Sq., Hyde Park 0671
Distributed outside of the United States & Canada, Cable: NORFILM London

MEMBER TFE

Preview these fine attractions at Seven Arts' Hospitality Suites
439 • 441 • 443 • 445
Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago—
Sun., Apr. 5—Wed., Apr. 8

WBBM Drops Staff of 25 Musicians As Radio's 'Live Program' Fades

Chicago, March 31.

WBBM Radio, one of the last AM-ers in the nation still using live programs, is expected to cease the practice upon ratification of the new AFM contract recently negotiated by the networks. The local CBS station had expected to get some relief from its musicians quota under the new pact but instead faces a 3% increase in scale for the same 25-staff musicians it has had to maintain under the old contract.

The regular cast of the two-hour daytime "Music Wagon" strip—singers Lurlean Hunter, Bill Lawrence, the Arbors and the 14-piece band—received notice a fortnight ago of a possible termination this Friday (3). The tooters will continue to be paid under the contract but will receive their checks at home. Undoubtedly the live strip will be replaced by a record show.

A spokesman for WBBM Radio said the station was dropping its live programs because "they are no longer economic." He said, "We're convinced that there is still a place for live music in radio, but it's an expensive form of programming and the musicians union has just priced us out of it. We're not being vindictive, just realistic."

"Music Wagon" has been the most expensive radio buy in this market, carrying an open rate of about $300 per 10-minute segment. In addition to the 14 musicians (plus 11 on standby under the quota) and the staff vocalists, there's the expense of arrangements, rehearsals, studios, engineers and promotion. WBBM will be freed of the big tab, but with some rgrets because the live stanza has long been the pride of the station.

Storer & Nielsen Palsy Once Again

The chill between Storer Broadcasting and A. C. Nielsen appears to be ended.

The chain, on behalf of its five tv stations, had cancelled the rating service early last month over procedures used by Nielsen, but now says, following huddles with Nielsen, that the breach has been patched and the service resumes.

Storer's agitation stemmed from Nielsen's emphasis on call-letter identification in the set-owner's diary. It appears now that Nielsen has consented to something like arbitration. Or as Bill Michaels, Storer-TV v.p., states:

"They have confirmed to us and to representatives of the Broadcast Rating Council that once a set of standards and recommended procedures is established, they will be glad to conform, and are willing to spend sizable sums of money to conduct tests in cooperation with the Council to arrive at a satisfactory diary form."

For its part, Nielsen states a willingness to go along with tests of various station identification forms in tv dairies, the study to be undertaken by a panel repping the NAB and the Advertising Research Foundation. If need be, adds Nielsen, it will then modify its auditing technique.

Storer stations which had defected were WJBK-TV, Detroit; WJW-TV, Cleveland; WAGA-TV, Atlanta; WITI-TV, Milwaukee; and WSPD-TV, Toledo.

'Adventure 26' Tinters As New Embassy Package

Embassy Pictures has a new package of features, called "Adventure 26," and described as adventure-epic pix, all in color and filmed in various European locations.

Included in the package are such films as "Joseph and His Brethren," "The Trojan War," and "The Mongols," which have had a theatrical release in this country. Others will be having their first showings here.

20th's 13 Markets For 'War to End All Wars'

20th-Fox TV has lined up the first 13 markets for its new hour long special, "War to End All Wars," keyed to 50th anni of World War I.

Sales include four Metromedia stations; WNEW-TV, N.Y.; WTTG, Washington; WTVH, Peoria; and WTVP, Decatur, Ill. (latter two both UHF). Others already inked are KCOP-TV, Los Angeles; KBTV, Denver; KORK, Las Vegas; KUTV, Salt Lake City; WOAI-TV, San Antonio; WBNS, Columbus; WRDW, Augusta, Ga.; KGNS, Laredo; and KVOS, Bellingham, Wash.

"War to End" is narrated by Quentin Reynolds, and also bills Eddie Rickenbacker, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Eugene Lyons and Burnett Hershey.

650G Lockup On 'Marshal Dillon'

In a series of pre-release sales, CBS Films has racked up $650,000 on deals for off-network reruns of "Marshall Dillon." CBS subsid is selling "Dillon" (nee half-hour "Gunsmoke") in a package of 156 episodes.

Release of "Dillon" is keyed to the upcoming NAB convention in Chicago, where CBS Films will conduct its 10th annual sales meet. With three recent off-network series and the Jack Douglas first-runner "America!" CBS Films expects its best year.

"America" has been sold in over 40 markets, with its availability in color a strong plus, according to sales v.p. Jim Victory. "Have Gun, Will Travel" to date, according to Victory, has grossed over $2,000,000. The other off-network property being distributed by CBS Films is "True," the half-hour anthology series hosted by Jack Webb.

"Dillon" was sold to KHJ, Los Angeles; WCCO, Minneapolis; KOOL, Phoenix; and WTOL, Toledo.

Atlanta WSB-TV Moves Into Prime Time to Do A Bronston Pic Promo

Atlanta, March 31.

For the first time in Atlanta, perhaps anywhere, a television station is preempting one of its regular programs in prime time to present a program (a promotional short) about a motion picture.

This will take place April 12 when WSB-TV telecasts "Rome in Madrid," a 23-minute short on Samuel Bronston's "The Fall of the Roman Empire," booked to open a road show engagement April 17 at Wilby-Kincey circuit's Roxy Theatre.

Station is backing up showing of short with their promotion facilities and is being assisted by Gerald Rafshoon, head of Atlanta agency bearing his name which handles W-K account for both Roxy and Fox, circuit's two theatres here.

Rafshoon formerly was exploitation and advertising chief for 20th-Fox in Southern territory.

More V Channels Get FCC Nod for ETV Use

Washington, March 31.

FCC was busy shifting VHF channels to non-commercial educational use.

Commission adopted rules reserving channel 2 in Columbia, N.C. and channel 8 in Waycross, Ga. as etv spots. University of North Carolina and Georgia State Board of Education wanted the channels for their etv networks.

At the same time FCC proposed granting channel 9 in Grandview, W. Va. for educational use of West Virginia Univ. Comments on the proposal are due by May 4.

Hub's Art King Retires

Boston, March 31.

Art King, pubaffairs director of WEEI, CBS radio, veteran New England broadcaster, retires April 1 after more than 27 years.

King, a native of Lynn, Mass., joined WEEI as announcer and sportscaster in February, 1937. He later served as WEEI production director, and then news director of the station until his appointment as pubaffairs director in 1960.

Anecdota For a D.C. Show: 'Life & Times Of Lawrence Spivak'

Washington, March 31.

"Meet the Press" followers will find it hard to believe, but Lawrence E. Spivak used to be a boxer at Harvard and later spent several years on the magazine, Antiques.

Also, while confessing, "I don't like to fish and I'm scared of dogs and guns," Spivak once published two outdoors mags called Hunting and Fishing and National Sportsmen.

These little known backgrounders on Spivak, the "Meet the Press" producer who has delivered the shaft to many famous politicos, were brought out by moderator Deena Clark on her program, "A Moment With," televised on NBC o&os Saturday afternoons.

Spivak said he had one defeat in his college boxing career. It came at the fists of a man who is now mayor of Salem, Mass. They had fought in the 115-pound class, Spivak recalled.

"I ran into him at a Democratic National Convention a few years ago," Spivak continued. "He now weighs 200 pounds. I didn't ask for a return match!"

In his long publishing career before entering broadcasting, Spivak is best known as editor and publisher of The American Mercury. In that capacity, he started Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine and pioneered with the first paperbound books in 1936.

He told Mrs. Clark that he has no problem in recruiting political VIPs for "Meet the Press," despite the sometimes loaded questions.

"Meet the Press," he said, "has established a reputation for responsibility and, I think, for fairness. Where the questions may be tough and challenging, I think they always are fair.

"Our audience," he went on, "does get angry. They get very much so sometimes if they're Republican and we question a Republican sharply. The next week if we interview a Democrat, we'll hear from the Democrats. Former Gov. Fine of Pennsylvania said, 'When you interview my enemies, I love you. When you interview my friends, I wish you were hung'!"

WBAP-TV's Comic Ballet

Fort Worth, March 31.

The comic ballet, "Les Chapeaux," was telecast on WBAP-TV on Sunday (29) by Texas Christian U. Students from TCU's ballet and radio-tv and film divisions of the Fine Arts School worked with WBAP-TV in bringing the ballet to television.

Program was the first televised colorcast of the ballet which was presented last month on stage at TCU and in San Antonio. It was produced by Robert Gould, programming director at WBAP-TV and Dr. William Hawes, director of radio and tv at TCU. Robert Grammer directed.

WZIP to CBS Radio

Cincinnati, March 31.

A Cincy link for CBS Radio will be restored after an absence of months April 5 when daylighter WZIP joins the network.

CBS service here was terminated by WCPO last year, some time after the Scripps-Howard station had replaced Taft's in a switch from ABC. WCPO-TV continues as a CBS video outlet.

'GRAND OLE OPRY' SALES

Nashville, March 31.

"Grand Ole Opry," vidtaped and distributed by WSM-TV here, has been sold to WFAA, Dallas; WBAL, Baltimore; and KWTV, Oklahoma City.

To date, over 100 markets are playing the show, the markets being in all sections of the country.

Field Enterprises Taps Quinlan In Bid to Diversify; Playboy Expands; Chi Pubberies Yen B'cast Ownership

By LES BROWN

Chicago, March 31.

Two major Chicago publishing houses are on the threshold of diversifying into broadcasting, both admittedly late in the game and each, coincidentally, to be stewarded in the electronics venture by a recent casualty of the WBKB "resistance movement" in the ABC-TV owned stations division wars.

Field Enterprises Corp.—parent of the Chicago Sun-Times, the afternoon Daily News, and World Book Encyclopedia—has taken ex-WBKB veep Sterling C. (Red) Quinlan into the fold as an untitled executive for the apparent purpose of heading an eventual broadcast division. At about the same time, Hugh Hefner of the Playboy empire tapped Dan Schuffman, who had been Quinlan's program manager, as vice president in charge of the entertainment divisions of both Playboy Clubs International and HMH Publishing Co. (the magazine). Hefner's show biz itch is hardly a secret, and it's understood that in addition to other expansion activities (film production, recordings and concert promotions) Schuffman will explore the prospects of establishing a group of Playboy radio stations.

As of now, the Field thrust into broadcasting seems the more significant and immediately promising of the two. The firm's prime competitor in shaping the mentality of the Windy City is the Tribune Co. (the Chi Trib, afternoon American and WGN Inc.), which enjoys a communications edge in this community at least partly because of its tv and radio properties. Broadcasting is the next logical step for the prosperous Field organization with its surplus of profits, and Quinlan's sudden availability last month precipitated the decision to enter the field.

Even so, the publishing firm is moving with caution. The formal release on Quinlan's appointment contained little description of his duties other than that he "will survey the entire electronic communications medium for us." But in an interview, Quinlan revealed that Field Enterprises had already appointed an FCC counsel (Dow, Lohnes & Alberson) in Washington, and he indicated that there was nothing tentative about the Field interest in acquiring stations. He said that his initial work would be to "hammer out a philosophy with the Field board" and that once there was an understanding of what it desires to accomplish in broadcasting he would proceed as architect of a broadcast division.

"I'm going to get this outfit in tv and radio," he said, "and I expect to finish my broadcast career with this company." Quinlan, incidentally, has an office in the fourth floor executive suite of the Sun-Times-Daily News building and reports directly to George Young, exec veepee of the corporation.

Although the newborn Field penchant for station acquisitions doesn't confine itself to Chicago, there's obviously a strong desire—perhaps even a need—for local properties. Unfortunately, there seems nowhere to go in this market except UHF and FM, unless a choice AM-er should suddenly go up for sale.

(Continued on page 62)

Preview For a Rerun

Four Star Distribution last night (Tues.) established some sort of a precedent when it tossed a preview party for a rerun series. Press and ad agency folk were invited for drinks and a screening of "Ensign O'Toole," the comedy starring Dean Jones that had a run on NBC-TV and has just started a 13-week summer rerun on ABC-TV.

Series appears to deserve some kind of a sendoff as it goes into syndication. FSD has already locked up the New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington and Detroit markets on pre-release deals.

WNEW-TV bought the series for a fall start in New York, and WNEW parent Metromedia also bought the series for its Washington station, WTTG-TV. "O'Toole" has also been sold to three ABC o&o's, WBKB-TV, Chicago; KABC-TV, Los Angeles; and WXYZ, Detroit. Star Jones will promote the series via personal appearances at FSD's suite at the TFE Chicago convention.

'That's Me All Over': NBC Int'l

NBC International reports sales last week of a total of 519 programming hours overseas with "Dr. Kildare," the hour medico series, in the lead with 175 hours.

Liberian tv bought seven different shows, including 23 hours of "Bonanza," 20 half-hours of "It's a Great Life," 53 stanzas of "Medic," 83 "People Are Funny" shows (new and repeat), 21 hours of "Michael Shayne," 26 half-hours of "Flight" and eight "Philip Marlow" shows.

Other sales were the telementaries "Way of the Cross" to West Germany; "River Nile" in Czechoslovakia and Austria; "Voice of the Desert" in Poland; and "Shakespeare: Soul of an Age" to Holland (which also bought 30 hours of the Dick Powell drama series).

NBC's first sale to Scotland was for 26 half-hours of the "Loretta Young Show." Northern Nigeria ordered another 13 hours of the Dick Powell series, and Trinidad, Jamaica, Gibralter and Kenya each ordered 34 hours of "Dr. Kildare," with Portugal requesting an additional five hours of the show.

The first Latin American sale of "Car 54" was for 40 half-hours to Puerto Rico, which also bought 33 hours of the Richard Boone anthology drama series.

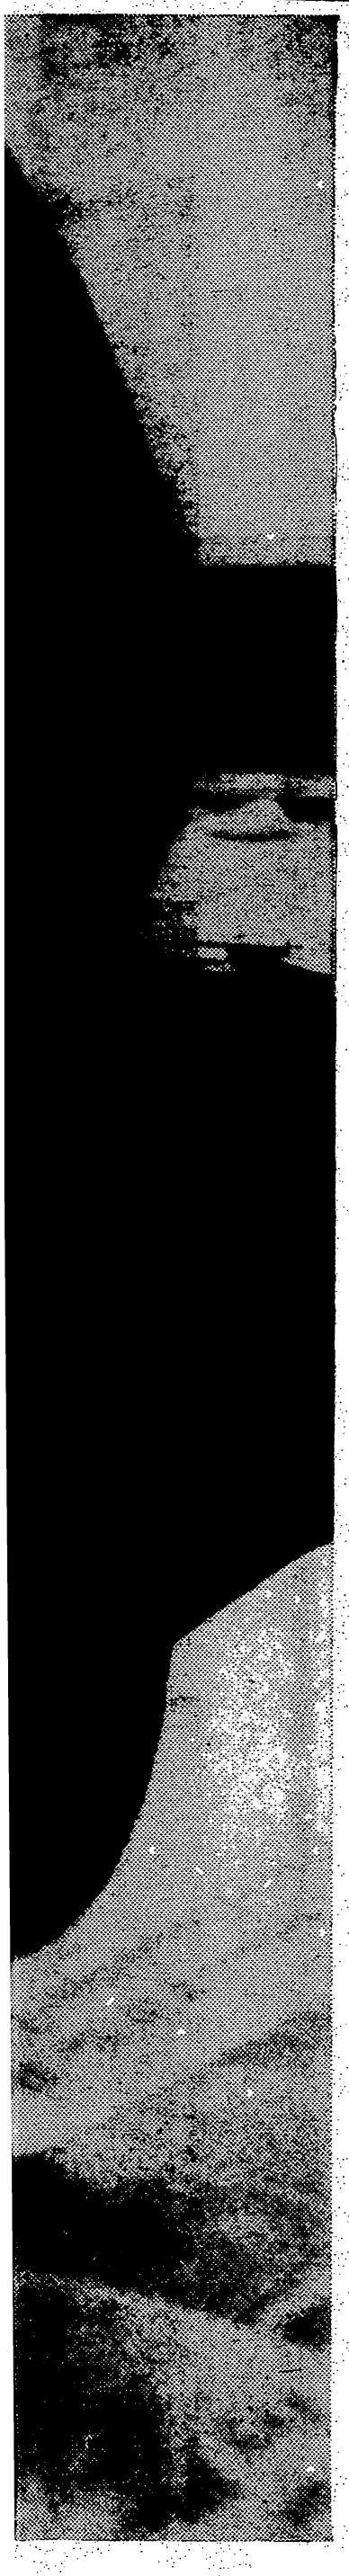
In Mpls. the Gals Dig Pocket Billiards So WCCO-TV Preems Series

Minneapolis, March 31.

Now that snooker and rotation have gone legit and pool is known euphemistically as pocket billiards, WCCO-TV has decided that the sport rates television coverage. Accordingly, the CBS affiliate here has introduced a weekly pocket billiards program, "Call Your Shot," which preemed last Saturday (28).

Growing femme taste for pocket billiards undoubtedly was a factor in moving WCCO brass to initiate the studio show. Emphasizing the parlor game's increased hold on gals, WCCO named Miss San Lynn Merrick, former national intercollegiate billiards champ, to serve as regular moderator on the program.

Seeing to it, however, that the show doesn't get too far out of balance on the distaff side is stogie-smoking Halsey Hall, veteran Minneapolis sportscaster who has, on occasion, been mistaken for "Minnesota Fats." Hall is handling color commentary on "Call Your Shot."



MGM-TV 50-Land Roster on Sales

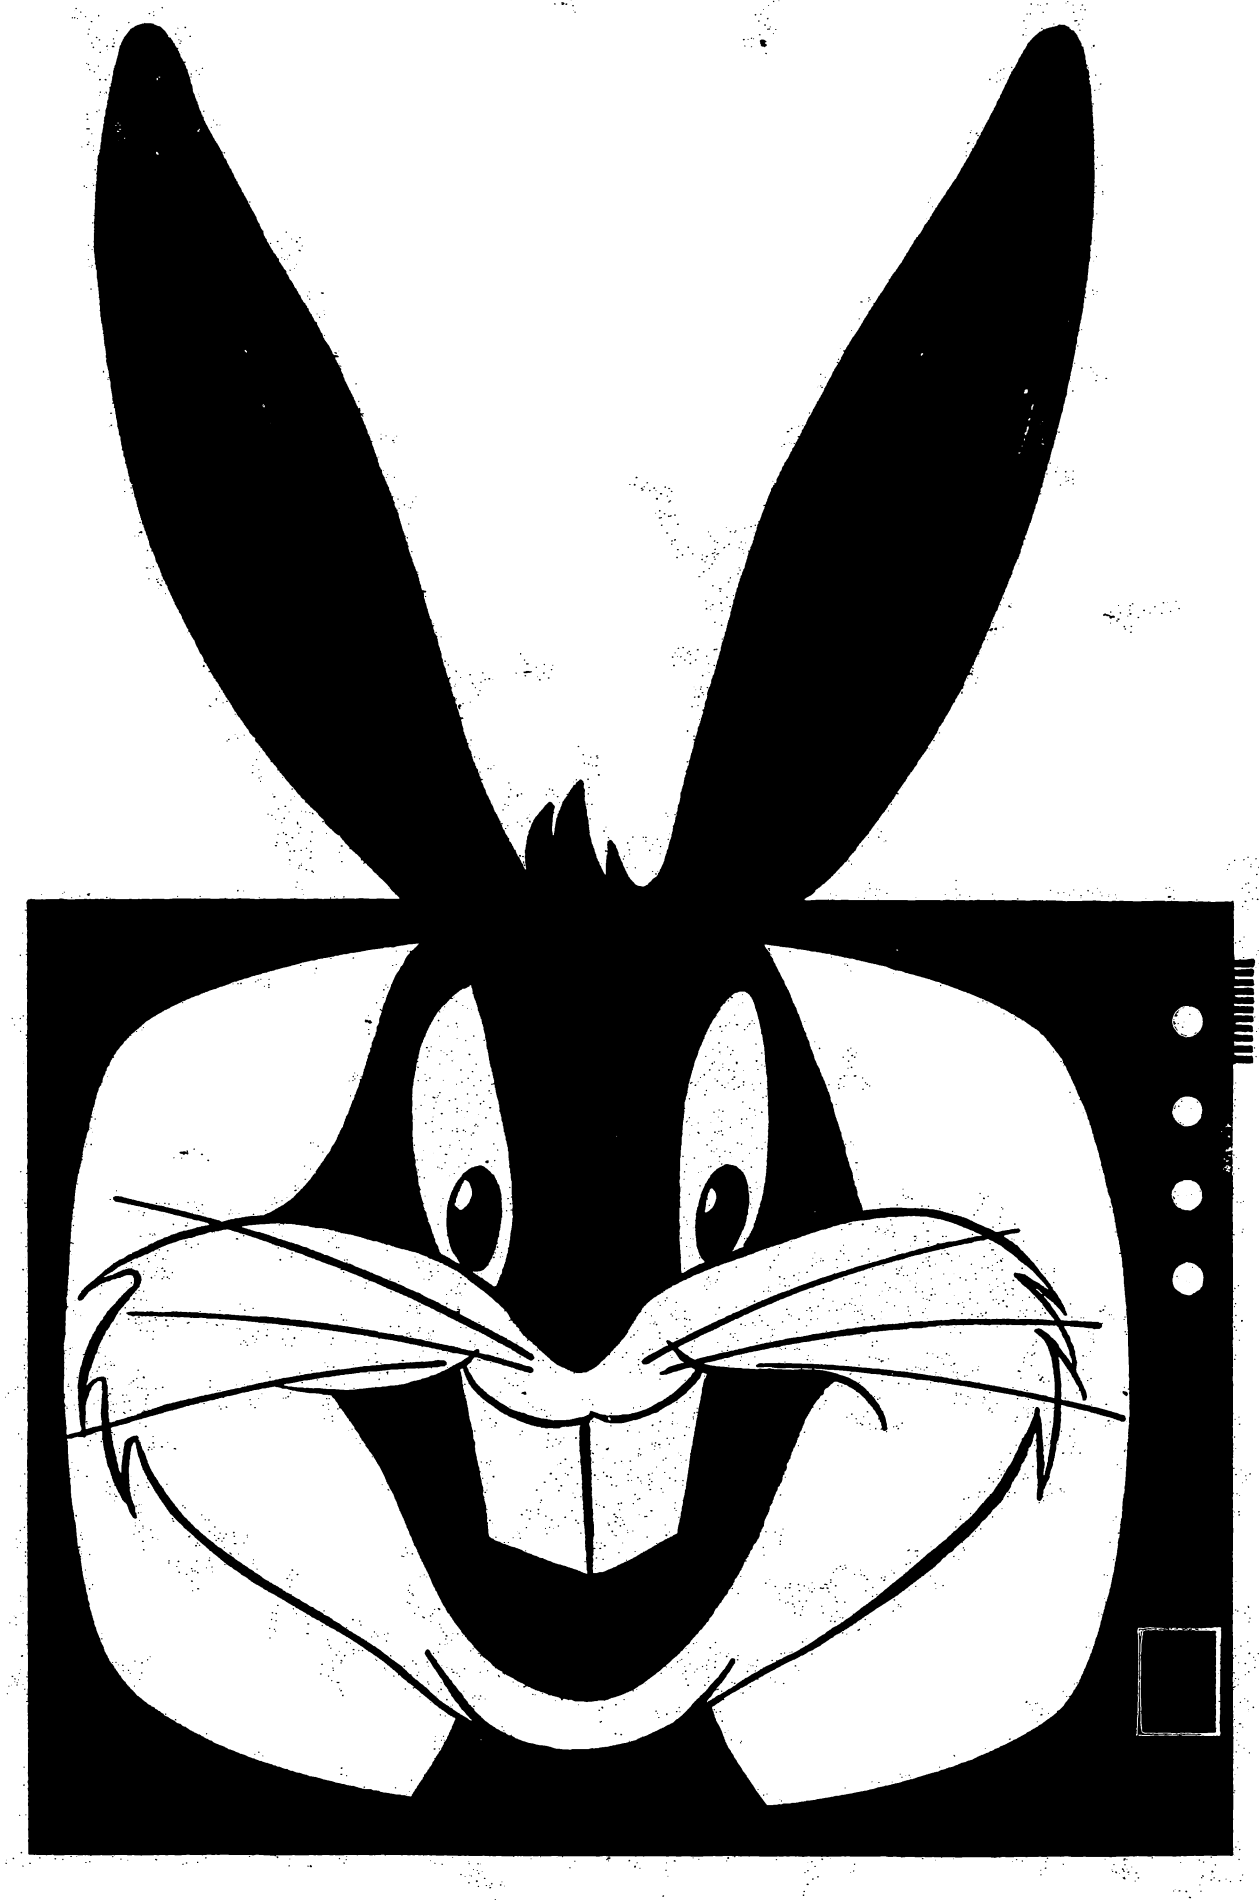
MGM-TV has rung up of late another $500,000 in overseas vidfilm sales that also sent it past the 50-nation mark in foreign markets.

Dealt to Japan, per sales v.p. John Burns, were 183 MGM cartoons and "Many Happy Returns," the John McGiver comedy starrer which preems on CBS-TV in the fall. "World's Greatest Showman," 90-minute special on the late C. B. DeMille, was sold in Australia, Finland and Belgium, and "The Eleventh Hour" in Japan, Spain and Canary Islands.

Other key sales in various markets involved "The Thin Man," "Harry's Girls," "The Passing Parade" shorts, and a package of 51 "Our Gang" romps.

"Nothing replaces two feet in motion"

...Not even the dazzling technical machinery of electronic journalism. It is an old axiom that no machine can replace the leg-man with a nose for news—the great reporter who can track down, smell out, and come up with the big story...whose contacts cut across politics, business, the arts and sciences...who knows where to go for the inside story.



Or more precisely, Walter Cronkite. When you see him on his evening news broadcast he is sitting at a desk describing, for example, a missile launching or interviewing a political hopeful. But by that time he has already visited every tracking station in the Western Hemisphere or traveled throughout the home state of the man he is interviewing. With the burning curiosity of a natural-born reporter, he refuses to rely alone on wire service bulletins or the reports of correspondents in the field.

In his three decades as a practicing journalist Cronkite has covered more of the earth's surface than any newsman in television. As a distinguished critic once wrote of him—"Viewers can see and hear every night a face and voice that have guided them through an incredible diversity of experiences, from outer space to underwater, from chats with presidents to exchanges with physicists. It is hard to imagine a cozier mentor than this excellent reporter...with the inexhaustible vitality and the temperamental balance that makes Republicans and Democrats alike find him sympathetic. You don't worry about what Cronkite thinks. You just sort of trust him."

And there is good reason for such trust. Cronkite brings to his daily reporting a background of research, knowledge and first-hand experience unique in television journalism. It provides the kind of insight and illumination that make his coverage of the Presidential primaries, the national conventions, and the election required viewing.

In short, Walter Cronkite is one of the reasons why the American people are turning more and more to CBS News for the reporting of major events in an election year—as they did for the opening test of strength in the New Hampshire primary...As for those feet on the desk, don't be misled. He's just recharging his batteries.

CBS News

"E-h-h-h, What's up, Doc?"

One hundred of the most lavishly produced cartoons ever created by Warner Bros. for theatrical distribution are now available to television stations. These fully-animated post-'47 productions have never traveled the rabbit-ears of a TV set before. They star Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Elmer Fudd, Foghorn Leghorn, Road Runner, Speedy Gonzales and other world-renowned Warner Bros. personalities. Running 6 to 6½ minutes each, these 100 new-to-television cartoons are available in black-and-white or color—for Fall start. An-n-n-d... that's what's up, Bugs!

Warner Bros. Cartoons–Series '64

WARNER BROS. TELEVISION DIVISION 666 Fifth Avenue, New York 19, N.Y., Circle 6-1000

Brit. Technicians Beef: 'Too Many Vidfilm Repeats'

London, March 31.

TV technicians, it was claimed at a meeting of the Association of Cinematograph, Television and Allied Technicians, were in as much danger from the stockpiling of videotape shows as they were from "cheap American film series" or "oft-repeated feature films."

Moving a motion at the ACTT conference, Associated Television engineer Jim Smith made his point and the union's general council was instructed to take immediate steps to control repeats of recorded broadcasts, thus to ensure the maximum amount of new and British material being used.

Director Ted Kotcheff revealed that at least one play that had gone out on BBC-1 was being re-recorded for BBC-2 (the UHF, 625-line web). One director, one technical crew and one production crew would not be getting repeat fees, he said. If BBC wanted a second service, it should pay for it, he said. "Authors are receiving a second fee," Kotcheff claimed, "when a program is repeated on BBC-2, but the association members are being done."

Emphasizing that BBC-TV was short of directors, he said that the network was using freelance directors (including himself). "We are prepared to boycott the BBC to avoid exploitation of our members," he concluded.

Yarbrough's Free Time In Tenn. Controversy; Cite Fairness Doctrine

Knoxville, March 31.

WBIR-TV has agreed to give defeated Democratic congressional candidate Willard Yarbrough free time to answer charges made against him by Cas Walker, prominent grocer-politician who is the largest tv, radio and newspaper advertiser in East Tennessee.

John Hart, WBIR manager, said he offered Yarbrough three free five-minute spots under the FCC, "fairness doctrine."

Hart said this is the first time he can remember when an individual had asked and received free time to answer personal attacks. Walker was a strong supporter of Mrs. Irene Baker who was the Republican candidate for the unexpired term of her late husband congressman Howard Baker.

Walker claims he paid political rates, and had the right to make his comments during the special election campaign.

Yarbrough countered with the charge that the licensee who allows the use of a program by someone to present one point of view of a controversial issue, has an obligation to offer its facilities for an expression of another point of view. Hart, the station manager, agreed with this position.

The defeated candidate, who lost by some 4,000 votes, has also demanded the same treatment by WATE-TV. No comment has been forthcoming from this station.

It is known that Yarbrough, assistant city editor of The News-Sentinel, plans to run against the Republican incumbent at the next regular election, provided he can get the nomination to carry the Democratic standard.

No date for his free tv time has been announced.

SHERRIE'S ATLANTA POST

Atlanta, March 31.

Sherrie Johnson is the new woman's editor of WSB Radio replacing Audrey Tuttle, who resigned after three years on job when her husband, a merchant marine radio officer, was transferred to Dallas.

Miss Johnson, a native of Louisville, has been associated with WHAS, Louisville, and WGCM, Gulfport, Miss., where she attended Gulf Park College. Announced of her appointment was made Saturday (28) by Elmo Ellis, station's general manager.

Toney's Tony Tintups As RCA 'Goes to the Fair'; TV In-the-Round

By GEORGE ROSEN

Almost 25 years to the day when, at the inaugural of N.Y. World's Fair I, he officially took the wraps off television as we know it today, RCA board chairman David Sarnoff tomorrow (Thursday) will join in the official dedication of "Operation Tint" as RCA's contribution to N.Y. World's Fair II.

The occasion, representing not only a major milestone in electronics development (as RCA stands on the threshold of universal acceptance of tint tv) but in the economy of the nation as a whole, will mark the official press preview of the corporation's ambitious closed-circuit color tv network at the Flushing Fairgrounds. (The morning ceremonies, incidentally, will be close-circuited into RCA's Exhibition Hall on West 49th St. Thus it will provide New Yorkers with an opportunity, prior to the official April 22 opening of the Fair, of witnessing, among other things, a then-&-now assessment of N. Y. World's Fair I (being recaptured via old film clips) and the imminent opening of World's Fair II.

More importantly, it's an event that will have almost historic overtones, for inherent in tomorrow's preview launching of "Operation Tint" is the bringing to total fruition the developmental processes and electronics experimentation and perfecting as the costly years ($150,000,000 worth) of frustrations and indifference are left behind.

The linking of the World's Fair with the perfecting of tint tv will, of course, get fullblown recognition and exposure before the entire American viewing public on the night of the official opening of the Fair, when all its glamor, excitement and pageantry will be showcased on the U.S. Steel-sponsored 90-minute special color-cast on NBC-TV. While most of the star-bedecked show is being pre-taped and pre-filmed during the "getting ready" stages, a third of the spectacular will comprise an on-the-spot pickup of the opening night festivities as three mobile color units spread out over the Fair's 646 acres.

But the more meaningful story of RCA's "Operation Tint" and its contribution to the World's Fair lies not so much in the 90-minute spec or the other planned network originations from the Fairgrounds (which will include the Emmycast) but in the continuous closed-circuit performance (12 hours a day, seven days a week) that's been evolved by James A. Toney, who has been masterminding the project as director of RCA's World's Fair Exhibit.

Looking Like a Hit

Toney's tony tintups could well emerge as one of the major hits of the Fair—and as a for-free attraction. The "exhibit" itself is something of a dazzler, emcompassing as it does a "closed-circuit in-the-round" type of pavillion, with its utilization of ramps, in which the visitor will enjoy both alternatives of witnessing the closed-circuit performances on strategically-spotted monitors (and, for contrast, on both black-&-white and on tint sets), and in the process of moving along will be taken behind the scenes of operation as he watches the actual performances, and has spread before him all the intracacies and fascinations of a master control room that represents the last word in electronics modernity and automated wizardry.

For those with a more intimate knowledge of what's spread before him, they'll see the latest fashions in sound development and lighting gadgetry; they'll witness a master control board in which one man performs the unprecedented feat of editing-as-he-goes the live, film, tape, animation and slides as he monitors the two sets—of "actual performance" and "standby" shots.

And as the visitor enters the exhibit he gets a "free audition" as he moves on to a revolving floor and goes "on camera" for exposure to everybody at the Fair who is within viewing range of the more than 300 RCA monitoring sets that are being set up at all the exhibits and other buildings throughout the Fairgrounds.

(Similarly lost children will get the same kind of closed-circuit "exposure" to expedite safe return to parents. This, too, is a great psychological and built-in ballyhoo for RCA's spectrum tv).

Within the compact RCA Exhibit hall (the building alone cost $1,000,000, with enough gadgetry and twinkling hardware to set up shop for a couple of new VHF stations) are dressingrooms for performers, a miniature kitchen facility, maintenance shop, a VIP room (also with monitors and a view of the stage plus the added inducement of refreshment), and for dignitaries (as when President Johnson and Queen Elizabeth show up) there is a smart lounge-resting room facility, shower, shaving mirror, bar, etc. (the only one of its kind on the grounds, with the single exception of the Simmons Exhibit restroom whose accent is different—the Simmons mattresses).

All told Toney will only require eight technicians, including three cameramen, to operate the Exhibit (which, incidentally, will also include a "stereo room" for "sound only" buffs, as was also included in the RCA exhibit at the Brussels Fair.)

Interestingly enough, Toney's "programming format" for the closed-circuitry obviates the need for "production people" (except, of course, in instances where there will be on-the-air origination from the Fair, at which time they'll also have access to both the 16,000-seater Singer Bowl and the World's Fair Pavilion).

Marathon 'Shows'

The closed-circuit "programming format" is of particular interest. No two "shows" will be alike. All day long there will be a succession of vignettes utilizing live, film, tape, animation, etc. — nothing to run more than 12 minutes. Most of the bluechip exhibitors will "package" their own shows, at least 75 of them making descriptive color film "shorts" for showing to the anticipated 70,000,000 visitors this year. Thus the "RCA Network" will serve as a unique video guide for the Fair visitors. For as Toney puts it: "Since it might take as much as three weeks for a visitor to see everything, the closed-circuit network will help them to see as many things they might otherwise have missed."

Thus RCA will divide the Fair into eight zones and run a 10-minute film highlight of each zone on its appropriate hour—Zone 1 at 1 p.m., etc.

The logistics of trying to cater to 7,000 to 8,000 RCA Exhibit visitors each day poses a still-unsolved "traffic" problem for it means a continuous audience turnover (and particularly when celebs are present it's anticipated there will be a reluctance to leave). Toney figures the best of the several possible alternatives is simply to darken the "house" at specified intervals and get 'em out. They'll be back anyway.

BBDO In Canada Helms Own TV Production For Chrysler Variety Series

Ottawa, March 31.

BBD&O of Toronto is the first agency in Canada to produce a tv program—for Chrysler Corp. of Canada Ltd. "Night on the Town," taped in Toronto, will be aired on indie CTV 10-station web April 4.

It's a 60-minute variety show, shot in local nightspots and at Robert Lawrence Productions studios. It stars Shirley Harmer and Allen Blye, with jazz 88er Oscar Peterson, cool singers Jackie (Cain) and Roy (Kral) and Ottawa comic carboner Rich Little as cafe artists. (All three appear in the blurbs as well.) Bob Fleck, a commercial producer, tees as a full-length producer with this one. He and Little scripted, with Stan Harris directing and Chuck Goldstein as music supervisor.

BBD&O and Chrysler have complete content control — something they'd never be likely to get at CBC, any more than they would on any British network. Chrysler will own the hour variety tape, which, if it comes off, may be sold abroad. Estimated cost is around $25,000 per seg.

Josefsberg to Desilu

Hollywood, March 31.

Milt Josefsberg, former producer-head writer of "The Joey Bishop Show," has been named script consultant on "The Lucy Show," starring Lucille Ball, for next semester.

He has also written for Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Milton Berle and Danny Thomas.

FCC: Just a Toy Killer

Washington, March 31.

FCC put in a request to Congress for authority to issue regulations for such devices as garage door openers and electronic toys which interfere with radio reception.

Commission now has power to bar the use of equipment interfering with radio communications, but it cannot require that such equipment be designed to prevent interference.

Legislation was introduced in the Senate by Commerce Committee chairman Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) and in the House by his counterpart Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

Under the bill, FCC's regulatory scope would span manufacture, import, shipment or sale of electronic devices radiating more than their needed power and lousing up radio reception.

Canada's Oscar Coin

Ottawa, March 31.

Half the live coverage of Oscar night from Hollywood on CBC-TV's web April 13 will be sponsored by Procter & Gamble of Canada Ltd. (via Bentown & Bowles). One-quarter each goes to Gillette of Canada Ltd. (Spitzer, Mills & Bates) and American Hondo Motor Co. (Grey).

SM&B also lined up both sponsors for Andy Williams one-hour special April 10 on a limited CBC-TV network. Quaker Oats of Canada has two-thirds, Kimberley-Clark Canada Ltd. one-third. Show will have guests Imogene Coca, Bob Newhart, Osmond Bros. and Good Time Singers.

Jackie Cooper Switch To Helm SG Production Delayed By UA-TV Tie

Hollywood, March 31.

Jackie Cooper's current contractual commitment with UA-TV is delaying his joining Screen Gems as Coast chief, replacing Bill Dozier, but the telefilmery is expected to disclose Cooper as the new Coast boss once his situation with UA-TV has been resolved.

Jerome Hyams, veepee-general manager of SG, here from N.Y. for top echelon meetings with the Coast crew at Screen Gems, declined to go into details regarding the Cooper situation, but in reply to a question as to whether the producer-director-actor would join SG, replied: "I hope so." He indicated Cooper must first work out his present commitment with UA-TV.

Cooper is not involved in the top brass sessions at the BevHills Hotel dealing principally with plans for the 1965-66 season. Sitting in on these meetings are, from N.Y.: Hyams; Berton Schneider, veepee-treasurer; John Mitchell, sales veepee; Robert Seidelman, syndication veepee; Lloyd Burns, international operations veepee; Pierre Marquis, veepee of Audience Surveys Inc., SG subsid, and pub-promo chief Dan Garrett. Participating from the Coast are veepee-exec producer Harry Ackerman and Charles Fries, veepee and exec production manager; exec producers Fred de Cordova and Howie Horowitz and Jim Hardiman, Coast pub director.

Montreux TV Fest (April 17-24) Gets Big British Play

London, March 31.

British tv industryites visiting the Montreux tv festival this year (April 17 to 24), as so far indicated, already tote up to an impressive list of top brassers from both the BBC web and the commercial channel.

Underlining the growing importance of the Montreux fete, the indies plan to send from ABC-TV managing director Howard Thomas, program controller Brian Tesler, director Philip Jones (he made the "Thank Your Lucky Stars" entry which the commercial web is entering into competition), Chris Towle and Mal Griffiths.

Associated-Rediffusion is sending Lord Windlesham, program controller, John McMillan, general manager, Elkan Allan, variety chieftain, light entertainment exec producer Eric Maschwitz and supervisory film editor Charles Squires.

From Granada-TV goes Paddy Crookshank, head of overseas sales, John Hamp, light entertainment factotum and Philip Casson, program director.

Associated Television is sending Bill Ward, selected as one of the Panel of judges, and producer Alan Tarrant.

BBC's contingent includes BBC-1's program topper Donald Baverstock, design chief Richard Levin, light entertainment chief Tom Sloan and producers Barney Colehan who produced BBC's entry "Good Old Days," and Dennis Main Wilson.

Zurich Viewers Flip Over 'Hello From Philadelphia' In Goodwill TV Venture

Philadelphia, March 31.

A goodwill venture in international television production finally made its overseas impact last week when a documentary produced here by WRCV-TV last year was shown on a Zurich tv station.

The local NBC o&o outlet played host for several months in 1963 to Swiss tv exec Ulrich Hitzig, as part of a cultural exchange program sponsored by the U.S. State Dept.

While observing all phases of tv operations at WRCV-TV, Hitzig also recorded his impressions and experiences of Philadelphia in a documentary that ranged from visits to historical and cultural spots as well as to drug stores, fashion shows and cocktail parties.

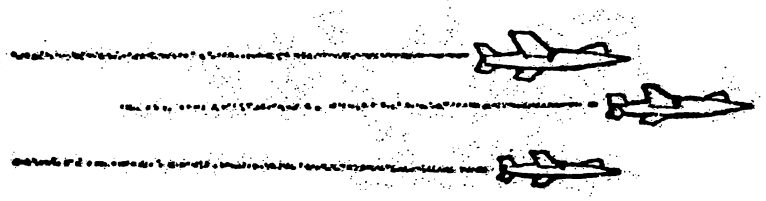
Program was shown in prime time here under title "Stranger in Town." In Switzerland it was aired from Station SRG-TV, under title "Hello from Philadelphia," with Hitzig narrating in German for the cantons surrounding Zurich.

"American ways of life" found fascinating and aired by the Swiss visitor were the "going out of business" sales; drug store enormity, conventions, cocktail parties and that meaningless but inevitable phrase "we must get together for lunch."

JERRY THORPE IN PACT WITH MGM-TV

Hollywood, March 31.

Jerry Thorpe, veepee in charge of programming for Desilu Productions for the past two years, will move to MGM-TV as a producer-director when his pact expires the end of April, under terms of a deal signed with Metro in N.Y.

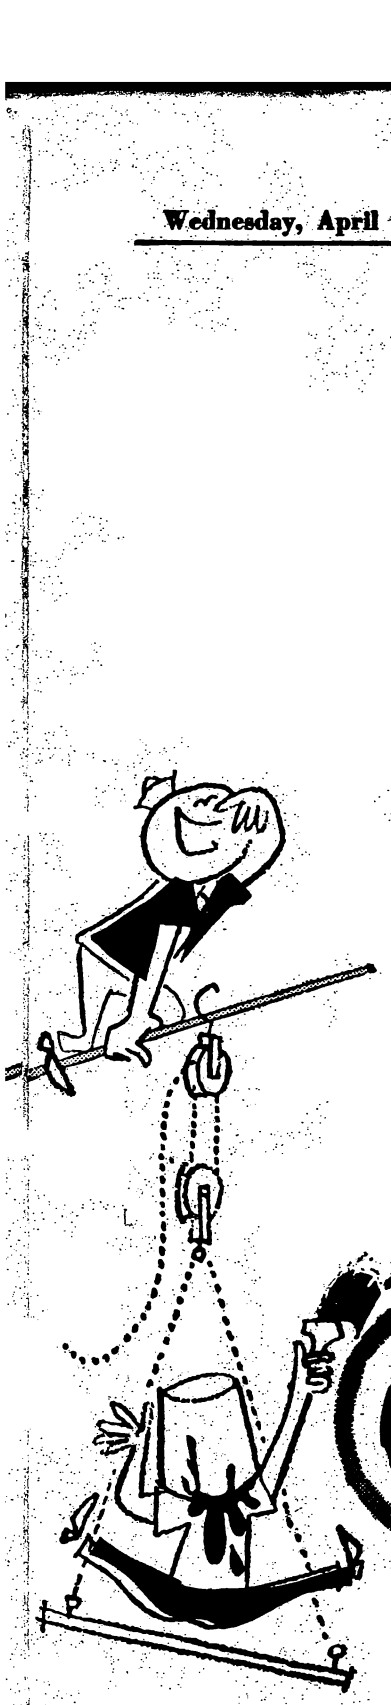


Thorpe has been production chief at Desilu for two years, being named to that spot by then-prexy Desi Arnaz of the telefilmery. Prior to that he was exec producer of the studio's "The Untouchables," producer-director of a number of its "Westinghouse Desilu Playhouse" segs, director of some Lucille Ball-Arnaz specs, director of some "I Love Lucy" segments, and director of five pilots, all of which sold.

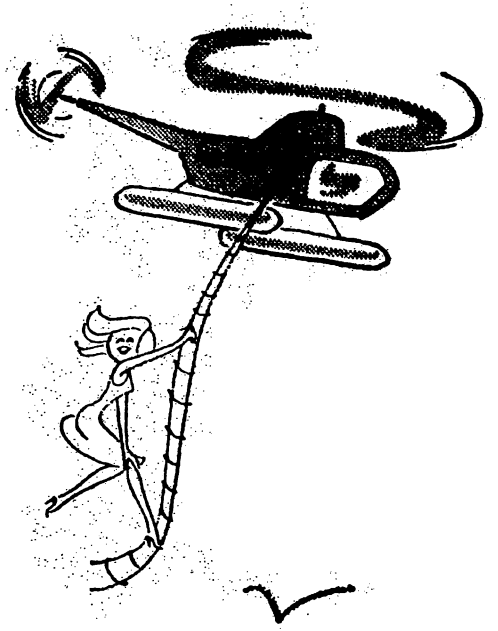
OK 200G' KKIS Sale

Washington, March 31.

FCC's Broadcast Bureau okayed the $200,000 sale of KKIS-AM, Pittsburg, Calif., from Pace-Shear Radio Inc. to Major Minor Corp.



The buyer is wholly owned by W. Ernest Minor.



Pipe O'Toole Aboard...

FOR A HILARIOUS 'HITCH' ON YOUR STATION!

ENLIST NOW, IN THE WONDERFUL, WACKY NAVY OF

★ENSIGN O'TOOLE

32 HALF HOUR EPISODES NOW AVAILABLE FOR INDIVIDUAL MARKET PROGRAMMING

Now hear this . . . bright, lively comedy is the order of the day for Ensign O'Toole and his madcap crew aboard the Destroyer Appleby. Whether losing their ship in a poker game or being captured in peacetime, they provide 'top deck' entertainment in every episode. For your programming needs . . .
GO COMEDY! GO NAVY! GO O'TOOLE!

.... DEAN JONES
AS ENSIGN O'TOOLE

A FOUR STAR - LEDERER PRODUCTION

ENCORE '64

SESAC CELEBRITY SUITE

CONTINUOUS LIVE ENTERTAINMENT

NAB CONVENTION · APRIL 5-8

APPEARING IN PERSON

Duke Ellington
Roy Hamilton
Warren Covington
Ernest Tubb
Margie Singleton
Richard Maltby
Hildegarde
John Hammond, Jr.
Marco Rizo
Texas Troubadours
Claude Gray
Roy Drusky
Kai Winding
and other special guests

Personalities Available
For Taped On-The-Spot Interviews

...And Introducing The Newest

SESAC® RECORDINGS Low-Cost Program Package

THE BIG BANDS

The swinging sounds of ten all-star bands
...ideal for year-round programming

- COUNT BASIE
- LARRY ELGART
- WOODY HERMAN
- SY OLIVER
- KAI WINDING
- WARREN COVINGTON
- DUKE ELLINGTON
- RICHARD MALTBY
- EDDIE SAFRANSKI
- SI ZENTNER

Complete package of over 115 selections on ten Hi-Fi LP albums $19.95

VISIT THE SESAC CELEBRITY SUITE—
AUDITION THE BIG BANDS
at the
NAB CONVENTION · APRIL 5-8
CONRAD HILTON HOTEL · CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Tele Follow-Up Comment

Bob Hope Presents

The one-time movie tycoon who made millions out of a Hollywood dream factory, only to find that public tastes have changed and he no longer has the gift of packing them in, was the subject of a synthetic drama Friday (27) night on "Bob Hope Presents."

The drama, an original by Rod Serling, was synthetic in that the tycoon came over more as a type than an individual; he also was written and played by Rod Steiger, in a one-key, almost hysterical tone. The drama, though, did have interest, in a journalistic vein.

Steiger, portraying a ruthless pirate, the Jewish immigrant who made it big as a "Sammy Glick," had his best moments in a confrontation with his daughter. Playing the mixed up daughter, thrice married, an orphan of love, was Sally Kellerman. She, in a cool key, conveyed the feeling that she never had a chance with a father whose only child was his studio. James Dunn as the tycoon's "yes" man was properly pathetic. Anne Lee had a minor role for a minor wife of Mr. Tycoon.

Bob Hope, in addition to introducing the drama, had a featured role in the play, that of himself emceeing a "producer of the year" award to the central character. Robert Culp as the man representing N.Y. banking interests, the young man who subverts Mr. Big, was sketched in vaguely.

Many of Serling's lines packed a punch. A few lines had some yiddishisms. However, it wasn't the lines, punchy or otherwise; the fault was due more to Serling's reliance on stock images.

Ron Winston directed in clipped, effective fashion. Dick Berg produced. Horo.

Saga of Western Man

"1964," the fourth and final documentary in the ABC News series, "The Saga of Western Man," was a brilliant graphic essay on America's power, potential and complex problems in the quest for social ideals.

John H. Secondari's script and narration, backed by remarkably probing camera work on the American scene, brought into hard focus the nation's contrasts of affluence and poverty, youth and age, energy and leisure, education and ignorance and striving for peaceful goals against the challenge of the nuclear age. Mostly it was Secondari in voice-over text to absorbing closeups of the national scene, with director Warren Wallace and his crew of roaming photogs making great use of the telescopic lens for microscopic exploitation of Americans at play (in the notable spas and gambling towns) and at work. Editing was equally effective, bringing out the utmost in the country's perplexing contrasts. Against the billion-dollar pleasure enterprises were laid the tragedy of the over 65's, the poverty of the country's depressed areas, the waste of resources, the building mania, the death of the rural town and mourning in Dallas.

Secondari and Helen Jean Rogers coproduced "1964," an excellent capper to this fine telementary series. Bill.

Today

The first Japan-to-U.S. telecast in history, via the Relay II satellite last Wednesday (25) morning, was so brief that it was a pity so much of it had to be occupied by diplomatic formalities and speeches. Even so, a surprising lot was crammed into the eight-minute program, including a view of the teeming Ginza at night (breakfast time in the States), the fountains in the plaza of the Imperial Palace, the site of the upcoming Tokyo Olympics, a look inside the judo institute with an interview of an American student there, and a performance of the heraldic music specially composed for the Olympics.

Along with these were short messages from Japanese premier Hayato Ikeda, whose greeting to the U.S. was highlighted by regrets anent the stabbing of U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer by a "mentally deranged youth"; American minister John K. Emmerson, spelling Reischauer on the program, who said the expected things about the two countries sharing the same ideals; and Shinzo Koike, Japanese minister of Posts and Telecommunications, who said it would be wonderful if the Olympic events could be broadcast by another Relay satellite. English translations of the Japanese talks were given simultaneously on a crawler whose margins went beyond the tv tube resulting in some lost words.

The telecast was produced with precision, and reception was excellent. NBC-TV used the occasion, on the "Today" show, to insert a reminder that it would be televising the Olympic games in October exclusively in the U.S. Les.

Stage 2

For the second show in its series of locally produced entertainment specials, WCBS-TV, N.Y., came up with "Rodgers & Hart Revisited," a wholly winning throwback to some youthfully brilliant tunes by Richard Rodgers, still going strong, and his first lyricist partner, Lorenz (Larry) Hart. Except to the fanatical R&H buffs, which are legion, the tunes revived on this half-hour outing were obscure numbers from the late 1920s and early 1930s, some of which were dropped from R&H musicals even before they reached Broadway. But even in these so-called flop tunes, the R&H stamp of originality and cleverness clearly identified the composers.

A cast of talented youngsters, working in uncluttered sets, ran through the songs effectively in revue style. Karen Morrow registered solidly with her comedy rendition of "I Blush," while Susan Watson displayed a pleasing style on "Ship Without A Sail" and "Send For Me." Fredericka Weber and Cy Young did a bright song routine on "Don't Tell Your Folks" with the former also handling the lead on "At The Roxy Music Hall," a charmingly antique piece of material. Cy Young also did nicely on "Pantomime." Various members of the cast handled the narrative chores.

Show, based on an LP created by Ben Bagley, was produced and directed by Merrill Brockway with musical arrangements by Norman Paris, choreography by Ronald Field and continuity by Jonathan Schwartz. Herm.

Chronicle

A good idea was dissipated on Wednesday's (25) edition of CBS-TV's "Chronicle," a half-hour devoted to three aged artists, all over 70, each active in their respective fields, each retaining their life force.

What made the idea crumble on the screen was the unintelligibility of the sound. In the case of sculptor Jacques Lipchitz, the accent of the 73-year-old artist presented a formidable obstacle to the viewer's uderstading. Operatic star Lotte Lehmann was interviewed at her home in Santa Barbara, Calif., where she teaches a selected group of students. In the case of Mme. Lehmann, the sound, too, wasn't too good, nor the questions posed by host-interviewer Charles Collingwood very interesting.

Coming off best was 85-year-old photographer Edward Steichen who now is busy assembling a picture history of the Negroes contribution to American life. He had the gift of laughter and the sound was more intelligible.

This was one of the weakest outings of "Chronicle"; its technical faults were glaring. Horo.

The Hollywood Palace

What hampers this ABC-TV vaudeo is the precision of pace, the sense of a mechanical hour. Last Saturday's (28) outing, being more or less typical, unfolded pleasantly and with all hands giving an okay account or better; yet as a cumulative exercise the hour was not notable.

Because in style and personality the show is commonplace. For the latest canter, George Burns (and stogie) did the host bit, effectively augmenting some of the turns, and delivering the typical hop-scotch monology that waxed snappier as it went. Maybe Burns, as one of the revered old guard, can pull it off, but it might have been the wiser to sub for some of the indigo, especially a couple of Liz-Dickie-Eddie cracks.

Show was a little topheavy in the vocal department, especially as all the rendering was in the highly commercial class. Italy's Sergio Franchi, kinda stiff in a solo spot, turned out to be an engaging fellow in a song-and-softshoe routine with Burns.

Patti Page delivered a couple of class pops in knowing manner, and the three Lennon Sisters gave their sweet unison treatment to a pair of "moon" ballads.

Rudy Cardenas, a juggler who's been around seemingly since the birth of the coaxial, had some new stuff, and remains a sure grabber. Mac Ronay's magic is secondary (even sloughed) in favor of laughs, and he knows how to get them. Dependable, too, were the tap-happy Dunhills (3). As always, simply gee-whiz.

Winduppers were Carl Reiner and Mel Brooks with their "2,000 Year Old Man" routine of disknitery renown, and for this display keyed to the elections. But in very minor key, and if not for some nonsense by Brooks in a Bela Lugosi getup, the turn would have been decidedly dull. Pit.

Ed Sullivan

Harry Belafonte, something of a rara avis on tv these days, did a virtual takeover of the Ed Sullivan stanza Sunday (29). The second half was all his (with his corps of folksingers), and the balladeer responded with a typical class performance. If there be a cavil, it was with the star's fallback on some overly familiar ("Scarlet Ribbons," etc.) numbers.

Belafonte in extended format gave an otherwise just oke vaudeo its needed lift. Jack Carter's mercurial monolog was a spotty affair, curial monolog was a spotty affair. Lacking, for one thing, were some Bauman's Tigers, from the Ringling big top, and pre-filmed for the show, achieved its interest only when the cats were glommed in vivid closeup. British ventriloquist Dennis Spicer, likewise rated a split decision. His joking avec dummy was feeble, but some voice-throwing trickery stood him in better stead.

Germany's Kessler twins—Alice and Ellen—gave the outing a sexy dressup, but their vocal and terp talents weren't particularly persuasive. And a Coast youngster, Karen Valentine, was sprung in something like an Annie Oakley to strut with "You Can't Get a Man with a Gun." For her youthful mien, it wasn't the wisest choice of material. Pit.

Eye on New York

Ad man David Ogilvy sat for a brief portrait on Tuesday's (24) edition of WCBS-TV's "Eye on New York." It's a pity producer-writer Herbert Appleman cluttered the screen with extraneous, vapid and dull material, which blurred the outlines of the man.

When Ogilvy, himself, was on camera, he came across as an engaging, intelligent man, with some definite ideas about his trade. The color of the man was lost when the cameras switched to associates of Ogilvy in the agency biz. They added few dimensions or insight to the subject being painted.

Ogilvy, speaking for his agency Ogilvy, Benson & Mather, said he couldn't in good conscience accept a cigaret account. In fact, as an ex-smoker, he said he would like to conduct a public information program for the government educating people on how to give up the habit. He also was critical of the overcommercialization of tv and radio, and advocated government intervention to free broadcasting of its commercial clutter.

Contrary positions were rendered on the issues of government intervention re overcommercialization by National Assn. of Broadcasting prexy LeRoy Collins; and Charles Brower, chairman of the board of BBDO, proclamied his "neutrality" on the subject of cigarets.

All this, plus innumerable other interviews, were squeezed into half an hour. It would have been much smarter just to interview the man, and let him have his say. Background and other material in such a tight situation, could have been better supplied by the interviewer. Horo.

Television Reviews

THE ESTABLISHMENT
With Peter Bellwood, Francis Bethencourt, Alexandra Berlin, Roddy Maude-Roxby, Carole Simpson, Marian MacPartland Trio
Producer: Peter Cook
Director: Al Kassel
Writer: Cook
60 Mins., Mon., March 30, 10 p.m.
PARTICIPATING
WNEW-TV, New York (tape)

Most interesting trade angle to this WNEW-TV presentation of the satirical revue, "The Establishment," was that the show, which features a standup routine severely ribbing heterosexuality and another routine ridiculing British government officials for their nervousness about homosexuality, was run off on a station that last year killed an "Open End" discussion of sex on the contemporary scene. This either indicates a growth in sophistication by WNEW execs, or that sex is okay so long as it isn't taken seriously.

"The Establishment," a London cafe group that has had a couple of seasons at the off-Broadway Strollers Theatre-Club in New York, translated fairly well to tv in this hour version (which had several upsetting nips in the tape along the way, though perhaps they were for editing to the hour and not censorship). The above-mentioned confessions of a heterosexual was one of the most successful turns in an uneven hour. There also were scorching satires of Ladybird Johnson and Prime Minister Home, and a bright lampooning of religion as surveyed by a consumer research organization. All performers (all British with the exception of Alexandra Berlin) were highly skilled in the cafe-satire presentation. Marian MacPartland, the jazz pianist, and her group supplied interesting musical backing intros. Bill.

SUSPENSE
With Sebastian Cabot, host; Arthur Kennedy, Martin Balsam, others Producer: Gilbert Ralston
Director: Ted Post
Writer: Phil Reisman Jr., adapted from story by Ralston
30 Mins., Wed., 8:30 p.m.
PARTICIPATING
CBS-TV (film)

CBS-TV's new Wednesday night entry has all the attributes of a summertime potboiler. The anthology series began last week with an unsatisfying yarn that lacked character interest and was woefully short on storyline, as a result of which it had little to offer in what the series means chiefly to sell, to wit, suspense. Two excellent actors, Arthur Kennedy and Martin Balsam, were wasted in a couple of colorless stock roles.

The teleplay kept threatening to develop a story, but never really got around it. What transpired would only have been an incident, perhaps not even the climactic one, in a more competent melodrama. It was a total irrevancy that Kennedy had five kids at home and Balsam none, or that the incident took place on Kennedy's last day with the police force as he was about to move to a safer job with an insurance company. These were false threads that got nowhere and contributed nothing of substance to the story fabric. They were merely the writer's lame attempt to give his characters a life outside the immediate situation.

A time bomb planted by a psychotic in the maternity ward of a hospital puts two heroes of New York City's police bomb squad to work against time. For the first third of the program they de-fuse the bomb, a hazardous trick, but suspenseless here because obviously the two stars aren't going to be blown up so early in the game. Then they carried the thing to a barge on the river, and this ate up beaucoup time with Balsam doing the slow walk careful not to shake the bottle. And finally they tow the barge out of the harbor to safety, and the only suspense that remained was the question, did the bottle really contain nitro-glycerine or was it some thing harmless such as honey? They pull the string to set it off, and yep, it was really nitro.

The use of Sebastian Cabot as host for the series is as pretentious and pointless as the title of the premiere episode, "I, Mike Kenny." As an unwhimsical Alfred Hitchcock, propped with a fireplace, brandy snifter and Dr. Watson costume, Cabot sets a tone that the pedestrian story just doesn't measure up to. Prospects aren't too good, unless future scripts improve vastly over the premiere. Les.

JEOPARDY
With Art Fleming, host; others
Producer: Bob Robin
Director: Bob Hultgren
30 Mins.; 11:30 a.m.
PARTICIPATING
NBC-TV, from N. Y.

New game show, "Jeopardy," is a fast-paced, heady contest. The more intelligent women—if they have the time in the morning to concentrate on a game — should find some fun in the half-hour.

One of the unusual twists of this Merv Griffin package is that the contestants are given the answers. The winning response is to ask the correct question, which would prompt the given answer. Once the reverse twist is taken in stride by the viewer, he or she could while away some time in coming up with the proper questions.

The information sought, judging from the preem show, was more than the most elementary kind, constantly sought from contestants in a.m. shows. The knowledge required in many of the categories leaned toward the intelligent side, and in order to follow what's going on, the viewer must stay glued to the set.

Top contestant in the opener won about $350. The answers range from $10 to $50, with the three contestants standing the chance to lose all their winnings with a miss. Answers, to which questions must be furnished, are broken down into categories. To add more life to the game, there's "double jeopardy," when the stakes are twice as much, and other boosting devises.

Art Fleming had a sure touch as host. Horo.

GET THE MESSAGE
With Frank Buxton, others
Exec. Producer: Robert Noah
Producer: Jack Farren
Director: Mike Gargiulo
30 Mins., Mon.-Fri., 11 a.m.
PARTICIPATING
ABC-TV, from N. Y.

"Get the Message" is the latest off the Goodson-Todman beltline, meaning it's an astutely tooled gameshow that ought to click with the devotees. It fits in the middle of ABC's new morning lineup of 90 G-T minutes commencing at the 10:30 gong ("Price is Right" and "The Object Is," latter switched from NBC, are fore and aft), which is likely to make a strong run of it for the web.

"Get the Message," with Frank Buxton hosting, is, of course, G-T repeating themselves, but with shrewd variations. In this version, a male team (two celebs and a non-pro) square off against a femme squad. The audience contestants are required to guess an expression (title, name, phrase, slogan, etc.) based on one-word written clues supplied by their celeb teammates. First side to rack up three wins cops the $100 bounty. There's also a quickie aspect to the game, wherein lesser bonus money is given for correct response to verbalized clues.

The session goes at a fast clip, with clean production and minimal reliance on the glibness of the personalities. Buxton is pleasant and efficient as conferencier. Monday's (30) preemer pitted Abe Burrows and Orson Bean as clue-makers opposite Peggy Cass and Betty White. All of 'em, of course, have long since earned their spurs at parlor pastimes, hence took to "Message" with elan.

Its basic sameness notwithstanding, "Get the Message" has the verve to carry on. Pit.

THE OPEN GRAVE
With Charles Palmer, Maud Whitmore, Eric Clavering, others
Exec. Producer: Jim Guthro
Producer-Director: Ronald Kelly
Writer: Charles E. Israel
60 Mins., Wed., 9:30 p.m.
CBC, from Toronto (film)

There must have been some red faces in high places after "The Open Grave" was actually aired on CBC. Anglican Bishop Fred Wilkinson of Toronto had called it,

(Continued on page 62)

Suddenly, it's a three-network news race

On Thursday, March 19, Bill Lawrence of ABC News beat all competition on the resignation of Pierre Salinger. That same day, John Scali also scooped the field in reporting the impending resignation of Dean Rusk. AP, UPI, CBS and other news services picked up the story with an ABC credit.

Nine days earlier, when all three networks presented New Hampshire election specials from 11:15–11:45 pm, ABC's Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan attracted a not-so-surprising 34% share of the three-network audience. The other network shares were 41% and 25%. Said The Washington Star: "The production was smooth, the physical setup impressive, and the performance by the new team first-rate."

On March 15, in areas where all networks competed with the same program, 25% of the three-network audience tuned to ABC for "Conversation with the President."

This summer and fall, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey and Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr., will help ABC cover the National Conventions and the events leading up to the Presidential election.

Add the facts that ABC's Ron Cochran is the only early evening network newscast to show an increase in audience (up 36%) this year, and that ABC's Bob Young presents television's only late weeknight network news program—and it becomes clear why ABC News is moving to the fore in network news presentation.

ABC News abc

Sources: Nielsen MNA Reports, common markets—3/10/64 and 3/15/64 Average Audience • NTI, September II '63—February II '64 vs. similar reports year ago, Average Audience Homes. Report estimates are subject to qualifications which are available on request.

VARIETY - ARB SYNDICATION CHART

VARIETY's weekly tabulation based on ratings furnished by American Research Bureau, highlights the top 10 network shows on a local level and offers a rating study of the top 10 syndicated shows in the same particular markets. This week six different markets are covered.

Both the network and syndication study features the total area homes reached and the metro area ratings on each show. The total area homes reached reflects the audiences on the basis of the total market area examined. The metro area ratings are based on the metropolitan markets within the total area examined. Top 10 shows, both network and syndicated, are listed on the basis of their showing in the total area homes barometer.

Various branches of the industry, ranging from media buyers to local stations to syndicators will find the charts valuable.

Over the course of a year, ARB will tabulate a minimum of 247 markets. The results of that tabulation will be found weekly in VARIETY Coupled with the rating performance of the top 10 network shows, on the local level, the VARIETY-ARB charts are designed to reflect the rating tastes of virtually every market in the U.S.

PITTSBURGH

STATIONS: KDKA, WTAE, WIIC. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Beverly Hillbillies	KDKA	466,400	43
2.	Dick Van Dyke	KDKA	423,600	41
3.	Petticoat Junction	KDKA	380,300	34
4.	Andy Griffith	KDKA	364,100	36
5.	Ed Sullivan	KDKA	360,900	39
6.	Jackie Gleason	KDKA	357,000	34
7.	Nurses	KDKA	355,300	36
8.	Lassie; Wizard Oz	KDKA	353,700	35
9.	Gunsmoke	KDKA	353,500	33
10.	Danny Kaye	KDKA	351,800	35

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Sea Hunt (Mon.-Fri. 6:30)	WTAE	Economee	221,400	21
2.	Death Valley Days (Tues. 7:30)	KDKA	U.S. Borax	215,500	21
3.	Jo Stafford; H'wood Palace (Sat. 10)	WTAE	ITC	209,700	21
4.	Wrestling (Sat. 6:00)	WIIC	20 Fox TV	161,200	16
5.	Champion Bowling (Sat. 5:00)	WTAE	Schwimmer	147,500	15
6.	Rifleman; Sat. Report (Sat. 6:30)	KDKA	Four Star	146,400	13
7.	Zane Grey Theatre (Sat. 6:00)	KDKA	Four Star	143,700	13
8.	Leave Beaver; Movie (Sat. 6:00)	WTAE	MCA-TV	142,700	13
9.	Corruptors; Olympic (Thurs. 10:00)	WTAE	Four Star	142,200	16
10.	Stoney Burke; AFL FB (Sun. 3:30, 6:30)	WTAE	Economee	140,700	14

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
CBS News	KDKA	205,100
Combat	WTAE	292,200
Gunsmoke	KDKA	353,500
Zane Grey Theatre	KDKA	143,700
Putt Mov. Spec.	WTAE	231,700
Bowery; Chiller; B. Golf	WIIC	123,100
Movie Spec; Beaver	WTAE	185,000
Wrestling	WIIC	164,900
Wrestling	WIIC	167,500
Nurses	KDKA	355,400
Playoff Bwl; Feature	KDKA	239,500
Lassie; Wizard Oz	KDKA	353,700

MILWAUKEE

STATIONS: WTMJ, WITI, WISN, WUHF. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

1.	Bonanza	WTMJ	217,300	41
2.	Beverly Hillbillies	WISN	203,800	41
3.	Andy Griffith	WISN	189,600	39
4.	Dick Van Dyke	WISN	188,500	40
5.	Candid Camera	WISN	172,200	34
6.	Fugitive	WITI	170,600	40
7.	Donna Reed	WITI	169,000	35
8.	Jack Paar	WTMJ	165,300	30
9.	Sat. At Movies	WTMJ	151,500	31
10.	My Martian; Wiz. Oz	WISN	150,200	29

1.	Valley Days; B. Hope (Fri. 8:30)	WTMJ	U.S. Borax	105,500	22
2.	Leave It To Beaver (Mon.-Sat. 6:00)	WISN	MCA-TV	98,000	21
3.	Magilla; Dick Tracy (Fri. 5:00)	WISN	Screen Gems	84,700	18
4.	Yogi Bear (Tues. 5:00)	WISN	Screen Gems	83,100	18
5.	Woody Woodpecker (Mon. 5:00)	WISN	MCA-TV	79,400	16
6.	Huckleberry Hound (Wed. 5:00)	WISN	Screen Gems	76,300	15
7.	26 Men; Jim Dean (Sat. 5:30)	WITI	ABC Films	69,100	13
8.	Dick Tracy; Pope (Thurs. 5:00; Sat., Sun. 11:30)	WISN	TV Personals.	54,000	12
8.	Mickey Mouse (Sat. 9:30)	WISN	Buena Vista	54,000	8
9.	Hawaiian Eye (Mon.-Fri. 5:00)	WITI	Warner Bros.	52,500	10

Price Is Right	WITI	97,400
Spts; Wea; News	WTMJ	80,700
Hawaiian Eye	WITI	55,000
Theatre At 4	WTMJ	58,900
Theatre At 4; Sports	WTMJ	70,600
Theatre At 4; Sports	WTMJ	74,300
Ripcord; Zeb Bilings	WTMJ	51,000
Theatre At 4	WTMJ	52,300
Bullwinkle	WTMJ	36,700
Jetsons	WITI	53,200
Dick Tracy; Magilla	WISN	84,700
Huntley-Brinkley	WTMJ	79,400

INDIANAPOLIS

STATIONS: WFBM, WISH, WLWI, WTTV. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

1.	Bonanza	WFBM	253,400	40
2.	Beverly Hillbillies	WISH	236,200	46
3.	Andy Griffith	WISH	209,500	41
4.	Dick Van Dyke	WISH	200,600	40
5.	Donna Reed	WLWI	199,000	29
6.	Lassie; Wizard Oz	WISH	196,400	33
7.	Lucy Show	WISH	192,700	36
8.	Candid Camera	WISH	189,500	38
9.	Petticoat Junction	WISH	188,500	33
10.	Patty Duke	WLWI	177,400	26

1.	Cheyenne (Mon.-Fri. 6:30)	WLWI	Warner Bros.	107,700	16
2.	Three Stooges (Sat. 8:00)	WFBM	Screen Gems	107,500	15
3.	Yogi Bear (Thurs. 6:30)	WTTV	Screen Gems	97,400	14
4.	Superman (Mon.-Fri. 5:00)	WTTV	Flamingo	97,200	15
5.	Woody Woodpecker (Wed. 6:30)	WTTV	MCA-TV	96,700	15
6.	Leave It To Beaver (Mon. 7:00)	WTTV	MCA-TV	84,600	13
6.	Wally Gator Show (Tues. 6:30)	WTTV	Screen Gems	84,600	13
7.	Popeye and Janie (Mon.-Fri. 5:30)	WTTV	UAA, KING	84,400	12
8.	Huckleberry Hound (Mon. 6:30)	WTTV	Screen Gems	84,200	13
9.	Touche; Magilla (Fri. 6:30)	WTTV	Screen Gems	78,600	10

Huntley-Brinkley	WFBM	92,000
News; Wea; Headlines	WFBM	92,500
Captain Kangaroo	WISH	19,700
Schools	WISH	7,400
Cheyenne	WLWI	101,600
Frances Farmer	WFBM	70,700
Cheyenne	WLWI	95,900
Cheyenne	WLWI	106,900
Cheyenne	WLWI	103,600
Francis Farmer; Spts.	WFBM	71,700
Huntley-Brinkley	WFBM	108,400
Cheyenne	WLWI	98,500

SAN FRANCISCO

STATIONS: KTVU, KRON, KPIX, KGO. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

1.	Beverly Hillbillies	KPIX	430,000	32
2.	Bonanza	KRON	428,600	31
3.	Dick Van Dyke	KPIX	418,400	33
4.	Perry Mason	KPIX	358,100	29
5.	Jackie Gleason	KPIX	354,600	28
6.	Password	KPIX	346,200	28
7.	Lucy Show	KPIX	342,600	29
8.	Bob Hope	KRON	339,900	28
9.	Defenders	KPIX	332,400	28
10.	Candid Camera	KPIX	330,900	26

1.	Gun Will Travel (Mon. 7:00)	KPIX	CBS Films	206,100	16
2.	San Fran. Beat; Smok. (Sat. 7:00)	KPIX	CBS Films	188,800	15
3.	You Asked For It (Thurs. 7:00)	KTVU	Medallion	186,000	13
4.	Bachelor Father (Tues. 7:00)	KRON	MCA-TV	171,100	13
5.	M Squad (Tues. 7:00)	KPIX	MCA-TV	166,700	14
6.	Rifleman (Thurs. 7:00)	KPIX	Four Star	158,400	11
7.	One Step Beyond (Wed. 7:00)	KPIX	ABC Films	157,300	12
8.	Death Valley Days (Fri. 7:00)	KTVU	U.S. Borax	146,400	10
9.	Battle Line (Wed. 7:00)	KRON	Official	137,300	11
10.	Everglades (Wed. 7:00)	KTVU	Economee	130,000	10

Ron Cochran News	KGO	148,500
Great Movies	KRON	170,500
Rifleman	KPIX	158,400
M Squad	KPIX	166,700
Bachelor Father	KRON	171,100
You Asked For It	KTVU	186,000
Battle Line	KRON	137,300
Lawbreakers	KRON	123,600
One Step Beyond	KPIX	157,300
One Step Beyond	KPIX	157,300

KANSAS CITY

STATIONS: WDAF, KCMO, KMBC. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

1.	Beverly Hillbillies	KCMO	222,800	43
2.	Bonanza	WDAF	218,900	42
3.	Dick Van Dyke	KCMO	204,100	39
4.	Candid Camera	KCMO	193,900	40
5.	Fugitive	KMBC	179,200	32
6.	Andy Griffith	KCMO	178,900	35
7.	Lawrence Welk	KMBC	176,300	27
8.	Petticoat Junction	KCMO	159,700	31
9.	Patty Duke	KMBC	158,900	31
10.	My 3 Sons	KMBC	156,400	30

1.	Lawman (Mon.-Fri. 5:30)	KMBC	Warner Bros.	102,800	16
2.	Stoney Burke; Olympic (Thurs. 9)	KMBC	Economee	80,200	14
3.	Untouchables; Olympic (Wed. 9:00)	KMBC	Desilu	75,900	15
4.	M Squad (Sun. 9:00)	KMBC	MCA-TV	70,500	13
5.	Magilla; Rocky Friends (Fri. 5:00)	KMBC	Scr. Gms; PAT	70,300	12
6.	Death Valley Days (Thurs. 7:00)	WDAF	U.S. Borax	57,700	12
7.	Rifleman (Mon.-Fri. 5:00)	WDAF	Four Star	56,800	12
8.	Texan; Rocky Friends (Sat. 5:30)	KMBC	Desilu; PAT	52,400	9
9.	Fractured Flickers (Thurs. 6:30)	WDAF	Desilu;	46,200	10
9.	Supercar (Sat. 11:30)	KMBC	ITC	46,200	8

Huntley-Brinkley	WDAF	52,400
Nurses	KCMO	114,600
Danny Kaye	KCMO	123,900
Candid Camera	KCMO	193,900
Rifleman	WDAF	50,900
Donna Reed	KMBC	151,900
Torey; Rocky; Magilla	KMBC	67,100
Temple Houston	WDAF	53,400
Flintstones	KMBC	142,400
Categories; Bullwinkle	WDAF	22,200

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL

STATIONS: WCCO, KSTP, KMSP, WTCN. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

1.	Bonanza	KSTP	259,400	35
2.	Beverly Hillbillies	WCCO	251,100	33
3.	Candid Camera	WCCO	233,600	36
4.	Dick Van Dyke	WCCO	229,200	33
5.	What's My Line	WCCO	222,800	32
6.	Andy Griffith	WCCO	215,800	34
7.	Lassie; Wizard Oz	WCCO	200,600	29
7.	Petticoat Junction	WCCO	200,600	27
8.	Danny Kaye	WCCO	190,400	31
9.	Donna Reed	KMSP	189,100	32

1.	Leave It To Beaver (Mon.-Fri. 5:30)	KMSP	MCA-TV	109,400	18
2.	Checkmate; NFL FB (Sun. 3:00)	WCCO	MCA-TV	97,600	17
3.	Dobie Gillis (Mon.-Fri. 6:00)	KMSP	20 Fox TV	95,700	16
4.	Woody Woodpecker (Mon. 5:00)	WCCO	MCA-TV	84,000	11
5.	Rebel (Sun. 9:30)	KMSP	ABC Films	79,900	14
6.	Yogi Bear (Thurs. 5:00)	WCCO	Screen Gems	75,900	11
7.	Superman (Mon.-Fri. 5:00)	WTCN	Flamingo	70,900	11
8.	Death Valley Days (Sun. 9:00)	KMSP	U.S. Borax	66,300	11
9.	Sea Hunt (Sat. 5:30)	WTCN	Economee	64,000	9
10.	Lone Ranger; Magilla (Fri. 5:30)	WTCN	Telsnd; Scr. G	51,400	7

Huntley-Brinkley	KSTP	63,800
Encore; Pro Bwl; Golf	KSTP	68,900
News; Spts; Wea.	KSTP	88,100
Afternoon Movie	KSTP	41,300
What's My Line	WCCO	222,800
Superman	WTCN	61,500
Woody Woodpecker	WCCO	84,000
Candid Camera	WCCO	233,600
Love That Bob	KSTP	53,000
Leave It To Beaver	KMSP	112,600

If you watched television last weekend, you already know. But, for the record, here's how The New York Times described NBC News' coverage of the Alaska earthquake story.

THE NEW YORK TIMES, MONDAY, MARCH 30, 1964.

TV: Coverage of Alaska's Earthquake

N.B.C. News Scoops Its Rivals on Disaster

By JACK GOULD

THE National Broadcasting Company's news department spectacularly swept the television honors in its alert and resourceful coverage of the Alaskan earthquake.

On Saturday night, when public interest and apprehension were at their peak, N.B.C. scooped its rivals on some phases of the disaster by hours and on other phases by 40 minutes. The contrast of performance was one of the most marked in TV's journalistic annals.

N.B.C. carried, at 7 P.M. Saturday, the first pictures from Crescent City, Calif., and British Columbia... At 7 o'clock, N.B.C. also had the first official confirmation that the death toll in Alaska would be much less than feared. And at 11, it had 20 minutes of the first motion pictures from Anchorage.

By comparison with N.B.C., the other chains appeared to be caught in a weekend of lethargy, which they really did not throw off until last night's specials.

N.B.C.'s substantial advantage, also reflected in last night's specials, was due in great measure to station KING, the network's affiliate in Seattle, where Samuel M. Sharkey is managing news director. KING was the N.B.C. feed point for films and tapes from Alaska.

Incidently, amateur radio operators performed yeoman service through the emergency. Last night, on the 14-megacycle band, they relayed messages into and out of Alaska hour after hour, an example of the usefulness of hams when disasters tie up normal communication facilities.

This kind of alert, thoroughgoing reporting has made NBC News the most watched and most honored news organization in broadcasting. No matter where in the world the news breaks, and no matter when, the nation looks to NBC News to get it first and get it right. We wouldn't have it any other way.

Look to NBC for the best combination of news, information and entertainment.

NBC Swap

Continued from page 39

Robert E. Lee asked if WRCV could be denied renewal on that ground alone.

Fitzpatrick replied that under the public interest specter this was good enough reason, but then went on to cite NBC's dubious position in the quiz show imbroglio and the diversification of ownership issues which all added up would weight against the web.

Although much of the dialog centered on Westinghouse, the company only requested a few minutes to talk. Its lawyer John Lane opposed the NBC-RKO swap averring Westinghouse would lose its NBC affiliation in Boston, something of a dash of salt in wound already received when it traded a station in the number four market Philadelphia for a station in the number nine market of Cleveland.

In the batter's box for NBC was the high powered Philadelphia lawyer Irving Segal.

The brunt of his argument was directed to the inquiries of Chairman E. William Henry if FCC could renew the WRCV license but refuse to okay the swap.

Calling competitor Philco "the reluctant dragon which equates the public interest with half a million dollars," Segal accused Weaver of using a "numbers game and statistical ledgermain" in knocking WRCV's local live programming.

Segal averred the Commission could hardly pin a character disqualification on NBC for action in the 1955 Westinghouse trade which had already been okayed by FCC.

Segal insisted, in answer to Henry's prodding, that refusal to okay the swap would run counter to all tenets of sound administrative and public policy.

Arguing for RKO was Harold Cohen who averred the company was qualified to operate in Philadelphia. This came in response to a question from Commissioner Robert Bartley who asked why the public interest would be better served with RKO in Philadelphia rather than in Boston.

Deciding the issue for the Commission will be Henry, Lee, Bartley, Frederick Ford and Rosel Hyde. Commissioners Kenneth Cox and Lee Loevinger have both had prior interest in the case and have disqualified themselves.

'Today'

Continued from page 32

talent. He arrived at 8:30 a.m. and sat around quietly for almost three hours waiting to do his opening shot of welcome. "Today" staffers are used to this kind of cooperation. Besides the Governor, the show lined up former Ambassador Lewis Douglas, author Joseph Wood Crutch and other area notables for interviews with show hosts Hugh Downs and Jack Lescoulie. And at the Air Force base, the crew got the use of three U-2's for the first tv demo ever of the famous (or infamous) reconnaissance plane.

To describe the production complex, producer Morgan quotes what Orson Welles told New York friends when he returned from Hollywood and shooting his first motion picture, "Citizen Kane;" "It's the biggest set of electric trains in the world." But Morgan says "This is the only show I want to do. It's the kind of tv I understand. Otherwise, I'd just stay at home and write my novels" (his seventh or so book is coming out in the spring).

WNEW

Continued from page 39

Ellington, a Carmen McRae and a Julie London. Also, not to give schmaltz a freeze, the warbling of a Jerry Vale.

Typical of the names that consistently blossom on the station as pro tem jocks or for depth quizzing are Dave Brubeck, Joe Bushkin, Miriam Makeba, Lena Horne, Harry Belafonte, etc. Not to forget the regular slotting of Buddy Hackett, or the Broadway legit reviewing assignments that rotate celebs (David Susskind, Roger Price, etc.).

Albeit several notches down in Pulse-rated preference ("rock" is still primary in the mecca), the showbiz aura is credited with helping the station to a potent share of consumer influentials, which in turn has cued ardent sponsorship that for years has made the 50,000-watter top grosser among the nation's independents.

VARIETY ARB FEATURE FILM CHART

VARIETY-ARB's weekly chart offers a day-by-day analysis of the top feature evening slots in a particular market. On Saturdays and Sundays, daytime feature slots compete with nighttime pix periods for designation as the top feature slot of the day. The analysis is confined to the top rated feature slots in the ARB measured period, broken down by days in the week. The ARB measured period usually covers three or four weeks. Other data such as the time slot and total area homes is furnished. Top competition and competitive ratings also are highlighted.

Dallas, Ft. Worth • STATIONS: KRLD, WBAP, WFAA, KTVT.

• SURVEY DATES: OCTOBER 27 - NOVEMBER 19, 1963 (Omitting Nov. 3 - 5).

WBAP

Total Area Homes: 73,500
Metro Rating: 12
Share of Audience: 18

MONDAYS 6:30-8:30
Program: MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE

Oct. 28 "GOOD MORNING, MISS DOVE"
Jennifer Jones, Robert Stack
1955, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

Nov. 11 "FATHER OF THE BRIDE"
Elizabeth Taylor, Spencer Tracy
1950, MGM, MGM-TV

Nov. 18 "THE RELUCTANT DEBUTANTE"
Rex Harrison, Kay Kendall
1958, MGM, MGM-TV

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
To Tell the Truth 6:30-7:00	KRLD 181,000
I've Got A Secret 7:00-7:30	KRLD 197,700
Lucy Show 7:30-8:00	KRLD 214,800
Danny Thomas 8:00-8:30	KRLD 229,500

WFAA

Total Area Homes: 60,100
Metro Rating: 8
Share of Audience: 34

TUESDAYS 5:00-5:45
Program: 4 O'CLOCK MOVIE

Oct. 29 "SERPENT ISLAND"
Sonny Tufts
1954, Medallion TV

Nov. 12 "FORBIDDEN JUNGLE"
Don Harvey, Forrest Taylor
1950, Eagle-Lion, Prime TV

Nov. 19 "FACE OF MARBLE"
John Carridine
1946, Monogram, United Artists

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Lone Ranger 5:00-5:30	KRLD 40,300
CBS News 5:30-5:45	KRLD 60,500

WFAA

Total Area Homes: 35,700
Metro Rating: 5
Share of Audience: 21

WEDNESDAYS 5:00-5:45
Program: 4 O'CLOCK MOVIE

Oct. 31 "DESTINATION UNKNOWN"
William Gargan, Irene Harvey
1942, U-I, Screen Gems

Nov. 6 "LADY IN DISTRESS"
Paul Lukas, Michael Redgrave
1942, Times (British), Prime TV

Nov. 13 "WEIRD WOMAN"
Lon Chaney, Anne Gwynne
1944, U-I, Screen Gems

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Lone Ranger 5:00-5:30	KRLD 43,300
CBS News 5:30-5:45	KRLD 61,000

WFAA

Total Area Homes: 49,400
Metro Rating: 8
Share of Audience: 31

THURSDAYS 5:00-5:45
Program: 4 O'CLOCK MOVIE

Oct. 31 "ROBOT MONSTER"
George Nader, Claudia Barrett
1953, Astor Pictures, Medallion-TV

Nov. 7 "DEAD BY MORNING"
Diana Dors, Patrick Holt
1951, Eros Films, Prime TV

Nov. 14 "CURSE OF THE FACELESS MAN"
Robert Andersen, Elaine Edwards
1958, United Artists, UA

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Lone Ranger 5:00-5:30	KRLD 51,000
CBS News 5:30-5:45	KRLD 57,500

WFAA

Total Area Homes: 57,500
Metro Rating: 9
Share of Audience: 29

FRIDAYS 5:00-5:45
Program: 4 O'CLOCK MOVIE

Nov. 1 "VOODOO ISLAND"
Boris Karloff
1957, United Artists, UA

Nov. 8 "GODZILLIA"
Raymond Burr
1956, Toho Prod., Showcorporation

Nov. 15 "UNKNOWN TERROR"
John Howard, Mala Powers
1957, 20th Century-Fox, NTA

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Lone Ranger 5:00-5:30	KRLD 59,000
CBS News 5:30-5:45	KRLD 72,700

WBAP

Total Area Homes: 86,000
Metro Rating: 15
Share of Audience: 25

SATURDAYS 8:00-10:30
Program: SATURDAY AT THE MOVIES

Nov. 2 "LET'S MAKE LOVE"
Marilyn Monroe, Yves Montand, Tony Randall
1960, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

Nov. 9 "DIARY OF ANNE FRANK"
Millie Perkins, Shelley Winters
1959, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

Nov. 16 "UNTAMED"
Tyrone Power, Susan Hayward, Richard Egan
1955, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Defenders; P. Silvers 8:00-9:00	KRLD 187,200
Gunsmoke 9:00-10:00	KRLD 243,200
Death Valley Days 10:00-10:30	KRLD 123,400

KRLD

Total Area Homes: 74,500
Metro Rating: 12
Share of Audience: 35

SUNDAYS 1:00-2:30
Program: SUNDAY MOVIE

Oct. 27 P R E E M P T E D

Nov. 10 "LITTLE PRINCESS"
Shirley Temple, Richard Greene, Anita Louise
1939, 20th Century-Fox, NTA

Nov. 17 "YOUNG PEOPLE"
Shirley Temple, Jack Oakie, C. Greenwood
1940, 20th Century-Fox, NTA

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Movie; Football 1:00-1:45	WFAA 78,900
FB; Changing; Live 1:45-2:30	WFAA 92,100

Godfrey

Continued from page 29

with a reputation for honesty and integrity who are believable. A local boy who is good can move products beautifully. People are still responsive to the right word," he said.

He told of his own experience with Robert Burns cigars and that company's special buy of his program during the Christmas season, despite the myth that his listeners are mostly older ladies. After three weeks on the program, General Cigar found that 85% of its special Christmas packs had been sold, something that had never happened to the company before. Godfrey cited several other dramatic success stories, all in point of illustrating that it's not really necessary to know how many and what kind of people are listening at any given time.

It's enough to know, he said, that there are more than 200,000,000 sets operating, that 53,000,000 of them are in cars, and that the American public has spent more than a billion dollars for the purchase of transistor sets. His implication was that they wouldn't buy 'em if they didn't use 'em.

Godfrey's appearance was arranged by WBBM Radio's special projects manager, Don Mann, who is also prexy of American College of Radio Arts, Crafts & Sciences, the organization which staged the event last Thursday (26).

Booze Blurbs

Continued from page 31

ernment regulation was preferable. He further inquired if Sanger felt the QXR breakthrough would invite government action.

Harris further queried if government restrictions on hard liquor would lead to similar curbs on cigaret and beer commercials and "other products affected with emotional implications."

Identical letters were sent to Schenley Industries Inc. and McKesson & Robbins Inc. which will sponsor programs on WQXR beginning the first week of April.

In his speech, Sen. Pastore recalled how in 1961 after a look-see the Committee decided on the basis of promises from NAB and the Distillers Spirits Institute that self-regulation would work best.

He asserted there was a "vastly different principle" between liquor advertising in the press and over radio and tv. In the latter instance "there is no protection against children and teenagers hearing liquor extolled as a fit product for purchase by their parents," he said.

Pay TV-Vs. Com'l

Continued from page 30

Brown has locked up pay-tv rights to the upcoming Broadway musical "Cool Off," starring Stanley Hollaway. He also will do a pay-tv show with the Scapino Ballet for Children, the Dutch group which performed during the Christmas holidays at Lincoln Center. The ballet performance will be vidtaped in Amsterdam.

Producer Silverman said he tried to sell the Scapino Ballet to the U.S. networks prior to the group's arrival at Lincoln Center. Three networks turned him down, Silverman said. Too specialized was cited as the reason for rejection.

"In pay television we have a medium not afraid of specialized programs," Silverman and Brown concurred.

Baby Food Coin

Continued from page 29

nate quarter hour out of the 10 still for sale.

Colgate picked up a minute a week in the Saturday night pix, to begin in January of next year.

For the current season, late buys have made the second quarter a virtual sellout, with only four scattered minutes still available for the April, May, June period. Sales veepee Don Durgin says that all indications currently point toward a record billings year for the web (second quarter has in previous years been 90%-plus sold, but never a sellout. Among the late entries in the second and third quarters is General Foods with a $1,140,000 scatter plan.

M.&A. ALEXANDER PRODUCTIONS PRESENTS TWO NEW FIRST-RUN HALF HOUR SERIES OF DISTINCTIVE AUDIENCE APPEAL

A refreshing change of pace, these first-run releases lend variety to programming with two adventure themes of proven popularity with viewers of all ages, imaginative science fiction and the highly successful detective story.

PLANET PATROL

Planet Patrol, already in the New York market, brings the world of the future, the year 2100 into lively focus. Offers a unique production of intriguing science fiction based on technically accurate material. A Wonderama Production, produced by Roberta Leigh and Arthur Provis; created and written by Roberta Leigh with technical advice by Colin Ronan.

A National Interest Pictures Ltd. Production

After only 4 weeks on
WPIX, New York
Highest Rating of any show
5:30 PM, Sundays

THE PURSUERS

The Pursuers, starring Louis Hayward, put the famed actor in the thick of the action—in a tense fast-paced Scotland Yard adventure, spiced with realistic detail and played in authentic London settings. A Crestview Production, produced by Donald Hyde.

Each series contains 39 half-hours, available for multiple runs.
For details, contact M. & A. ALEXANDER PRODUCTIONS, INC., 6040 SUNSET BLVD., HOLLYWOOD 28, CALIF. PHONE: HO 4-3414 • HO 4-7571

Looking Forward to Seeing You at the Convention
SUITES 501, 501A, 503, PICK-CONGRESS HOTEL

From The Production Centres

Continued from page 32

new show designed for the U.K.'s 8,000,000 over-60s . . . Marius Goring signed by Anglia-TV for a series of special readings from The Bible . . . Charles Jarrott pacted exclusively with BBC for the next 12 months to produce five plays for the web.

IN WASHINGTON . . .

CBS is puffing Marvin Kalb's hour scoop Tuesday (24) of release of U.S. airmen by Soviets in East Germany . . . WRC-TV staff artist Bob Payne will join Bil and Cora Baird Marionettes at World's Fair in April . . . WTTG-TV's "Community Dialog" Sunday (29) had panel discussing controversy over the location and design of Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts . . . WAVA radio's anti-ciggie kick took a new twist as station initiated a "Stop Smoking Course" . . . David Susskind's "Open End" will be seen here on educational station WETA-TV on channel 26. Station also airing a weekly 15-minute report on Congress by Time Magazine Capitol reporter Neil MacNeil . . . Former NAB assistant John Perry named consultant to New York state Democratic Advisory Committee . . . CBS News correspondents George Herman and Paul Niven back from vacations in Florida and California.

IN TORONTO . . .

Freelance TV broadcaster Kerry Ellard interviewed 100 Canadian expatriates in the U.S. for a "Project '64" show next Sunday. His main question was why they had left Canada. Actor Lloyd Bochner (Richard Boone company in Hollywood) replied, "If the Canadian government would subsidize film production as governments do in other countries, I and many other performers would return to do something we consider worthwhile." . . . Spence Caldwell, of CTV and Michael Sadlier, of the CBC, have returned from separate trips to Hollywood for their networks. They were looking over next season's new U.S. shows in hopes of spotting the best bets to buy for their networks. Both have remained tight lipped since returning . . . Mrs. Kay Vaydik, wife of an Arctic prospector and a resident of Yellowknife, North West Territories since 1946, has joined the CBC's MacKenzie network, which provides radio programming to the far north of Canada. Mrs. Vaydik will be a commentator on the morning series coffee break, Mondays through Fridays . . . National Hockey League playoff games are being carried by the CBC. Deciding games between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs are being carried in their entirety

IN PHILADELPHIA . . .

WRCV-TV station manager Arthur A. Watson named tv chairman for the United Fund campaign next fall . . . Perry Como expected to do one of his tv shows from this city next year . . . Tommy Roberts, publicity director of Garden State Park to air feature race of the day every afternoon over WKDN . . . Martyn Green to host the WFIL-TV Studio Workshop special program featuring the Frankford High School A Capella Choir, bankrolled by the Philadelphia Gas Works . . . Ann Fogler to be Bill Hart's temporary co-host on WCAU-TV's "TV10 Around Town." Regular Rosemary Haley on maternity leave . . . WRCV-TV cited by the National Headliners Club for "comprehensive coverage" of the rescue of two trapped miners. Houston Hall, lenser of the dramatic event at Hazelton, expected to join NBC News in New York shortly . . . WFIL-TV to kick off "These Are Americans" a half-hour series of gabfests with leaders in various fields. First subject will be Richard M. Nixon . . . WRCV-TV launches the first of three documentaries "It's About Time" in a series dealing with the problems, aspirations and progress of minority groups.

IN DETROIT . . .

Dwight Jarrell, former Detroit Times reporter, named account executive for the A. R. Gloster Ad agency which services the CKLW-AM-FM-TV account . . . Shirley Eder, in Hollywood for the Academy Awards, has taped interviews with Rock Hudson, Leslie Caron, Ginger Rogers, Barbara Stanwyck, Bob Hope and Angie Dickerson for her syndicated radio show heard in Detroit on WJBK . . . WWJ will broadcast all Detroit Red Wings games during the Stanley Cup playoffs with Budd Lynch describing the action . . . CKLW sponsored the second international Beatle Ball, with 20,000 teenagers attending, in an effort to stir up enthusiasm to bring the Beatles to Detroit for a p.a. . . . Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, Republican Congressman from Missouri who is a member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, will be WWJ-TV's "Town Meeting" guest.

IN ST. LOUIS . . .

"Operation Challenge: A Study In Hope," a public affairs special by KSD-TV, copped a regional Emmy nomination in the Station Award competition. Program was put together by the station's Mary Spencer, Howard Demers and Pat Williamson . . . Vincent Price will be host-narrator for a KMOX-TV special titled "The House On Art Hill". . . Gertrude Bunchez, general sales manager at KCFM, listed in the latest edition of Marquis Who's Who of American Women . . . Falstaff Brewing has returned to KMOX-TV's Saturday night sked for full sponsorship of movies under the "First Run Theatre" title . . . KSD-TV's Chris Condon tapped for a Monday-through-Friday five-minute "Headlines" show . . . Bill McKibben, assistant to the vice president of Balaban Stations (WIL in St. Louis), has joined Taft Broadcasting as a general executive.

IN BOSTON

"David Alan show," WNAC-TV, nabbing loads of fan mail, with its framework of live audiences, prizes, games and guest stars. In one week, show guested Yvonne DeCarlo, Alan Mowbray, Alan Arkin, Freda Holloway of "Enter Laughing" at the Wilbur, and players of amateur production, "Arsenic and Old Lace," Falmouth, who appeared in costumes and makeup by way of contrast . . . Gary LaPierre appointed to staff of WBZ radio news by Al Heacock, prigram manager . . . WTEV, New Bedford, introing new weekday program "Woman," reflecting tastes and interests of femmes with Athena Parker hostessing . . . WNAC starting its lawn and garden advice program with John D. Lyon skedded for Wed., Thurs., Fri., a.m. at 6:50 . . . Both WNAC and WNAC-TV telecasts highlights from 36th anni dinner northeastern region national conference Christians and Jews Thursday (9), 9 to 9:30 pm. from Statler-Hilton ballroom

IN CINCINNATI

Gilbert Kingsbury, vet WLW-Radio staffer and former Washington newsman, resigned from the Crosley Broadcasting fold to become a deputy highway commissioner of his native Kentucky, where he is on the U.K. board of trustees . . . Bob Keeshan returns April 4 for two performances of his "Fun With Music" concert with the Cincy Symphony Orchestra, popular with his "Captain Kangaroo" shows . . . Art Linkletter due for a two-day visit in behalf of one of his commercial interests . . . Bill Gill, former WSAI staffer, back in Cincy as WKRC-T newsman after stopoffs in Texas and Pittsburgh . . . WNOP-Radio has Bill Brodrick, sports car authority, as host for a series of Saturday noon shows of auto racing and safety tips . . . Waite Hoyt named Ohio's sportscaster of 1963 while on WKRC with Reds baseball by balloting of contemporaries.

NBC Drops Plans For Griffin Show From Fair

NBC-TV has dropped its plans for a weekly show from the New York World's Fair to be fronted by emcee Merv Griffin because the location was too "logistically rough" for comfortable production. Report is that production of the network's 90-minute special for the Fair's April opening has been slowed by jurisdictional union problems and the current frantic construction still underway at the site.

Going into the Friday 9:30 p.m. slot instead of the Fair show will be reruns of variety shows from the CBC featuring topname talents in half-hour spreads. In the Tuesday night 9:30 p.m. slot, to be taken over by "TW3" in the fall, the network will present "Mystery Theatre," reruns from the old Schlitz Playhouse and GE Theatre drama shows.

NAB

Continued from page 31

his ups and downs as slim vote of confidence by the NAB Board last winter evidenced. But with cigarets already in the fan and booze soon to follow, the Collins crusader image will come in handy for the industry.

The convention of course will be the usual scene of continual speeches, panel sessions and get-togethers formal and informal.

The FCC panel with all seven Commissioners participating will be Wednesday from 2:30-5:30 in the Hilton Grand Ballroom. Auspiciously or not that will be followed immediately by a two-hour cocktail party in the International Ballroom.

A programming panel with network and telefilm reps is scheduled for 9:45 a.m. Tuesday in the Blackstone Theatre next to the Blackstone Hotel.

A group of station execs and NAB General Counsel Douglas Anello will discuss "Freedom and Fairness—the Right to Know" Monday at 2:30 in the Grand Ballroom.

NAB-Syndies

Continued from page 39

multi-year network runs, encompass king-sized dollars. The size of such deals commands the attention of top station brass.

Many of the trials and tribulations of selling vidfilm series are foreign to feature selling. Motion pictures remain in short supply and the thrust of the hours, once considered competitive to motion pictures, has failed to materialize. Feature slots in most situations have not given way to programming of hours. In the competitive race against feature slotting, Steve Allen as a late night syndication entry has proven to have more staying power than many of the off-network hours.

Interestingly, CBS Films is thinking of packaging a series of sports specials as a late night entry, representing a new thrust to come up with something to fill the void created by the feature shortage.

Distaff Journalists

Continued from page 29

has been no timidity over the years about featuring the feminine byline, and not alone on the "human interest" but over the hard stuff, as well.

Today's more famous crop includes the McGrorys, Fleesons, Robbs, et al.

Why the seeming new impetus in broadcasting is speculative, but suggested by some as reflecting the evolving role of women in the public eye. Noted in this connection is President Johnson's undisguised ardor for the ladies as public servants—he's just given the nod to one as ambassador to Denmark, and also recently avowed desire for some 50 top ladies to enroll in upper echelons of government service.

In case, some broadcasters are saying, "Here's looking at 'em!"

Oakland, Calif.—Radio station KDIA here has signed a three-year agreement with the Oakland Raiders to broadcast the team's 19-game slate for the next three fall seasons

Inside Stuff—Radio-TV

A Monday morning (30) Washington snow blitz knocked out David Susskind's projected "Open End" scoop pairing of Pierre Salinger and Jim Hagerty.

Salinger, who just ankled the White House to run for the Senate from California, was set to make an air shuttle run up to Manhattan in time for a 10 a.m. tape session, but a capitol snowstorm kept him grounded.

Hagerty deemed a future date unwise, since Salinger would then be well along on the electioneering stump. So it remains for the two to make their first joint homescreen appearance.

As a sidebar to next week's National Assn. of Broadcasters convention, pioneer broadcasters will be asked to tape their early experiences for inclusion in the Oral History projects being collaborated on by the Broadcast Pioneers and Columbia University. Project was begun 10 years ago, and to date more than 4,000 pages of radio memoirs have been collected. Columbia's oral history research office reports that some 5,500 requests have already been logged for use of the materials. Idea is to preserve the pioneer broadcasting experiences for use by future generations.

Broadcast Pioneers prexy Ernest Lee Jahnke Jr. will screen possible participants in Parlors 33 and 34 from Monday (6) through Wednesday, with Chicago station WGN providing the engineering facilities and announcers to conduct the interviews.

ABC Radio o&o's, convinced the audio medium has an image problem, are campaigning in their respective markets to redress the grievances, having assembled a promotion that hopefully will inspire "awareness" of local radio's devotion to community betterment. Hardly need be said that the campaign is not shy respecting the web-owned call letters.

At the heart of it is a 20-minute color film, "Saga in Sound," which personalities, management tier "and even clerical people" of the stations are chaperoning to community influentials assembled by P-TA units, Kiwanis, Rotary, Jaycee, church and other groups. Distribution of a 24-page booklet expanding on the film's thesis goes with each screening.

Except for some footage emphasizing the hometown ABC kilocycles, each o&o is unspooling the identical reel, a glossy documentation of radio's evolution from Marconi to the present, stressing the local broadcaster as a civic-minded guy.

The film is also booked for the NAB Chicago pow.

Wrather Corp. boosted its own profits for itself and its wholly-owned subsids by about $390,000 for year ended Dec. 31, 1963, but sustained a total consolidated net loss of $2,544,184 with inclusion of its losses in A. C. Gilbert., of which company owns 50.14% interest.

Prexy-board chairman Jack Wrather reported that his operations' own net profit amounted to $886,966, or 51 cents per share on gross income of $12,060,688. Charged against this, however, were $2,849,370, repping 50.14% of the Gilbert loss, and a $581,780 writeoff of excess costs of the investment in Gilbert stock. Gilbert, a toy manufacturer, reported a 1963 loss of $5,682,829, after taking a substantial write-down on inventory and plant equipment.

Wrather's own wholly-owned corporations include Disneyland Hotel, Muzak, and tv and film property, "Lassie," "The Lone Ranger" and "Sergeant Preston of the Yukon." Profits in these were up about $390,000 or 23 cents per share over 1962, Wrather reported.

Admiral Corp. annual report, just out, shows a 7% increase in consolidated net sales for 1963 compared to the previous year. Net sales jumped from $201,505,441 in 1962 to $216,146,661 last year. Consolidated net income of $3,024,532, or $1.24 per shade was reported on 2,442,546 shares outstanding, compared with $1,965,501, or 80% per share in 1962.

CBS-TV star Danny Thomas has filmed a three-minute talk which will be broadcast in Morocco on the occasion of the fourth anni of the first tv broadcast in that Arab country. The film was made last week at the request of the U.S. Information Agency—and was delivered by linguistic Thomas in Arabic.

Winnipeg-based Selkirk Holdings Ltd., with part or total ownership of four tv and six radio outlets in Canada, reports a calendar 1963 net profit increase of 9.5%. Earnings reached $190,719, or 46c per share, versus $174,122, equal to 42c a share the previous year. National ad revenue was off in first half of the year, but local advertiser coin rose in second half to more than offset the earlier declines.

NAB is offering stations a sample personnel guidebook with suggestions on filling in employees on station policies.

The booklet outlines points which would be included in handbooks printed by individual stations, said its author David Doughty of NAB's Dept. of Broadcast Management.

It would include information on such items as pay periods, fringe benefits, vacations and basic work policies "which otherwise might be overlooked or taken for granted," Doughty said.

WRVR, N.Y., energetic FMer owned by the Riverside Church, is going with the cognizance of Shakespeare's 400th anniversary by airing an original radio adaptation of the Bard's "As You Like It."

The comedy, boiled down to an hour, beams tomorrow night (Thurs.) at 9 p.m.

FCC has decided to allow the U.S. Coast Guard to continue using New York's Channel 47 even though a construction permit has been issued for a UHF television station to use the spot.

The Coast Guard can use the channel for six months or until tv broadcasting begins.

The extension had been requested by the Coast Guard to complete an experimental program being conducted at Sandy Hook, N.J.

Yugoslavia, Austria Team on TV Prod.

Vienna, March 31.

Yugoslavia, for many years a partner of Austria in various kinds of cultural life, now joins hands for tv production also. For the first time an Austrian-Yugoslavian coproduction started in the Vienna Rothstreet studio.

Studio Zagreb (Agram) sent a full crew to the capital to shoot the tv film "Formations" (modern dances) by Vera Maletic with music by Ruben Radica. Music will contain electronic parts besides. Hermann Lanske (as director) and Wilfried D. Scheib (as chief of the production) represent the Austrian side.

EXTEND FILING TIME ON FM POWER HIKE

Washington, March 31.

FCC extended the filing time on its proposed rules giving FM radio stations increased power from March 27 to May 11.

Postponement was issued to include a proposal by Kear and Kennedy consulting radio engineers on site changes for short spaced FM stations and an alternate FCC proposal for higher antenna heights.

The reply comment deadline was also shifted from April 10 to May 26.

Commissioner Robert Bartley dissented. Favoring the postponement were Chairman E. William Henry and Commissioners Robert E. Lee, Frederick Ford, Kenneth Cox and Lee Loevinger.

Announcing

ADVENTURE 26

26 ACTION-ADVENTURE-COLOR SPECTACLES FILMED IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE WORLD! THE MOST EXCITING STORIES OF ALL TIME!

Great Titles: The Mongols, The Trojan War, Cartouche, Helen of Troy, Triumph of Robin Hood, Devil of Paris, Lion of St. Mark, Joseph And His Brethren and many others...

Great Stars: Jack Palance, Anita Ekberg, Robert Morley, John Drew Barrymore, Jill Haworth, Gordon Scott, Lex Barker and many others...

Already

Stations Sold Prior To General Release

WOR-TV . . . . . New York, N. Y.
WXYZ . . . . . Detroit, Michigan
KTVT . . . . . Fort Worth, Texas
WTTV . . . . . Indianapolis, Indiana
KOIN-TV . . . . . Portland, Oregon
WWL-TV . . New Orleans, Louisiana
KONO . . . . . San Antonio, Texas
WNEP-TV . . Scranton, Pennsylvania
KXLY-TV . . . Spokane, Washington
KHJ-TV . . . Los Angeles, California
KBOI-TV . . . . . Boise, Idaho
KHVH-TV . . . . . Honolulu, Hawaii
WKZO . . . . Kalamazoo, Michigan
KATC-TV . . . Lafayette, Louisiana
KLAS-TV . . . . Las Vegas, Nevada
WTEV, New Bedford, Massachusetts
KAKE-TV . . . . . Wichita, Kansas
WOW-TV . . . . . Omaha, Nebraska
KPIX . . . San Francisco, California

ADVENTURE awaits you in Chicago
Hotel Continental—Embassy Suite 500-502-504
See our exciting trailers, slides, brochures and surprise selling aids during the NAB convention.
APRIL 5-6-7-8.

JOSEPH LEVINE
EMBASSY
PICTURES CORP. TELEVISION DEPARTMENT
Time & Life Bldg. Rockefeller Center New York 20, New York JUdson 2-2100

Radio Review

JUNIPER 5-2385
With Milton Metz, Cassius Clay
Producer: Metz
90 Mins.; Mon.-Friday: 8:30 p.m.
WHAS, Louisville.

WHAS staffer Milton Metz and his audience show "Juniper 5-2385" (phone number identifying the Metz show) during which listeners are invited to call in their questions on some provocative subject, had a change in format when Cassius Marcellus Clay, heavyweight champion made a guest appearance for the entire show. Clay became interested in boxing as a boy, when Joe Martin, local police officer and part-time coach of youthful boxing aspirants, arranged to have Clay meet other amateur opponents on "Future Champions," a 30-minute boxing show on local WAVE-TV. Rest of the story has already been told; his gaining stature by winning boxing medals in Rome at the Olympics and the like.

The image projected by the champ on this q. & a. show was in contrast to the brash, vocal fighter who stepped into the ring with Sonny Liston in Miami, and who achieved his lifetime ambition to become world's champion heavyweight boxer. Clay conducted himself in a subdued, modest manner, with hardly any of the braggadocio which characterized his prefight tactics. While he impressed as still unversed in the techniques of good public relations, his generous offer to fight in a benefit for Rudell Stitch (Louisville's upcoming boxer who lost his life while trying to save a drowning friend in the Ohio River) was laudatory.

Phone calls were congratulatory, with just a few expressing the opinion that Liston would win if there were a rematch. Clay handled himself well in the ad-lib exchanges. One listener brought a sharp retort from Clay with a question about the fight being fixed. Clay's answer "I don't know nothin' about that. I fixed Liston."

One listener wanted to know about reports that Clay had become a member of the Muslims. Clay said that was correct; he had always been a Muslim. He fielded a number of questions about his future plans; Floyd Patterson and other challengers for his crown, and the like, all in well-modulated tones.

Metz showed his usual good taste in handling hot questions, and regardless of the listeners who tossed questions which were irrelevant, Metz had a pleasant way of telling 'em to stick to the subject, and thanking them for expressing their opinions. Wied.

Radio Followup

Tex McCrary

As WNBC is essaying its "more talk" programming by acquiring new personalities, including those from the opposition WOR-Radio, the latter also has been adding new interviewers. Among these is Tex McCrary who, with innate newspaper and show biz sense and training, has gotten top-drawer guests and gotten them to say something more meaningful than punditing or plugging a show or picture.

Henry A. Barnes was one such last week and a sample of the Traffic Commissioner's opinion of the metropolitan vehicular logjam may be gleaned from these Barnesian samplings: "The only way to get to the West Side (of Manhattan) is to be born there".

In answer to the dire potentials of the World's Fair vehicular crush, a doubeleader at the new Shea Stadium, Billy Graham in person at the Fair, normal airport traffic, and of course the inevitable Jones Beach exodus all happening on a nice summer Sunday, Barnes suggested "I'd leave five or 10 minutes earlier—the day before".

He also has some cogent and practical suggestions, and as far as possible any New Yorker knows Barnes is implementing some of them, but what he thinks of municipal redtape snafuing his work is no longer any secret down at City Hall. McCrary brought it out of him again in no uncertain terms. Abel.

TV-AM Set Sales In Big Jan. Spurt

Washington, March 31.

Television and radio sales and production in January considerably outdistanced the pace in 1963, Electronic Industries Assn. reported.

TV set sales were 588-555 in January 1964 compared to 503,821 for the same month last year. Radio sales showed an even bigger jump from 453,348 January, 1963 to 544,815 this round.

Total black and white receiver production reached 642,080 in January compared to 484,415 for the same month in 1963.

EIA has added color tv production to its monthly figures and disclosed 88,977 of those sets were turned out in January.

Showing a big spurt is all channel set production jumping from 58,032 in January, 1963, to 116,281 in January, 1964.

Also up was FM radio production to 151,343 this January from 87,641 last round.

20th-TV's Aussie Sale

20th-Fox-TV has dealt a package of 39 late-model features to Australia's Television Corp. Ltd. The pix all had primetime NBC exposure the past two seasons, and the Aussie deal specifies unlimited unspoolings over a seven-year span.

Among the titles in the package are "The Egyptian," "Roots of Heaven," "Three Coins in the Fountain," "Niagara" and "Heaven Knows Mr. Allison."

Regina, Sask. — Harold Van Wiebe, program director of CKCK-TV, Regina, to Weyburn, Sask., as manager of radio station CKSL.

TV's 'Light Pop Wave Era'

Continued from page 29

Side," David Susskind's hour which had a one season run on CBS-TV only to be axed in this light pop wave.

Wednesdays will have "CBS Reports" in its same 7:30 to 8:30 slot. That's it for that night, other than what may be supplied by NBC-TV's "Wednesday Night Movies."

Thursdays there's "Dr. Kildare" and "Defenders."

Fridays there's "Your's Truly, Danny Taylor," (nee The Reporter, created by Jerome Weidman) and "Bob Hope Presents."

Saturday's there's a possibility of contemporary reality dramatic themes on "Saturday Night At the Movies," titles which are at least three years old.

It can be argued that much of the present-day world is offered in satire on NBC-TV's "TW3," the half-hour which made it for next season. There also could be some reality surprises which could touch the nerves of America's citizenry in some series not tabulated.

CBS-TV is of the opinion that while it lost "East Side, West Side," it gained two reality shows in "Slattery's People" and "Yours Truly, Danny Taylor." Reality shows they may be in the parlance of tv, but from all initial reports leaking out about the shows, the themes won't knock John Q. Public off his easy chair. CBS-TV is of the opinion that it's retained its mix of reality, escape, comedy, variety showcases, personalities, games, etc.

The contention of CBS-TV drew smiles from other quarters.

Producers Brodkin and Susskind were sounded out for they represent the reality school of drama in contemporary tv. (Susskind next season out will have "Mr. Broadway," dealing with a high powered public relations exec, in the escape vein).

"I would hate to be trying to peddle reality shows now," Susskind agrees. "The trend is away from serious drama." (There also will be no teledramas culled from the literary output of the past, i.e. Ibsen, Shaw, Hemingway, other than perhaps an occasional "Hallmark Hall of Fame.")

Susskind blamed the demise of serious drama to its lack of popularity. "We live in the most affluent society in the world. In the midst of this affluent society, there are pockets of poverty, one fifth of a nation. The four-fifths don't want to be troubled by the problems of the one-fifth. The 'starvation belt' in America is not tv's audience. The abundant audience wants escape in its leisure hours. The Bomb, too, hanging over everyone's head, is another facet in this drive for escape." He said he had to subscribe to the phrase "never underestimate the American public's appetite for the mediocre."

"Times will change," Susskind opined. "Someone will do a successful realistic drama and others will follow."

The pendulum theory was subscribed to also by producer Brodkin of "The Defenders" and "Nurses." Brodkin said the success of the "Defenders" two years ago bred other series, keyed to more realistic themes. Now its the days of "Beverly Hillbillies," he said, with everyone trying to imitate Paul Henning's success in comedy. Brodkin said he had nothing against other forms of tv fare, but its a "little disheartening" to see all of tv veering away from the type of dramas that made "Playhouse 90" famous. ("Miracle Worker" and "Judgment at Nuremberg," two motion pictures which will be presented by ABC-TV in its feature slot next season, had their origination as "Playhouse 90" dramas.)

"I have no intention of changing what I do," added Brodkin.

Louisville—Joel M. Thrope, native New Yorker, has been named general manager of WAKY here. Thrope went to Louisville with the Army in 1954, and upon discharge in 1956 went to work for WAVE as a salesman. He joined WAKY as commercial manager in 1962.

What's new?

Westhampton Group II

POST-'62

Feature Films for Television

...loaded with action

...priced for action!

Sold, even before this first announcement, to Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Albany, Syracuse, Indianapolis, Providence, San Antonio and San Francisco!

Here are 12 really new action-packed features... sure to attract viewers and sponsors to your channel. 10 of the nation's top stations snatched them up before this first announcement of availability, so you can bet they're the hottest properties around. Now that the news is out, we suggest you call for details without delay.

While you're on the phone...ask about Westhampton's great Group I of Post-'60s which is enjoying substantial late afternoon and late evening ratings in 37 leading markets! Every Group II sale was made to a station which bought Group I...and when a station comes back for more, you can be sure it was pleased with the results!

Call Henry S. White

WESTHAMPTON FILM CORPORATION

717 FIFTH AVENUE • NEW YORK 22, N.Y. • 212 / PL 2-1919

Radio-TV: Desert-Style

Continued from page 39

show in the network's blurb time. The lift might have gone unnoticed, except the local station cut back to the network just in time to catch the kicker, "the preceding announcement has been brought to you as a public service." Even a casual listener could hardly construe a blurb for the Dune's flesh show as a public service.

On the local radio level, however, there are a couple of rock-n'-rollers, a couple of "good music" stations, a couple of "fine" music outlets (FM nighttime split) a couple of Mexican stations and a couple of country-western blasters. There are a couple of versions of the Coast's "talk back" telephone shows, and some very hip deejays, even among the country-and-western spielers.

One of the latter flashed an early-morning news bulletin in an interpretive way that should be the envy of Huntley-Brinkley. It went something like this: "Well, Jack Ruby has fired lawyerman Belli and sent him back to California. Never shoulda hired him in the first place. Down in Houston they got the best lil old criminal lawyer in the entire country, name of Percy Foreman. Story goes that one time a Dallas man called ole Perc and said, 'I gotta see ya right away, Mr. Foreman, I just shot my wife.' Ole Perc says, 'Sorry, man, I can't defend you for less than $50,000.' 'But Mr. Foreman,' the Dallas man says, 'I got a retainer check for $100,000 right in my hand.' Says Perc, 'I'll be there in two and a half hours with three eyewitnesses.'"

It was some hours later that it was announced that Ruby had actually hired Foreman (who later resigned).

Even with the booming growth of Tucson, it's hard to believe that the town can support 14 stations. But there's a mother lode of local spots (mostly corn humor—Mad Man Muntz now operates here), and even the sunup-sundown "coffee-pots" manage to survive (some studios are in motels). A local agency man, a recent expatriate of New York's cement canyons, was asked if a lot of that local business wasn't "a buck-a-spot" billing. He said, "Oh yeah—but of course with discounts." As per the national standard, the rockers claim the big share of the audience via the ratings, and echo-chambered contest promos fill the air.

The local newspapers, the a.m. Arizona Daily Star ("An independent NEWSpaper printing the news impartially"), and the p.m. Tucson Daily Citizen, cost a dime and can run a fat four sections each on a weekday. They share business, advertising and technical facilities, but that's it. The Star is Democratic and liberal by the national standard, and the Citizen is right wing, currently stumping hard for local-boy Goldwater in the presidential chase. Both have lively, modern makeup, and both thrive without a broadcast affiliation. The p.m. sheet has a weekly "teen" spread that carries the expected acne-cure ads along with paid-space for car-rental service and denture cleansers. The tv columnist on the a.m. paper is not an ex-police reporter—he is the police reporter, doubling on the video scene.

But, local eccentricities aside, the combo is a welcome relief from the single-owner mackerel wrappers that dominate the national picture these days.

Otherwise, Tucson has a dog track for kid bettors who have reached majority, and a thoroughbred track that reportedly will close in the near future. The way the local plugs have been running, they may be forced to close in the middle of a race. A visitor reported that one six furlong race recently was won in one-minute, 43-seconds —that's exactly 32⅗th seconds off the Acqueduct six-furlong record, just by way of comparison.

'Folks Don't Die; They Blow Away'

But, in the dry desert air, people don't die, the say. They just dry up and blow away (it's like living in a giant, blue-skied oxygen tent). And the desert mountain terrain surrounding Tucson is covered with thousands of Suaguros Cacti. If the scene gets a bit monotonous all a passer-through has to imagine is that the tall prickly, pointy-headed plants, with arms projecting in a thousand ludicrous poses, are caracitures of Leonard Bernstein directing a kiddie concert on CBS.

Tucson's Miracle Mile is on a highway named to give New York City traffic commissioner Barnes the vapors — East Speedway. But he would recover to rejoice in the drivers, who are strictly after-you-Gaston and wheel cars without horns. And for the visitor tenacious enough to hack through the neon jungle on either side of the road, there really is such action as a couple of rock-n'-roll joints. The Blue Note has a Mexican group permeating the room with the big beat along with a very strong disinfectant. The Doll House has the gringo counterpart with fender bass, carpets yet and (when caught) practically all the twist crowd (which is just warmed up by 1 a.m. closing time). The Tin Ear has Dixie music on weekends and Lil Abner's out on North Silver Bell has country music. The Tropical Inn has a jazz singer, lovingly called "Dirty Nell" by the bartenders. There also is a flock of restaurants, mostly serving up gastronomical horrors, if NBC "Today" staff investigators are reliable. They were in town for several days shooting, and one claimed he located a genuine two-story house that wasn't a home, complete with saloon parlor. Unless he drifted 65 miles south to the border town of Nogales, Mexico, and thought it was a Tucson suburb, his story is unlikely. The Golden Nugget Saloon at Old Tucson, a feature pix set turned into a tourist attraction, serves ice cream cones.

A FACE LIKE THIS COULD STOP A SHOW!

(How about it?)

RON POLAO

radio • tv • stage • films also barmitzvahs

Representation by
VAL IRVING ASSOC.
PLaza 5-8932

Field Enterprises

Continued from page 43

(Some two decades ago, Marshall Field Jr.'s father had owned WJJD, a 50,000-watt daytimer, but gave it up supposedly because he felt it blemished the Field image.) Quinlan said that among other things he would look into the possibilities, and the realism, of ringing the city with small suburban AM stations.

As for television, the entire UHF band in Chi is now spoken for with the exception of one channel for which there's a contest between Warner Bros., Kaiser and a local group headed by Tom Davis (WAAF) and p.r. man Fred Livingston. It's just conjecture, but if the Field Corp. is anxious to get in the game now the only possibility would seem to be a coinvestment with Eddie Silverman (Essaness Theatres) or H&E Balaban (theatres and stations), who have two of the U licenses here, or even more logically with John Weigel whose WCIU (Ch. 26) is on the air now. It's known that Weigel has been seeking fresh investment capital. In any case, with the two newspapers behind him, Field (Quinlan) could do much to advance UHF in this market.

Quinlan told VARIETY that any prospective Field broadcast group would be more than a mere profit-making enterprise; it would be a creative one. He said that in addition to operating stations the broadcast arm of Field Enterprises would work in the production of programs, pilots and motion pictures as aspects of communications. At least, that's how the talking has gone so far, he says.

His association with Field goes back many a year, to the days of the Army-McCarthy hearings when the publisher called him at WBKB to propose that the paper (then only the Sun-Times) and station split costs to pipe the hearings into Chicago. Later they had a similar collaboration on the Senate Racket Hearings, and since then there have been numerous promotional tieups, as with WBKB's televising of the Daily News Relays and the Sun-Times' recent "Beat the Champ" bowling promotion.

Television Reviews

Continued from page 51

sight unseen, "sacrilegious, unhistorical, offensive. To relate the resurrection of our Lord to a scene in a local graveyard is beyond all imagining!"

Former prime minister (Conservative) John Diefenbaker had thundered that it was "a flagrant, scandalous and sacrilegious insult to the majority of Canadians" and asked in parliament whether it would be shown. (A CBC spokesman said the same day—36 hours before the telecast—that only about a dozen complaints from across the country had come in).

Such high-placed protests made it touch-and-go whether CBC would go ahead with the show, but CBC's program council in Ottawa and decided to stand firm.

After all that preliminary whoop-de-doo—guaranteeing the show a much greater audience that Jim Guthro's weekly "Horizon," usually gets, what emerged was a generally strong, well-produced modern allegory that was a credit to all concerned and could scarcely be called "sacrilegious" in any respect.

It might, however, have offended both religious and secular Establishments—the former because, while it showed Jesus Christ (Joshua Corbett in the script) as suprahuman in some ways—it also brought him down to earth (as the New Testament does) as a mixer with ordinary folks.

The secular Establishment might have been irked because of the show's precedental, radical facet: the walkout in 30-odd munition plants across Canada by workers whom Joshua Corbett had persuaded to leave their jobs—and, most of them, to join his Peace in Action movement. It vividly illustrated to a million or more viewers that were all munition-plant workers everywhere to walk out, no fresh war materials could be produced. It must have seemed almost as heretical as the fairly clear implication that Corbett had been framed by the state on a phony murder rap—and executed—to prevent his contining such effective non-violent tactics.

Since Christ was an avowed opponent of both religious and secular Establishments of his day, there seems a certain poetic justice in the fact that Montreal novelist (and vet tv scripter Charles E. Israel, a onetime rabbinical student, brought out both points so forcefully, aided to the full by Ronald (formerly Ron) Kelly's astonishingly realistic production. Three CBC announcers and a program host played themselves and characters' names were flashed on the screen when necessary. A tribute to the realism were the frequent phone calls CBC switchboards all over Canada reported getting during the show to ask "Is this realy happening?"

Kudos, too, to the non-name but experienced cast, with whom producer-director Kelly achieved results that were often superb. Despite the odd let-down—chiefly, it seemed, due to slight script weaknesses—the nonstop full-hour show (no break of any kind) was almost steadily absorbing.

"Horizon" exec. producer Jim Guthro opened the program with a brief, bland explanation of his aim: ". . . to illuminate the eternal values created 2,000 years ago." Then, sans titles, the camera cut to a crowd milling around an open grave with a side-turned casket in it. Announcer Gil Christie handled it exactly as he would have in real life, and so did his colleagues Fred Davis, Percy Saltzman and J. Frank Willis in later scenes—latter as the anchor man back in the studio. Cut-offs, flubs, interruptions—all were retained and, for maximum flexibility, Israel provided very little complete dialogue—mainly ideas for the actors to improvise on.

Israel might have written a stronger script had he departed more from the framework and been a shade less cautious. But the result was, by tv standards, a bold effort, and could be the groundwork for still more meaningful future work. Show, incidentally, used 167—mostly extras—and cost about $50,000. Gard.

THE RISE AND FALL OF AMERICAN COMMUNISM
With Richard Basehart (narrator)
Exec Producer: David L. Wolper
Producer-Director: Alan Landsburg
Writer: Landsburg
60 Mins., Tues. 7:30 p.m.
WPIX, N. Y. (film)

The syndicator who plows the documentary furrows is perforce at a distinct disadvantage, mainly because he cannot match the networks for topicality. Nor is he apt to engage controversy.

These handicaps, as before, were prominent in David Wolper's newsreeler charting of the U.S. Commuist party from birth to zenith to nadir. All that vault footage is, inevitably, a fascination unto itself, notably when police clubs batter industrial strikers, and some memorable moments of the Welch-McCarthy imbroglio. Where the hour was a most damning of the party, however, was in nailing its ideological flip-flop, as when it plumped for peace before Hitler's invasion of Russia, but thereafter beat the drums for fascist scalps.

But, and apart from the problem of immediacy, the conspicuous failure of the narrative was oversimplification. Distilling evil from the communist cabal is no trick, but rather a pitfall from the viewpoint that history is neither served nor illuminated, and present day moorings hardly strengthened.

As herein superficially scrutinized, the CP and its faithful were more scorned than explained. Contemporaneous forces and currents were glimpsed in passing but unexamined. CP villainy alone was in focus; and while the Wolper recap night reassure conviction and fortify emotion it left the viewer essentially no more enlightened. Pit.

Louisville — James Nathan has been named to the newly-created post of station manager at WINN here. Nathan has been with the radio station since 1953 when he joined the sales staff.

Mgt.: William Morris Agency

Sardi's East
123 East 54th St. New York
PLaza 1-6655
Sardi's
234 W. 44th ST. NEW YORK
LA 4-0707

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
JACK BENNY?
OR IS IT JACK BENNY

What is it?

We don't know. Couldn't care less.

But we do know that if you advertise it on KSTP-TV you can sell it . . . and plenty more like it.

The Northwest's first TV station, KSTP-TV effectively and economically sells a market of 810,800 TV families and over Five Billion in spendable income.

KSTP television 5
100,000 WATTS NBC
MINNEAPOLIS • ST. PAUL

TRANS-LUX TELEVISION CORP.
presents

Write, wire or phone today for Audition Print!
625 Madison Ave., N.Y.C.
Phone PL 1-3110

© MCMLXIII Trans-Lux Television Corporation

HOSPITALITY SUITES 467-471

TELEVISION FILM EXHIBIT '64 / PICK-CONGRESS HOTEL CHICAGO / APRIL 5-8

HOLLYWOOD TELEVISION SERVICE

(A Division of Republic Corp.)

4024 RADFORD AVE. / NORTH HOLLYWOOD / CALIFORNIA

TV's Dan, Dick & Barry

Continued from page 29

Pinkham was eased out of the NBC Program Dept., where he had worked with Mike Dann (now v.p. in charge of programs at CBS), back to the promotion dept. vineyards where Pinkham had started his tv career after transferring, at Weaver's suggestion, from the New York Herald Trib sales promotion sector. And if these represent unpleasant memories which Pinkham can assign to Kintner, he can scarcely ascribe any of their causes to Aubrey and ABC's Tom Moore, each of whom were then still working in Los Angeles.

On the other hand, past associations can work in favor of empathy between a network and agency tv head. Thus a Bud Barry and Bob Kintner find their billing-producing rapport firmly rooted in their old friendship and business relatiionships of the late '40s and early '50s when Barry served as the ABC v.p. in charge of programming under Kintner, then president of ABC. That was in the days when Goldenson, not yet in broadcasting, was running the theatre division of Paramount Pictures for Barney Balaban. Nor is a Bud Barry one to forget past treatment — favorable or otherwise. In this connection's Kintner's patronage of Barry's production offerings when the latter headed MGM-TV in the late '50s, as they contrasted with Goldenson's marked indifference, is not thought to be lost in Barry's memories any more than it was to his articulate sensitivities at the time. Not that there is a Barry boycott at ABC: far from it. It's simply a case of finding it easier and more comfortable to do business in an atmosphere of mutual trust and respect. The Barry Y & R buys, which trade observers acknowledge are keenly astute and 100% oriented to client benefit, constitute, nonetheless, a case history in the power of personalities. For a few short seasons ago, when Barry was still at MGM, Young & Rubicam — under the tv tutelage of Pete Levathes — was putting its big chips on ABC and was, in fact, Leonard Goldenson's biggest customer, rather than ninth largest as at present.

While the Barry-ABC cleavage and the Pinkham-NBC disaffection are noteworthy, they fall far short of assuming the emotional connotations which attend the Seymour-Aubrey relationship, or lack of same. The stark fact that J. Walter Thompson, the nation's largest advertising agency, is missing in the list of the top 10 agencies of CBS, the nation's leading network (in audience) and leading advertising medium (in billing) indicates that media men can, and sometimes do, outweigh media values, as the fundamental determinant of who does and does not get the business.

The problem—and it's just that to both CBS and JWT, although a boom to the other webs—is rooted, observers believe, in Seymour's insistence on playing an active role in the programming and scheduling of the networks he patronizes. Thus, many of the NBC and ABC maneuvers and strategems for the coming, as well as past tv seasons, were conceived and "suggested" by Seymour. On occasion, Seymour has been known to "program" both NBC and ABC in the same time period. Sometimes, the Seymour-inspired program selections and schedulings are followed by JWT orders. Sometimes, the JWT order is placed opposite the very programming and scheduling he inspired. Thus "Wednesday Night at the Movies", which was moved from Monday night when Seymour advised Kintner to make the move, finds itself, next season, opposite ABC's "Burke's Law," which was moved at Seymour's instance, acting in behalf of client Liggett & Meyers, from the more rigorous Bob Hope competition, on Friday night, which deterred "Burke's" Nielsen performance in its freshman year.

While Kintner and Goldenson have lent receptive ears to the Seymour schemes, Jim Aubrey has responded in a manner that leaves no doubt that CBS is running its own network. While Seymour is welcomed in the passenger's section (to his assigned seats) in the CBS super jet, he's not allowed in the pilot's compartment which he frequently occupies (in the co-pilot's seat) when flying the NBC or ABC schedules. As a result, JWT clients find that they are far more apt to be paying customers of NBC or ABC. Witness the Krafts, the Fords, the Eastman Kodaks, the RCA's, the L&M's on NBC or the recent order on behalf of Lever for Bing Crosby on ABC.

Television, and radio before it, was ever thus. It's just that the financial rewards of rapport and the penalties of enmities run higher as tv costs and stakes mount.

That's why, today, the networks are watching the empathic index of agency relationships as closely as the Nielsen index of their programs.

FOR SALE

Approximately 40,000 feet of original 35mm black & white negative. Also, 25,000 feet of positive print, partially edited, including the following countries: Mauritania — Senegal — Sierra Leone — Liberia — Nigeria — Algeria — Republic of the Congo — Congo.

Can be purchased very reasonably, in its entirety, for world use.

PLAZA 7-4162

JUST RELEASED!

GREATEST ACTOR IN SCREEN HISTORY

COBBY'S HOBBIES

Available in Black and White and Color

156 Five Minute Shows Or 52 One-Quarter Hour Shows

FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES

Produced by Calvin Productions, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.

For Full Information and Screening Contact . . .

BOB SCHLESSEL National Sales Manager / PROJECT: TELEVISION SHOWS, INC. 830 N. Wabash Aver Chicago, 11 Illinois MI 2-5864

Ed Byron Helms ABC 'Operation Restoration' In Radio Drama Push

That plan voiced over a year ago by ABC for the restoration of top-grade radio drama is finally being jelled.

The net has just give the project reins to Ed Byron, long prominent as an indie radio packager, latterly an account exec in news program sales at NBC-TV.

As currently envisaged, all programming Byron develops will go into syndication instead of a network slot. Initial entry, which ABC Radio prez Bob Pauley expects to bow by June, is a 25-minute mystery series for nighttime stripping over a 26-week route. Beyond this project there's no word.

Delay in getting the ball rolling is ascribed to a shortage of writing talent the web felt would be up to projected standards.

Byron should know his apples. Heading his own packaging enterprise from 1938 to '59, he hatched the longrun "Mr. District Attorney," as well as the "Pot of Gold" and "What's My Name?" radio clicks.

Stanton

Continued from page 31

meetings of the United Nations are telecast without any loss in dignity or in efficiency. CBS prexy cited the example of the UN in connection with his advocacy of freer access to legislative bodies on all levels. Stanton, as far as the courts are concerned, advocated as a first step the opening up of the Supreme Court to tv cameras, followed by other courts in which defendants don't appear in person, but where broad legal policy is enunciated.

As to the issues involved in judicial proceedings and pre-trial apprenhension and detention of the accused, Stanton remarked that "if photographers, reporters, interviewers, newsfilm and tv cameramen by their methods, their lack of discernment, or their zeal, do violence to the cause of justice, the situation should be corrected.

"If the police are preempting the function of declaring the guilt of defendants, if they are publicizing confessions, often wrongly extracted from prisoners, and by their actions compromising the rights of the accused, the situation should be corrected.

"If there are prosecutors who do violence to the due process principles that we all prize, or defense counsels who seek to try their cases oustide the courtroom, the situation should be corrected.

"The purpose of CBS in initiating and financing this project," Stanton said, "is to get the vital matter out of an arena of contention that only drives us further away from a solution and into an atmosphere of affirmative discussion and common purpose."

Embassy

Continued from page 30

So far no U.S. deal has been completed for either series.

As to the "Steptoe" project, Embassy has acquired the U.S. production rights to this half-hour comedy series about a junk dealer and his son. The plan is to produce a completely new series, based on the original British scripts but adapting them for Yank values. U.S. cast, writers, directors et. al. will be used, filming to be done possibly in New York. The "Steptoe" series has been quite successful in the U.K. and Embassy is very high on its Yank re-write potential.

Production of the British series is planned to begin shortly. Work on scripts and such is already underway. "Steptoe" will take longer since considerable work has to be done. A network deal is currently being dickered for the latter as well as the other two.

In addition to all of this, Embassy will be making a one-hour color series for ABC called "Hercules." It is due for delivery for the 1965 season and shooting is about to start. ABC is now looking at the pilot script. A May 30 lensing start is currently planned, with casting to be revealed shortly. This made-in-Italy series will be followed by two others, "Casanova" and "D'Artagnon" if appropriate deals, like the ABC agreement, can be made. Unlike the British series, which will be made web or no, the remaining Italo shows won't be produced without network agreements.

BBC-2

Continued from page 31

replaced by an entertainment special as, for instance, a pop music concert). 10:05: News, closedown.

Tuesday—7:30: "Tuesday Term," educational telecasts. 9:45: "Jazz 625," featuring top jazzmen like Duke Ellington, MJQ, Dave Brubeck, Shelley Mann, etc. 10:30: News, closedown.

Wednesday — Reruns of BBC-1 and BBC-2 shows.

Thursday — 7:30: "Time Out," a 90-minute mag show depicting leisuretime activities including sailing, fishing, amateur theatre, art collecton and so on, including a 20-minute section on motoring. 9:00: Half-hour travel films and documentaries. 9:30 "Middleweight" music programs. 10:15: News, closedown.

Friday — 7:30: "Storv Parade," 75-minute dramas based on modern novels. 8:45: "Arrest and Trial." 10:00: News. 10:30: "Westminster at Work," weekly review of Parliament, closedown.

Saturday — 3:10: "Compact," repeats of BBC-1's twiceweekly soaper. 4:00: "Open House," a two-hour live entertainment show. 6:00: shutdown.

7:30: Documentaries, kicking off with "West Is West," a travelog of Wyoming and Montana, followed, later, by "The Great War," a 26-episode, half-hour documentary on the 1915-18 war. 8:00: "Madame Bovary," four-part serial to be followed with "Ann Veronica" "Mary Barton" and "Witchwood." 8:45: Non-fiction series, comprising the alternate showings of "Horizon," a science mag show, "Writers' World," spotlight on authors, untitled skein on social affairs and "Workshop," dealing with serious music. 9:30: "International Cabaret." 10:15: "Conversations of Tomorrow," J. B. Priestley in after-dinner powwows with guests, (a further discussion show may be added later), closedown.

Sunday—7:00: News review for deaf viewers. 7:25: News. 7:30: Plays, or films, or music, kicking off with "Theatre 625" comprising a trilogy by Ken Tayor called "The Seekers." 9:00: "Encounter" and "Enquiry," alternating pubaffairs programs. 9:30: "Melissa," six-part thriller serial to be followed by "The Massingham Affair" and "The Midnight Men." 10:00: "Best of Both Worlds," musical showcase present world's leading composers and arrangers. 10:30: closedown.

Agencies' Network Allegiances

(Top 10 Standings for Jan., '64)

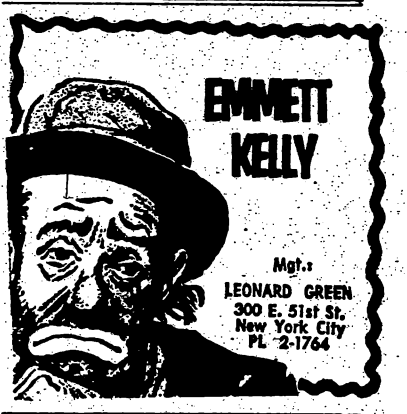
NBC	CBS	ABC
J. Walter Thompson	Young & Rubicam	Ted Bates
Young & Rubicam	Ted Bates	Sullivan, Stauffer
Sullivan, Stauffer	Benton & Bowles	Benton & Bowles
William Esty	Leo Burnett	J. Walter Thompson
Wade	Foote, Cone & Belding	Foote, Cone & Belding
McCann-Erickson	William Esty	Compton
Dancer, Fitzgerald	Dancer, Fitzgerald	William Esty
Post, Keyes, Gardner	BBDO	Kenyon & Eckhardt
Edward H. Weiss	Doyle, Dane, Bernbach	Young & Rubicam
Compton	Sullivan, Stauffer	Lennen & Newell

DANNY KAYE SHOW SET FOR IRISH TV

Dublin, March 31.

Telefis Eireann (Irish TV) has bought "Danny Kaye Show" and will share European premiere of the series with BBC-2.

Outfit has also acquired the 90-minute "Wagon Train" series and will be first in Europe to screen saga in its latest length.



Other American shows listed for summer include "Mr Ed" and "The Farmer's Daughter" (continuing), "Car 54," "Margie" which will replace "Air Power" after April 9, and "Sea Hunt." "Danny Kaye Show" will replace "Father Knows Best."

TV set count in Ireland recently passed 250,000 and official report says in the Dublin area 54% of all homes have tv sets.

'Wells Fargo' Sales

Eight markets have signed for MCA-TV's "Wells Fargo."

In other sales, "Leave It to Beaver" was renewed by WTIC, Hartford, Conn.; and bought for the first time by a number of other markets. "Bachelor Father" was sold to KFVS, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; KRCG, Jefferson City, Mo.; and WAAY, Huntsville, Ala.

The untutored agriculturist of the mid-west are becoming tired of seeing these refugee's from Mayo's clinic on the one-eyed monster. Somewhere in this land there must be an independent film producer with enough guts to tell two stories which do not concern the removal of a gall bladder. The undersigned is not a member of our large social group known as village idiots. If you listen, we shall make a bundle.

Contact H. B. LUNSFORD

15 North Miami St., Peru, Indiana

Top television station in major midwest market

SEEKS

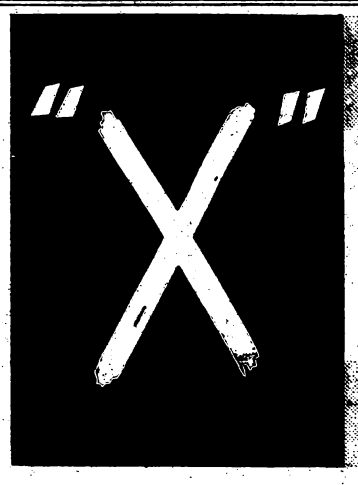
a first-rate writer-producer for its documentary unit. Must have strong working experience in all aspects of the field. If you're the top man in your market and ready to move up, we'd like to hear from you. Please send full details of broadcast experience and productions to

VARIETY, Box V-3588, 400 North Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Illinois

IS IT REALLY

RICH LITTLE

IMPERSONATING



WILLIAM HOLDEN?

OR IS IT WILLIAM HOLDEN

FOR SALE WEST 90'S

One, two bedroom Garden Floor apartment and others in Non-profit Brownstone co-op. Beautiful common garden; natural Brick interior walls, fire place optional. Low purchase and Maintenance.

Call 9 to 6 P.M. Week Days MU 6-3700, New York

THE SECRET FORMULA FOR EXCITING FEATURE FILM ENTERTAINMENT...

15 of the most exciting first-run science-fiction and exploitation features to be offered television stations in many a moon. They've all been produced in the late 1950's and early 1960's . . . some in full color!

Distributed exclusively by

SCREEN GEMS

Hugo & Luigi's Exit From Victor Marks End of Another A&R Epoch

Marking the end of another era in the music biz, the producing team of Hugo (Peretti) and Luigi (Creatore) have wound up their long association with RCA Victor. Separation was amicably arranged by Hugo & Luigi and Steve Sholes, who took over as pop artists & repertoire v.p. for RCA Victor several months ago. They will wind up their affairs at the diskery April 30.

Hugo & Luigi said that they had "the old itch to go into business for ourselves. What business? Well, we know absolutely nothing about the sale and manufacture of iron horses, so it will be the music business. A number of proposals have been made to us recently, and we have been looking into them. But we cannot openly negotiate while we are holding our present position with RCA Victor."

Hugo & Luigi, were brought over to RCA Victor five years ago after collecting a hot track record for clicks while at Mercury Records. Victor gave the duo virtually carte blanche to sign names and turn out disks. Idea was to give Victor some of the freewheeling flexibility of the indie labels that were dominating the hit lists at the time.

Since then, however, the character of the disk business has changed somewhat. The role of the a&r producers, once dominant in making the hits, has been considerably attenuated in the proliferation of disk labels and masters made by artists, publishers, songwriters, etc., all of whom have demonstrated the ability to make the hits as well as the next man.

The tight format of the Top 40 radio stations, moreover, has hamstrung the kind of promotional initiative that was so prominent in the days when disk jockeys were open to persuasive tactics. All of these factors have cut into the averages of the hit-makers who now have to depend on the conjunction of the right artist with the right tune with the right amount of luck.

Austrian Disk Best Sellers

Vienna, March 31.

Das Kannst du Nicht . . . Spier (CBS)
Der Platz Neben Mir . . . Distel (Polydor)
Jedes Boot Hafen . . . . Francis (MGM)
Ski Twist . . . . . Toriani (Decca)
America . . . . . Lopez (Ariola/Reprise)
Drei Musketiere . . . . Froboess (Columbia)
She Loves You . . . . . Beatles (Odeon)
Rote Lippen Soll . . . . Richard (Columbia)
Dominique . . . . Soeur Sourire (Philips)
Maedchen mit Herz . . . Kraus (Polydor)

British Indie Disk Producers Cutting Prestige Groove

London, March 31.

Status of the British independent record producer, who toils in one of the most "difficult" markets in the world, is beginning to take on new and wider proportions.

With their tightly-held distribution tieups, the major waxeries at one time so rigidly controlled the local market that going into business as an indie was more a pipe dream than a commercially sound proposition.

Now, however, not only do such independent producers as Johnny Gregory, Joe Meek, Dennis Preston et al thrive by supplying the big waxworks with disks in return for percentage deals, but the larger ning to be realized.

Kruger has helmed his Ember Records label, with its attendant overhead and distribution problems, and fought the tide of "difficulties" presented by a market that was "locked up tight" by those who got in first. He reps a prime case of the British indies' new found stance.

Ember not only has moved in strongly with local releases but in the past 11 weeks grooved nearly 50 releases in overseas markets with two—John Barry's "From Russia With Love" and a Chad Stuart-Jeremy Clyde single, "Yesterday's Gone,"—issued in 11 countries.

Label has a deal with EMI, one of the Big Two diskeries here, whereby the latter represents Ember in all key markets abroad.

In the U.S. Kruger has set issues for "From Russia With Love" (Mercury), Russ Hamilton's "Valley Of Love" (Kapp), "Yesterday's Gone (World Artists) while John Barry's "Zulu Stamp" is also skedded for American release to coincide with the opening of the Paramount film, "Zulu."

Caravelles recent big hit in the U.S., "You Don't Have To Be a Baby To Cry," was independently produced. It's another example that underlines to producers here that there now is an international market for their product—where not so long ago there was hardly a local one.

Rival 'Jones' LP Ires UA Records

United Artists Records, which released the soundtrack LP of the film "Tom Jones," is trying to block issuance of another album put out by Theatre Productions under the same title. The latter LP is a musical adaptation of Henry Fielding's 17th Century novel with original music by Ruth Batchelor and Bob Roberts.

While titles are not protected under the copyright law, UA is claiming that the title, "Tom Jones," has been turned into an important property by virtue of the film, which the UA film company distributes. The Theatre Productions LP is under attack by UA for promoting itself as an "original cast album," and not specifying that it is not based on the film score.

The Theatre Productions LP is an unusual project in that the score and casting have been designed solely for recording purposes. Cast includes Clive Revill, Karen Morrow and Iggie Wolfington. Peter Matz did the orchestration and Bobby Shad was the producer.

LONDON PHILHARMONIA WINS QUICK REPRIEVE

London, March 31.

The London Philharmonia Orchestra, announced to do a foldo at the end of the year, has had a swift reprieve. Following an emergency meeting, the 65 members of the orchestra have decided to carry on, possibly as the Philharmonia Symphony Orchestra.

Bernard Walton, principal clarinet player, is to be a member of the new orchestra's governing body. Financing is being secured, the company is being formed and the new orchestra hopes to be able to accept engagements in the fall.

The musicians' agreement with Walter Legge, founder and artistic director of the London Philharmonia Orchestra, ends Sept. 7. Walton says that Legge, who announced the closing down of the LPO, "will have nothing to do with the new, independent orchestra.

Mainstream to Reissue Commodore Jazz Disks

Mainstream Records, a new New York label, is reissuing the jazz recordings originally sold under the Commodore label. Later, run by the late Jack Crystal and Milt Gabler, now artists & repertoire chief for Decca, was one af the most prominent labels in the jazz field during the late 1930s and 1940s.

Reissues will feature artists like Billie Holiday, Lester Young, Eddie Heywood, Coleman Hawkins and Peter Seeger, latter being the folksinger. Mainstream is also releasing two new LPs featuring Dottie Clark, a Washington, D.C., songstress, and blues singer Charles Brown.

2d Beatles Single Nabs 1,000,000 Advance Orders

London, March 31.

Duplicating their phenomenal feat of racking up 1,000,000 advance orders for a single, the Beatles' latest waxing, "Can't Buy Me Love," zipped to No. 1 on the local charts on the first day of release.

Group's previous single, "I Want To Hold Your Hand," was the first single ever to achieve 1,000,000 advance orders.

Beatles, Natch, Cop Ivor Novello Kudo

London, March 31.

The Ivor Novello Awards, presented for outstanding contributions to British popular and light music, have been lined up for BBC-TV exposure in the next few weeks. Winners, selected last week by a panel of judges under chairmanship of Hubert W. David, chairman of the Songwriters Guild of Great Britain, are as follows:

Most Broadcast Work—John Lennon and Paul McCartney for "She Loves You"; publisher Northern Songs Ltd. Runner-up—Elaine and Valarie Mutagh, Ray Adams for "Dance On"; Sydney Bron Music Ltd.

Bestselling Disk of 1963—John Lennon and Paul McCartney for "She Loves You"; Northern Songs, EMI Records. Runner-up—John Lennon and Paul McCartney for "I Want to Hold Your Hand"; Northern Songs, EMI Records.

Year's Outstanding Song—Cyril Ornadel and Leslie Bricusse for "If I Ruled The World"; Delfont Music Ltd. Runner-up—John Lennon and Paul McCartney for "All My Loving"; Northern Songs.

Year's Outstanding Orchestral/-Instrumental Composition — Ivor Stanley for "Carlos' Theme"; Robbins Music. Runner-up — Jerry Lordan for "Scarlett O'Hara"; Francis, Day and Hunter.

Year's Outstanding Jazz Work—Johnny Dankworth for "What The Dickens"; Key Music Ltd. Runner-up—Bill McGuffie for "Sweet September"; B. F. Wood Music Ltd.

Year's Outstanding Score (Stage, Cinema, tv)—Johnny Dankworth for "Theme From The Avengers"; Key Music Ltd. Runner-up—David Heneker for "Half A Sixpence"; Britannia Music Ltd.

Year's Most Amusing or Novel Composition—David Heneker for "Flash, Bang, Wallop"; Britannia Music. Runner-up—Benny Hill and Tony Hatch for "Harvest Of Love"; Welbeck Music Ltd.

Special Award for Outstanding Services to British Music—The Beatles, Brian Epstein and George Martin.

Special Award in Recognition of 50 Years' Service to the Music Industry—the Performing Rights Society.

ELECT WRITERS, PUBS TO ASCAP REVIEW BD.

In balloting for ASCAP's board of review, the following writers were elected: Harold Adamson and Dorothy Fields, with Edward Heyman as alternate, for lyricists in the popular-production division; Harold Arlen, with Leroy Anderson as alternate, for composers in the popular-production division; and Virgil Thomson, with Richard Franko Goldman as alternate, in the standard division.

Publishers elected were Richard Ahlert, of Fred Ahlert Music; Arthur Israel, of Famous Music; and Alex C. Kramer, of Kramer-Whitney; with Milton Kramer, of Frank Music, as alternate. In the standard division, Donald H. Gray, of H. W. Gray Music, was elected with Harold Flammer Jr., of Harold Flammer Inc., as alternate.

Honolulu Opera Season's 4G Deficit Despite SRO

Honolulu, March 31.

Six-performance opera season drew a record attendance of 11,095, virtually SRO, symphony office reports, but still ended up with a $4,000 deficit. Attendance was up 1,900 over the '63 season total.

The deficit will be paid by a major business corporation that got good public service mileage as opera season sponsor.

ASCAP, TV Stations Tilt Before U.S. Appeals Ct. Over Per-Pgm. Licensing

British Disk Best Sellers

London, March 31.

Can't Buy Me Love . . Beatles (Parlophone)
Little Children . . . . . Dakotas (Parlophone)
Anyone Who Had a Heart (Parlophone) Black
Bits and Pieces . . . Clark Five (Columbia)
Not Fade Away . . . . . Rolling (Decca) Stones
Just One Look Hollies (Parlophone)
Diane . . . . . Bachelors (Decca)
I Think Of You . . Merseybeats (Fontana)
I Love You Because . . Reeves (RCA-Victor)
Boys Cry . . . . . Kane (Fontana)

Pix Tunes, Folk Music Booming Pub Field: Shaw

Hollywood, March 31.

Music from films has provided a boom in song publishing according to Arnold Shaw, veepee of E. B. Marks, pub firm currently involved in several European film publishing rights.

Shaw, here for two weeks to discuss film and television publishing rights, reports sales of sheet music to "More," theme from "Mondo Cane," have hit $100,000, with a new order for 20,000 last week, marking the biggest music sale in at least 10 years.

Company's previous major hit was the Johnny Mathis disclick, "Wonderful, Wonderful," which sold 10,000 copies, Shaw said. With "More" up for an Academy Award, he estimates an "Oscar" would shoot sale up at least another 100,000.

Company also has rights to the upcoming "Mondo Cane Number Two," as well as "Fellini's 8½" and "Women of the World," along with several additional foreign films.

Reason for increased attention to sheet music, according to Shaw, is the surge of interest in folk music which has developed renewed interest in personal home instrument playing. Exec pointed out sale of guitars last year outnumbered sale of pianos and noted songs now published are made available in guitar arrangements as well as other editions.

Advent of rock 'n' roll did much to destroy sheet music sales, Shaw asserted, noting there is almost no sale in this field. Stock orchestrations also have died, while a new development has been the "stage band," published scores for sizable college and upper high school orchestras.

Upcoming publishing deals include "Baker Street" and "Barnum" Broadway musicals for producer Alexander Cohen, as well as a new Oscar Brown Jr. musical tagged "Slave Story." In folk field, Marks is publishing "Ira Hayes," song about the Pima Indian of Iwo Jima, which Johnny Cash has recorded on Columbia.

Taubman, Peabody Singers In Africa Cultural Trek

Washington, March 31.

Paul Taubman and his All-American Big Brass Band will make a cultural exchange swing through Africa, the State Dept. disclosed last week.

Meanwhile, headed for the Far East are the Peabody Singers, a madrigal group from the George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville.

Taubman's group will leave Sept. 12 and return in early December after visiting Chad, the Congo Republic, Dahomey, Ivory Coast, Kenya, Malagasy Republic, Nigeria, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Senegal, Somali Republic, Southern Rhodesia, Sudan, Tanganyika, Uganda, Upper Volta and possibly others.

Another round in a longpending dispute over per-program licensing between the All-Industry TV Station Music License Committee and the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers was fought Monday (30) in New York before the U.S. Court of Apepals.

After argument was completed by both sides, it was not certain whether the three-man court would decide on the merits of the case or send the dispute back into the Federal Court's procedural machinery where it has already gone the full route up to the Supreme Court.

The case revolves around the request of the tv stations for a new type of ASCAP license covering only locally originated programs. Under this license, producers of syndicated tape and film shows would have to make the performance rights deals either with ASCAP or directly with the publishers, since the broadcasters' licenses would only cover locally produced shows.

Walter Mansfield, of Donovan, Leisure, Newton & Irvine, representing the tv stations, argued that under the ASCAP consent decree, the Society is required to submit licenses to users "as requested."

Arthur Dean, of Sullivan & Cromwell, special outside counsel for ASCAP, rapped the broadcasters' proposals as a "clever scheme to get around Copyright Act and destroy ASCAP." He rekindled another longstanding controversy by claiming that the broadcasters, who were asking for the new license, owned stock in Broadcast Music Inc. which, he alleged, used a "slush fund to woo ASCAP publishers."

Dean said the broadcasters' proposals would return the music business to "the jungle," where the creator of the music would be "ground down" by the broadcasters.

Mansfield rose to protest Dean's allegations about the broadcasters' motive in asking for a per-program license. He said nothing in the broadcasters' relations with BMI or with respect to its intentions to oppress the creators of music.

ASCAP Drops Its Flat Fee Lic. Bid

Under an agreement with the Department of Justice, the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers has withdrawn its controversial per-program license proposal to the CBS Radio network and will submit a new license to the network by April 9.

ASCAP's withdrawal of the first per-program license to any radio web was joined by a move by the Department of Justice to withdraw its application to hold ASCAP in contempt in a proceeding involving an interpretation of the ASCAP consent decree.

Complex legal maneuvers stemmed from ASCAP's imposition of a $12,500 per monthly flat fee on top of a per-program rate offered to CBS Radio. Both the network and the Justice Department were of the opinion that such a flat fee ran counter to the provisions of the consent decree. CBS Radio has asked that ASCAP impose neither a flat fee nor a minimum guarantee in any per-program licensing agrement. This is understood to be substantially the position adopted by the Justice Department.

Meantime, a move by Metromedia's radio stations, to cite ASCAP for contempt was dismissed by N.Y. Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, whose court has jurisdiction over ASCAP matters. The judge ruled that Metromedia was not entitled to initiate such action. However, Metromedia, which is also seeking a per-program license, will benefit from the CBS ruling that seems to have eliminated ASCAP's flat fees.

Negotiations with CBS Radio are part of a general hassle ASCAP has been having with the broadcasters over new licensing arrangements. Failure of the All-Industry Radio Committee, representing over a 1,000 indie operators to come to terms with ASCAP has cued a petition by the broadcasters to have Judge Ryan set a reasonable fee.

Mancini's 'Pink Panther,' Dave Clark 5, Martino's 'Italian Voice,' 'Tom Jones,' The Platters' 'Encores' Top New LPs

HENRY MANCINI: "THE PINK PANTHER" (RCA VICTOR). Once again, Henry Mancini has come up with a click film score, this time for the Blake Edwards production, "The Pink Panther." The full impact of Mancini's music has been packed into the title song which now appears to be emerging as single hit supported by a flock of other versions. In addition, this set has a varied group of glossy instrumental numbers, ranging from Latin rhythm ideas to lush ballads with choral effects and some jazzy, twisting sounds.

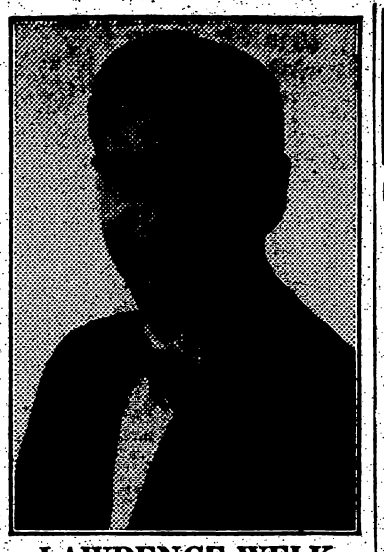
DAVE CLARK FIVE: "GLAD ALL OVER" (Epic). Moving in the wake of The Beatles, the Dave Clark Five is another British combo cutting a big swath through the U.S. pop scene. In their first LP released in this country, the vocal-instrumental combo display the British-accented rocking style which seems to have taken over the music biz. This group has lots of energy, which compensates for some crudities. In addition to the click title song, this set includes catchy tunes like "Stay," "All of The Time," "Bits and Pieces," "Doo Dah" and "She's All Mine."

"THE ITALIAN VOICE OF AL MARTINO" (Capitol). This is an excellent showcasing for the rich voice of Al Martino, who's very much at home with these Italian standards. Martino belts with the power of the oldtime operatic tenors, but maintains a tight discipline over the sentimental effects. The repertory, of course, includes "Sorrento," plus other numbers like "Maria Mari," "Chitarra Romana," "Rondine Al Nido," "Al Di La," and "Don't Leave Me Now," an Italo tune with English lyrics.

"TOM JONES" (Theatre Productions). Undoubtedly inspired by the success of the film "Tom Jones," a musical version of the Henry Fielding novel has been written, with book, music and lyrics by Ruth Batchelor and Bob Roberts. A top legit cast assembled for the production is headed by Clive Revill who narrates and also plays a couple roles. Other players include Bob Roman as Jones, Karen Morrow, Carole Shaw, Iggie Wolfington, Darlene Zito and a chorus under the direction of Chuck Cassey. The session has been arranged and conducted by Peter Matz, top pop and legit arranger. The performances are fine, and Matz has paced the material with skill and style. Miss Batchelor and Roberts have come up with clever narration and some effective lyrics. Their score frequently moves into a modern pop groove and this jars a bit. But overall they have penned a strong piece. Full and entertaining, this "Tom Jones" version deserves attention. It could be the basis for an effective legit production as well.

THE PLATTERS: "ENCORE OF GOLDEN HITS OF THE GROUPS" (Mercury). With the oldies but goodies trend still a fave item among teeners, this latest LP of the Platters should do well. In it the unit takes tunes that have been identified with themselves and other groups in the pop market and dresses them up in nifty reprise slices. The Platters give the tunes strong readings, displaying religioso, rock and r&b as well as straight pop stylings on the various items. Included are "Sincerely," "P.S. I Love You," "Mississippi Mud," "Crying In the Chapel," "Three Coins In the Fountain," among others. It's a fine session, due for solid reception by both programmers and buyers.

"MAN IN THE MIDDLE" (20th-Century-Fox). This soundtrack LP from 20th-Fox's "Man in the Middle" is a nicely-produced disk. It contains a title theme and another background piece written by British composer Lionel Bart, three easy-swinging jazz numbers by John Barry and three fine arrangements of Glenn Miller faves, "Chattanooga Choo Choo," "Serenade In Blue" and "At Last." All are given a slick big band treatment and they come off very well. Two blues tunes by Barry are particularly effective. Barry, who conducted the session, has given it a smooth and pro styling. With the Bart theme to lead it off, this track LP is a nifty pic-pegged platter, worthy of more attention than merely a soundtrack album.



STAN GETZ-JOAO GILBERTO (Verve). Although the bossa nova craze has faded, Stan Getz's use of South American music now has become a permanent part of the jazz scene. In this set, Getz's sax is joined by a superb Brazilian singer-guitarist, Joao Gilberto, and composer-pianist Antonio Carlos Jobim in a standout instrumental-vocal program. "The Girl From Ipanema," sung in English, features the voice of Astrud Gilberto, the guitarist's wife and a fine performer. It's one of the standout slices in a consistently satisfying set.

"BOB ATCHER'S BEST" (Columbia). This is a collection of early American folk songs sung in a simple country style by Bob Atcher, accompanying himself on guitar. Many of the tunes are well known, such as "The Old Chisholm Trail," "Old Smoky," "Red River Valley" and "Barbary Allen." Session has an easy feeling as Atcher delivers the material clearly and without the frills that so many country and folk artists use. The result is a fine country-folk platter. Some of the lesser-known songs will be of particular interest to folk tune collectors.

THE KIRBY STONE FOUR: "THINGS ARE SWINGIN'" (Warner Bros.). As the title of this LP by the Kirby Stone Four indicates it is a swinging affair. The quartet, backed by a breezy orch and a femme chorus, lends its harmonics to an array of tunes such as "There's No Business Like Show Business," "Hello Dolly," "Too Close For Comfort," "Zing Went the Strings of My Heart" and others. Dick Hyman, who arranged and conducted the outing, has done a fine job in both categories. His arrangements in particular have a slick sound and bright feel. It's an exciting performance by the unit and one which should draw considerable attention from both customers and programmers.

THE CHARLES BELL TRIO: "IN CONCERT" (Gateway). This is a swinging display of hipster sounds, waxed by the Charles Bell Trio in concert at Carnegie Lecture Hall, the smaller sister recital room to the main hall. With Bell at the piano, the trio swings out on a variety of tunes including "Green Dolphin Street," "Work Song" and "Take Five." There's a lot to listen to in the group's work and each member is given ample solo time. Bell, himself, is a fine musician who employs a wide musical background in his technique, including classics. It's a solid performance by the trio, nicely captured on this disk.

BAROQUE JAZZ ENSEMBLE: "JAZZ FOR BACH BUFFS" (Realm). While purists may shudder at the idea of jazzing up the classics, this group demonstrates that

LAWRENCE WELK
Presents His New Hit DOT SINGLE
"STOCKHOLM"
B/W "GIRL FROM BARBADOS"

Bach can swing. A sextet consisting of sax, trumpet, vibes and three on rhythm, the Baroque Jazz Ensemble hangs out some of Bach's tunes and fugual conceptions on some modern lines that are really quite respectful of the master's intentions. Perhaps somewhat too respectful, but still one more interesting essay in combining long-hair and jazz modes.

NICK DEAN: "THE NEW SOUND OF FOLK-DIXIE" (Request). Nick Dean's Deans of Dixieland, a seven-man combo from Westchester County, N.Y., works over some of the most familiar folk songs in jazzy arrangements. It's not exactly a new idea, but this group has an okay sound on oldies like "The Blue Tail Fly," "Skip To My Lou," "When The Saints Come Marching," "Alouette," "Green Sleeves," etc.

SOEUR SOURIRE (THE SINGING NUN): "HER JOY-HER SONGS" (Philips). Once again, Soeur Sourire, a Belgian nun, has turned out a charming program of folk and religioso songs which sustains the impact her first album. The songs, written by Soeur Sourire, all have a clear, unpretentious melodic structure. French lyrics are translated in illustrated folio which makes up this attractive package. Among the standout songs are "Ma Petite Muse," "Kabinda," "Ma Petite Amie D'Afrique," "Les Mouettes," "Uo Fleur" and "Midi."

ALADDIN: "WORDS OF INSPIRATION" (Dot). A regular on the Lawrence Welk tv show, Aladdin specializes in inspirational recitations which always seem to strike a responsive chord in the American public. Aladdin has an effective projection, keeping the so sentimentality under control without losing the necessary emphasis for this type of material. In this set, he reads "Melody of Love," "The Windows of Gold," "The Cradle To The Cross," "A Mother's Love" and "An Indian's Prayer," plus the "Deck of Cards" and assorted patriotic and other religioso prosaic pieces.

Kaye Joins SG-Col Music

Chuck Kaye has joined Screen Gems-Columbia Music as general professional manager of the Coast office.

He'll be liaison between the publishing operation and Jonie Taps, Columbia Pictures studio exec.

Longplay Shorts

Cadence Records preparing early release of the satirical "Barry's Boys," which has been playing at Julius Monk's Plaza 9 room at the Plaza Hotel, N.Y. . . . Columbia Records marking the opening of the N.Y. World's Fair with release of "Manhattan Tower" with Robert Goulet and Gordon Jenkins, and a new Andre Kostelanetz LP, "New York Wonderland". . . Epic label is spotlighting Italy in two LPs, "The 12 Greatest Hits of the San Remo Festival" and "My Last Night In Rome" by Buddy Greco.

Command Records staging an "Enoch Light Month" promotion April 15-May 15 with dealer specials on his 24 LPs. Light, meantime, is leaking reports about a new "breakthrough in sound recording," to be unveiled April 8 in New York . . . Decca has kicked off a Latin dance promotion based on eight new Latin dance packages and 55 catalog LPs which have been included in dealer incentive programs . . . Pianist Lorin Hollander recorded Prokofieff's Fifth Piano Concerto with the Boston Symphony, under Erich Leinsdorf, for RCA Victor . . . Audio Fidelity releasing Joe Basile's "Foreign Film Festival" LP.

Top Singles Of The Week

(The 'Best Bets' of This Week's 100-Plus Releases)

DONNA LYNN . . . . . JAVA JONES
(Capitol) . . . . . The Things That I Feel
Donna Lynn's "Java Jones" (Tideland†) shapes up as a solid vocal adaptation of the current instrumental hit, "Java," which could pick up some additional spins via this cute slice. "The Things That I Felt" (Integrity) is a neat rocking ballad with commercial chances.*

* * *

AL HIRT . . . . . COTTON CANDY
(RCA Victor) . . . . . Walkin'
Al Hirt's "Cotton Candy" (Gallico†) gives this New Orleans trumpeter another catchy instrumental idea to maintain the pace he's been setting wth his "Java" click. "Wallin'" (Lowery†) is also in a neat melodic groove for across-the-board spins.

* * *

CLIFF RICHARD . . . . . I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU
(Epic) . . . . . I'm The Lonely One
Cliff Richard's "I Only Have Eyes For You" (Remick) showcases this young British singer on a fine oldie which he handles in an easy, unpretentious style for easy listening. "I'm The Lonely One" (Duchess*) reverts to a hard-rocking groove which should have immediate impact on the teen audience.*

* * *

JOHNNY MATHIS . . . . . THE FALL OF LOVE
(Mercury) . . . . . No More
Johnny Mathis' "The Fall of Love" (Feist), adapted from a theme from "Fall of the Roman Empire," is a big ballad with a fine lyric which gets an excellent commercial rendition. "No More" (Gathryl*) is a very good ballad with a pleasing folk quality.*

* * *

BOBBY GOLDSBORO . . . . . WHENEVER HE HOLDS YOU
(United Artists) . . . . . If She Was Mine
Bobby Goldsboro's "Whenever He Holds You" (Unart†) shapes up as a neat contemporary ballad which this young singer handles with a light rocking touch against a classy background. "If She Was Mine" (Unart†) picks up the tempo with a catchy rhythm slice with chances.

* * *

LITTLE PATTIE
MY BLONDE-HEADED, STOMPIE WOMPIE
(World) . . . . . Stompin' At Maroubra
Little Pattie's "He My Blonde-Headed, Stompie Wompie, Real Gone Surfer Boy" (Shapiro-Bernstein) introduces this 14-year-old Australian songstress with a cute surfing number which she delivers with some typical vocal breaks. "Stompin' At Maroubra" (Shapiro-Bernstein*) is an okay rhythm number with a racing beat which will earn spins.*

* * *

THE COBRAS . . . . . LA LA
(Swan) . . . . . Goodbye Molly
The Cobras' "La La" (Styletone†) comes through as a jumping rock number featuring the high-flying lead singer of this teen-slanted combo. "Goodbye Molly" (Farwood†) is not a takeoff on "Hello Dolly" but rather shapes up as a neat instrumental slice in its own rocking groove.

* * *

NELSON RIDDLE . . . . . MY TRUE CARRIE LOVE
(Reprise) . . . . . Hello Dolly
Nelson Riddle Orch's "My True Carrie Love" (Comet) shapes up as a nifty instrumental slice of a traditional melody which gets a swinging workover for the juke set. "Hello Dolly" (E. H. Morris*) gives this click showtune a suitable oldtime arrangement.*

* * *

THE KING PINS . . . . . TWO HEARTS
(Federal) . . . . . I Won't Have It
The King Pins' "Two Hearts" (J&C†) moves down a rocking groove with a good teen lyric which this combo dishes up with an arresting high-tenor lead. "I Won't Have It" (Sonlo†) is another okay slice with chances.

* * *

THE SPOTNICKS . . . . . ORANGE BLOSSOM SPECIAL
(Laurie) . . . . . I'm Going Home
The Spotnicks' "Orange Blosom Special" (Leeds) is a hard-driving, non-stop rhythm instrumental featuring some standout guitar-plucking technique by this combo. "I'm Going Home" (Shapiro-Bernstein*) registers as a good vocal on a bluesy number.*

* * *

JIMMIE RODGERS
I FORGOT MORE THAN YOU'LL EVER KNOW
(Dot) . . . . . The World I Used To Know
Jimmie Rodgers' "I Forgot More Than You'll Ever Know" (Travis†) is a firstrate contemporary ballad with a steady beat and a well-written lyric delivered in very effective style by this singer with choral backing. "The World I Used To Know" (In) is another fine piece of material with an interesting message.*

* * *

VICKY BAKER . . . . . YUTTA-TUTTA
(London) . . . . . I Am What I Am
Vicky Baker's "Yutta-Tutta" (Felsted†) hits as a bright rhythm entry with a novelty lyric which this songstress dishes up in good style. "I Am What I Am" (Felsted†) changes pace with a fair slow ballad.

* * *

THE CRESTS . . . . . A LOVE TO LAST A LIFETIME
(Coral) . . . . . You Blew Out The Candles
The Crests' "A Love To Last A Lifetime"†) is a slow rocking ballad with a good lyric which this combo dishes up with the adolescent quality to which the teenagers respond. "You Blew Out The Candles" (West End) is an okay uptempo ballad also with a contemporary beat.* L L

* * *

SIMON SISTERS . . . . . WINKIN', BLINKIN' AND NOD
(Kapp) . . . . . So Glad I'm Here
Simon Sisters' "Winkin', Blinkin' and Nod" (Ryerson†) is a charming, folkstyled ballad with a distinctive enough sound to have offbeat appeal. "So Glad I'm Here" (Fall River†) is a more conventional folk number in good style. Herm.

*ASCAP. †BMI.

Coast Duo Devises New Wax Technique

Alter Basic Recording Principles to Develop Hybrid Instruments and Mikeless Grooving

Hollywood, March 31.

Picture half of a fiddle (sans sound-box) with a wire jutting out of its side beneath the chin-rest. Know what it is? It's a violectra. Picture a slightly larger half-fiddle with a wire dangling from it. Know what it is? A baritone violectra, natch.

Not in 200 years has the violin been tampered with as an instrumental entity. Never since Edison have the basic principles of recording techniques been altered—till now. There's a recording company in Long Beach (Calif.) called Repeat Records doing both.

Owners John Berry, the musical mind, and partner Lester Barcus, the electronics brain, not only have created a dozen-odd hybrid instruments never before seen or heard, but they have perfected a way to record without mikes. Moreover, process is operative: Repeat releases on the market are three-fold —pop, jazz and longhair LPs.

Mikeless technique is called transducing which, in layman's palaver, is simply this: transducer attached to the instrument converts energy of same into a corresponding electrical signal which, in turn, is fed through a recording mixer and simultaneously onto tape. Mikelessness permits the original tape to remain totally unaffected by acoustical influences during session.

In short, musicians can call their shots while playing; batoners can tell the tooter when his instrument is peaking over, thus reducing use of sounding boards and mechanical gauges to bare minimum.

Other obvious advantages to transducing process are: (1) broadens scope of usable instruments, permitting inculcation of wholly new sounds to music; (2) removes natural imperfections of certain instruments such as guitar's "buzzing" when strings are plucked, hence leaving residue of "virgin" sounds only, and (3) recording studio is no longer dependent upon acoustical quality of the room; any living room, hall or, indeed, backyard will serve nicely.

Repeat Records uses facilities of United Recorders to transfer music from tapes to disks. United's exec-veepee and director of engineering, Bud Morris, puts it this way: "You get the impression the music has been recorded in an anaechoic room. It's a shocking sound and, for the audiophile, a tremendous boon. The only thing is, for myself anyway, I'm not so sure I like the idea of having a string quartet in my living room."

From point of view of the musician, guitarist Tony Rizzi, formerly with the Les Brown orch, now with NBC staff orch in Burbank, featured on Repeat's jazz album, says, "This is an exact reproduction of original sounds. The way music is recorded in the present-day process, it comes back at you altered."

Berry and Barcus envision ultimate adoption of their technique by the entire disk industry. Cost of average session, the partners attest, is approximately one-third that of norm—due chiefly to elimination of most of the amortizing costs of studios.

Instruments, most of which are designed and built by Barcus, are worth about $1,000 each—if they were to sell them. Tapes are slightly higher in cost in that diskery uses a special vinyl made by Research Craft Corp. of L.A.—an anti-static dust repellent—called Polymax, thus hiking LPs to $5.98 retail (stereo and monaural) and tapes (four-track copies) to $10. Entire process, incidentally, is protected by patents, now pending.

Richmond Expands Staff

Howie Richmond expanded his staff last week with the hiring of Larry Coleman, formerly with Joy Music, as director of special projects.

Eddie Deane, formerly an indie disk producer, also joined Richmond's enterprise as assistant to Happy Goday, general professional manager of the publihing operation.

Italian Disk Best Sellers

Rome, March 31.

Una Lacrima sul Viso....Solo (Ricordi)
Non Ho l'Eta.....Cinquetti (CGD)
Quando Vedrai Ragazza (UA).....Pitney
Ogni Volta.....Anka (RCA)
Un Bacio Piccolissimo (Carosello).....Robertino
Please, Please Me....Beatles (Parlophon)
Stasera No No No...Germani (Jolly)
Sabato Sera.....Filippini (MRC)
Citta Vuota.....Mina (Ri-Fi)
Che Me ne Importa a Me (Fonit).....Modugno

Ellington Rocks Carnegie Hall In New York Return

Duke Ellington, just back from a European tour and shortly en route to the Far East, rocked New York's Carnegie Hall last Sunday night (29) with one of the most powerful blasts of swing heard in this auditorium in recent years. The Ellington orch was almost as hot at the boxoffice with a near-capacity crowd of 2,600 accounting for a $8,800 gross.

Back with the basic cadre of sidemen who have been part of this organization since the 1930s, the Ellington orch roared through this staid auditorium as if it were the Savoy Ballroom in Harlem of yore. Dazzling, and sometimes deafening, instrumental effects were generated by the unison blowing of the seven brass against the five reeds with the bass, drum and Ellington's piano providing a terrific propulsive force.

The repertoire was superb. It combined some of Ellington's most familiar oldies, such as "The Mooch," "Black and Tan Fantasy" and "Caravan," with some more recent of the maestro's compositions, such as his "Impressions of the Far East." In every case, the emphasis was on the kind of instrumental color and rhythmic drive that has made Ellington the giant of big band jazz.

Among the sidemen, Cootie Williams, back with Ellington after a long absence, standout with his zestful trumpet solos. Trombonist Lawrence Brown, tenor saxist Paul Gonsalves, trumpeter Cat Anderson and alto saxist Johnny Hodges also were showcased very effectively, along with each of the other members of the band.

Irving Granz promoted.

Herm.

BACH ARIA GROUP'S EUROPEAN DATES

Bach Aria Group, prestige longhair ensemble from N.Y., will be in Paris (June 14); at the Oslo Cathedral (June 16) in Stockholm, Lisbon and Divonne, France. Jan Peerce participates.

Peerce and Roberta Peters, both of the Met Opera, sing together May 27 with the Stuttgart Philharmonic. Both are on separate European tours at that period.

Peerce sings at Baden-Baden on May 15 and at Amerika Haus in Nuremberg on May 20. One of his unusual bookings will be in the famous Tivoli Gardens of Copenhagen on July 2. He'll be performing outdoors to an estimated maximum crowd of 25,000.

Sales Execs Quit Colpix

Recent shuffle of the exec staff at Colpix Records has led to the resignation of Erv Bagley, in charge of merchandising, and Bob Rosen, national sales manager.

Resignations came shortly after the appointment of Ray Lawrence as national sales manager.

Gigliola Cinquetti's Win At Danish Songfest May Hypo Her Singing Image

Rome, March 31.

Gigliola Cinquetti's followup of her recent San Remo song festival win with her triumph at Copenhagen's European songfest (which played to reported 100,000,000 Eurovision audience) is figured to give 16-year-old youngster a further boost up the ladder as well as solidify her position on the home market.

It should also boost sales of "Non Ho l'Eta," the song which she turned to the San Remo win. Tune has been doing well in Italy, though never hitting top position, despite the fest victory. It's now expected to jump, and is already averaging runner-up position in various ratings.

Miss Cinquetti has also taped a series of commercials which are unspooling on RAI-TV—one of the rare occasions in which an ad film has been able to take advantage of a topical popularity: usually, there's a waiting period of several months for an evening ad spot over the Italo telenet.

Copenhagen win by the CGD star upset a long-standing jinx, which saw Italy losing out (often badly) in the International race, even in years where Modugno's "Volare" or Rascel's "Romantica" were in the running. These subsequently made international grade on their own, sans fest boost.

Juliet Prowse To Col; RCA Repacts Nero; Other Deals

Juliet Prowse, singer-dancer in numerous legit and film productions, has been signed to Columbia Records. Her first single, out this week, is a coupling of the title song of the legit musical, "Anyone Can Whistle," and "What Are You Afraid Of." Columbia a&r staffer Ernie Altschuler produced the disk.

RCA Victor: Peter Nero

Pianist Peter Nero has been inked to a new longterm pact by RCA Victor. A heavily booked concert attraction, Nero has been a consistent seller for Victor with his seven albums.

United Artists: Al Caiola, Betty Carter

Al Caiola, veteran conductor-guitarist, has been repacted by United Artists Records to an exclusive longterm agreement. Caiola has been associated with the UA label virtually since its inception and has turned out several topselling LPs based on film and tv themes.

UA Records also added Betty Carter to its talent roster. Miss Carter, who has worked with Ray Charles, will cut her initial UA album this week.

Capitol: Ernie Fields:

Ernie Fields, trombonist-bandleader from the swing era, has joined the roster of Capitol Records. His first single will be "St. Louis Blues" coupled with "Lilies of the Field." It'll be out April 13.

Stereo Oddities: Sammy Shore

Sammy Short, a comic, has been tapped by Stereo Oddities. He bows with a single, "The Girl With the Cigaret Cough."

Chordettes' Joyce Weston In Octave Promo Post

Joyce Weston, of the Chordettes vocal group, has joined Erroll Garner's Octave Music firm to promote the pianist's compositions. The firm is currently completing a folio of Garner melodies with lyrics by various writers.

Garner, meantime, leaves for a four-week tour of Japan in May and may add a brief swing through Australia.

Decca Ups Lou Sebok

Lou's J. Sebok, veteran Decca Records sales exec, has been promoted to the post of assistant general sales manager working under sales v.p. Sydney N. Goldberg.

He'll operate out of the N.Y. headquarters.

Beatlemania, Merseybeat Sweeping British Singers to Top on U.S. Charts

London, March 31.

In just over one year, the cult of Beatlemania, the yen for Merseybeat and countrywide clamor from native artists, has not only swept British recordings into dominance locally, but brought about the biggest and most significant penetration of British singers into the American disk bestsellers ever known.

Locally, only four American artists appear in the Top 30 singles lists (Jim Reeves, Gene Pitney, Roy Orbison and Elvis Presley) a position almost precisely the reverse that of two years ago.

Coincidental with the rise of British disks in the U.K., in America no less than eight U.K. singles are riding in the top 30—six by the Beatles (not counting their latest release, "Can't Buy Me Love"), one by the Dave Clark Five and one by Dusty Springfield.

Fast rising British recordings, which seem destined to join the aforesaid eight hotsellers, include "Needles And Pins" by The Searchers, and "Hippy Hippy Shake" by the Swinging Blue Jeans.

Other notable hits from Britain on the way up comprise "From Me To You" and "Roll Over Beethoven" by The Beatles, "White On White" by Danny Williams, and "We Love You Beatles" by the Carefrees. Frank Ifield's "Don't Blame Me" looks promising, too.

Apart from eight waxes (on six different labels) penetrating deeply into the singles market, the Beatles also have two albums on top of American charts, with a third some way behind.

While it is obvious that most of the momentum of the British thrust is being powered by Messrs. Paul McCartney, John Lennon, George Harrison and Ringo Starr, local producers are encouraged by the fact that in their slipstream other British popsters have established a foothold in the lucrative U.S. scene.

Also taking heart are other British-based performers who have been knocking hard at the American show biz door with varying degrees of success. For instance, the Kenny Balls, Rolf Harrises, the Cliff Richards, the Acker Bilks, the Caravelles, the Lonnie Donegans and several others, report such a widening of interest in British disks and performers in American that now, as never before, they stand a chance of making a big breakthrough across the Atlantic.

Beatles to 'Butterfly?'

Glasgow, March 31.

Young fans who adore The Beatles should be encouraged to appreciate opera and attend operatic shows, city treasurer Richard Buchanan said here last week.

He was urging the city's educationists to okay a $2,250 grant to the Scottish Opera Society for a special May 21 performance of "Don Giovanni" for schol children. The proposal was approved.

"We are not after the converted, but we do want to take some of these Beatle bashers and teach them an appreciation of good music," said Buchanan.

'Shangri-La' Disk Gives Bob Maxwell Lots to Harp About

Robert Maxwell, veteran composer and performer on the nitery and concert circuits, has come up with the first recorded hit in his career with the current "Shangri-La" disk for Decca. Unusual angle is that Maxwell is hitting with a classy harp instrumental in a market dominated by twanging guitars and teenage vocalists. And while he's riding with his Decca hit, Maxwell is also cashing in on the click revival of his tune, "Ebb-tide," by Lenny Welch on the Cadence label.

Although laying off for the last five years from personal appearances to concentrate on writing, Maxwell is now accepting club dates again as a result of his new disk prominence. He's already been set for the Detroit Athletic Club in May.

Maxwell and his Decca artists & repertoire producer, Harry Meyerson, said the breakthrough of "Shangri-La" in the current market, was one of those unpredictable occurrences that make the music biz worthwhile.

"It's impossible to dope out where the next hit is coming from," Meyerson added, pointing to the fact that "Shangri-La" seemed to take off on the Coast before spreading to Chicago, then New York where the top 40 stations are now laying on it.

"Shangri-La" has been a longtime standard in Maxwell's catalog, having been recorded numerous times as a vocal with Carl Sigman's lyrics and used as a theme song for the "Jack Gleason Show" on tv. His own slice, however, is shaping up as the biggest disk to date. It's also his first recording for Decca.

Maxwell, incidentally, started as a longhair, working under Arturo Toscanini in the old NBC symphony. But having become tired of hanging around for the occasional harp passage, he moved to the Coast and joined Matty Malneck's combo in the early 1940s.

NEW DISKERY BLOOMS AT DAFFODIL MUSIC

Daffodil Music, a subsid of Franco Colombo Inc., the new corporate name of G. Ricordi & Co., has set up a new disk label, DFD Records. Diskery plans to release platers produced both domestically and overseas.

Lester Sims, general manager of Daffodil, recently returned from a tour of Europe, where he set up deals with various disk and publishing companies.

Schuster to T.M. Music

Irwin Schuster has been named east coast professional manager for T.M. Music, publishing company owned by Bobby Darin and managed by exec. v.p. Edgar Burton. Schuster had been working for Hill & Range.

In another expansion move, Darin hired Harvey Geller as T.M.'s professional manager for the West Coast.

Everest Wins Injunction Halting Merc's Release Of Gloria Lynne Disks

Los Angeles, March 31.

Mercury Records, under a temporary injunction granted Everest Records, is restrained from releasing any and all disks on which singer Gloria Lynne performs, according to Everest prexy Bernie Solomon. Everest has sued Mercury and its subsid label, Fontana, for $200,000 damages.

Case arose when Mercury, on or about March 16, releasing under the Fontana label a single, "Be Anything" b/w "Soul Serenade" on which Miss Lynne sings. Everest charged infringement of exclusivity clauses in contractual agreement diskery has with thrush.

Solomon contends that Everest originally inked chirp in October, 1958, to a five-year pact and, in December, 1962, re-signed her for an additional three years.

He asserted that Everest has released about a dozen albums of Miss Lynne since inception of contractual ties and that latest single release, "I Wish You Love," is still on the charts.

Hearing for permanent injunction will take place April 1 in Superior Court, L.A.

Scot Singer's Soviet Trek

Glasgow, March 31.

Bill McCue, Scot singer, is set to tour Russia this fall with the English Opera Group. He will take part in their performances of Benjamin Britten's "Rape of Lucretia" and "Albert Herring."

Later in the year McCue, an ex-miner, will sing in the Henry Wood annual performance of "The Messiah," conducted by Sir Malcolm Sargent, at the Albert Hall, London.

On the Upbeat

New York

Jay-Gee Records has realigned its foreign distribs deals for the Jubilee, Josie, Port and Dana labels. Jay-Gee will handle distribution for BT Puppy Records . . . The Eggheads, on the Amy-Mala label, were on the CBS-TV "Garry Moore Show" Tuesday night (31) . . . George Doerner orch opens a four-week stand at Roseland Dance City this week . . . Johnny Pacheco's Latin orch plays at the Dakar Concert Hall in Senegal April 3-4.

National Tuberculosis Assn. using Connie Francis as poster girl for its 1964 Christmas Seals campaign . . . Tony Bennett plays Town & Country, Brooklyn, May 22 . . . Pianist Lee Evans, of Command Records, heading a 10-piece showband at the Americana Royal Box. It's Evans' first gig since recent back surgery . . . Cecil Taylor playing Bennington and Brandeis campus dates next week.

Trumpeter Al Hirt set for a string of college dates through April . . . Jazz multi-instrumentalist Roland Kirk returning to the Five Spot Cafe April 7 through May 3 . . . Donna Lynn, 14-year-old Capitol songstress, inked for tv dates this month . . . British thrush Kathy Keegan opens at the Living Room April 6 . . . Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt at Frederick, Md., High School Auditorium Saturday (4) . . . Bernard Green composing the score for the Chrysler Corp. "Show-Go-Round" at the World's Fair.

London

Mark Wynter to New York May 15 for vacation and radio-tv appearances . . . All on the same day, Sir Joseph Lockwood presented Gerry & the Pacemakers, Billy J. Kramer & the Dakotas, and Cilla Black with silver disks for 250,000 sellers . . . Peter Walsh, manager of Brian Poole & the Tremeloes, set up his own indie diskery, Strand Records, which will operate by leasing tapes to the major outlets. First signed artists are Brian Poole, The Tremeloes, Brook Bros., David Macbeth and The Kestrels.

Philips Records readying a promo campaign for its Caedmon (spoken word) label as a tiein with Shakespeare's quatercentenary . . . A. H. Clements, longtime staffer of Decca's export department, presented with a silver flute by Decca topper Sir Edward Lewis on his (Clements') retirement . . . Bob Halfin, local pubber, joins Ascherberg, Hopwood & Crew to helm its pop and light music catalog.

Philadelphia

The Showboat returns to a full-week policy with Don Gardner and Dee Dee Ford current, followed by King Curtis, April 6-11; John Coltrane, April 13-18; Miracles, April 20-25; Temptations, April 27-May 2; Major Lance, May 4-9 . . . Connie Francis at the Latin Casino through April 12 with, Johnny Mathis set for April 13-26. . . . Buddy Greco and Woody Herman at the Academy of Music, April 5.

The Matys Bros. leave for seven months of bookings in Nevada, with sister Vera joining the quartet. . . . Sid Pastner moved his Strand Records from New York to set up his office and warehouse here. He also entered the promotion field with MHD Enterprises. His first venture will be a "hootenany" at Town Hall, June 6 with the Serendipity Singers.

Bobby Rydell having new act readied by Noel Sherman for his three-week Copa date, beginning May 10. . . . Columbia Records' chief engineer John Hobart at the Venus Lounge to case the acoustics. Owner Pete Gerardi (former Chancellor Records exec) arranged with Columbia to wax the Lenny Perna Trio live from the cafe. . . . The Four Preps and Sarah Vaughn slated for a Villanova College concert, April 3, and the Four Freshmen come to La Salle College the following weekend.

Trini Lopez booked for the Jersey Derby Cotillion, May 29. . . . Tailor Ace Tesone (clothier for Chubby Checker and other show biz figures), a bass-man on the side, signed for touring dates with Liberace. . . . Bill Honney lining up talent for the Greater Philadelphia Industrial Trade Fair at the Commercial Museum, May 9-16 and has pacted Frank Fontaine, Vaughn Monroe, Cab Calloway and the Winged Victory Chorus.

Red Schwartz, national promotion director of Cameo-Parkway Records, recovering from surgery at the Metropolitan Hospital. . . . So. Philly singer Dean Christie's first release on Mercury Records, "Get With It," cleffed by two locals, Mercury a&r men Johnny Madera and Dave White, who wrote Lesley Gore's "You Don't Own Me."

Eight New Tooters Join Philly Orch to Replace 5 Retirees, 3 Who Quit

Philadelphia, March 31.

Appointment of eight new musicians who will join the Philadelphia Orchestra for the 1964-65 season was announced last week by Eugene Ormandy, conductor. They replace five men who are retiring and three who resigned.

New members are Joseph de Pasquale, principal viola; Samuel Mayes, principal cello; Robert de Pasquale, Larry Grika and Julia Janson, violins; Winifred Winograd Mayers, cello; Michael Shahan, bass, and Donald McComas, trumpet.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayes and Joseph de Pasquale are all members of the Boston Symphony; Robert de Pasquale was violinist with the New York Philharmonic for seven seasons; Grika is from the Cincinnati Symph and Mrs. Janson is from Toronto. Shahan and McComas played with the National Symphony, Washington.

Retiring musicians and their years of service with the orchestra are Charles Miller, violin, 22 years; Aaron Gododetzky, violin, 44 years; Samuel Belenko, cello, 39 years; Vincent Lazzaro, bass, 43 years; Sigmund Hering, trumpet, 39 years. The resignations include those of first cellist Lorne Munroe, first violinist William Schoen and violinist Ling Tung, who plans to conduct.

VARIETY ALBUM BESTSELLERS

(A National Survey of Key Outlets)

This Wk.	Last Wk.	No. Wks. On Chart
1	1	10	BEATLES (Capitol) Meet the Beatles (T2047)
2	2	21	AL HIRT (Victor) Honey in the Horn (LPM 2733)
3	3	8	HELLO DOLLY (Victor) Original Cast (LOCD 1087)
4	4	7	BEATLES (Vee Jay) Introducing Beatles (LP 1062)
5	5	15	HENRY MANCINI (Victor) Charade (LPM 2755)
6	6	5	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Vol. III (CL 2154)
7	8	34	JOAN BAEZ (Vanguard) Vol. II (URS 9094)
8	7	24	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) In the Wind (W 1507)
9	9	10	ANDY WILLIAMS (Columbia) Wonderful World of (CL 2137)
10	15	3	JOHN GARY (Victor) Encore (2836)
11	10	8	AL MARTINO (Capitol) Living A Lie (T 1975)
12	12	6	JOHNNY MATHIS (Mercury) Tender Is the Night (MG 20890)
13	11	10	KINGSTON TRIO (Capitol) Time to Think (T 2011)
14	13	28	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Volume II (CL 2054)
15	16	20	JOHN GARY (Victor) Catch a Rising Star (LPM 2745)
16	21	5	ROGER WILLIAMS (Kapp) Solid Gold Steinway (KL 1354)
17	14	7	NANCY WILSON (Capitol) Yesterday's Love Songs (T 2012)
18	17	20	THE SINGING NUN (Philips) Soeur Sourire (PCC 203)
19	20	10	VENTURES (Dolton) In Space (2027)
20	23	3	BOB DYLAN (Columbia) Times Are Changing (CL 2105)
21	18	10	JACK JONES (Kapp) Wives and Lovers (1352)
22	19	16	SMOTHERS BROS. (Mercury) Curb Your Tongue, Knave (MG 20862)
23	24	3	MARKETTS (WB) Out of Limits (W 1537)
24	25	12	RICK NELSON (Decca) For You (DL 4479)
25	22	18	BEACH BOYS (Capitol) Little Deuce Coupe (T 1998)
26	26	33	TRINI LOPEZ (Reprise) Trini Lopez at PJ'S (6093)
27	33	2	RAY CHARLES (ABC-Par) Sweet & Sour (480)
28	34	2	AL HIRT & ANNE-MARGARET (Victor) Beauty & the Beard (LPM 2690)
29	39	4	FRANK FONTAINE (ABC) How Sweet It Is (470)
30	27	11	LAWRENCE WELK (Dot) Wonderful Wonderful (DLP 3552)
31	36	8	KINGSMEN (Wand) Louie Louie (657)
32	28	125	WEST SIDE STORY (Columbia) Soundtrack (OL 5670)
33	29	52	ROY ORBISON (Monument) Greatest Hits (MLP 8000)
34	30	16	TRINI LOPEZ (Reprise) More at P.J.'s (6103)
35	32	63	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) Moving (W 1473)
36	31	16	ELVIS PRESLEY (Victor) Fun in Acapulco (LSP 2756)
37	37	32	NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS (Columbia) Ramblin' (CL 2055)
38	—	1	GLENN YARBROUGH (Victor) Time to Move on (RCA 2836)
39	35	49	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Barbra Streisand Album (CL 2001)
40	40	4	PEGGY LEE (Capitol) In Love Again (T 1969)
41	38	25	AL MARTINO (Capitol) Painted Tainted Rose (T 1975)
42	42	51	ANDY WILLIAMS (Columbia) Days of Wine & Roses (CL 2015)
43	42	22	SWINGLE SINGERS (Philips) Bach's Greatest Hits (PHM 200-097)
44	50	12	JOHNNY MATHIS (Columbia) Romantically (CL 2098)
45	—	1	NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS (Columbia) Today (CL 2159)
46	43	96	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) Peter, Paul & Mary (W 1449)
47	44	20	VILLAGE STOMPERS (Epic) Washington Square (LN 24078)
48	46	48	BYE BYE BIRDIE (Victor) Soundtrack (LOC 1081)
49	45	13	THE WEEK THAT WAS (Decca) Original Sound Track (DL 9116)
50	48	19	LOS INDIOS TABAJAREZ (Victor) Maria Elena (LPM 2822)

Tin Pan Valley

By RED O'DONNELL

Nashville, March 31.

Local architect Edwin Keeble drafting final plans for Columbia's new $300,00 studio on Record Row (16th Ave. S.). Construction is tentatively skedded to start May 1. Occupancy target date: Labor Day.

RCA Victor's promotional-personal appearance group takes off Thursday (2) on a three-week tour of Europe. Roster includes Chet Atkins, Bobby Bare, Jim Reeves, Anita Kerr Singers, and sidemen: bass-player Henry Strzlecki, drummer Kenneth Buttrey, guitarist Leo Jackson and pianist Dean Manuel. They'll play p.a.'s and tv dates in 13 cities—Hamburg, Munich, Vienna, Hanover, Essen, Berlin, Gothenburg, Stockholm, Oslo, Copenhagen, The Hague-Amsterdam, Brussels and Karlsruhe.

Songwriter Harlan Howard, formerly with Pamper Music, formed own publishing firm—to be called Wilderness.

Columbia a&r vet Don Law to New York for production of comedy LP featuring Jimmy Dean and his tv puppy-teer Rowlf.

Bill Carlisle signed with Hickory Records. First release this weekend is titled "Shanghai Rooster."

Recently chartered Nashville chapter of NARAS on upbeat membership drive. Signed 75 first two weeks. Formal report slated at next meeting, April 20.

A rhythm & blues package featuring Stevie Wonder, Mary Wells, Marvin Gaye, Martha & the Vandellas, Temptations and Marvelettes booked for State Fairgrounds Coliseum Sunday (5).

Marion Worth did an album of Marty Robbins' tunes . . . Brian Hyland due in this week for a Mercury session under a&rship of Shelby Singleton . . . Acuff-Rose Publications upped general manager John R. Brown to vice-presidency.

Capitol's producer Marvin Hughes vacationing in Florida . . . Carl Smith set for Jimmy Dean ABC-TV shot April 16.

Johnny Mathis cut "Taste of Tears," which was co-written by Teddy Bart and Paul Wyatt for Raleigh Music . . . Sax-appealing Boots Randolph joined Al Hirt in concert at Grand Ole Opry House.

THE MOST UNPOPULAR GROUP in the universe

THE DAYTONES
Hear Them Now on Jubilee #5452
BLESS MY LOVE
b/w
KRAMBULI
D.J.'s Don't Pass This Up
Contact: STEVE BLAINE or MICKEY EICHNER
JUBILEE RECORDS
315 W. 48 St., N.Y. 19 PL 7-8570

DONNA LYNN
New CAPITOL Special Release
JAVA-JONES "JAVA"
b/w "THINGS THAT I FEEL"
Management
JACK WOLF and "BUGS" BOWER
JU 6-5577

TIM GAYLE
Publicity/Management
Promotion
b/w
Experience/Contacts
Results/Know-How
HOTEL BRITTANY
55 E. 10th Street, New York 3
Area Code 212 - ORegon 7-5100

Announcing
Two Great Songs...
CIUMACHELLA &
THE LIGHTS OF ROMA

ENTERTAINING BAND
FOR MIDTOWN
NEW YORK CITY
NITE CLUBS
BOX V-3598, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 10036

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
VAN HEFLIN?
OR IS IT VAN HEFLIN

Britain's Blue Beat Hitting the Charts

London, Marach 31.

The Big Push to get Blue Beat off and running—which has involved big diskeries like Decca, EMI, Philips and a host of smaller labels—is beginning to pay off.

EMI's much ballyed release of Ezz Reco's "King Of Kings" has made the sales charts at No. 25, while Philips' later release, "My Boy Lollipop," by Millie has risen to No. 22.

But with these two successes under their belt, the Blue Beat pushers have still a long way to go to catch up with the current fad for the "group sound". In Blue Beat's favor in addition to the fact that practically all the weight of the local record biz is behind it, is the mushrooming of Blue Beat dance clubs up and down the country—particularly in areas where there is a Jamaican immigrant population.

Another major factor in the launch of this new sound is that it is already established as a firm jukebox fave. The jukes were almost solely responsible for the 100,000-plus sales of the Prince Buster Blue Beat records put out by Melodisc's Ziggy Jackson (who christened the sound). This figure, incidentally, was achieved sans the now rampant promo.

Working solidly against the rise of Blue Beat on the salesgraphs is the overwhelming popularity of The Beatles. With their new single just out and a new album due on the market shortly, the Liverpool foursome is expected to tie up a lot of the local kids' disk-buying coin over the next three-four weeks.

WOODY GUTHRIE ON FOLKWAYS RECORDS

JUST RELEASED 12" LP—$5.95 ea.
FA 2484 WOODY GUTHRIE SINGS Vol. 2
FH 5212 DUST BOWL BALLADS
OTHER WOODY GUTHRIE RECORDS 12" LP—$5.95 ea.
FA 2481 BOUND FOR GLORY
FA 2483 WOODY GUTHRIE SINGS Vol. 1
FH 5285 TALKING UNION (With Almanac Singers)
FH 5485 BALLADS OF SACCO AND VANZETTI 10" LP—$4.25 ea.
FA 2010 LONESOME VALLEY (With others)
FC 7005 SONGS TO GROW ON Vol. 1
FC 7015 SONGS TO GROW ON FOR MOTHER AND CHILD
FC 7027 THIS LAND IS MY LAND (With others)
Write for free catalogue of over 1,000 LP's.
FOLKWAYS RECORDS 165 W. 46 St. New York 36

Program Tips!
BABY! I'M the GREATEST
LOU & GIA PRIMA
(Prima)
THAT'S MY DESIRE
JONNIE GEE
(Jarrard)
MILLS MUSIC, INC.
New York, N. Y. 10019

JIMMY VELVET
Does It Again!
"To The Aisle"
c/w
"Lonely, Lonely Night"
ABC-10528

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
GEORGE RAFT?
OR IS IT GEORGE RAFT

VARIETY SINGLE RECORD T.I.P.S.

(Tune Index of Performance & Sales)

This Wk.	Last Wk.	No. Wks. On Chart		Label
1	1	10	SHE LOVES YOU Beatles	Capitol
2	2	11	I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND Beatles	Capitol
3	3	3	TWIST & SHOUT Beatles	Tollie
4	4	7	PLEASE PLEASE ME Beatles	Vee Jay
5	5	6	FUN FUN FUN Beach Boys	Capitol
6	7	5	MY HEART BELONGS TO YOU Bobby Vinton	Epic
7	8	5	HELLO DOLLY Louis Armstrong	Kapp
8	9	5	GLAD ALL OVER Dave Clark Five	Epic
9	6	8	DAWN (Go Away) Four Seasons	Philips
10	11	3	SUSPICION Terry Stafford	Crusader
11	10	11	JAVA Al Hirt	Victor
12	12	8	CALIFORNIA SUN Rivieras	Riviera
13	16	3	THE WAY YOU DO THINGS Temptations	Gordy
14	15	5	HI HEEL SNEAKERS Tommy Tucker	Chess
15	17	3	SHOOP SHOOP SONG Betty Everett	Vee Jay
16	13	6	KISSIN COUSINS Elvis Presley	Victor
17	18	5	STAY Four Seasons	Vee Jay
18	19	5	FROM ME TO YOU Beatles	Vee Jay
19	14	8	NAVY BLUE Diane Renay	20th-Fox
20	24	2	CROOKED LITTLE MAN Serendipity Singers	Phillips
21	25	3	MONEY Kingsmen	Wand
22	30	2	DEAD MAN'S CURVE Jan & Dean	Liberty
23	21	7	PUPPY LOVE Barbara Lewis	Atlantic
24	20	6	BLUE WINTER Connie Francis	MGM
25	28	2	THINK Brenda Lee	Decca
26	32	2	NADINE Chuck Berry	Chess
27	22	8	STOP AND THINK IT OVER Dale & Grace	Michelle
28	33	2	NEEDLES & PINS Searchers	Kapp
29	23	8	I LOVE YOU MORE AND MORE Al Martino	Capitol
30	26	8	SEE THE FUNNY LITTLE CLOWN Bobby Goldsboro	UA
31	35	2	STARDUST April Stevens & Nino Tempo	Atco
32	27	8	GOOD NEWS Sam Cooke	Victor
33	31	3	I SAW HER STANDING THERE Beatles	Capitol
34	29	3	IT HURTS ME Elvis Presley	Victor
35	34	5	PENETRATION Pyramids	Best
36	—	1	ANGELITO Rene & Rene	Jox
37	—	1	GUESS WHO Sunglows	Sunglow
38	37	10	OH BABY, DON'T YOU WEEP James Brown	King
39	40	8	ABIGAIL BEECHER Freddie Cannon	Warner Bros.
40	39	10	A FOOL NEVER LEARNS Andy Williams	Columbia
41	36	7	I WANT TO BE WITH YOU Dusty Springfield	Philips
42	41	7	SHELTER OF YOUR ARMS Sammy Davis Jr.	Reprise
43	38	12	YOU DON'T OWN ME Leslie Gore	Mercury
44	42	4	BIRD DANCE BEAT Trashmen	Garrett
45	44	7	WHO DO YOU LOVE Saphires	Swan
46	45	7	I WISH YOU LOVE Gloria Lynne	Everest
47	43	5	UNDERSTAND YOUR MAN Johnny Cash	Columbia
48	48	11	ANYONE WHO HAD A HEART Dionne Warwick	Scepter
49	46	11	UM UM UM UM UM UM Major Lance	Okeh
50	49	11	WHAT KIND OF FOOL Tams	ABC-Par

San Remo Tunes Still Dominate Italo Disk Market; Other Via Veneto Notes

By ROBERT F. HAWKINS

Rome, March 31.

The San Remo songs continue to dominate the Italo disk market several weeks after the event. In more than a few cases the tunes extended their runs thanks to video and radio exposure of their performers.

In this respect, and also aided by fact that it had number of top S.R. placers on hand, CGD International scored with an RAI-TV special which included Gene Pitney, Bobby Rydell and Fraternity Bros. in a medley of Festival and other recent songs.

But some previously popular items (and some new ones) are beginning to move up once again to take up the inevitable postfest slack. Notable among these is Mina's "Citta Vuota" (Ri-Fi), which now also has been waxed by Gene MacDaniels in Italian on Liberty—probably too late to catch Mina, however.

Rita Pavone's "Che M'Importa del Mondo" (RCA) continues strong, as do several other pre-fest RCA pressings, along with Adriano Calentano's "Ciao Ragazzi" (Clan). The Beatles, despite relative lack of local radio exposure, continue to move up, with "Misery" joining "Please, Please Me" in local esteem.

Music briefs: Bobby Solo follows up his San Remo success by starring in film titled after his best-selling song: "Una Lacrima sul Viso" (A Tear on Your Face) for a Rome producer . . . Eddie Calvert and Italo trumpeter Nini Rosso joining on series of shows and p.a.'s . . . Ezio Radaelli guns his annual "Cantagiro", an all-star swing through Italy of pop singers, late June-early July.

Phonogram releases upcoming Deutsche Gramophon Gesellschaft pressings with which Herbert von Karajan marks his return to the German company for a long-range recording program . . . Phonogram also releasing future Jaguar Records platters, with Ricky Gianco heading company pop singer stable . . . There are some 1,229 singers of pop music in Italy, a recent tabulation shows, with 111 Italo recording companies, 600 publishing firms, and no less than 6,200 small orchestral combos.

Recent releases: RCA's new local label, dedicated exclusively to young talent on the rise, dominates the post-San Remo release picture. ARC, as outfit is called, gets RCA pressing and release facilities, and already has some promising names on its roster.

Hottest prospect in the juve-juke sector seems to be Ivana Borgia, with two equally strong sides: "Fiocca Fiocca la Neve", and "Con Gli Scarponi e Gli Sci". Both are in the Rita Pavon style, and boast topnotch arrangements.

Dino's "Eravamo Amici" on same label shows personality of youngster more than conventional "Cosi Come Sei", while distinctive pipes are also displayed in Giancarlo Guardabassi's "Sulla Terra Ho Solo Te", equipped with a good beat. ARC's fourth new name is the single-monikered Oscar. He's soft-spoken in "Asciuga quel visino bagnato," which is keyed to young-ish ears; and slightly repetitious and monotonous in "Vola con lo Spider".

Richard Anthony's new Italo-language 45, "Cin Cin" (Columbia) should get good play; it's backed by a change-of-pace, likeable Italianization by the French star of "Never Walk Alone". Adamo, relatively new recruit for Pathe, has so far been handicapped by reported refusal to carry his songs over Italo radio net. His latest, "Gridare il Tuo Nome" and "Perduto Amore," indicate a catchy, haunting voice with possibilities if a top tune can be found for it.

Berlin Philharmonic's 4th Postwar U.S. Tour

Berlin Philharmonic is returning next January-February for its fourth postwar U.S. concert tour. It will be booked by Columbia Artists Management whose late chairman, Andre Mertens, first brought this ensemble over, not without stirring some anti-German sentiment in Philadelphia and Detroit.

A Beethoven cycle of five works will be presented in Carnegie Hall, N.Y. In all, there will be 24 U.S. concerts this time, extending as far west as Chicago. Weinhold & Thompson division of CAMI is managing.

Eugene Jochum and Herbert von Karajan will conduct.

Clancys' Ireland Encore

The Clancy Bros. & Tommy Makem, who recently wound up a tour of Ireland, have been repacted by Irish concert promoter Thomas McCluskey for a repeat tour June 5-28.

Folk combo, who specializes in the recording of Irish tunes in its Columbia Records LPs, have been strong disk sellers in Erin recently.

The HIT! OF THE WEEK
RICHARD CHAMBERLAIN
Sings
STELLA BY STARLIGHT
K-13205
M-G-M Records

BECKET
The Original Sound Track Music from The Paramount Picture
"BECKET"
Released by Decca Records
FAMOUS MUSIC CORPORATION

MISS PAT COLLINS
"The Hip Hypnotist"
April 2 thru 22—BASIN STREET EAST, New York City
July 22 thru Aug. 2—WAGON WHEEL, Lake Tahoe, Nev.
Aug. 6 thru Sept. 6—INTERLUDE, Hollywood, Calif.
Sept. 8 thru Oct. 5—SHOWBOAT HOTEL, Las Vegas, Nev.
Nov. 13 thru 29—WAGON WHEEL, Lake Tahoe, Nev.
Pers. Mgr.: SHELLY DAVIS
BOOKED EXCLUSIVELY BY
ASSOCIATED BOOKING CORPORATION
JOE GLASER, President
50 WEST 57 STREET, NEW YORK 19 JUdson 2-7700
CHICAGO • MIAMI • BEVERLY HILLS • LAS VEGAS • DALLAS • LONDON

No Easter Eggheads; R 'n' R SRO At Brooklyn Fox & N.Y. Paramount

To New York teenagers, Easter doesn't mean the resurrection or Easter eggs. It means rock 'n' roll in the flesh, and this Paramount Theatre spread is one of three in town for the holidays (the Apollo and the Fox, Brooklyn, are also vibrating to the foundations with five or so a day).

Amazing thing about the show is the young audiences' endurance for the bleat and the beat, which goes on for an hour and a half in beltline runoff.

That singer Sam Cooke can top all concerned with yet more excitement is clear testament to his performing gifts and unusual dedication to the noisome cause. He eschews the subtleties and dramatic contrasts that are his norm in less dissonant show environs for straight upbeat wailing all the way. His turn opens with his former disclick, "Twisting the Night Away," and jams straight through the act, bringing the kids in for vocal accomp and clapping.

Other standouts include the Four Seasons, with a lead singer who has what could only be described as a squeezed tenor voice that can soar into incredible falsetto ranges (the boys (4) have excellent stage presence); Leslie Gore, the stocky belter of the nasty lyric ("Don't Tell Me What to Do") with a mean whine that punches it all home; Ruby & the Romantics (5) with their unusual vocal poise in unusually melodic ballads for the genre; The three Sapphires, with their savvy, young femme lead; and Rufus Thomas, who is a genuine rhythm & blues artist.

Dean & Jean are okay stylists, with driving self-accomp on the wired guitars. Chris Crosby has pleasant, deep pipes, but needs woodshedding in both the vocal and projection line. Terry Stafford, a tall blond Texan, has better looks than sound. The American Beetles have an uncanny likeness to those wall-Britannica counterparts. The Devotions (4) are billed on the strength of their current "Rip Van Winkle" hit. Diane Renay was out with a virus during show caught.

King Curtis has a big, rocking band with all the electronics necessary to do battle with the vocalists and groups. Curtis steps out for a fine soprano sax solo, a rhythm & blues thing with nice guitar backing and echo-chamber effect on the amplification.

The six Good Guys, WMCA deejays, handle emcee chores and get in a number of plugs for their station's all-day-and-night rock blasting.

Bill rotates, with Jackie Wilson and James Brown, in that order, taking over top spot from Sam Cooke. Bill.

Paramount, N.Y.

Sam Cooke, The Four Seasons, The Devotions (4), Ruby & the Romantics (5), Diane Renay, The Sapphires (3), Dean & Jean, Rufus Thomas, Chris Crosby, The American Beetles (4), Terry Stafford, Leslie Gore, Good Guys of WMCA (6), King Curtis Orch; "Darling Daughter" (Zenith).

Brooklyn, March 31.

Bobbysoxers have been steadily pouring into the house during the Easter holiday to gander one of Murray Kaufman's best-produced rock 'n' roll shows. It is by far the WINS deejay's slickest lineup of vocalists who give the teenagers a tornado-filled bag of entertainment.

The kids have been plunking down their $2.50 each and getting 90 minutes of topdrawer rock 'n' roll specialists. Kaufman garnered somewhere in the vicinity of $114,000 Easter Week last year. He figures on doing slightly better this Easter Week run which began March 27 and continues through April 5, averaging four shows daily.

Audience consists of teeners from all parts of the borough as well as Queens and Nassau. Although cops are around to guard the house and performers, there appears little need for their services. Except for constant shrieking in the audience when performers appear onstage and throw their neckties and bowties in the direction of hysterical fans, discipline is maintained.

Chuck Johnson, Ben E. King, The Shirelles, Little Anthony & the Imperials, Johnny Tillotson and the Younger Bros. are the dominant attractions. They're undoubted standouts, clicking instantly with the vociferous youngsters.

Jackson, as the show's biggest standout, bowls 'em over with a medley of "Stubborn Kind of Fellow," "I Can't Stop Loving You," "Any Day Now," and "I Don't Want to Cry." During latter number, audience rises to sheer ecstasy as he unknots his necktie and throws it to misty-eyed admirers.

King registers heavily with such musical zingers as "Don't Play That Song" and "soul" version of the Beatles' hit number, "All My Lovin'." King also sets the throng a-quiver with his bowtie gift to a lucky fan in the front row of the orch.

Little Anthony & the Imperials, familiar to Brooklyn audiences, contribute considerably to the Kaufman package with rhythm numbers, vocally and dancewise. This group has 'em virtually in the aisles with "Tears On My Pillow" and "It's All Right." The act gets superb lighting effects.

Kaufman's Easter Show is full of references to the Beatles; in fact, the "K" bills himself as "The Fifth Beatle," informing the fans, via his hot-selling souvenir journal that the Beatles gave him this billing and that he is the only deejay who has become a close friend of theirs.

A takeoff on the Beatles is given by the Younger Bros., who allude to themselves as "The American Beatles." They work with a wide assortment of guitars including an outsized one which has more lights than a pinball machine in a Coney Island penny arcade.

Kaufman, with his rock 'n' roll productions here, has won an endearing following among the younger set. He has helped spread this form of music in showmanly fashion. If he isn't too careful, he may ultimately wind up burgomaster of Flatbush, onetime home of the Canarsie Indians, America's original rock 'n' rollers.

Kaufman, particularly, has been remarkably successful in promoting biracial harmony. His Easter show in downtown Brooklyn is indeed a vivid example of how best to rack up racial peace and desegregation both on and offstage. Rans.

Fox, B'klyn

Murray (the "K") Kaufman, Chuck Jackson, Ben E. King, Shirelles, Johnny Tillotson, Dionne Warwick, The Tymes, The Chiffans, The Kingsmen, Dick & Dee Dee, Bobby Goldsboro, Little Anthony & The Imperials, Younger Bros., Earl Warren Band (15) and "Cavalry Command" (Velde); $2.50 admission.

New Honolulu Cafe

Honolulu, March 31.

Genoa Keawe, vet Hawaiian entertainer, has taken over the downtown Club Polynesia and is now operating it on a nitery and restaurant basis.

There's nightly music by Miss Keawe and her Polynesians (5). Troupe previously appeared in the same room under its former ownership.

'Big Beat' Yields Little B.O. Music In B'way Bash

There are few things as sad as an abandoned rock & roll show and the scant audience in this West 49th Street house Thursday (26) did not comprise enough people to rub together and make a fire. Something must be wrong when Clay Cole, who runs an early Saturday evening r&r show on WPIX cannot pull a respectable crowd, aided by Ralph Cooper, the jock who is running a "Beat the Beatles" contest on WHOM tying in with this show.

Possibly it was the opposition which started on Friday: a big, star-filled Paramount stageshow with the WMCA Good Guys, a rocker at the Harlem Apollo, and the Murray Kaufman ding-dong at the Fox in Brooklyn — stronger shows at much less than $3.90 top tap here.

Cole, a personable juve, emceed the Ambassador bash and passed off the ghosttown look of the evening by calling it "only a dress rehearsal" and a reference to freebies.

Since r&r, like comedy, gets volume of reaction depending on the size of the audience, (i.e. the enthusiasm doesn't double, but cubes according to the proportion of seats that are filled), it was mighty doleful when those present didn't get infected by the rockin'-clappin-bit from the stage.

Show was way overmiked and lyrics were frequently blurred, both ordinary faults with this type of presentation. An attempt at special production was evident in special opening lyrics and a beat medley of "West Side Story" songs, latter scoring.

Potential talent on hand was in the voice of Birdie Green from Detroit. She has pipes which can be compared to Louis Armstrong's horn. What Miss Green needs is dramatic coaching, right clothes, climbing down and building up. Then, given the breaks, she may go places.

Lloyd Price with his orchestra,

(Continued on page 74)

Big Beat On Broadway

With Birdie Green, Del Satins, Linda Scott, The Roaches, The Detours; Clay Cole, Ralph Cooper, emcees; Lloyd Price Orch conducted by Slide Hampton. At Ambassador Theatre, N.Y., March 26, '64; $3.90 top.

Allen & Rossi to Headline Hall Syndicate's Annual D.C. Party for Editors

Washington, March 31.

Marty Allen & Steve Rossi will headline the annual midnight show the Hall Syndicate gives annually to wind up the convention of the nation's editors in Washington. This year's party is set for April 18, according to Ira Emerich, Hall executive v.p. who plans the bash for 2,000 and books the acts for it.

Sergio Franchi and a Boston dancer, Leslie Post, have also been signed for the Hall show which follows the final banquet of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

The editors, usually with a top-flight politico as the Saturday night banquet speaker, will have Bob Newhart lampooning politics instead this year.

Emerich had Robert Goulet for the Hall party last year. In prior years, he has had Carol Channing, Eddie Fisher, Gordon & Sheila MacRae and others.

Expense Yardstick for N.Y. Fair Visit

Rochester, N.Y., March 31.

What basic costs to visit the New York World's Fair, which opens April 23, will amount to for Rochesterians is indicated by the two newspapers here. They are packaging tours to New York City, and offering reduced price Fair admissions in connection with Monroe County Days, May 16-17, at Flushing Meadows.

Here are the prospective basic costs, separate from out-of-pocket expenses of individuals:

TOUR I One night—by plane
Leave Rochester—Saturday morning, May 16
Leave New York—Sunday night, May 17
(Rates include air transportation, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, 5 per cent New York City tax, baggage handling and transportation to and from New York airport.)
Single Room —$71.80
Twin Room —$66
Three in Room —$63.90
Four in Room —$62.85

TOUR II Two nights—by plane
Leave Rochester—Friday night, May 15
Leave New York—Sunday night, May 17
(Rates include air transportation, Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, 5 per cent New York City tax, baggage handling and transportation to and from New York airport.)
Single Room —$94.
Twin Room —$80
Three in Room —$76.80
Four in Room —$74.80

English Aerialist Injured In 40-Ft. Dallas Plunge

Dallas, March 31.

Ann Mowbray, 19, English aerialist with the Seven Herwicks in the Hamid-Morton Circus, was seriously injured during a Friday (27) matinee performance here when she brushed against a guy wire and plunged 40 feet to the packed dirt floor before 3,000 spectators in Fair Park Livestock Coliseum.

She was swinging by a neck collar suspended from her partner's teeth when her foot hit the wire and she fell. Later at Baylor Hospital Miss Mowbray was reported in fair condition, with compound fractures of an ankle, broken ribs and a shoulder injury.

Palisades' 67th Season in Boffo Start; Big Midway

By GEORGE GILBERT

Cliffside Park, N.J., March 31.

Palisades Amusement Park opened here Saturday (28) for its 67th consecutive year to a hefty 32,000 attendance despite absence of its customary day-and-date circus. It was a warmup for the following day's 147,000 gate, said to be the largest Easter Sunday figure in the park's history. The count was achieved despite cloudy skies and mercury in the upper 40s.

Healthy turnout over the weekend prompted Park prexy Irving Rosenthal to predict a banner season for his 110-acre fun emporium which overlooks the Hudson opposite New York's W. 125th St. What with the New Jersey Tercentenary Celebration and the N.Y. World's Fair bringing millions of visitors to the metropolitan area he feels that the park can't help but benefit from the tourist influx.

"I'm not worried about the fair as a competitor," said Rosenthal, "for the Flushing Meadows exposition has no midway. Here we have eight with 175 rides and attractions." He added that if he gets only 2% of the fair's visitors it would make a considerable impact on the gate. He pointed out that the park's advertising and promotional budget has been hiked 30% to acquaint potential patrons with the fun centre's amusement values.

Although a circus had been a fixture for the first month of the park's season over the last five or six years, Rosenthal said that based upon his experiences that the children of today are more in-

(Continued on page 72)

'Opry' Big $6,150, W'peg

Winnipeg, March 31.

"Grand Ole Opry" pulled a solid $6,150 and attracted 3,400 to the 4,100-seat Auditorium last Thursday (19). House was scaled to $2.25.

Show featured Buck Owens, Sheb Wooley, George Jones and Roy Clark, Marlin Payne, of Billings, Mont., and locally based Celebrity Concerts promoted.

Royal Winnipeg's Summer Tour

Winnipeg, March 31.

Royal Winnipeg Ballet closed out its local season on a strong note grossing $4,470 for three performances at the 1,465-seat Playhouse last week. Dancers now lay off for two months to the first week in June, when they return to rehearsals for the company's first summer season in its 24-year history.

Set is the Boston Arts Festival, July 1-4; Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, Lee, Mass., July 6-18; a one nighter at the U. of Vermont, Burlington, July 12; Confederation Memorial theatre opening, Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, July 20-25, and the Long Island Arts Festival, Hempstead, L.I., August 1-2.

Bookings next Oxtober and November include Butler U., Indianapolis, Ind.; Louisville, Ky.; St. Joseph's College, Cincinnati; Akron; Dayton; Columbus, Ohio, and Buffalo, N.Y.

Gotta Have Imagination As Talent Buyer, Says Vegas Sahara's Irwin

Las Vegas, March 31.

"Talent buyers can't wait for names to be handed them on a platter. You've got to go out and get them," according to Stan Irwin, v.p. and entertainment director of the Sahara Hotel here.

A talent buyer must comb all fields and use imagination, he added, in casing possibilities inherent in talent. So long as talent buyers in Vegas do this, then there will be no need to switch from the name formats.

This year, Irwin said, he'll present the first Vegas appearance of Johnny Carson, Bill Dana and Irene Ryan. Latter is Grandma on the "Beverly Hillbillies" tv series. Last season, Irwin brought in Sergio Franchi, Vaughn Meader, Shelley Berman and Frank Fontaine, among others.

New names are constantly presenting themselves, Irwin pointed out, but it takes a degree of imagination to envision how to convert them to particular situations.

Mitch Miller's Singalong Making Cafe Bow in Vegas

The Desert Inn, Las Vegas, will be the scene of the Mitch Miller singalong, starting July 17 for four weeks. It's the first cafe date by the conductor and topper of the "Sing Along with Mitch Miller" teleshow on CBS-TV. He'll have a cast of 30 on this layout.

The William Morris Agency is also negotiating for the Latin Casino, Cherry Hill, N.J., and Blinstrub's, Boston. Last season, Miller went out on several concert dates. The cafe stands are a change of pace.

Philly Arena Date in Sept. Bows 'Ireland on Parade'

Philadelphia, March 31.

First big show from Eire, "Ireland on Parade" is skedded to start American tour at the Arena here, Sept. 17-18. Patrick O'Hagan, who will be featured tenor with the show, said the package is being put together by Columbia Artists & Concerts.

The Irish troupe of 110 will include the Garda Band, the O'Connell School of Pipes, the Tara Boys Accordion Band, step dancers and other Emerald Isle headliners.

O'Hagan was making concert and club date appearances in this area over St. Patrick's holiday. Irish government and tourist bureau is greatly interested in "Ireland on Parade" but not sponsoring show, singer explained.

Election-Year Pinch on Chi Stripperies Takes New Twist With Burleycue Raid

Chicago, March 31.

Chi's election-year cudgeling of entertainment spots allegedly backed by the crime syndicate took a new twist last week with a raid on the Follies, one of the Windy City's two burlesque theatres. Although the cops have regularly been cracking down on the strip-and-clip saloons, it's the first time in years they have "busted" a pay-and-peek house.

Chuck Williams, local chief of the American Guild of Variety Artists, and variety performers here were taken aback at the arrest. The strip joint raids had been mainly based on soliciting for drinks and prostitution by B-girls.

The Follies raid was for "obscenity and lewd conduct," a seldom invoked ordinance in spots where there is no evidence of drink-cadging, prostitution or gambling. Williams said that he had set a meeting with the police to discuss the implications of the arrest.

Professional observers of the Chi strip scene were also intrigued by the fact the dancer in question was said to have broken the law only by removing her costume brassiere, a violation usually considered so minor as to pass unnoticed.

There has been a longstanding tacit agreement between the cops and the peelers that the only types of stage behavior considered obscene were bodily movements suggesting the sexual act, touching or caressing of the body or removal of a G-string. It would appear that the police have lowered their tolerance for titillation.

AGVA is also incensed that when the one stripper was arrested, the cops also picked up all of the other six peelers on the bill and booked them for the same offense. The union charges that this is "guilt by association"—if any guilt is proven.

The raid on the Follies theatre was preceded by a similar foray against the Crossroads, one of seven surviving strip joints, all in the downtown area. The allegation in this arrest was that plainclothes detective was solicited for prostitution. Lewd dancing was not at issue.

Blackpool Okays Amus. Park Complex; Rebuild Razed Rainbow Theatre

Blackpool, Eng., March 31.

The amusement park project skedded for this northwest England holiday town has been given the greenlight by the local council, which okayed a continuation of negotiations with Associated British Pictures Corp., Butlin's Ltd. and a private company controlled by showman Billy Butlin.

To be known as Ventureland, project will be located to the east of Stanley Park. In its early stages it will involve a holiday centre and an ABC drive-in cinema.

Following this first phase, there are plans for a zoological garden, golf driving range, an exhibition area, leisure gardens, a trotting track, and a sailing and boating area.

Meanwhile, the Rainbow Theatre, local vaudery recently destroyed by fire on the South Pier, is being rebuilt. A new fireproof theatre seating 1,300, and costing over $220,000 is due to open by June 14, starting date of a summer layout booked by Larry Parnes, London promoter.

WESTCHESTER DINNER THEATRE GOES BURLEY

Julie Wilsker, impresario of the Westchester Dinner Theatre in Yonkers, N. Y., which had been playing tab musicals, goes burlesque tomorrow (Thurs.) with Harold Minsky's "Midnight In Paris," with strippers April March and Julie Taylor as headliners and Charlie Robinson the top banana.

Linda Shoop, Carri Evans, Ronnie Pierce, Eva Nolan, Debbie Agin, Carolyn Fawcett, Geraldine Baron and Milton Douglas & Yolanda round out the company.

The seven-a-week policy will add a midnight show Saturdays. Dinner minimum $6 and $8.50 on weekends.

Vienna Ice Revue Inks World's Top Skating Duo

Vienna, March 31.

The Vienna Ice Revue has inked world's pair skating champions Marika Kilius and Hans Juergen Baeumler for its next production which will run from Sept. 1 until Aug. 31, 1965. Music is by Robert Stolz, and the revue is presented by Will Petter.

Miss Kilius, who's already recorded several disks in Germany and may do several vocals in the Vienna Ice Revue. Following their year's stint with the latter show, the Kilius-Baeumler duo will appear with "Hollywood on Ice."

Beaucoup Mixup In Ethel Merman Mont'l No-Show

Montreal, March 31.

Ethel Merman's scheduled two-nighter personal scheduled for Sunday and Monday (29-30) at Place des Arts, failed to come off, the non-appearance bringing a good deal of eyebrow-raising, rumor and almost everything except formal explanation.

Miss Merman's date was arranged by Ramah Productions, a neophyte impresario outfit, operated by Allan Roness. Deal also included a local B'nai B'rith lodge which had agreed to help fill the 2,900-seat house but which, it is understood, had not committed itself to any kind of a guarantee.

The only guarantee—again, it is understood, because Ramah's Roness flatly refused to give any kind of explanation—was to Miss Merman for a reported $7,000.

Everything seemed to be going well until approximately a week before the scheduled appearance, when reports began filtering through town that Miss Merman's engagement had been called off.

Reports turned out to be true, except that some of the people close to the situation said the engagement was postponed, rather than cancelled. On Wednesday (25), the Montreal Star carried an ad stating that the Merman show had been "postponed," and that ticket refunds were available at the boxoffice.

What had happened was still wrapped in a mass of confusion and contradictions at the weekend:

One source said that Miss Merman had thrown in the towel when she learned that only approximately 900 tickets had been sold; a second source said that attempts were being made to retrieve at least part of the $7,000 Merman guarantee; a third claimed that place des Arts was insisting that Ramah keep its commitment.

On Friday (27) the local VARIETY correspondent received a letter signed by Roness, stating that "We wish to advise you that the performance of Ethel Merman at Place des Arts has been postponed until such time as further arrangements can be made."

He did not say what other arrangements" were possible or likely.

New 'Establishment' Bows April 7 at Strollers, N. Y.

A new edition of "The Establishment," the British topical revue, is due April 7 at the Strollers, N.Y. Members of the original company who went back to England after a run will re-preem at the John Krimsky-Peter Cook spot.

Returnees are John Bird, Eleanor Bron and Jeremy Geidt, David Bately, who came in from London, will be a newcomer to this show. Carole Simpsom holds over.

The current Strollers' occupants, Peter Bellwood, Francis Bethencourt, Alexandra Berlin and Roddy Maude-Roxby, plus a replacement for Miss Simpson, went on tour following their Sunday (29) closing. There will be a week of preview nights before the new show's formal opening.

Kingston Trio SRO 13½G In Pitt's Syria Mosque

Pittsburgh, March 31.

The Kingston Trio played to a sellout at Syria Mosque last Saturday (21) for a gross of over $13,500. This is the fifth sellout in the Mosque this year. The Jackie "Moms" Mabley show sold out twice.

The others to go clean were Peter, Paul & Mary and the Nancy Wilson show. House seats 3,782. Two other pop shows scheduled are the Gloria Lynne, Slappy White and Art Blakey package on April 18, and Ray Charles on May 1.

150G Blaze Hits Cincy's Coney Isl.

Cincinnati, March 31.

Damage and mopup expense to Coney Island caused by the latest Ohio River flood will be close to $150,000, the heaviest since the record 1937 rampage, said Ralph Wachs, general manager of the multimillion dollar amusement park.

Unless Ol' Man River does an encore splurge, as rarely happenes, the cleanup job is scheduled to permit the first preview weekend April 25 and the regular season opening May 16.

Water was seven feet deep over the spacious dance floor of Moonlite Gardens, necessitating usual sanding and refinishing, a routine chore. But the water came up so rapidly that unremoved chairs in the cafeteria floated and punctured holes in the ceiling, causing the most serious damage.

The flood will not delay completion of a new $170,000 mile-long train ride over the lake and circling the park, Wachs stated. The ride will have two 1863 model engines, each pulling a 70-passenger car.

As in other seasons the previews will have local band of Wally Johnson, Charlie Kehrer and Jimmy James for dancing, with name combos for the regular session.

Jail 2 Twin Cities Dance Studio Execs for Waltzing Elderly Women Out of $$

Minneapolis, March 31.

Prior to meting out two prison sentences and putting four other defendants on probation, Federal Judge G. H. Nordbye characterized as "ruthless" and "calloused" the sales methods and techniques used in the fraudulent operation of the two Twin Cities dance studios with which the convicted men had been associated.

These devices to bilk elderly women into signing contracts for dance lessons, were contemptible, as charged by the Government, the 80-year-old judge told the offenders.

Sentence will be pronounced this week on two other of the dance studios' employes who were prosecuted by the Government and found guilty by a jury after a long trial.

Stanley Friedman, Old Bridge, N.J., the studios' owner, received two years in prison. Ralph O'Grady, a resident of a local suburb who had been an assistant studio manager, was given a stayed 18-month prison sentence with the provision that he be released after five months and then be on probation for three years.

Friedman's two Twin Cities dance studios, which now have landed him in prison, eventually went broke, but before they did so the Government alleged that scores of this area's unmarried women were defrauded out of $500,000.

Persian Room, N. Y., Sets Next Season Acts

The Plaza Hotel, N.Y., has inked the majority of its talent for next season. New semester at the Persian Room will preem Sept. 9 with Xavier Cugat & Abbe Lane. Kay Starr follows Oct. 7, then Robert Goulet, Nov. 4; Jack Jones, Dec. 2; Barry Sisters, Dec. 23. Lisa Kirk and Carol Lawrence are tentatively slated to follow in that order.

Inked for the Plaza's summer season are Monique Van Vooren, July 6; Mamie Van Doren, July 27, and the Barry Sisters, Aug. 17.

Joe Wells Maps Largest Musical Rep Theatre for Vegas' Thunderbird

Las Vegas, March 31.

The largest permanent musical comedy repertory theatre in the U. S. is being planned for the Thunderbird Hotel here, according to Joe Wells, the inn's president. He is plotting a group which will be geared to change shows every eight weeks with new principals. Hits may be held over for longer periods.

The permanent company, said Wells, will be made possible by concessions from Actors Equity which reduced the $325 minimum current at the inn to $300. Equity is also permitting longer rehearsal periods. Wells added that if Equity had not made the concessions, he was prepared to revert to a name policy.

He stated that with the former scale, the Thunderbird was being penalized by hiring Equity members inasmuch as the American Guild of Variety Artists, which has jurisdiction in most Las Vegas inns, has a lower chorus scale.

Monte Proser, the Thunderbird producer and entertainment director, is currently in New York, lining up properties and talking to talent. Some of the legit hits of former days will be modernized, with new writing and new arrangements. It's likely that there will be simultaneous performances and rehearsals for the new shows.

The hotel, according to Wells, gets the best reaction if shows are changed every eight weeks. The great exception, of course, was "Flower Drum Song" which had two runs at the house. There was scarcely an empty seat during its first 11-month run. The current T-Bird occupant is "Anything Goes," which Wells said is also doing well.

However, it's been found that the inn has to forage continually for new business with longrunning shows. With more frequent

(Continued on page 72)

Inter-Island Chain Preps 600-Room Waikiki Hotel

Honolulu, March 31.

Inter-Island Resorts chain will share ownership of a 400-to-600 room hotel that will be built between the Moana and Royal Hawaiian hotels with Roy C. Kelley, Hawaii's major hotel man.

Inter-Island also will operate the hotel, tentatively called the Surf and Sand, with construction starting this fall. It will be Waikiki's initial Inter-Island operation, chain hitherto having confined itself to Kauai and Hawaii islands.

Meantime, work has started on a third luxury hotel for Maui Island. Resort, the Kaanapali Beach hotel, will go up near the Royal Lahaina and Sheraton-Maui and be built and operated by Leonard Goldman and Michael Robinson, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Initial unit, projected at $3,000,000, will have 160 rooms.

Show Biz High On Di Carlo, Gotham's New License Chief

Show biz, coffeehouses and particularly the Times Square taxi dancehalls look kindlier at New York's new License Commissioner Joseph Caesar DiCarlo than just resigned Bernard J. O'Connell (elevated to a judgship by Mayor Wagner) who kayoed licenses for eight Broadway ballrooms, nixed a cabaret license for that "bunny" hutch known as the Playboy Club, threatened sexsationalizing West 42d St. and near-Times Square grind houses with license trouble if they didn't tone down their lurid advertising, and the like.

Di Carlo is said to like coffee houses as "incubators for future Metropolitan Opera tenors" and is reported to be inclined to give fun-loving New Yorkers and visitors more "latitude" be it ballrooms with tantalizing "hostess dance partners." However, he will be no more a pushover than predecessor O'Connell where the letter and spirit of existing laws must be interpreted.

Meantime the Parisian, Majestic and Honeymoon Lane taxi dancehalls ordered closed last week are still open under a show-cause Supreme Court order, and O'Connell, before exiting as License Commissioner, also kayoed two more which presumably will also recourse to the courts for ultimate determination.

Baker Jr. Taking Over Hialeah, Atlantic City

Atlantic City, March 31.

Art Baker Jr., who last season acquired Schillig's Escort bar and operated it under the name of the Stardust Lounge, has taken over the nearby Hialeah.

Stardust was gutted by an early morning fire last fall and spot has since been razed. Baker will book acts to draw seasonal crowd, aiming at the younger set, generally following the talent pattern set in other years.

Hialeah is owned by William G. (Rickey) Rich who operated it last season, taking over after Harry Levy, Wildwood nightclub operator, had it for two years and had been forced into receivership.

CMA Ups Danny Welkes

Danny Welkes has been given veepee chevrons at Creative Management Associates (Freddie Fields-David Begelman). Welkes, with the agency for nearly two years, has been working in the television and variety fields.

Welkes originally was with General Artists Corp. and went to MCA. At the foldo of that office, he returned to GAC. After a brief term in the video sector, he resigned to join CMA.

Hawaii's Proposed 25c 'Head Tax' on Tourists Gets No Hotelmen Leis

Honolulu, March 31.

Prospect of a 25c daily "head tax" on tourists has hotel men in a frenzy.

Idea was recommended to the legislature in a "confidential" report prepared by a U. of Hawaii professor, who contends such a specific, undisguised tax "certainly would not make people feel exploited."

Hotel ops feel it would be a nuisance tax that would sabotage efforts to lure more visitors.

Typical comments:

Roy C. Kelley, owner-operator of Waikiki's largest number of hotel rooms, headquartered at the Reef hotel: "Ridiculous! Tourists already are paying their fair share of taxes in the 3½% gross income tax which is added to hotel bills."

Richard E. Holtzman, of Sheraton Hawaii: "A dangerous precedent."

Proposal was disclosed in a tiff over Hawaii Visitors Bureau funds. Rep. Howard Miyake, House majority leader, claims tourism no longer needs the type of subsidy it's been getting, roughly $4 in State money for every $1 contributed by private industry (essentially hotels, carriers, tour ops and restaurants).

22-YEAR OLD GIRL SELLS 'ICE CAPADES'

Troy, N.Y., March 31.

"Ice Capades" is touring with a 22-year old girl publicist, Carolyn Perkio. She is drawing plenty of space both for the show and for herself as a representative of it. This latter consideration has an echo in a number of touters travelling for films where neither the stars nor other talent consent to tour and the publicist has to make with the personal color.

Miss Perkio majored in journalism at San Jose State College in California where she broke in on the amusement page trade by handling films, video and other entertainment media on the Torrence Press.

Troy was the 45th town in which Miss Perkio has perked in the past 16 months.

Musicians' Salary Tiff Closes Cafes In P.R. Americana, Ponce de Leon Inns

By AL DINHOFER

San Juan, March 31.

Two major San Juan hotels have closed their nightclubs and another three inns will either curtain or fold their nitery operations by April 15 due to wage scale conflicts with local branch of the Musicians' Union. The Mardi Gras supper club in Hotel Ponce de Leon, seating about 200, closed "indefinitely" Saturday (29). Hotel Americana's Club La Copa closed earlier this month.

Roberto Bouret, Puerto Rico Hotel Assn. executive director, placed the blame on the American Federation of Musicians.

He declined to specify which of the other major hotels will curtail night club operations. (Contracts with hotels expire Dec. 1, 1964. Discussions concerning the minimum number of musicians to be used in each club are now being carried out.) Individual current minimum, Bouret said, are at $126 a week. The union will not allow the top-rated clubs to reduce the number of musicians used in each club.

"I think it's time the musicians' union started looking reality in the face," Bouret declared. "It is better to have 10 musicians employed than 17 unemployed." He was referring to what he termed "an iron-clad union requirement" to maintain 17 musicians in all clubs of Class-A rated hotels.

A spokesman for the Condado Beach Hotel said the Fiesta Room will remain open during the summer season, but tentative plans are to close the club two nights a week. During the heavy winter tourist season, the club is normally closed only one night. The Sheraton, Caribe Hilton and El San Juan expect to keep their clubs open.

Bouret said "there are twice as many entertainment spots in San Juan compared to two years ago, and we've had more than a 50% increase in musicians wages since then. There just hasn't been enough increase in business to keep the nightclubs alive."

Dancing Back in Pitt Inn With Hilton's Silhouettes

Pittsburgh, March 31.

Downtown dancing in a Pitt hotel on a steady basis returned yesterday (Monday) when the Silhouettes began an engagement at the Pittsburgh Hilton. Lauri Winters is vocalist with the group.

Dancing will be from nine p.m. to one a.m. Monday through Saturday in the hotel's King's Garden room. Only other room offering dancing every night in the downtown area is the Pinup Lounge, which is on the site of the old Copa Club.

1964 Fair's Hotel Rms.

Continued from page 1

Bureau and the N.Y. 1964-65 World's Fair Housing Bureau, the smoke signals being generated is a "guarantee that there will always be a room available", even with full knowledge that many conventions had cancelled in '63 (creating a general hotel slump) with an eye to converging on Gotham this year or in '65.

Hickey's organization theorizes that of the 50,000,000 transients expected in 1964, only half will require hotel-motel lodging, and that a large proportion of the latter will be houseguesting with friends and relatives. Even the Shrine convention, the peak New York event, will require but 20% of the available 100,000 rooms.

The Hotel Assn. of New York will work in rapport so that price and location requests will be shunted among one another; i.e. a Times Square pop priced hotel request will not shunt the query to the posh Regency or Carlyle, but will have a realistic concept of requirements from families and modest-budgeted Fair visitors.

Palisades

Continued from page 70

terested in Palisades' rides than the show under the canvas. They've seen it all on television.

The park had been the site for such circuses as Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros., Hunt Bros. and Hamid-Morton. But for the smallfry (& their elders) who still have a yen for animal acts, Palisades has come up with a special free attraction that includes Torrelli's Dog & Pony Circus and a trained goat turn billed as Tex & His Hillbillies.

While the fun centre has 10 new rides and a new showboat funhouse (replacing one that burned down last year), among other fresher features, promotion and tieups are the key tools that bring people to an amusement park. Publicity director Sol Abrams is supervising a flock of stunts that range all the way from the park's Miss American Teen-Ager Contest to a Diaper Derby.

Other prime lures are tieups with disk jockeys and supermarkets as well as merchandising angles with such firms as Peter Pan peanut butter. Opening day, for example saw WABC platter pilot Bruce Morrow emceeing a free show which included the r&r turns of The Chimes, The Dubs, The Tokens, The Paragons, The Vidells and Vito & The Salutations. Appearing as special guest stars were tv's Dagmar and songstress Bernadette Castro.

Easter Sunday had WWRL's Negro disk jockey Hal Jackson on hand with a similar show comprising The Beatle-ettes, Lenny Welch, Doris Troy et al. Particularly effective gatewise is a tieup with Shop-Rite Supermarkets. A register tape of any purchase at a Shop-Rite store entitles the bearer to free admission every Monday and Friday along with three rides and a gift.

Visa Snag, Cafe 'Problems' Snafu Earl Grant's Debut At Copacabana in Tokyo

Tokyo, March 31.

After arriving here a day late because of a visa snag during his Hong Kong layover, Earl Grant gave an abbreviated performance on the opening evening of a two-night booking at this city's Copacabana. Result was that the $5.56 cover charge had to be scratched from at least some of the tabs.

Grant attributed his walkoff to "all sorts of nightclub problems." He claimed malfunctions of the organ, speaker and microphone along with an under-rehearsed band. "I usually don't go on unless everything is right," he said, "but I felt I had to go out and do something."

The following night everything was to Grant's satisfaction. He did a 90-minute show to enthusiastic response before moving across the street for six nights at the New Latin Quarter.

Grant, traveling with his manager-drummer brother Bill, had upset the Copa management by coming here a day late because of delay in obtaining his visa. Billy Banks was enlisted to perform at the club that night.

Grant is here for two weeks. He's been on the road since Jan. 25, playing Europe, Australia and Manila prior to local dates.

Racial Issue in Mpls. Dancehall License Nix

Minneapolis, March 31.

The city council here has been charged with racial discrimination by a colored woman who has been denied a license to operate a dancehall in her uptown barbecue. She alleges that such bias is the basis for the opposition.

What bears out this contention, she claims, is the fact that a dancehall license has been granted to "Mr. Lucky's," a teenage dancehall across the street from her establishment, owned by whites and catering to white patronage.

It's being pointed out that the police licensing section has reported no objections to her spot, but had brought to the council's attention instances of troubles at "Mr. Lucky's."

A Negro minister is one of the delegation that will confront the council license committee this week. He says he's not supporting the license in itself, but will come to fight any racial discrimination at the local City Hall.

Chartoff, Winkler Form New Personal Mgt. Firm

A new personal management firm, Chartoff-Winkler Associates, has been started by Robert Chartoff and Irwin Winkler. Latter had been with the William Morris Agency for some time, while Chartoff has been in personal management for several years.

Clients on their roster include Jackie Mason, Stiller & Meara, Pamela Tiffin and The Coronados.

Joe Wells

Continued from page 71

changes, it would be easier to get some of the heavy plungers to return.

The day is past, Wells declared, when the casino can be called upon to subsidize every department in a Las Vegas hotel. The trend in all inns, he said, is to make every department self-sustaining. Even the cafe rooms, most of which lose heavily, can be made to support themselves. The imposition of a $5 minimum for all shows has indicated that it can be done. Most of the Vegas rooms, he pointed out, have sufficient capacity to be self-supporting.

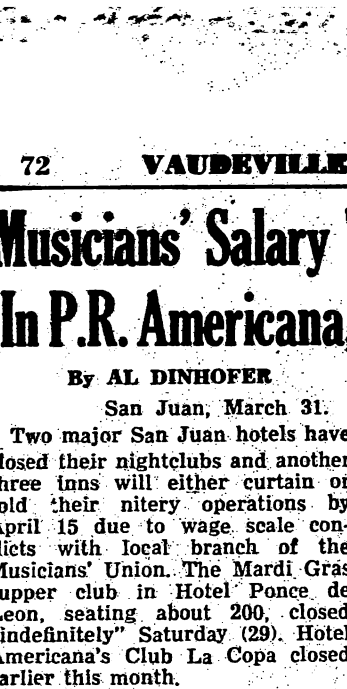
Wells also asserted that the era of the old Vegas salaries is nearing an end. The introduction of legit shows as well as the big girlie shows has all but eliminated the non-productive headliners. The competition is on he added, for only a comparatively few attractions.

He emphasized that most hotelmen here are looking for economies. He cited the case of The Flamingo which dropped its chorus line. The Sands also dropped the line for the Nat King Cole engagement. Neither lost business because of the absence of a chorus, he said.

In his own case, Wells was able to pare the member of chorus boys and girls in the present run of "Anything Goes" for the winter when business drops normally.

Wells is also mapping plans for a high rise building and convention hall. But no construction date has been set as yet.

Hot Springs



Continued from page 2

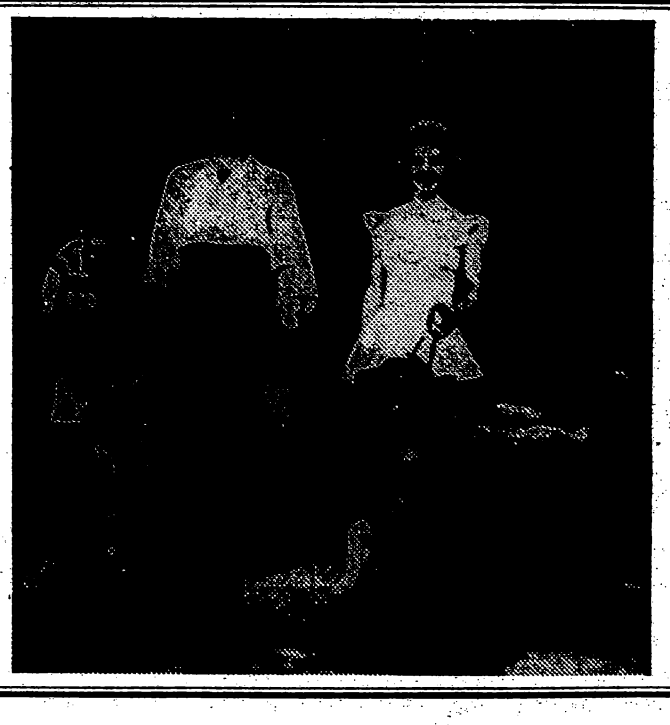
tection clauses against the sudden demise of gaming. In other cases where there is no such clause, percenters have stated that they will cooperate with the spot owners by persuading acts to give the casinos a new date, perhaps after the November elections.

The American Guild of Variety Artists has declared that it cannot make any blanket rulings on Hot Springs. Every act that processes a claim against an Hot Springs operator will have a hearing set up, and judgment will be made on individual cases according to Hal Bongard, in charge of the AGVA claims department.

The loss of Hot Springs, is the second important gambling area to fall within the past few years. Northern Kentucky, around the Cincinnati area, which had several expensive talent users in Covington, Southbridge and other nearby cities, was shuttered as the result of a grand jury investigation.

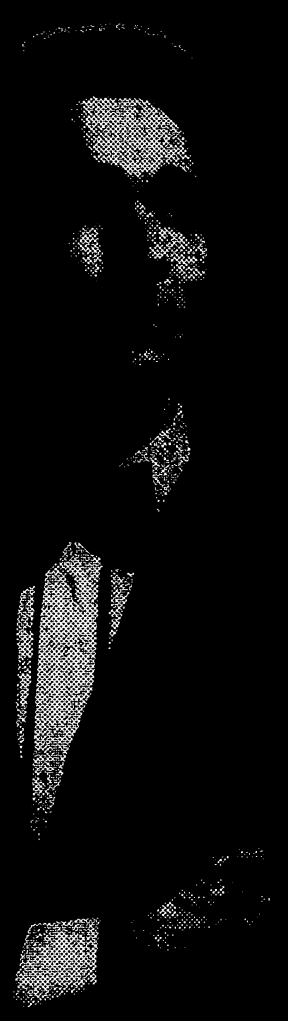
CONCLUDED NATION WIDE TOUR IN THEATRES
America's Greatest Exotic Dancing Star

Adele Latour
"Anatomy Award Winner '64"
For Engagements in Theatres, Supper Clubs and Fairs Contact
KAPLAN AGENCY, INC.
Suite 804, Palace Theatre Bldg.
1564 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
PLaza 7-7247



GAY'S GAGS
Published Monthly. Topical gags. Original one liners. Jokes. Over 300. Sample Copy $2. $12 per Year. Six back issues (latest) $5; 12 back issues (latest) $9; 40 back issues (first) $22.
Send checks to EDDIE GAY
P.O. Box 181, New York, N. Y. 10023

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
JAMES STEWART?
OR IS IT JAMES STEWART



AL FISHER AND LOU MARKS
WATCH US—SAT. APRIL 4th
THE JOEY BISHOP SHOW
NBC-TV
Currently
THREE RIVERS INN
Syracuse, N. Y.
Pers. Mgt.: BOB SCHWARTZ
166 W. 75 St., New York, N. Y.
TR 4-3943

"THE COMEDIAN"
The Only Real Monthly PROFESSIONAL GAG SERVICE
THE LATEST — THE GREATEST — THE MOST-UP-TO-DATEST
Now in its 158th issue, containing stories one-liners, poemettes, song titles, hecklers, audience stuff, monologs, parodies, double gags, bits ideas, intros, impressions and impersonations, political, interruptions, Thoughts of the Day, Humorous Views of the News, Vignettes, etc. (20 Pages).
$25 YR.—SINGLE ISSUES $3
Foreign
$35 YR.—SINGLE ISSUES $4
No C.O.D.'s
BILLY GLASON, 200 W. 54th St.
New York City 10019, CO 5-1316

Janet and Frank Burger present:
BURGER'S ANIMAL REVUE
featuring the only Performing AFGHANS in the world
Currently RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL, New York (EASTER SHOW)
(Thanks to Russell Markert)
(JULY 27 - AUG. 12) HARRAH'S, Lake Tahoe, with ED SULLIVAN
ED SULLIVAN says:
"One of my favorite acts."
3 times Ed Sullivan Show (TV)
ED RISMAN, E. M. Loew,
Latin Quarter, New York, 1963:
"Truly a show-stopping act."
"VARIETY," March 25, 1964:
"Easy clicks . . the durable BURGER'S ANIMAL REVUE . . . Burger's potpourri of pooches and ponies is the standard format of humorous animal deering-do and a worthy component of show biz vaudeville." Pit.
BOOKINGS: ROSE ADAIR THEATR. ENTR.
250 West 57th Street, New York 19
CI 6-1300 JU 2-1957-58

"The SOUND that CHARMS..."

VARIETY March 25, 1964

Living Room, N.Y.

"Alberto Rochi's opener gives the show strength. He is a vigorous singer with sufficient ham in him to reach out and give color to all his offerings.

"Rochi, sometimes accompanying himself on the guitar and more frequently relying on the skilled Bob Ferro Trio, makes a strong impression with songs reverently and passionately delivered and received equally as strong."

Jose.

ALBERTO ROCHI

Currently SRO
AT THE LIVING ROOM
NEW YORK

Publicity: LARRY GORE

Exclusive Management: RAY EVANS
119 West 57th St., New York 19, N. Y.
Circle 6-2230

Ringling Circus Bows at Garden, N.Y., With 280G Advance for 48-Day Run

By ROBERT B. FREDERICK

"The Year of the Animals" could well be the title of this year's version of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, which officially ushered spring into New York last Tuesday (24). Opening at Madison Square Garden for a 48-day stand, current version has as large and as varied a collection of beasts as anyone could wish.

Indeed, they overshadow the 18 new imported acts that get bigger but not necessarily more deserved billing. There is an overall excellence to these turns this year but only two can be considered showstoppers. Among the animal acts, it's Charly (sic) Baumann's eight tigers and, of the others, the literally hair-raising bit by Miss Chrys.

With 13,000 on hand for opening (reported by Ringling reps to be biggest firstnight in Holy Week), the "greatest show on earth" started its Garden stand with an advance of more than $280,000. Biz on trek up the coast from Venice, Fla., was generally up 20% but circus officials could not expalin cause, some believing renewed interest in the sawdust-and-tinsel medium to be result of many things—use of circus acts on tv, visit of Moscow Circus, etc.

The Baumann act, which Ed Sullivan may try to use on his program although the huge cage presents tough technical problem, has the young German trainer working eight Bengal and Siberian cats with whip only. The whip apparently isn't needed either as he frequently drops it.

Baumann loses some impact by necessity of working equipment himself (wonder what the stagehands' union is doing about this?) but injects considerable humor by making one of cats a comic. He saves biggest routine for closing when he exits cats by making them jump fence to get out. Then, to "Walking My Baby Back Home," he escorts the biggest and most formidable member along exit route only to have it open a gate and stroll out alone.

Miss Chrys, daughter of juggler Bert Holt, also juggles but while airborne (or as someone put it, "hairborne"), hanging by her long, heavy tresses. For finale she's whipped to top of arena and down again while juggling a set of Indian clubs.

Animal-laden program includes Jack Joyce's camels worked by Tamuir, Mr. Dean's elephant-zebra-llama trio, Hugo Schmitt's assorted llama-dog-pony group worked by Miss Gena. Others, and they all are very good to outstanding, are horses worked by Madame Lapowska, Charles Moroski and Jack Joyce, Victor Julian's dogs, Ethel Jennier's seals (seals have been absent for some years), Kubler's chimpanzees, Kirby's chimps and, in its way an animal act—The Hanneford Troupe. George Hanneford Jr.'s clowning gymnastics get the usual heavy response.

Working against potential terrific impact of Doval The Great's high-wire stint was unexplained poor lighting. Whether of the artist's doing or a technical mistake, he was top and backlighted (with colored lights, yet) while on wire, putting one side completely in shadow.

There was also considerable hedging in approach (thought at first to be the old maneuver of pretending to be uncertain) but continuing to point where suggested stunt was abandoned. Doval's proficiency is evident, so flaws will probably be quickly corrected.

Other aerial groups include La Toria, Senor Antonio, Aerialetta, Rosems Duo, Three Melba Sisters, The Flying Gibsons, Flying Alexanders and Flying Waynes (causing one ringside humorist to suggest third act should be Flying Martinis).

The Georgian Trio top the balancing presentations with their shoulder-balancing routines. Also good were The Monroes, The Dam Bros., The Yong Bros., The Rigettis and the Del Morels.

As usual, program included ever popular juggling and tumbling routines. Of former tops were Bert Holt (who works while hanging by his teeth) and Blue & Yvette. Heading tumbles were Slayman Ali's Arabians.

Biggest letdown is the production numbers, which usually capsule more of the circus' glamorous appeal into a few minutes than any other phase. They are efficiently but unimaginatively staged.

"Welcome to the Fair," programmed as "dedicated to the N.Y. World's Fair," is just another of those many-nation, brightly-costumed parades, suggesting more of the Columbian Exposition than the 1964 spread. "Hannibal Crossing The Alps" is interesting in that Captain Hugo Schmitt's drab-colored elephants consistently upstage their bright, bespangled human attendants. Other displays are of same pattern.

Surprisingly, the Madison Square Garden stand's heavy ticket sale (always its biggest) hasn't been affected by announced Fair-long presentation by Ringling of another (and different) unit. This may also be the year of the circus.

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus

John Ringling North presentation, staged and directed by Richard Barstow; costumes, floats created and executed by Max Weldy; aerial display, Antoinette Concello; performance director, Robert Dover; musical director, Merle Evans; lighting, George Chamberty. With Charly Baumann, Kubler's Chimpanzees, Kirby's Chimpanzees, Blue & Yvette, Aerialetta, The Monroes, Dam Bros., Rosems Duo, Victor Julian's Dogs, Yong Bros., The Rigettis, Jennier's Seals, Three Melba Sisters, Aerial Rolandos, Flying Gibsons, Flying Alexanders, Flying Waynes, Bert Holt, Miss Chrys, Jack Joyce's Camels, Schmitt's Mixed Group of Animals, Charles & Gena Moroski, Capt. Hugo Schmitt's Elephants, Jack Joyce's Ponies, The Great Doval, George Hanneford Jr. Troupe of Bareback Riders, The Droguetts, Slayman, Ali's Arabian Tumblers, Bokara Troupe, The Bisbinis, The Georgians, The Del Morals, Mr. Andre, Senor Antonio, The Freddis, Paul Jung, Lou Jacobs, Otto Griebling, Freddie Freeman, Frankie Saluto, Prince Paul, Dennis Stevens, Albert White, Jackie LeClaire. Opened at Madison Square Garden N.Y., March 24, '64; $6.50 top.

No B.O. Beat

Continued from page 70

well batoned by Slide Hampton, starred in the cleanup spot, doing eight of his disclicks in the last half hour of a program advertised for 8 p.m., which went up at 8:25 and came down at 10. Built like a middleweight, Price socks out the songs, well backed by the 14-piece band with Jimmy Tyler on sax outstanding.

Del Satins, if that is the spelling, since no program was available except the $1 souvenir booklet, is mainly such modern folk dances as the Popeye, the Hully-Gully, the Slop, the Mashed Potato, and its accompanying side dish, the Hot Pastrami.

Linda Scott, of the Godfrey show, pleased with several oldies and there were a few moments of excitement and unintentional humor when The Roaches, an Ozark version of The Beatles, did their electronic worst. The swivel mike kept swinging away from the vocalist, who also was occupied with operating what may possibly be the world's first electric washboard.

Other "Beat the Beatles" competitors were The Detours, all hair, flashy jackets and the kind of guitar music which must make Ben Franklin curse the day he went kite-flying.

Cole apologized for the non-appearance of stars Freddie Cannon, April Stevens and Nino Tempo, none of whom showed for a variety of reasons.

It was the bright idea of publicist Max Eisen that the reviewers invite a pair of teenagers along with them, presumably with the idea that through the youngsters the aislesitters would get a more favorable reaction to the "Big Beat" show. As far as he could ascertain, this critic was the only one who followed through. His two 17-year-old companions were not as charitable as he. "It was like when a few kids come over to the house and try to sing and it doesn't come out good," Margarite and Sally opined. Leve.

Vaude, Cafe Dates

New York

Pat Woodell, of the "Petticoat Junction" teleshow, added starter at the Copacabana April 16 . . . Ken Greengrass signed the Good Guys of WMCA to a personal management contract . . . Kate Fenyes bows at the Chardas tomorrow (Thurs.) . . . Tony Lavelli set for concert dates in Youngstown for three days starting April 5; Dillon, S.C., April 9, and Rochester for three days starting April 15 . . . Stan Poses joined the Floyd Greenfield & Lutz & Loeb personal management office.

Morty Gunty into the Palm Shore, Brooklyn, April 29 . . . Frankie Galen pacted for the Mardi Gras, Baltimore, beginning April 6 . . . Larry Wilde preemed at the Trinidad Hilton last night (Tues.) . . . Maggie Worth & Al Valenti set for the cast of Mike Todd's "America Be Seated" to play the New York World's Fair . . . Ray Moore and Joe Candello Trio current at Michelangelo's . . . Gene & Francesca down for the Savoy, London, starting May 11 . . . Cal Claude to the Sportsmen's Show, Bangor, Me., today (Wed.) for three days . . . Gretchen Wyler to alternate in the lead spot for the N. Y. World's Fair "Wonder World" with Chita Rivera.

Sherry Britton and Gino Toneiti set for the Living Room starting April 20 . . . Syd Rubin new personal manager for singer India Adams . . . Cye Baron, who formerly operated the Composer Club, opened the Composer Lyricist Club last week. Initial bill includes Cy Walter, Nancy Steele, Bernard Peiffer and Tal Farlow.

Herman Honigsberg strolling violin unit into the Monsignore Sunday (29) . . . Gisela & Terry Hend from Germany and Patricia Pauley from England arrived in the U.S. over the weekend to join the Dick Button-Paul Feigay "Ice Travaganza" at the N.Y. World's Fair . . . Wayne Storm started at the Blue Angel, Monday (30) . . . Peter Voss rejoined "Ice Capades" after an absence of two years.

Van Johnson shifted from General Artists Corp. to the William Morris Agency . . . Steve Allen signed with Creative Management Associates . . . Joanna Lester replaced Patricia Marand in the lead role of the Thunderbird, Las Vegas, presentation of "Anything Goes" . . . Edie Adams to play the Shoreham, Washington, May 12 following her Hotel Waldorf-Astoria engagement, which began Monday (30).

Joe Glaser, head of Associated Booking Corp., off to Dallas . . . Sophie Tucker into Holiday House, Pittsburgh, Aug. 24 . . . Joe Greco lined up for the Queen Elizabeth, Montreal, April 14 . . . Lilly Cavell to the Viennese Lantern April 4, with a new act written for her by Evelyn Love Cooper . Kathy Keegan to the Living Room April 6.

Marc London and Felicia Saunders into the Bon Soir April 14 . . . Shelly Davis, who ops the Crescendo, L.A., in town scouting talent. Ditto George Marienthal of Mr. Kelly's-London House in Chi.

Kansas City

George Kirby flies to Australia following his stand at Eddy's ending April 11. He opens at a hostelry in Sydney April 20 for three weeks, then hops back for a stint at Harrah's Lake Tahoe . . . Don Roth Trio moves out of the Kansas City Club to resume its annual spring and summer stand at The Elms, Excelsior Springs, opening March 30 for the season. Grover Ruwe does his ventrilo turn at The Elms, weekend of April 4. Joe Ward, folksinger, up from St. Louis for weekend April 11 . . . Al Hirt and crew into Municipal Auditorium for a one-nighter April 4 . . . "Ice Capades" in its annual stand in the Auditorium April 6 for a week.

Pact Hall, Macgregor For Down Under Tour

Glasgow, March 31.

Robin Hall and Jimmie Macgregor, Scot folk singers, known in the U.K. via their singing in the BBC-TV program "To-Night," have been pacted to tour Australia and New Zealand from April 13 to June 22.

Duo is set to star in six programs for Southern Television, Eng., on their return. Overall title is "Robin and Jimmie with Rhythm and Blues." In August, they start in another 26 "White Heather Club" tv shows for the BBC in Scotland.

TONY LAVELLI
ONE MAN SHOW
April 5, 6, 7: Youngstown, O.
(Reos Music Studio—3rd Date in 12 Months)
April 9: Dillon, S. C.
(Community Concert Assn.)
April 15, 16, 17: Rochester, N. Y.
(Walker Music Studio)

MAGICIANS!
Professional, Amateur, Hobbyists—
READ
GENII, The Conjurors' Magazine
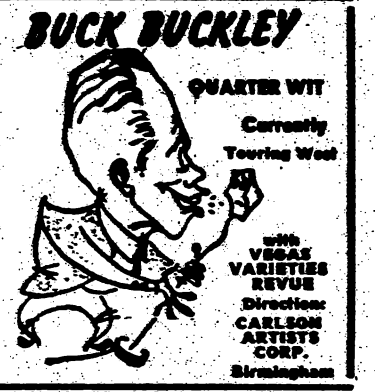
A Monthly Magazine of Magic Tricks, Articles, News, Magic for Sale. 40 Pages—Published Since 1936
Wm. Larsen (Jr.) Editor
By Subscription Only
$6.00 per Year
Sample Back Copy 25c
GENII
P.O. BOX 36068-V
Los Angeles 36 California



"JOKE OF THE WEEK" CLUB
"UNUSUAL . . . DELIGHTFUL!"
Subscription . . . $1.00 Monthly
(Yearly . . . $10.00)
Enclose remittance with name and address.
LARRY SYDNEY
P.O. Drawer E
New Hyde Park, L. I., N. Y.

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
ORSON WELLES?
OR IS IT ORSON WELLES

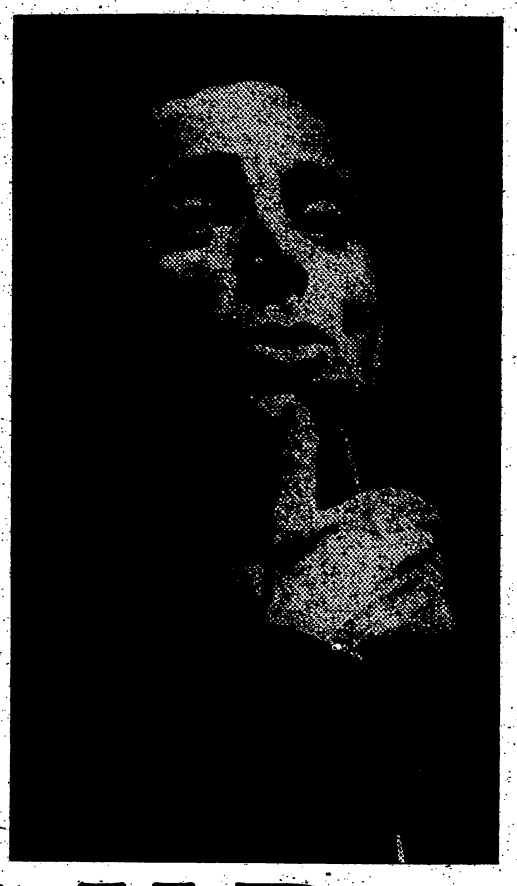
FANTASTIC BOXOFFICE!
JOAN BRANDON
"WORLD'S GREATEST HYPNOTIST"
PALM BEACH, FLA. JACKSONVILLE, FLA.
DAYTONA BEACH, FLA. PENSACOLA, FLA.
ORLANDO, FLA. MOBILE, ALA.
Currently: ONE WOMAN SHOWS
Public Relations: J. Brandon, 450 West 24th Street, New York 11, N. Y. CHelsea 3-8387

NOW
NICK LUCAS
and the TROUBADORS
HARRAH'S Reno
Thru May 6

BUCK BUCKLEY
QUARTER WIT
Currently
Touring West
with
VEGAS VARIETIES REVUE
Direction:
CARLSON ARTISTS CORP.
Birmingham

RICKI DUNN
IS A THIEF!
Dir.: Harry Orchon, 203 N. Wabash Av.
DEarborn 2-0796, Chicago, Illinois

BILLY GLASON'S FUN-MASTER
PROFESSIONAL
COMEDY MATERIAL
For every branch of theatricals
"WE SERVICE THE 'STARS!'"
35 Gag Size $15, plus $1 postage
FOREIGN: 25 for $30
• 3 Parody Books, per Bk. $10 •
• 5 Blackout Books 1-2-3 Each $25 •
No. 4 for $35—No. 5 for $30
• Minstrel (white face) Budget $25 •
• "How to Master the Ceremonies" •
$3 PER COPY NO C.O.D.'s
BILLY GLASON
200 W. 54th St., N.Y.C. 10019 CO 5-1316
(We TEACH M.C'ing and COMEDY! (Let a real Professional train you!



Larry Ward Quartet
EMBERS SUPPER CLUB, Ft. Wayne, Ind.
March 30th
VAN ORMAN HOTEL, Ft. Wayne, Ind.
4th Return
Associated Booking Corp, Chicago, Illinois

WILL TRAVEL? FAR EAST?
Contact
GEKKO PROMOTIONS
Booking Throughout F.E.
Shiba P.O. Box 93 Cable:
Tokyo, Japan DANSAW TOKYO

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE
That I claim exclusive patent rights on my original BUTTERFLY DANCE. And I intend to prosecute any infringement to the full extent of the law.
NIRSKA

FRANCE's FOREMOST SINGER and COMPOSER

CHARLES AZNAVOUR

A new charmer for those who prefer amour without the sugar-coating.
—DAILY HERALD-LONDON

His voice is the big surprise. His singing is strong, with great feeling and rhythm. He caresses, he growls, and he punches a song, throwing all of his tiny body and large heart into every line.
—NEWSWEEK

Aznavour is the perfect salesman for his own work; his words are the plea of any poor devil, sung in any poor devil's voice. In America, Aznavour has just started to make his pitch. His S.R.O. Carnegie Hall concert was a strong beginning.
—TIME

The sum total was a thoroughly exciting professional evening which left little question as to why Aznavour is one of the top interpreters of songs on the Continent today.
—BILLBOARD

He has a dash and elan that rivets the viewer and a rhythmic sense that surmounts the lingo barrier. It's easy to see what makes him a top draw in France and he is sure to do very well in further American showcasings.
—VARIETY

APRIL 4th
CARNEGIE HALL
NEW YORK
presented by FELIX G. GERSTMAN
SOLD OUT

APRIL 7
OTTAWA
Canada

APRIL 8
QUEBEC
Canada

APRIL 9
TORONTO
Canada

APRIL 10
MONTREAL
Canada

APRIL 17th
Civic Auditorium
LOS ANGELES
presented by HAL ZEIGER

APRIL 18
Masonic Auditorium
SAN FRANCISCO
presented by HAL ZEIGER

Exclusive Manager
J. L. MARQUET
11 Rue D'Artois
Paris

Representative in USA
HENRI GOLDGRAN
International Performers Corporation
342 Madison Ave., New York 17, N. Y.
Tel.: TN 7-3665

Publicity
MAL BRAVEMAN

West Coast
BILL TOSTEVIN

Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y.

Edie Adams & Co., including Lee Sherman Dancers (3), comprising William Sumner, Bentley Rofon, Alan Castner; Peter Hanley; male quartet; conductor-arranger, Joe Berlinger; Meyer Davis orch conducted by Emery Davis; Horace Diaz Orch; $3 and $4 cover.

Edie is a lady and Miss Adams does a ladylike 50 minutes of musical variety which, if not socko, is geared to the polite milieu of the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room, and is especially okay for the relaxed Easter season. True, there have been more electric interludes but her eclectic repertory runs the professional gamut, fortified by special material by Johnny Melfi plus other specials by Hugh Martin, Timmy Gray and herself.

While she doesn't leave 'em hungry precisely, Miss Adams wisely doesn't surfeit them. Her repertoire is sufficiently variegated and her intent impressively sincere as she interludes straight balladeering with novelty variations on sundry themes.

Of ready audience identification via her periodic ABC-TVcasts and her concurrent film stints in "Mad Mad etc. World" and "Love With The Proper Stranger," she opens in low key and builds soon to direct customer rapport as she circulates the room thrushing her "Hello Edie" (Sam, Dan, John, etc.) in customer gladhanding.

Harold Arlen's "Lose That Long Face" opener segues into a solid ballad, "I'm A Woman," an earthy song which she makes thoroughly believable.

The other tidbits range from pops to impressions, the latter calling for energetic protean changes, interrupted only by the vocal quartet introductories as she reels off Helen Kane ("Betty Boop"), Merman, Temple, Zsa Zsa, Liz, Dietrich and Mansfield (and that doesn't mean Richard!). Most of them are good and supported with sufficient barbs to make 'em stand up. However, somehow the Liz & Dick stuff has already assumed a datedness.

The "Java" number is a trailer for the Muriel cigarillos which she shills on tv, as did her late comedian-husband, Ernie Kovacs. There are also giveaway miniature packets of the brand for the males at the tables—and maybe it should rest there. Carrying the commercial a step further might be open to debate in a class room. Her Gershwin (sans words) vocalisthenics is tour-de-force and rates with her highlight contributions to the pleasant evening.

Joe Berlinger, special maestro-arranger, batons the Meyer Davis orchestra which, in turn, is led by the ole maestro's son Emery. Patti Page next. Abel.

Diplomat, Fla.

Hollywood, Fla., March 29.

Buddy Hackett, Neil Sedaka, Van Smith Orch; $7.50 minimum.

Buddy Hackett played the Cafe Cristal here several weeks ago and was set for this quick return when hotel prexy Irv Cowan decided on keeping the big room open through crowded Easter holiday week.

It was a wise move, judging by the heavy biz attracted opening night. Patronage pull was bolstered when Neil Sedaka switched from the inn's small Tack Room for his first attempt at a display in a top cafe.

Hackett, in fine fettle, has a set of laugh provoking dissertations on myriad subjects. Much of the material is different from the act used last time out, to add more zing to the howl raising.

He has a running gag on why he took up smoking after the Surgeon General's report; it hits big with the customers, as does his rundown on manners and sexual mores around the world, with key bit the recollection of visit to Japan and his accompanying the Jack Paars to one of those mixed-sex baths. Brought it off in good taste, despite the shock-angles inherent in the gambit.

He's on for an hour with additional load of literate in-the-news subjects, all twisted to the funny-bone shots that keep the laughs high throughout.

Sedaka is a pleasant young performer. Despite the rock 'n' roll rep via his platter clicks and those original compositions, he takes up that facet in one short sequence.

On the straight ballading his high tenor is applied to get full values out of the standards and evergreens, even unto a "Yiddishe Momma" that earns the heavy palm plaudits.

Another Sedaka standout is his Chopin interp at the Steinway; a strong factor in selling his multi-talent display. Delivery is fluid, act balance as noted, smartly set.

Van Smith and his crew are tops, per always at the showbacks, ditto on the dansapation.

This is the finale for Cafe Cristal until next season. Lary.

Shoreham, D.C.

Washington, March 24.

The Clancy Bros. & Tommy Makem, Bob Cross Orch (16); $2.50 cover.

The Clancy Bros. & Tommy Hakem wrought a successful premiere at the Shoreham Hotel's suave Blue Room.

Neither the posh nitery nor the usual Washington crowd seemed the proper frame for Irish folk songs sung by four tousled young men in white turtle neck sweaters, but they managed to overcome the problem with an effectively manufactured mood.

Nothing really detracted from an offering of 12 songs that ranged from the traditionally rousing "A Wild Colonial Boy" to a Dublin prison song composed by the late Brendan Behan.

The rest of the tunes—although they conjured up dark bar rooms smelling of oak and wet cobblestone streets alien to the velvet supper club—proved food and drink for the lovers of that peculiar melange of lilt, chauvinism, wryness, sadness and poetry.

Tommy Makem, a non-brother who confesses to North-of-Ireland roots, performs two solos well, "The Whistling Gypsy" with audience participation and something about a cobbler who drowned his wife, besides supplying banjo and penny whistle accompaniment. The only other instrument in the group is a guitar handled vigorously by Liam, the youngest of the Clancys.

Bob Cross did not supply any background for the act, but chipped in otherwise with fine dance music. Ned.

Sands, Las Vegas

Sammy Davis Jr., Pat Henry, Harry Noble, Line (10), Antonio Morelli Orch; $5 minimum.

Sammy Davis Jr. and Pat Henry constitute a pair of traveling mimes who have just about played every cafe of importance in the country. Audiences, by now, seem to consider them inseparable. Although they never meet on stage, their work seems to complement each other. The sights and sounds that each purveys comprise entertainment of excellence.

It seems unfortunate that this is only a one-weeker, filling in until Danny Thomas opens tonight (Wed.). There are enough entertainment values here to stock a lot of shows, and per usual, Davis brings peak excitement to the Copa Room.

There's isn't much that's new with him. His song selection, with very few exceptions has been heard previously. Yet it has the aspects of a new layout. Davis constantly brings out new facets in every number. In fact many of his tunes constitute a voyage of discovery. There is perennial freshness in his delivery, along with polish, skilled projection and an abundance of personality.

Davis does a lot of ribbing on stage, most of his lines concern items near and dear to him. He kids his race, religion and friends. There is no offense in any of his lines. What's more, he infuses the same humor in his renditions. The musical background for some of his major efforts is either his drummer or his bongoist. This lean accompaniment brings out the essential points with even greater force than a full orchestra. It provides beat and excitement. He gets a peak reception.

Henry works easily and charmingly. He seems to underplay most of the time and some of his lines seem to take the audience by surprise. His humor touches a variety of subjects, much of it relating to family mores. For openers, he cashes in a lot of mitts.

Antonio Morelli Orch supplies excellent showbacking. Jack Entratter's production with Harold Dobrow providing stage direction comes off well. The Academy Award tunes with Harry Noble chirping, has lively pace and elegent costuming. Jose.

Copacabana, N.Y

Sergio Franchi, Joey Forman, Kelly Wood, Ken Michaels, Copa Girls, Joseph Mele Orch, Frank Marti Band; staged by George Moro; choreography, Michael O'Brien, orchestrations, Ivan Lane; Franchi's musical director, Neil Warner; no cover or minimum.

Sergio Franchi is a powerful song belter who generates audience tremors when he's operating at full throttle. An Italian import who made his New York debut at the Waldorf early in 1963, he has come back to town with a standout songalog polished to a high gloss during his stands in Las Vegas and other spots point west.

A tenor with considerable operatic prowess, Franchi works mostly in a class pop groove. If the Beatles are designed for the Coke set, then Franchi is tailored for adults who like their drinks and their music to be more potent.

At his Copa bow last Thursday night (26), Franchi climbed from one song peak to another and finally inspired George Jessel to bounce off his ringside seat and accolade Franchi as "the greatest singer since Enrico Caruso," a billing which the audience accepted without cavil.

Franchi socks his way through a varied repertory of top Italian and American standards, also throwing in a folk tune, Spanish and French numbers, and, to prove that he can do it effortlessly, a dramatic aria from "Tosca."

Through it all, Franchi handles himself savvily, not overdoing the chatter but proving himself adept with the light byplay with the audience and his musical director, Neil Warner.

Franchi worked unstintingly over some 20 songs on opening night before he finally begged off. His vocal range gives him equal facility on "Younger Than Springtime," "I Wish You Love," "Quando, Quando, Quando," "Sholom," or a flamenco tune on which he accomps himself on guitar. For a windup, he does an Italo version of "Chicago" and "Sorrento," which leaves the customers more exhausted than he is.

Joey Forman, who achieved wide video exposure via the 'Sid Caesar Show" on ABC-TV this season, turns up here with an uneven routine. A personable youngster with a good delivery, he is handicapped by long stretches of flat material.

He has one firstrate routine, his impression of the late John Garfield in one of those up-from-the-slum films. This should be retained as the core of an act which needs extensive reworking. In particular, his "Ben Casey" takeoff lacks point and his short jokes fail to surprise.

Singers Kelly Wood and Ken Michaels capably front the Copa line in a couple of well-costumed production numbers. Joseph Mele band cuts the show nicely and alternated with Frank Marti's cha-cha combo for the customer dansapation rhythms. Herm.

Lido, Paris

(FOLLOWUP)

Paris, March 24.

Sock biz held this Lido show over for another year, till next December, instead of getting its annual change. However, all the acts are fresh and the production numbers are as crisp as at the beginning. It adds up to an exceptional offering since the new acts have greater appeal, overall, than the first batch.

And producers Pierre Louis-Guerin and Rene Fraday keep the costumes clean and bright, and the show on its toes. Since this present entry is one of the better ones in years, it still shapes as an eye-filling bright spectacle. Mechanical effects are also kept in fine working order.

The Paris number with the perky and bouncy Bluebell Girls, the nudes and chorus boys along with a twinkling new addition to the nude femme dancers, Nicky Gorska, provides a zesty opening. The Western number is also still of high production appeal with an added fillip furnished by oater songs and Lance King's rope tricks and well trained horse.

A dip in the Trevi Fountain in Rome by nude dancers Aleco & Vera, the oriental slave number and the finale all keep their pace, dash and knowhow.

Gerd Maron makes pigeons appear at will from scarfs, then assembles a toy dog and places it in a kennel only to have a real canine emerge. He has the elegance, aplomb and flair for putting over this classy magico bit.

Frederic & Gina supply lilting glides, lifts and spins as the ice skaters on the layercaked-out rink while the Baranton Sisters (2) do expert risley with ease.

Fred Roby is a suave ventriloquist who can modulate his voice to emanate from distances or a box and do it while smoking, drinking or with a handkerchief in his mouth without losing an effect. His characters, a dog and an alcoholic Indian, are also firstrate.

Marty (2), an acro turn, can joke and miscue some of their effects due to their expertise. Act is highly dexterous balancing and doing a headstand on a rubber ball. Mightily mitted in this fine act.

Nitwits (10) are a zany British orchestra with breakaway instruments, witty interludes and farout comic characters. They concertize for big yocks and emerge the highlight turn in this bevy of fine numbers.

Obviously, the Lido wisely does not rewrite its renowned format of big production numbers interspersed by good acts and gilded by mechanical effects of taste and inventiveness. It also keeps on its toes since many visitors may catch it more than once in its two-year tenure.

The change of acts likewise gives a new look for the show's second annual stanza. When caught, the house was full and the Lido is still a bargain at its $7 minimum.

Some of these numbers are slated for the next Lido show in Las Vegas, while others there will be coming here. This keeps both from being replicas of the other. Mosk.

Eddys', K. C.

Kansas City, March 26.

George Kirby, Fred Muro Continentals (5); $2 cover.

After 15 years as a top midwest showcase for name acts Eddys' is calling it quits on the live talent. Plush room becomes a straight restaurant April 13, and for the final entertainment stint the usual two weeks has been extended three days to close on the weekend (11).

The Eddys' have done themselves proud for the final round, bringing back George Kirby who played a successful date here only last fall. For opening show he was on 70 minuites, ordinarily too long, but apparently not for this crowd which couldn't seem to get enough. Kirby makes 70 minutes seem short enough, running his impressions and takeoffs over nearly all of show business.

Kirby has talent with an infectious manner and willingness to put it all across. He sings a lively opener, "I'm a Happy-Go-Lucky Square," and a mellow "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," kids a flock of people from Cagney to Boyer to Sullivan and Satchmo, even does a tap a la Pat Rooney. His closer is "When I Grow Too Old To Clown," raising a sock hand from the house. He makes it a fitting farewell.

Henceforth Eddys' becomes a straight eatery, catering to the fancy trade, but without music or dancing, removing from the Baltimore strip one more live spot. Some speculation has risen to the effect that before long the Eddys' will be back in show business, that they won't be able to stay out after all these years.

In the face of television, increasing prices for acts, and Government tax loads, George and Sam Eddy say not so. "We're not going to stay up after 10 o'clock," they say, although the Debonaire Lounge will be open nightly until 1:30 (with an entertainer at the piano bar). Quin.

Tidelands, Houston

Houston, March 24.

Totie Fields, Michael Dees, Freddie Noble Orch (5); $1.50 entertainment charge.

Comedienne Totie Fields is a well-rounded entertainer, her pipes being as impressive as her sense of comedy, which generally is superb.

Much of her material is about the same—with some variations—as it was last trip around, but it still draws top yocks. She enlists her musical director—and the entire band—to hoist her on a stool, and otherwise plays on fact she's short and chubby. Perhaps funniest bit is her Weaver High School seg, also used her last time here.

Michael Dees, a holdover from last show, continues to impress as one of the more promising young singers around. Freddie Noble Orch. does usual good bandstand stint. Skip.

Americana, N. Y.

Julie London with The Casuals (4); Staged by Jonathan Lucas; Don Bagley conductor; Lee Evans Orch, Al Conte Trio; $5 cover.

The Tisch interests are sparing no expense to make the Americana's Royal Box one of the prime rooms in New York. The names being brought into the spot need no introduction to nitery spenders. It's fairly safe to assume that they're not only well known but talented as well.

Julie London, who opened Monday (30), is probably one of the better known diseuses. For she not only dramatizes a song but brings it down to an extremely personal and intimate level. She can purr and she can soothe. Equally important, she can excite the average listener with both voice and looks, and provide an evening well spent for the average rounder.

Yet Miss London in her bow at the Box failed to make the most of her opportunities despite an exceptionally well designed act and native capabilities. Perhaps the unusual opening night circumstances mitigated against her. Miss London not only performed for the Royal Box audience, but also on radio. It seems a mistake to design acts for both media on a simulcast such as this.

After her introduction by WNEW deejay William B. Williams, she did her turn in a manner that indicated that she cannot be a mistress to both media at the same time. She may imply many things to the radio audience, and doesn't have to deliver as much, being only a voice. In person, she has to deliver not only by implication, but look the part as well.

Miss London's act appeared to be thrown askew by this circumstances. There were moments when she came across for those who paid the $5 couvert. For example, her delivery of "Bye Bye Blackbird" with only the bassist accompanying her. It seemed to be the apex of her act. There were times when a break through seemed imminent, but it never semed to come off.

Miss London has four boys behind her for the greater part of her turn. Yet she reaches her peak in her solos when she tries to express herself rather than in numbers embellished by rafts of choreographers, arrangers, writers and what have you. She should realize that her best weapon is her own native abilities without interference from outside interests.

She's coiffed and gowned artistically. Her vocal work, however, never reaches the sexy heights of her physical presence.

Miss London is backed by the Lee Evans Orchestra. Evans, a pianist of distinction, appears to have a future as a bandleader as well. He has drive and articulation and should do well in the hotels. Don Bagley conducts for Miss London, and the Al Conte Trio alternates. Jose.

Hotel Roosevelt, N.Y.

New Orleans, March 27.

George Gobel, Leon Kelner Orch; $2.50 weeknight minimum; $4 Sats.

George Gobel, a longtime favorite here, can hold an audience as few other comics with his nutty routines. His current two-week stand which opened Thursday (26) at Seymour Weiss' Blue Room should assure plenty of business.

Gobel embellishes his material with a flair, buttering up tableholders with just the right brand of humor to keep them in constant gusto, and he's on long enough to put across some slick buildups.

The diminutive Gobel's routines are simple, but naturals, frequently getting hefty guffaws. One catastrophe leads to another as he tells how he feels. He sings, accompanying himself on guitar, and then there's "Alice, my spooky wife," familiar to most audiences. He weaves fancifully around his spouse for additional laughs. Comic has a pros delivery and showmanship all the way and closes strong.

Leon Kelner and his musical crew furnish masterful backing for Gobel. Band also mixes a variety of rhythms to keep the floor crowded during terp sessions. Liuz.

Cafe Andre, Montreal

Montreal, March 25.

"Up Tempo '64," with Barrie Baldaro, Joan Stuart, Charlene Brandolini, Grant Holden, Howard Lever; $1.50 cover, $2 Saturday; no Sunday show.

Once again producer Jack Greenwald has come up with a winner in this series of revues intime which have become one of the most popular traditions on the local nitery scene in recent years.

Interesting thing about these "Up Tempo" revues is that they would appear to cater to a restricted intellectual level (similar to audience that yens the social satire stuff at the Strollers in New York, as against the boffo comics), but seem to attract a wide range of patrons.

Reason for this could be Greenwald's emphasis on the local scene, where gags and sketches about items like the Montreal World's Fair (1967) and the struggle with Moral Rearmament experienced by a w.k. sports figure, make it easy for almost everyone to get the message of what they're talking about.

Revue runs approximately one hour with a five-minute intermish; in fact, show is a bit heavily weighted in the first half. To improve the balance, one of the stronger sketches could be shifted to the second half, without too much loss to the first.

The cast of five is a delight—because of their youth and ability to project and deliver their material without trying for special effect and with a minimum of pretension.

Barrie Baldaro's comic talent is standout, as is Joan Stuart's, who is something of a veteran in these Greenwald revues. Charlene Brandolini purveys a certain brand of charm which clicks, while Grant Holden and Howard Lever provide ample support in the various sketches, as well as contributing their own solo stints.

Baldaro's bit on the "Governor-General," written by himself and David Harriman, is a gem.

Show has a good chance of an extended run, with a little tightening and shifting of material.

Laza.

Statler-Hilton, Dallas

Dallas, March 28.

Shani Wallis (with Ian Fraser), Don Ragon Orch (9); $2.50-$3 cover.

Shani Wallis, in her first Texas date, makes the most of an impressive songalog, fine pipes and stage savvy to reap hefty returns in a sock 30-minute turn in the plush Empire Room. The red-haired English looker is richly abetted by a solid nitery act penned by Brian Blackburn and she deftly makes it an exciting show.

Opener is a special bit, "It Doesn't Seem Any Different to Me," comparing New York to London, and she rates immediate auditor rapport with the bouncy lyrics and lotsa body English. Thrush obviously enjoys her work, and proves it with a belting "It's a Lovely Day."

She builds with a ballad medley of "Bill" and "My Man," before bouncing around stage with "I've Been Around" and segueing into a rousing "Bless 'em All to top mitting. A risque, tongue-in-cheek ballad about Christine Keeler grabs the biggest hand of all.

Miss Walils displays fine phrasing and adroit hand work with a straight ballad, "There Goes My Heart," and begs off with a rousing special closer, "Thanks a Lot." Pianist Ian Fraser, her conductor, gets solid support on the intricate scores from Don Ragon's house band. Latter, doubling on trumpet and 88, fills the floor with terp addicts.

Act plays two frames, with George Jessel due April 9.

Bark.

Rendezvous Room, L. A.

Los Angeles, March 26.

Jacques Foti, no cover, no minimum.

Longterm or three-month booking of Jacques Foti inaugurates a new policy for BevHilton's Rendezvous Room, previously a new talent show case. Foti, who put in 18 months in the lounge of the Dunes, Las Vegas, hews to the standard Gallic approach in his turn from the piano bench, but adds a nice, ingratiating touch of his own.

He's especially good on story songs, delivering a poetic set of special "September Song" lyrics to top effect. His "I Love Paris"—with interspersed gags and straight treatments of "Foggy Day in London Town," "Lost Heart in San Francisco" and "Thank Heaven for Little Girls"—also comes over well. Less effective are group of Hungarian folk songs, "Csardas," "Kislany Vigyaz" and "Akacos Ut."

Much of Foti's between-songs banter is pale blue; but nothing he says would disturb even the younger mixed couple set. He's a relaxing performer, a good kick-off booking for room. Fess.

Shamrock, Houston

Houston, March 27.

Mimi Benzell, Inga & Rolf, Paul Neighbors Orch (11); no cover or minimum.

A former Met Opera diva, Mimi Benzell has credits in about every media, including Broadway musicals ("Milk and Honey"), concerts and supper clubs. And her pipes are superlative. She borrows tunes from "Milk and Honey," including her opening and closing "Shalom."

She also includes other show numbers, with a clever intro for "Gonna Build a Mountain," and wisely adds "Musetta's Waltz Song" from "La Boheme," her only aria. Miss Benzell deserts stage to cruise among auditors, and brings two femme patrons onstage for help in a ladies' medley, which plays well.

Thrush gets big assist from Paul Neighbors Orch, aided by direction of her musical conductor, Philip Fradkin. While she builds show nicely to big begoff mitting, it does seem act could use some sort of rouser about midway—a few dance steps or a foot-tapping tune.

Inga & Rolf draw top response in 10-minute opener with their effortless lifts and spins, perfect timing making act appear far easier than it is. They are a handsome couple, she originally from Germany, he from Austria. As another plus, she gradually sheds costume to a point just short of a police raid.

Neighbors' Orch again is first rate.

Show plays two frames, with Kim Sisters due April 9. Skip.

Keur Samba, Paris

Paris, March 26.

Rocky Roberts & the Airedales (6), Gonzalo Hernandez (8); $5 minimum.

Keur Samba is on the site of the famed Existentialist nitery of the early '50s. It is one of the few cellar clubs with live bands, rhythm and Latino. With a solid following, it's registering almost the same attendance of its Existential days.

Spot was manly Afro in style at first, then went discotheque and finally found its present formula. Restfully lighted and decorated, the club is disarmingly gladhanded by Senegalese owner M. Samba. The bands play alternately from 11 p.m. to the wee hours, and there's also a half hour show at about 1 a.m. by one of the bands. Rocky Roberts & the Airedales.

Roberts, a canny rhythm and blues singer, can also give with the other type of music in this genre. With two saxes, drum, electric bass and organ, the group has a fine musky r&b sound which is little known here but is catching on fast. Besides the music, the Airedales can do nimble footwork and have a presence that makes for looking and listening as well as hoofing.

Their show includes specialized terping by the sax and bass along with Roberts as well as some frenzied song, ballad and terp interludes by Roberts. Gonzalo Hernandez Orch supplies smart Latin terp sessions. Mosk.

Pact Deep River Boys For Metropole, Glasgow

Glasgow, March 31.

The Deep River Boys are pacted to headline vaude for one week at the Metropole Theatre here April 27. Act is w.k. in Scotland, where it played the old Glasgow Empire, now razed for property development.

U.S. act will head a layout that includes Scot comedian Jimmy Fletcher, Irish comedian Frank Carson, the Langford Singers, among others.

A summer season, "The Calum Kennedy Show," tees off at the Metropole June 1.

Nugget, Sparks

Sparks, Nev., March 26.

Bill Dana, Gogi Grant, George Arnold Singers & Dancers (17), Foster Edwards Orch (10); $2 minimum, second show.

Bill Dana and Gogi Grant on the same marquee offer a potent entertainment package that's sure to keep reservations heavy on the plus side for their two-frame stanza at John Ascuaga's Nugget. Although current stint is Dana's first outing in this room (and his debut in the Reno-Sparks area) he's established identity with auditors from his television show.

For Miss Grant, this is her third playback in the Circus Room and she's well established locally as a nitery star, not only from Nugget dates but from many other prior appearances in the Reno-Tahoe area.

Smartly gowned and coiffed (as per usual), Miss Grant takes the opening spot (following the curtain-raising production) with a 35-minute songfest that showcases to full advantage her big talent in the vocal department.

Accenting the upcoming Oscarcast on April 13, she essays two of the nominations for best song: "More" and "Charade." On "More" she displays much savvy in lyric consciousness and emotional interpretation; and with "Charade" she hushes the room as she lends her distinctive styling—and that impressive way with the plaintive tones on the big full notes—to the film theme.

Miss Grant reprises (and wisely) "I Could Write a Book," an inventive and cleverly scripted routine tracing the high points in the lives of historic femmes via hip revisions of w.k. titles lending alliance with the situation. She's deleted, for obvious reason, the Jackie Kennedy reference. Replacement is a laugh-winner re the Liz-Burton-Eddie doings.

New to Miss Grant's catalog is "People," from "Funny Girl," essayed with soul and authority in all ranges. Exit is "Wayward Wind," the only title identifiable with her name offered on show caught. Expertly guiding Foster Edwards' music men through Miss Grant's turn is Al Pellegrini, her arranger-conductor.

Dana, despite fact he's had no Reno-Sparks nitery exposure, is immediately familiar (and wins big welcome) from his vidseries, "The Bill Dana Show." And, as expected, he retains the Jose Jimenez image for a large part of his 45 minutes center stage.

With Andrew Duncan acting as interviewer, he makes the intro for Dana, who comes on in bellboy jacket, carrying a single piece of luggage. Interviews have Dana, in the Jose role, tracing the Jimenez career, acting the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, giving tips on skin diving, instructing in judo, making with a Shakespearean soliloqy in a steam bath, as a western politican wearing a LBJ Stetson, and as the eighth astronaut.

For each image change, Dana pulls the appropriate dress from the luggage he carries on for his initial bow. The sketches and story lines rate top mention for originality and attention to the topical.

Dana reverts to his own personality with a clever dissertation on self-coined words he uses to show how they would change familiar expressions. It at times creates an indigo mental image, but no offense. In the comedic areas, he's a winner all the way and a sure bet for any nitery.

Fred Waring slotted for April 9.

Long.

House Reviews

Apollo, N.Y.

The Coasters (4), The Vibrations (5), Stu Gillam, Inez Foxx & Charlie, The Supremes (3), B. B. King Band (12); "Pressure Point" (UA).

Back to normal after its "Jewel Box Revue" interlude, the Apollo is marking time with a better than average rhythm and blues package. The toot ensemble provides enough decibels to push to the moon and back.

What The Vibrations lack in vocal ability, and that isn't bad, they make up for it with one of the smoothest terp turns on the boards. Despite wide range of sizes and weights, all five dance with well-controlled abandon. Indeed, their opening turn tops most of the following acts with exception of the headlining Coasters. Standout tune is "My Girl Snoopy" which also exploits group's comic ability.

Inez Foxx & Charlie, sister-brother vocal duo, provides pleasant but routine turn, with pretty femme making good use of male patron as stooge for windup "Ask Me." Comic Stu Gillam, deceptively slow, is sharp, funny and topical. However, frequent lapses into his normal distinct voice indicates slurred delivery is unnecessary and might well be dropped except for occasional bit, as his funny windup story for example.

The Supremes, three Detroit chirps, are all lookers but try to substitute brashness for professionalism. Their r&r bits, oddly enough, are less effective than an almost excellent "Make Someone Happy," which they spoil with a messy ending.

Deserving their windup spot on bill, The Coasters are as sharp as a Wilkinson blade. Their considerable exposure has enabled them to develop a cool style that lets them segue with ease from a frenzied "Satin Doll" to a deliberately snail-paced "Tweren't Nothin' To Me." Group, with dig at hootenanners, wind show with "Along Came Jones."

B. B. King Band, after frenetic beginning, provides solid support.

Robe.

Olympia, Paris

Paris, March 26.

Les Compagnons De La Chanson (9), Enrico Macias, Eva Demarczyk, Andre Aubert, Freres Ennemis (2), Trio Toneleys, Johnny Broadway, Daniel Janin Orch (21); $3.75 top.

Les Compagnons de la Chanson will not lure the teemng screaming teens who have been crowding this house for the rock and Twist exponents it has billed most of the season. The harmony group may get some regulars but their lavish production song numbers seem a little old fashioned these days. Moderate biz appears likely since they do have a following.

Unit still has nice harmonics and pleasant songs, and even goes in for long sketchlike affairs about a Scottish school or a Mexican singing joust. Sometimes the troupe is witty, and it's also musicianlike and savvy in playing practically all instruments.

But more snap and precision along with some changes in routines could give them more impact on the modern vaude scene. They seem more suitable for concerts.

Enrico Macias, a former French Algerian resident, has a rich melodious voice and catchy songs that mix Arabic, Italo and Hispano motifs. He also plays a mean guitar and sends his repatriated followers into frenzies.

Macias also has the musical knowhow, projection and presence to appeal internationally. He scores roundly here and appears a likely possibility for boite and tv use in the U.S.

House director Bruno Coquatrix found Polish belter Eva Demarczyk in Warsaw. But if she sounded fine in her own haunts, she seems misdirected and misguided here. This could be rectified if her songalog is cleared up and the right producton dress and backing music are given her predominantly husky, Slavic melancholy numbers.

Andre Aubert is a canny imitator with good material to bolster it. He goes over well. Johnny Broadway balances on a board on a roller, juggles judiciously, then puts many rollers crosswise and gets on to juggle more. It is a class, excellent house act. Trio Tonelys are a zesty acro group who can be shot into somersaults holding trays of drinks and not spill a drop. They make for a fine filler, and also double at the Lido in the second half of the show.

Freres Ennemis do little patter routines before introing each number. Their humor belongs more in boites, where there is a greater audience complicity. They are a little lost and repetitious here.

Daniel Janin Orch supplies the usually good interim medleying and backing. This change-of-pace show should be an okay breather for the Olympia's regular audiences. Mosk.

Village Coffeehouse Goes Concert-Theatre For Lenny Bruce Stint

Well-designed lower-level coffeehouse, opened in February by owner Howard Solomon, has created little stir to date. However, as one of three local spots operating with authentic coffehouse licenses (most java-labeled operations use restaurant license), Cafe a Go Go introduced a bill Sunday (29) that could start a movement.

Booking of Lenny Bruce, whose comedy material has made his name a "dirty word" to police departments of many cities, is admittedly an experiment. The flagellant-tongued satirist cannot secure a license to work in local drinkeries. This does not prevent making concert appearances, as he did Saturday at the Village Gate, nor working spots which do not require liquor licenses. Success at Cafe a Go Go could open doors to other acts barred from drink spots, particularly some top jazz talents.

Because of Village Gate booking (practically next door), Solomon agreed to forego advance ads and publicity on Bruce which meant bill had to open cold Sunday night. Spot, which can hold 210 but plans expansion, turned patrons away at the 9 p.m. show and had a goodly showing at the 10:45 presentation.

Evidently, neither lack of liquor nor the fairly high admissions were obstacles to the Bruce cult, although sustaining power of bill is still to be proved, as well as city reception of comedian's material.

Solomon has the show through Sunday (5) with two performances nightly, three on Fri.-Sat. (adding late one at 12:30), plus Sunday matinee. Admission is $3.75 except weekends when two prices ($3.75-$4.75) prevail, preferred seating getting higher tab.

Bruce hasn't changed unless one considers that his bite grows ever sharper. Stil lacing his stream-of-consciousness patter with plently of "dirty" words, there's nothing sacred as far as subject matter is concerned. He still gives most mileage to his pet demons—racial and religious prejudices, police tactics, personalities (Johnny Carson got treatment Sunday), sanitary habits and, always, the merits of marijuana.

Opening the bill is British comedy team—Nick Hendra and Tony Ullett here from Blighty less than a week. Hendra is the standout comic although Ullett also registers impressively. (See review under New Acts.)

Josh White Jr., backed by bass player Richard Davis, provides a rousing interim act with a short but solid group of songs, mostly in the folk genre but including such tidbits as Cole Porter's "Miss Otis Regrets." Stature of entire package indicates considerable outlay for talent which only heavy patronage could support. Robe.

Cafe A Go Go, N.Y.

Lenny Bruce, Nick Hendra & Tony Ullett, Josh White Jr., Richard Davis; $3.75-$4.75 admission, one-item minimum.

May Fair, London

London, March 24.

Annie Ross, Tony Kinsey Trio; $1.50 admission.

Latest innovation at the May Fair Hotel in Berkeley Square, which already has a public theatre and a private cinema club, is an intimate nitery tagged the Downstairs Room. The $1.50 admission fee includes free snacks, and drinks are at normal West End prices, thus making a night possible without too much of a dent in the wallet.

The new room, with its modern decor and restrained lighting, is comfortably furnished, and has a typical postage stamp size dance floor.

Opening artist in the new room is Annie Ross, who is also appearing in the May Fair Theatre's musical, "All in Love." She's a hot attraction along the local nitery route, and a songstress with a rich and vivid vocal style. In an all too brief 15-minute stint she dispenses a handful of standards, among them "Such a Lot of Living to Do," "Song of Love" and Rodgers & Hart's "Why Can't I." The audience would happily have accepted more. Myro.

New Acts

KESSLER TWINS & CO. (1)
Songs
55 Mins.
Hotel Plaza, New York

Blond, beautiful and identical Kessler Twins (Alice and Ellen) are a couple of cuties as easy on the orbs as any "high pocket" young lovelies could be. They're lithe and lissome and hip in the ways of pop songology but just miss as Persian Room headliners at the posh Plaza. In a couple of years most likely they'll be ready as they improve in their concept of Yank nitery standards.

There's nothing lacking in the German look-alikes' lingo or even in song delivery excepting that they're just a little behind the 1964 standards and more than several years behind in the special material. For this, their authors should shoulder the major blame because they—or their Yank managerial pilot—erred in presenting the proper image.

Their image is Continental, and their multilingual prowess should have been better merchandised. What they should not be made to do is—(1) a Broadway show medley for the obvious reason their selections and interpretations are dated, having been absorbed by remote control; and (2) that "Late Late Show" pot-pourri.

The latter, even if done by native American song-and-dance singer(s), is by now a somewhat shopworn approach. The idea of gleaning the yesteryear hit parade from the late late telemusicals of the Judy Garland, Cagney, Dick Powell, Astaire and kindred genre was outmoded by some semesters. And the idea of the blond Teutonic patooties doing "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy" even more so. At this point the audience is embarrassed for the brighteyed, eager-to-make-it cuties.

They tee off all right with "Together," which is in the same idiom of their finaleing "Without You"—meaning that what Alice does so must sister Ellen Kessler, and vice versa—and "Formidable" is a cute bilingual ballad. "Identical" then becomes more of the same—by now it's pretty well established that they're amazingly peas-from-the-same-pod cuties—but they give themselves a lift with their European pot-pourri of Continental pops in several lingos.

Then comes that dated Broadway medley, followed by "The Best Is Yet to Come"—which it doesn't because it segues into the Late Late Show marathon, followed by a "Talk to Him" ballad and the signoff "Without You." For the Broadway admixture they switch from their slinky, clinging gowns to quasi-tux and tights costumes, showing off their beautiful gams.

The Kessler Twins have come a long way from their initial segue from Germany as number-leaders with the Lido floorshow in Paris, even unto a Life cover as highly photogenic songstresses, but they must come still further when it comes to the Persian Room environs as a big league midseason attraction. That is, considering the tradition and impact in recent semesters of such lodestones as Goulet, Juliet Prowse, Cugat-Abbe Lane (who, incidentally, reopen the room's new season next fall), Carol Lawrence, Catarina Valente et al.

Miss Valente, is an example of not having made the grade the first time out in U.S. boites. But, returning some years later, following further seasoning in her European tours with occasional guestings on the Como and Sullivan vidshows she matured into a socko single good for the Gotham sweepstakes or the Navada gaming stakes circuit. Alice and Ellen Kessler have a similar future but that's still on the horizon. Better authorship will be a prerequisite.

Special maestro Joe Guerico, fronting the usually tiptop Emil Coleman orchestra, does a capital backstopping job for the twins. Coleman and Mark Monte's Continentals ditto okay on their dansapation chores. Abel.

THE VIBRATIONS (5)
Singers-Dancers
10 Mins.
Apollo, N.Y.

Main quintet from Chicago is good with vocals but they really shine with their terp routines. Whoever conceived the choreography should be credited. Four work as team (and do most of dancing) while odd member gets solo vocal. One small member is natural comic and makes most of it with some outrageous mugging. Of varying sizes and weights, they're all amazingly agile—the heaviest even does a flip and somersault from a prone position.

Tunes are heavy on the r&r side, with "My Girl Snoopy" their best item. Robe.

NICK HENDRA & TONY ULLETT
Comedians
15 Mins.
Cafe Au Go Go, N.Y.

Team of young British comedians, recently arrived from Cambridge, make an impressive showing in their American debut. Hendra, a plumpish, droopy-eyed type, topped by a thatch of blonde hair, is the standout talent of the pair although the lean and hungry Ullett also registers impressively. They do a series of skits, written by themselves, which range in style from brittle to broad. After opening bit on birth control (a matter of taking the right color pill), they really warm up with a riotous item that has Hendra trying to deliver the funeral oration from "Julius Caesar" while carrying Ullett, the dead and dead-weight Caesar.

Longest item is highlights from Biblical history delivered in the manner of a tv newscaster and weather report. This is followed by a blackout bit about British police methods. Their German-English hitchhiking turn is good but could stand editing. After a blackout on bingo, they wind up as Beatles observing the Shakespeare anni by doing Hamlet's soliloquy as a folk tune. If team can continue to come up with such clever bits, they should show plenty of potential as nitery team or a spot in a revue. Robe.

RALPH PENA ORCH
50 Mins.
Shelly's Manne Hole, L.A.

Ralph Pena's nine-piece aggregation is the modern-day answer to the dearth of new and exciting full-voiced bands with something original and important to say.

In a 50-minute set on opening night in the jazz oasis, bassist-composer Pena lead orch through "Gulf of Aden" (moderate in tempo), "High Fly" (Randy Weston original) and, prior to soaring off into the torrid "Serendipity" closer (drummer Larry Bunker whales on this one), Pena dips his men into a mellifluous tribute to the late 88er, Carl Perkins—"Song for Carl"—during which pianist Mike Wofford displays profundity of feeling and impeccable right-hand authority.

Big Bob Hardaway on tenor sax excels in all solos, playing in tradition of oldtime greats, transitions coming naturally never stooping to contrivances. Ditto for first trumpeter Bobby Bryant (his curly-Q tags in high register give brass section a charming uniqueness), alto sax-flutist Bud Shank and, of course, bassist Pena himself. Other Pena men are fluegelhornist-trumpeter Joe Burnett, trombonist Mike Barone and tuba man John Bambridge Sr.

It's a wild, yet cool, big, yet small, heartful, yet cerebral band—a most welcome musical anachronism, indeed. Joex.

JACKIE DeSHANNON
Songs
20 Mins.
Gazzari's, Los Angeles

Jackie DeShannon moves out of the folk field and into a swing, rock 'n' roll style that finds her suitable for lounges, teen affairs and very likely an expansion of her record work.

Pretty little blonde has a light, breathy delivery on ballads, as with "I Wish You Love," but hits hard and heavy on the rockers like "Needles and Pins" and a frenetic version of "You Are My Sunshine." In show caught, backing by Kevin X. Gregg combo, was far too loud and overpowered singer's work. But she makes up for it in energetic hard sell, works with a wild physical and visual style that explodes with communication.

Singer gowns handsomely to give her a sophisticated look quite unlike most performers of this style. Dale.

MELODYE CONDOS
Songs
15 Mins.
The Apartment, N.Y.

This seems to be the era of second generation acts when old established names are attempting to found theatrical dynasties. There is Jack Jones, issue of Allan Jones & Irene Hervey, Frank Sinatra Jr., Dick Haymes Jr. and now Melodye Condos, daughter of Martha Raye & Nick Condos is making her New York cafe bow.

Miss Condos is a singer of merit and a great deal of promise. She seems to know what she wants to say and has a strong idea of how to say it. Yet there is a need of further work on the circuits. She's probing and digging for her personal moment of truth. There are times when she comes off in top form. Her tunes have interest and sincerity. She has vast ambitions far beyond that which anyone of her years should hope for.

Her most important asset is her conviction. She sings her piece as she sees it with interest and strength. She needs the added measure of maturity to make things come out right. Personable brunet, about 19 or 20, will get that extra ingredient with further experience around the circuits. Jose.

CHARLEY BAUMANN
Animal
20 Mins.
Madison Square Garden, N. Y.

Young German animal trainer works eight Bengal and Siberian tigers without protective device except whip which is frequently dropped. Ringling Bros. picked up act from Germany's Roland Circus. He's also worked with Moscow State Circus in Russia.

Has complete control of cats, using one for "comedy" effect. Act winds with Baumann accompanying biggest and toughest to exit a la "Walking My Baby Back Home." Robe.

INEZ FOXX & CHARLIE
Singers
6 Mins.
Apollo, N.Y.

Although introed as sister-brother act, pair bear no resemblance to each other. Femme is a bronze Bardot while male is a youngish Cab Calloway type. Voices of both are strident and depend too much on mike. They alternate on leads but lack sparkle that sets off an unusual act.

Tops is closing "Ask Me?" where girl makes clever use of audience member as stooge for her sassy exit. Robe.

THE SUPREMES (3)
Singers
8 Mins.
Apollo, N.Y.

Three sharp lookers from Detroit, femme singers are uncertain as to whether they want to sing straight or rock it. Best tones are with "Make Someone Happy," begun with smooth ballad tempo but spoiled by gimmicky ending, making "fame" an eight-syllable word, for example.

More exposure and professional shaping of routine could turn larks into top act. They certainly have the looks for it. Robe.

STU GILLAM
Comedy
10 Mins.
Apollo, N.Y.

Standup comic is sharp and topical although first impression is that he's going to do the "drawly, Stepan Fetchit" bit. Material for most part is current, some throwaways using items that were news on date caught. Segregation gets some of spotlight but not to point of monopoly.

Gillam would be wise to use his straight voice, which is clear, distinct and educated, instead of low-comedy slurring effect he now prefers. Robe.

Reichman's 50th Anni

Dallas, March 31.

Joe Reichman, veteran bandleader in this city, was presented with a bronze plaque by AFM Local 147 here last week to mark his 50th anni in the music business. Reichman obtained his first union card in 1914 from the St. Louis local at the age of 16.

He's currently playing at the Adolphus Hotel's Century Room here.

CURRENT BILLS

WEEK OF APRIL 1

NEW YORK CITY

MUSIC HALL — Rockettes, Corps de Ballet, Raymond Paige Symphony Orc.

AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Tivoli)—Jackie Warner, Evelyn Page, Katherine & Karen Kessey, Yvonne Barrett, Joan Stuart, Angela O'Toole, Barbara Young, Lesley Secombe, Janet Dearness, Joan Morrow, Sue Menlove.

SYDNEY (Tivoli)—Penny Nicholls, Bob Andrews, The D'Angolys, Two Pirates, Balcombes, Eddie Mendoza, Eric Whitley, Jeff Hudson, Harry Currie, Keith Leggett, Jackie Griffiths, Maureen Wilson, Wendy Faulkener.

BRITAIN

BIRMINGHAM HIPPODROME—Edmund Hockridge, Flack & Lamar, Chris Carlsen, Four Jones Boys, Bert Weedon, The Caravelles, Toni et Margo, Billy Baxter.

BLACKPOOL TOWER CIRCUS—Charlie Cairoli and Company, The Flying Marilees, Lilian Daniels and Her Polar Bears, Konyot's Chimpanzee Rodeo, The 4 Rodriguez, Circus Schumann's 12 Liberty Horses presented by Billy Baker, The Ascots, Kimi Yokoi, See-Hee Troupe, Bartschelly, Evelyn Hans and Her Poodles, Rudi Llata, Desmond and Marks, Fuzzy-Ball Kaye and Tiny Tommy Gallaher, Our Sammy, Little Jimmy and the Circusettes.

THE COVENTRY THEATRE — Dickie Henderson, Jimmy Clitheroe, Pinky and Perky, Jimmy Tarbuck, Susan Lane, Four Gale Boys, Los Flamencos, Ugo Garrido, Billy Winsor, Alexandra Dane, Malcom Geddard Dancers, Six In Harmony.

LONDON PALLADIUM—Lena Horne, The Bachelors, Des O'Connor, The Taree Monarchs, Arthur Worsley, The Bal Caron Trio, The Del Ray Brothers, The Kuban Cossacks.

LIVERPOOL EMPIRE — Dave Clark Five, McAndrews & Mills, George Meaton, Dave Nelson, Alan Field, Susan Maughan, Mark Wynter.

VICTORIA PALACE — The George Mitchell Minstrels, John Boulter, Tony Mercer and Dai Francis, Leslie Crowther, Margo Henderson, George Chisholm & The Jazzers, Schaller Brothers, The T. V. Toppers, Pat Ellis.

SCOTLAND

GLASGOW ALHAMBRA—Kenneth McKellar, Rikki Fulton, Terry Hall, Paul & Peta Page Puppets, etc.

KING'S—"Old-Tyme Music-Hall," with Dave Willis, Jimmy Plant, Bond Rowell, Jean Kennedy, 'Master' Joe Petersen, Davies & Gray, Nat Gonella, Trevor Moreton, 2 Rexanos.

GLASGOW KING'S—Dave Willis, Jean Kennedy, Bond Rowell, Nat Gonella, Ellis Jackson, Trevor Moreton, Davies & Gray, Master Jo Petersen, Two Rexanos, Jimmy Plant.

GLASGOW PAVILION—Johnnie Victory, Eileen Keegan, Sheila Paton, Don Gordon, Bob & Jack Young, Moxon Girls, etc.

EDINBURGH PALLADIUM—Lex McLean, The Hi-Fi's, Melody-Makers, Carr & Vonnie, Margo Bentley, etc.

AYR GAIETY—Jack Milroy, Glen Michael, Hollander & Hart, Three Scott Boys, Billy Cameron, Colin Beach, Eve Robbins, Roddy McNeil, Pamela Penfold, Springtime Dancers.

GLASGOW METROPOLE—Gracie Clark & Colin Murray, Alexander Brothers, Joe Gordon Folk Four, Dennis Clancy, Ivy Carey, Alan Beale, etc.

Cabaret Bills

NEW YORK CITY

APARTMENT — Melodye Condos, Charles De Forest.

BASIN ST. EAST—Pat Collins, Joe & Eddie.

BITTER END—Jake Holmes, Fred Smoot, Serendipity Singers.

BON SOIR—Three Flames.

BLUE ANGEL—Rolf Harris, Ketty Lester, Dan Elliot.

CAFE AU GO GO—Grecco & Willard.

CHARDAS—Bela Babal Orc., Elemar Horvath, Tibor Rakossy, Dick Marta, Janos Hozzsu, Kato Fenyas.

CHATEAU MADRID—Los Chavales de Espana, Emilio Reyes Orc., Carbia Orc.

COPACABANA—Sergio Franchi, Joey Forman, Eddie Albert, Joseph Mele Orc.

CRYSTAL ROOM—Joe Mooney.

EMBERS—Joey Bushkin, Lenore Paxton.

GRINZING — Kalman Banyak, Henry Butz.

HAWAIIAN ROOM — Teiko Yannagi, Keolu Beamer, Auletta Orc.

FIVE SPOT—Charlie Mingus.

HOTEL ASTOR—Eddie Lane Orc.

HOTEL AMERICANA—Julie London, Lee Evans Orc.

HOTEL NEW YORKER—Sylvia Barry, Milt Saunders Orc.

HOTEL PARK SHERATON — Irving Fields 3.

HOTEL PLAZA—Kessler Twins, Emil Coleman Orc., Mark Monte Orc. Plaza-9 Room: Julius Monk, Gerry Matthews, Jamie Ross, Nagle Jackson, Ruth Buzzi, Barbara Cason, Delphi Harrington, Richard Blair, Jan Templeton, Wm. Ray, Robert Colston.

HOTEL ST. REGIS—Peter Duchin Orc, Nancy Manning, Quintero Orc, Walter Kay, Jani Sarkozi.

HOTEL SAVOY-HILTON—Arturo Arturos Orc.

HOTEL SHERRY-NETHERLAND — Juli Christman.

HOTEL WALDORF-ASTORIA — Edie Adams, Emery Davis Orc., Horace Diaz Orc.

INTERNATIONAL—"Vive Les Girls," Mike Durso Orc.

LATIN QUARTER—Eddie Albert, Dino Formachini, Rolly & Arry, Jack Le Cayen, Marion Conrad, Jeanne Michelle, Jo Lombardo Orc., Sammy Bidner Orc.

LIBORIO—Tito Guizar, Mambo Aces & Tina, Pancho Cardenas Orc., Candido.

LIVING ROOM—Denise Darcel, Alberto Rochi, Richard Pryor, Bob Ferro Orc.

NO. 1 FIFTH AVENUE—Hankinson & De Maio, Stan Freeman, Teresa Celli.

RAT FINK ROOM — Jackie Kannon, Marty Walker, Sheryl Easley.

RED GARTER—G-String Strugglers.

RED ONION—Banjokers.

SAHBRA—"Hora Hootenany" Menasha Baharav Orc., Gavri Ders., Margolit Ankory, Batsheva Baron & Ezra Zahavi, Leo Fuld.

SNIFFEN COURT INN—Renee Taylor, Joe Randi, Pepi Moreale 3.

SQUARE EAST—"Open Season at Second City," Barbara Harris, Severn Darden, Bob Dishy, Dick Schall, Avery Schreiber, Ben Keller.

THE MOST—Morgana King & Kingsmen.

TOWN & COUNTRY—Buddy Hackett, Jennie Smith, Cass & Desi.

UPSTAIRS & DOWNSTAIRS—"Twice Over Nightly," Jane Alexander, MacIntyre Dixon, Paul Dooley, Richard Libertini, Mary Louise Wilson, "In This Corner" Bill Brown, Virgil Curry, Marian Mercer, Carol Morley.

VIENNESE LANTERN—Maria Carilla, Lillian Cavell, Ernest Schoen Orc.

VILLAGE GATE—Herbie Mann Orc., Tarriers, Jorge Morel Orc.

VILLAGE BARN—Jess Long, Jeanie Allen, Gene Allen, Barn Stompers, Lou Harold Orc.

VILLAGE VANGUARD—Dudley Moore Trio, Jon Hendricks.

CHICAGO

THE BELFRY—"Noises In The Theatre," June Ericson, Haskell Gordon, Ann Hilton, Ross Lashbrook, Bert Vallencourt.

BLUE ANGEL—"Calypso Limbo," Susie Ellis, Pascual Olivera, Byl Couser, Lady Limbo, Emperor Kelo, Lord Carlton, Lord Smiley, Al D'Lacey Orc.

CONRAD HILTON — "Ladies First" Lucho Navarro, Wells & Four Fays, Manuel Del Toro, Marie Langenbein, Ernie McClean & Caroline Paul, Boulevar-Dears (5), Boulevar-Dons (5), Jimmy Palmer Orc.

HOTEL CONTINENTAL—Phyllis Arick, Franz Benteler Orc.

DEL PRADO HOTEL—"Hits of Broadway" revue.

DRAKE HOTEL—Carmel Quinn, Jimmy Blade Orc.

LE BISTRO—Ann Richards, Connie Milano Trio.

LONDON HOUSE—Gene Krupa Quartet, Jose Bethancourt Trio.

MISTER KELLY'S—Don Adams, The Turtles, John Frigo Trio, Marty Rubinstein Trio.

PALMER HOUSE—Allen Sherman, Bud & Cece Robinson, Ben Arden Orc.

PLAYBOY—Ray Hastings, Dink Freeman, Burt Tayler, Donna Fuller, Ken Coleman, Cathy Johnson.

SECOND CITY—"New York City is Missing," John Brent, Jack Burns, Ann Elder, Sally Hart, Gene Kadish, Omar Shapli, David Steinberg, Bill Mathieu.

SHERATON BLACKSTONE — Vicky Autier, Frank York Orc.

LOS ANGELES

COCOANUT GROVE—Rowan & Martin, Enzo Stuarti.

CRESCENDO—Jack E. Leonard, Vikki Carr.

DINO'S—Betsy Duncan, Jack Elton, Steve LaFever.

ICE HOUSE — Jerry & Myrna, Ken Greenwald, Mason Williams.

INTERLUDE — Paul Winchell, Tani Jones.

JERRY LEWIS—Sid Hurwitz Duo.

MELODY ROOM—Rena Paula Trio.

SLATE BROS.—Simmy Ben.

STATLER HOTEL—George Liberace

TOWN HOUSE—Red Nichols & Five Pennies.

TROUBADOR—Amanda Ambrose, The Shaggy Gorillas.

LAS VEGAS

YE LITTLE CLUB—Barbara Hines.

BOURBON STREET—Peter Anthony

CASTAWAYS—"Holiday In The Orient," Peggy Lord, Patti Kim, Bobby Stevenson Orc.

DESERT INN—Jimmy Durante, Eddie Jackson, Sonny King, Denn Arden Dancers, Carlton Hayes Orc. Lounge: Jan Garber Orc., Di Varieties, Mafalda Trio, Lilting Strings.

DUNES—Frederic Apcar's "Casino de Paris," starring Line Renaud. Lounge: "Vive Les Girls!" Gwen Harmon. Sultan's Table: Jacques Foti, Arturo Romero Strings (11).

FLAMINGO—Janet Gayner, Russ Black Orc. Lounge: Harry James, Nita Crul, Bob Sims.

FREMONT—Cables, Fables, Paul Dino.

GOLDEN NUGGET—Buck Owens, Billy Gray, Ronnie Pearson, Judy Kay.

HACIENDA—"Les Poupees de Paris," Ink Spots, Johnny Olenn, Kay Houston.

MINT—"Hong Kong Scandals," Tex Ritter.

NEVADA—"Harem Nights," Royal Tahitians, Singers Three.

NEW FRONTIER—Bobby Wick and Ray Brand in "Fantasy on Ice," Clara Ward Singers, Dick Rice Orc.

RIVIERA—Frankie Laine, Frank Gorshin, Jack Cathcart Orc. Lounge: Shecky Greene, Betty Ayres' Sparkling Strings, Marty Heim Trio.

SAHARA—Tony Bennett, Moro-Landis Dancers, Louis Basil Orc. Lounge: Don Rickles, Freddie Bell, Robert Linn, Bell Boys, Senators, Peter & Hank, Russ Cantor.

SANDS—Danny Thomas, Antonio Morelli Orc. Lounge: Johnny Prophet, Vido Musso, Dave Burton, Margaret Ann, Ernie Stewart.

SHOWBOAT — Jack "Jive" Schafer, Twin Tunes, Johnny Paul, Frankie Yankovic, Leo Wolf.

SILVER SLIPPER—Hank Henry, Sparky Kaye, Lili St. Cyr, Jack Larson, Eddie Innes, Danny Jacobs, Laura Del Mar, George Redman Orc. Lounge: Charlie Teagarden, Funtastics, Beverly Marshall, Skeets Minton.

STARDUST—"Lido de Paris," Eddie O'Neal Orc. Lounge: Don Cornell, DeCastro Sisters, Esquivel, Lobato Dancers, Nelida, Nalani Kele.

THUNDERBIRD—Peter L. Marshall in "Anything Goes," with Eileen Rodgers, Irving Benson, Benny Baker, Nat Brandwynne Orc. Lounge: Kirby Stone 4, Lorraine Barry, Town Pipers, Jerri Lynn Frazier.

TROPICANA—"Folies Bergere," Ray Sinatra Orc. Lounge: Vagabonds, Al De Paulis 4, Dubonnet 3.

RENO-TAHOE

GOLDEN—Flapper Follies with Vespia Brothers, Elsa & Waldo, Vega Maddus, Don Stalton, Golden Girls, John Carleton Orc.

HAROLDS — Trini Lopez, Johnny O'Brien, Don Conn Orc.

HARRAH'S (Reno) — DeCastro Sisters, Nick Lucas, Judy Lynn, Joe King & Zaniacs, Red Coty.

HARRAH'S (Tahoe)—Anna Maria Alberghetti, Vaughn Meader, John Bubbles, Moro-Landis Dancers, Leighton Noble Orc. Lounge: Billy Eckstine, Jerry Colonna, Top Notchers, Coquettes.

HARVEY'S — Rowan & Martin, Gali Gali, Johnny Hamlin Orc., Jack Bedient, Kings Four, Frank Fanelli, Bob Rinard.

HOLIDAY—Jon & Sondra Steele, Esquires, Sparklers, Charles Gould's Satin Strings.

MAPES—Jan Garber Orc, Bobby Page Show, Tunesters, Joe Karnes.

NEVADA LODGE (Tahoe) — Suzie & Night Owls.

NEW CHINA CLUB—Skip O'Connell.

NUGGET (Sparks)—Bill Dana, Gogi Grant, George Arnold Singers & Dancers, Foster Edwards Orc.

RIVERSIDE—Clyde McCoy Orc., Riverside Varieties, Carlton MacBeth Orc.

WAGON WHEEL (Tahoe)—Rowan & Martin, Gali Gali, Johnny Hamlin Orc., Jack Bedient & Chessmen, Arthur Walsh, Frankie Fanelli Show, Jets, Bob Rinard Three, Orrin Tucker Orc.

How Met Opera Finals Went

An audience of singing teachers, managers, talent-scouts and professionals virtually filled the Met Opera recently to listen to 11 finalists who each sang one aria to piano accompainment and to some remarks by Rise Stevens, new co-manager of the Met's National Co. Howard J. Hook was master of ceremonies judging committee (Rudolf Bing, general manager and John Guttman his assistant) awarded the prizes.

The stage was set for the first act of "Tosca" to be given that night, the piano and the singers (in street clothes) stood next to the baptisimal fountain (of the church S. Andrea della Valle).

First prize was won by Robert Goodloe, 27, baritone from Iowa, who up to now has worked as public relations man in his home city, Indianola at Simpson College. Next to the Met-contract he also won the $2,000 of the Stuart and Irene Chambers Award. He sang the aria from Giordano's "Andrea Chenier," "Nemico della Patria" and he certainly deserved the prize, also according to the heartily applauding audience.

The other singers who won honors were Mary Beth Peil, soprona from Iowa (Marvin Stoughton Award) Katherine Kaufman soprano from Oklahoma (Frederick K. Weyerhaeuser Award) Huguette Tourangeau, mezzo soprano from Montreal, Can. (William J. Fisher Award) and Maria Candida soprano from Massachusetts (Gladys Axman Taylor Award). Each of these awards is $2,000. Miss Kaufman in addition won a contract with the Metropolitan Opera Studio, a performing group of young singers. All award winners ranged in age from 20 to 26 years of age.

It was the 10th annual National Audition of the National Council (founded 1954) after 16 regions of the U.S. and Canada were combed.

Shall We Go Out Whistling The Dances Or the Scenery?

By VERNON DUKE

Hollywood, March 31.

Six or seven weeks ago, invigorated as I was once again by the moderately stimulating gambols of a New York winter, endeavoring the while to contribute a few additional ones of my own (which included a new book, a revival of a musical, and a series of tv and radio debates on the subject of a prematurely and incomprehensibly buried hit-in-the-making), my eye was caught by huge and unmistakable davidmerrickian posters. All posters emanating from that industrious producer's cabinet de travail are eye-catchers; these were also thought-provokers.

The posters announced the impending arrival (on Jan. 16, 1964) of Carol Channing in "Hello Dolly!" directed and choreographed by Gower Champion.

The letters spelling out the names of Miss Channing, Mr. Champion and their vehicles were positively gigantic; no other credits were visible.

A practitioner of the musical comedy craft (music division), since 1926 (London), and 1930 (New York), I was somewhat stymied by so enigmatic a description of what was touted by those in the know as a forthcoming smash. My first reaction was that Broadway was to be treated to a virtuoso display by two sterling personalities — rather like the Anna Pavlova-Michael Mordkin duo of yore, or (more recently) the Zizi Jeanmaire-Roland Petit tandem, or, deserting the loftier domain, Mike Nichols & Elaine May, perhaps.

Engrossed in my own activities, I admit to not having read the advance propaganda, and so became convinced that the deliciously uninhibited Carol Channing and the somewhat splenetic, but always meticulous Gower Champion were twin harbingers of a truly unique pas de deux, many-faceted enough to fill an unforgettable evening. Not that Gower needed any further championing, nor Channing any intensified caroling, but the coupling of the two names was decidedly intriguing. Why two names only on the posters? Was this to be a communal improvisation, a theatrical game of chance, as it were?

The Credits

I was wrong, of course. Diligent perusal of the program yielded the information that "Hello Dolly!" was a "new" musical comedy "suggested by Thornton Wilder's 'The Matchmaker'," in turn suggested by or rewritten from Mr. Wilder's "The Merchant of Yonkers." I recalled seeing both Wilder plays and enjoying their robust suggestiveness hugely several seasons back. Surprisingly the legend "suggested by etc." came not under the show's new title but immediately following the names of Michael Stewart, credited with the book, and Jerry Herman, the author of music and lyrics. Question: which of the two was open to suggestions?

Now, Messrs. Stewart and Herman are young, extremely talented and already successful people. One need only remember that Mr. Stewart was responsible for the libretti of "Bye Bye Birdie" and "Carnival" both in collaboration with (or rather under the aegis of) the redoubtable Champion. The even younger Jerry Herman made an auspicious debut with the score of "Milk and Honey," a recent entry of hit calibre; I thought "Milk and Honey" a bit treacly, but Mr. Herman's score did its level best to make up for

(Continued on page 84)

Bennett Sisters To Tour Stocks In 'Acquaintance'

Summer stock packager Floyd Ackerman will have a sister act among the star vehicles he's producing for strawhat tours this season. Included in his initial lineup of entries is "Old Acquaintance" with Constance and Joan Bennett headlining. He's also sending out a husband and wife team, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino, in "Private Lives."

Among other Ackerman packages will include Jeanne Crain in "Claudia," Morey Amsterdam, Rose Marie and Billy Gray in "Love and Kisses," Dan Dailey, Peggy Ann Garner and Jay North in "A Thousand Clowns" and Marie Wilson in "My Friend Irma." Besides his summer stock packaging aetivities, Ackerman, who's headquartered in New York, also sets stars for the Drury Lane Theatre, Chicago, and the Swan Theatre, Milwaukee.

Tarheel Troupe to Tour 'Sandburg' to N.C. Schools

The Vagabond Players, based at the Flat Rock (N.C.) Playhouse, have been set by the State Dept. of Public Instruction for the presentation of 60 performances of "The World of Carl Sandburg" in a tour of North Carolina highschools. The program of selections of works by the Flat Rock author was written by Norman Corwin and toured the U.S. a few seasons ago, prior to playing Broadway.

In 1962, the show was presented by the Vagabond Players at the Flat Rock Playhouse with Sandburg attending one of the performances. Robroy Farqhuar, managing director and founder of the Tarheel troupe, is stager of the production for the state-sponsored tour. The cast comprises Gil Rogers, Helen Bragdon, Gordon Elliott and Marcia Baldwin. Alan Sader is stage manager and lighting designer.

John Berry, stager of the London and off-Broadway productions of "The Blood Knot," hopped from N.Y. to Paris recently to negotiate, for a production there of Athol Fugard's South African drama.

Tebaldi to Lyric, Chi

Renata Tebaldi will sing Mimi in "La Boheme" for the Lyric Opera in Chicago, resuming a long connection at that house. Italian soprano is now back in good form and has chalked up several successes at the Met, latterly in "Tosca."

She had been in poor voice a year ago and laid off a year to rest and re-coach.

B'way Moves To Outflank Lefky's Anti-Legit Bills

A new start is being planned by various elements in the Broadway theatre to oppose the efforts of N.Y. State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz to obtain new legislation to control legit. As an initial step, efforts will be made to persuade Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to veto the two bills passed recently by the legislators.

It's figured that Lefkowitz will renew his drive in the upcoming legislative special session, opening April 15, for enactment of the third bill, providing for State licensing of theatre personnel involved in the distribution of tickets. The action of Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney in declining to permit a vote on the measure insured its death in the closing rush of the recent session. That gives theatre elements a breather in which to organize opposition to the proposal and, in the meantime, work for a veto of the two bills passed.

Possibly affecting the situation was the announcement last week by the Securities & Exchange Commission of a simplified procedure for managements to obtain approval of proposed capitalization for Broadway productions. One of the alleged abuses uncovered by Lefkowitz in his investigation of the theatre last fall was irregularities in financial and accounting methods. Coming at the same time that the League of N. Y. Theatres is working out a new, stricter code to cover the situation, it's figured the SEC move may tend to make the Lefkowitz-sponsored measure superfluous.

It was not lost on Broadwayites, incidentally, that in the N. Y. Times story of the defeat of the remaining Lefkowitz bill, it was reported as a simple matter of fact that Special Assistant Attorney General David Clurman, who was in actual charge of the probe, is due to head the proposed enforcement agency.

Allenberry Barn Skeds 30-Week Stock Season

In an expansion of its season, the Allenberry Playhouse, Boiling Springs, Pa., is planning a 30-week spread of 15 productions (each running a fortnight) from next Friday (3) to Oct. 31. The program for the spot's 16th season will comprise three musicals and 12 straight plays. "Leave It to Jane," "The Merry Widow" and "Annie Get Your Gun" will be the tuner trio.

Three of the plays are comedies which opened and closed on Broadway this season. They're "The Irregular Verb to Love," "Love and Kisses" and "A Rainy Day in Newark." The hit, "Mary, Mary," now in its fourth year on Broadway, is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 5-17 in the event it's released for stock this summer. Richard North Gage is managing director of the Boiling Springs operation, and Charles A. B. Heinze is president.

Make It Legal?

That old wheeze about actors chewing the scenery is apparently being tak seriously by Equity. One of the matters being considered by the u ion for discussion in its upcoming contract negotiations with the League of N.Y. Theatres is the institution of a dental plan in the union's general welfare program.

The present Equity-League production agreement covering Broadway and the road expires May 31.

New Industrial Production Pact Curbs Discrimination, Hikes Rates

Actors Equity, in a new contract with 55 industrial show producers, has strengthened its regulations dealing with racial discrimination. The agreement, which expires April 15, 1967, and is retroactive to last Jan. 15, provides for the filing of charges of discrimination with the union and for arbitration of such cases.

Equity's prior industrial show pact prohibited employers from discriminating against performers because of race, creed, or color. However, there was no specific recourse in the event a producer did not abide by the rule.

In the area of closed circuit television relating to industrial shows (a matter still to be discussed no later than the middle of next October) Equity now has gained the right to determine conditions in each situation. Previously, for closed circuit tv, performers were paid either the American Federation of Television & Radio Artists minimum or a flat week's salary, whichever was greater. Also, open for discussion no later than the middle of next October is the clause covering extraordinary risk and injury.

Most of the Equity benefits in the new agreement, according to a union report, relate to the fringe areas, including a rise in the per diem allowance from $15 to $18 and an increase in pension and welfare contributions from 2% to 3% of salary. The salary minimum for performers employed for a period of two weeks or more goes up $1 to $200. Stage managers signed for the same period with shows comprising less than 13 members get $255 this year, $270 in 1965 and $285 in 1966.

If there are more than 13 members in the company, the stage manager now gets $285 weekly. Salaries for stage managers have ranged from $245.25 to $281.05, including cost of living increase. The salary for models goes from $37.50 to $40 a day, while the daily rates for actors is $90 for the first day and $60 each day thereafter.

However, performers employed for seven calendar days get $255 and similarly-employed stage managers $285. When the seven-day contract is extended the daily rate beyond that period is $60 for actors and $75 for stage managers.

The agreement calls for representatives of both signatories to meet four times yearly during the lifetime of the contract. The purpose of such meetings, which are becoming a growing practice in labor-management relations, is to avoid deadline deadlocks and to permit adjustment of the existing contract.

Equity Sets 25G Budget To Expand Pro Theatre

Actors Equity has set a $25,000 budget to cover the first year's operation of the new department to extend the professional theatre throughout the U. S. The creation of the department represented a victory for councillor Nancy R. Pollock, who had long been campaigning for such a setup.

Applicants for the executive post created by the formation of the department are being sought by the union.

3-Way Hassle For Milwaukee Pabst Theatre Control

Milwaukee, March 31.

A group fronted by Roger K. Marsh, owner of Air Equipment Inc. (a Milwaukee ventilating equipment distributor), appears most likely of "negotiating" with the city fathers for leasing of the Pabst Theatre for 1964-65 season. Marsh, a show biz newcomer produced "Showboat" at the Pabst last October and grossed $144,000. Marsh also had a piece of "Can-Can" production at Swan Theatre last season.

Pabst Theatre Management Co., present management of the city-owned theatre, seeks a cut in the $12,000 yearly rental to $1,000 monthly for nine months and no rent for June, July or August. Existing lease expires May 31, 1964. Originally, this group wanted a 50% rental cut, but the city solons declined.

Earlier this year, the city building & grounds committee, asked for "sealed bids" which would have put the Pabst on the block for national bidding.

Marsh deposited $71,000 in cash with the city as security on a new, three-year lease on Pabst, reportedly seeking a $1,000 (per month for ninee months) and no off-season rent for three summer months.

Marsh (in proposed group) has announced that Ray Mitchell, veteran Pabst public relations director, and his wife, Diana Mitchell, Pabst Theatre treasurer, will join Marsh in Pabst operation. Both the Mitchells would become corporate officers of the new company with Marsh.

Another executive of new-proposed firm will be T. J. Bartolotta, Milwaukee nitery operator and producer.

He collaborated with Marsh in producing successful three-weeks run "Show Boat."

Rach, Comiskey & Vaughn Inc., operators of Milwaukee Melody Top, and another barn in Chicago, have been also interested in managerial control of Pabst.

According to Elmer Regner, general manager of Milwaukee Melody Top, this group plans to produce

(Continued on page 82)

South African Musical Scheduled for London

London, March 31.

"Wait a Minim," a South African revue, is being presented April 9 at the Fortune Theatre by Manleon Minim Ltd., in association with Toby Rowland. The satirical show opened as an emergency fill-in at Johannesburg's Intimate Theatre early in 1962, and since then three editions have been playing in parts of South Africa.

London will get the original cast of eight, several of whom were born in England and went to South Africa to live. The material was not in script form. For the benefit of Britain's Lord Chamberlain, however, the authors and director Leon Gluckman has been committed to paper.

"Fiddler on the Roof" is the new title for the forthcoming Broadway musical, formerly called "Tevye."

Hubby-Written Ad Copy Plugs Bilingual 'Dream' As Bigger Than 'Hamlet'

Howard L. Gossage, who's partnered in the San Francisco advertising firm of Freeman and Gossage, wrote a gratis ad (one column in the March 14 issue of Cue magazine) for the dual language off-Broadway production of "Life Is a Dream." He's indirectly associated with the legit venture through his wife, Sally Kemp Gossage, who heads the cast of Roy Campbell's English version of the Spanish play by Pedro Calderon de la Barca.

Mrs. Gossage, a daughter of the late bandleader Hal Kemp, opened last Thursday (19) at the Astor Place Playhouse, N.Y., in the play initially performed at the house two nights earlier by a Spanish-speaking company. The Cue ad started with the statement, "Now in its 3,879th Smash Month!*" in large letters and then, in smaller type, ". . . But never before in America." The asterisk referred to comparative playing time of "4,283 months" for "Hamlet."

According to Gossage, Lawrence Goldstein, a co-producer of the Spanish-English project, suggested the idea of tabulating the number of months since the original unveiling of both "Dream" and "Hamlet." It usually takes a new off-Broadway production several weeks to establish audience-pull and it was felt the longrun credit might prompt a more immediate public response to the Spanish and English language versions of the play.

Shows on Broadway

Funny Girl

Ray Stark presentation of musical comedy in two acts (16 numbers), with book by Isobel Lennart, from her own original story; music by Jule Styne, lyrics by Bob Merrill. Production supervision, Jerome Robbins; staging, Garson Kanin; musical staging, Carol Haney; scenery and lighting, Robert Randolph; costumes, Irene Sharaff; musical conductor, Milton Rosenstock; orchestrations, Ralph Burns; vocal arrangements, Buster Davis; dance orchestrations, Luther Henderson; associate producer, Al Goldin; associate director, Lawrence Kasha; presented in association with Seven Arts Productions. Stars Barbra Streisand, Sydney Chaplin; features Danny Meehan, Jean Stapleton, Roger DeKoven, Joseph Macaulay, Buzz Miller, George Reeder, Royce Wallace, Kay Medford. Opened March 26, '64, at the Winter Garden, N. Y.; $9.60 top.

Fanny Brice ..... Barbra Streisand
John ..... Robert Howard
Emma ..... Royce Wallace
Mrs Brice ..... Kay Medford
Mrs. Stakosh ..... Jean Stapleton
Mrs. Meeker ..... Lydia S. Fredericks
Mrs. O'Malley ..... Joyce O'Neil
Tom Keeney ..... Joseph Macaulay
Eddie Ryan ..... Danny Meehan
Heckie ..... Victor R. Helou
Workmen Robert Howard, Robert Henson
Snub Taylor ..... Buzz Miller
Trombone Smitty ..... Blair Hammond
Five Finger Finney ..... Alan E. Weeks
Trumpet Soloist ..... Dick Perry
Bubbles ..... Shellie Farrell
Polly ..... Joan Lowe
Maude ..... Ellen Halpin
Nick Arnstein ..... Sidney Chaplin
Two Showgirls ..... Sharon Vaughn, Diana Lee Nielsen
Stage Director ..... Marc Jordan
Florenz Ziegfeld Jr. ..... Roger De Koven
Mimsey ..... Sharon Vaughn
Ziegfeld Tenor ..... John Lankston
Ziegfeld Lead Dancer ..... George Reeder
Adolph ..... John Lankston
Mrs Nadler ..... Rose Randolf
Paul ..... Larry Fuller
Cathy ..... Joan Cory
Vera ..... Lainie Kazan
Jenny ..... Diane Coupe
Ben ..... Buzz Miller
Mr. Renaldi ..... Marc Jordan

Showgirls: Prudence Adams, Joan Cory, Diane Coupe, Lainie Kazan; Diana Lee Nielsen, Sharon Vaughn, Rosemarie Yellen.

Singers: Lydia S. Fredericks, Mary Louise, Jeanne McLaren, Joyce O'Neil, Rose Randolf, Stephanie Reynolds, Victor R. Helou, Robert Henson, Robert Howard, Marc Jordan, John Lankston, Albert Zimmerman.

Dancers: Edie Cowan, Christine Dalsey, Shellie Farrell, Ellen Halpin, Rosemary Jelincic, Karen Kristin, Joan Lowe, Jose Ahumada, Bud Fleming, Larry Fuller, Blair Hammond, John Nola, Alan Peterson, Alan E. Weeks.

Musical numbers: "If a Girl Isn't Pretty," "I'm the Greatest Star," "Cornet Man," "Who Taught Her Everything?" "His Love Makes Me Beautiful," "I Want to Be Seen with You Tonight," "Henry Street," "People," "You Are Woman," "Don't Rain on My Parade," "Sadie, Sadie," "Find Yourself a Man," "Rat-Tat-Tat-Tat," "Who Are You Now?" "The Music That Makes Me Dance," "Don't Rain on My Parade."

The news about "Funny Girl," the new musical opening last Thursday night (26) at the Winter Garden, is primarily Barbra Streisand. She's not merely the femme star and title player of this song and dance saga of the early career of Fanny Brice—she's a talented performer in her own right, a striking singer, comedienne, personality and, from indications, a boxoffice name.

Largely due to her, "Funny Girl" should have a sizable Broadway run, although because of its reportedly high production cost and heavy operating hookup, it's a questionable venture to pay off or, at least, make much profit. It also appears an uncertain bet for the road or eventual stock.

Miss Streisand's personal click is hardly a surprise. Although her only previous Broadway appearance was a couple of seasons ago in a small featured role in the musical, "I Can Get It for You Wholesale," she has been a rocketing name in show business through her bestseller recordings and cabaret and television engagements. She's generally given much of the credit for the heavy theatre party and mail order advance for "Funny Girl," plus the fact that interest in the musical survived its unprecedented series of premiere postponements.

As it turns out, Miss Streisand is all that the preliminary buildup indicated. She's an impressive, versatile talent who clearly has a big future on Broadway and, in the right parts, could also be a bet for pictures — when the cycle turns and the screen is again ready to do musicals.

The star can, of course, belt across a song with a crescendo of power, dance enough to get by, play comedy with a skillful offhand manner and even hit a restrained note of poignance. Experience will bring improvement in her enunciation, which isn't invariably clear on song lyrics, and in such things as variation and change of pace, the nuances of underplaying and greater quality of relaxation and repose.

Getting the right parts may be a problem, for Miss Streisand isn't the obvious romantic type. But although she's no beauty, she can apparently be more attractive than in this Fanny Brice characterization and the 1920's fashions, and she has the kind of looks and personal style that grow on an audience. The confidence and authority that come with experience will naturally help in that regard.

The built-in limitation of "Funny Girl" is in the book, which is tied to some extent to the facts of Fanny Brice's life. The flashback story is the standard backstage treatment of the ugly duckling talent who struggles to recognition and success, finds fulfillment in love, suffers heartbreak and finally takes solace in laugh-clown-laugh dedication to her career. Isobel Lennart's libretto, based on her own original story, follows the real-life saga, with the requisite comedy and tremolo passages.

The songs, with music by Jule Styne and lyrics by Bob Merrill, include several apparent clicks, with satisfactory Streisand rousers. The star has 12 numbers in all — six of them solos, three in a tough success in the second act. On the questionable basis of a first hearing, the hits may be Miss Streisand's "I'm the Greatest Star," "People," "Don't Rain on My Parade," "Who Are You Now?" and "The Music That Makes Me Dance," and such other items as "I Want to Be Seen with You Tonight." "Henry Street" and "Find Yourself a Man."

None of the songs associated with Fanny Brice's career is revived in the show, even as a background orchestra theme. The omission is especially notable in the case of "My Man," which the late comedienne sang in the Ziegfeld "Follies" of 1921 and was identified with her thereafter.

The "Funny Girl" dances, staged by Carol Haney, are energetic and agreeably short, although two Ziegfeld-style production numbers are more impressive for size than quality, and could have more lavish scenery than had been provided by Robert Randolph and better costuming than Irene Sharaff's. It's difficult to evaluate the overall staging of the show, as Garson Kanin is billed as director and Jerome Robbins as production supervisor, but since the latter took over the assignment during the tryout, presumably he made substantial changes and is responsible for the final effect.

Sydney Chaplin, costarred as the gambler, Nicky Arnstein, the big love of Miss Brice's life, is properly suave in the romantically-drawn part, and not only gets through several songs without visible damage, and as he's done in previous musicals, makes the leading lady appear at her best.

Among the principal featured supporting players, Kay Medford is diverting as Fanny's wrily observant but devoted mother, Danny Meehan is likable as an agile dancer and loyal friend, Jean Stapleton is amusing as a gabby neighbor, Roger DeKoven is a slightly subdued Ziegfeld and Joseph Macaley a passable smalltime producer.

Milton Rosenstock conducts the brassy orchestra on the apparent theory that the audience is deaf —or he'll know the reason why.

Never Live Over A Pretzel Factory

Paul Vroom, Buff Cobb & Albert Marre presentation of comedy in three acts (four scenes), by Jerry Devine. Staged by Albert Marre; setting and lighting, Howard Bay; costumes, Frank Thompson; music, Mitch Leigh. Features Dennis O'Keefe, Nancy Franklin, Lawrence Pressman, Martin Sheen, Lanna Saunders, Gino Conforti, Marc Marno, Panama Francis Quartet, Alan North, Lorna Thayer, Robert Getz, Sidney Armus, Paul Huber. Opened March 28, '64, at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre, N. Y.; $6.90 top weeknights, $7.50 Friday-Saturday nights.

Rick ..... Gino Conforti
Benny ..... Marc Marno
Sam ..... Lawrence Pressman
Winona ..... Nancy Franklin
Mike ..... Martin Sheen
Musicians ..... Panama Francis Quartet
Bartender ..... Robert Jepson
Robert Miller ..... Dennis O'Keefe
Cheryl ..... Lanna Saunders
Edwards ..... Robert Getz
Mr. Balzac ..... Sidney Armus
Inspector ..... Alan North
Mr. Callahan ..... Paul Huber
Bel Sir Bonnie ..... Lorna Thayer
Myrna ..... Gloria Bleezarde
Rhonda ..... Sally Ackerman
Carlotta ..... Charlene Ryan
Attendants Robert Jepson, Richard Higgs
Aunt Martha ..... Kitty Barling

To label a farce amusing is to douse it with icewater. If a farce isn't hysterically funny it's apt to be a dull thud. But "Never Live Over a Pretzel Factory," last Saturday night's (28) opening at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre, is an amusing farce. It offers little for Broadway, but may do as a stock vehicle and could become a laughable picture—20th-Fox bought the screen rights in a pre-production deal.

The Jerry Devine play has a quiet first act, comes to life a bit in the second act and is fairly diverting in the third. It doesn't really catch fire, however, and doesn't ignite the audience howls that mean success for a frankly frivolous romp.

The yarn, which is apparently taken from incidents in the author's youth as an eager shoestring actor-writer-director-hustler around the fringes of the theatre in New York, involves three young fellows who occupy the basement under a Chinese restaurant, are trying to produce an art film short and are led into a grandiose financial labyrinth by an ecstatically alcoholic Hollywood star. Although the situation is humorous, the characters likable enough and the lines frequently comic, the laughs don't get rolling and audience uproar doesn't erupt.

Some of the trouble may be basic—for example, although the role of young writer is the one Devine is most interested in, the two partners share the center of attention. Moreover, the souse Hollywood fugitive is the most colorful and vital character, but he has little dimension and there's little reason for an audience to care for him. In short, interest and concern aren't focused on one key individual, so the effect is scattered.

On the other hand, the production doesn't make the most of the material. Albert Marre's direction lacks invention and visual humor, and some of the lines seem not effectively pointed. However, the sense of pace and what might be called performance depth are admirable.

The playing is generally skillful enough. Dennis O'Keefe is plausible and both diverting and engaging as the rumpot picture star who specializes in imposing on gullible strangers in order to evade responsibility. Lawrence Pressman is credible as disarming as the serious young scenarist, and Gino Conforti and Martin Sheen are pleasant as his enthusiastic partners, although they haven't enough drive to provide the missing audience compulsion.

There are believable performances by Nancy Franklin as an impulsively romantic girl addicted to worthy causes, Lanna Saunders as a helpful airline hostess, Sidney Armus as a not unduly caricatured Hollywood producer, Paul Huber as what could perhaps be an almost-life portrait of a famous documentary producer with a penchant for booze and trollops, and a virtual riot squad of assorted character players of assorted ages and looks.

Howard Bay has designed a setting that is transformed from what resembles an engine room to what the three young heroes are willing to accept as home, but the device isn't as funny as it should be—possibly because of budget limitations.

As for the title, it's an expression the flim star has picked up during his wayward career and, as he explains, it's just a trenchant-sounding phrase with the merit of being meaningless and therefore utterly harmless. Hobe.

A Murderer Among Us

Jeff Britton presentation of comedy in three acts (five scenes), by Yves Jamiaque, adapted by George White. Staged by Sam Wanamaker; settings and lighting, David Hays; costumes, Fred Voelpel; music, Paul Reif; associate producers, M. J. Boyer and Nan Lawrence. Features Tom Bosley, Pierre Olaf, Loring Smith, George S. Irving, Edith King, Jane Hoffman, Dana Elcar, Lauri Peters, Severn Darden. Opened March 25, '64, at the Morosco Theatre, N. Y.; $6.90 top weeknights, $7.50 Friday-Saturday nights.

Mlle. Suisson ..... Jane Hoffman
Louisette ..... Lauri Peters
Mayor ..... Loring Smith
Cabouche ..... Tom Bosley
Marolles ..... George S. Irving
Pertuiset ..... Dana Elcar
Mme. Maille ..... Edith King
Jerome Lahutte ..... Pierre Olaf
Birgasse ..... Severn Darden
Policemen ..... Michael Flanagan, Jon Richards

An interesting story idea has been botched in "A Murderer Among Us," which opened last Wednesday night (25) at the Morosco Theatre. The show offers nothing for Broadway or stock, but there might still be a picture in the basic premise of the yarn.

George White has adapted the macabre comedy from the original

(Continued on page 81)

Shows Abroad

Comment Va Le Monde, Mossieu? Il Tourne, Mossieu!

(How is the World Going, Mister? It is Turning, Mister!)

Paris, March 13.

Christian Casadesus presentation of comedy in four acts by Francois Billetdoux. Staged by Billetdoux; scenery, Jacques Noel; costumes, Rita Bayance and Noel; music, Joseph Kosma; mime and dance supervision, Genevieve Mallarme. Features Jess Hahn, Andre Weber. Opened March 11, '64, at the Theatre Ambigu, Paris; $3.50 top.

Hubert ..... Andre Weber
Job ..... Jess Hahn

Francois Billetdoux was responsible for that tender tale of two rejected spouses who when their respective husband and wife go off together, take up and drift into alcoholism in "Tchin-Tchin." Here he has a Yank and Frenchman thrown together during the last war and follows their odyssey across Europe to Texas. The play is uneven, overblown and overwritten, however, and unlikely export item, with home chances also questionable.

The author has tried for epic theatre in the Brecht manner, but lacks sufficient range, clarity of aim and poetic elan, so this tends to get long-winded and repetitive. It is also overlong. But there are some strong scenes and some fine acting by the ill assorted duo.

Andre Weber makes the French little man, with his bonhomie, good nature but skeptical self assurance, a figure of some depth and pathetic if bungling humanity, while Jess Hahn is massive, potent and disturbing as the egotistical Texan who thinks only of getting back home, and drags the little Frenchman along with him.

Adventures abound as they escape from concentration camp horror, almost get lynched by Free French fighters, work their way to the U.S. with the Yank then killed by silent avenging cowboys as the Frenchman vows to stay on in spite of it all.

There are expert sets on an inclined stage with flying backdrops for changes. But ideas are hammered at instead of emerging clearly and theatrically satisfying.

The leads are supported by 14 mimes, dancers and singers who fill in as counterpoint characters. Several songs by Joseph Kosma have a good folkloreic ring, and his background cleffing is also an asset. Chalk this up as a good try that falls short on most counts. But it has created dissension among the critics, if most were generally downbeat, and may have a short run. The general story value could conceivably be film material.

As for the title, it is the usual stock opening gambit between clowns at one-ring circuses here. This may also bring up thoughts that perhaps play is also a comico-circusy look at mankind in the form of clowns, or another offshoot of the theatre of the absurd. That is one of the main faults of the play in its mixture of stylization and reality without finding the truly theatrical solution.

I Due Gemelli Veneziani

(The Twins from Venice)

Genoa.

Italy is having a bit of a legit boom these days and a good part of the credit is due to the growing chain of stabile theatres in the country. The Piccolo Teatro of Milan is generally believed to be the first house to use this formula and there are now seven successful stabiles in operation.

Since there has been a lot of talk in the U.S. about "repertory theatres" and the import thereof, it is useful to examine the stabile setup, the latter being an entirely different approach to the same basic problem, decentralization of production. Literally stabile simply means communal, but these theatrical groups should not be confused with little theatre productions in small communities in the U.S.

Stabile theatres are thoroughly pro and look towards (hope for) runs, rather than one-week or two-week stands. "I Due Gemelli Veneziani," produced by the Stabile Theatre of Genoa is in its second year and seems likely to continue for quite a while longer, though not at its home base.

The system is simple. A group of professionals form a theatrical company and find a town and theatre in which to settle. They dig up a group of local backers, sometimes individual, sometimes municipal, sometimes a combination of the two.

Part of the deal is that they have their theatre on a yearly basis and the actors are hired on a yearly basis. When all the basic preparations have been made, the federal government matches whatever money they have. Then they simply go ahead and produce plays.

Usually three or four plays are scheduled each year, all permitted to run as long as they draw. Then, via exchange with others in the stabile chain (Florence, Trieste, Milan, Bologna, etc.) the year is completed. This makes it possible to sell six or eight-play subscriptions, with the locally produced works as the core. In Genoa, the management claims that its subscription list is the biggest in Italy but Milan probably says the same thing.

The fact remains that Genoa last year showed a profit, of which it is justifiably proud, although there might not have been a profit without government subsidy. Localities point out that the fact of having a subsidy is important not only for the cash in hand but because it is a psychological prod to the populace. It makes a forcible difference between these houses and fly-by-night touring companies.

This particular production of an old Goldoni comedy surprised the local management by the strength of its appeal. It ran about 100 performances in its first season (which is not not bad for a town of about 30,000 population and in a theatre of about 1,000 seats) and then hit the road via exchange to other stabile theatres. Everywhere it made good.

There are about 40 permanent members of the Genoa stabile and 16 are employed in this show, so the others were put to work preparing new productions and this troupe was kept moving around. After visiting the stabile towns, they went to other Italian cities. Now they are off to visit such European capitals as Moscow, Warsaw, Paris, London and so on. Japan and South America are booked for next year. New York, naturally, is hoped for, also.

The play is simple, having to do with a set of male twins who get their amours, their business, their lives confused, although allegedly they are unaware of one another's existence. It is pretty much the same story as "The Comedy of Errors," by a certain British playwright named Shakespeare or Rodgers and Hart's "Boys from Syracuse." (Actually the plot is from Plautus, and is traceable back to the early Greeks.)

It is well acted, principally by Alberto Lionello, who plays the two principal roles. Luigi Squarzino has directed it beautifully, getting all the laughs out of the obvious situations, yet not permitting his troupe to ham it up too much. The sets by Gianfranco Padovani are simple, decorative and a pleasure (from a touring standpoint). The costumes, by the same gent, are magnificient. The music by Giancarlo Chiaramello is undistinguished and unnecessary.

It is easy to see why the show has been such a big hit in Italy. It is not so easy to know what its fate will be outside Italy. A spectator not knowing Italian may understand and enjoy it, but average audiences may not bother to struggle with the words. The management is trying to decide whether to use screen subtitles or simultaneous earphone translations while touring in non-Italian territory. Kauf.

Battle Royal

Glasgow, March 17.

Glasgow Citizens' Theatre presentation of comedy-drama in three acts, by Bruce E. Baillie. Staged by Iain Cuthbertson, assisted by Glenn Williams; decor, Juanita Waterson and Jay Clements. Opened March 9, '64, at the Citizens Theatre, Glasgow; 95c top.

Sir Robert Macsiccar ..... Phil McCall
Isabel ..... Janet Michael
Kate ..... Hannah Gordon
Mary ..... Ros Drinkwater
Willy Ochiltree ..... Walter Carr
Sir Ebenezer Fletcher ..... James Gibson
Jamie Soutar ..... John Cairney

A new play, "Battle Royal" is set in 16th-century Scotland. It promises well at outset, but falls off badly and is revived in interest only by a humorous psuedo-trial scene.

Written by Bruce Eoin Baille, an emigrant Scot living in Mont-

(Continued on page 83)

Easter-Passover Undercuts B'way; 'Funny Girl' Socko $69,930 in 4 Plus 4, 'Succeed,' 'Oliver' Up, 'Murderer' Out

Broadway was unusually spotty last week as the anticipated weekend surge turned out to be a drop. Business was fairly brisk early in the week, but conked out Friday night (27) and at both performances Saturday (28). The rare event of the Easter weekend and Passover occuring simultaneously was apparently the key factor. It had been figured to affect attendance, but not so much.

Of the week's three openings, "Funny Girl" got away to a strong start at the Winter Garden, with theatre party bookings a seeming factor, but "Never Live Over a Pretzel Factory" appears doubtful at the Eugene O'Neill and "A Murder Among Us" flopped out after a single performance at the Morosco. Last week's capacity entries were "Any Wednesday," "Barefoot in the Park," "The Deputy," "Funny Girl" and "Hello, Dolly."

This week brings two openings: "Sponone" tomorow night (Thurs.) at the Cort and "Anyone Can Whistle" next Saturday (4) at the Majestic.

Estimates for Last Week

Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama), CD (Comedy-Drama), R (Revue), MC (Musical-Comedy), MD (Musical-Drama), O (Opera), OP (Operetta), Rep. (Repertory), DR (Dramatic Reading).

Other parenthetic designations refer, respectively, to weeks played, number of performances through last Saturday, top prices (where two prices are given, the higher is for Friday-Saturday nights and the lower for weeknights), number of seats, capacity gross and stars. Price includes 10% Federal and 5% repealed City tax (diverted to an industry-wide pension and welfare fund), but grosses are net: i.e., exclusive of taxes.

Asterisk denotes show had cut-rate tickets in circulation.

Grosses normally have been reduced by commissions where theatre parties are mentioned.

Any Wednesday, Music Box (C) (6th wk; 47 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,010; $40,000) (Sandy Dennis, Don Porter). Previous week, $40,134.

Last week, $40,841.

Barefoot in the Park, Biltmore (C) (23d wk; 179 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 994; $38,692) (Elizabeth Ashley, Robert Redford, Mildred Natwick, Kurt Kasznar). Previous week, $38,733 with parties.

Last week, $38,657.

Beyond the Fringe, Golden (R) (75th wk; 595 p) ($7.50; 799; $34,874). Previous week, $16,361.

Last week, $17,597.

Case of Libel, Longacre (D) (25th wk; 194 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,101; $40,986) (Van Heflin, Paul McGrath, Larry Gates). Previous week, $15,434.

Last week, $13,301.

Chinese Prime Minister, Royale (D) (13th wk; 100 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,050; $43,908) (Margaret Leighton, Alan Webb, John Williams). Previous week, $14,050. Closes next Saturday (4).

Last week, $11,487.

Deputy, Atkinson (D) (5th wk; 37 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,088; $43,246) (Emyln Williams, Jeremy Brett). Previous week, $43,407 with one party.

Last week, $43,414 with one party.

Dylan, Plymouth (D) (11th wk; 81 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,084; $48,369) (Alec Guinness). Previous week, $39,130.

Last week, $41,284.

Foxy, Ziegfeld (MC) (6th wk; 48 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,628; $78,305) (Bert Lahr, Larry Blyden). Previous week, $31,461.

Last week, $32,615.

Funny Girl, Winter Garden (MC) (1st wk; 4 p) ($9.60; 1,442; $74,516) (Barbra Streisand, Sydney Chaplin). Previous week, $48,888 for seven previews.

Opened last Thursday night (26) to four moderately favorable reviews (Kerr, Herald Tribune; McClain, Journal-American; Nadel, World-Telegram; Taubman, Times), one pan (Watts, Post) and one no-opinion (Chapman, News).

Last week, $69,930 for four performances and four previews.

Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, Hellinger (MC) (99th wk; 789 p) ($8.60-$9.40; 1,572; $84,000) (Dick Shawn). Previous week, $30,704.

Last week, $29,895.

Hello, Dolly, St. James (MC) (11th wk; 84 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,609; $71,331) (Carol Channing). Previous week, $71,005 with parties.

Last week, $71,199.

Here's Love, Shubert (MC) (26th wk; 202 p) ($9.60; 1,453; $67,923) Previous week, $35,451.

Last week, $38,795.

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, 46th St. (MC) (129th wk; 1,023 p) ($9.60; 1,342; $66,615). Previous week, $51,650.

Last week, $61,216.

Mary, Mary, Hayes (C) (160th wk; 1,274 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,164; $43,380) (Mindy Carson, Murray Hamilton, Tom Helmore). Previous week, $15,848.

Last week, $15,253.

Never Live Over a Pretzel Factory, O'Neill (C) (1st wk; 1 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,047; $45,398). Previous week, $4,109 for three previews.

Opened last Saturday night to one favorable notice (Mitchell, Journal-American) and five pans (Chapman, News; Kerr, Herald Tribune; Nadel, World-Telegram; Taubman, Times; Watts, Post).

Last week, $6,022 for one performance and two previews.

Never Too Late, Playhouse (C) (70th wk; 557 p) (70th wk; 557 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 994; $37,000) (Paul Ford, Maureen O'Sullivan, Orson Bean). Previous week, $30,813.

Last week, $29,245.

Nobody Loves an Albatross, Lyceum (C) (15th wk; 116 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 995; $33,000) (Robert Preston). Previous week, $24,414.

Last week, $24,435.

Oliver, Imperial (MD) (64th wk; 511 p) ($9.30; 1,450; $71,977) (Clive Revill, Georgia Brown). Previous week, $40,737.

Last week, $54,166.

110 in the Shade, Broadhurst (MC) (23d wk; 178 p) ($8.60-$9.40; 1,186; $58,000) (Robert Horton, Inga Swenson, Stephen Douglass). Previous week, $43,490.

Last week, $44,586.

What Makes Sammy Run, 54th St. (MC) (5th wk; 36 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,271; $68,128) (Steve Lawrence, Sally Ann Howes, Robert Alda). Previous week, $54,263.

Last week, $49,195.

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? Rose (D) (77th wk; 608 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,162; $40,485) (Mercedes McCambridge, Donald Davis, Ben Piazza) (matinee company costars Haila Stoddard, Henderson Forsythe, Bill Berger). Previous week, $18,095.

Last week, $17,916.

 MISCELLANEOUS

Lincoln Center Repertory Theatre, ANTA Washington Square (Rep) (10th wk; 76 p) ($6-$6.50; 1,158; $46,500). Previous week, $40,452 with subscription, for five performances of "But for Whom Charlie" and three of "Marco Millions."

Last week, $43,206 for eight performances of the above shows and "After the Fall."

PREVIEWING THIS WEEK

Cafe Crown, Beck (MC) (Sam Levene, Theodore Bikel, Tommy Rall). Previous week, $5,667 for one theatre party preview Saturday night (21).

High Spirits, Alvin (MC) (Beatrice Lillie, Tammy Grimes, Edward Woodward). Previous week, $70,105, Shubert, Philadelphia. Previews began last Tuesday night (24).

CLOSED LAST WEEK

Luther, Lunt-Fontanne (D) (28th wk; 211 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,478; $60,432) (John Heffernan, George Mathews, Hugh Franklin, Lionel Stander, Glyn Owen, Frank Shelley). Previous week, $17,344.

Last week, $22,067. Closed last Saturday night (28) to tour; the David Merrick Foundation offering has earned about $40,000 profit so far on an investment of $90,000.

Murderer Among Us, Morosco (C) (1st wk; 5 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,009; $42,362). Opens Wednesday night (25). Previous week, $5,244 for eight previews.

Opened last Wednesday night (25) to one approving notice (Chapman, News) and five pans (Kerr, Herald Tribune; Mitchell, Journal-American; Nadel, World-Telegram; Taubman, Times; Watts, Post).

Last week, $2,718 for one performance and two previews. Closed last Saturday night (28) after a single performance, at an estimated loss of $155,000.

OPENING THIS WEEK

Sponono, Cort (D) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,100; $41,482). South African drama by Alan Paton and Krishna Shah opens tomorrow night (Thurs.). Previous week, drew about $1,000 for two previews.

Last week, $3,700 for seven previews.

Anyone Can Whistle, Majestic (MC) ($8.60; 1,655; $81,000) (Lee Remick, Angela Lansbury, Harry Guardino). Musical by Arthur Laurents and Stephen Sondheim opens next Saturday night (4).

Last week, $26,221 for six previews.

PREVIEWING THIS WEEK

Cafe Crown, Beck (MC) (Sam Levene, Theodore Bickel, Tommy Rall). Previous week, $5,667 for one preview.

Last week, $16,681 for eight previews.

High Spirits, Alvin (MC) (Beatrice Lillie, Tammy Grimes, Edward Woodward).

Last week, $36,134 for five previews.

Ed Greenberg on Coast To Stage 'Kate' for CLO

Edward Greenberg, who'll stage the upcoming summer revivals at the N.Y. State Theatre (Lincoln Center) of "The King and I" and "The Merry Widow," is in Los Angeles to direct "Kiss Me, Kate," which will be the opening bill of the 27th season for the Civic Light Opera Assn. there. The Cole Porter musical, costarring Patrice Munsel and Robert Wright," is due April 20 at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

Following his Coast assignment, Greenberg will return to New York to begin work on the State Theatre presentations, which Richard Rodgers is producing. "King," starring Rise Stevens, is to open July 6 and "Widow," with Miss Munsel headlining, is scheduled for Aug. 17.

Shows on B'way

Continued from page 80

A Murderer Among Us French of Yves Jamiaque, and the piece has a faintly reminiscent note as a former Paris success of undisclosed title. At any rate, this is a thick-fingered treatment and it has been staged by Sam Wanamaker as a welter of dramatic forms and individual styles.

The piece is located in a French town and the plot involves a mild little librarian who has returned home after serving a prison term and then being exonerated of murder. Having paid the penalty for a crime he didn't commit, he reasons that society now owes him a killing on the house, so to speak, and he proposes to shoot the worst villain in town. There is, of course, a philosophical surprise twist at the end.

The story has a sort of Friedrich Durrenmatt-Luigi Pirandello flavor, but its quality is blunted in the inept adaptation, the chaotically antic direction, the affectedly elaborate scenery of David Hays, the inconsistent costumes of Fred Voelpel and the wildly assorted styles of the actors.

Pierre Olaf gives a restrained and believable performance as the inoffensive hero, and Lauri Peters plays the simple ingenue role simply, but Tom Bosley, Loring Smith and the supporting players give the impression of obeying every hokum impulse. The result is something resembling a shambles. Hobe.

(Closed last Wednesday (25) after a single performance.)

Burton-'Hamlet' $68,330 (7), Boston; 'Camelot' $66,453 in Philly Opening; 'Succeed,' 'Forum,' 'Little Me' Also Big

The road followed an up-and-down pattern last week. "Hamlet," with Richard Burton in the title part, was again the top grosser, having moved from Toronto to Boston. The regular touring version of "Camelot," with Anne Jeffreys now the femme star, was a close second in its initial week in Philadelphia.

"The Hollow Crown" made a handsome improvement in its second week in San Francisco.

Estimates for Last Week

Parenthetic designations for out-of-town shows are the same as for Broadway, except that hyphenated T with show classification includes tryout. RS indicates road show and BT indicates bus-and-truck production. Also, prices on touring shows include 10% Federal tax and local tax, if any, but as or Broadway grosses are net; i.e. exclusive of taxes. Engagements are for single week unless otherwise noted.

Where subscription is mentioned, the gross is the net after the deductions of commissions. Grosses for split weeks are projected when shows play guaranteed dates.

ATLANTA

Pajama Tops, Community (C-RS) ($5.05; 687) (June Wilkinson, Richard Vath). Previous week unreported at the Auditorium, Rochester.

Last week, $8,115 with twofers.

BOSTON

Enter Laughing, Wilbur (C-RS) (2d wk) $4.95-$5.50; 1,241; $36,699) (Yvonne de Carlo, Alan Mowbray, Irving Jacobson, Alan Arkin). Previous week, $24,480 with Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription.

Last week, $23,089 on subscription.

Hamlet, Shubert (D-T) (1st wk) ($7.50; 1,727, $81,000). Previous week, $84,356 at the O'Keefe, Toronto.

Opened March 24 to two affirmative notices (Hughes, Herald; Maloney, Traveler), one so-so for Richard Burton and negative for the show (Kelly, Globe) and two yes-and-no (Norton, American; Rogers, Monitor).

Last week, capacity $68,330 for seven performances; sold out for the remaining two weeks of the engagement.

CHICAGO

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, Shubert (MC-RS) (20th wk) ($5.95-$6.95; 2,100; $74,000). Previous week, $54,778.

Last week, $52,901.

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? Studebaker (D-RS) (5th wk) ($5.50-$6) Nancy Kelly, Sheppard Strudwick — matinee company Michaele Myers, Kendall Clark). Previous week, $27,570.

Last week, $28,776.

CLEVLAND

Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum, Hanna (MC-RS) (1st wk) ($6.95; 1,515; $59,000) (Jerry Lester, Edward Everett Horton, Paul Hartman, Arnold Stang). Previous week, $41,444 at the Shubert, Cincinnati.

Last week, $53,510 with Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription.

DETROIT

Little Me, Fisher (MC-RS) (1st wk) ($6.50-$5.70; 2,081; $75,000) (Sid Caesar). Previous week, $53,719 at the Blackstone, Chicago.

Last week, $40,849.

MINNEAPOLIS

Thousand Clowns, Orpheum (C-RS) ($4.95-$5.50; 2,800; $76,783) (Dane Clark, Margaret O'Brien). Previous week, $21,902 for seven performances on Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription at the Auditorium, Denver.

Last week, $22,731 with TG-ATS subscription.

OMAHA

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, Civic Auditorium (MC-RS-3d Co.) ($5; 2,610; $110,000). Previous week, $38,225 at the Capitol, Salt Lake City.

Last week, $40,694.

PHILADELPHIA

Camelot, Shubert (MC-RS) (1st wk) ($6.60-$7.50; 1,907; $70,000) (Anne Jeffreys, George Wallace, Arthur Treacher). Previous week, $65,137 at the Colonial, Boston.

Last week, $66,453.

SAN FRANCISCO

Hollow Crown, Curran (DR-BT) (2d wk) ($5.40-$5.95; 1,758; $42,000). Previous week, $9,561.

Last week, $12,184.

Private Ear-Public Eye, Geary (CD-RS) (1st wk) ($5.40-$5.95; 1,483; $38,000) (Geraldine McEwan, Barry Foster, Brian Bedford, Moray Watson). Previous week, $18,424 at the Biltmore, Los Angeles.

Last week, $17,393 with Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription.

ST. PAUL

Stop the World — I Want to Get Off, Auditorium (MC-RS) $5.50-$6.50; 2,697; $98,000) (Kenneth Nelson, Joan Eastman). Previous week, $27,802 at the Shubert, Detroit.

Last week, $22,954.

TORONTO

In One Bed (and Out the Other), Royal Alexandra (C-RS) ($5.50; 1,497; $23,500). Previous week, $20,867 with twofers.

Last week, $20,506 with twofers.

Man for All Seasons, O'Keefe (D-RS) (1st wk) ($5.50; 3.283; $83,264) (William Roderick, Bruce Gordon, Albert Dekker). Previous week, $24,453 at the Shubert, New Haven.

Last week, $33,807 with Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription.

UNREPORTED

(Shows listed below were playing guaranteed dates for which grosses cannot be accurately figured.)

Boys From Syracuse (MC-BT), playing split-week.

Camelot (MC-BT) (Biff McGuire, Jeannie Carson, Melville Cooper), playing split-week.

Bill Walden Cops Prize With 'Treasure on Earth'

William Walden, of the New Yorker mag, has won another playwriting contest. His "Treasure On Earth" was the winner of a competition conducted by the Arcadia (Cal.) Community Theatre. He was awarded $100 and the community operation has asked his permission to present the play on two or more Friday-Saturday nights during May.

"Treasure" was one of 65 competing scripts submitted from all over the country. A previous script by the same author has won a number of prizes.

London Shows

(Figures denote opening dates)

All In Love, May Fair (3-16-64).
Boeing-Boeing, Apollo (2-20-63).
Difference of Opinion, Garrick (11-21-63).
Diplomats, Westminster (12-21-63).
D'Oyly Carte, Savoy (12-19-63).
Embly Loves Opal, Vaudeville (4-1-64).
Fielding's Hall, Prince Charles (2-27-63).
Formation Dancers, New Acts (3-18-64).
Funny Thing Happened, Strand (10-3-63).
Half a Sixpence, Cambridge (3-21-63).
Hang Head Down, Comedy (3-19-64).
Hedda Gabler, St. Martin's (2-12-64).
How to Succeed, Shaftesbury (2-28-63).
Kayf Up West, Royal, East (3-10-64).
Lovely War, Wyndham's (3-19-63).
Man in the Moon, Pall-Mall (12-22-63).
Mexican Fiesta, Drury Lane (3-30-64).
Minstrels, Vic. Palace (5-25-62).
Monsieur Blaise, Phoenix (1-9-64).
Mother's Boy, Globe (3-19-64).
Mousetrap, Ambassador (11-25-52).
No Strings, Her Majesty's (12-30-63).
Oliver, New (6-30-60).
One for the Pot, Whitehall (8-2-61).
Pickwick, Saville (7-4-63).
Poor Bitos, Duke of York's (1-6-64).
Reluctant Peer, Duchess (1-15-64).
Repertory, Aldwych (12-15-60).
Repertory, National Theatre (10-22-63).
Round Piccadilly, Prince Wales (3-28-64).
Royal Comm. Revue, Mermaid (3-11-64).
Seagull, Queen's (3-12-64).
Severed Head, Criterion (6-27-63).
Sky of One Adelphi (5-[illegible]-[illegible]).
Sound of Music, Palace (3-18-61).
Spoon River, Royal Court (2-13-64).
Who's Afraid Woolf, Piccadilly (2-6-64).
Wings of the Dove, Lyric (12-3-63).

CLOSED

Antonio, Drury Lane (3-2-64); closed last Saturday (28) after limited engagement of 32 performances.
Beyond the Fringe, Fortune (5-10-61); closed Saturday (21) after 1189 performances.

SCHEDULED OPENINGS

Schoolmistress, Savoy (4-8-64).
Wait A Minim, Fortune (4-9-64).
She Loves Me, Lyric (4-29-63).

Off-Broadway Reviews

Cindy

Stuart Weiner presentation of a musical comedy in two acts, with lyrics and music by Johnny Brandon, book by Joe Sauter and Mike Sawyer, based on the Cinderella story. Staged by Marvin Gordon; orchestrations and musical direction, Clark McClellan; musical conductor, Sammy Benskin; scenery, Robert T. Williams; costumes, Patricia Quinn Stuart; lighting, Martin Aronstein; associate producer, Jerry Grace. Opened March 19, '64, at the Gate Theatre, N.Y.C.; $4.50 top weeknights, $4.95 weekends.

Cast: Jacqueline Mayro, Sylvia Mann, Johnny Harmon, Lizabeth Pritchett, Thelma Oliver, Dena Dietrich, Amelia Varney, Mike Sawyer, Joseph Masiell, Frank Nastasi, Tommy Karaty, Mark Stone.

Thanks to a pleasing score and sprightly dances, "Cindy" has delightful moments. But every time the musical begins to score, the uninspired book undermines it.

This up-dated adaptation of the Cinderella legend is set, of all places, in a New York delicatessen, owned by the heroine's father and stepmother. Prince Charming is the son of a wealthy Gotham family, and the big Ball takes at the Plaza.

However, Joe Sauter and Mike Sawyer have based most of the book's humor on the character's Jewishness. The jokes and many of the lines are obvious, unoriginal, and not a bit amusing.

An asset is the work of director-choreographer Marvin Gordon, who has come up with some fresh, lively musical staging. The dancing is excellent. Thelma Oliver, Tommy Karaty and Mark Stone are loose-limbed and charming as a trio of terpsing narrators, and Johnny Harmon is a standout as the boy who finally gets the girl. Harmon sings well and acts capably; his dancing is expert. He seems to have what's needed for a juvenile lead in a Broadway musical.

As the heroine, Jacqueline Mayro is likable, but there is a harsh edge to her voice and she tends to be too cutesy at times. Joe Masiell sings well as the boy she thinks she loves but doesn't, and Dena Dietrich and Amelia Varney get laughs as the stepsisters, although their parts don't allow much subtlety.

The older actors are stymied by stereotype roles. Lizabeth Pritchett as Prince Charming's mother, sings one song effectively, but Sylvia Mann, Frank Nastasi, and Mike Sawyer are up against sickly material. The Robert T. Williams sets and Patricia Quinn Stuart costumes are laudable. Johnny Brandon score ranges from the lushly romantic to the bouncy. It deserved a better book. Kenn.

Becket-Arrabal-Jones Triple-Bill

Theatre 1964 (Richard Barr, Clinton Wilder, Edward Albee) presentation of three one-act dramas: "Play," by Samuel Beckett; "The Two Executioners," by Arrabal, and "Dutchman," by LeRoi Jones. "Play" staged by Alan Schneider, set by William Ritman. "The Two Executioners" and "Dutchman" staged by Edward Parone. Opened March 23, '64, at the Cherry Lane Theatre, N.Y.C.; $2.50 top weeknights, $4.50 weekends.

Cast: George Anderson, Alice Drummond, Robert Hooks, Charles Kindl, Marian Reardon, David Spielberg, Ray Stewart, Jennifer West, Lynn Bernay, Ron Mack, Peter Michaels.

Joining Samuel Beckett's "Play" at the Cherry Lane are a pair of one-acters, "Two Executioners," by Spanish playwright Fernando Arrabal, and "Dutchman," by a young American, Le Roi Jones. The first is a tiresomely old-hat work about a viperish mother, the second an intriguing but imperfect piece about a macabre encounter between a white girl and a colored boy.

In "Two Executioners," a woman who makes Lady Macbeth look like Little Eva turns her husband over to the titular characters, whom she knows will beat him to death. Her two sons accompany her to the prison where he is being tortured, and although one of the boys is totally in Momma's control, the other objects to her activities, which include pouring salt (literally) on the father's wounds.

By play's end, however, both sons are enslaved by the sweet-talking villainess. Marian Reardon, David Spielberg and George Anderson all perform capably, but the drama is not original or subtle enough to make such an often-used theme compelling.

"Dutchman," on the other hand, is gripping. Set on a subway train, it begins with humor as an obviously looney blonde propositions a young Negro man. Taunted by the girl, who accuses him of being an Uncle Tom, he breaks loose with a wrathful speech which is a blanket indictment of all whites. The piece ends with a brutal murder.

Jones is apparently a talented playwright, but at this time his passions seem stronger than his craftsmanship. The play is erratic, and the situation seems too incredible to support the message. But it has many impressive moments, and its gives Jennifer West a chance to prove that she is a skillful actress. Robert Hooks is also good, although his role is less showy. Both "Dutchman" and "Executioners" are capably staged by Edward Parone.

Held-over on the Bill is Beckett's "Play," which until recently was being performed with Harold Pinter's "Lover." Alice Drummond and Ray Stewart have joined the cast, along with Marian Reardon. They seem to be playing more for laughs than in the earlier production. They are also easier to understand since they speak more slowly. Nevertheless, this brief non-play about three people speaking from the grave still seems more pretentious than meaningful. Kenn.

Life is a Dream

John Ben Tarver, Jose Crespo, Jay Broad, Jerome Metz & Laurence Goldstein presentation, by special arrangement with Eric Bentley, under the sponsorship of Teatro Espanol, N.Y., of a drama in three acts by Pedro Calderon de la Barca. English version by Roy Campbell. Staged by Jay Broad; scenery, Vincent Placentini, Jr.; executive producer, John Ben Tarver; costumes, Richard Seger. Opened March 19, '64, at the Astor Place Playhouse, N.Y.C.; $3.90 top weeknights, $4.50 weekends.

Cast: Michael Higgins, Sally Kemp Gossage, Khigh Dhieh, Cavada Humphrey, Richard Waring, Richard Kuss, David Margulies, Michael Shoztic, David Harris.

Although it was written in the 17th century, "Life Is a Dream" is still absorbing theatre. The Calderon play, set in medieval Poland and concerned with illusion and fate, has been admirably translated by Roy Campbell from the Spanish, and is being performed skillfully at the Astor Place Playhouse.

The style of the production is non-realistic, with actors often speaking directly to the audience. Some of the gimmicks employed seem at odds with the mood of the play, but Jay Broad's staging is generally effective, and most of the acting is excellent.

Michael Higgins gives a powerful performance as the prince imprisoned by his father lest he fulfill a prophecy and become a tyrant. Khigh Dheigh is also fine as the regal but frightened king, and Richard Waring and Cavada Humphrey are good as royal cousins who covet the crown. Richard Kuss, Sally Kemp Gossage and David Margulies also perform capably.

This English version is being performed Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:30. Fridays at 10 and Saturdays at 7. A Spanish version, playing at the same theatre Mondays and Wednesdays at 8:30, Fridays at 7, Saturdays at 10, and Sundays at 3, will be reviewed in a future issue. Kenn.

Australian Shows

(Week Ending March 28)

ADELAIDE
Night of Iguana, Sheridan.
Night on Bald Mountain, Union.
On Fringe '64, Penninaton.
Opera-Ballet, Her Majesty.

HOBART
Merry Widow, Royal.

MELBOURNE
Barefoot in Park, Princess.
Camelot, Her Majesty's.
Love Rides Rails, Russell St.
Naked Island, St. Martins.
New Moon, St. Kilda Palais.
Philippine Dancers, Comedy.
Stop the World, Tivoli.

SYDNEY
Black Theatre Prague, Royal.
Boeing-Boeing, Palace.
Do You Know Milky Way, Independent.
Henry V, Tent.
How to Succeed, Her Majesty's.
Importance Being Earnest, Old Tote.
Importance Being Oscar, Old Tote.
Minstrels, Tivoli.
Physicists, Ensemble.

OFF-BROADWAY SHOWS

(Figures denote opening dates)

Amorous Flea, York (2-17-64).
Betty-Sponge, East End (2-24-64).
Blacks, St. Marks (5-4-61).
Blood Knot, Cricket (3-2-64).
Boys Syracuse, Theatre 4 (4-15-63).
Caretaker, Players (1-30-64).
Cindy, Gate (3-19-64).
Fantasticks, Sullivan St. (5-3-60).
Immoralist, Bouwerie Lane (11-7-63).
In Summer House, Little Fox (3-25-64).
In White America, Sher. Sq. (10-31-63).
Jo, Orpheum (2-12-64).
Life Is a Dream, Astor Pl. (3-19-64).
Little Eyolf, Actors (3-16-64).
Pinter Plays, Midway (11-26-62).
Repertory, Phoenix (3-4-64).
Six Characters, Martinique (3-8-63).
Streets of N. Y., Maidman (10-29-63).
Trojan Woman, Circle in Sq. (12-23-63).
Triple-bill, Cherry Lane (3-24-64).
Trumpets Lord, 1 Sher. Sq. (12-21-63).
White Rose & Red, Stage 73 (3-16-64).

SCHEDULED OPENINGS
Salad Mad Cafe, Masque (3-31-64).
Diary Madman, Gram. Arts (4-14-64).
Dream Swallows, Jan. Hus (4-14-64).
Billygoat Eddie, Writers (4-15-64).

Legit Bits

Leonard Sillman and Clifford Hayman plan co-producing Benn Starr's "The Family Way" on Broadway early next season, with Michael Gordon directing.

Gene Gross is in the cast of "A Thousand Clowns" which opened a two-week run last night (Tues.) at the Playhouse on the Mall, Paramus, N.J.

Pembroke Davenport has succeeded Donald Pippin as conductor of "Foxy." Pippin has returned to "110 in the Shade."

John Calhoun has been appointed business manager of the Williamstown (Mass.) Summer Theatre for the second consecutive year.

Scenery for the revivals of "The King and I" and "The Merry Widow," to be presented this summer at the N.Y. State Theatre, will be designed, respectively, by Paul McGuire and Rouben Ter-Arutunian. Yuriko will choreograph "King" and Zachary Solov will handle that assignment for "Widow."

A dramatization by an, as yet, unselected playwright of Ira Hirschmann's autobiographical book, "Caution to the Winds," with Cardinal Roncalli, who became Pope John XXIII as the central character, is planned for Broadway production next fall by East-West Productions, composed of Miranda d'Ancona, Norman Maibaum, Morton Zolotow and Nancy Levering.

Stagers for the upcoming three-part "Talent '64" program, which John Effrat is producing at the Booth Theatre, N.Y., comprise Marvin Gordin, assisted by Lonnie Dann and Dick Natowski (musical comedy revue); Richard Flusser, aided by Eleanore Knapp (music and dance divertissement) and Eli Ask (drama program). John Sacco will be musical director for all three presentations with Harry Valante and Gerald Goodman as his associates.

Bobby Dean Hooks an actor, has changed his name to Robert Hooks.

Franz Allers will conduct the revivals of "The King and I" and "Merry Widow" at the State Theatre at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, N.Y.

"Rashomon" will be presented by the Lincoln Square Theatre at the Little Theatre, West Side, YMCA, N.Y., March 26-29 and April 2-5.

Sam Saul, veteran souvenir program salesman who's celebrating his 45th year in the legit field, is peddling the programs for the Josephine Baker show at the Henry Miller's Theatre, N.Y.

A new dimond shaped, raked thrust stage designed by Will Steven Armstrong will be used by the American Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford, Conn., for its 10th season, opening next May 30.

"Billygoat Eddie," by James Grady, is being produced by Jones Harris for an April 15 opening at the Writers Stage, N.Y., under the direction of Sherwood Arthur. Sets and lighting for the presentation, capitalized at $15,000, are being designed by Joel Cook. Sally Gifft is designing the costumes.

Michael Dewell, coproducer of the National Repertory Theatre, has been elected to the executive committee of the American National Theatre & Academy. He's been an ANTA board member for two years.

Reproductions of Cecil Beaton's original costumes for "My Fair Lady" are being used in the Laurence Henry Co. stock production which began touring last night (Tues.) at the Mineola (L.I.) Playhouse. Recent cast additions include Susan Fellows, Kennan Hamilton, Constance Moffit, Carol Richards and Julie Sargeant. Miss Fellows and Hamilton will understudy Margot Moser and Michael Evans in the lead roles.

Richard Rodgers will move his Manhattan production office from its present Madison Ave. location farther up the street to the Music Corp. of America Building.

Kenneth J. Stein, who co-produced this season's bus-and-truck company of "A Thousand Clown," planes to London today (Wed.) in connection with negotiation for two undisclosed scripts which he plans producing next season.

M'wkee Hassle

Continued from page 79

three shows at the Pabst plus road-shows.

Both Milwaukee Symphony and Chicago Symphony concerts, will continue at Pabst, according to Regner, Main Rach, Comiskey & Vaughn shows will be musicals and light operas (same as Milwaukee Melody Top).

Regner pledged $1,000 monthly for two years (with a year's option) and will deposit $15,000 in escrow to manage the Pabst Theatre.

Regner, who firmed up offer in writing to City Clerk Ray Markey on Friday (27), indicated he personally) plans operating the Pabst, in a tiein with Rach, Comiskey & Vaughn.

Regner's executives will include Sumner Kernan, onetime Fred Miller Theatre publicist (today producing a poetic monodrama, "The Affrontery of Walt Whitman) as secretary; Paul Davis, Milwaukee concessionaire, veepee, and Mr. & Mrs. Francis Demet, Milwaukee, investors.

7th ANNUAL MUSICAL ARENA THEATRES
MANAGEMENT COURSE

Course Consists of:
1—Payroll preparation & Taxes
2—Union contracts and regulations
3—Box Office procedure
4—House management
5—Office management
6—Royalty contracts
7—Presentation and selection
8—Promotion and publicity
9—Casting and Rehearsing

Courses of instruction for prospective theatre personnel. Purpose of these classes is to provide a trained pool of available and interested personnel for stock theatre companies.

Outstanding personalities from Broadway, TV, Summer Stock and the Metropolitan Opera will be among those lecturing.

Intensive 3 day course given weekend of April 24, 25, and 26 at the Dance Players Studio in New York City.

Complete cost of course $58.00, includes textbook, illustrative materials and luncheon. For information and registration, write: MUSICAL ARENA THEATRES ASSOCIATION, Room 1020, 122 E. 42nd St., N. Y. 17, N. Y. MU 2-1197.

"... a powerful suspense play. The action is intense, skillfully brought to a shattering climax."
Charles McHarry, N.Y. DAILY NEWS.

"... stunning impact ... For sheer dramatic tension and excitement, Philly hasn't seen the equal of 'KATAKI' this year, perhaps in several years."
Waters, VARIETY Philadelphia

"...an authentically comic entertainment ..."
John Beaufort, CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

"... It says its message with power, laughter, intensity and charm."
Patterson Greene, LA EXAMINER

"... this is, to my mind, very nearly a perfect evening in the theater—a skillful tour de force that sets the pulses pounding and that can even scratch the heart."
Cecil Smith, L.A. TIMES

"... amazing and hilarious."
Hart, VARIETY, Hollywood

"... ticks with tibe-bomb suspense ..."
TIME

SHIMON WINCELBERG'S
"KATAKI"
Included in THE BEST PLAYS OF 1958-1959.
Louis Kronenberger, Editor

Available for Stock & Community Theaters from:
SAMUEL FRENCH, INC.
25 West 45 St.
New York, N.Y. 10036
7623 Sunset Blvd.
Hollywood 46, Cal.
SAMUEL FRENCH (Canada) LTD.
27 Grenville St.
Toronto 5, Canada

HOSTESSES
WORLD'S FAIR
FAR EASTERN THEATRE RESTAURANT
Day and Nite Shifts
Interviews Are Being Conducted at RESTAURANT ASSOCIATES
515 W. 57 St., New York City
Immediate Commitments of Employment Will Be Given to Qualified Applicants

For Film Version of
A. Ginsberg's KADDISH
SEPTEMBER 20 PRODUCTIONS INC is looking for three actors:
45 year old heavy woman
25-30 year old man
14-17 year old boy
for appointment call: CH 4-1372

WOMAN WANTED
With experience in theater ticket broker's office; typing necessary and general clerical experience desirable. Please write stating qualifications and salary desired.
Box V-3599, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 10036

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
JACKIE GLEASON?
OR IS IT JACKIE GLEASON

Thursday Evening, April 2, 1964 —9 P.M. — WRVR Radio — 106.7 F.M.
A Radio Adaptation of William Shakespeare's
AS YOU LIKE IT
The Actors
Edward Claymore • Terry Croft • Michele Kaske • Rena Varon
Wayne Croft • Harvey Jason • Paul Robinson • David Zirlin
Directed by WAYNE CROFT
Original Music by MARC SHAPIRO

Shows Abroad

Continued from page 80

Battle Royal

real, it offers most scope to John Cairney, a local actor, in the main role of a stranger who is imagined to be King James the Fifth of Scotland in disguise. Back on home terrain after some time in London and elsewhere, this young actor shows charm, confidence and promise.

"Battle Royal" also offers meaty roles to Phil McCall, a local comedy actor, and vet player James Gibson. They make the most of opportunities, the former as the grasping Laird of Glendrum, the latter as his neighborhing Laird of Kinellie.

The drama has richness in bawdy fun and lusty lines, already scissored by the British censor, but never gets above being a period romp, not to be taken too seriously. It contains interesting Scottish lowland phrases and much earthiness of language, and moves at a fast pace under the direction of Iain Cuthbertson and Glenn Williams.

The plot is thinnish, and interest flags in the second act. However, a clever piece of comical acting by Walter Carr as a not-so-silly Scottish buffoon has the outfronters laughing heartily, and as a yock-provider, the play merits local attention.

The parts of the three daughters, all offered as bed-mates to the visiting stranger when he is thought to be the disguised monarch, are prettily played (and with the right rebellious gusto) by Janet Michael, Hannah Gordon and Ros Drinkwater, who handle the delicate suggestions and down-to-earth dialog with great glee.

"Battle Royal" may do as local boxoffice, but it remains undistinguished, mixed-quality drama, an interesting enough experiment well enough served by a competent cast. The setting of the Laird of Glendrum's parlor, by local decor specialists Juanita Waterson and Jay Clements, is authentically 16th-century Scotch. Gord.

On the Fringe '64

Adelaide, March 12.

Flinders Street Revue Pty. Ltd. presentation of an intimate revue, with sketches by Ruth Barratt, Lois Ramsey, Nan Witcombe, Wayne Anthoney and Stephen Ramsey, and songs by Peter Narroway, John Drake, and Jeremy Wesley-Smith. Features Lois Ramsey, Ray Wheeler, Daphne Kirkland, Michael Johnston, Rose Doran, Wayne Anthoney, Meredith Bowman, Neil Hume. Staged by Alan Babbage; costumes, Roma Roll; decor, Peter McWilliams; choreography, Judith Kilroy; piano, Claire Chittleborough; drums, Roy Bates. Opened March 5, '64, at Pennington Hall, Adelaide; $1.40 top.

This is a crips, clever revue, written entirely by Adelaide authors. Never malicious, it is sometimes audacious and even occasionally borders on the outrageous. It pokes a fair share of fun at the Adelaide Festival of Arts presentations and personalities, at Australiana generally, and also at the local scene (points upon which many visitors naturally miss).

Inevitable sallies are lung cancer and smoking, the Beatles, television, "Camelot" and even the Queen. But all have an original slant. There are additionally a handful of general items, like "Sex Index," in which a girl ticks off categories of males, which would be good enough anywhere.

The show runs 135 minutes, with 31 items, and about 80% hits the target.

Staging, in the hands of Alan Babbage, is well above average and the cast works hard, although maybe the talent of some is stretched to its farthest. Standouts are comedienne Lois Ramsey, who does an incredible number as a grandfather talking about his World War I experiences, and Ray Wheeler who facially is a cross between a male Joyce Grenfell and Fred Astaire. Stan.

Night on Bald Mountain

Adelaide, March 31.

Adelaide Univ. Theatre Guild, association with the Adelaide Univ. Union, in conjunction with the Adelaide Festival of Arts presentation of a drama in three acts (seven scenes), by Patrick White. Stars Joan Bruce, Nita Pannell, Alexander Archdale. Staged by John Tasker; scenery, Wendy Dickson; music, Jeremy Wesley-Smith. Opened March 9, '64, at the Union Theatre. $2.25 top.

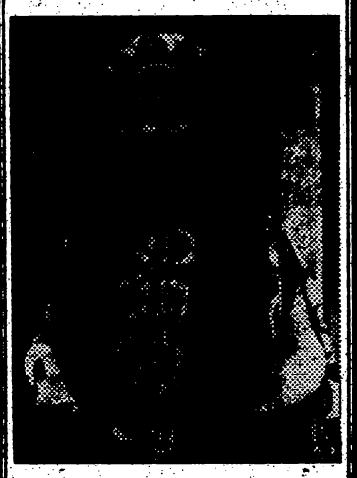
Miss Quodling ..... Nita Pannell
Stella Summerhayes ..... Barbara West
Denis Craig ..... Robert Leach
Hugo Sword .... Alexander Archdale
Miriam ..... Joan Bruce
Mrs. Sibley ..... Myra Noblet
Cantwell ..... James Hind
Hikers.....Laurice Davies, Don Barker

This latest play of Aussie novelist Patrick White has theatrically much more shape and form than his others and, because he cuts down the number of his characters, tells more about them. Despite this, they're still not completely clear, but have scope for individual interpretation.

There's an old goatkeeper, crude and down to earth and talking much good sense with her herd, each one an individual with a name to her. Is White intending an allegory here between goat and human behaviour as he so obviously did with dogs in "The Season at Sarsaparilla"?

There is the elderly professor, a literary failure, sexually revolted by his younger dipsomaniac wife. Is this a cover up—for what? And the wife, starved of her husband's love, seeking out of life she knows not what, only finding happiness of sorts in the bottle.

The young nurse, imbued with a father image, attracted to the professor, eventually suiciding from the mountain and, coincidentally followed in the same way by one of the goats. The little elderly housekeeper, shirking responsibility and, like the others, wanting to be wanted.



The characters are intriguing but the web White weaves is confusing. He is still too literary, the purple patches are still in evidence. So much of it appears trivial.

The author apparently lays down the most stringent directions in every way for those who stage his plays, never compromising. This would perhaps be all right if, Shawlike, he knew the theatre rules. But apparently he doesn't. Doctoring from other hands could offer substantial improvements.

John Tasker has staged a straight-forward performance with an all-professional cast. He has managed to iron out a lot of the wrinkles with smooth stage work and clever lighting effects.

The roles are well played but without any tour de force performances that could have lifted the play. Utterly serviceable are the three different settings—the goatkeeper's shack and goatyards, a part of the Bush and a multiple interior set of the professor's house, displaying six different rooms, with simultaneous scenes frequently enacted.

"Bald Mountain" is an improvement on the obscurities of White's last play, "A Cherry Soul," but lacks the excitement of the invigorating "The Season at Sarsaparilla." Stan.

"JUSTINE JOHNSTON is highly comic as the shrewish wife, and her voice soars to the farthest reaches of the theater."
—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.
("Forum" Nat'l Co.)

FOR THEATRICAL HAULING in LOS ANGELES
CONTACT GEORGE CONANT
ATLANTIC TRANSFER CO.
OUR NEW ADDRESS & PHONE IS
10853 INTERNATIONAL ROAD
LOS ANGELES 45, CALIFORNIA
PHONE: 776-1870

COMEDIANS and COMEDIENNES who can sing (Equity and non-Equity) for a cooperative Musical.
Send resumes to
BOX V-3600, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 10036

Producer needs modest, furnished office, theatre district, from June 1st. References
Box V-3601, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 36, N.Y.

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
GREGORY PECK?
OR IS IT GECORY PECK

L'ville Stock In the Red; To Expand Next Winter, But Drop Summer Plans

Louisville, March 31.

Brown Theatre's recent stock season, presented by James McKenzie and Ralph Roseman, disappointed the backers, a group of local business men who had the support of the local press, the Courier-Journal and Times. A contemplated summer season has been cancelled, but it's planned to bring in six or possibly eight shows next winter, beginning Feb. 10.

Attendance this spring indicated that Louisville is not ready for full week stands of straight plays, and next year's series will likely adopt a split-week format, if another city nearby can be interested in booking the other half. Some six cities have already been contacted, according to McKenzie, but definite commitments have not been made.

The management is reported to have expected to lose some money at the local try. Attendance for the four shows was roughly 19,000, which would indicate a norm of 5,000 people for non-musicals, not enough for a full week's run. A setup of more shows and fewer performances of each may be tried next year.

"Night of the Iguana" drew 4,215 customers. "Oh Dad, Poor Dad" was the best draw with some 6,000 patrons. "Irregular Verb to Love" pulled 5,000 patrons and "Thousand Clowns" a light 4,000.

May Expand Circuit

The four-week stock season at the Brown Theatre, Louisville, ended in March, represented a partial tieup with two other stock operations—the Sombrero Playhouse, Phoenix, and the Royal Poinciana Playhouse, Palm Beach. The Producing Managers Co., a New York-based firm, supervised the Louisville stock program. According to the president, James B. McKenzie, a six-week season tied up with additional theatres is contemplated for the Brown next winter.

The Louisville program this year comprised "The Irregular Verb to Love," costarring Cornelia Otis Skinner and Cyril Ritchard; "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," starring Hermione Gingold; "A Thousand Clowns," starring John Ireland (following the fold of the bus-and-truck edition of the comedy in which he played the lead) and "Night of the Iguana," costarring Celeste Holm, Kevin McCarthy and Vicki Cummings.

"Verb" was the only one of the four shows to play Phoenix and Palm Beach, as well as Louisville. "Oh Dad" played Louisville and Phoenix.

Scheduled B'way Preems

Sponono, Cort (4-2-64).
Anyone Whistle, Majestic (4-4-64).
National Rep, Belasco (4-5-64).
High Spirits, Alvin (4-7-64).
West Side Story, Center (4-8-64).
Hamlet, Lunt-Fontanne (4-9-64).
Baby Want a Kiss, Little (4-13-64).
Cafe Crown, Beck (4-20-64).
Blues for Mr. Charlie, ANTA (4-21-64).
Porgy and Bess, Center (5-6-64).
Roar Like a Dove, Booth (5-15-64).
Folies-Bergere, B'way (5-16-64).
Royal Shakespeare, State (5-18-64).
White House, Miller (5-19-64).
My Fair Lady, Center (5-20-64).
Fade Out-Fade In, Hellinger (5-26-64).
Hamlet, Delacorte (6-10-64).
King and I, State (7-8-64).
Othello, Delacorte (7-8-64).
Electra, Delacorte (8-5-64).
Merry Widow, State (8-17-64).
Ben Franklin, Lunt-Font. (10-12-64).

Opera Reviews

Tosca
(Met Opera, N.Y.)

Renata Tebaldi, after a year's rest, has become again the diva as pretty much before in her late-season return to the Met Opera. Her position has been and remains special. Not the voice alone but the woman has always been held in affection. An almost palpable distress was felt by Opera buffs when she wobbled a season back from her own high standards. In the interim, rest and re-training and a new serenity has accomplished rehabilitation. It was notably evident in the non-subscription "Tosca" on a recent Sunday night. It even seemed that she had improved as an actress, never her best department, though she was far ahead in stage presence of many another prima donna one could name.

Actually this was one of the Met's great nights. The audience was replete with enthusiasts who exploded not once but many times. The ovations after the second act were nearly incredible, of a fervor seldom heard in this house where the regular subscribers do not necessarily excite themselves. Tito Gobbi as Baron Scarpia was on a par with Tebaldi. The lesser tenor role was substituted by Franco Corelli, to the ecstatic outcries of the audience when Rudolf Bing made the announcement before the curtain. Opera zealots do not groan for Barry Morell's cold when Corelli is his "understudy." Bing drew a laugh straight off when he quickly stated, "First of all, Madame Tebaldi is in good health, and so is Gobbi." (An appearance of a man in tux before the draperies is always nervous-making at the Met.)

It turned out to be a three-way triumph for Tebaldi, Gobbi, Corelli and an honorable mention for Fernando Coreno's amusing Sacristan. Such singing and such reaction to singing is rarity. Partly this was due to the large Italian turnout. The local colony's satisfaction with the return of Tebaldi was obviously a main source of the emotion. Land.

Verdi Requiem
(MET OPERA, N.Y.)

Good Friday means "Parsifal" to Met regulars but as a welcome change from the beautiful but monotonous Wagnerian work, decision was made to present, this year, Verdi's "Maznoni Requiem." Last given in 1959, two of this year's soloists, Rosalind Elias and Carlo Bergonzi, were also heard at that concert. They were joined this year by Leontyne Price and Cesare Siepi.

As the program was in memory of the late President Kennedy audience was asked to refrain from applause. The Italianate flavor of Verdi permeates even this solemn Latin rite, for which it has been criticized by those perfectionists who prefer the crystalline quality of the Mozart Requiem. However, the richness and compassionate feeling of Verdi's music makes his work equally appropriate. Conductor George Solti, with the inspired contributions of his soloists, backed by the Met Opera Chorus, made it a memorable occasion. The sold-out program was repeated Saturday afternoon (28).

Traditionalists were partially mollified by a concert presentation of "Parsifal" (Act III, Scene 1) with Jess Thomas singing Parsifal and Jerome Hines as Gurnemanz.

Marcia Baldwin, as Kundry, got in exactly two words, which possibly made her one of the highest-paid singers "per word" in opera history. Both males were in excellent voice and received superb musical support from the Met Opera Orchestra under George Stolti's direction. Robe.

George Peppard, who's been appearing in films during a five-year absence from the New York stage, is scheduled to return to Broadway next fall in Peggy Mann's "A Room in Paris," to be coproduced by Philip Langner and Elliot Martin.

Copyright, 1926

STOCK THEATRES: Attract a new audience with the top name in childrens' theatre.

WINNIE THE POOH

A new and exciting musical play for family audiences has been released for stock use based on A. A. Milne's best seller. This delightful show is inexpensive to produce, the musical accompaniment can be handled by a piano, and the scenery and costume requirements are modest. It can attract this important additional audience to your theatre and add a most profitable dimension to your season. Playbooks, including lyrics, $1.25. Royalty on application.

THE DRAMATIC PUBLISHING COMPANY
179 N. MICHIGAN AVE., CHICAGO 60601

CASTING NEWS

Following are available parts in upcoming Broadway, off-Broadway, and touring shows, as well as ballet, films, industrial and television shows. All information has been obtained directly by the VARIETY Casting Department by telephone calls, and has been rechecked as of noon yesterday (Tues.).

The available roles will be repeated weekly until filled, and additions to the list will be made only when information is secured from responsible parties. The intention is to service performers with leads provided by the managements of the shows involved rather than to run a wild goose marathon. (This information is published without charge).

Parenthetical designations are as follows: (C) Comedy, (D) Drama, (MC) Musical Comedy, (MD) Musical Drama, (R) Revue, (Rep) Repertory, (DR) Dramatic Reading, (DB) Double Bill.

Legit

BROADWAY

"Ben Franklin in Paris" (MC). (c/o Casting Consultants, 22 W. 24th St.,, N. Y.). Available parts: femme lead, 30-35, must sing and do French accent; male, 19, likeable, must sing and dance; femme, 19, French, must sing and dance. Accepting photos and resumes through agents only, c/o above address.

"Golden Boy" (M). Producer, Hillard Elkins (891 Park Ave., N. Y.). Audition 12-6 p.m. next Monday (6) at the Shubert Theatre (225 W. 44th St., N .Y.), for Equity white and Negro male and femme dancers who sing; white-Negro character actors and Negro boys, 9-13 years old. Open call Tuesday (7), same requirements as for Equity, same time and place.

OFF-BROADWAY

"Arms and the Man" (C). Producer Northwestern Productions (c/o Alfred Geller, 30 E. 60th St., N.Y.). All roles open. Send photos and resumes to Johan Fillinger at 205 W. 57th St., N.Y. Do not phone or visit.

"Dream of Swallows" (D). Producers, Sylvia & Joseph Harris (145 W. 55th St., N. Y.). Available parts: male, lead, 50s, embittered, failure, drunkard, must have bravura; male, 20, must play guitar and sing well. For audition appointment phone Delmar Hendricks at CI 5-1086 daily between 2-5 p.m. Do not visit.

"Lady Be Good" (MC). Producers, Keith Holzman, Robert Kreis & Richard Pohlers (161 W. 54th St., N. Y.). Available parts: male, juvenile Astaire type; male leading man 20-30, singer; male, 30-40, comedian must sing; male, middle-aged; femme, 20s, must sing and dance; femme dancer-singer; chorus boys, girls, 20s. Mail photo and resume to Jack Levin c/o above address. Do not phone or visit.

Maecenas Productions (Eugene Lion, Box 1137 Church St. Station, N.Y.). Three one act plays. All roles open. Equity only. Prefer mature male & femme performers with classical acting background. Mail photos & resumes c/o above address. There will be only one performance of this production.

"The Streets of New York" (M). Producers, Gene Dingenary & Jane Gilliland (416 W. 42d St., N.Y.). All roles open. Equity only. Legit voices required. Mail photos & resumes c/o above address. Do not phone or visit.

"This Was Burlesque" (R) Audition every Wednesday at 5 p.m. for tall femme dancers, experienced in modern, tap & ballet, at the Casino East Theatre (12th St., and Second Ave., N. Y.).

OUT OF TOWN

Rainbow Stage, Winnepeg, Canada. Audition this Saturday (4): Equity male dancers at 1:00 p.m., femme dancers at 2:30 p.m. Open call male and femme dancers at 4:30 p.m.—all at Celebrity Artists Studio (35 W. 56th St., N. Y.).

STOCK

SULLIVAN, ILL.

Summer of Musicals. Producer, Guy S. Little Jr. Box 155, Sullivan, Ill. Accepting photos and resumes from musical and dramatic performers for Equity resident company. Also applicants for paid apprenticeships, c/o above address.

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

Williamstown Summer Theatre. Producer, Nikos Psacharopoulos (c/o School of Drama, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.). Accepting photos and resumes for a resident Equity company of twelve and a non-Equity company of six. All types will be considered. Appointments will be scheduled from photos and resumes received; mail to producer at above address. Do not phone or visit.

Television

"Camera Three" (educational-dramatic series). Producer, CBS (524 W. 57th St., N. Y.; JU 6-6000); casting director, Paula Hindlin. Accepting photos and resumes of general male and female dramatic talent, c/o above address. No duplicates.

"Lamp Unto My Feet" (religious-dramatic series). Producer, CBS (524 W. 57th St., N. Y.; JU 6-6000); casting director, Paula Hindlin. Accepting photos and resumes of general male and female dramatic talent, c/o above address. No duplicates.

Ballet

Radio City Music Hall Ballet. Director, Marc Platt (c/o Radio City Music Hall, Rockefeller Center, N.Y.) Open call auditions for femme ballet dancers will be held Tuesdays at 3 p.m. at the Music Hall stage entrance (55 W. 50th St., N.Y.).

Elaine May Writing And Will Stage New Version Of Juve 'Rumpelstiltskin'

Actress-comedienne Elaine May is writing her own version of the kiddie fable, "Rumpelstiltskin," and will direct a stock presentation scheduled by Laurence Feldman's non-profit Dolphin Childrens Theatre. Miss May's daughter is also scheduled to appear in the moppet presentation, due July 11 at the Westport (Conn.) Country Playhouse.

The Westport theatre is operated by the Laurence-Henry Co., of which Feldman is producer. Through his company, Feldman is also producer of the Mineola (L. I.) Playhouse and co-producer with Frank Carrington at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, N. J. Both the Mineola and Millburn spots are year-around operations. Feldman is also producer for the new Yonkers (N. Y.) Playhouse, operated by Miriam I. R. Eolis and Matt Cimber.

Besides, playing Westport, "Rumpelstiltskin" will be presented at the other spots mentioned above. The Westport Playhouse presents its kiddie programs Fridays at 11 a.m. At the Mineola and Paper Mill theatres, the juve performances are at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Saturdays. Kiddie shows at the Yonkers operation are at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturdays.

Consequently, Dolphin, in order to have shows for the theatres in which Feldman is involved, has to have three casts performing simultaneously during the summer, one each for Mineola, Millburn and Yonkers. The Westport operation, because of its Friday moppet sked, does not conflict with the other theatres.

The Dolphin productions, directed by Richard Turmail, include such titles as "Sleeping Beauty," "Alice in Wonderland," "Treasure Island," "Pinocchio," "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Red Riding Hood."

Feldman claims the Dolphin venture is a losing operation which he personally underwrites. However, he considers it a worthwhile project, as it helps to bring the theatres to the attention of parents whose youngsters attend the shows. Feldman says about 100 performances were played last year by Dolphin offerings. He expects that figure to approach 200 this year.

"The Taming of the Shrew," geared to Shakespeare's 400th birthday, opened last week at the Arena Stage, Washington, under the direction of Mel Shapiro. The cast includes Bella Jarrett, Jonathan Farwell, Rene Auberjonois and Ned Beatty.

Whistling the Dances

Continued from page 79

the sentimental goo. His songs were worth singing, his rhythms appeared eminently danceable, and no one, to the best of my recollection, winced at the deft lyrics.

Mr. Stewart's and Mr. Herman's names were roughly half the size of the type accorded the sublime duettists — Channing and Champion.

But wait; "also starring" (in a tiny sky, obviously) was the inimitable David Burns, assuredly one of the top buffoons still walking our funless planet. Mr. Burns' name was in considerably smaller type than that of the Messrs. Stewart and Herman; on the other hand, Charles Nelson Reilly had his name in a box. He must have gotten some useful pointers from Jerome Robbins, the choreographer, who will not sign a contract unless the management agrees to have him "boxed in."

Billing Intricacies

My eyebrows, already raised quite painfully as result of all those billing intricacies, nearly joined my hairline when I barely discerned the name of Oliver Smith, America's busiest and most illustrious scenic designer, sandwiched in between "credits" accorded the lighting, orchestrating and costuming people — all top-notch, certainly, but even the director's assistant got a mention in the exact same type accorded Mr. Smith!

To make up for the extra small print, in which the various luminaries' names were spelled out, came the crashing, smashing, announcement that the extravaganza was, indeed, directed and choreographed by G.C.; the letters, as already noted, were fully as huge as those immortalizing the star's name. Why was O. Smith relegated to the doghouse? Why, for that matter, were Herman and Stewart, although theirs was a slightly more elaborate one?

"Something's wrong somewhere," I mused, observing that the last line of credits ("a David Merrick and Champion-Five Inc. Production") was immediately followed by a mouth watering description of a popular Scotch whiskey. Could it have been the drinks I had a Sardi's just before curtain time? No, I felt sober enough. Sober enough, certainly, to recall that Gower Champion was a man of unquestionable talent; didn't he dance magnificently in a ripe turkey Balanchine, Latouche and I collaborated on in the early '40s, styled "Lady Comes Across"? Didn't he and his then partner Jeanne really "come across" in "Lady," a waltz Latouche and I wrote for that opera? And how about our work together on the successful U.S. Coast Guard "Tars and Spars," in which Gower not only danced but also intoned a chorus of "You Gotta Have a Reason To Be a Civilian," lyric by Howard Dietz.

Musicless Musicals

But to go on. Music is still my meat, although we may be living in the Era of the Musicless Musical. (See "Listen Here!", Ivan Obolensky Inc., which after all, is a critical essay on music *de*preciation.) We also live in an era of the omnipotent and, apparently, omnific stager-choreographer.

Maybe good songs no longer mean a thing at the boxoffice.

To get back to the new producers and a very old joke, they'll let you whistle the scenery, for all they care.

My point is that, within memory of any adult theatregoer, the musical show was just as often identified as Berlin's new musical, the new Gershwin legituner (as VARIETY would put it), a Kern operetta, a Romberg, Friml, Dietz & Schwartz, DeSylva, Brown & Henderson, Vincent Youmans, Rodgers & Hart, Rodgers & Hammerstein musical.

Sure, each had choreographers and many went on to broader Hollywood heights but, in their orbit, dances by Hermes Pan, Julian Mitchell, LeRoy Prinz, even Michael Kidd and Agnes DeMille in later years, were still subordinate to the fact that this was a musical —and ipso factor there had to be a composer somewheres in the act.

I say give credits where credits are due—but don't let's forget the guy with the melodies. Somehow, if it's a musical he belongs very prominently in the billing, with or without that "boxed" spotlighting which seems to have become a latterday program evolution.

What would another Jerry (Kern) do, were he given the contemporary billing treatment? I shudder at the thought. So square your shoulders, young music makers, and assert yourselves; no billing—no cooing in the pit. You are ASCAPists, not escapists, after all.

Touring Shows

(Figures cover March 30-April 11)

Boys From Syracuse (bus-truck)—Split-weeks (March 30-April 11).
Camelot—Shubert, Philly (March 30-April 11).
Camelot (bus-truck)—Split-week (March 30-April 4); Dade Auditorium, Miami (March 6-11).
Cool Off (tryout) — Forrest, Philly (March 31-April 11).
Enter Laughing—Wilbur, Boston (March 30-April 4); Biltmore, L.A. (April 7-11).
Funny Think Happened on the Way to the Forum (2d Co.)—Hanna, Cleve (March 30-April 4); Orpheum, Mpls. (April 6-11).
Hamlet (tryout)—Shubert, Boston (March 30-April 4, moves to N.Y.).
Hollow Crown (bus-truck)—Split-weeks (March 30-April 11).
How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying (2d Co.)—Shubert, Chi (March 30-April 11).
How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying (3d Co.)—KRNT, Des Moines (March 30-April 4); Murat, Indpls. (April 6-11).
In One Bed (and Out the Other)—American, St. L. (March 30-April 11).
Little Me—Fisher, Det. (March 30-April 11).
Luther—National, Wash. (March 30-April 11).
Man for All Seasons—O'Keefe, Toronto (March 30-April 11).
National Repertory Theatre — Auditorium, Dallas (March 27-29, moves to N. Y.).
Pajama Tops—Center, Norfolk (March 31-April 4); Nixon, Pitt. (April 6-11).
Private Ear and Public Eye—Geary, S.F. (March 30-April 5); Auditorium, Denver (April 8-11).
Stop the World—I Want to Get Off—Univ. of Michigan, Ann Arbor (March 30); Shubert, Cincy (March 31-April 4).
Thousand Clowns—Auditorium, St. P. (March 30-April 3; Pabst, Milwaukee (April 7-11).
Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (2d Co.)—Studebaker, Chi (March 30 April 11).

WELLS RICHARDSON

Hail to CINDY which surprises you by being three or four times as good as you think it's going to be! Outstanding performances by triple-threat JOHNNY HARMON and MARK STONE.

Good luck to the talented youngsters opening shortly in THE SALAD OF THE MAD CAFE!

DIANE THORNE and ED CROWLEY
"TALENT '64"—Drama Review—April 8th, 5 to 7 P.M. at the BOOTH THEATRE, New York

LAS PALMAS THEATRE
CENTRE OF HOLLYWOOD
FOR RENT
A Fair Rent—No Percentages
Ideal Parking
Refrigerated Air-Conditioning
400 Seats— Large Stage
Phone: HO 7-1288
1642 N. Las Palmas
Hollywood 28, California

SID MELTON
The DANNY THOMAS SHOW
Monday Nights
CBS-TV

AVAILABLE
PRODUCER - DIRECTOR
Highly qualified, with outstanding record as teacher, director and producer in legitimate and industrial theatre.
Write: Davis, Penthouse North, 150 West 87th Street, New York 24.

FOR LEASE
THEATRE-BY-THE-SEA
Matunuck, R. I. Seats 550. Unusually large stage. $5000 yr., including inn, resfaurant, bar.
MRS. CLIVE L. DUVAL
4815 Buchanan St.
McLean, Va.

SERIOUS COMPOSER AND LIBRETTO WANTED FOR NEW BROADWAY PRODUCTION
Telephone (201) HE 4-2555
New Jersey

IS IT REALLY
RICH LITTLE
IMPERSONATING
WALTER BRENNAN?
OR IS IT WALTER BRENNAN

Jumping Jet Set's Disk Den

Continued from page 1

antecedents at Le Club. This teed off the discotheque vogue in Manhattan in big league socialite style. Eventually Zeckendorf, himself one of the young marrieds, lured Slim Hyatt to the discotheque he organized in his Hotel Gotham, which continues its L'Interdit club exclusively under the aegis of one of Hyatt's disciples.

Ex-Mon Plaisir

Young Zeckendorf had an attractive room, Mon Plaisir, with equally dramatic decor such as now distinguishes Shepheard's, but somehow it didn't click, even with the socialite aura of Col. Serge Obolensky fronting it. (Latter has since left the Webb & Knapp-Zeckendorf Hotels, of which he was vicechairman, to return to the Hotel St. Regis, originally built by his former brother-in-law, the late Vincent Astor.)

From Le Club

Hyatt thus got to know 90% of the regulars as they segued from Le Club (Sutton Place discotheque still continues) to the Gotham and now the Drake's Shepheard's Room.

When Peter Duchin, son of the late Eddy, was stationed in Panama, he was struck by Hyatt's savvy on music and, particularly, his musical tastes vis-a-vis the dancing public. Young Duchin (himself now maestroing at the St. Regis' Maisonette) sponsored Slim Hyatt for Le Club.

The secret ingredient for all concerned is the time to "shine" on the dance floor, as when Hyatt propels the people. By judicious admixture of tunes and tempos geared to the tide and the timing of the customers he keeps the room vibrant and jumping.

The snobbery of being in on the "in" steps, be it the frug, the "in" steps, be it the froog, the gully, the wobble, the bug, the go-go, the snake, the monkey or the watusi (solo frug), creates the self-generating enthusiasms. They're all of a like pattern, circa rock 'n' roll, but as the variations become more imaginative it inspires the others to hoofology rather than sitting.

Talk Hopeless

For one thing, the forte umptempo defeats conversation. By raising the sound decibles, Hyatt deliberately calls attention to the dancefloor as the centre of activity. This spotlighting, in turn, inspires the kids in the frug, for example, to do their stuff. The "caller" of some group of five, six or seven couples will say Sammy Davis (one-eye), Al Jolson (one knee), Jayne Mansfield (two of everything), Bardot (ditto), Elizabeth Taylor ("Cleopatra"), Johnny Mathis (his vocal stance), "Popeye the Sailor," and the like. The dancers do brief impressions in the Paul Jones-big apple-hully-gully school of ad lib impressions.

Hyatt knows when to cool 'em and then back to bossa nova or Brazilian "Mardi Gras" melodies, and in this manner makes the customers participants in their own show.

He has carried the "human museum" motif which long distinguished the Stork and Morocco, where the customers make their own fun, to a further degree.

He is keenly attuned to all new dance variations, both on disk and by patronizing spots like Trude Heller's in the Village, Small's Paradise in Harlem, the Peppermint Lounge on West 44th St., and the like. On his day off (Sunday) and at odd moments he smells out new dance vogues. On Sunday he has Scarlett Sanders, a young Harlem girl whom he has trained, subbing for him at Shepheard's when the pace is more staid with weekend diners taking it easier. Another of his trainees, Annette Clark, now presides over the turntables at L'Interdit (Hotel Gotham), after he left that spot for Shepheard's. (Delmonico's recently incepted its own discotheque, Il Mio, with Charles Morton, a 20-year-old white youth whom Hyatt recommended, but the spot has yet to catch on. Its proximity to the Drake is said to militate against it, among other things).

Getting Younger Set

Hyatt credits the younger set with being constantly creative and regenerating its own new dance styles which has always been the case but which somehow reached fuller fruition with the dimly lit discotheques of London, Paris and now New York. (As the dinner session ends, the room becomes considerably less bright).

As he studies the different places and people, disks and dance styles, Hyatt notices the degree of reaction. When Harry Belafonte brought the "French twist," not much different from the Peppermint Lounge-bred twist, it gave it still another flavor. The influences of the Left Bank and Soho, or St. Tropez and Juan-les-Pins r&r were not to be ignored. And when the "Mustapha," the paso doble, the bossanova, the Brazilian carnival songs and the like were played, they too got a different type of audience reaction. And that went also for the Charleston revivals or the Bunnyhops and kindred steps. The main criterion, to Hyatt, is to "make sure the people are enjoying it." And if they're not, he switches tempos and steams up a terpsichorean storm to achieve it.

His 2,000 platters produce six or seven hours of dance music from among the sundry categories. Of course he can never play 2,000 a night but if items like the frug are hot, he's often forced to repeat.

Perhaps another secret ingredient, unanticipated by anybody, is the usage of two trios—they alternate every half-hour — who play live music on a bandstand while Hyatt is maestroing his turntables.

Trio Picks Up Cue

The trios take their cue from whatever Hyatt decides to play. As he peeks out of the oblong narrow window he sees first-hand how the dancers react. They in turn see him and many come "backstage," i.e. back of the bandstand, to chat with him. Hyatt says he knows 90% of the regulars by name, dating from Le Club and L'Interdit.

The live musicians were a happenstance because of American Federation of Musicians insistence. In a private club discotheque, the management could brushoff any Local 802 demands and it is presumed Zeckendorf compromised with two trios. Actually, they're not needed. Paradoxically the canned music policy has created employment for six live musicians. But their playing along with the records does give it a special cache and, from the customers' perspective, there is rapport with the AFMers, as against the deadpan dansapation to anonymous canned music. The trios are strictly rhythm pieces—drums, bass and xylo.

How new dances start is chicken-or-the-egg to Hyatt. He gives much credit to the recording people for being attuned to new trends and tempos and putting them on wax, from where the disk jockeys on certain stations know how to project it. Or the younger type of tunesmith and diskery executive gets the ever-changing new feel of things, from the kids themselves, by mixing with them and not sitting in any ivory tower. Thus, at first-hand they see what is "in" with the kids. It is true, of course, that the youngsters themselves literally bring into the household the new ideas in terps and tunes and, if perchance, pop is in the music business he's savvy enough to latch onto it.

Young Zeckendorf got the message all right either from Le Club, or young Jeffrey Leeds, who hung around L'Inderit. And in the background also is Mafalda Davis, Egyptian-born public relationer (she once sued King Farouk) who came up with the idea of recreating the Shepheard's (Cairo) motif on Park Ave.

The exciting atmosphere is generated, of course, by Hyatt's knowledgability of what not to play, as much as what type of tunes will churn the action.

The paradox of the Drake's box-office is the patronage which pays top prices at dinner and, if not staying on, is succeeded by another turnover of paprika terpers.

Dine, drink and dance privileges call for a $2-$4 cover (depending on the night). This means an average $25-$30 dinner tab for two, and around 11 bucks after-dinner. It's no giveaway for the kids—also the elders.

Shepheard's is patterned after the yesteryear glory of British-mandated Egypt, when Shepheard's in Cairo was as famed as the Ritz in Paris. For this, theatrical designer Peter Larkin rates the nod for the decor. As result, he's been given the assignment for the new motif of the $1,250,000 grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor (also a Webb & Knapp-Zeckendorf) operation.

The room really starts to swing at 11, sometimes a bit earlier, and with the exception of Saturday, Sunday and Monday, it rocks until 4 in the morning. The Sabbath law accounts for the 3 a.m. shutdown for the Saturday nighters and the other two nights are obviously not as hectic although the Monday bunch — dominantly the legit casts and the like—when they start to roll in around midnight, ofttimes keeps it swinging until curfew. This type of stayuplateness hasn't happened in Gotham in years, so far as a normal nitery operation is concerned, unless it was in the good old days of the Stork and El Morocco.

Hyatt is definitely anti-talk in a nitery. "They have more fun if they're up there dancing and if they start to talk I make the music noisier. Noise is important in a nightclub. It draws their attention to the music and, by killing the table chatter, they get up and dance, and if they don't know it then they'll know it soon enough that they're having more fun that way, doing the waddle, the monkey, the frug, the bossa or just a cha-cha or a straight dance."

Publishing Stocks

(As of March 31, closing)

Allyn & Bacon (OC)	20	— ⅞
American Book (AS)	40	—2½
Amer. Book Strat. (AS)	47⅛	+ ⅛
Amer. Heritage (OC)	75⅝	+ ¼
Book of Month (N.Y.)	17⅜	— ¼
Conde Nast (N.Y.)	11½	+ ⅛
Cowles (OC)	13¼	— ¼
Crowell Collier (N.Y.)	22¾	+1¼
Curtis Pub. (N.Y.)	7⅝	— ¼
Esquire Inc. (AS)	11	+1⅜
Ginn & Co. (N.Y.)	31	—1¾
Grolier (OC)	44	— ¼
Grosset & Dunlap (OC)	10¾	— ¼
Harcourt Brace (N.Y.)	39¼	—1
Hayden Pub. (OC)	3
Hearst (OC)	27	— ½
Holt R & W (N.Y.)	24	+ ½
LA Times-Mirror (OC)	35½	+ ⅝
Macfadden Bartel (AS)	6¼	+ ⅛
McCall (N.Y.)	27⅛	+1⅞
McGraw-Hill (N.Y.)	35½	—1
Meredith Pub. Co.	27½	— ¾
Nat'l Per. Pub. (OC)	12¾	+1⅛
New Yorker (OC)	120
Pocket Books (OC)	5¼	— ⅛
Popular Library (OC)	2½	+ ¼
Prentice Hall (AS)	27⅛	—1⅝
Random House (N.Y.)	13⅝	+1½
Scott Foresman (OC)	27	+ ¾
H. W. Sams (OC)	33½	— ¼
Time Inc. (OC)	114½	—1¼
Universal Pub. Co. (OC)	5½	+ ¾
Western Pub. Co. (OC)	25⅝	— ¾

OC—Over the Counter.
NY—N.Y. Stock Exchange.
AS—American Stock Exchange.
(Supplied by Bache & Co.)

Producers Org

Continued from page 2

film authorities in many far flung areas. In the four Scandinavian counrties FIAP, for instance, will attempt to spread tax relief for exhibitors to cover producers and distributors as well. In Belgium, FIAP will attempt to soften government interference in exhibitor-distribution contract relationships. Negotiations with Italy, France, and Turkey will be undertaken to soften discriminatory taxes against foreign films. FIAP will also study the situation in Morocco where observers detect a trend toward nationalization.

Italy will get FIAP help in Mexico where film authorities have written a three-to-one clause into the distrib agreement requiring Italy to distribute one Mexican film in that country for every three Italian pix released south of the Rio Grande. FIAP moves to negotiate outstanding problems on a government level will possibly commence after the election of the regional vice-prexies at the next assembly meeting.

Delegates from ten countries attended the Madrid meeting. Spanish rep Miguel Echarri praised FIAP chief Ralph Hetzel for effective dispatch of agenda business and for accenting economic policies and activity to benefit the film industry internationally. Spanish Minister of information Frage Iribarne was guest of honor at a windup FIAP dinner.

Literati

WB Wins 'Sex' Title Suit

Warners won an injunction last week in N.Y. Supreme Court restraining Albert Ellis, author of a book titled "Sex and the Single Man," and Lyle Stuart Inc., its publisher, from selling motion picture rights to the tome.

Film company which recently acquired exclusive screen rights to Helen Gurley Brown's bestseller, "Sex and the Single Girl," charged that if a picture were marketed with the tag of Ellis' book it would cause confusion in the public's mind. This, it's claimed, would jeopardize WB's $3,000,000 investment in the now virtually completed pic version of Mrs. Brown's tome.

But in granting Warners the restraining order, Justice Emilio Nunez refused to award a similar injunction to Mrs. Brown and Bernard Geis Associates, publisher of "Sex and the Single Girl." Book's author and Geis joined with Warners in pressing "unfair competition" charges, among other allegations, against Ellis and Stuart.

"In view of the fact that plaintiffs Brown and Geis Associates have reaped most of their benefits from the impact of the book's title," Justice Nunez opined, "and that defendants have expended large sums of money in publishing and advertising their book . . . I have concluded that these two plaintiffs are not entitled to the relief they seek."

The court pointed out that "Sex and the Single Girl" was published in May, 1962, while the defendants' "Sex and the Single Man" did not hit the stands until October, 1963. Justice Nunez also noted that Mrs. Brown's book "does not purport to be a scientific study . . . but rather is a compendium of hints, tips and advice to single girls on their social relationships with men . . ."

On the other hand, the court stressed, "Sex and the Single Man" is a work "devoted to a discussion of sex and associated problems and the author's suggested solutions." The jurist wrote that he "completely agrees" with an excerpt from the defendants' brief that their tome is "scarcely the kind of book that lends itself to motion picture treatment." Ellis and Stuart also emphasized that they had no intention of making a film deal.

Dick Joseph's Newest

Esquire travel editor Richard Joseph's "Hilton International Travel Book" is being primed for 1965 in tieup with the Hilton chain of 24 international and 36 domestic hotels.

Dick Joseph and Hilton's pub-ad veepee John Joseph (whose show biz publicizing dates back to the old Chi Balaban & Katz, RKO and Universal Pictures era) are old friends but no kin. The hookup between Doubleday (who will publish) and HH is obvious.

Wolfe Kaufman's 'Syndicate'

Longtime Paris resident Wolfe Kaufman, ex-VARIETY and now Continental roving rep for Sol Hurok, based in the French capital, is extending his one-man "syndication" to overseas newspapers — Yank, British and others.

He does a regular twice-a-month column for the Chi News, Toronto Star and Providence Journal (still writes for VARIETY as circumstances warrant) but plans to add U.S. papers for his regular "cultural arts" coverage from Europe. He roves all over the map abroad on behalf of Hurok's concert stars.

S. Fischer Sells Out

A year ago it was rumored, and denied that S. Fischer Publishers, one of the largest in West Germany, was considering selling a major share of the highly successful business to the Dumont-Schauburg Publishers of Cologne. Reason given for the potential merger was that the owner of the Frankfurt publishing house, Gottfried Fischer, has no male heir to carry on the business.

Now, it's just been revealed in West Germany that S. Fischer has quietly sold out the major share to a much smaller firm, the Austrian publishers Ueberreuter, who are known for children's books.

S. Fischer has been outstanding for publishing works of top German writers as Gerhart Hauptmann, Arthur Schnitzler, Thomas Mann, Franz Kafka, Stefan Zweig, and also the modern Americans like Tennessee Williams and Eugene O'Neill.

The S. Fischer Publishers also have a large theatre staff, and publish plays (selling the stage rights as well) in West Germany, repping many of the top American playwrights.

Both firms have refused to make any public release about the transaction, but it is apparently planned that the top executives of both will remain.

Prolific Ex-Stage Manager

"From 9 O'Clock to Jamaica Bay," by Daniel Broun (Holt, Rinehart & Winston; $3.50) is fourth whodunit from same publisher by former Broadway stage manager. "Counterweight," (1962) featured backstage locale with a stage manager prominent among characters. "The Subject of Harry Egypt" (1963) strayed from Main Stem, but had a pretty actress in the plot. "Egypt's Choice" (1963) uncovered buried Confederate gold. "9 O'Clock" deals with murder of a tv comic, subject likely to titillate certain broadcasting folk given to wishful thinking. Characters are colorful, situations terse, details well-plotted. Seems any or all of these vivid yarns are film naturals.

In '65, Dial will publish a long show biz novel by Broun, "Well, Here We Are in Sunny Spain." Title stems from burlesque comics' penchant for setting a given sketch simply by announcing locale; a device developed in Elizabethan theatre, when actors carried signs onstage to identify streets, walls or battlefields.

"Spain" will trace fortunes of a Broadway play, "The Sad and Funny Death of My Mother," from desk of dramatist's agent to shortly after Manhattan opening. Dramatized are points of view of a general manager, the agent, a director, femme star, and the audience. It is understood that several Broadway personalities for whom Broun has stage managed provide character source material.

Broun, who recently retired from Times Square after marrying a singer from cast of "My Fair Lady," now addresses his typewriter in Suffern, N.Y. Rodo.

31st In Film Series

Sedotta e Abbandonata (Seduced and Abandoned) is one of the better volumes, as well as the latest one, in the series dedicated to detailed analyses of Italian films by Capelli of Bologna. In 243 pages, and with 98 illustrations, it illustrates the birth, shooting, and final form of Pietro Germi's latest pic, shot in Sicily and recently released here. Giacomo Gambetti, who compiled the volume, gets his most valuable and colorful material in a step-by-step shooting diary replete with interesting anecdotes and insight into the director, stars, etc. The picture one gets of Germi is especially vivid, and the whole makes engrossing reading even for the less involved film buff.

Cloth-bound volume is 31st in Capelli series, and sells for Lire 2,800 ($4.70). Hawk.

CHATTER

Anne W. Simon's "Stepchild In The Family" marks the first trade book via Odyssey Press which heretofore confined itself to college textbooks.

The bilingual Honolulu monthly tabloid, The Citizen, has suspended publication. Its publisher, Tetsuo Toyama, plans to shut down his Kyodo Printing Co. "unless there is someone interested in running its printing shop." Toyama, who has doubled as editor of the monthly, is 80 years old and plans to devote his time completing his autobiography which will be printed in Japan.

Holiday Guide Inc. authorized to conduct a publishing and printing business in New York.

Sky, the Magazine for Air Travelers is the official name of the new monthly giveaway on most major U.S. airlines and published in association with them by American Heritage. Ralph W. Hench Jr. is publisher; Walter Whetsone 3d, ex-Curtis, (Holiday mag), his assistant; David McCullough, editor; William J. McVey Jr., promo; George H. Oestreich Jr., ex-Holiday, ad manager.

Broadway

Tucson Boys Chorus back to their Arizona base after eight weeks on road.

David Randolph set Lillian Mernik for May 3 Bach B Minor Mass at Philharmonic.

Pressagent Bill Stuttman (ex-20th, now freelance) off to Europe for three-week holiday.

S. A. G. Swenson, head of Sweden's Wivefilm, in from Stockholm next Sunday (5) to scout fresh product.

Henry ("Tropic of Capricorn") Miller's daughter Valentine got married Feb. 14 to Ralph Day, which makes Valentine Day her new marital tag.

Lambs Club feted vet thesp Henry Sherwood on his 80tn at the clubhouse. He made his acting debut in 1904 in Boston and has been a Lamb for 36 years.

Film publicist Harold J. Salemson, last with Embassy, will have charge of the Better Living Center account at the N.Y. World's Fair which the Bob Taplinger flackery is handling.

Signs of the times: the famed restaurant, which never advertised in the dailies (only an occasional institutional ad) has incepted a campaign: "Milton Berle eats at Lindy's. How about you?"

Franz Allers will conduct George Schaefer's preem of "To Broadway With Love" at World's Fair opening on April 22. Spectacle, in Fair's Music Hall (Texas Pavilion), is directed by Morton da Costa.

Lena Horne and bandleader-husband Lennie Hayton, Met basso Lorenzo Alvary, concert pianist Rosalyn Turek and British impresario Stephen Mason off to Europe Monday (30) on the S.S. France.

Roberta Schlaifer, daughter of adman Charles (and Evelyn) Schlaifer, now at Columbia U., studying for her master's degree in Education Psychology, engaged to Dr. Howard Semer; late summer wedding planned.

Rose Bigman, longtime (32 years) secretary and general factotum to Walter Winchell, publicly announced her desire to leave the columnist in last Friday's column. Claims overwork and general fatigue but the timetable is indef.

Nixing a biog book bid from a publisher, Frisco showman-realtor Louis R. Laurie advised him, "About 57 years ago a nice guy by the name of Horace Greeley gave me a one-way ticket to Seattle. That's my life story! Period!"

Arthur F. Boyce, 65, who recently retired after 20 years as field inspector for the New York State Motion Pictures Division, worked in the chorus of the old New York Hippodrome for four years. One of the horseback riders in that period, he later joined the New York State Police.

Bert Lahr heads a list of stars who will perform at the annual Lambs Gambol April 18. Carol Channing is to be Queen of the Gambol, the third woman to be honored by the Lambs. An original score for the Gambol has been written by Sammy Stept.

Special opera matinees for students in tri-state N.Y. commuting area started 27th year Thursday (26) when 3,205 (including teacher-chaperones) caught "La Boheme" at the Met. Series of matinees (six more through May 5) are sponsored by Met Opera Guild. Groups also get backstage visit and tour.

Richard Himber, quondam magician but primarily a maestro, going back actively into the deb and society party field with his dansapation. Incidentally, the bandleader is said to be the only telephone subscriber whose number matches his name, i.e., by dialing R. Himber that also spells out his phone number.

Nadia Werba, wife of VARIETY Madrid correspondent Hank Werba, who has exhibited in Paris and has another one-woman show coming up in Madrid in mid-May, is sending a triptych and several paintings to the Biennale at Venice, and one of her big portraits is to be hung in the Spanish Pavilion at the N.Y. World's Fair.

McGuire Sisters follow the just opened Kessler Twins at the Persian Room and Eartha Kitt finales the formal winter-spring season before the summer replacements, such as Mamie Van Doren, Monique Van Vooren and Barry Sisters. Xavier Cugat-Abbe Lane reopen the formal fall season of the Plaza's boite.

Camerata Singers, Abraham Kaplan conducting, will give concerts April 10 and 20 as part of The Lincoln Center World's Fair Festival. Evenings of choral chamber music will be presented in philharmonic Hall. Group was featured Sunday (29) on CBS-TV's "Lamp Unto My Feet."

Henry Ringling North, who's handling the Ringling-B&B Circus this year on this side—alternating with brother John Ringling North—is coincidentally showing his Italian-born (British subject) bride the Gotham sights. "It's her first time in America. The Norths make their home in Rome.

Bette Davis, playwright Edward Albee and Herald-Trib film critic Judith Crist, none known for timidity, sit as panelists April 14 on an NYU forum to discuss Paramount's "All The Way Home." Moderator is pic's producer—David Susskind. Susskind, incidentally, will be a speaker April 22 at Syracuse U.'s TV-Radio Center "Festival of the Arts."

Radio series was started a few weeks ago by the Metropolitan Opera's basso Lorenzo Alvary. Entitled "Opera Topics" it is to be heard over station WBAI-FM (Sundays 1 pm). Gabfests to date with Nicolai Gedda, Thomas Schippers, Blanche Thebom, Hyman Faine, Jay Harrison, Lauritz Melchoir and Jerome Hines. Alvary has been with the Met for over 20 years.

Helen (Mrs. O. Monte) Samuel, widow of VARIETY's longtime New Orleans correspondent, now residing in Tucson, will not be able to attend next Saturday's (4) dinner at the Hotel Pierre of the American Artists Professional League to accept the grand prix for 1963. As director of the Southern California-New Mexico-Oklahoma-Colorado-Arizona territory, Mrs. Samuel, who has won other prizes for her paintings, topped the 1963 regional American Art Week in 1963.

Girlville, USA

By Walter Winchell

Mrs. Jack Barrymore 2d (Cara Williams, teeveenus) and handsome son (J.B. 3d) stole show at LaRue (on Strip) Sunday suppertime.

Hunt Stromberg Jr., hosting triffic party April 1 at BevHills inn.

Annual Easter brunch Coconut Grove Sundaynoon packed joynt. Adults $7.50 per plate, tots $3.70. This VARIETY cub emceed.

Photoplay ed must wonder when monthly epic will be mailed. Dreadline any day. "Does VARIETY overpay him way we do?"

L.A. Herald-Exam's circ up from 812,000 as of March 24. This is not daily average. Editor Hugh A. (Bud) Lewis aiming at mill-mark.

Chasen's Satdee night un-get-inabel without phone call 24 hours ahead. Landlord's health improved. They were calling Chasen "the Skolsky of Beverly Blvd." His medic is Dr. L. Wolfe of W. 54th, NYC.

San Diego Union editor Herb Klein (Nixon campaign mgr. in '60) and Democrat Pierre Salinger (seeking ailing Sen. Engle's Senate pew) conferred alone in Klein's office, Union-Tribune staffers gaped. First time a "name" Demo invaded rabid GOPaper.

Danny Thomas conked on noggin by falling spotlamp at Grove. Refused aid. Wm. Morris chief, A. Lastfogel at same table didn't get conked. (Ridic).

Betsy Duncan, making upteenth app at Dino's, belongs in B'way show.

Nat (King) Cole's version of "People from "Funny Girl" matches star Barbra Streisand's. L.A. deejays keep calling that new show "Funny Face."

Owners Mario and Tony (of Martoni's) Vince Edwards' hangout near DAILY VARIETY, former waiters at Patsy D'Amore's Villa Capri.

Biggest Grove click in long spell: Jane Morgan and funmedians Allen & Rossi. Next: Rowan & Martin plus Enzo Stuarti. Grove dark last week.

Kowloon (on Pico) pet chowmeinery of stars and press pack.

Telegram from confrere to Louella Parsons on the mend: "Get up outta there You're in bed with the wrong thing."

What New Yorker almost got into another brawl? Happened when [illegible] to embarrass Salinger at his initial press conf. due here May 26-30 under Rome Theatre Club aegis.

Carol Danell, here from German tele stints, off to Milan for more RAI-TV tapes.

Sam Shaw skied back to Crete and "Zorba the Greek" after local freelance photo stint.

Lyda Ralli, new pactee, introduced to press by Sprint Records at Grotte del Piccione nitery.

Silvana Pampanini and Amedeo Nazzari in Buenos Aires for Fairfilms' "An Italian in Argentina."

Antonio Pietrangeli skied in from the U.S. and expects to start "The Magnificent Cuckold" early in May. Ugo Tognazzi stars, with Jeanne Moreau, Michele Mercier, and Corinne Marchant also in cast.

London

(HYde Park 4561/2/3)

Shani Wallis has gone to the States for cabaret dates.

Monty Berman tossed an 80th birthday party for his father, Max Berman.

The Kaye Sisters, w.k. British harmony trio, sailed for New York last week on the Carinthia.

The Archbishop of Westminster had a private screening of "Becket" several days ahead of its Plaza preem.

Daily Express film critic Leonard Mosley just completed a book on Haile Selassie called "The Conquering Lion."

Sol Hurok in town for Easter weekend opening of "Mexican Fiesta" at Drury Lane, which he is presenting with Victor Hochhauser.

Warner-Pathe hosted a press reception in honor of George Cukor, director of "My Fair Lady," at Claridges last Wednesday (25).

South African impresario Leon Gluckman among the show biz bunch currently in London. Others round the town include George Marek, Sam Engel, Oscar Peterson and Al Lewin.

John G. Roe, manager of the ABC Cine-Bowl, collected a check for $2,100 as his prize for being named champion in ABC's annual showmanship contest. Runner-up J. W. Hare received $700.

With the change in management, Stuart Allen is quitting the May Fair Hotel, where he has been PRO for the last few years. The Danziger freres, who recently sold out to hotelier Maxwell Joseph, are also expected to ankle the operation within the next few weeks.

Chicago

(DElaware 7-4984)

Oscar Brown Jr. re-signed with GAC and is off to Sweden for a month of concerts.

Chauncey Gray orch returned to Pump Room of the Ambassador East for indefinite stay.

Marshall Migatz bringing in Philadelphia Orch, with Eugene Ormandy conducting, on May 5 at Orchestra Hall.

Woody Allen, who just completed three weeks at Mister Kelly's, returns Aug. 25 for a week at Tenthouse Theatre with Nancy Ames.

Shrine Circus, which set a record of 260,000 paid admissions at Medinah Temple, signed Larry Stein to handle publicity chores again next year.

Variety Clubs of Illinois snared the preem performance of "My Fair Lady," pic which opens at Palace Theatre as a benefit for La Rabida Sanitarium this fall.

Playboy Club cooperating with Jamaican Tourist Bureau in a week-long promotion by signing The Ticklers, a Calypso group popular in the Caribbean, for a one-nighter on April 29.

Boston

By Guy Livingston

(508 Little Bldg.; LI 2-5095)

Anne Jeffreys went into "Camelot" at the Colonial, replacing Kathryn Grayson.

Mike Todd Jr.'s "America Be Seated" set for Wilbur Theatre stand before the World's Fair.

Richard Burton guest at Ritz dinner preceding opening of "Hamlet" at the Shubert last week (24).

Charles River Valley Boys in concert at Kresge auditorium for M.I.T.'s "Operation Crossroads Africa."

Manny Williams, comic magico from club and shipdates, making nitery debut at Monticello with Connie Stevens.

Two pre-Broadway shows skedded for tryouts here, "World War 2½" and "Cool Off" at the Colonial, have been cancelled.

Morton Gottlieb, producer, and Robert Morley in for opening of Gottlieb's "Enter Laughing" at the Wilbur. Gottlieb plans a London company.

Rome

By Robert F. Hawkins

(Sardegna, 43; Tel. 479316)

Alberto Sordi back from Brazil by boat.

James Baldwin expected in on lecture tour.

Akim Tamiroff to Yugoslavia for "Marco Polo."

Mark Forrest in town to shoot "The Lion of Thebes."

Helen Lawrenson doing freelancer for "Look" on Marcello Mastroianni.

Royal Shakespeare Company

Las Vegas

By Forrest Duke

(Dudley 4-4141)

Sands host Jackie Heller back on job after visit with ailing wife Phyllis in L.A.

Dunes host Billy Snyder out of hospital where his "new-type" ulcer was treated.

Dick Sinatra, son of Trop maestro Ray Sinatra, signed for role in Uncle Frank's "None But The Brave."

Bobby Sherwood and bride Phyllis Dorne getting their big band back together to supplement current act.

Billy Rose gave Thunderbird producer Monte Proser title of his upcoming autobiog: "Whatever Happened To Me?"

Albert Finney visiting Line Renaud backstage at Dunes tells her he won't work for a year or two—wants to see the 50 states, but no one will believe him.

T. Yoshizawa, owner of Tokyo's Golden Akasaka nitery, being shown the town by Marty Hicks, ex-T'bird producer. Yoshizawa inked Kim Sisters for their first date in Japan, to follow their June stint here at the Desert Inn with Maurice Chevalier.

Paris

By Gene Moskowitz

(80 Ave Neuilly; SAB. 0712)

Burt Lancaster back to finish his starring role in "The Train" (UA).

Moulin Rouge nitery reopens for the tourist season with its big production show, "Frou-Frou."

Thelonius Monk showed well here for three concerts and the Modern Jazz Quartet is due this month.

Duke Ellington, presented by Norman Granz, giving three sell-out concerts at the Theatre Des Champs Elysees.

Denise Duval's sickness has held up the revival of Francis Poulenc's "Dialog Des Carmelites" opera at the Opera-Comique.

"Seven Days in May" (Par) opening in eight houses. Director John Frankenheimer and star Burt Lancaster were on hand.

In and out are Tom Tryon, Lex Barker, Rex Harrison, Rachel Roberts, Maria Callas and Mike Frankovich, Columbia Films veepee.

Brigitte Bardot sending a photo of herself in a bikini, which has hit several frontpages, to speak out against a Brazilian journalist who said she was getting fat.

Pierre Dumayet resigned from the weekly paper Le Nouveau Candide after an article maintaining that there are too many people working the governmental vid setup, Radiodiffusion - Television Francaise. He also writes for tele.

Robert Hossein off to Austria for exteriors on his new pic "Les Yeux Cernes" (Ringed Eyes) in which he stars and directs with Michele Morgan and Marie-France Pisier. His last pic, "La Mort D'Un Tueur" (Death of a Killer), also opens here this week.

Albuquerque

By Chuck Mittlestadt

(DIamond 4-1596)

Albuquerque Journal feature writer Carl Hilliard wed to Lana Gail Blair.

Smothers Bros. set for concert appearance at U. of New Mexico on April 7 with tickets scaled to top of $2.75.

Former Albuquerque radio newsman Neil Baird took over operation of indie station KCHS at Truth or Consequences, New Mexico.

Prolific Albuquerque author of teenage fiction, Wilfred McCormick, has just seen his 56th tome released. It's "The Long Pitcher," published by Duell, Sloan and Pearce.

Hollywood

Mike Frankovich returned from Europe.

Allan Sherman to tour Orient during May.

Zsa Zsa Gabor smashed her car in wet pavement crash.

Clint Eastwood hopped to Rome for "Magnificent Stranger."

Merrick-Shefrin Inc., flackery, opens Beverly Hills office April 1.

Jeanne Crain to star in "Claudia" at Drury Lane, Chi, May 13-June 7.

Nunnally Johnson returned to London diggings after 20th-Fox parleys.

Richard Erdman cutting album of Hollywood anecdotes for Cavalier Records.

Buddy Ebsen and Donna Douglas co-emcee PATSY Awards Saturday at Pantages.

Gary Jason, folksinger, recuping from multiple jaw fracture sustained in auto accident.

Verland Whipple bought Cameo Playhouse, legiter formerly operated by Jenna McMahon.

Jack M. Goetz, publicity director for Consolidated Industries, on twoweek Army tour of duty.

Phil Silvers preems his new nitery act at Dallas State Fair Music Hall Aug. 3 for two stanzas.

Robert Wise inked Danny Truhitte, 20-year-old singer-dancer, for juve romantic lead in "Sound of Music."

Mel Baker and Bob Gottlieb joined John F. Dugan Enterprises, the former in personal appearances field, latter in tv wing.

Hank Williams Jr. will sing one of his late father's hit songs in Metro's "Your Cheatin' Heart, Story of Hank Williams."

Ritchard N. Brown (Cambria) and John C. Rode (Warner Bros.) joined Screen Producers Guild to boost roster to alltime record of 267.

Phil Scott, who ankled Universal editorial dept. five years ago to join Four Star, returns to studio as assistant to editorial exec William Hornbeck.

Paul Winchell added new dummy tabbed Moses and Italian doll named Luigi to his longtime Jerry Mahoney creation for current ventriloquist stand at Interlude.

Phil Silvers called Sammy Cahn and Harry Crane to pen special material for "Top Banana" revival, opening Aug. 3 at Dallas State Fair Music Hall, with Silvers starred.

Bob Herron, vet film stuntman, hospitalized in Cuernavaca after being injured by close-range discharge of blank cartridge during scene in Col's "Major Dundee," shooting in Mexico.

Palm Springs

Kim Sisters at Chi Chi.

Cece Barker here to plug new tome, "The Olive Winked Back."

Polly Bergen and Freddy Fields houseguests at Harold Mirisch manse.

Marty Ragaway in for Easter holidays also to huddle with Red Skelton anent vidshows.

Gov. John Burns of Hawaii and Gov. Pat Brown of Calif. will be honored during this city's Desert Circus—April 8-12.

New P.S. National Bank has Martin A. Ruderman, member of Walt Disney music department, as chairman of the board.

Michael Harvey called back to Hollywood for role in "Arrest And Trial." He and Fifi D'Orsay planning a daily interview show on L.A.'s KCOP-TV.

Aerial Tramway to be starred in half hour film by Lumar Productions. Pic will promote new tramway to far corners of U.S.A. and Europe and is brainchild of members of Mt. San Jacinto Winter Park Authority.

Bob Hope joined Jane Russell, Connie Haines and Beryl Davis at WAIF Ball held at P.S. Riviera. He cracked, "Jessel is going to Israel with The Bagels. They're Beatles with holes in their heads." Party raised $18,000 to be divided between inter-country adoption organization and local P.S. Youth Center.

"Palm Springs Story" being filmed here with proceeds going to Desert Crippled Children's League, will have George Jessel, Eleanor Powell, Tommy Noonan, Ben Oakland in brief cameos. Local entertainers who will appear are Joe Shata, Duke Mitchell, Bobby Ramos, Guadalajara Boys, Marco Antonio and Al Anthony. Film will be shown April 24 at Chi Chi for $10 per ducat.

OBITUARIES

TOMMY LYMAN

Tommy Lyman, 73, possibly the most famous saloon tenor of his day, and especially in the theatrical trade, died March 12. Funeral was held in Chicago March 17, with burial at Desplaines, Ill.

In his heyday Lyman had long runs in a variety of famous intimate drinking rooms of their time. One was Kelly's of Hester Street, later of Greenwich Village. He also enjoyed extended tenure at Harry's New York Bar in Paris.

Apparently he never appeared in any legit show and was never particularly a vaudevillian. The April 22, 1921 issue of VARIETY reviewed him as a "New Act" at the Columbia. Actually it was a Friars Club benefit. The reviewer commented that Lyman was "almost a boy tenor" but that his appearance dispelled any doubt that he could work on a stage as well as a saloon floor.

He was identified with such standards as "Melancholy Baby" and "Ace In The Hole." More recent information is scanty but he seems to have worked professionally until a few years ago.

His survivors include his widow, Dorothy, two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Schnitzer of Chicago, and Mrs. Vernon Erickson of St. Louis. Also six nephews and one niece.

HENRY I. MARSHALL

(April 4, 1958)

You'll Always Be Remembered for

Your Beautiful Music, Dad

Adath Marshall Johnson

Australia in 1911 with "The Girl in the Taxi." He then played for a while in the Columbia Wheel, a vaude circuit.

Barry's longest run on Broadway, began in 1938 with "Hellzapoppin." The Barry family in show business, included his brothers Billy and Frank and his sisters Emily and Lydia. He had a big success with a bit called "Flugle Street," the hit of "Maids of America" in 1916, a Columbia Wheel show. He also appeared in the Theatre Guild's 1946 revival of "He Who Gets Slapped" and had a featured role in "Burlesque" with Bert Lahr.

His two daughters survive.

IRVING GROSSMAN

Irving Grossman, 63, a member of the national board of the American Guild of Variety Artists and former leading actor in the Yiddish theatre, died March 24 in Palm Beach, Fla.

Born in Boston, Grossman made his debut when he was 14 years old in San Francisco, in a Yiddish company, of which his father was the producer. In 1919 he made his English-speaking debut with the Belasco Stock Company in San Francisco. As a singer, he played the Fox vaudeville circuit during 1927-28. On the Yiddish stage, he was a starring singer and actor in numerous productions with Molly Picon, Menasha Skulnick, Aaron Lebedoff and Irving Jacobson, among others.

Among the productions in which he appeared were "Motke From Slobodke," "Women of New York," "Wish Me Luck," "The Wedding March," "It's a Funny World" and "Nice People." He sang in niteries and appeared as a singer at Broadway's Palace Theatre.

His wife, actress Diana Goldberg, son and daughter survive.

ERNEST E. STERN

Ernest E. Stern, director of press information, Hollywood, CBS-TV, died Sunday (29) in Mt. Sinai Hospital, Los Angeles, at the age of 48. He died of a heart attack.

He joined CBS-TV as press info director in Hollywood in 1959. Prior to that he had been director of advertising and publicity for ABC's western division. Stern joined ABC as copy chief. He became trade news editor in September, 1951, acting publicity manager in 1953 and publicity manager in 1954.

Born in Cincinnati, he attended the U. of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and the Hartford, Conn., School of Insurance. After an association with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the U.S., he served two-and-a-half years in the U.S. Army, serving overseas in the China-Burma-India Theatre. After his discharge as a technical sergeant, he joined Radio-TV Daily, where he remained five years.

Surviving are his widow, Betty; two sons, Fred, 12, and John, two, and a brother Alfred, of New York.

SAM BRAMSON

April 4, 1962

Two years have passed and you are so dearly loved and so sadly missed.

Peggy and Terri-June

BOBBY BARRY

Bobby Barry, 78, veteran vaudeville performer, died March 23 at the Actors Fund Home in Englewood, N.J.

He first appeared on the stage with his father, Billy, in the popular Barry and Faye vaude act. In his teens, he played in "Hogan's Alley" with such success that he attracted George M. Cohan. He was one of the original "bad boys" in "Foxy Grandpa" and took over Mr. Cohan's role in the road tour. By 1905, Barry was in "Little Johnny Jones" and "The Governor's Son" and four years later in "Knight for a Day." He toured stroke he suffered Feb. 10. He was 60.

His death followed by four days the folding of the Press, which was purchased by the Houston Chronicle. He was to write his column for the Chronicle as soon as he recovered from his illness. He had been with the Press for 40 years, and had been amusement editor for nearly 27 years.

He had recovered from the stroke to the extent that he was able to leave the hospital for short periods to visit friends.

One of his friends—perhaps his best—was comic Joe E. Lewis who happened to be playing the Cork Club in Houston at the time of Hochuli's death. Lewis rushed to the hospital, then to Hoc's home to console his widow, Ruth. Several hours later, although he wept just before "post time," he gave his performance.

At the end of the show he announced that the w.k. amusement editor was dead. "I'd like for everybody to stand and drink a post time with me to Paul Hochuli," he said.

The day before his death Bob Hope, in town briefly, visited Hoc at the hospital.

Hochuli also has been best man at the late Jack Carson's wedding in Houston several years ago. He had also been a stringer for VARIETY a number of years ago.

A former Rice University football star, Hochuli married his college sweetheart, Ruth, in 1928. Ruth often went with him on tours over the country to cover night club openings, film previews and other special events. He often was in the audience whenever Joe E. Lewis opened a show, wherever it might be.

He had served a term as president of the Press Club of Houston, and had been producer of the club's annual Gridiron Show.

Hochuli was a top newsman, and often gave a hand to the city staff on a big breaking story. He helped cover the New London, Texas, school explosion in 1937 in which several hundred children were killed. He also covered the Texas City disaster in 1947 in which more than 700 persons died.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Betty Kirby, of Dallas.

LESLEY MASON

Lesley (Les) Mason, 76, former film publicist who retired six years ago after 25 years at Warner Bros., died March 24 in Laguna, Cal. He willed his body to the California College of Medicine in the interest of science.

Educated at Yale, Mason was music reviewer for the old N. Y. Telegram, managing editor of Motion Picture News and editor-publisher of Exhibitor's Trade Review before going to Hollywood. He became a film editor, dialog and title writer and produced two-reel air dramas prior to joining WB in 1932. He retired in 1957.

His wife survives.

FRED KRISS

Fred J. Kneeland, 76, known professionally as Fred Kriss, a magician for more than 60 years, died March 27 in Medford, Mass. Starting in show business as a "boy magician," he appeared in two Boston amusement spots, famous at the turn of the century, Austin & Stone's Museum in Scollay Sq., and Walker's Museum in Bowdoin Sq. He later did an escape act in theatres throughout the northeast.

Kriss built a film theatre in Damariscotta, Me., in 1910 which screened one and two reel silents. After World War I, he added Punch & Judy to his magic show and played in vaude, amusement parks, carnivals and other sites. Active up to the time of his death, he last appeared on a tv show on WBZ-TV, Boston and at Playland on Boston Common.

Surviving are his son, newspaperman Paul F., real estate editor of the Boston Globe, and a sister.

JOHN C. STERLING

John C. Sterling, 75, honorary board chairman of This Week mag, died March 24 in Boynton Beach, Fla. Prior to joining This Week in 1936 as associate publisher, he was a v.p. and advertising director of McCall's mag for 10 years.

Sterling, who was active with This Week until last year, held a variety of top posts with the newspaper supplement including president of Publication Corp., its parent company, publisher and board chairman.

Under Sterling's guidance This Week had a rapid growth from distribution by 21 newspapers to 43 and a rise in advertising revenue to $30,000,000. For a time he was a partner in the old Barton, Durstine & Osborn ad agency. Prior to that he was manager of the Ladies Home Journal's New York Division.

Surviving are his wife, daughter and two sons.

GLENN A. HUGHES

Glenn A. Hughes, 69, who retired in 1961 as director of the U. of Washington school of drama, died March 21 in Seattle. He authored more than 60 plays, wrote six volumes of poetry and also turned out librettos for operas, pageants and musical comedies.

Born in Cozad, Neb., Prof. Hughes was graduated from Stanford U. and received his master's degree at the U. of Washington. He later joined its faculty and became head of the school of drama when it was founded in 1940.

Surviving are two daughters, a son and two brothers. One of the latter, John B. Hughes, is a producer for KIRO-TV.

LIAM O'HORA

Liam O'Hora, 48, Ireland's film censor for the last eight years, died March 22 in Dublin. His administration was generally regarded as being less tough than that of his predecessors, and despite pressures from trade and religious groups he kept a fair balance.

O'Hora, who served with the Palestine police during World War II, later became public relations consultant for a Palestine hotel group. Returning to his native Ireland in 1948, he was named manager of the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin. He subsequently was appointed film censor.

Surviving are his wife, seven daughters and four sons.

KITTY McSHANE

Kitty McShane, 66, vaude comedienne who was the widow of Arthur Towle, known professionally as Arthur Lucan, died March 24 in London. The couple began as a double act, Lucan & McShane. Later they moved on to the big time when they formed the Old Mother Riley and daughter act in which Miss McShane portrayed daughter Kitty.

The duo scored on stage, films and records until the act split. Lucan carried on as a single 'till he died in 1954 in the wings of a Hull theatre. His wife resumed the Old Mother Riley act with her husband's former understudy, Roy Rowland, but it never clicked.

WILLIAM PRASS

William Prass, 63, for the past 14 years publicist for United Artists in the Denver and Salt Lake City exchange areas, died March 24 in Denver after a long illness.

Prass, who was born in Russia, came to the U.S. with his parents when a child. As a young man he managed theatres in Washington state and Los Angeles before entering the film publicity field. He was regional publicist for MGM, assigned to the Denver and Salt Lake City areas for years before joining UA in 1949.

Surviving are a brother and sister.

ANTHONY R. STEFAN

Anthony R. Stefan, 60, conductor of the Schenectady Symphony Orchestra for 23 years, died Feb. 23 in that city after a long illness. A onetime concert violinist, he also was a member of the old WGY (radio) orchestra.

A native of Budapest, Stefan studied at the Royal Conservatory there. He made his professional debut as violinist in Budapest before appearing on the concert stage in the U.S. He later was concertmaster of the Schenectady Symphony prior to becoming permanent conductor in 1940.

Surviving are his wife, two sons and two sisters.

AUSTIN FAIRMAN

Austin Fairman, 72, actor and playwright, died March 26 in Dedham, Mass. He was brought to the U.S. by Gilbert Miller to play opposite Mary Nash in "The Lady" at the Empire Theatre, N.Y., and was Alice Brady's leading man for four years.

Fairman appeared in films with James Cagney, John Barrymore and others and on radio with Fred Allen, Al Jolson and Martha Raye. Born in London, he began his acting career at the St. James Theatre there.

Surviving are his wife and son.

NANCY SPAIN

Nancy Spain, 46, journalist, broadcaster and author, was killed in an air crash March 21 at Liverpool, Eng. She wrote 10 books and had been literary critic of the Daily Express. At the time of her death she was a special writer on News of the World and the magazine, She.

Miss Spain was a lively and forceful personality on radio and tv. On radio she was frequently heard in "My Word" and "20 Questions." On tv panel games she was a favorite with "Something To Shout About" and "Juke Box Jury."

Father, 72, of Fred Goldberg, United Artists ad-pub v.p., died April 24 in New York after a long illness. Also surviving are his wife, another son and a daughter.

Mother, 90, of bandleader Benny Goodman, died March 27 in Chicago. Other survivors include six sons and three daughters.

MARRIAGES

Jeni Bowstead to Allan Clarke, Coventry, Eng., March 24. He is lead singer in The Hollies, pop beat group.

Rose Finney to Richard Harris, London, March 25. Bride is sister-secretary to Albert Finney; he's a tv script writer.

Patti Reuben to Curtis Taylor, New York, March 28. Bride's with NBC's Casting Dept. and dughter of New York restaurateur Arnold A. Reuben; he's an actor.

Michele Zackheim to John Graham, New York, March 27. Bride's an artist, formerly with NBC, he's the art director, NBC Ad Dept.

Gerry Toohey to Ray McCue, Lake Placid, N.Y., March 17. Bride is casting director for CBS-TV's "To Tell the Truth;" he is producer of Roy Campanella's tv show.

BIRTHS

Mr and Mrs. Ernie Stewart, son, Las Vegas, Feb. 22. Father is pianist, has had his own group in Sands lounge since hotel opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cullen, son, Philadelphia, March 22. Father is RCA-Victor record promotion man.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis L'Amour, daughter, Hollywood, March 23. Father's an author.

Mr. and Mrs. David Nathan, son, London, March 3. Father is legit critic of the Daily Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. McGrath, daughter, San Francisco, March 23. Mother is daughter of CBS vice president Joe Ream.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Powell, son, New York, March 29. Father is a member of the Paramount pub staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Lewis, son, New York, March 21. Father is an actor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Silk Jr., daughter, March 27, Oakland, Calif. This makes Evelyn and adman Charles Schlaifer firsttime grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fritz, son, March 16, Detroit. Father is vicepresident and general manager of WXYZ Radio in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray, Jr., daughter, March 22, New York. Father is a member of the radio sales staff of The Katz Agency, Inc., station reps.

Mr. and Mrs. Marc Anderson, son, March 20, White Plains, N.Y. Father is a freelance assistant film director and the son of film producer Leonard Anderson.

Help My Picture?

Continued from page 1

ity-greed economics doesn't make sense. In the case mentioned, the actor's agent was less than politely informed what he could do. The client wasn't at the preem.

In the days when studios exercised control, "stars," were a minimal aggravation. The studio said "show" and the player knew it was no fooling. Not so today. Press value of the "star-studded premiere" still remains, perhaps more than even with television, but the interference of agents is sowing the whole thing.

Of course there are naturally cooperative performers along with the pouters. Companies have been pushing the tv appearance and personal tour bits hard lately and there have been those "name" actors who have cooperated. But by and large, the pub exec said, the new guard is a pretty uncooperative lot, especially when it comes to things like preems. These events will continue, naturally, but the style and glan our of such events is ebbing, no matter what the press releases say.

IATSE Vs. Fair

Continued from page 1

with the Fair. This problem still is in dispute, presently something of a standoff.

Involved in the Monday meeting were IATSE reps from studio mechanics Local 52, projectionists Local 306, cameramen's Local 644, script clerks Local 161 and stagehands Locals 1 and 4. Also repped were the assistant directors, members of the Directors Guild of America; the Assn. of Theatrical Pressagents and Managers and others. The situation is apparently an important one to the unions involved and some concrete action to relieve the jurisdictional disputes is planned.

A MAN IN MOTION!

Motion Pictures:

For Summer release: Pandro S. Berman's MGM

"Honeymoon Hotel"

Completed for Ross Hunter and Universal

"I'd Rather Be Rich"

Television:

For Fall viewing: CBS-TV

"An Hour With Robert Goulet"

June 2nd—NBC-TV

"Bell Telephone Hour"

September 27th—CBS-TV

"Ed Sullivan Show"

Columbia Records:

Current LP

"Manhattan Tower"

For Fall release

"Sad Songs"

Personal Appearance Tour:

April 2 to April 12—San Francisco

The Fairmont

April 17 to April 25—Pittsburgh

Twin Coaches

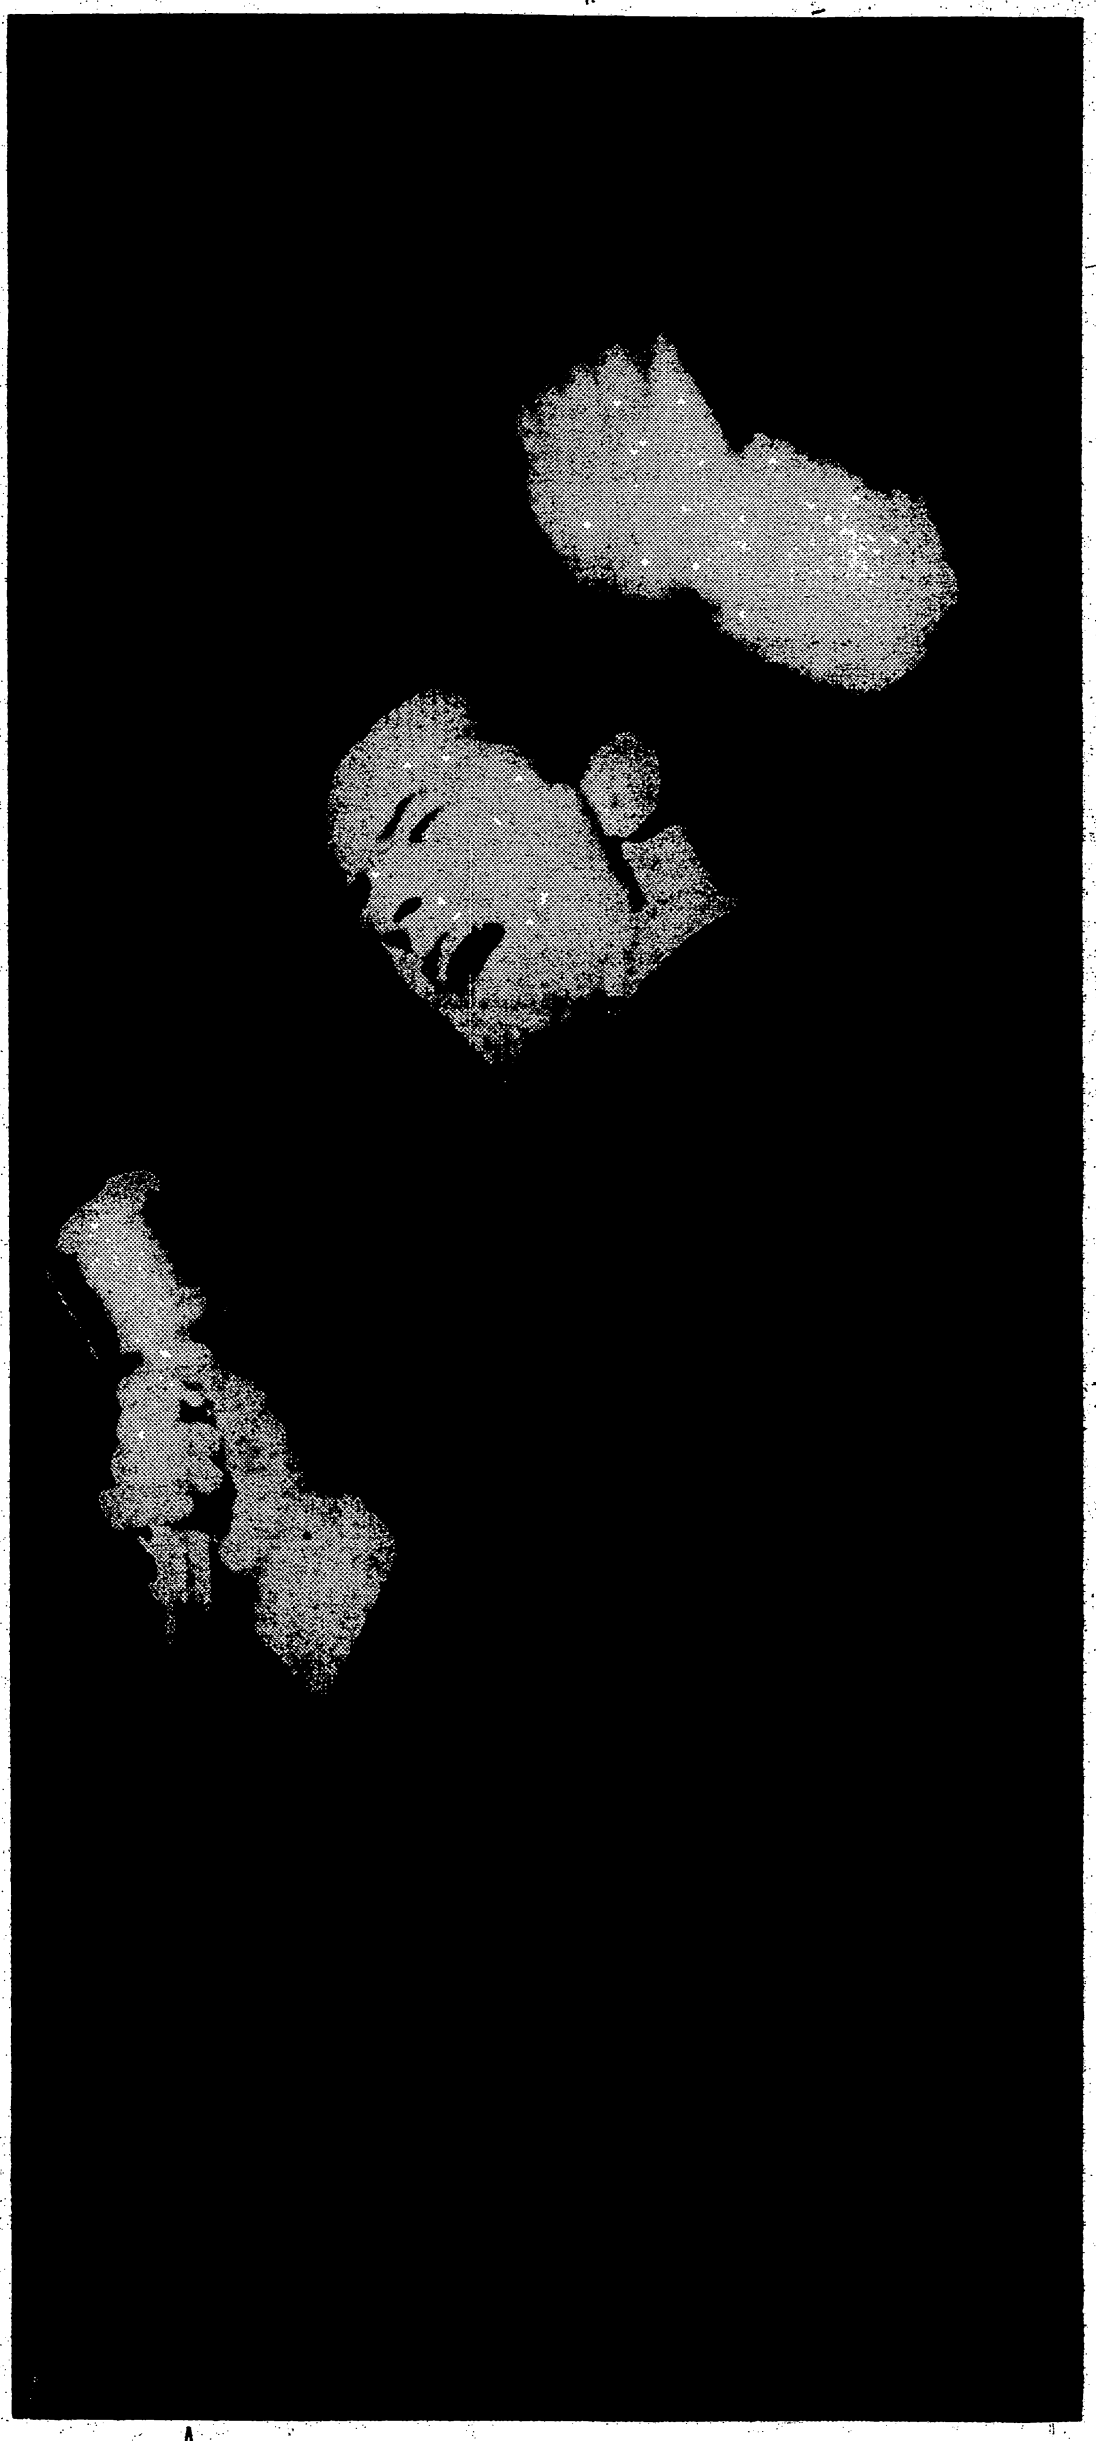
April 27 to May 10—St. Louis

The Chase-Park Plaza

May 15 to May 21—Brooklyn

Town & Country

June 3 to June 28—Merchantville, N. J.



Latin Casino

October 1 to October 28—Las Vegas

The Flamingo

November 4 to December 1—New York City

Persian Room, The Plaza

Direction:
CMA

Management:
ROSEMONT ENTERPRISES INC.
THE PLAZA NEW YORK

Public Relations:
merrick-shefrin

FILMS | VIDEO | TV FILMS | RADIO | MUSIC | STAGE

VARIETY

PRICE 35¢

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th Street, New York, N. Y. 10036; by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $15. Single copies, 35 cents.
Second Class Postage Paid at New York, N.Y.
© COPYRIGHT, 1964, BY VARIETY, INC., ALL RIGHTS RESERVED
Vol. 234 No. 7 NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1964 88 PAGES

NAB'S OWN VAST WASTELAND

JFK on Peabody Awards

Washington, April 7.

Examples of the late President Kennedy's wit were disclosed in heretofore unpublished letters to Peabody Awards topper Dean John E. Drewry of the Univ. of Georgia. Kennedy wrote two letters in April of 1962 and 1963 praising the awards winners but adding his celebrated wry humor.

His letter of April 24, 1963 noted pleasure for awards going to Mrs. Kennedy's "Tour of the White House," "Adlai Stevenson Reports" and August Heckscher's "Books of Our Time."

"As an occasional amateur performer on radio and television, I extend my warmest greetings to all of the professionals you honor today."

In 1962 when Newton Minow as FCC Chairman pulled in a Peabody, Kennedy wrote: "I note with pride that Newton N. Minow is to receive a Peabody Special Award—and as President, I am glad one of our boys made it."

How Ray Stark Made Sure to Protect Image of Fanny Brice, His Wife's Mom

By ABEL GREEN

That Barbra Streisand is the new star over Broadway was quickly established at the premiere last Thursday (26) of "Funny Girl" at the Winter Garden. Her meteoric impact is likened to Mary Martin's boffola with "My Heart Belongs To Daddy" which catapulted her to the heights in "Leave It To Me" in 1938.

However, Ray Stark's carefully planned picture rights projection is a parallel show biz saga. Because the Seven Arts partner-producer of "Funny Girl" is married to the former Frances Brice, daughter of the legendary Fanny Brice, and her father is the still living Nicky Arnstein, Stark had to retain firm control of ethical, parental, sentimental, filial and kindred values along with the show biz potential of any stage/screen/television and any other future rights attendant to the comedienne's saga.

To achieve this, he made preproduction deals, buying in the film rights of the several previous

(Continued on page 86)

No Names Please

Edinburgh, April 7.

The Weekly Scotsman, prestige weekly published by the Roy Thomson-controlled Scotsman Publications Ltd., referred to the Liz Taylor-Richard Burton nuptials with this comment on its front page:

"Two famous film stars were wed this week. We are proud not to mention their names."

Metromedia Ban On Union Series Cues Beef to FCC

Washington, April 7.

The United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, and Metromedia's Baltimore outlet WCBM-AM are having a tug-of-war on the union label at the FCC.

UAW culminated a series of blasts to FCC over WCBM's cancellation of the labor-sponsored program, "Eye Opener," with a demand the station's license be revoked.

Union charged in a sworn affidavit that the program was dropped because of complaints de-

(Continued on page 86)

Speed Tape of Bout From Sweden to U.S.

Hollywood, April 7.

July battle between Floyd Patterson and Eddie Machen in Sweden will beam in U.S. and Canada via John Vrba's sports-oriented Fourth Network, hopefully on as many as 150 stations, according to web veepee Don Johnson.

Fight, due for either July 5 or 12 (both Sundays) at approximately

(Continued on page 86)

Much Anxiety Among N.Y. Service Folk Peering For World's Fair Biz Omens

The New York hoteliers, restaurateurs, niteries, cabbies, waiters, busboys and peripheral services concomitant to a mass influx are still sanguine about the 1964 World's Fair but all sure are rooting that it gets a good press "because, if for some reason, it doesn't, we're not gonna get bailed out."

The 1963 setback is already well-known—too many conventions and tourists just postponed coming to New York until 1964—but a sampling of some hotels' Easter weekend occupancies are even a ruder awakening. Even this normally lush period was badly dented because, once again, the Big Wait is for April 22 and thereafter.

A sampling of Saturday and Sunday night hotel occupancies, in some key hotels over Easter, may

(Continued on page 86)

CHI CONVENTION NEEDS HOT-FOOT

By GEORGE ROSEN

Chicago, April 7.

This week's annual convention of the nation's broadcasters has produced a record turnout at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Practically everybody who's anybody on a management level in industry affairs, plus an assortment of "peripheral" personalities like the Rev. Billy Graham and Congressional "watchdogs" like Oren Harris, has put in an appearance. Ostensibly, they're all here to say the "right things at the right time," both on and off the agenda, and from all surface appearances it would seem that this 42d annual get-together is very definitely "in the groove."

But when exposed to closer scrutiny and the cold glare of reality, this year's NAB convention may well go down as the most frustrating and bewildering on record. Not that many a previous NAB convention hasn't provoked the same sentiments. But with only 24 hours to go before the windup session (the inevitable Q&A involving the FCC members with its accompanying rehash of familiar policy and doctrine), the feeling is unmistakable among a growing segment of broadcasters that the NAB convention, from a standpoint of format, design and accomplishments, has dissipated its value.

Come checkout time and the broadcasters will leave the Chi precincts with just about the same amount of knowledge as when they arrived.

If the NAB convention, in its 42d year of grace, adds up to a

(Continued on page 66)

Vegas 'Winning' Wrongo Publicity

As result of a combination of circumstances in recent months, capped perhaps most significantly by the Nevada Gaming Control Board shuttering the Silver Slipper casino, in Las Vegas, the Nevada casino-hotel operations are said to be mulling a new "public relations" program to give new gloss to some tarnished aspects. The Silver Slipper, whose prime entertainment attractions are the marathon burleskeries of Hank Henry & Co., was given a surprise raid Friday (3) night and shuttered on a crooked dice charge. Within hours after the foldo, a LV district judge, roused from his sleep, signed an order vacating the action of the Carson City (state capital) raiders for the time being and the spot reopened.

This was the first time a major

(Continued on page 86)

Gen. Sarnoff, 25 Yrs. Later at N.Y. Fair, Picks Up Where He Left Off About TV

No Screen Credits

When is a knight more important than a king? When he is Sir Alec Guinness, the screen and stage actor. Luncheon bite for Overseas Press Club members for the April 14 guesting of Sir Alec, currently on Broadway in "Dylan," will be $4.50 per head.

Charge for April 24 luncheon at which Jordan's King Hussein will star will be a bargain $3.

RCA, which can honestly claim that its exhibit at the New York's World's Fair will be ready on opening day (22), gave the press a 40-minute preview of the fairgrounds tint centre last week via closed-circuit (live and vidtape) piped into the Johnny Victor Theatre from the site.

The 40-minute show featured introductory talks by RCA board chairman David Sarnoff, RCA prexy Elmer W. Engstrom and Robert Moses, prexy of the Fair Corp., and several NBC-TV talents, including Hugh Downs, who hosted a tour; "TW3" singer Nancy Ames, who piped a parody about the last New York World's Fair, "That Was the Fair That Was;" comedian Don Adams, in a very funny routine on the lost-kid service the RCA exhib will feature; the Peter Nero Trio, playing from the fair studio; and Peter Duchin and Pat Fontaine in a fashion-show bit.

Gen. Sarnoff's dedication speech came 25 years after he stood on the same site at the 1939 World's Fair and predicted that tv would have great impact on American life. The dedication marked the first coverage by American tv of a news event. His talk in dedication of the RCA 1939 exhibit, was titled, "Birth

(Continued on page 86)

NAACP Demands GM to Explain Ban On TV 'Bonanza'

Roy Wilkins, exec secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, last week sent a strongly-worded telegram to General Motors board chairman Frederic Donner, demanding answers to a VARIETY story of last week (1) disclosing the car company's attempts to get NBC-TV to shelve a "Bonanza" episode featuring Negro actress Ena Hartman, a network contract player.

Wilkins' wire to the GM board chairman said the NAACP "wishes to know whether VARIETY story is true or false and what steps your company is prepared to take to eliminate racial discrimination in its sponsored programs, advertising, employment and dealer contracts."

The wire, sent Thursday (2), had not at last report been answered. GM, through a press rep, did issue a statement to daily newspapers, which said the company's tv policy specified that its programs "avoid anything of a controversial nature concerning national or regional issues," and that NBC had given assurances that the seg was "not controversial."

The VARIETY story pointed out that GM had been applying all the pressure it could muster to

(Continued on page 86)

Sked Capsule 'Marietta' For Astor Hotel Eatery

An hour-long version of "Naughty Marietta" is scheduled to open April 16 at the Dutch Coffee House of the Astor Hotel, N.Y. The cafe-theatre presentation, operating under the jurisdiction of Actors Equity, will feature a cast of five and will give two performances nightly Tuesday-Sunday at 9:30 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. Tickets to all performances will be $2.90. Food

(Continued on page 84)

Election Year Finds All 3 Networks Bent On Image-Polishing

All three network news departments will be doing some image-polishing this election year with handbooks, or variants of same, designed to enlighten the electorate as to the nature of the democratic electoral beast.

Both CBS and ABC will hit the bookstalls with softcover volumes chock with history and other data on our election process, the former's via Dell Publishing and ABC's via Lancer Publications. NBC's plan, meanwhile, is for a magazine takeout, titled "Election Almanac," in the N.Y. Times the Sunday before the countdown next November. Additionally, Gulf Oil (sponsoring the web's election coverage) has ordered some 2,000,000 copies, with additional distribution to be made via the net's affils.

The CBS baedeker is edited by Stanford Mirkin, senior researcher for CBS News, while the ABC edition is being supervised by Richard Hefner, ex program topper for WNDT (New York's educational outlet) and latterly operating his own communications consultancy.

There are a lot of people at the Convention we'd like to say thanks to.
McHUGH AND HOFFMAN, INC.
Television Consultants
470 No. Woodward Ave.
Birmingham, Michigan

'Black Bottom' Negro Hitting America's Cultural Top, Asserts Oscar Brown Jr.

By MORRY ROTH

Chicago, April 7.

"If all of us Negroes split to Africa, you'd be left with Lawrence Welk in America." That's part of singer-writer Oscar Brown Jr.'s espousal of his "black bottom" theory of the popular performing arts in the U.S.

The "black bottom" is Brown's term for the lowest rung on the Negro economic ladder, and according to him, it has always been one step lower than the poorest of the poor whites and probably will be for some time. And that's despite the best efforts of the Administration's "war on poverty."

"There are these guys wearing light blue shirts and $35 neckties sitting up at Rockefeller Center all day trying to figure out new ways to entertain the masses," Brown asserts. "But an unlettered Negro comes home from a construction job and in his leisure time makes up a musical form or dance idea that will sweep the country and maybe the world. We may be economically shortchanged, but we're certainly not culturally deprived."

Brown believes that the economically ground-under-the-heel Negro is, has been and will be the strongest cultural force in America. "Jazz came from the cotton field hands and the piano players in Storyville's brothels," Brown maintains.

"And as for the dances, you

(Continued on page 84)

But Wha' Happens When 'Time' Flashes Forecast Of Rain to Fair Crowd

The Out-of-the-World's Fair opening in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., a week from next Wednesday (22) will still be keeping in touch with mundane matters. It won't be possible to escape the outside world inasmuch as the news system for General Foods, to be shown on continuous electrified ribbons from 11 steel and plastic arches strategically located throughout the grounds, became operational last Wednesday (1).

The news will be serviced by Time Inc. A deal for the Luce news coverage was finalized a few days before the dedication. Frank Shea, vet staffer, was put in charge of the service. Shea will have to deliver a story in five lines, each of which will have 41 characters. It'll be Time's only connection in the Fairgrounds, although it is the publisher of the Official Fair Guide.

Both General Foods officials and Time & Life's James Linen spoke of "meaningful public service" at the dedication. GF stated that it went into the project only to provide something of use and value to

(Continued on page 86)

Menotti's 'Martin's Lie' For Bath Ahead of CBS

Gian-Carlo Menotti's new opera "Martin's Lie" will have its world premiere in Bristol, England on June 3 as part of the Bath Festival.

Opera was commissioned by CBS-TV in 1962 and it will receive its American premiere over that network next season.

Twin Cities on Teenage Nitery Kick; 2 More Win Licenses Despite Protests

St. Paul, April 7.

Non-existent hereabouts not long ago, teenage nightclubs now are blossoming increasingly in the Twin Cities' area. The latest to be licensed are the Safari and Maplewood.

In order to qualify as a teenage nitery, no alcoholic beverages, of course, can be sold on the premises. But this apparently isn't preventing the spots from operating profitably. The Safari will be open only to teenagers 18 to 20 years old "provided they observe dress and behavior standards set by it."

Some local purists, who frown on adult nightclubs, oppose licensing of the spots because they think that one of their effects will be to make the young folks adult nightclub devotees and thus, eventually, consumers of alcoholic beverages. They're pro-temperance and against adult nitery going. However, the suburban Maplewood city council went on record as not being opposed "in principle" to teenage nightclubs.

Most entertainment in Twin Cities' area teenage niteries is jazz music by small combos. But there's also some folk singing and even customer dancing in a few. Beverages are limited to soft drinks, coffee and tea. Food includes sandwiches, hamburgers, hot dogs, etc.

HELSINKI 'GIVING THE FINN' TO U.S. VIDPIX?

Finland is threatening the United States and other exporters of television films with a customs assessment of something like $1,800 a program. This despite the outright sale price of such films amount to only $200 to $250 per title. John G. McCarthy, president of the Television Producers Assn., backed principally by the three U. S. tv nets, plans to go to Geneva later this month to protest the action of Finland as an infraction of Article Three of the General Agreement on Tariffs' Treaties (GATT), the foundation of the Common Market.

McCarthy argues that Finland

(Continued on page 84)

ED SULLIVAN

Nationally Syndicated columnist whose popular TV show is now in its 16th year on CBS-TV, says:

"I am anticipating with pleasure the 14th appearance of PAUL ANKA on my TV show, May 18. He has played for me repeatedly and will continue to return.

"His youthful exuberance and vital talents are contagious; they please old and young alike."

Beatles Blanket U.S. Charts; 'Love' Vaults 1,000,000

The Beatles have nailed down another Gold Record in "You Can't Buy Me Love" with the RIAA-certified 1,000,000-seller continuing the group's spectacular domination of the American best-seller lists.

At the present time, The Beatles are riding with four other top-of-the-chart hits in "She Loves You," "I Want To Hold Your Hand," "Twist and Shout" and "Please Please Me," on various labels. "She Loves You" is on Swan, "Twist and Shout" is on Tollie and "Please Please Me" is on Veejay. Capitol, which now has them under contract, releases the others.

"You Can't Buy Me Love" was certified by the Record Industry Assn. of American less than two weeks after its release. Tune eclipses the pace of the group's first Capitol single, "I Want To Hold Your Hand," which is now

(Continued on page 86)

Brubeck's White House Gig For Royal Jordanian Cat

Washington, April 7.

President and Mrs. Johnson will bring the Dave Brubeck group into the White House for a jazz-loving king.

The Brubeck quartet will play following the state dinner April 14 honoring King Hussein of Jordan who will be here on an official visit.

It will be the first jazz concert ever held in the Executive Mansion's East Room following a state dinner. The program was selected to please King Hussein, who is a jazz buff.

A Writers Internationale

Hollywood, April 7.

National council of the Writers Guild of America set week of Sept. 27 for series of confabs in London with British Writers Guild to promote formation of an International Writers Guild.

Proposed IWG would embrace scripters from countries such as France, Italy, Japan, Australia, Mexico, as well as United Kingdom, U.S. and others.

Who Said 'Farewell'?

"I have never announced 'farewell tours,' the newspapers did," explains the ebullient Maurice Chevalier as he details his immediate booking plans which teeoff April 20 in Scandinavia (10 concerts) to be followed by one in Berlin.

After a few days' rest at his Paris home, he opens in Philadelphia May 19 on a series of 10 U. S. one-nighters winding up in Las Vegas' Desert Inn in May for four weeks.

17% Tip Stamped on Top O' Fair

A business man's luncheon for five at the Terrace Club, the $1,200-per-annum membership diningroom adjacent to the Top Of The Fair, last week came to almost $16-a-head; exactly $78 plus change. This included a pourboire obligatoire (fancy for tips) of 17%. Originally it was stamped 15% for service, but a rubberstamp notation is superimposed to 17%. The tip came to $10, which figures $2-per-person. The businessmen decided that that was pretty fancy tipping.

The five luncheons were the braised beef (off the wagon) and there were salads (estimated at $1.25 a copy), the usual rounds of drinks (no wine), coffee and two desserts. The Terrace Club divides its menus into two categories—there is a separate menu for entrements (French for dessert).

Knott Hotels caters and a syndicate headed by George Hyams operates the club. The Port of N.Y. Authority is said to supervise the policy of tariffs. The Top of the Fair is in the Transportation Zone, and atop the TOTF is the heliport under the Authority's supervision.

It's a Standing Headline: Cops Nab Lenny Bruce

Lenny Bruce has probably been "busted" more times than all those covered-wagoners who tried, unsuccessfully, to make it to Pike's Peak or bust. Last Friday (3) he got it again.

Comedian was arrested at 10:30 p.m. on a bench warrant by N. Y. police on a charge of using obscene language in his act. Arrest was just before he was due to go on stage at the Cafe au Go Go, Greenwich Village coffee house, where he opened March 29.

Howard Solomon, manager-owner, was also arrested. Announcement of non-appearance was made to the capacity crowd and approximately half asked for refunds. Comedian Irwin Corey, scheduled to open at spot yesterday (7) was in the cafe and went

(Continued on page 86)

President Johnson's Wit Cramps 'Variety' Critic: It's All Off Record

By LES CARPENTER

Washington, April 7.

With comedy acts by Lyndon Baines Johnson and Bob Hope, the annual White House Photographers Assn. dinner here was one of best staged in Washington in years.

President Johnson followed Hope, doing a vaude routine of five minutes or so. Unfortunately for his rep as a wit, the President placed an "off the record" embargo on everything he said. This was obviously because he made numerous cracks about prominent people in politics and didn't want to read those in print.

Despite the "off the record" prohibition, no harm could be done by quoting his final line as he left the Sheraton-Park Hotel dinner: "Will the last one out please remember to turn off the lights?"

Johnson, like his predecessor, the late President Kennedy, has a showman's ability to deliver laugh lines. Johnson knows the words to punch and the most effective ways to pause.

Johnson is often witty in private

(Continued on page 86)

50% of Par $3-Mil Budget For Loren Prod. in Israel

Tel Aviv, April 7.

About $1,500,000, out of an overall budget of $3,000,000 earmarked for the Sophia Loren starrer to be directed by Daniel Mann, would be spent by Paramount Pictures in Israel, where the shooting of this Laurence Durrell story is scheduled to start on June 14. This was disclosed by Martin Rackin, head of Paramount production at the end of his 10 days' visit to this country.

Rackin completed negotiations with producer Kurt Unger and local kibbutz people, securing their cooperation and help. Assisting in final changes of the J. P. Miller script and supervising with Daniel Mann the groundbreaking for the building of the kibbutz to be used as location for the complex shooting, Rackin had praise for the understanding and goodwill shown by one and all, from Asher Hirshberg, head of the Israeli Govern-

(Continued on page 86)

Jayne Mansfield's Exit From Israeli Co-Prod. Laid to Arab B.O. Worry

Tel Aviv, April 7.

Jayne Mansfield, according to reliable sources, announced that she would not star in the planned Rex Carlton feature "Johnny Morder," to be filmed here, because it would hurt her "standing in the Arab countries and place her under boycott." On the other hand it has been announced that the Melville Shavelson-Michael Wayne production of Col. Mickey Marcus' bio would be filmed here next year, starring John Wayne, though not in the title role of the American Jewish hero of Israel's War of Independence.

Rex Carlton, of Paragon Inter-

(Continued on page 86)

4/8

VARIETY

Subscription Order Form

Enclosed find check for $.....

Please send VARIETY for ☐ One Year ☐ Two Years ☐ Three Years

To .....
(Please Print Name)

Street .....

City..... Zone.... State.....

Regular Subscription Rates

One Year—$15.00 Two Years—$28.00

Three Years—$39.00

Canada and Foreign—$1 Additional Per Year

VARIETY Inc.

154 West 46th Street New York, N. Y. 10036

VARIETY

Trade Mark Registered

FOUNDED 1905 by SIME SILVERMAN; Published Weekly by VARIETY, INC.

Syd Silverman, President
154 West 46th St., New York, N. Y. 10036 JUdson 2-2700
Hollywood, Calif. 90028
6404 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood 9-1141
Washington, D. C. 20004
784 National Press Building, STerling 3-5445
Chicago, Ill. 60611
400 No. Michigan Ave., DElaware 7-4984

London, S.W.1
49 St. James's Street, Piccadilly, HYde Park 4561-2-3
SUBSCRIPTION Annual, $15; Foreign, $16; Single Copies, 35 Cents

ABEL GREEN, Editor

Volume 234 120 No. 7

INDEX

Bills	78	Music	67
Casting	82	New Acts	78
Chatter	85	Night Club Reviews	76
Film Reviews	6	Obituaries	87
House Reviews	68	Pictures	3
Inside Music	72	Radio	25
Inside Pictures	21	Record Reviews	68
Inside Radio-TV	54	Television	25
Inside Vaudeville	74	Television Reviews	45
International	22	TV Film	35
Legitimate	79	Tollvision	24
Literati	84	Vaudeville	73
		Wall Street	21

DAILY VARIETY
(Published in Hollywood by Daily Variety, Ltd.)
$20 a year. $25 Foreign.

CHEEK-TO-CHEEK AT B.A. FEST

Atty. Moss Plea Uncovers Metro As Plaintiff Against Sam Bronston

A damage suit against Samuel Bronston by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer came to light Friday (3) when attorney Jesse Moss was granted a request to be relieved as Bronston's attorney in the action.

Metro's suit, filed in N.Y. Supreme Court, asked for $764,358 in connection with the Bronston film, "King of Kings." Company stated that under an Aug. 4, 1960 contract for the production by Bronston and distribution by Metro of "King of Kings," agreement at that time provided that for any help that Metro supplied to Bronston, he would pay.

On Friday, N.Y. Supreme Court Justice Louis J. Capozzoli granted request by Moss, former attorney for Bronston, to be relieved of the action. Court said that sufficient grounds for the release has been shown by reason of "serious differences of opinion" between Moss and the defendant, Samuel Bronston. Moss, in his affidavit, told the court that last February a series of differences occurred between himself and Bronston concerning difficulties with various business enterprises involving Bronston and his corporation.

Bronston informed Moss last Feb. 20, the attorney said, that he was no longer employed to represent Bronston or his corporation, whereupon he made a motion to be relieved of representing Bronston in this case.

Breakdown of damages and services which, at Samuel Bronston Productions' request, the plaintiff supplied, included studio costs, scenario, director, cast, extras, set operations, film lot site rentals, publicity, titles, sound recording, etc. This was at a cost to Metro of $747,545, plus an additional cost of $11,811 to Metro's British studio, including two insurance premiums of $1,673 and $3,090, $230 air transport and other costs.

Need a Printed Program

What may become a game of legalistic musical chairs is indicated by fact that Metro's suit against Samuel Bronston was filed by attorney Simon Rose, a member of the Phillips-Nizer-Benjamin-Krim & Ballon law firm. On the other hand, Bronston, in his discussions with Pierre S. DuPont 3d, is being repped by Louis Nizer, senior of the same firm. Up to the present time, Bronston has designated no other attorney to represent him in the Metro suit.

Rose said Friday that the Nizer firm would continue to rep Metro. Who's on first?

Paper Says Sorensen To Succeed Eric Johnston; MPAA Wiggles Eyebrows

Hollywood, April 7.

Washington Post reported Monday (6) that Theodore Sorensen, speech writer and confidant of the late President John F. Kennedy, is "seriously thinking" of accepting the presidency of the Motion Picture Assn. of America.

Sorensen, in Boston writing a book about Kennedy, could not be reached for comment. MPAA spokesmen in Washington said they had heard no mention of Sorensen as a possible sucessor to the late Eric Johnston.

Post averred that Sorensen's "friends" disclosed his interest in the MPAA spot. When he resigned his White House job, he let it be known he would like a permanent non-Government job, the Post said.

Merian C. Cooper Eyes Features in Thailand

Hollywood, April 7.

Merian C. Cooper, former RKO production chief and retired U.S. Air Force brigadier general who flew with Gen. Claire Chennault during War II, is mulling production of three films in Thailand.

Prince Anusorn Yukol of Thailand, one of the country's largest theatreowners and film producers, has arrived from Bangkok to discuss the project.

Cooper, who filmed "Chang" in Siam in 1927 in association with Ernest B. Schoedsack, scouted locations in Thailand last fall for "Chennault of China." He also is projecting a film concerning Thailand's World War II underground.

Exhibitors Move Nearer Merger

Chicago, April 7.

Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn., meeting here Monday (6), have "taken tremendous steps forward" in the possible merger of the two organizations. It was learned from TOA president John H. Rowley and Allied president Jack Armstrong that an "agreement in principle had been reached as to the basic framework of a new national trade association representing all theatre owners."

Special sub-committees will be appointed immediately to develop details. The proposed organization structure will be submitted to the respective boards for discussion and consideration and additional meetings will be held to finalize the details.

In the interim period, until consolidation has been completed, a joint exec committee headed by Rowley and Armstrong will be established to act and speak for United exhibition on all national issues of common interest. Rowley and Armstrong said their respective boards and exec committees would be polled immediately for authorization and approval for the formation of the joint interim exec committee.

"All of us meeting today are extremely optimistic over fulfillment of the common objective of one strong national association of motion picture exhibitors," they said. "There are no insurmountable obstacles that cannot be resolved in our opinion."

Representing TOA at the meeting, in addition to Rowley, are George Kerasotes, Myron Blank and Joseph Alterman. Attending with Armstrong for Allied are Ben Marcus, Wilbur Snaper, Marshall Fine and Milton London.

NELSON-SULLIVAN TO HIFT SPOT IN PARIS

John Nelson-Sullivan has been named Continental ad-pub director at 20th Century-Fox. In his new position, Nelson-Sullivan will headquarter in Paris, where the Continental distribution operation is centred, supervising advertising and publicity for the Continent and Middle East for all Fox releases.

Nelson-Sullivan's assignment follows the recent appointment of Fred Hift as director of European production publicity, headquartering in London. Hift had previously been based in Paris. Nelson-Sullivan comes to 20th from a post as Europe-Middle East-Near East pub coordinator for Samuel Bronston Productions. Prior to that he was Universal's Europe-Middle East ad-pub director and held various other posts with U.

USIA AND MPAA'S 'STATE'-LY TANGO

By VINCENT CANBY

Buenos Aires, April 7.

So far it's love, love, love—at least between the U.S. State Department and the Motion Picture Assn. of America at this Sixth International Argentine Film Festival, being held this year for the first time in the capital city of Buenos Aires instead of the south Atlantic resort city of Mar Del Plata. The apparent cooperation between George Stevens Jr.'s motion picture division of the U.S. Information Agency and the MPAA is resulting in what seems —at this writing—to be a first class Yank showing in p.r. and good will.

The Yank delegation, including such personalities as Tony Perkins, Janet Leigh, Paula Prentiss, director David Miller (a member of the international jury)—is, in fact, one of the best of the fest which, this year, is not internationally too heavy with "names." A kingpin of the Yank effort is Karl Malden, head of the "official" U.S. delegation, a guy who can not only handle the "diplomatic" chores with ease, but who also as an Actors Studio stalwart, can talk the kind of cineaste language about the art of films and acting which in which film buffs everywhere converse.

Backing up Malden is a strong MPAA group, headed by Robert Corkery, Mexico-based Motion Picture Export Assn. veep for Latin America; George Vietheer, MPEA veep who headquarters in New York, and Harry Stone, the MPEA's man in Rio De Janeiro. State is being repped by George Rylance, deputy public affairs officer at the U.S. Embassy here.

Fact that State is taking the fest seriously this year is underscored by the luncheon being hosted at the U.S. Embassy today (Tues.) by the Yank ambassador for key members of all the visiting film delegations. (The Yank's "Love With The Proper Stranger" will be shown tonight.) Almost all the delegations, in fact, are bringing their ambassadors into the act. Not to be outdone, Argentine President Illea hosted a giant asado (barbecue) for everybody on Sunday (5) at his residence in suburban B.A.

For these reasons the shift in the fest's locale to Buenos Aires from Mar Del Plata seems all to the good, at least, to the off-shore visitors who now have a chance to

(Continued on page 19)

Bronston Counter-Punches Awaited; His Fight Manager Nizer Tied Up; Scowls at Trustee & Newsweek

Sophia Up to Her Neck

Those who found fault with Samuel Bronston's "Fall of the Roman Empire" on the grounds that not enough of the fabled Sophia Loren anatomy was shown in its natural splendor should know that the situation is a contractual matter.

It seems that Miss Loren's pact with the producer has what might be termed an "anti-cleavage" clause, the result of which is that she is always quite well draped in pix she makes for him. In "El Cid," for example, the same is true. She was costumed to the hilt, or neck. From which party the clause originated isn't acertainable but Bronston has never been a sexploiteer. Miss Loren has never looked so virtuous as in "Roman Empire."

Samuel Bronston and his attorney Louis Nizer have been in consultation this past week on two possible sources of legal action, one involving the trusteeship recently set up by Pierre S. DuPont 3d covering the financial workings of Samuel Bronston Productions and another involving Newsweek Magazine.

Bronston has referred inquiries on these matters to the Nizer office but the attorney has been tied up in court in the Lewis S. Rosenstiel matrimonial suit. This case is expected to go on for a couple of weeks and may hold up the Bronston strategies. At any rate, Nizer isn't making any comment on matters pertaining to Bronston at this time.

As regards the trusteeship, set up by DuPont under the administration of attorney Jesse Moss, the producer commented early this week: "I don't recognize the trusteeship." The original action had been described as a "voluntary" move at the time of the formation of the trusteeship. What action Bronston is planning to take against the setup isn't being projected at present. The producer did say that he "definitely" plans to resume production this summer in Spain and perhaps also in Italy. "These are my territories," he commented, saying that he intends to be active in both places.

Bronston noted that he has five properties in hand at present but that he is not sure which he plans implementing first.

Possibility 'Paris 1900'

One oft-mentioned possibility is "Paris 1900" which has been slated for production in Italy as a roadshow attraction under the direction of Vittorio De Sica. Other possibilities include "Brave New World," "Nightrunners of Bengal," "Suez" and an historical war drama. The latter two titles are pacted to Paramount, which is currently handling his "Fall of the Roman Empire," and the others are to be made for Cinerama via prior deals. Current status of these deals isn't clear, considering the trusteeship and its ramifications.

The possible action involving Newsweek concerns the magazine's review of "Roman Empire." Toward the end of the review the publication comments upon Bronston's affairs, also quoting an unnamed "ex-Bronston man." Implication of litigation on charge of commercial libel is not confirmed.

That's Youngstein In Studio Orbit

Hollywood, April 7.

Max E. Youngstein, in 10 busy Hollywood days, set plans for group of four features. Three are on his indie deal with Columbia Pictures; the other will take him across town to Culver City and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. There's a chance, as things shape up at present, that Youngstein will be bicycling between the two studios (something actors are accustomed to doing, but a rare departure for producers) as his first for Col, "Cook for Mr. General," and the MGM entry, "Money Trap," are slated to face the cameras in late summer or early fall.

Don McGuire has been engaged to write the script for "Mr. General," based on play by Steven Gethers, and as reported earlier it will be directed by Barry Shear, up to now identified with tv.

Youngstein, in talks with Col's production boss, Mike Frankovich, also has come up with two new properties—both suspense-mysteries. These are:

"The Man Who Shot Lincoln,"

(Continued on page 20)

Producers Now Boss Exhibitors?

Carl Schaner of Penn Hits at 'New Bosses' — Prem Very Demanding on Theatre Standards

Pittsburgh, April 7.

"No one wants showmen as managers anymore. They just want office boys because office boys come cheap. Theatres are run today by a man sitting behind a desk somewhere else. The day of showman who knew his town and his people is over."

Speaking was Carl Schaner, manager of the Penn Theatre here, on the impossible situation Pitt is facing with its lineup of holdovers and reissues.

Schaner hastened to add that Salah Hassanein, exec head of United Artists Theatres, is not of this opinion. Schaner was joining in the general bitterness among Pitt exhibs over the sad state of the film business. He said that the Warner was not permitted to advertise its coming film, "Circus World" in the lobby for the people coming out because Stanley Kramer, who produced "Mad World" refused permission. He said this situation is common and said most road shows exercise this right unless the coming picture is from the same company.

"We can't let the producers continue to tell us what to do. That is the basis of all our economic problems. Do you know that (Otto) Preminger tells you exactly how to present his pictures, in fact everything except how to thread the film."

Preminger's Attitude

Otto Preminger is in Europe at the moment. However, his opinions are not secret, having been quoted here on sundry occasions. He is indeed a leader among producers in demanding exhibitor maintain operating procedures. He or his reps make a habit of attending theatres showing Preminger pictures. They assert that they often find whole reels unspooled out of focus and that it is necessary to call the manager's attention to it. In focus projection, clean lenses, screens not over six months old, are among the demands Prem has made. As to "dictating to exhibitors," the Preminger point of view is that this is not unreasonable "when we pay for their advertising."

It is not known, but elsewhere it has been hinted, that producers who pop in on theatres also lodge complaints against debris in the aisles and sanitation conditions in toilets.

20th Sues Sellers For 'Inducing' Bride to Quit; Actor in Hospital

Los Angeles, April 7.

Twentieth-Fox is demanding $2,000,000 damages in a breach of contract suit filed in Superior Court here against Peter Sellers and his actress-wife, Britt Eklund, over femme bowing out of the 20th production, "Guns of Batasi," currently shooting in England.

Complaint charges that Sellers induced Miss Eklund, whom he recently married, to breach her contract with studio by declining to complete here role in film. Actress reputedly balked at resuming part in pic because of "illness," which caused a production halt on pic. Action also asked for an injunction to restrain actress from working elsewhere.

(Sellers became hospitalized over the weekend with a "feared bad" heart attack. The British actor married the 21-year-old Swedish blonde two months ago.)

'How Can You Criticize Own Land?'

But It's Easy If You're An American — Kirk Douglas on Questions Aliens Ask

Hollywood, April 7.

Newly-returned from a goodwill jaunt through the Far East for the U. S. Information Agency, Kirk Douglas expressed the conviction that those motion pictures which have been blasted at home as "diplomatically disastrous" abroad drew the greatest plaudits.

"There is no reason," actor pointed out, "for us to work from a position of fear, if we are confident enough in what we're doing. Some have feared that lush settings in a picture create a false impression that America is all like that and are therefore damaging. Others have feared that depicting the seamy side of things is similarly damaging. But that's nonsense. We can't anticipate every minute thought which goes through someone's brain."

Actor, who said his tour didn't cost the USIA a cent—"my company defrayed all expenses"—based his findings particularly on three features which haven't even been released in most places he visited. These included "Dr. Strangelove," "The Victors" and "Seven Days in May" (Douglas costars in latter), which he declared were at forefront of queries concerning Hollywood addressed to him.

Constantly asked, he reported, was "How can you make pictures which criticize your country?" Questioners, largely university students, were "amazed" that such filmaking was "allowed" and were very much favorably impressed by the practice, he noted.

Trek had Douglas traipsing through India, Thailand, Philippines, Hong Kong and Japan. Objective of mission, he said, was simply to afford different people the chance to query an American on America, on a face-to-face basis.

"It was refreshing to see that, unlike many places in this country, Hollywood is not a dirty word overseas," he stressed. "People are grateful to an industry which has brought so much entertainment to so many."

Since an actor is familiar to many people via his screen portrayals, Douglas said he had a great advantage over others who might have made the tour, a "platform of communication" which many others, especially hard-sell politicians, lack. Also, since he was abroad under the aegis of USIA and not there to peddle his own pix. "They knew I didn't have a personal ax to grind," he related... "I wasn't there trying to sell anything."

Asked whether he encountered any of the anti-American feeling purportedly bubbling with renewed intensity on the Far Eastern scene, Douglas replied, "I found it just the opposite."

He reports this week to USIA chief Carl Rowan in Washington, D. C., on his trip.

Columbians Into Chicago For Get-With-It Sesh

Columbia Pictures will hold a five-day sales convention in Chicago during week of April 20 for national division and branch managers, h.o. exec sales force and company execs. Rube Jackter, Columbia v.p.-general sales manager, said agenda of meet, scheduled for the Ambassador East, would include setting of sales policies and release patterns through the end of the year. Several upcoming features will be screened for those attending.

Besides Jackter, who'll helm the conference, Milt Goodman, Jerry Pickman, Joe Freiberg, Vince Borelli, Nat Goldblatt, Martin Kutner, Jerry Safron, Dan Weissman, H. C. Kaufman and George Berman will also attend.

The best things in air travel are on TWA

Sparkling wine, a connoisseur's menu, and a fine first-run movie.* What more could you ask for when you're going places? You get them all... at no extra charge... when you're a TWA First Class Royal Ambassador. In fact, only TWA treats you so royally on nonstop coast-to-coast and overseas flights to ten of Europe's favorite cities. Live it up next time you travel. Call your travel agent or Trans World Airlines.

Nationwide Worldwide depend on TWA *Films by

The Original Heavy

Rome, April 7.

Richard Harris has been signed by producer Dino De Laurentiis for the role of Cain in "The Bible," which John Huston starts directing here in April.

Already signed for the cast are Peter O'Toole, who'll play Nimrod, and George C. Scott, who will play Abraham.

Bud Elede Chiefs Embassy's Sales

Bud Elede is moving over from United Artists to Embassy Pictures to head up the company's sales department. In doing so he succeeds Carl Peppercorn who resigned from Embassy several weeks ago to join exhib Don Rugoff in the formation of a new distribution company. Elede has been in the UA sales department under chief James R. Velde.

In another personnel move at Embassy, Sid Blumenstock has joined the company as advertising director, resigning from the Monroe Greenthal ad agency to take the job. He had been with Embassy previously in its ad department. Exiting the ad directorship is Ed Apfel who has resigned after a year with the company. Prior to joining Embassy he had been ad director at MGM Records, in the ad department of the parent picture company and with Donahue & Coe.

'PROMISES' TO UNREEL DESPITE THE CENSORS

Baltimore, April 7.

"Promises, Promises" Tommy Noonan-Jayne Mansfield nudie which was flatly rejected by the state censor board last October has now been passed by the board and will play the New in April.

Move came as a surprise to exhibitors and others who have followed "Promises" since it was shown in October to newsmen, representatives of the Attorney General's staff and members of a legislative committee studying movie censorship at the time.

Rejected followed and Jack Fruchtman, operator of the New, decided to sit and wait and see what happened.

What happened was that Maryland Court of Appeals said in recent ruling that scenes shown showing nude girls on a boat are not necessarily obscene and should not have been cut by the censors.

Film in question was "Have Figure—Will Travel" and five-judge court panel was unanimous in reversal of decision by Baltimore City Court. Censor Board then had member of attorney general's staff see "Promises," and it was his opinion that in light of ruling by court of Appeals in "Have Figure" case, "Promises" would have to be passed by board. They did.

According to Fruchtman and to board representative, not one frame has been cut from film.

FRIENDS OF THE COURT

TOA and Allied Gleeful of Role In Viking Case

Chicago, April 7.

Presidents of both Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn. hailed U.S. Supreme Court's granting of the motion for the two exhibitor groups to file a brief as amici curiae in the Viking case. Motion and brief were prepared and filed by Herman M. Levy for both exhib organizations.

In a joint statement, TOA prexy John Rowley and Allied chief Jack Armstrong said:

"The Supreme Court's acceptance of Allied and TOA as amici curiae gives almost two-thirds of the theatres in the U.S., which are not parties to the Viking case and not a part of the Philadelphia territory, an opportunity to have their views as to the validity of splits presented to the court. We feel it is important for the court to know the impact of its decision on the entire motion picture industry."

Harold Cohen Riles the Menagerie With 'Bargains' April Fool Column

Pittsburgh, April 7.

The news was good for Pitt amusement seekers on Wed. (1) when they read Harold V. Cohen's column in the Post-Gazette. Coming to the city in April, the column said, were Harry Belafonte and his revue to the Penn; Louis Armstrong, Ella Fitzgerald and Dick Gregory to the Stanley and because of her long friendship with owner Gabe Rubin, Carol Channing was going to interrupt her Broadway run of "Hello, Dolly" to bring it into the Nixon after the run of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

There was also the announcement that "It's a Mad World" was going to reduce its admission price to 25c on April 18 and that Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby would be in town for personal appearances at the Gateway and Fulton to promote the showing of their film, "Robin and the Seven Hoods."

It was, of course, an April Fool column and said so at the bottom but evidently a lot of Pittites never got down that far. Henry Becker, business representative of the IATSE Stage Employees Union, stormed back to his office from the picket line he was walking in front of the Gateway and Fulton (there is a contract dispute between the theatres and the stagehands which has resulted in a picket line).

"I called Bing Crosby Enterprises and didn't get through and then tried Sinatra," Becker told the Pitt VARIETY rep. "Remember when Sinatra said he wasn't going to film overseas because he wanted to use IA men? Well, I took this at face value and wanted to know if he was going to walk through our line. Boy, was I taken. It wasn't until I checked on the stage crews for the Penn, the Stanley and the requirements for "Hello, Dolly" that one of the boys told me it was all a gag."

Warner Theatre had many requests for "reservations" at the 25c price and also for refunds on previously paid admissions. The Stanley and Penn had their switchboards tied up for two days but it was the Nixon that got the brunt of the hysteria. Lines formed on Monday for tickets for "Hello, Dolly" and the phones wouldn't stop ringing.

The boxoffice head at the Nixon, Leo Carlin, finally started answering the questions by saying "I don't know but call Harold Cohen."

Warner Victimized By Redevelopment

Lancaster, Pa., April 7.

Faced with loss of both their downtown theatres (Capitol, Grand) under the still pending but apparently inevitable $10,000,000 Lancaster Redevelopment program, StanleyWarner is casting about for a drivein site close to the city.

The S-W real estate men have been inspecting a variety of acreage within a 3-5 mile radius of Lancaster, with most interest seemingly centered on a site just northwest of the city, along a new multiple-lane bypass spur.

This would put them close to the Comet Drivein, one of the two major open-air stands here. Comet is one of Morton N. Brodsky's operations for the Harry Chertcoff estate. Chertcoff was a pioneer indie exhib who built a small chain of city and county film houses.

Meagher Into Shop Plot

Irving, Tex., April 7.

Meagher Theatres here has signed a lease for the construction of an 850-seat widescreen theatre in the Plymouth Park Shopping Centre. Deal was signed by Jerry Meagher, prez of the theatre concern and Bob Richards vice prez of the Mayflower Investment Co. of Dallas.

Theatre will have a screen approximately 65 feet wide, one of the largest indoor screens in the southwest. Projection equipment will be capable of showing both 70m and 35m films. According to plans there will be facilities for live stage shows or events of community interest.

L.A. to N.Y.

Gary Belkin
Bob Blake
Roger C. Carmel
Joan Castler
Morton Gottlieb
Lorne Greene
Don Henly
Marty Ingels
Felix Jackson
Harry Jackson
Kumar
Harry Kurnitz
Linda Lee
Jerry Levy
James MacArthur
A. Morgan Maree 3d
Vaughn Meader
George Murphy
Helen O'Connell
Lawrence Roman
Kay Stevens
Malcolm Stuart
Martin Tahse
Lawrence Turman
Margaret Whiting
Max E. Youngstein

N.Y. to L.A.

Salvatore Billitteri
Fred Ebb
Leo Jaffe
John Kander
Gene Sachs
Joseph Stein

Easterners Spurn Directors Guild

Membership of the Screen Directors International Guild in New York has rejected merger with the Hollywood Directors Guild of America. In a referendum, the results of which were tallied at the weekend by the Honest Ballot Assn. 198 of an eligible voting membership of 510 supported merger with DGA on the terms as proposed by the Coast unit, falling far short of the required majority.

Voting was described as "moderate and average" by a Guild spokesman. There were, apparently, many abstentions and this alone was a strong factor in vetoing the amalgamation since no vote is the same as a ballot cast against the proposal according to SDIG voting procedure which requires a majority of the eligible votes to pass a measure, not a majority of ballots cast.

Also a factor in defeating the merger was the midwest SDIG membership which has always considered the Hollywood proposal as unfair because of heavy initiation fees and other elements required by DGA terms in order for the midwesterners to work in the east after merger. Major backers of the merger were dual card holders (members of both guilds already) and directors associated with major Gotham commercial film houses like MPO, Hy Brown and the like.

Of those who actually cast ballots, the voting was appraised as fairly close. It was the abstentions that swayed history.

U.S. to Europe

Stanley P. Darer
Norm Deming
James Garner
Bill Gass
Kenneth Hyman
Robert La Marchina
Michael Manuel
Howard Minsky
William Ross
Mo Rothman
Rise Stevens

Europe to U. S.

Ashley Boone
Gil Cates
Kenneth McKellar
Fred Sadoff
Sylvie St. Clair

N. Y. to N. Y.

(Why leave?)

Recent East Coast huddles with:

Allan Sherman — Lewis Allen
Gene Saks — Francois Truffaut
Walter Wanger — Ed Padula
Dore Schary

Respectfully,
Mark Lawrence
(advertisement)

ALLIED ARTISTS, BIG BURG OP

New Dimensions' Many-Styled Pix

D. Laurence, D. Mann and D. Wasserman Join In Venture — Deal on With Japanese

If there's a renaissance of 3-D in motion pictures in the near future, the term is less likely to suggest an optical process as it is the three D's who make up New Dimensions. (D)ouglas Laurence, (D)elbert Mann and (D)ale Wasserman, producer-director-writer trio, selected New Dimensions as company name as being descriptive of their company policy.

Says president-producer Laurence, "New Dimensions intends to entranch itself in all major entertainment media here and abroad and then take off in all directions, in many new dimensions."

Besides currently shooting "Quick, Before It Melts" project at Metro, New Dimensions has combined forces with Ishihara International Productions, Japanese company, to shoot an East-meets-West venture in Tokyo during the fall of 1965.-Wasserman will script, three American actors will co-star with Yujiro Ishihara, actor-head of IIP. Distribution deal for film has not been set but allegiance to Metro indicates first discussions with that studio.

Company, formed by merger of Laurence and Wasserman's New Dimensions combine with Mann's Biography Productions, is also readying legit projects. Wasserman, whose "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest," recently concluded a Broadway run, is prepping his "Man From La Mancha" for the Broadway boards, with a screen version as a future project, and has just begun both stage and screen adaptations of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt."

Laurence, whose forte is "getting the show on the road," has produced everything from radio to Las Vegas spectacles. He's the marriage broker who brought together Wassermann and Mann for the Metro "Quick, Before It Melts."

Main assets of New Dimensions, according to Laurence, are the teamwork, talent and close cooperation that exist within the company. "The three D's decide—Dale, a dramatist, decides the value of the property and the script structure; Delbert, a director, decides the style and flavor of the film; I read for the economics involved, the total budget, whether the film should be made, where, when and in what cost bracket. We discuss the scope of the film, possible international appeal, and what cast should be utilized. We then get together for a complete evaluation of all aspects of dramatization and economics. Unless there's a three-D agreement in which we lick the basic elements of drama, direction, cast and cost, we won't go ahead."

New Dimensions, already active in motion pictures and the theatre, is also viewing television for possible projects.

Vidal, Not Neutral, Argues Dramatized Politics Need Not Bore Ticket Buyers

Films about U.S. politics have almost all confronted boxoffice difficulty. In Europe the same has been true in spades. But there's no reason why that should be the case, in the opinion of Gore Vidal who just happens to be the author of a film about politics called "The Best Man."

The trouble with most films in the political field has been that their authors haven't known what they were writing about, Vidal said last week. Also, most films with a politico background have no point as far as politics itself is concerned. The setting is used as though it were interchangeable with any other story framework which, naturally, politics isn't.

Vidal, of course, doesn't feel he's made these mistakes. His property has already succeeded in breaking a similar taboo on Broadway and, considerably updated and sharpened for today's issues, is being released as the country is readying for the summer national political conventions and politics is a grow-

(Continued on page 19)

Le Sexy Hot Japan

Tokyo, April 7.

A country girl's excursion into erotic experiences, called "The Insect Woman," is likely to become the all-time earner for Nikkatsu, one of Japan's five majors.

A Nikkatsu spokesman said the picture is expected to bring about $975,000 into the company's coffers. Starring Sachiko Hidari and directed by Shohei Imamura, "Insect Woman" was first released last November and racked up earnings of $500,000 in four weeks at first-run houses. Picture was then pulled and re-released in late February, double-billed with "Monday's Yuka." Its b.o. strength sustained for continued top grosses.

"Insect Woman" cost around $165,000 to produce in black and white.

Its only overseas release thus far was at the American Theatre in Honolulu, an exclusive Nikkatsu house, where it pulled a boff $20,000 in three weeks. Theatre reported that at least 25% of patrons were Caucasian.

No other foreign deals have yet been made for "Insect Woman," although filmery says bids from abroad are starting to come in.

Shelley Winters On Polly Adler: Bad, & Ends Sad

Hollywood, April 7.

"A House Is Not a Home," Embassy Pictures production of the Polly Adler autobiog, will be "worthy of a Code Seal, but Joseph Levine will not try to get a seal," according to Shelley Wintners, who plays the madam.

Film, which covers 25 years of the late bordello operator's life, actress said, "is less censorable than many other pictures being released today."

Although it includes scenes of brutality, sadism, rape and other activities concerned with life in a brothel, Miss Winters tributed Clarence Greene and Russell Rouse, producers for Levine, as creating a theme in good taste. Pic includes about 50% activity within bordellos themselves, uses some 20 different girls in hooker roles, also will have one nude scene, a dancer at a party.

But Miss Winters stresses feature is "actually a study of a section of American history that doesn't glorify prostitution but shows it to be the most degrading life a woman can lead." Intertwined are partners of the time, showing corruption involving police, gangsters, landlords, politicians, all with their hands out to collect the money this sorded calling brings in.

Film is done in flashback, starting with a narrative and ending with narration taken from late Adler's own book. Miss Winters' role is that of a woman who "tries to justify her life, but finds she can't and ends up lonely and without a home."

Picture is virtually a who's who wardrobe of every famous star Paramount has had. While she has no costuming credit, Edith Head's gowns for Carole Lombard, Clara Bow, Lilli Palmer and many others are used in the film. Miss Winters asserted she was told by Greene and Rouse their selection of Paramount for filming was based on the wardrobe there.

GIROUX FOR N.Y. & U.A.'S SYSTEM

Major developments are taking place at Allied Artists, the most notable the item of board chairman Claude A. Giroux becoming chief operations officer of the company with offices in AA's Gotham quarters. President Steve Broidy is remaining on the Coast as chief exec officer there but the actual pulse-beat of the company will centre predominantly in New York as time goes by.

One step has already been taken in this regard. Allied has moved its advertising and publicity departments from the Coast to New York. In the process, Jack Goldstein has been named national ad-pub-exploitation director. Sanford Abrahams, who has run the departments for years from Hollywood, will remain on the Coast with title of Director of Public Relations. Giroux himself will also be taking an active interest in the workings of the relocated ad-pub department.

Sales, under Ernest Sands, will of course continue to be directed out of New York. Veep Roger Hurlock, who took up office in Gotham a couple of months ago, will stay on. Ed Morey, also a vice prez, who has been the company's chief exec in New York and the coordinator of operations with Broidy on the Coast, will also continue to base in Gotham. George Buroughs, exec v.p. of the company, is expected to continue to headquarter on the Coast. Bob Moran, tv sales v.p., will stay on in Gotham and is expected to play an expanded role in the new setup. He's currently in Europe with Giroux scouting product and looking into distrib deals.

Action by Board Chairman Giroux has been brewing for some time. He was watching the company's workings. Then began to take a more active role in decisions-making in recent months. Actually, the switch was expected toward the end of 1963 but complications slowed the timing.

Gotham office has in past been more or less a stepchild, especially in decision-making. All that will now be changed. Lately, inquiries about properties, distrib deals have been routed to Giroux. He will beef up promotion. Also expected are changes in the sales operation which now comprises 31 branches.

It is Giroux's plan to operate the company somewhat along the lines of United Artists. This concept was alluded to by Broidy some months ago. The idea is to concentrate on buying properties and making deals with independents, operating without a studio. The sale of the AA lot is imminent, it being used now mostly by outsiders for video filming. Giroux's aim is to get some quality product into release, with a minimum of the exploitation pix which the company has been pushing recently. He has already made several purchases and Allied, through its deal with Ace Films, has other larger-scale items in prospect, one of which is the completed "Thin Red Line".

Switching coasts for the ad-pub operation was considered a must by Giroux and others. Goldstein has been with Allied for awhile, handling national field supervision for such pix as "El Cid," "55 Days At Peking" and "Soldier in the Rain." Prior to that he was with 20th Century-Fox as eastern pub director and also served with David O. Selznick Enterprises and CBS-TV. He has headquartered in New York.

These moves which have recently taken place are expected to be just the beginning as far as what the Allied organization will eventually look like. Several other developments regarding the company's operational format are expected within the coming days and weeks.

End Non-Union Situation

Duluth, Minn., April 7.

After being on the outs since December, 1961, United Paramount circuit's local Norshor theatre, the chain's only one in this 110,000 population city and the IATSE operators' union are "friendly" once more.

Theatrical and TV Producers Unite Under a Single Hollywood Roof

Hollywood, April 7.

Consummation of the marriage between pix and vidpix was further evidenced with the consolidation of the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers and the Alliance of Television Film Producers into one group, to be known as the Assn. of Motion Picture and Television Producers. Thus the Alliance, which repped major tv companies, goes out of existence.

Several key execs with companies involved in the move explained it was motivated not because of economy, but to eliminate duplication, pointing out AMPP and the Alliance have already been negotiating jointly for several years. They additionally said that the move was not feasible years ago because every motion picture company was not in tv film production, but since virtually everyone is today, it is a logical move.

Richard W. Jencks, who has been prexy of the Alliance, becomes a veepee of the new AMPTP, and John Zinn, who has been exec secretary of the Alliance, joins Jencks in a move tomorrow to the AMPP hq which now becomes AMPTP headquarters.

Charles Boren has been exec veepee of AMPP and he and Jencks made the disclosure of the consolidation. Boren continues as chief exec officer of the new combo. Boren said purpose of the move is to "bring under one roof the major elements of the entertainment industry in Hollywood," terming it a "very important step toward a much needed unification of the industry." He said "events of recent years have tended to bring about a fragmentation of our business. Yet the interests of the responsible elements of the industry have continued to have a common ground and frequently this has brought the Association and the Alliance together. We have held joint labor negotiations for several years and we have developed a common approach to many industry matters. The consolidation of the two groups is a natural step. The interests of all concerned will be served better by a single organization."

Jencks, who will function primarily in the field of tv labor rela-

(Continued on page 20)

Youth Vs. Tradition

Honolulu, April 7.

Japan's samurai features—those Oriental westerns—are beginning to lose popularity in Japan, where about 70% of the filmgoers are young people. That's why Nikkatsu Studio is concentrating on "gendai geki" (modern) films, a Nikkatsu aide explains.

Michiaki Yasuda, of the studio's foreign department, came here to survey Isle tastes.

He said Nikkatsu is going in strong for action films with youthful actors "of good looks and good physiques." His studio employs 3,300 persons, including 300 actors and actresses, and can turn out some 100 features annually.

Paramount Looks Destined For Big '64 Take in Spain

Madrid, April 7.

With the Easter Sunday film premieres sparking distrib activities for the balance of the season results for the 1963-64 period indicate that one American company and one Spanish company releasing Yank product exclusively can boast a banner year.

According to trade sources, Paramount will garner $2,000,000 or close from outright sales, percentage distribution pacts, and its own distrib activities from '63-64 stanza. Easter programming in Barcelona set a new high when six Paramount features were released for showcase programs. And a recap of Paramount product to reach the market this season shows that Filmex led with five, Paramount released four of its own, Murcurio, As Films, Nueva Films and Hispamex each released four and Cea handled two for a total of 27.

Paramount expects to end the season on a vigorous note with road show presentation of "Becket."

C. B. Films, exclusive distrib for United Artists also registered milestone activity. At the height of the season, C. B. set a record for main stem activity in Madrid with six pix released at the same time and all holding for sturdy trade. Setting the pace were "West Side Story" with 55 stout weeks of road show opening at the Todd AO Cine Paz, followed by Gran Via first-run screening at the Torre of Madrid for an expected minimum stand of three months. "Some Like it Hot" broke all records at the Coliseum with a 19-week run and a new high in average weekly receipts. The Billy Wilder comedy could have stayed longer but had to relinquish the marquee for obligatory programming of Spanish product. C. B. Films put "Pink Panther", "Summer Holiday", and "Love is Born" in distribution on Easter Sunday and reports smart trade for all three. Company execs, Casamiro Bori, Jaime Gallart, and Madrid manager, Alberto Alos, are currently completing plans for the upcoming road show release of Stanley Kramer's "Mad Mad Mad Mad World" to round out a banner year.

TOUTING INTERMISSION

Second Given Reason Seems The Heartfelt Motive

Detroit, April 7.

"'Kommon Kidney Kourtesy' kommands kreat" space in this month's Allied Report. The article plumps hard for intermissions, citing the need of film fans' relief during the increasingly long features as well as the concession benefits.

Reverse the order for closer motivation.

Heavy Waters Sabotage In Norway-Themed Pic Directed by Tony Mann

Oslo, April 7.

Anthony Mann arrived here from New York following the premiere at the DeMille Theatre there of Samuel Bronston's Paramount release, "The Fall of the Roman Empire," which he directed. He will soon roll his next feature, "The Unknown Battle" in Norway, with later interiors at Pinewood Studios in Britain.

Robert Kresker, Mann's cameraman on "Fall," is repeating in Panavision-Technicolor on "Battle." Ben Barzman, one of the three writers for the Bronston epic teams with Ivan Moffat on the upcoming script. Another echo from "Rome" is Stephen Boyd, who will have the male lead here, alongside Elke Sommer.

Mann project concerns the prevention in World War II of the development of the atomic bomb by the Germans who then occupied the Kingdom of Norway and exploited its "heavy water," an essential ingredient for the creation of fission. This crucial, little known conflict—"The Unknown Battle" of the present title—was treated in a documentary film some years ago by French director Jean Dreville and Norway's Titus Muller. Mann's script will be derived with the help of one of the saboteurs, Col. Knut Haukelid, the author of a book on the episode.

The first Anglo-American film to shoot in Norway since "The Vikings" with Kirk Douglas, "The Unknown Battle" is budgeted around $3,000,000

The Chalk Garden
(BRITISH—COLOR)

Over theatrical, but smoothly performed drama with obvious femme appeal; has old fashioned wordiness, but the central situation is sound. A classy film which calls for discriminating promotion for maximum results.

London, April 3.

Rank-Universal release of a Ross Hunter production for Quota Rentals Ltd. Stars Deborah Kerr, Hayley Mills, John Mills; features Edith Evans, Felix Aylmer, Elizabeth Sellars, Lally Bowers, Toke Townley, Tonie Macdonald. Directed by Ronald Neame. Screenplay, John Michael Hayes from Enid Bagnold's play; camera (Technicolor), Arthur Ibbetson; editor, Jack Harris; music, Malcolm Arnold. Previewed at Leicester Square Theatre, London. Running time, 106 MINS.

Miss Madrigal	Deborah Kerr
Laurel	Hayley Mills
Maitland	John Mills
Mrs. St. Maughan	Edith Evans
Olivia	Elizabeth Sellars
Judge McWhirrey	Felix Aylmer
Anna	Lally Bowers
Shopkeeper	Toke Townley
Mrs. Williams	Tonie Macmillan

"The Chalk Garden" makes no bones about its legit background. Enid Bagnold's drama had a healthy 17 months' run at the Haymarket in 1956 and producer Ross Hunter and director Ronald Neame have not done much to disguise the original. Maybe they've treated it over-reverently, and impatient audiences may yearn for a shade more physical action and clash between the characters. As it is, the drama is rooted in delving into the minds, motives and reactions of the five standout characters.

Its strong, if old-fashioned, theatrical situation has been given an overwordy script by John Michael Hayes, but at least it is literate prose despite a number of cliches. Three generations of skilled actresses make the film sound bait for femme patrons, and, overall, it is a reasonable bet for better class houses.

But one thing "Garden" is not, despite all advance ballyhoo. It is not the much-heralded adult role for Hayley Mills that was promised. Miss Mills vigorously plays a 16-year-old girl, in some ways perceptive beyond her years. But audiences will feel that a well applied hairbrush on her derriere could have swiftly ironed out some of the problems that beset her and the surrounding adults.

The child suffers from the feeling that she is not loved. Her mother has remarried and her grandmother is more obsessed with her arid garden. So the confused, unhappy girl grows up in a world of fantasy and lying. On to the scene comes a mystery woman as governess. Deborah Kerr's background turns out to be that of a woman straight from prison after a suspended sentence for bumping off her stepsister.

She sees in her charge exactly the same problems that led her to the dock and quietly but firmly starts to straighten out the child. When her guilty secret comes out in a predictable, but powerful and oddly moving scene, the child is restored to her mother and Miss Kerr stays on to assist grandmother Edith Evans with turning her chalk garden into something worthwhile.

On paper, this sounds like a ripe old piece of Victoriana, but curiously it works, largely because of confident, smooth performances by all concerned. Highly colored it may be, but this is the sort of situation that does produce a plot, something which is too often missing from modern pictures. The gloss which Hunter has successfully employed in previous films is here again and he finds a ready disciple in director Neame. The house on the South Coast of Britain is redolent of elegance and better class living ("two glasses for each wine") and the characters are all obstinately wellbred, despite their early upbringing. And the production design, wardrobe and set dressing departments have not put a foot wrong.

Edith Evans, who played the eccentric grandmother on the stage, is a figure of forbidding dignity though hardly sinister enough to suggest the selfishness and mistaken pride which motivates the plot. Anyway, Miss Evans' technique is always a joy to watch. Miss Kerr looks an unlikely jailbird but gives an aloof and understanding performance while John Mills is fine as a manservant of sound philosophy.

Skillfully blending tomboyishness with some sensitive scenes requiring rather more subtle talent, Miss Mills again registers as one of the most promising newcomers in the business. Elizabeth Sellars, a sorely neglected British thesp, has a brief, showy scene as the estranged mother with which Miss Sellars copes adequately. Felix Aylmer repeats his stage role, that of the judge who sentenced Miss Kerr to death and brings her past to a head. He does it with the now effortless skill that he has employed in a long string of portrayals of judges, archbishops, parliamentarians, surgeons and similar eminent pillars of society. Rich.

FBI Code 98

Routine suspense meller examing FBI heroics. Modestly produced. Okay companion entry.

Hollywood, April 2.

Warner Bros. release of Stanley Niss production. Stars Jack Kelly, Ray Danton, Andrew Duggan, Philip Carey, William Reynolds, Peggy McCay, Kathleen Crowley, Merry Anders, Jack Cassidy. Directed by Leslie H. Martinson. Screenplay, Niss; camera, Robert Hoffman; editor, Leo H. Shreve; music, Max Steiner; assistant director, James T. Vaughn. Reviewed at the studio, April 2, '64. Running time, 94 MINS.

Robert P. Cannon	Jack Kelly
Fred Vitale	Ray Danton
Alan W. Nichols	Andrew Duggan
Insp. Leroy Gifford	Philip Carey
SA Edward F. Fox	William Reynolds
Deborah Cannon	Peggy McCay
Marian Nichols	Kathleen Crowley
Grace McLean	Merry Anders
Walter Macklin	Jack Cassidy
Joseph Petersen	Vaughn Taylor
Lloyd Kinsel	Eddie Ryder
SAC Gibson White	Ken Lynch
SA Bernard Lyons	Charles Cooper
SA Philip Vaccaro	Paul Comi
Timothy Farrell	Bob Hogan
Anita Davidson	Laura Shelton
Carl Rush	Robert Ridgely
Assistant Director	Francis De Sales
SA Alan Woodward	William Quinn
SA Vernon Lockhart	Ross Elliott
Narrator	William Woodson

"FBI Code 98" was originally intended by Warner Bros. as a tv special, but now is being channeled into theatres. It's a routine melodramatization of crime detection methods employed by the FBI. The Stanley Niss production is shy the commercial stature or dramatic impact to carry a program but, despite its overextended length, is engrossing enough to serve as a companion item.

Written by the producer, the picture is burdened with rather pompous and often irrelevant narration about the superb technique of the FBI. All right, already. It is also marred by dubious story developments and some questionable character motivations. The strongest asset is its dramatic illustration of the way the FBI zeroes in on a culprit, in this case a deranged and embittered employee of a large electronics company who is out to dispose of the firm's three top executives. Since his method is to blow up an aircraft in which all three are passengers, the FBI enters the picture.

The trio of execs are played competently by Jack Kelly, Ray Danton and Andrew Duggan. Equally satisfactory as their respective romantic or matrimonial partners are Peggy McCay, Merry Anders and Kathleen Crowley. Philip Carey and William Reynolds are the chief FBI participants, Jack Cassidy a key figure in a romantic triangle and Vaughn Taylor the mad bomber who gets nailed. They and others in support perform ably, if mechanically.

Leslie H. Martinson's direction is efficient, an appraisal that applies to the production of such men as photographer Robert Hoffman, editor Leo H. Shreve, art director William Campbell and composer Max Steiner. Tube.

The Grand Olympics—1960
(Italian)

Italian coverage of the 1960 Olympics, recently acquired by Times Films and set for U.S. preem at the Guild Theatre April 21, was reviewed by Hawk from Rome in Feb. 8 1961 issue of VARIETY.

Critic opined that pic, originally titled "La Grande Olimpicade," was "a magnificently exciting human and pictorial document of the Olympic Games . . . it gives everyone a peerless up-front seat. It should pay off handsomely in all markets."

Orig running time has been edited from 142 to 120 mins., with scissored bits dealing with offbeat sports not of general interest to American audiences. Film has English narration.

The Great Armored Car Swindle

Adequate "B" crime meller. Brevity its greatest asset.

Hollywood, March 30.

Falcon Pictures release of Peter Lambert production. Stars Peter Reynolds, Dermot Walsh, Joanna Dunham. Directed by Lance Comfort. Screenplay, Lambert, from novel by Laurence Meynell; camera, Basil Emmott; editor, Peter Pitt; music, Albert Elms; assistant director, Peter Medak. Reviewed at Joe Shire's screening room, March 30, '64. Running time, 58 MINS.

Eric	Peter Reynolds
Robert	Dermot Walsh
Cherry	Joanna Dunham
Eva	Lisa Gastoni
Peter de Savory	Brian Cobby
Ernest Winlatter	Jack Allen
Debt Collector	Geoffrey Denton
Telling	Arnold Diamond
Mintos	Richard Golding
Mel	John Heller
Ernest's Secrettary	Mercia Mansfield
Alex	Peter Walker
Wilson	Eric Corrie
Evans	Desmond Cullen-Jones
Cappel	Charles Russell
Boxer	Joe Wadham
Lofty	Gertan Klauber
Security Officer	John Lawrence

Any second feature that runs only 58½ minutes has a distinct programming advantage in this age of the inflated epic and too often overgrown "B." This attribute of brevity is the most beneficial commercial characteristic of "The Great Armored Car Swindle," an otherwise routine crime melodrama with vague political and contrived romantic overtones. The Falcon Pictures release, produced by Peter Lambert, will be a serviceable companion item.

Lambert's screenplay, from a novel by Laurence Meynell, relates the ill-fated extra-curricula activities of a young English businessman who becomes a pawn in some international intrigue involving a shipment of currency to a Middle Eastern government threatened by Communist infiltration. The scheme is aborted when the poor fellow's neglected wife becomes suspicious and does some snooping around.

Peter Reynolds plays the mixed-up fortune hunter and does a fair job of it considering the fuzziness and inconsistency of the character he's portraying. Joanna Dunham is adequate as the wife, and so are Dermot Walsh, Lisa Gastoni, Brian Cobby and Jack Allen in the major roles.

Workmanlike if undistinguished craftsmanship is contributed by camerman Basil Emmott, editor Peter Pitt, art director John Earl and composer Albert Elms. Lance Comfort's direction is competent, in a mechanical sort of way. Tube.

Selvmorderskolen
(School for Suicide)
(DANISH)

Copenhagen, March 31.

Palladium production and release. Features Jorgen Ryg, Axel Strobye, Hans W. Petersen, Lone Hertz. Written and directed by Knud Leif Thomsen; camera (Eastmancolor), Henning Kristiansen; music, H. C. Lumbye, Bent Fabricius Bjorre. Reviewed at Palladium Theatre, Copenhagen. Running time, 95 MINS.

S	Jorgen Ryg
Dr. X	Axel Strobye
Funeral agent	Hans W. Petersen
Public Health nurse	Bodil Udsen
Fashion model	Tina Norley
Secretary 1	Judy Gringer
Secretary 2	Helle Hertz
Girl in Park	Lone Hertz

Knud Leif Thomsen speaks a very simple language in this film which, in spite of its title, is more of a farce than a tragedy. Intent is clearly satirical. Without allowing his characters too many lines to speak (and thus clutter up foreign screens with subtitles), the director tries hard to sustain his visual gags with a lot of meaningful decor.

"School for Suicide" is in color, and the tint job shines brightly in the modern apartment where the anonymous Mr. S (Jorgen Ryg) tries in vain to commit suicide, fed up as he is with being relieved of all personal problems by the Welfare State.

So he goes to the richly furnished and sexily secretaried (Helle Hertz) School for Suicide, state-run naturally, but he is a poor pupil who only gives the Public Health nurse a lot of trouble, standing on his head till he can walk again.

Next visit is to Survival Consultant, supplied by the State with lavish furniture and a curvacious secretary (Judy Gringer) who by exposing her curves for the patient's myopic inspection proves him perfectly normal.

Suicide and survival consultant alike are played by Axel Strobye with fittingly square-jawed determination. Strobye also portrays several other characters, all designed to symbolize the Big Brother of the Welfare State. In between, private initiative is represented by a funeral agent, very busy, and a sexdoll lolling on a park bench.

The point soon sinks in and it begins to put on a little heavily for and imagination and that is given little chance of its own. Still, this film has a lot of funny and satirical points. The leading role, as played by Jorgen Rye, shows him to be a real comedian in his portrayal of quitely desperate citizen. Kell.

National Boxoffice Survey

Trade Continues Big; 'World' Again No. 1, 'Jones' 2d, 'Doctor' 3d, 'Newman' 4th, 'Panther' 5th

A number of key cities covered by VARIETY this session are shaping stronger or nearly as big as last week, particularly where the trading week covered the bulk of the Easter holiday stanza. Obviously, most houses are coasting with product which preemed to take advantage of Easter Sunday.

"It's a Mad World" (UA) (20th wk), which is spurting in many keys via holiday crowds and scale, is landing in No. 1 spot. It was in the same position last week. "Tom Jones" (UA) (19th wk) again is finishing a strong second to the hardticket "World."

"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (8th wk) is maintaining its hold on third place, same as a week ago. "Capt. Newman" (U) (4th wk) again is winding up in fourth spot.

"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk) is holding in fifth place, the spot it held last round. "Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk) will finish sixth.

"The Cardinal" (Col) (15th wk) is pushing up to seventh place. "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk) is edging up to eighth position from 10th place of a week ago.

"Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk) will capture ninth place by dint of some improved biz in several keys.

"Silence" (Janus) rounds out the Top 10 pictures. It was 12th a week ago.

"Tiger Walks" (BV), "America, America" (WB) and "Mr. Limpet" (WB) are the runner-up pix in that order.

There are a number of promising films which did not show enough playdates to get into the ratings. "Becket" (Par) again is displaying championship form, playing in N.Y., Chi and L.A. "Fall of Roman Empire," also from Paramount, looms big in Denver and Washington, and socko in N.Y.

"Muscle Beach Party" (AI), rated brisk in L.A., looks torrid in Frisco. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy), which continues very big in N.Y., is great in Washington and smash in L.A. this session.

"The Servant" (Landau) is hanging up a third week record at a New York arty house. "Night Must Fall" (MGM) looms solid in N.Y. and fine in Philly. "Flight From Ashiya" (UA), not doing so well this round in Chi and L.A., looks good in Philly.

Note: The number of weeks out in release for bigger and longrun pix are designated in such cases.

(Complete Boxoffice Reports on pages 12-13-15).

The Strangler

Psychological murder meller reminiscent of Boston. Strong exploitation angles that should override story weaknesses.

Hollywood, March 31.

Allied Artists release of Samuel Bischoff-David Diamond production. Stars Victor Buono, David McLean, Diane Sayer, Davey Davison, Ellen Corby. Directed by Burt Topper. Screenplay, Bill S. Ballinger; camera, Jacques Marquette; editor, Robert Eisen; music, Marlin Skiles; assistant director, Clark Paylow. Reviewed at the studio, March 31, '64. Running time, 89 MINS.

Leo Kroll	Victor Buono
Lt. Benson	David McLean
Barbara	Diane Sayer
Tally	Davey Davison
Mrs. Kroll	Ellen Corby
Posner	Michael M. Ryan
Sgt. Clyde	Baynes Barron
Dr. Sanford	Russ Bender
Clara	Jeanne Bates
Eggerton	Wally Campo
Thelma	Mimi Dillard
Dr. Morton	Byron Morrow
Intern	John Yates
Artist	James Sikking
Helen	Selette Cole
Jack Rosten	Robert Cranford
Attendant	Victor Masi

Similarities between "The Strangler" and the recent string of still-unsolved murders in Boston should, if emphasized in molding the picture's public "image," make the Samuel Birchoff-David Diamond production a profitable exploitation entry for Allied Artists.

Another connection that might prove useful in selling the film to the public is its fundamental relationship to a popular enterprise of 20 years ago, "The Lodger," which it resembles in genre (psychological murder melodrama), story (a madman who slays the ladies) and anatomical construction of star (Laird Cregar-Victor Buono).

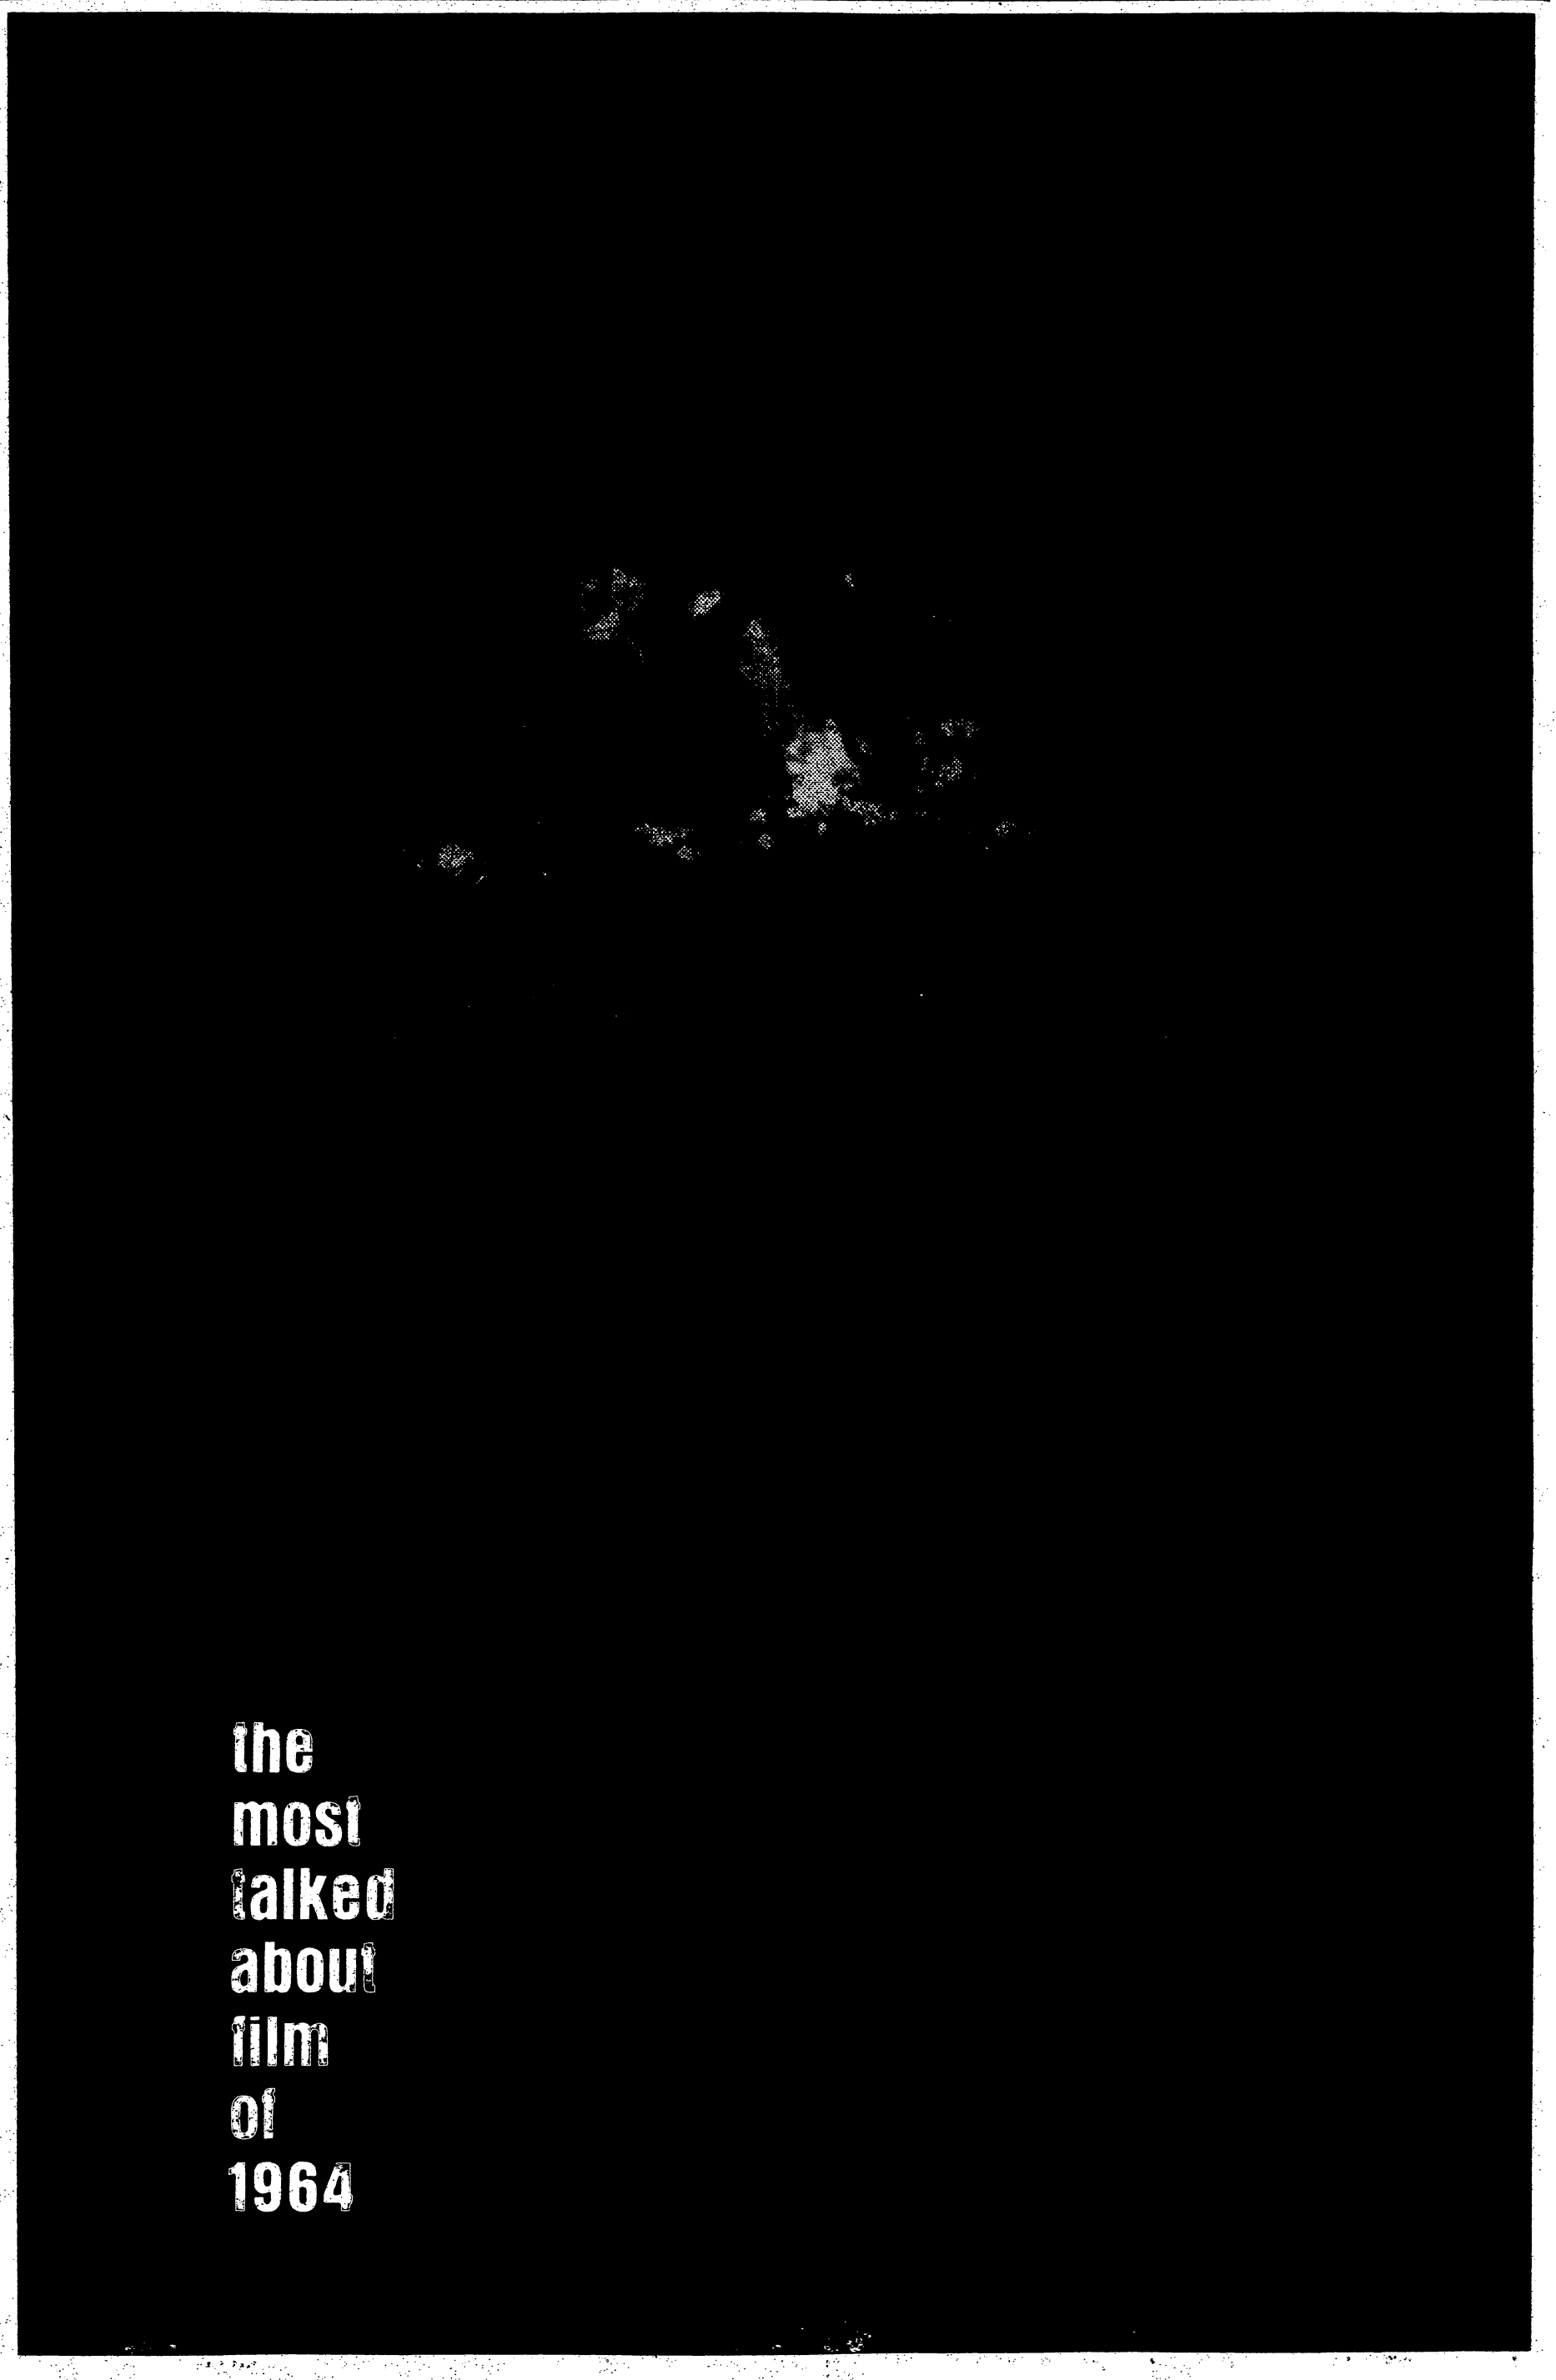
Bill S. Ballinger's scenario describes the latter phases of the homicidal career of a paranoid schizophrenic (Buono) whose hatred of women has been motivated by a possessive mother who has completely warped his personality. His fetish for dolls ultimately betrays him to the police just as he is in the act of applying the coup de grace to distaff victim No. 11.

Dramatically skillful, direction by Burt Topper and a firm level of histrionic performance help "The Strangler" over some rough spots and keep the picture from succumbing to inconsistencies of character and contrivances of story scattered through the picture. An especially harmful note might very well turn out to be the somewhat shopworn psychological nature of the story, which pins everything on mama in an era when mamas have sunk to new lows in prestige.

Bueno for Buono, a convincing menace all the way. There's always a place on the screen for a fat man who can act, and Buono has the avoirdupois field virtually to himself in these calorie-counting times. Among those who give satisfactory accounts of themselves as law enforcers are David McLean, Michael M. Ryan, Baynes Barron and Russ Bender. Buono's victims, an array of ladies who set what surely must be a new speed record for undressing, are Diane Sayer, Jeanne Bates and Selette Cole, all of whom perform creditably. The one that got away is played capably by newcomer Davey Davison, an actress with a boy's name but a woman's body. Mean old mama is portrayed with finesse by Ellen Corby.

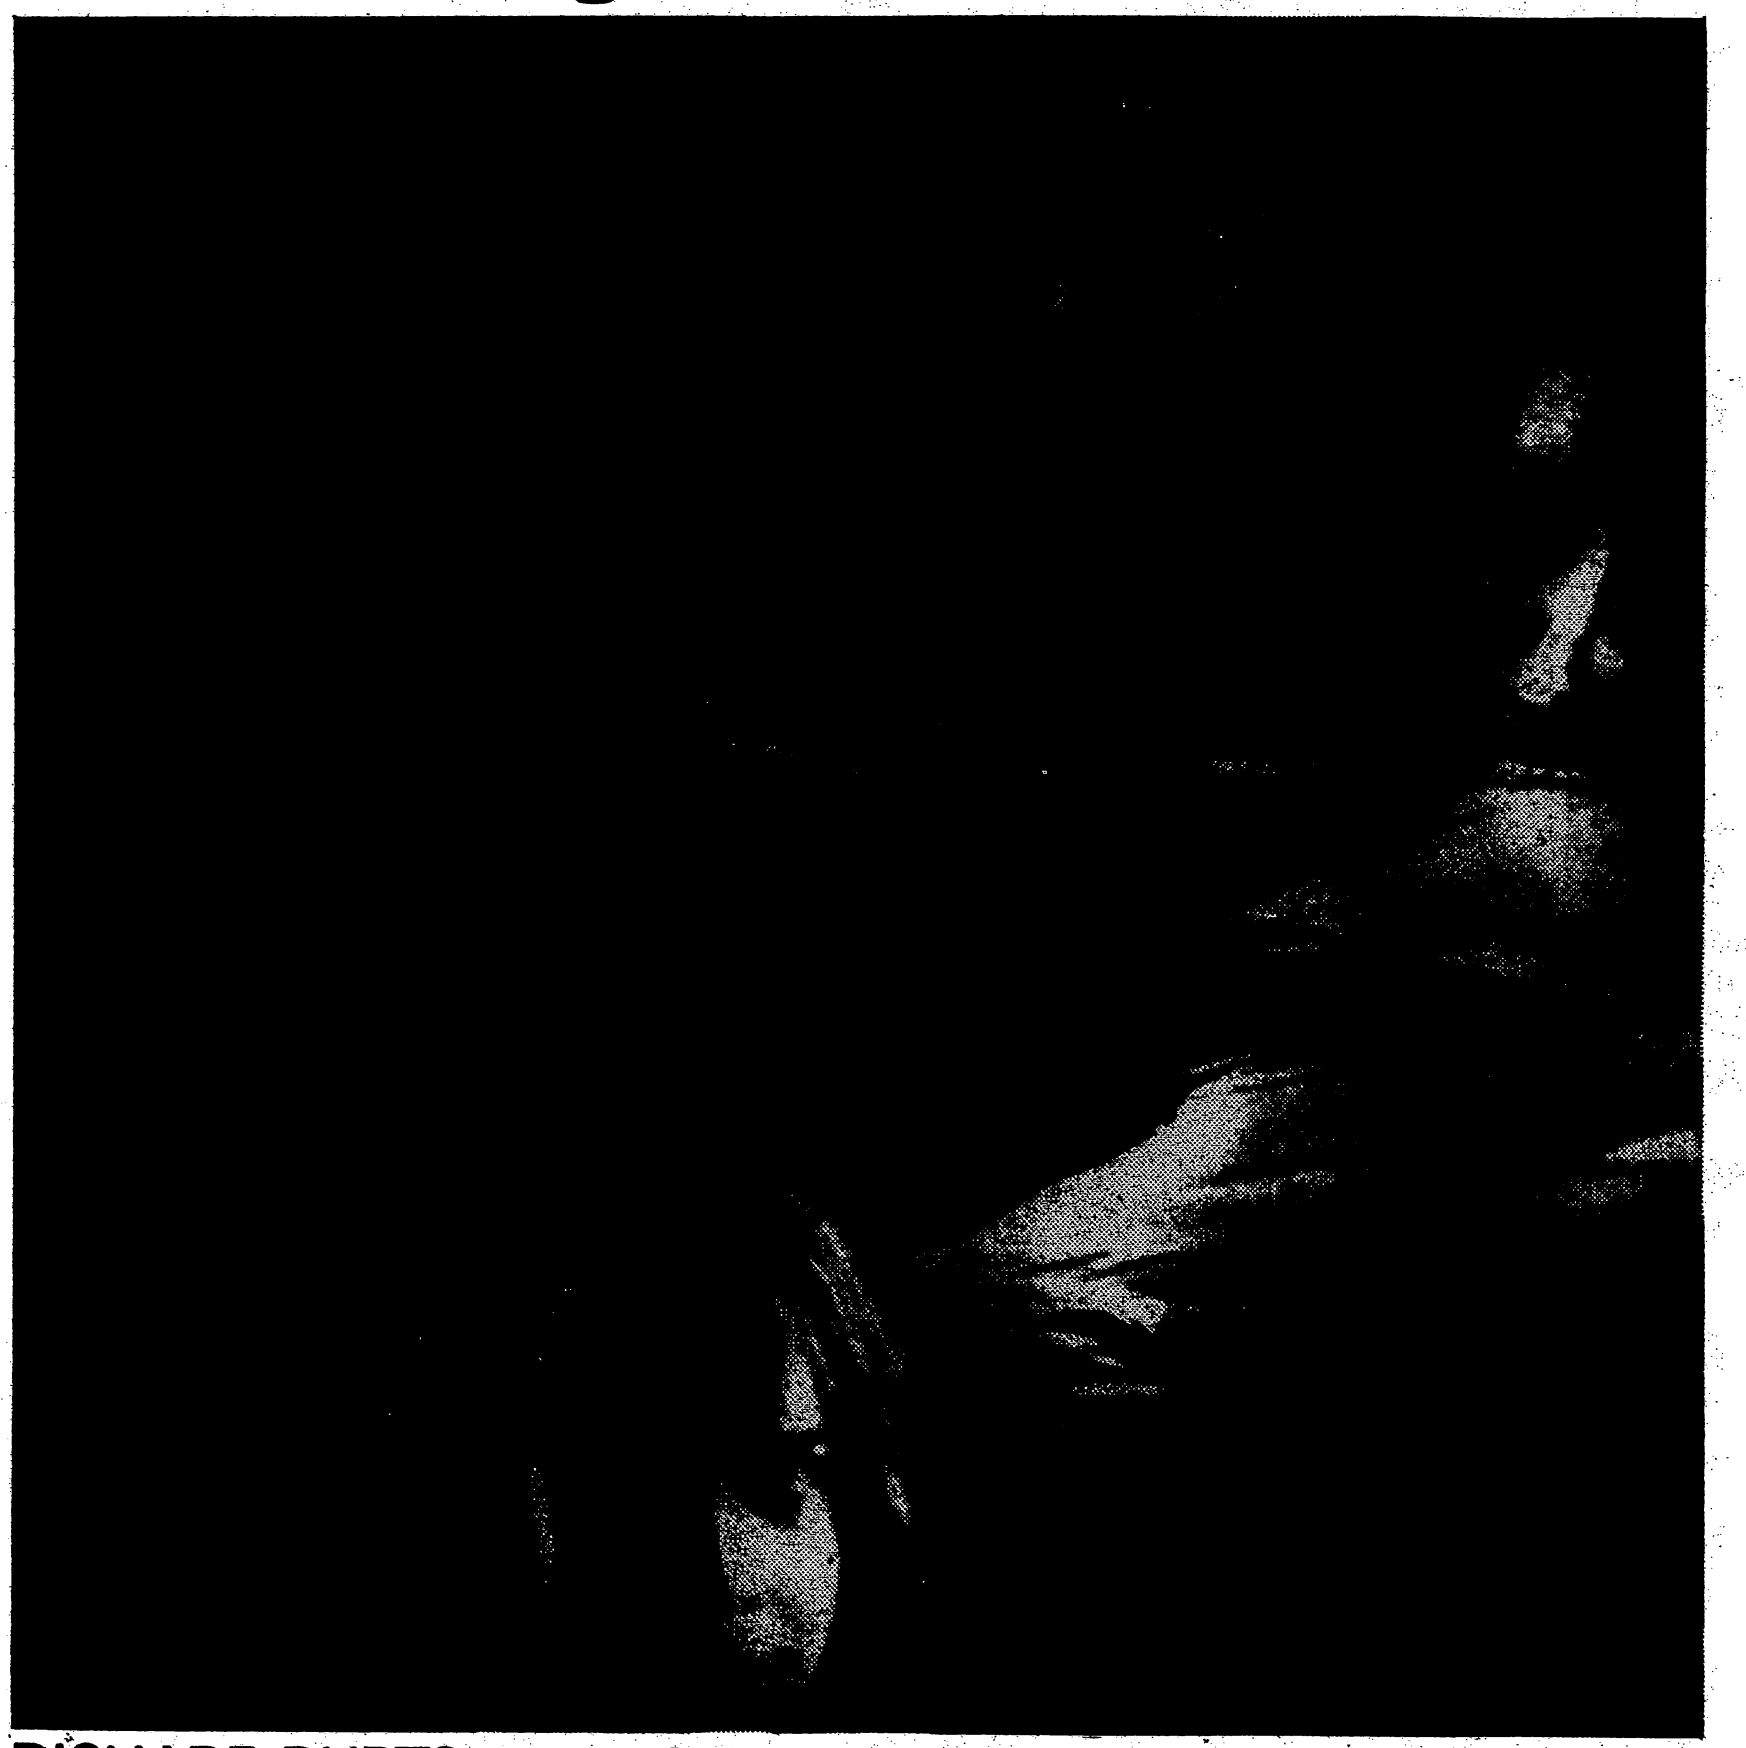
Observant photography by Jacques Marquette, sharply etched editing by Robert Eisen, careful art direction by Hal Pereira and Eugene Lourie and a creepy musical score by Marlin Skiles dress up the production in very presentable style. Tube.

The Night Watch
(French — English Titles)



Last feature made by the late Jacques Becker, "The Night Watch" was reviewed in Paris by Mosk in the April 13, 1960 issue of VARIETY under French title of "Le Trou" (The Hole). Original ran 145 mins. but Consort-Orion Films, which has U.S. release, say that its 118-min. version was edited under supervision of Becker's son shortly after his father's death, and is version seen commercially in France.

Mosk described the version he viewed as "a solidly built film based on a true story of a jailbreak. Using non-actors, picture tells a tale of human endeavor and cooperation. It's taut sans trying for any untoward suspense gambits. Acting is uncannily clear for non-actors and it gives an added quality."



Loew N.E. & Midwest Theatre Division Heads

Bernard Diamond, general manager of Loew's Theatres, has upped William Trambukis, manager of Loew's State, Providence, to northeastern division manager. He will supervise Loew's Theatres in New Haven, Boston, Providence, Rochester, Syracuse, Buffalo, Springfield, Worcester, Waterbury, Hartford and Bridgeport.

At the same time Herbert Brown was named midwestern district manager. He will headquarter at Loew's State, Cleveland, which will be under his direct supervision. His territory will include Toledo, Akron, Columbus, Dayton and Indianapolis. For the past six years, Brown has been city manager in Syracuse for the Schine interests and for several years operated theatres of his own.

the most talked about film of 1964

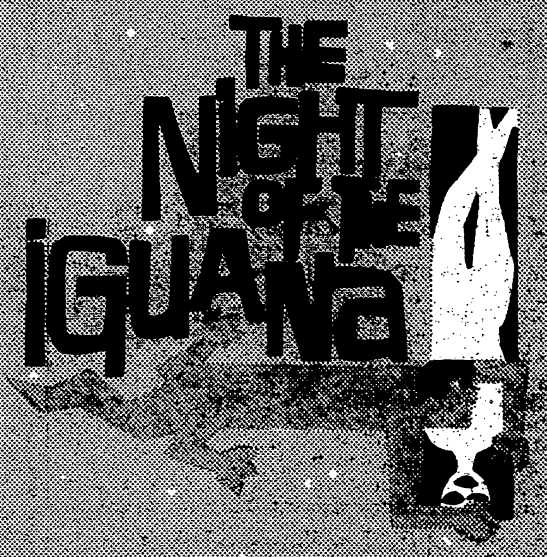
One man...
three women...
one night...



RICHARD BURTON · AVA GARDNER · DEBORAH KERR · SUE LYON

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER and SEVEN ARTS PRODUCTIONS present the JOHN HUSTON-RAY STARK production of TENNESSEE WILLIAMS'

THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA

with GRAYSON HALL · JAMES WARD · CYRIL DELEVANTI Directed by JOHN HUSTON Produced by RAY STARK Screenplay by ANTHONY VEILLER and JOHN HUSTON Based on the Broadway Play by TENNESSEE WILLIAMS

MORRIS E. LEFKO
VICE PRESIDENT AND
GENERAL SALES MANAGER

Dear Exhibitor:

I have just returned from London where I had the privilege of seeing a rough cut of the screen version of Tennessee Williams' prize-winning stage success, THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA. My opinion is that this motion picture has all the ingredients necessary to make it one of the outstanding films of recent years. John Huston's direction surpasses anything he has done before and the performances of Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr and Sue Lyon are superb.

THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA marks producer Ray Stark's first personal production since "The World of Suzie Wong" and he and Seven Arts Productions are certainly to be commended for putting together this unique chemistry of story, stars, director and property.

I think you will agree with me that THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA has been one of the most publicized motion pictures of all time. During the entire filming in Mexico, it was kept before the public via daily wire service reports, syndicated columns and national magazines. Its national TV exposure on NBC-TV's "Hollywood and the Stars" and "CBS Reports" only add to its stature as the most talked about picture of the year.

Many exhibitors have already expressed a desire to book this picture for summer playing time. Their enthusiasm at this time must, of course, be predicated upon the film's advance publicity. We think this enthusiasm is entirely justified because THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA is one of those rare films that really lives up to all expectations one might have for it.

Sincerely,

Morris E. Lefko

"THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA" goes into national release this July.

M-G-M is on the move!

'Tom Jones' Top Sprinter For March; Easter Days Swell Monthly Tally

VARIETY's regular weekly boxowce reports are summarised each month, retrospectively. Based on an average of 24 key situations, the source data constitute an adequate sampling of current releases but are not, of course, fully "definitive." An index of relative grossing strength in the U.S. - Canada market this monthly reprise does not pretend to express total rentals.

By MIKE WEAR

Helped this year by having the month of March inclusive of Easter Sunday and several days of the strong holiday week included in tabulations, business in key cities covered by VARIETY were ahead of February by a wide margin. Some indication of the sharp advance is gleaned from the fact that the first four high-grossing pix topped the $5,000,000 mark for the 31-day month.

"Tom Jones" (UA), which tied for top honors last month, is capturing No. 1 spot for March by a healthy margin. This blockbuster continued to register the same amazing biz in smaller key cities that "Jones" had been grossing in the bigger keys. "It's a Mad World," also from United Artists, copped second place, easily outdistancing its nearest competitor. "World" tied for first place in February with "Jones."

"Dr. Strangelove" (Col), which plainly showed it was going places in the final week of February, finished third. Its staying power indicated it would be heard from additionally this month. "Seven Days in May" (Par), also new in March, captured fourth money. This film also indicated great stamina.

"The Cardinal" (Col), which was second in the previous month, wound up fifth. "Sunday in New York" (MGM), new in March, copped sixth position. "Cleopatra" (20th), which was ninth in February, pushed up to seventh spot.

"Captain Newman" (U), although out in release to any extent only three weeks, finished eighth. It's now divested of that original descriptive "M.D." "The Victors" (Col), which was sixth in the previous month, took ninth place.

"Pink Panther" (UA), a newcomer, captured 10th position, with every indication that it would be heard from considerably more this month. It was out in release, also, only two weeks.

"Man's Favorite Sport" (U) winner of eighth place in February, wound up 11th. "A Tiger Walks" (BV), a new entrant in March, rounds out the Top 12 grossers. It seems likely it also will make a showing in April.

"Love With the Proper Stranger" (Par), which was fifth in February; "America, America" (WB) and "Silence" (Janus) were the runner-up pix.

Besides "Capt. Newman" "Panther," and "Tiger," which looked to show up well this month, several other newcomers hint some potential. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) is one of these, because the foreign-made pic still is registering record business in second weeks at two N.Y. houses and is socko in L.A. "Flight From Ashiya" (UA) hints possibilities judged by its first four playdates. Same is true of "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM), top runnerup film the initial week out on distrib.

"Mr. Limpet" (WB), too, hints future possibilities, with some good to brisk showings to date. "Muscle Beach Party" (AI) is in a similar category, doing well on first two engagements.

"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) is credited with a smash opening session at the N.Y. DeMille Theatre despite the critics' barbs. "Paris When It Sizzles," also from Paramount, looks geared for strong trade based on first six playdates. It did well enough to cop 10th place for the final week in March.

"Becket" (Par) shapes as a future blockbuster predicated on the first four engagements. It was capacity at the N.Y. State last week. "World of Henry Orient" (UA), coupled with the Easter stageshow, registered one of the best Easter weeks ever at the N.Y. Music Hall on its second session.

"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) did well enough to wind up 11th the final week of March. "Charade" (U) was a runnerup pic three different weeks of last month.

Golden Dozen for March

(In 25-City Boxoffice Check)

1. "Tom Jones" (UA) (18th wk).
2. "It's a Mad World" (UA) (19th wk).
3. "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk).
4. "Seven Days in May" (Par) (6th wk).
5. "The Cardinal" (Col) (14th wk).
6. "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (6th wk).
7. "Cleopatra" (20th) (40th wk).
8. "Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk).
9. "The Victors" (Col) (10th wk).
10. "Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk).
11. "Man's Favorite Sport" (U) (8th wk).
12. "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk).

On 100 Bookings, For 1st Half-Year 'Jones' in $3½-Mil

At the six-month point in its U.S. exhibition career, UA-Lopert's "Tom Jones" has already compiled a national gross of $3,500,000. In the New York market alone it has grossed $650,000, most of which was taken in at just one theatre, Cinema I, where it is in its 28th week. Ten weeks ago it also opened at Cinema II, twin counterpart to the original house. The prediction is now being made at UA that the Tony Richardson-John Osborne pic will eventually gross between $12,000,000 to $15,000,000.

The nifty $3,500,000 national gross so far has been built in about 100 theatres, many of which have only had the film a few weeks. In the New York area, "Jones" opens today in 15 additional houses. In the course of its initial Gotham engagement, the film has broken all b.o. records for an eastside attraction. It has also corraled several awards and received the most Oscar nominations with 10.

AUDIOVISUALIZERS TO CONVENE IN ROCHESTER

Washington, April 7.

Delegates to the Dept. of Audiovisual Instruction convention in Rochester, N.Y., April 19-24, will be given an international film preview as kickoff feature for meeting, which will be attended by 4,000 educators.

Films in DAVI's locker will include documentaries, art films, animated, etc. from Japan, Denmark, Poland, England and Scotland. "Seawards the Great Ships," 1961 Oscar winner from Scotland in the best live action short class, will be included. Vaughn R. DeLong, program-planning officer, Bureau of International Education, U.S. Office of Education, is chairman of the film preview session.

NEW-TYPE CINERAMAS

Drive-In For California, Ten For England

First drive-in and first portable tent theatres to show Cinerama will premiere this month, in California and England.

Cinerama prexy William R. Forman has set "This Is Cinerama" for April 15 opening at the Century Drive-In, Englewood, California. The 1250-car theatre will have a mobile screen, 180 ft. by 60 ft., touted by Cinerama as "largest motion picture screen in the world." Mobile projection equipment will be mounted on trucks. Other Cinerama travelog pix are skedded to follow run of "This Is Cinerama." Company will add other drive-ins near future.

First portable tent theatre on permanent basis will open April 20 in Richmond, England. Following run, the 1000-seat canvas operation and equipment move to Hove, then successively to Southhampton, Portsmouth, Poole and Paignton for late summer and fall dates. Pic there is also "This Is Cinerama." On boards for openings soon are similar operation in France and Germany.

Chides Savannah For Lukewarm Response To Foreman's 'The Victors'

Savannah, Ga., April 7.

Earle Holden, manager of Georgia Theatre Co.'s Lucas, was real put out with the tepid reception given Carl Foreman's "The Victors" (Columbia) and decided to chide Savannahans for their apparent apathy.

So Holden bought a 3-col ad, 4 inches deep to express himself.

Headed "WHAT A SHAME" in 42 point bold caps type, the text read:

"In the belief that Savannah movie patrons, who appreciate something outstanding in motion picture entertainment, would turn out in goodly number so see 'The Victors,' the Lucas management booked the film for two weeks.

"Patronage has been disappointing to the extent the picture will now only play through Thursday. It was a rather hard film to sell to those who should have visited the Lucas to see it. Every major newspaper and magazine has reviewed it favorably. Folks who locally support the Little Theatre plays, the Telfair Academy, the Savannah Symphony and special art films when they come along, would find 'The Victors' superior motion picture entertainment.

"Mrs. Margaret Twyman, director of Community Relations for the Motion Picture Association of America, and known to many local civic groups, has mailed out several thousand pamphlets on 'The Victors.' In her concluding paragraph of praise in the folder she said: 'From the first burst of an exciting pictorial prologue to its poetic epilogue you will be held spellbound. Don't miss 'The Victors.'

"'The Victors' remains at the Lucas Theatre through Thursday only. What a shame if several thousand Savannah people who appreciate the finest in movie entertainment, miss it."

ANTITRUST SUIT MOVES TO MAINE'S FED BENCH

Portland, Me., April 7.

A $2,000,000 damage suit against major film producers charging violation of the Sherman antitrust act has been transferred to the Maine Federal court from Massachusetts where it was filed in August, 1962. The action was brought by J. P. Nadeau and Sons Inc., owners of the Kennebunk Drive-In and another theatre in Dover, N.H.

Defendants are New England Theatres, Inc., Paramount Film Distributing Corp., Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., Warner Bros. Pictures Distributing Corp., United Artists Corp., Universal Film Exchange Inc., Columbia Pictures Corp. and Buena-Vista Distributing Co. Inc.

The Nadeau firm charges the defendants with attempting to suppress and eliminate competition of independent distributors and exhibitors. It charges that the Kennebunk Drive-In was denied first run films until they were shown in Portland and Biddeford.

A jury trial is sought.

Anatol de Grunwald, producing "The Yellow Rolls Royce" for Metro, has cast Ingrid Bergman, Rex Harrison, Shirley MacLaine, Alain Delon, Jeanne Moreau, George C. Scott and Omar Sharif.

New York Sound Track

National Convention and 1964 Motion Picture Industry Trade Show of Allied States-TESMA will be held in Detroit Oct. 19-22.

Seymour Poe, 20th's exec veep, back at his desk from a Puerto Rican holiday.

Burt Lancaster set to topline in "Khartoum," which Julian Blaustein will produce for UA as a multi-million dollar spec to location in Sudan with principal photography to begin in February, interiors to be filmed in a London studio. Robert Ardrey wrote the original screenplay . . . "Becket" has copped Photoplay's Gold Medal Award . . . Al Hine is adapting " The Unsinkable Molly Brown" into novel form, the result to be published by Gold Medal Books as a paperback . . . Jerry Lewis awarded the Genesian Award of St. Mary's college, the first time a non-Catholic has been given the nod, named in honor of the patron Saint of performers.

Susanne Pleshette has signed a non-exclusive, multi-pic pact with the Mirisches, the first assignment of which will be "A Rage To Live," filmization of the John O'Hara novel to be produced by Walter Mirisch this summer. Last week the actress completed a contract with Warner Bros. . . . Arthur Newman, production exec with Salem Productions and Kayos Productions, is forming his own indie firm and has acquired the pic rights to "Too Many Spies," a forthcoming novel via Dial Press penned by Richard Miles . . . MGM's "Kissin' Cousins" will open in over 150 Boston-New England theatres April 15, the biggest saturation booking in the company's history.

John Newfield, Columbia Pictures publicist in Birmingham (and a native son), rejected an award from city and an invite from Women's Chamber of Commerce to participate in dinner for "outstanding native sons." His reason was failure of Birmingham to move "in the direction of full civil rights for all its citizens." . . . Allied States Assns. of N.Y. and New Jersey will hold annual convention August 3-6 at Hotel Concord, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.

David Raphel, 20th foreign manager, left last week on a 15-day tour of the company's offices in central and South America, accompanied by Fox field supervisor for Latin America Francisco Rodriguez . Dame Edith Evans on the Coast prior to Oscar cast on April 13.

Jonas Rosenfeld Jr., Fox ad-pub veep, and Mort Segal, pub manager, on the Coast for a series of production confabs . . . Steve Brodie and Bill Monohan inked for "Roustabout" . . . "Seduced and Abandoned," which Walter Reade-Sterling will distribute in the English-speaking world, set as the official entry at the Cannes Film Fest later this month . . . Richard Kallet upped from Metro's budget and special projects department staff to the post of accounting manager for the company's ad-pub exploitation section.

Herb Gillis named U.S. and Canadian sales director for special attractions at Paramount, his first assignment being the direction of sales and bookings for "Becket" and "Fall of the Roman Empire." He had been sales manager for "Empire" since December . . . Doodles Weaver, Dorothy Abbott, January Jones and Hal Baylor added to Metro's "Quick, Before It Melts" . . . UA has set a promotion for "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" in the Pittsburgh area with Misco Stores, large local retailer . . . Johnny Mathis has etched "The Fall of Love" main theme from "Fall of the Roman Empire" for Mercury Records.

Joseph Friedman, Par assistant director of ad-pub-exploitation, ad manager Jerry K. Levine and Lennen & Newell v.p. Philip Solomon in London over the weekend to take a look at the first rough cut of Samuel Bronston's "Circus World" . . . Tom McCarthy has succeeded Tom McAdoo, who died suddenly last week, as editor on "Americanization of Emily" . . . "Fall of the Roman Empire" largely repped at the World's Fair Hollywood Pavilion via lotsa props, sets and pix . . . Michael De Listro handling production publicity on Metro's "Yellow Rolls Royce" which began lensing in London last Monday (6).

Harry Tugend's comedy "The Wayward Stork" will be produced on the strawhat circuit this summer by Garrick Productions as one of the shows being tried out for film potential in the indie's deal with UA . . . Harve Presnell will be guest of honor of the Federation of Motion Picture Council's American Clubwomen in Atlanta, April 2, at which time he'll also screen "Unsinkable Molly Brown," in which he toplines.

Max Youngstein will be installing officer at the luncheon of N.Y. Cinema Lodge of B'nai B'rith at the Hotel Astor, April 16, when the organization's new officers bow in . . . Ina Ballin back in New York after completing her work in "The Patsy" at Paramount . . . George Foundas set for Fox's "Zorba the Greek" . . . George Hamilton in Nashville, Tenn., researching for his role as late country singer Hank Williams in Metro's "Your Cheatin' Heart" . . . Samuel Goldwyn Jr. to speak at the U. of Houston tomorrow (Thurs.) . . . Par exploitation manager Bernard Serlin in Denver working on tomorrow (Thurs.) world preem of "Carpetbaggers."

Arthur Krim, Robert Benjamin and David Picker on the Coast to look at "Greatest Story Ever Told" and check out other production matters. Picker plans a week's vacation after the Hollywood visit . . . Walter Stier has succeeded Mel Howard as assistant to Gabe Sumner, UA ad-pub-exploitation exec, to work on the creation of film material for tv plugging of UA product.

Steve McQueen set to topline with Spencer Tracy in Martin Ransohoff's filmization for Metro of "The Cincinnati Kid" . . . Broderick Crawford a late addition to the cast of Joe Levine's "House Is Not a Home" . . . Embassy has pacted with Planned Communications Services to syndicate a specially-prepared set of tv promotion material on "Zulu," "Carpetbaggers" and "House Is Not a Home" . . . Edie Adams arrived at the "Best Man" preem last Sunday (5) in a white Rolls Royce with black fenders, a gift from her late husband Ernie Kovacs.

Joseph E. Levine awarded the distinguished merit award of the Colorado Region of the National Conference of Christians and Jews . . . George Geret set for Metro's "Have I Got a Right to Kill," now filming in Paris toplining Alain Delon . . . Allyson Ames into "A House Is Not a Home" . . . Metro's Alaskans, headed by director Delbert Mann, have returned from the northland to begin principal photography in Hollywood on "Quick, Before It Melts" . . . Stella Stevens set to appear in "Stormfire" in England with Peter Finch, Wolf Rilla directing and Michael Luke producing.

Sophia Loren and Ugo Tognazzi nominated for the 1964 Silver Ribbon awards in Italy for their work in "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" and "The Conjugal Bed," respectively . . . Lois Nettleton taking a break from her pub work on Metro's "Mail Order Bride" to do a "Dr. Kildare" seg . . . producer Leon Fromkess has set Sidney Salkow to direct "Blood On the Arrow" for Allied Artists, with Herbert G. Luft to be production manager and Robert Kent scripting . . . Don Murray will receive the California Federation of Women's Clubs' special merit award for UA's "One Man's Way".

Sophia Loren-Marcello Mastroianni, of "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," will be reunited in "Marriage—Italian Style," to be jointly produced by Joe Levine's Embassy Pictures and Carlo Ponti, with Vittorio De Sica again holding direction reins . . . George Hamilton takes on title role in Sam Katzman's Metro production, "Your Cheatin' Heart, The Story of Hank Williams," biopic of late hillbilly singer.

Otto Preminger will be guest of honor at a luncheon hosted by the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York at the Americana Hotel, April 30, with RKO prez Harry Mandel chairing the event . . . Anatole de Grunwald will put Metro's "Yellow Rolls Royce" into production in England April 6 . . . Four Star and Martin Manulis have acquired Bart Spicer's novel "Act of Anger" for feature production as a joint venture . . . Michael Constantine inked for MGM's "Quick, Before It Melts."

Mel Howard has resigned as film and trailer promotion supervisor at UA to work on several pic properties of his own, setting up temporary offices at Cine-Media in New York . . . Paramount has set radio

(Continued on page 19)

SHY OFF ONE HARD-CORE RULE

Political Comedy With TV's Machuchal Films in Puerto Rico at $30,000

By AL DINHOFER

San Juan., April 7.

A "pequena production," a little feature film production in Spanish, was begun yesterday in the town of Dorado, 40 miles from San Juan. The film, called, "El Alcalde de Machuchal" (The Mayor of Machuchal), is being made on a shoestring budget (about $30,000) in 13 days—but with a mighty big local comedy talent called Machuchal.

Machuchal, as Adalberto Rodriguez is known to just about everybody in Puerto Rico who owns a radio or television set, has emerged in the past three years as a folk-character. He portrays a Jibaro fop, and expresses the viewpoint of the average consumer in the backwoods—the fellow at whom the loudspeaker trucks and the tv commercials are aimed, the great American Mr. Nobody who wants to be somebody who is not trampled upon. (Machuchal is the name of the barrio or small section of Sabana Grande from which Adalberto hails.)

The film—a comedy in black and white—is about "political exploitation." The story has Adalberto running for Mayor against a lady candidate played by Alicia Moreda. Miguel Angel Alvarez costars as "Johnny El Man," a fast-talker from New York. Featured in the cast are Sonia Noemi Gonzales, Luis Echegoyen, singer-guitarist Gilberto Monroig, and the Dominican musical combo Damiron, Chapuseaux and Sylvia de Grasse.

The film is being produced by Paquito Cordero and Jose Raul Ramirez from an original script by Eddie Miro. Cordero will direct and Luis A. Maisonet will handle photography. Most of the technical staff has been recruited from the Cinema Section of the local Division of Public Education, a branch of the Commonwealth's Depart- of Education.

"The real star is the story," Adalberto said just before the film company's caravan of cars and trucks departed for Dorado. "The story is a microcosm of political exploitation. It's a satire on the behind-the-scene activities of a political campaign. While it takes place in a tiny town no one ever heard of, the political tactics and techniques could take place in a presidential election campaign."

"The element of comedy has got to be the thing that sells the picture," scripter Eddie Miro added. "Puerto Ricans here and in the States will no longer pay admission to see colorful vistas or beautiful country scenes. We believe the day of the quaint or naive movie that depends on nostalgia is at an end, Miro added. "The script must have ideas, provide laughs, and compete with films in the world-wide cinema market."

"I'm not saying we'll make the best film ever made anywhere. I'm saying we'll attempt to make an honest film; a film in which the entertainment comes from the essence of the script, and not the beautiful backgrounds."

"El Alcalde de Machuchal" is also described as a "vehicle" for the comedy talents of Adalberto. The film's creators believe the character of Machuchal has that certain something with which people en masse can associate. They firmly believe Machuchal can do for Puerto Rico what Cantinflas has done for Mexico. Adalberto, in his early 30s began working as a radio script writer four years ago. One of his scripts called for an unsophisticated jibaro-type. "I couldn't find the right type (of voice) to play the part on short notice," Adalberto recalls. "So I played the part myself."

The show's sponsor— of all people—liked the Machuchal character and encouraged Adalberto to fatten the role. A year later Machuchal leaped from radio to local television, and the new dimension advanced his popularity.

More Beaches 'n' Peaches

Hollywood, April 7.

American International Pictures has skedded a fourth "beach" picture, following success of its initialer, "Beach Party," one of company's top grossers during 1963, and current substantial biz being run up by the second, "Muscle Beach Party."

Latest set is "Malibu," slated to roll in November for release during 1965 Easter Week. Third is series, "Bikini Beach," starts production April 20, casting thus far including Frankie Avalon, Annete Funicello,, Don Rickles, Harvey Lembeck and Jody McCrea.

All Ballyhoo Stops Out On 'Carpetbaggers'

Paramount-Embassy opening of "Carpetbaggers" at the Paramount in Denver tomorrow (Thurs.) will cost about $50,000, according to estimates by Joseph E. Levine and Par ad-pub chief Martin Davis. This is about four times as much as is usually spent to preem a pic in the Colorado city or one like it. Figured in is one of the most in-depth pushes ever undertaken by Levine or Par.

At a press conference last week Levine "conservatively" estimated the eventual worldwide gross of "Carpetbaggers" at astronomic figures. Pic goes into general release in June. Starting then and through August, the filmization of Harold Robbins' filmland yarn will play some 400 situations. Embassy and Par will use the April-to-June period as a sort of shakedown run for its ad-pub campaign, aiming to get it just right for the summer saturation.

In discussing the Denver opening idea, Levine reaffirmed his grassroots promotion thinking. "People get so busy in New York that they forget the grassroots," he commented. "They think that if they go to Los Angeles, New York and Chicago, that's enough. Well it isn't." As part of this, the showman revealed that he will be "dropping a lot of things" during the next couple of months to barnstorm the country plugging "Carpetbaggers." He'll be heading back to Denver this coming Tuesday to continue his lead-in work for the preem.

During the press meeting, Levine also discussed "Zulu," another Par-Embassy project with the difference that Levine is distributing it in the U.S. and Canada unlike "Carpetbaggers" which Paramount has for the world. Davis also spoke up about the film, noting that it has been the biggest-grossing Par film in England that the company has ever had, including "10 Commandments." Levine predicted that the pic will recoup its entire negative cost, about $2,000,000, in England alone. It comes to the States this summer.

Embassy prez noted that "House Is Not a Home" will finish lensing April 9, meaning that it was completed in 22 days. He said that both "House" and "Zulu" will remain as Embassy releases in the U.S. and Canada with Par distributing abroad.

In connection with the "Carpetbaggers" Denver preem, a party will be held today (Wed.) hosted by Texas governor John A. Love. Denver's mayor participated in a parade honoring the event yesterday (Tues.). Skedded to be on hand for the preem are George Peppard, Martha Hyer, Robert Cummings, Edward Dymtryk (pic's director), Carroll Baker (in from "Mr. Moses" location in Africa), Levine and others, including some Par brass.

JUSTICES CLOSELY QUIZ EPH LONDON

Washington, April 7.

United States Supreme Court took another look at censorship and seriously questioned the proposition that a single national standard of "obscenity" could be written. Court heard oral arguments on cases stemming from the arrest of a Cleveland Heights (Ohio) theatre manager for showing "The Lovers," French import, and the burning of 1,715 allegedly obscene books in Junction City, Kans.

The possibility of replacing the present "community standards" censorship test for a broader national guideline was advanced by Ephraim London, the N. Y. attorney for Nico Jacobellis, the Cleveland Heights house manager.

London said state courts have been confused on interpreting the "community standards" doctrine, established in the landmark Roth case, to cover a city, county, state or nation.

Pinning his theory that all states should come equally under First Amendment protection, London tried to run his theory through a gauntlet of questioning Justices.

Justice Potter Stewart inquired how the national standard would be found among 50 states and was followed up by Justice Hugo Black saying he was "bothered" by London's assertion that Congress should not write such rules.

Justice William Brennan inquired if the community tolerance of obscenity would be decided by a prosecutor "bringing in a bunch of girlie magazines and saying 'that's as far as this town goes.'"

Continuing, Justice Byron White said London's definition of an obscenity standard seemed to be based on "sales figures." London replied if a book sold over most of the U.S. sans legal complications, it would not offend national standards.

This led White to say this fight would still resolve to a "battle of experts," to which Justice Harland added inquiringly "who would qualify?"

Several questions also came

(Continued on page 21)

Hired Hand Takes Rap

Cleveland, April 7.

That final quarter hour in the French import, "The Lovers," put a guilty verdict on the record of Nico Jacobellis, manager of the Heights Art Theatre. He was fined $2,500 in 1960 for exhibiting the feature, although he was only a hired employe. It is in the hope to erasing the "criminal" aspersion that lawyers have carried the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, hoping for a reversal.

Typically in film theatre raids involving allegations of obscenity the owner of the property or the lessee is not nabbed, and not even indicted. Blow falls on the hired hands.

MOUSEKETEER BEN SACK

He'll Have Julie Andrews in Two Spots This Fall

Boston, April 7.

Ben Sack is back from Hollywood where he confabbed with Disney company on "Mary Poppins," live-and-animated release, which will open at the Gary Theatre here on Oct. 23. Sack was one of 16 key exhibs invited by Disney. He was handed a "Mouseketeer" award from the producer because Cardinal Cushing of Boston will sponsor preem of the "Poppins" here.

A special trailer made by Sack with Disney will be shown in Sack's five theatres here ballyhooing "Mary Poppins." Sack has "My Fair Lady" set in October at the Saxon Theatre, so he will have Julie Andrews in both at the same time.

Beyond Fair Site (and $2 Gate), 'Bounty' Ship Looks Like Dandy Diversification Item For MGM

By EDDIE KALISH

H.M.S. Bounty is proving a successful bit of diversification for Metro in its appearance at the N. Y. World's Fair. Since putting out the gang plank for the public on March 14, the replica of the famous vessel has attracted some 15,000 adults and children, at 90c per adult and 50 per youngster, providing an estimated gross to date of nearly $10,000.

The Bounty project is, in fact, the sole object of a special unit at Metro called the Bounty Exhibit Division. This department is run by Ronald Carroll who is also the company's director of market research. Discussing the new division last week, Carroll noted that the branch will most likely eventually be expanded to handle other special projects but that at present it is only concerned with the Bounty at the Fair.

He pointed out that the Bounty project is a completely separate division within MGM, like disks, tv and such. The project head cited it as an example of Metro's diversification activity and made note of the overall plan to develop the department beyond the ship alone. In his capacity as Bounty skipper, Carroll is also continuing to head the research department and will continue to do so in the event of expansion.

Outside The Grounds

The Bounty enjoys an interesting position at the Fair. Although it is an official Fair exhibit, it lies beyond the fairgrounds proper thus it can be visited without guests paying the Fair's $2 gate. By the same token, Carroll commented, there may be those who go to the Fair who may never see the ship because it is berthed some distance from the main grounds. Pecularly, its location is billed as the World's Fair Marina but signs in the area refer to the spot as the Flushing Boat Basin, a confusion he is attempting to get corrected.

Although it lies in extraterritorial waters, the Bounty must live up to Fair rules, Carroll noted. Souveniers sold at the Bounty site must be approved by the Fair corporation, and such. However, nowhere on any Bounty advertising etc. is the Unisphere (the Fair emblem) shown nor, for that matter, is the Fair mentioned except for the Marina mention. The Fair, Marina itself and Metro all share in its financial rewards.

Tieups

To insure a more integrated Fair atmosphere, arrangements have been made with the Hollywood Pavilion and the Polynesian and Hawiian exhibits to cross plug the locations. Tieup with the latter two is via huts which have been built in Island style nearby the Bounty to serve as ticket booth, souvenier shop and office. Trinkets on sale also have South Seas flavor.

The Fair appearance of the Bounty is the first time the ship has been exhibited for admission charge and is also the first time visitors have been allowed below-decks. In its previous stopovers, including the Seattle World's Fair, the ship appeared as publicity for "Mutiny on the Bounty" and no tarriff was levied. In these prior non-profit visits it has anchored at Vancouver, San Francisco, New Orleans, Miami, Boston, London, Dover, Calai, New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Oyster Bay where it was fitted out for the Fair.

As a sideline in connection with the Bounty, Metro has also gone into the souvenier business, selling everything from 5c postcards to a $35 model kit. The company is also distributing its first 8m pic as a result, a 50 ft. item called "Clips From the Log of the Bounty," containing scenes from "Mutiny" but only of the ship and not of the players etc. Carroll noted that the Bounty exhibit isn't connected with the film except by prior association. No attempt to plug the pic is made and profits from the exhibit go to the Metro division and not "Mutiny," which may be hair-splitting.

Trio Off to Buffalo

Charles Alicoate, Ed Lachman and Jack H. Levin have been designated official delegates to rep N.Y. Variety Club, Tent 35, at the 37th annual Variety Clubs International Convention in Buffalo, June 30-July 2.

Delegtes are soliciting local and adjoining-area barkers to make up a private club car for the trip. Capacity will be limited to 40 with reservations on first come, first served basis. Participants will make the trip for half price.

Day-And-Dating Rival Publicity Feeds in N.Y.

Trying to cover United Artists and Embassy Pictures last Friday (3) was something of a problem long about lunch time, for a single reporter at least. It was a case of those old MPAA blues, when two companies logged in luncheons at the same time, one not clearing the slot with the Motion Picture Assn. of America, as is agreed procedure.

United Artists was hosting the press in the Belasco Room at Sardis to discuss a picture deal with documentary filmmaker David L. Wolper. At same time Joseph E. Levine was also host at the Four Seasons with Bette Davis as guest and an array of Par brass on hand as well, including prez Barney Balaban and sales chief Charles Boasberg.

The way it worked out, UA got the trade press, some newspaper reps including the N.Y. Times and Herald Tribune and ABC Radio, among others. Levine and Miss Davis corralled a host of magazine and newspaper people but did without the trades, which are one of the primary objectives in the MPAA clearing system which also schedules screenings and other press confabs besides luncheons.

Actually, this problem isn't new and for the past couple of months screening and press conference time has been at a premium in New York as activity has been accelerated for some reason. In the case in question, Embassy had originally cleared an afternoon time on Friday but then had to move the conference to lunch, however forgetting to clear the new time which UA had already logged. It got a bit complicated because the Embassy invites went out first and acceptances later has to be reversed, always a slight embarrassment. The prime reason the UA event got the trades was because of the "hard news" nature of the meeting while Embassy billed its session as a "reception." No one likes to miss out on a Joe Levine blast, however.

Although this was a case of simple error which couldn't be rescheduled in either case for various reasons, the Gotham situation lately is getting to be sort of "who should we bump." This game is played on the screening circuit mostly and in the scheduling of review dates for the appearance of picture appraisals in the trades especially but also in the consumer papers and magazines. It's often not a nice game nor is it nicely played.

Sometimes things happen presumably in innocence like the recent collision of the preem of "Fall of the Roman Empire" with the long-awaited legit bow of "Funny Girl" This divided publicity outlet attention and the Par pub brass was outspokenly displeased with the situation and its results.

TRIBUTE TO A PATRIOT

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX
MOVIETONE BRINGS YOU
THE GREAT MOMENTS IN THE
LIFE OF A GREAT AMERICAN
GENERAL OF THE ARMY
DOUGLAS A. MacARTHUR

"THE OLD SOLDIER"

NARRATED BY LOWELL THOMAS 26 MINUTES

PRINTS WILL BE IN THE FOX EXCHANGES NEXT WEEK

Chi Uneven; 'Night' Bangup $18,000, 'Doll' Dandy 7G; 'World' Whopping $25,500, 'Jones' 21G, 'Panther' 19G

Chicago, April 7.

Chi firstrun returns are mixed this round as holdovers begin to taper. Woods preem of "Night Must Fall" is grabbing a sweet $18,000 and "The Doll" in first at World is frisky. Monroe dualer of "Seven Capital Sins" and "Bluebeard" looks neat in first sesh. "And Suddenly It's Murder" is rated lively at the Surf.

Disney tandem of "A Tiger Walks" and "Arizona Sheepdog" is pulling a nice second Roosevelt round. "Captain Newman" shapes hearty in its Chicago third. "Pink Panther" is rolling up a sturdy third State-Lake session but "Flight From Ashiya" is tepid for same Oriental stanza.

Daydated "Silence" is powerful at both the Loop and Carnegie in third frames. "Seven Days In May" is nailing a dandy sixth United Artists lap. "Dr. Strangelove" is hotsy in its Esquire seventh. "Tom Jones" continues rousing in its Todd 19th stanza.

On hardticket, "Becket" is posting a lusty third Cinestage canto while "It's A Mad World" remains great in its McVickers 20th.

Estimates for This Week

Carnegie (Brotman) (495; $1.25-$1.80)—"Silence" (Janus) (3d wk). Good $4,000. Last week, $4,500.

Chicago (B&K) (3,900; 90-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Nifty $19,000. Last week, $25,000.

Cinema (Stern) (500; $1.50)—"To Bed Or Not To Bed" (Cont) (3d wk). Brisk $4,000. Last week, $3,800.

Cinestage (Todd) (1,038; $1.75-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (3d wk). Snappy $18,000. Last week, $19,000.

Esquire (H&E Balaban) (1,236; $1.25-$1.80) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Hotsy $18,000. Last week, $17,000.

Loop (Brotman) (606; 90-$1.80)

(Continued on page 17)

Estimates Are Net

Film gross estimates as reported herewith from the various key cities, are net; i.e., without usual tax. Distributors share on net take, when playing percentage, hence the estimated figures are net income.

The parenthetic admission prices, however, as indicated, include U. S. amusement tax.

'NIGHT' MILD $9,000, ST. LOO; 'WORLD' 15G, 7

St. Louis, April 7.

Trade is very spotty here this round, with new entrants not getting far. "Night Must Fall" looks mild on opener at State. "It's a Mad World" looms socko in seventh at Martin Cinerama. "Paris When It Sizzles" is rated nice in second Ambassador week. "Cleopatra" is hep in fourth at the Esquire.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador (Arthur) (2,970; 90-$1.25) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Nice $10,000. Last week, $12,000.

Apollo Art (Grace) (700; 90-$1.25) — "Everybody Go Home" (Indie) and "Householder" (Indie). Oke $2,000. Last week, "Swedish Mistress" (Indie) and "Fiances" (Indie), $2,000.

Esquire (Jablonow-Komm) (1,800; $1.25-$1.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (4th wk). Good $9,000. Last week, $10,000.

Fox (Arthur) (5,000; 90-$1.25)—"Man's Favorite Sport" (U) (5th wk). Good $9,800. Last week, $15,000.

Loew's Mid-City (Loew) (1,160; 60-90)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Big $15,000. Last week, $17,000.

State (Loew) (3,600; 60-90) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM). Mild $9,000. Last week, "Alone Against Rome" (Indie) and "Witch's Curse" (Indie), $6,500.

Martin Cinerama (Martin) (913; $1.30-$2.50) — "It's Mad World" (UA) (7th wk). Big $15,000. Last week, $18,000.

Pageant (Arthur) (1,000; 90-$1.25)—"America, America" (WB). Neat $3,500. Last week, "Fantasia" (BV) (2d wk), $2,500.

Paris Art (Chernoff) (800; $1)—"Summerskin" (Indie) and "Hand in Trap" (Indie). Average $1,300. Last week, "Flamboyants" (Indie) and "Girl With Suitcase" (Indie), $1,200.

St. Louis (Arthur) (3,800; 75-90)—"Hustler" (20th) and "Peyton Place" (20th) (reissues). Mild $8,500. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk), $8,000.

Shady Oak (Arthur) (760; 90-$1.25) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (4th wk). Okay $2,000. Last week, $3,000.

'World' Big $8,000, L'ville; 'Tiger' 7G

Louisville, April 7.

Holdovers make up the entire lineup this week at downtown houses. Most situations are holding up nicely. "Love With Proper Stranger," in second at the Penthouse, is continuing lively. "Tom Jones," now in eighth at the Kentucky, is doing nicely for this small-seater. "It's a Mad World" is socko in 16th Rialto week.

Estimates for This Week

Kentucky (Switow) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Neat $5,000. Last week, $5,500.

Mary Ann (People's) (1,100; 75-$1.25)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). Oke $5,000. Last week, $5,500.

Ohio (Settos) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Fair $4,000. Last week, $4,500.

Penthouse (Fourth Avenue) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Love With Proper Stranger" (Par) (2d wk). Big $9,000. First week was $11,000.

Rialto (Fourth Avenue) (1,100; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Socko $8,000. Last week, $8,500.

United Artists (Fourth Avenue) (1,700; 75-$1.25)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Lassie's Great Adventure" (BV) (2d wk). Okay $7,000. Last week, $8,000.

'Strangelove' Huge 30G, Hub; 'Night' Smooth 15G; 'Paris' 12G, 'Jones' 18G

Boston, April 7.

Biz continues mild at firstruns here with only a few films getting real coin. However, "Dr. Strangelove" turned in a smash first week at the Astor while "Night Must Fall" is rated nice at Paramount on opener. "Of Women and Pleasures" is good at West End Cinema. "Incredible Mr. Limpet" is just good at Mayflower.

"Captain Newman" turned in a fat second round at Memorial. "Pink Panther" is fine at the Gary in third week. "Paris When It Sizzles" is not sizzling at the Music Hall in second session. "Cardinal" continues great in 17th round at the Saxon. There's continuous action and lines for "Tom Jones," amazing in 16th at Beacon Hill. "It's a Mad World" is holding smash in 21st week at the Boston.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (B&Q) (1,117; 90-$1.80)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (2d wk). Second week opened Friday (3). First week was huge $30,000.

Beacon Hill (Sack) (900; $1-$1.80)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (16th wk). Sock $18,000. Last week, $20,000.

Boston (Beacon Ent.) (1,354; $1.20-$3.95) — "Mad World" (UA) (21st wk). The 20th week ended Monday (6) was great $17,000. Last week, same.

Capri (Sack) (900; $1-$1.80)—"Servant" (Indie) (subrun) (2d wk). Oke $7,500. Last week, $8,500.

Center (E. M. Loew) (1,250; 90-$1.25)—"Naughty Dallas" (Indie) and "Passion Street, U.S.A." (Indie) (2d wk). Oke $4,000. Last week, same.

Cinema, Kenmore Square (Indie) (320; $1.50-$1.90) — "Silence" (Janus) and "Old Man and Flower" (Indie) (7th wk). Good $3,500. Last week, $3,800.

Paris (Indie) (500; 90-$1.50)—"Love With Proper Stranger" (subrun). Oke $5,000. Last week, "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (subrun), $4,500.

Gary (Sack) (1,277; $1.25-$1.80)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Nice $10,000. Last week, $11,000.

Mayflower (ATC) (689; 90-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Good $7,000 or less. Last week, "West Side Story" (reissue) (2d wk), $4,000.

Memorial (RKO) (3,000; 90-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (3d wk). Third week began Friday (3). Second was fat $17,000.

Music Hall (Sack) (4,400; 90-$1.80)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Mild $12,000. Last week, $14,000.

Orpheum (Loew) (2,900; 90-$1.80)—"Queen of Sheba" (Indie) and "Barbarians" (Indie). Mild $9,000. Last week, "Tamahine" (MGM), $8,000.

Paramount (NET) (2,357; 90-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM). Fine $15,000. Last week, "Shock Treatment" (20th) and "Surf Party" (20th), $8,000.

Pilgrim (ATC) (1,909; 75-$1.25)—"White Slaves of Chinatown" and "Surfside 77" (Indie) (reissue) (2d wk). Mild $3,500. Last week, $4,500.

Park Square Cinema (Indie) (608; $1.80)—"Billy Liar" (Cont) (subrun) and "Lisa" (Indie) (subrun). Oke $3,100. Last week, "Young and Passionate" (Indie) and "One Summer of Happiness" (reissue), $3,200.

Paris Cinema (Indie) (608; $1.75)—"America, America" (WB) (5th wk). Good $4,500. Last week, $5,000.

Saxon (Sack) (1,100; $2-$3.90)—"Cardinal" (Col) (17th wk). Great $16,000. Last week, $17,000.

State (Trans-Lux) (730; $1-$1.50)—"Heavenly Bodies" (Indie) and "White Slavery" (Indie). Hotsy $10,000. Last week, "Indecent" (Indie) and "Striptease Scandals" (Indie), $7,000.

West End Cinema (E. M. Loew) (500; 75-$1.50)—"Of Women and Pleasure" (Indie). Good $7,000 or close. Last week, "Hallelujah the Hills" (Indie) (3d wk), $4,300.

'CLEO' BOFF $14,000, COL.; 'MERLIN' 8G, 3d

Columbus, O., April 7.

Holdovers again ruled the local scene with impressive figures chalked up Easter week and expected to stay good in the post-holiday session. "Cleopatra" is attracting great trade in third stanza, daydating the New Main and Beechwold. "Misadventures of Merlin Jones" is holding okay in third round at Palace. "Seven Days in May" is rated good at the Ohio in third inning. "It's a Mad World" shapes solid in eighth week at the Grand.

Estimates for This Week

Beechwold (Academy-Neth) (860; $1-$2) and New Main (Yassenoff) (1,100; $1-$2)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (3d wk). Great $14,000. Last week, $15,500.

Grand (RKO) (860; $1.50-$2.75)—"Mad World" (UA) (8th wk). Hotsy $8,500. Last week, $14,000.

Ohio (Loew) (3,079; 50-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (3d wk). Good $7,500. Last week, $9,000.

Palace (RKO) (2,845; 75-$1.50)—"Merlin Jones" (BV) (3d wk). Nice $8,000. Last week, $12,000.

B'way Big; 'Darling'-Stage 175G, 'Orient'-Easter Show Wow 180G, 3d; 'World' 60G, 20th; 'Servant' Sock 21G

Broadway firstruns boomed during the Easter holiday period, which included five days for most houses, but, as usual, slumped some starting last Monday (6). That day was further dampened by an allday rain. Upsurge will enable a number of cinemas to top their previous week's trade or hold virtually even. Last Saturday (4) night was a booming one for many theatres.

Top coin is being racked up by the Music Hall, with "World of Henry Orient" and the annual Easter stageshow. Combo looks to hit mighty $180,000 this stanza, third of the engagement. Saturday night trade was the greatest of the run. The Paramount also registered terrific trade, with a wow $175,000 for the 10 days of its rock-n-roll stageshow and "No, My Darling Daughter." Although not a record, it was one of the top sessions at the Par flagship.

Another high grosser was "It's a Mad World," with a mighty $60,000 for the 20th round ended last Saturday at the Warner. This covered 20 shows. The new hardticket pic, "Becket," held with a sockeroo $46,000 in fourth session at the State, for 12 performances.

"Fall of the Roman Empire" looks to wind its second week at the DeMille with a boff $33,000. "Dr. Strangelove" is soaring to a wham $54,500 in its 10th week, daydating the Victoria and Baronet or well ahead of the ninth stanza. "Seven Days in May" still was socko with $44,900 for seventh session, daydating the Criterion and Sutton, also topping last week.

"The Cardinal," on subsequent-run, held at smash $25,000 in second session at the Cinerama. "Capt. Newman," also on subrun, wound up with a great $25,000 in second week at the Palace or better than opener.

"The Servant" hit the top figure of its engagement at the Little Carnegie with a wow $21,000 for third session, greatest third week at this house in years. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" held at wow $49,500 in third stanza, daydating the Festival and Tower East. "Tom Jones" pushed to wham $43,500 daydating the Cinema One and Cinema One and Cinema Two.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (City Inv.) (1,094; $1.25-$2) — "From Russia With Love" (UA). Opens today (Wed.). Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk), pushed to nice $17,000 after $14,500 for opener.

Cinerama (Loew) (1,552; $1.50-$2.50) — "Cardinal" (Col) (subrun) (3d wk). Initial holdover week ended yesterday (Tues.) was great $25,000 after $22,000 for opener. Also on saturation booking.

Criterion (Moss) (1,520; $1.50-$2.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (8th wk). Seventh round finished yesterday (Tues.) was smash $29,000 or near after $25,500 for sixth week. Daydating with Sutton.

DeMille (Reade) (1,463; $1.50-$3.50)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (2d wk). This session, winding tomorrow (Thurs.), is heading for socko $33,000 or close after $47,800 for first, over expectations. Stays on indef.

Embassy (Guild Enterprises) (500; $1.50-$2.50) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (4th wk). Third round ended yesterday (Tues.) was excellent $9,000 after $8,000 for second. Also at Murray Hill.

Forum (Norel) (813; $1.25-$1.80)—"The Prize" (MGM) (subrun) (4th wk). Third round ended yesterday (Tues.) was smash $15,000 after $16,000 for second. "False Shame" (Embassy) opens Friday (10).

Palace (RKO) (1,642; $1.25-$2)—"Capt. Newman" (U) (subrun) (3d wk). Second week ended yesterday (Tues.) was sockeroo $25,000 after $23,000 for initial round. Also on saturation booking. Now set to stay four weeks.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,665; $1-$2)—"No, My Darling Daughter" (Zenith). Playing two days solo to bring in "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) today (Wed.). "Daughter" paired with rock-n-roll stageshow soared to an amazing $175,000 in 10 days, not a new record for this policy but biggest here in several years, a 12-day stageshow plus pic topping it in 1957. Combo played to standing room only up to midnight last Saturday night, with long lines nearly every day.

Radio City Music Hall (Rockefellers) (6,200; 99-$2.85)—"World of Henry Orient" (UA) and Easter stageshow (3d wk). This stanza ending today (Wed.) looks like mighty $180,000 or over, with five-show daily schedule dropped after Sunday (5). Last week was $217,000, near peak for Easter week. Stays a fourth, and maybe longer.

Rivoli (UAT) (1,545; $2.50-$5.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (44th wk). The 43d stanza finished yesterday (Tues.) was big $21,000 after $17,000 for 42d week, which was aided by having part of it in the Easter holiday period.

Rialto (Brandt) (600; $1.25-$2.50)—"Silence" (Janus) (10th wk). The ninth week completed Sunday (5) was great $11,700 after $8,000 for eighth.

State (Loew) (1,850; $1.50-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (4th wk). This session finishing today (Wed.) is heading for smash $46,000 on 12 shows after $58,000 for third, taking in 13 shows plus three student matinees. Stays on indef.

Victoria (City Inv.) (1,003; $1.25-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (11th wk). The 10th frame ended yesterday (Tues.) was sockeroo $32,000 or close after $27,000 for ninth week. Daydating with Baronet.

Warner (SW) (1,504; $2.50-$4.80)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (21st wk). The 20th round completed Saturday (4) was a mighty $60,000, with 20 performances. The 19th week was $27,000, with two extra shows.

First-Run Arties

Baronet (Reade) (430; $1.25-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (11th wk). The 10th stanza finished yesterday (Tues.) was great $22,500 or near after $20,000 for ninth. Also at the Victoria.

Beekman (Rugoff Th.) (590; $1.50-$2)—"Adorable Julia" (Indie). Opened yesterday (Tues.). In ahead, "Given Word" (Lionex) (2d wk), okay $3,000 after fine $6,500 opener.

Carnegie Hall Cinema (F&A) (330; $1.50-$2)—"Dimka" (Artkino) (3d wk). This session ending tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like smash $10,500 after $11,000 for second week.

Cinema One (Rugoff Th.) (700; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (27th wk). The 26th week completed Sunday (5) was wow $29,300 after $24,256 for 25th session.

Cinema Two (Rugoff Th.) (300; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). The eighth round finished yesterday (Tues.) was great $14,700 or near after 13,000 for seventh.

Coronet (Reade) (590; $1.50-$2)—"Best Man" (UA). Opened Monday (6), daydating with 34th St. East. In ahead, "They All Died Laugh-

(Continued on page 17)

This Week's N. Y. Showcases

(Primary Firstrun Showcases)

"Merlin Jones" (BV)—$80,000 in 5-day second week, 19 spots.

T-L 85th St. (Manhattan), Loews Olympia, American; Brandt's Post Road, 167th St.; Randforce Beverly; Town & Country's Sea View, Wantagh, Glen Cove, Hewlett; Century's Marine, Oceana, Morton Village, Bliss, Prospect, Queens; Interboro's Fortway; Island's Parkway; Westchester Town.

(Week's Secondary Showcases)

"The Prize" (MGM)—$168,000 in third week, 16 spots.

Forum, Trans-Lux 52d St. (Manhattan); Kingsway, Metropolitan, Rialto (Brooklyn), Continental, Hillside, Meadows, Fantasy, Franklin, Freeport, Roosevelt Field, Brandt's (Yonkers), Loew's Mt. Vernon, Plaza Scarsdale, Paradise.

"The Cardinal" (Col)—$328,966 in five days of second week, 24 spots.

Cinerama, Loew's 83d St., Orpheum (Manhattan); Loew's Kings, Oriental, Triboro, Valencia (Jamaica), New Rochelle, White Plains, Jersey City; Century's Avalon, Green Acres, Grove, Plainview, Huntington; Paramount Staten Island; Bayshore, Cove, Patachoque, Big A, Dale, Luxor, Bronx Palace, Elmwood, Parkhill, RKO Proctor's, Newark.

"Captain Newman" (U)—$275,000 in second week, 24 spots.

Palace, 86th Street; Skouras' Academy, Riveria (Manhattan); RKO Alden, Albee (Brooklyn); Albemarle, Proctor's, New Rochelle, Colony, Elmsford Drive-In, Fordham; Skouras' Astoria, Midway, Valley Stream, Calderone, Central, Town, Valley Stream, Squire; Westbury Drive-In, Pelham; Sunrise Drive-In, Whitestone Drive-In.

Additional Picture Grosses On Pages 15 & 17

THE "HORROR" IS KILLIN' EM!

IN DALLAS! FT. WORTH! HOUSTON! DETROIT!

WARNING!
POSITIVELY NO ONE ADMITTED UNLESS you agree to release this theatre of all responsibility for death by fright!

FRIGHT RELEASE
This certificate absolves the management of this theatre of all responsibility for death by fright during the showing of
"THE HORROR OF PARTY BEACH"
and
"THE CURSE OF THE LIVING CORPSE"

RE051HRB
WUA149 DEB033
DE LLC015 PD FAX DETROIT MICH 6 1057A EST
JOE SUGAR, TWENTIETH CENTURY FOX FILM CORP
444 WEST 56 ST NYK
COMBINATION OF "HORROR PARTY BEACH" AND "CURSE LIVING CORPSE" GROSSED BEST WEEK END IN 3 MONTHS AT PALMS, DETROIT. HAS GREAT APPEAL FOR SHOCK FANS
WOODY PRAUGHT UNITED DETROIT THEATRES
(24).

1148A EST APR 6 64

D LLQ95 PD FAX DALLAS TEX 6 1106A CST
JOSEPH M SUGAR, VICE PRES
20TH CENTURY FOX 444 WEST 56 ST NYK
DEAR JOE: CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR WINNING COMBINATION, HORROR
AT PARTY BEACH AND CURSE OF LIVING CORPSE, AND YOUR FOX SHOWMANSHIP
CAMPAIGN. WE JUST OPENED THIS COMBINATION IN HOUSTON, DALLAS,
AND FT. WORTH MULTIPLE FIRST RUN TO SENSATIONAL GROSSES. OUR THURSDAY THROUGH SUNDAY GROSSES IN SPITE OF INCLEMENT WEATHER
WERE THE BEST NON-HOLIDAY GROSSES THAT WE HAVE ENJOYED SINCE
LAST SUMMER. BACKING THIS COMBINATION THROUGHOUT OUR STANLEY
WARNER TEXAS ZONE. KINDEST REGARDS
BRANDON DOAK STANLEY WARNER MANAGEMENT CORP
(29).

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

THE FIRST HORROR MONSTER MUSICAL!
Hear the big-beat sound of the Del-Aires swingin' with the beach party set!

THE HORROR OF PARTY BEACH

NEW SHOCK HIT!

THE CURSE OF THE LIVING CORPSE

AN ISELIN-TENNEY Production Released by 20th CENTURY-FOX

THE SHOWMANSHIP PACKAGE OF THE YEAR FROM 20TH! AVAILABLE NOW!

'Today' Wow $23,000, D.C.; 'Empire' Boff 18G, 'Newman' Socko 13G, 2d

Washington, April 7.

Spring tourists—both the high school and family varieties—combine with strong product to put a punch in mainstem trade, and overcome rain and snow dampeners. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" looks great in Embassy debut. "Fall of Roman Empire" figures sock in Warner initialer.

"Pink Panther" shapes socko in third at Keith's. "Tom Jones" looms sock in 15th frame at the Ontario. "Seven Days in May" will turn in a hotsy eighth round at Trans-Lux. "Captain Newman" heads for boffo second session at Town.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador-Metropolitan (SW) (1,480; 1,000; $1-$1.49) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Good $11,000. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV), $10,000.

Apex (KB) (940; $1.25-$1.40) — "Beat Devil" (Indie). Trim $7,000. Last week, "Humpbacked Horse" (Indie) $5,500.

Calvert (Mann) (900; $1.25-$1.50) —"Easy Life" (Emb) (5th wk). Nice $4,000. Last week, $5,000.

DuPont (Mann) (400; $1.50-$2)— "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Sock $10,000. Last week, $14,000.

Embassy (Loew) (567; $1.25-$2)— "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Emb). Great $23,000. Last week, 'Mail Order Bride" (MGM), $4,000.

Keith's (RKO) (1,838; $1-$1.49)— "Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Socko $20,000. Last week, $23,000.

MacArthur (KB) (900; $1.25-$1.40) — "Saturday Night, Sunday Morning" (Cont) and "Room at Top" (Cont) (reissues). Soft $3,000 for five days. Last week, "Guest" (Indie), $3,000.

Ontario (KB) (1,240; $1.50-$2)— "Tom Jones" (UA) (15th wk). Big $23,000. Last week, $25,500.

Palace (Loew) (2,360; $1.25-$1.80) —"Shock Treatment" (20th). Dull $8,000. Last week, "Seven Faces Dr. Lao" (MGM), $10,000.

Playhouse (TL) (459; $1.25-$1.80) —"America, America" (WB) (4th

(Continued on page 17)

'Panther' Smash $12,000, Balto; 'Damned' Slight 18G; 'Jones' Great 17G

Baltimore, April 7.

"Tom Jones" still stays amazing to pace field here in sixth week at the Charles. "Children of Damned" shapes mild in first at the Stanton. "Captain Newman" looms lusty in second week at the Hipp.

"It's a Mad World" is socko in seventh week at the Town. "Seven Days in May" is pleasing in sixth round at Mayfair. "Pink Panther" is smash in third session at the Senator. "Dr. Strangelove" is rated good in seventh week at the New.

Estimates for This Week

Charles (Fruchtman) (500; 50-$1.80)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Boff $17,000. Last week, $18,300.

Five West (Schwaber) (435; 90-$1.50)—"To Bed or Not To Bed" (Cont) (2d wk). Good $2,300. Last week, $2,800.

Hippodrome (T-L) (1,800; 50-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Stout $11,500. Last week, $12,000.

Little (T-L) (300; 50-$1.50)— "Cleopatra" (20th) (2d wk). Oke $2,800. Last week, $3,000.

New (Fruchtman) (1,600; 50-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Good $8,000. Last week, $7,000.

Mayfair (Fruchtman) (700; 50-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (6th wk). Boffola $10,000. Last week, $8,000.

Playhouse (Schwaber) 700; 90-$1.50)—"High and Low" (Toho) (3d wk). Warm $2,000. Last week, $2,300.

Senator (Durkee) (950; 60-$1.50) —"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Sock $12,000. Last week, $15,000.

Stanton (Fruchtman) (2,800; 50-$1.50) — "Children of Damned" (MGM). Mild $8,000. or close. Last week, "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (3d wk), $7,200.

Town (T-L) (1,125; $1.50-$2.65)— "It's a Mad World" (UA) (7th wk). Socko $15,000. Last week, $16,000.

Rex (Freedman) (500; $1.50) — "At Lil's Place" (Mishkin) (2d wk). Good $3,000. Last week, $4,500.

Broadway Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $927,900
(Based on 36 theatres)
Last Year $664,200
(Based on 32 theatres)

'Doctor' Tall 8G, K.C.; 'May' Big 9G

Kansas City, April 7.

First-run biz is on upbeat here currently despite all-holdover lineup. Standouts continue to be "Seven Days in May," "Dr. Strangelove" and "Paris When It Sizzles." Opening week of "Paris" at Plaza was ahead of estimate and hotsy in second.

"Tiger Walks," rather pale for opening frame, has been joined by "Big Red" at Uptown and Granada and rated passable in second. "Tom Jones" still is rousing in seventh Kimo round. Weather continues fitful, but is mostly pleasant.

Estimates for This Week

Brookside (Fox Midwest-Nat. Gen.) (800; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (3d wk). Wow $8,000. Last week, $9,000.

Capri (Durwood) (1,260; $1.85-$3)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (21st wk). Good $7,000 on extra week. Last week, $7,500.

Empire (Durwood) (866; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Boffo $12,000. Last week, $14,000.

Kimo (Dickinson) (504; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Groovy $7,000. Last week, $7,300.

Paramount (Blank-Up) (1,900; $1.25-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). Fair $6,000. Last week, $8,500.

Plaza (FMW) (1,630; $1.25-$1.50) —"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Warm $8,500. Last week, $10,000.

Rockhill (Art Theatre Guild) (821; $1-$1.25)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (2d wk). Mild $1,200. Last week, $1,800.

Roxy (Durwood) (664; 75-$1.50) —"Seven Days in May" (Par). Big $9,000. Last week, $11,000.

Uptown, Granada (FMW) (2,043; 1,219; $1.25-$1.50)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk) and "Big Red" (BV) (reissues). Passable $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

'Sunday' Sturdy $13,000, Frisco; 'Panther' 12G, 3

San Francisco, April 7.

"It's a Mad World" still is heavyweight at firstruns here this round, with smash takings in 15th week at Orpheum. However, newcomer "Sunday in New York" shapes sturdy on St. Francis opener. "Pink Panther," too, still is socko in third at Coronet. "Tom Jones" is smash in 16th stanza at United Artists. "Capt Newman" looms fine in third at Golden Gate.

Estimates for This Week

Alexandria (Un. Calif.) $3-$4)— "Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Big $10,000. Last week, $11,000.

Coronet (Un. Calif.) (1,250; $2-$2.50)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Big $12,000. Last week, $13,000.

El Rancho Drive-In (Affil.) (925 cars; $1.25 person)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Fine $7,000.

Embassy (Dibble-McLean) (1,400; $1.49)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Okay $9,000. Last week, "Seven Faces Dr. Iao" (MGM) (2d wk), $7,000.

Golden Gate (RKO) (2,850; $1.25-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Fine $9,000. Last week, $11,500.

Metro (Un. Calif.) (1,000; $2-$2.50)—"Silence" (Svenska). (7th wk). Good $4,000. Last week, $4,500.

Mission Drive-In (Syufy) (950 cars; $1.25 person)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI) (2d wk). Solid $5,800. Last week, $6,000.

Orpheum (Cinedome) (1,439; $1.50-$3.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (15th wk). Great $30,000 or over. Last week, $41,000.

Paramount (Par) (2,646; $1.50-$1.75)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d

(Continued on page 17)

'Becket' Mighty $21,000, Toronto; 'Jones' 23G, 15

Toronto, April 7.

Recently opened "Becket" and longrun "Tom Jones" are standout here this session. "Becket" shapes mighty in second round at Eglinton while "Jones" looks smash in 15th session at the Hyland. "Fall of the Roman Empire" looks to get $18,000 in current stanza at the University which is not exactly driftwood though rated disappointing by some. "Capt. Newman" looks socko in second session at Loew's.

Estimates for This Week

Carlton (Rank) (2,158; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Sock $14,000. Last week, $18,000.

Coronet, Danforth, Humber (Rank) (799; 1,328; 1,203; $1-$1.50) —"Brass Bottle" (U) (2d wk). Fair $18,000.

Last week, $28,000.

Eglinton (Rank) (1,042; $2-$3.50) —"Becket" (Par) (2d wk). Mighty $21,000. Last week, $23,000.

Fairlawn (Rank) (1,165; $1-$1.50) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (10th wk). Big $8,000. Last week, $9,000

Hollywood (FP) (1,080; $1-$1.50) —"Love With Proper Stranger" (Par) (8th wk). Handsome $8,500. Last week, $11,000.

Hyland (Rank) (1,357; $1-$1.50) —"Tom Jones" (IFD) 15th wk). Smash $23,000. Last week, $28,000.

Imperial, Yorkdale, Golden Mile (FP) (3,206; 760; 1.004; $1-$1.50)— "Victors" (Col) (3d wk). Good $15,000. Last week, $19,000.

Loew's (Loew) (1,639; $1-$1.50)— "Capt. Newman" (U) (2d wk). Smash $17,500. Last week, $21,000.

Tivoli (FP) (935; $1-$1.50) — "Cardinal" (Col) (16th wk). Nice $6,000. Last week, $8,000.

Towne (Taylor) (693; $1-$1.50)— "America, America" (WB) (3d wk). Fine $4,600. Last week, $5,800.

University (FP) (1,344; $2-$3.50) —"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (2d wk). Fair $18,000. Last week, $22,000.

Uptown (Loew) (1,245; $1-$1.50) —"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (2d wk). Shaky $8,300. Last week, $10,000.

Yorkdale Cinema (Taylor) (450; $1-$1.50) — "America, America" (WB) (3d wk). Zesty $4,000. Last week, $4,600.

'Irma' Fancy 8½G, Pitt; 'World' 13G

Pittsburgh, April 7.

With no big product available, Pitt deluxers are mainly getting by with sock holdovers and two sets of reissues. "Irma La Douce" and "Some Like It Hot" is rated fancy in first at Fulton. But "Oklahoma" and "Can-Can" shapes soft at Stanley and will come out tomorrow (Wed.).

"Tom Jones" continues its jet speed in eighth session at the Squirrel Hill. "Captain Newman" remains lofty in third at Gateway. "Brass Bottle" is mild in second at Penn. "America, America" shapes solid in sixth round at Shadyside. "It's a Mad World" is headed for a boff session in 16th week at Warner.

Estimates for This Week

Forum (Assoc.) (380; $1.75)— "Lilies of Field" (UA) (22d wk). Powerful $3,500. Last week, $3,800.

Fulton (Assoc.) (1,000; $1-$1.75) —"Irma La Douce" (UA) and "Some Like It Hot" (UA) (reissues). Neat $8,500. Last week, "Flight from Ashiya" (UA) (2d wk-5 days), $3,100.

Gateway (Assoc.) (1,900; $1-$1.75)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Lofty $9,000. Last week, $10,000.

Penn (UATC) (3,472; $1-$1.50)— "Brass Bottle" (U) (2d wk). Slow $7,000. Last week, $9,800.

Shadyside (MOTC) (623; $1.75)— "Amercia, America" (WB) (6th wk). Steady $3,500. Last week, $4,000.

Squirrel Hill (SW) (800; $1.75)— "Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Socko $14,000 or near. Last week, $15,000.

Stanley (SW) (3,700; $1-$1.75)— "Oklahoma" (20th) and "Can-Can" (20th) (reissues). Soft $7,000. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) (9 days), $6,500.

Warner (SW) (1,260; $1.50-$3)— "It's a Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Wham $13,000. Last week, $14,000.

L.A. Hotsy; 'Cardinal' Great $36,000, 'Party' Brisk 19G, 'Jones' Wow 26½G, 'Today' Sock 26G, 'Becket' Boff 24G

Los Angeles, April 7.

Firstruns here continue in the groove this week, spearked by a pair of new entries which are showing exceptional strength on multiple runs plus a great reissue and a batch of strong holdovers "The Cardinal," in first general release, is headed for a wow $36,000 or over in five situations. "Muscle Beach Party" looms bright $19,000 or close in three locations, also opener.

"South Pacific," back on reissue, is rated smash $16,000 in opening frame at the Egyptian. "Tom Jones" remains standout on extended run with a wow $26,500 for three houses.

"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" looks great $26,000 in third week at Fox-Wilshire. "Pink Panther," also in third, is boff $25,000 at Hollywood Par. "Seven Days in May" is sock in fifth at the Chinese. "Dr. Strangelove" is lush in seventh at the Beverly.

"Becket" looms sockeroo $24,000 in third at Warner Beverly. "It's a Mad World" shapes boffo $27,000 in 22d week.

Multiple spreads include "Cardinal," at $171,000 in 28 spots, and "Muscle Beach Party," $199,600 for 29 spots.

Estimates for This Week

Baldwin, Iris, Los Angeles, Village, Wiltern (State-FWC-Metropolitan-SW) (1,800; 825; 2,049; 1,535; 2,344; $1-$1.49)—"Cardinal" (Col) (1st general release) and "Great Armored Car Swindle" (Fal). Wow $36,000 or over. Last week, Baldwin, Iris, Los Angeles, "Tiger Walks" (BV), "Big Red" (BV) (reissue), $11,700. Village, "Charade" (U), "Wheeler Dealers" (MGM) (4th wk). $5,800. Wiltern with Hollywood, Warren's, "Sunday in N. Y." (MGM), "Tiara Tahiti" (Indie), $19,500.

Beverly (State) (1,150; $1.49-

(Continued on page 17)

Key City Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $2,880,500
(Based on 22 cities and 264 theatres).
Last Year $3,013,300
(Based on 22 cities and 272 theatres, chiefly first runs including N. Y.)

'Jacket' Lush 15G, Cleve.; 'Paris' 10G

Cleveland, April 7.

Only three important newcomers here this week, with "Straitjacket" best with a brisk session at the Allen. "Paris When It Sizzles" shapes slow on opener at State. "The Silence" is nice in first at Colony Art. "Dr. Strangelove" looms big daydating two smaller houses in sixth sessions.

"Capt. Newman" looks okay in third at the Hipp. "Tom Jones" shapes big in seventh at the Ohio. "It's a Mad World" is socko in 16th Palace stanza.

Estimates for This Week

Allen (Stanley-Warner) (2,866; $1.25-$1.50)—"Strait-jacket" (WB). Brisk $15,000. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk), $7,500.

Colony Art (Stanley-Warner) (1,354; $1.50) —"Silence" (Janus). Nice $4,800. Last week, "Easy Life" (Embassy) (3d wk), $2,400.

Continental Art (Art Theatre Guild) (925; $1.50)—"Devil and 10 Commandments" (Indie). Weak $1,200. Last week, "I Love, You Love" (Royal), $2,200.

Heights Art (Art Theatre Guild) (925; $1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Big $4,700. Last week, $5,600.

Hippodrome (Hipp Bldg. Co.) (3,500; $1.25-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Okay $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

Ohio (Loew) (1,020; $1.25-$1.85) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Big $13,000. Last week, $13,300.

Palace (F&A Theatres) (1,265; $1.50-$3)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Solid $12,000. Last week, $13,000.

State (Loew) (3,450; $1.65) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Paramount). Slow $10,000. Last week, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (2d wk), $9,500.

Westwood Art (Art Theatre Guild) (955; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Hotsy $3,500 Last week, $4,200.

'Doctor' Lively 15G, Buff.; 'Tiger' 9G, 2d

Buffalo, April 7.

Firstrun biz is perking this round. "Dr. Strangelove" shapes socko on opener at the Center. "It's a Mad World" looms smash in second at the Teck. "Capt. Newman" is rated solid in third at Granada. "Tiger Walks" looks fast in second at Paramount.

Estimates for This Week

Buffalo (Loew) (3,500; $1-$1.49) —"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) and "Battle of World" (MGM) (2d wk). Nice $8,000. Last week, $14,500.

Center (AB-PT) (2,500; $1-$1.49) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col). Socko $15,000. Last week, "Global Affair" (MGM), $5,500.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,000; $1-$1.49)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk). Fine $9,000 or less. Last week, $7,000.

Teck (Loew) (1,200; $1.25-$2.50) —"It's Mad World" (UA) (2d wk). Smash $13,000. Last week, $11,000.

Cinema (Martina) (450; $1-$1.49) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Nice $5,000. Last week, $5,300.

Amherst (Dipson) (1,000; $1-$1.49)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Strong $7,000. Last week, $6,400.

Granada (Schine) (1,000; $1-$1.49) —"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Solid $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

'Paris' Sock $6,000 In Mpls; 'Jones' Sockeroo 9G, 'West' Loud 10G

Minneapolis, April 7.

The Loop had only two newcomers this session, with "Paris When It Sizzles," best with sock week at Lyric. Among the numerous holdovers, roadshow pix, "How West Was Won" and "Cleopatra," have gone into their 57th and 41st weeks, respectively, former still being smash at the Cooper.

Judging by the way it's performing "Tom Jones," now in its seventh week at World, should be around for many weeks more. "Kissin' Cousins" and "Capt. Newman" still are frisk in third rounds.

Estimates for This Week

Academy (Mann) (1,050; $1.25-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) (3d wk). Sad $2,000 in three days.

Avalon (Frank) (900; $1)—"Forbidden Sands" (Indie) and "I'm All Right, Jack" (Col) (subrun). Moderate $1,100.

Century (Par) (1,300; $1.50-$3.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Steady $4,500. Last week, $4,000.

Cooper (CF) (905; $1.25-$2.50)— "How West Was Won" (MGM) (57th wk). Wow $10,000. Last week, $13,500.

Gopher (Berger) (1,000; $1-$1.25) — "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) (3d wk). Hotsy $5,000. Last week, $7,000.

Lyric (Par) (1,000; $1-$1.25)— "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Fast $8,000. Last week. "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk), $4,000.

Mann (Mann) (1,000; $1.25-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Big $7,000 or over. Last week, $8,500.

Park (Mann) (1,000; $1.50)— "Seven Days in May" (Par) (8th wk). Nice $4,500. Last week, $5,000.

State (Par) (2,200; $1.25-$1.50) —"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Brisk $7,500. Last week, $6,000.

Suburban World (Mann) (800; $1.25)—"Easy Life" (Embassy) (2d wk). Mild $1,500. Last week, $2,000.

World (Mann) (400; $1.25-$1.50) —"Tom Jones" (Lopert) (7th wk). Great $9,000. Last week, $11,200.

Joseph Fryd

Presents

an ADELPHIA COMP. CINEMATOGRAFICA Production

LOVE in 4 DIMENSIONS

Directors:

MASSIMO MIDA, GIANNI PUCCINI
And MINO GUERRINI

Cast:

SYLVA KOSCINA, FRANCA RAME, LANA VON MARTENS, MICHELE MERCIER, CARLO GUIFFE, CARLO BAGNO, PHILIPPE LEROY, FABRIZIO CAPPUCCI, GASTONE MOSCHIN, FRANCA POLESELLO, ALBERTO LIONELLO

WORLDWIDE SALES
(Except Italy, Switzerland and Great Britain):

Joseph Fryd

Via Paisiello, 12, Rome, Italy
Tel.: 868-140 or 864-148
CABLE ADDRESS: ALLIED ROME

'Paris' Torrid $15,000, Det.; 'Panther' Same; 'World' Wow 41G, 'Doctor' 20G

Detroit, April 7.

Great biz continues to be rule among the firstruns here this week. Newcomer to the Palms is "Horror of Party Beach," and it looks good. "It's a Mad World" roars to a resounding total in ninth week at Music Hall. "Tom Jones" stays wham in ninth session at Trans-Lux Krim.

"Dr. Strangelove" sizzles in fourth at Madison. "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" is rated brisk in second week at the Fox. "Paris When It Sizzles" stays torrid in second at the Michigan. "Pink Panther" is big in second at the Adams.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Downtown Fox Corp.) (5,041; $1.25-$1.49)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) and "Centurion and Gladiator" (Indie) (2d wk). Bright $17,000. Last week, $29,500.

Michigan (United Detroit) (4,926; $1.25-$1.49)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Hotsy $15,000. Last week, $18,000.

Palms (UD) (2,995; $1.25-$1.49)—"Horror of Party Beach" (20th) and "Curse of Living Corpse" (20th). Good $15,000. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Cavalry Command" (AA) (2d wk), $13,000.

Madison (UD) (1,408; $1.25-$1.49)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (4th wk). Big $20,000. Last week, $23,000.

Grand Circus (UD) (1,400; $1.25-$1.49)—"Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) (2d wk). Fine $10,000. Last week, $14,000.

Adams (Community) (1,450; $1.23-$1.50)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (2d wk). Big $15,000. Last week, $14,000.

United Artists (UA) (1,667; $1.50-$2.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Oke $7,500. Last week, $7,300.

Music Hall (Beacon Enterprises) (1,213; $1.80-$3) — "It's a Mad World" (UA) (9th wk). Mighty $41,000. Last week, $32,000.

Mercury (Suburban Detroit) (1,468; $1-$1.80) — "Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Trim $14,000. Last week, $14,600.

Trans-Lux Krim (Trans-Lux) (980; $1.25-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Wham $30,000. Last week, $31,000.

LOS ANGELES

(Continued from page 15)

$2.40)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Loud $16,800. Last week, $18,100.

Chinese (FWC) (1,408; $1.49-$2.40)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (5th wk). Hotsy $19,500. Last week, $20,000.

Cinerama (Pac) (915; $1.49-$3.50)—"Mad World" (UA) (22d wk). Boffo $27,000. Last week, $24,500.

Crest (State) (750; $1.25)—"Mr Limpet (WB) and "Legend of Lobo" (BV) (reissue) (3d wk). Neat $2,800. Last week, $3,000.

Egyptian (UATC) (1,392; $1.55)—"South Pacific" (20th) (reissue). Smash $16,000. Last week, "Cardinal" (Col) (15th wk-5 days), $11,900.

El Rey (FWC) (856; $1.25-$1.49)—"Charade" (U) (M.O.) and "Man in Middle" (20th). Slow $3,000. Last week, "America, America" ((WB), "Mary, Mary" (WB) (reissue) (5th wk), $3,000.

Fine Arts (FWC) (631; $1.50-$2)—"The Silence" (Janus) (9th wk). Sturdy $3,000. Last week, $4,200.

Fox Wilshire (FWC) (1,990; $2-$2.40)—"Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" (Emb) (3d wk). Smash $26,000 or near. Last week, $27,000.

Hillstreet (Metropolitan) 2,752; $1-$1.25)—"Flight from Ashiya" (UA) and "House of Damned" (20th) (2d wk). Slender $4,000. Last week, with Four Star, Loyola, $12,600.

Hollywood (FWC) (856; $1.25-$1.49)—"Sunday in N. Y." (MGM) (2d wk) and "Global Affair" (MGM) (reissue). Trim $6,000.

Hollywood Paramount (State) (1,468; $2-$2.40)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Torrid $26,000 or near. Last week, $25,000.

Lido (FWC) (876; $1.50-$2)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (2d wk). Fair $3,000. Last week, $4,000.

Loyola, Pix, Warren's (FWC-Prin-Metropolitan) (1,298; 756; 1,757; $1-$1.49)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI) and "Summer Holiday" (AI). Bright $18,000 or better. Last week, Pix, "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM), "Four for Texas" (WB) (reissue) (2d wk), $3,400.

Orpheum, Picfair, Vogue (Metropolitan-State-FWC) (2,213; 750; 810; $1.25-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (19th wk) Orpheum, 15th, Picfair, Vogue). Wow $26,500. Last week, $29,300.

Pantages (RKO) (1,512; $2.50-$5.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk). Modest $19,000. Last week, $23,100.

Warner Beverly (SW) (1,316; $1.65-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (3d wk). Fine $24,000. Last week, $22,000.

Warner Hollywood (SW) (1,291; $1.25-$2.80) — "How West Was Won" (MGM) (59th wk). Rich $19,500. Last week, $21,400.

BROADWAY

(Continued from page 13)

ing" (Cont) (3d wk-8 days), slim $5,000.

Festival (Embassy) (546; $2-$2.50)—"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (4th wk). Third session ended Monday (6) was socko $27,500 after $28,000, record figure for second week here. Daydating with Tower East.

Fifth Ave. Cinema (Rugoff Th.) (250; $1.25-$2)—"Open Door and See All the People" (Indie) (2d wk). First round completed yesterday (Tues.) was thin $2,000 or less. Not expected to stay here long.

Fine Arts (Davis) (468; $1.80-$2)—"La Bonne Soupe" (20th) (4th wk). Third frame finished Saturday (4) was great $11,000 after $13,000 for second.

Guild (Guild) (450; $1-$1.75)—"Mistress for Summer" (Indie) (2d wk). This round winding tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for big $10,000 or near after $15,000 for opener. Fact that the Music Hall has been getting long lines near this theatre is not hurting its trade.

Little Carnegie (Landau) (472; $1.25-$2)—"The Servant" (Landau) (4th wk). The third round finished Sunday (5) was mighty $21,000, to top last week's $19,300, and biggest of run here. Opener was $20,400, amazing in view of season.

Murray Hill (Rugoff Th.) (565; $1.50-$2) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (4th wk). Third week ended yesterday (Tues.) was fair $3,800 after $3,500 for second.

Paris (Pathe Cinema) (568; $1.50-$2)—"Of Wayward Love" (Pathe) (3d wk). Second round ended Sunday (5) was slow $2,600. Likely won't be around much longer.

Plaza (Lopert) (525; $1.50-$2)—"Great Dictator" (Indie) (reissue) (6th wk). This session ending tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for smash $13,000 or near after $19,000 for fifth.

Sutton (Rugoff Th.) (561; $1.50-$2)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (8th wk). Seventh session finished yesterday (Tues.) was sockeroo $15,900 after $14,500 for sixth. Daydating with Criterion.

34th Street East (Reade) (456; $1.50-$2) — "Best Man" (UA). Opened Monday (6), daydating with Coronet. Last week, subsequent-run.

Toho Cinema (Toho) (299; $1.50-$2) — "Challenge to Live" (Toho). Opened yesterday (Tues.). In ahead, "Stray Dog" (Toho) (5th wk-5 days), fair $3,900 after $5,400 for fourth full week.

Tower East (Loew) (588; $1.50-$2) — "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (4th wk). Third frame finished Monday (6) was great $22,000 after $23,000 for second. Daydating with the Festival.

Trans-Lux East (T-L) (600; $1.25-$2)—"The Silence" (Janus) (9th wk). Ninth session completed Sunday (5) was great $9,300 after $7,500 for eighth. Daydating with Rialto.

Trans-Lux 52d St. (T-L) (540; $1.25-$2)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Opens today. Last week, "The Prize" (MGM) (subrun), held with nice $8,000 or near after $9,000 for second.

Trans-Lux 85th St. (T-L) (550; $1.25-$2) — "To Bed Or Not To Bed" (Cont) (subrun). Opens today (Wed.). In ahead, "Merlin Jones" (BV) (2d wk), was good $6,200.

World (Perfecto) (390; 90-$1.50)—"Psychomania" (Vic) (8th wk). Current session ending tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like big $8,000 after $10,800 for seventh.

SAN FRANCISCO

(Continued from page 15)

wk). Slow $8,000. Last week, $10,500.

Presidio (Art Theatre Guild) (750; $1.25-$1.50)—"My Life to Live" (Union). Good $4,200. Last week, "To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont), $1,800 in fifth.

St. Francis (Par) (1,400; $2)—"Sunday in New York" (MGM). Sturdy $13,000 or near. Last week, Global Affair" (MGM) (2d wk), $5,500.

Stage Door (A-R) (444; $1.75-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Big $7,000. Last week, $14,500.

United Artists (No. Coast) (1,148; $2-$2.40)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (16th wk). Smash $12,000. Last week, $13,500.

Vogue (S. F. Th.) (365; $2-$2.25)—"The "Easy Life" (Emb) (4th wk). Stout $3,000. Last week, $3,500.

Warfield (FWC) (2,656; $1.25-$1.50)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI) (2d wk. Good $8,000. Last week, $18,000.

'Empire' Big 14G, Denver; 'Tiger' 6G

Denver, April 7.

Biz continues very steady here this round as far as the holdovers are concerned. There is only mild interest shown in the new screen offerings. Two heavy snowstorms also have hurt. "Fall of Roman Empire" is doing big on hard-ticket but seems to be not quite up to hopes.

"Paris When It Sizzles" shapes good at RKO International 70 while "Tom Jones" shapes lofty in seventh at two small-seaters. "Capt. Newman" looms big in third at the Centre. "A Tiger Walks" is rated okay in third at the Denver.

Estimates for This Week

Aladdin (Fox) 900; $1.45)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Good $6,200. Last week, $8,000.

Centre (Fox) (1,270; $1.25-$1.45)—"Capt. Newman" (U) (3d wk). Big $8,000. Last week, $8,500.

Cooper (Cooper) (814; $1.65-$2.50)—"How West Was Won" (MGM) (55th wk). Sock $11,000. Last week, $14,200.

Denham (Indie) (800; $1.25-$2.50)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par). Big $14,000 or near. Last week, "Global Affair" (MGM), $4,000.

Denver (Fox) (2,432; $1.25)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) (3d wk). Okay $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

Esquire (Fox) (600; $1.25)—"To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (2d wk). Fair $1,700. Last week, $2,500.

RKO International 70 (RKO) (1,550; $1-$1.50)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Good $7,500. Last week, $10,000.

Towne (Indie) (600; $1.25-$1.45)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Tall $5,500. Last week, $6,000.

Crest (Wolfberg) (700; $1.25-$1.45)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Big $6,000. Last week, $6,500.

Vogue (Art Theatre Guild) (450; $1.25)—"Devil and 10 Commandments" (Indie). Fair $1,100. Last week, "Day and Hour" (Indie), $1,000.

'Tamahine' Dull 4½G, Prov.; 'Jones' $11,500

Providence, April 7.

Elmwood's 9th round of "Tom Jones" is still smash topper here. Strand's "Cardinal" is big fifth. Third of "Captain Newman" still looms nice at Albee. State is dull with "Tamahine" in first Majestic's "America America" is disappointing on opener.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (2,200; 90-$1.25)—"Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (3d wk). Nice $5,000 after hitting $6,000 in second.

Elmwood (Snider) (2,200; $1-$1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Socko $11,500. Eighth was $10,000.

Majestic (SW) (2,200; 90-$1.25)—"America America" (WB). Disappointingly slow at $3,500. Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "Ballad of Gunfighter" (Indie), $6,000.

State (Loew) (3,200; 90-$1.25)—"Tamahine" (MGM). Mild $4,500. Last week, "South Pacific" (reissue), $7,000 in 9 days.

Strand (National Realty) (2,200; $1.25-$1.75)—"Cardinal" (Col) (5th wk). Lofty $5,500. Fourth was $7,000.

Cincy Splurges; 'Merlin' Big, $10,000, 'Lao' Lusty 9G, 'Jones' Boffola 12G

Cincinnati, April 7.

An Eastertide splurge carryover bodes well for firstruns here this stanza. However, "Man In Middle," the only new downtown entrant, looks only okay at Albee. "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" rates socko in second round at Palace. Longrunning "It's a Mad World" at Capitol and "Tom Jones" at the smaller Times continue sockeroo.

"Merlin Jones" bids hotsy in holdover stanza at Keith's. "Cleopatra" is perking some next-to-last week at Grand. "Silence" remains potent in second sessions at Esquire and Hyde Park arters. Reissued "Last Year at Marienbad" rates fairish at Plaza.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (3,100; $1.25-$1.50)—"Man In Middle" (20th). Okay $8,000 or close. Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB), $7,500.

Capitol (SW-Cinerama) (1,329; $1.25-$2.75)—"Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Sock $13,000. Last week, $14,000.

Esquire (Cin-T-Co) (500; $1.25)—"The Silence" (Indie) (2d wk). Swell $2,000 after $2,600 opener. Daydating with Hyde Park.

Grand (RKO) (1,396; $1.80-$3)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Okay $4,500 in next-to-closing round. Last week, $4,200.

Guild (Kilgore) (272; $1.25)—"Aliki-My Love" (Indie). So-so $1,000. Last week, "Room At Top" (Cont) and "Saturday Night, Sunday Morning" (Cont) (reissues), $1,200.

Hyde Park (Cin-T-Co) (700; $1.25)—"Silence" (Indie) (2d wk). Okay $1,500. Last week, $1,800.

Keith's (Cin-T-Co) (1,500; $1.25-$1.50) — "Merlin Jones" (BV) (2d wk). Socko $10,000 or near. Last week, $14,000.

Palace (RKO) (2,600; $1.25-$1.50)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (2d wk). Solid $9,000 or near. Last week, zoomed to $15,500, on juve rush during Easter holidays.

Plaza (Fine Arts) (600; $1.25)—"Last Year at Marienbad" (Indie) (reissue). Fair $1,200. Last week, "Story Joseph and Brethern" (Indie), $1,000.

Times (Mid-States) (660; $1.25-$1.50)——"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Boffola $12,000 or close. Last week, $13,500.

Twin Drive-In (Cin-T-Co) (West side only. 800 cars; $1)—"What's Up Front" (AI) and "Strange Creature" (AI). Fair $4,500. Last week, "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) and "At War With Army" (Indie) (reisssue), $6,500.

Valley (Cin-T-Co) (1,275; $1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Fairish $5,000. Last week, $7,500.

CHICAGO

(Continued from page 13)

—"Silence" (Janus) (3d wk). Smart $7,900. Last week, $9,000.

McVickers (Beacon) (1,100; $2.20-$3.80) — "It's Mad World" (UA) (20th wk). Smash $25,500. Last week, $26,000.

Monroe (Jovan) (1,000; 65-90)—"7 Capital Sins" (Indie) (reissue) and "Bluebeard" (Indie). Fine $5,000. Last week, "Shameless Women" (Indie) and "Hot Money Girl" (Indie), $5,100.

Oriental (Indie) (3,400; 90-$1.80)—"Flight From Ashiya" (UA) (3d wk). Light $12,000. Last week, $14,000.

Roosevelt (B&K) (1,400; 90-$1.80)—"A Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Arizona Sheepdog" (BV) (2d wk). Busy $14,000. Last week, $18,000.

State-Lake (B&K) (2,400; 90-$1.80)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (3d wk). Excellent $19,000 or close. Last week, $20,000.

Surf (H&E Balaban) (664; $1.50-$1.80)—"And Suddenly It's Murder" (Cont). Brisk $3,500. Last week, "Wuthering Heights" (Cont) (reissue) (2d wk), $3,600.

Todd (Todd) (1,089; 90-$1.80)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (19th wk). Big $21,000. Last week, $22,000.

Town (Teitel) (640; $1.25-$1.80)—"Beat The Devil" (Indie) (reissue). Sparkling $4,000. Last week, "Sanjuro" (Indie), $3,500.

United Artists (B&K) (1,700; 90-$1.80)—"Seven Days In May" (Par) (6th wk). Torrid $17,000. Last week, $15,000.

Woods (Essaness) (1,200; 90-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM). Solid $18,000. Last week, "Cardinal" (Col) (13th wk), $12,000.

World (Teitel) (608; 90-$1.80)—"The Doll" (Indie). Sock $7,000. Last week, "Passionate Demons" (Indie) and "Lowest Crime" (Indie) (reissues) (2d wk), $3,000.

'Silence' Loud $11,000, Philly; 'Newman' Smart 24G, 'Night' Brisk 9G

Philadelphia, April 7.

Most situations currently are doing fine. "The Silence" is booming on opener at the Lane while "Global Affair," paired with "Mail Order Bride," shapes slim in first at Stanton. "Capt. Newman" is rated big on opener at the Fox.

"Night Must Fall" shapes brisk on initial stanza at Arcadia. "Flight From Ashiya" looms okay for opener at Goldman.

Estimates for This Week

Arcadia (S&S) (623; $1.20-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM). Brisk $9,000. Last week, "Sunday in New York" (MGM) (6th wk), $7,000.

Boyd (SW) (1,536; $2-$2.75)—"Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Great $16,000. Last week, $18,000.

Bryn Mawr (Goldman) (630; $1.49)—"America, America" (WB) (4th wk). Neat at $4,100. Last week, $4,800.

Fox (Milgram) (2,400; 95-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U). Big $24,000. Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par) (4th wk), $12,000.

Goldman (Goldman) (1,000; 95-$1.80)—"Flight from Ashiya" (UA). Okay $7,000. Last week, "One Man's Way" (UA), $6,000.

Lane (SW) (1,000; $1.49)—"Silence" (Janus). Loud $11,000 or near. Last week, "To Bed Or Not to Bed" (Cont) (4th wk), $2,700.

Midtown (Goldman) (1,200; 95-$2.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Wow $25,000. Last week, $29,000.

Randolph (Goldman) (2,200; 95-$1.80)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Nice $10,000. Last week, $16,000.

Stanley (SW) (1,450; $1.49-$2.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (41st wk). Fast $10,000. Last week, $11,500.

Stanton (SW) (1,483; 95-$1.80)—"Global Affair" (MGM) and "Mail Order Bride" (MGM). Slim $7,500. Last week, "Tiger Walks", (BV) (2d wk), $7,500.

Trans-Lux (T-L) (500; 95-$2)—"Charade" (U) (15th wk). Nice $5,200. Last week, $6,500.

World (Rugoff) (499; 95-$1.80)—"America, America" (WB) (4th wk). Trim $3,800. Last week, $4,800.

Yorktown (SW) (1,000; $1.49)—"My Name Is Ivan" (Indie) (2d wk). Sorry $2,000. Last week, $2,800.

Probing the Psychic

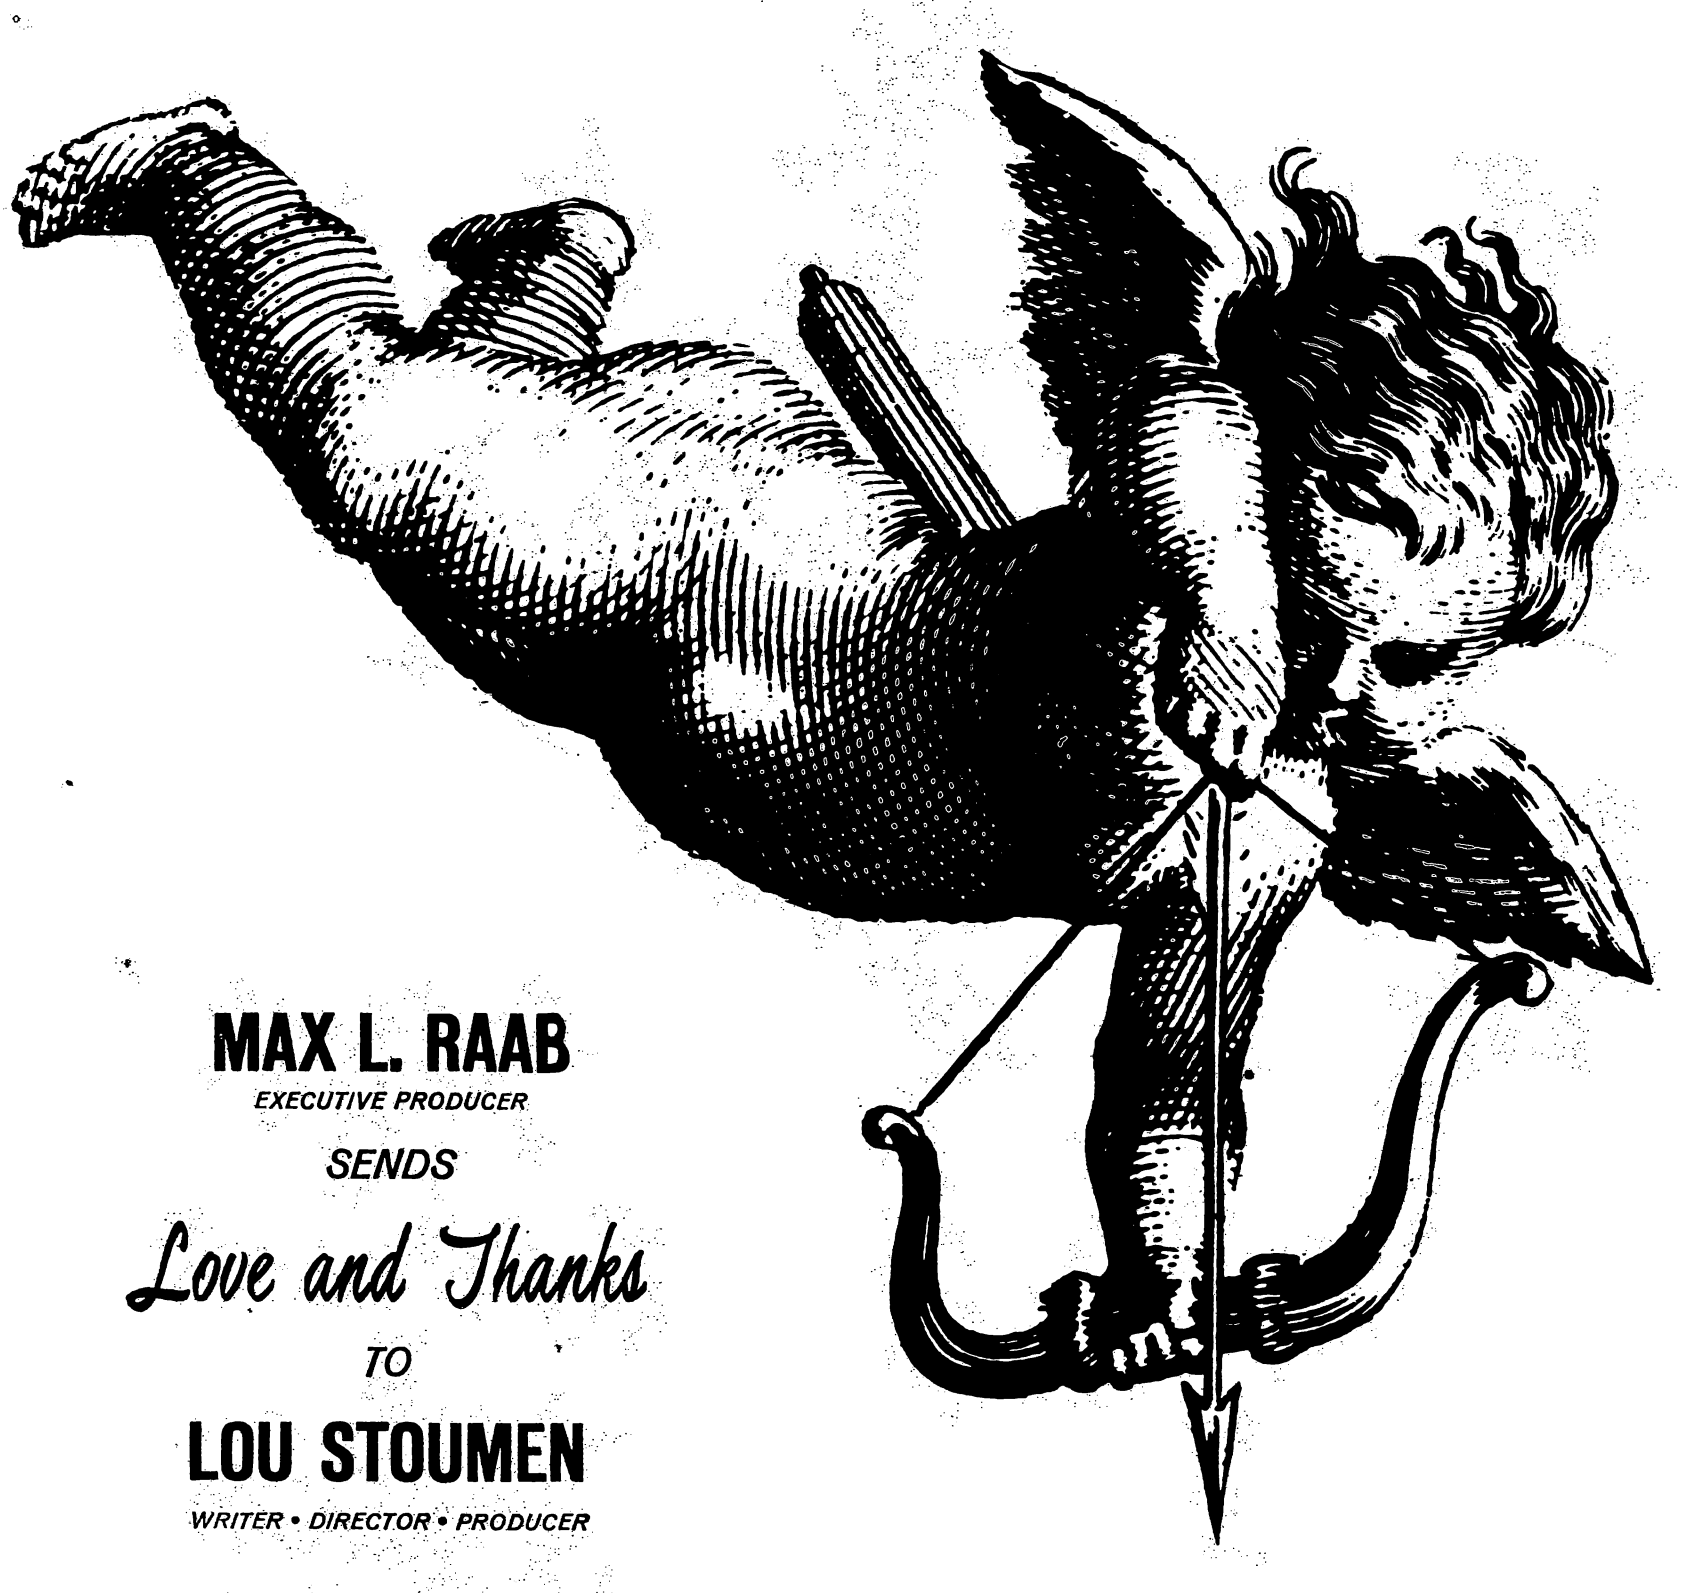
Coast ghosts beware! Hans Holzer, writer-lecturer who specializes in something called parapsychology, will fly (release did not say how) to Hollywood April 16 to address the American Society for Psychic Research at the Hollywood Roosevelt on April 17. The author of "Ghost Hunter" returns east (transmutation or American Airlines?) for May 1 lecture at Brogden Hall, Wilmington, N.C.

Holzer, who has syndicated radio show, "Sixth Sense," on WBIC, Bayshore, (L.I.) station, expects to do a lecture series in England in August. He's a member of the British College for Psychic Science.

WASHINGTON

(Continued from page 15)

wk). Good $5,500. Last week, $5,800.



Plaza (TL) (278; $1.25-$1.80)—"Lorna" (Indie) (2d wk). Hep $7,000 after initialing at $7,300.

Town (King) (800; $1.25-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Boffo $13,000 after initialing at $15,000.

Trans-Lux (TL) (598; $1.49-$2)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (8th wk). Hotsy $11,500 or over. Last week, $12,000.

Uptown (SW) (1,300 $1.65-$2.75)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (7th wk). Smash $20,000. Last week, $19,000.

Warner (SW) (1,250; $1.50-$2.75) "Fall of Roman Empire" (Par). Big $18,000 or close. Last week, "Cleopatra" (20th) (13th), $9,000.

MAX L. RAAB
EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

SENDS

Love and Thanks

TO

LOU STOUMEN
WRITER • DIRECTOR • PRODUCER

ANTHONY NEWLEY
STAR

Jack Kaufman, Carlos Clarens, Ezra Laderman, Whistler's Mother and the entire crew and cast of characters upon completion of an unprecedented motion picture . . .

IMAGE OF LOVE

A new kind of motion picture about Love... from ancient times 'til today.

a film from Raab-Stoumen Productions, Inc., 10 East 53rd Street, New York City. CO 5-2945

Second-Week and Second-Wind For 'Cardinal' in Multi-City Showcase

Latest selected city breaks for Otto Preminger's "The Cardinal," those in L.A. and Chicago, are showing same buildup pattern established in 10 previous cities where the Columbia release has started city-break runs.

First three days (last Fri.-Sat.-Sun.) of the Chicago run grossed $138,000 in 21 theatres (considerably fewer houses than usual on city break and including no drive-ins). This is after 14 weeks at the Woods.

In L.A., where pic had a 14½ week hardticket run at the Egyptian, "The Cardinal" racked up $164,000 for same three days in 18 hardtops and nine drive-ins. Success of runs is credited by Columbia v.p.-general salesmanager Rube Jackter to the "selected zoning" policy being used, which means houses are bidding and result is higher rentals.

In Philadelphia, where pic played first run for more than three months before a selected city break of 15 theatres grossed $152,305 in its first week, the same houses continued in their second week for total gross of $135,000. All but one house will hold third week although original booking was for two.

In New York, the pattern continued when, after a 16-week reserved-seat run at the DeMille Theatre, the picture played a 26-theatre "Cardinal Showcase Presentation" for a first-week gross of $367,124 and followed up with $328,966 for first five days of its second week. Columbia reported the 12-day total of $696,000 is highest ever recorded by a multi-run Columbia release in the N.Y. area.

Other cities using the pattern include Detroit, where 21 hardtops and 13 drive-ins grossed $154,258 in first week; Cleveland, where 23 houses did $102,000 in first week, almost all holding over; Minneapolis-St. Paul, with 30 theatres grossing $66,625 in first week; and Pittsburgh's 26 selected houses totaling $60,014 in first week.

In San Francisco, "The Cardinal" did $37,355 in five theatres; in Milwaukee, $28,675 in 11 houses.

MORE OF EVERYTHING DEMANDED BY EXTRAS

Hollywood, April 7.

Wage hikes, vidpix residuals, improved health and welfare plans to include dependents, and holiday and vacation pay are among demands asked by the Screen Extras Guild in negotiating proposals made to the Assn. of Motion Picture and TV Producers and other signatories of the guild's basic agreement last night.

Present SEG pact, in effect since July 1, 1960, expires June 30 this year.

SEG also seeks national recognition of the guild as the exclusive bargaining agent for all work within its jurisdiction (exclusive of N.Y. where Screen Actors Guild reps extras); and extension of the Hollywood extra zone from 300 miles in radius to 900 miles.

Examples of the wage hikes are: for general extra, from $25.47 a day at present to $30; standins, from $23.59 to $30, with the additional requirement that a standin for more than one actor on the same day get an additional $25; dress extras and straight riding, from $33.54 to $37.

Guild proposes that" all registered extra players employed on a daily basis shall receive the same allowances for holiday pay and vacation pay as paid to other daily employees in the motion picture industry, that is 2.449% for holiday pay and 4% for vacation pay."

New York Soundtrack

Continued from page 10

promotions in Gotham for "Paris When It Sizzles" on stations WHN, WINS and WABC, leading to the pic's April 8 "showcase" opening . . . UA's "Best Man" will have a charity preem April 21 at the Varsity Theatre, Palo Alto, Calif., for the benefit of the charitable community program of the local unit of the Junior League.

Barry Shear, tv director, signed by Columbia to direct (as first in multi-pic deal over next five years) "A Cook for Mr. General." Feature is initial project of Max E. Youngstein's indie company for Columbia release . . . Society of Cinematologists, at annual meet in March at Iowa, Iowa City, elected Erik Barnouw, Columbia U. professor, prez of organization. Also named were Mrs. Eileen Bowser, MMA Film Library, treasurer; John Kuiper, Iowa State, secretary; Robert Steele, Boston U., councilman. Elected members were film critics Hollis Alpert, Andrew Sarris, Richard D. MacCann and Dwight Macdonald.

Casino Films have set N.Y. first booking of Observer Films' 20-min. color film "Cool Wind" at the Fifth Ave. Cinema. David Sawyer directed short, filmed on N.Y. waterfront and Long Island Sound . . . Columbia Pictures exec v.p. Leo Jaffe to Washington Friday (2) as first stop on western trip for series of top-level confabs at studio.

Ernest Laszlo, set to photograph Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools". He also shot "It's A Mad (4) World" and "Judgment at Nurenberg" . . . William E. Yurasko appointed film buyer for Stanley Warner's New York-New Jersey zone. He replaces John McKenna, transferred to N.Y. home office as asst. to Nat Fellman.

"Lawrence of Arabia," opening in Rio de Janeiro during recent revolution, did 101% biz at Capitolio Theatre during first four days. Someone suggested SRO due to greater safety indoors . . . Columbia's "Long Ships" second week on Rank Circuit's London houses brought gross for run to $288,400.

Joyce Jameson serving as hostess for American International Tv's exhibit at TV Film Exhibit convention in Chi this week. She'll also mention her pix for boss company AIP . . . Ed Heiber, AIP eastern div manager, vacationing in Nassau this week.

Jocelyn Brando into Elliott Kastner's "Bus Riley's Back In Town." She'll play mother of male lead Michael Parks in Universal release . . . Universal press dept. receptionist Sandy Slavik set for film debut in "McHale's Navy." Requirements? She looks like Sophia Loren!

Howard Minsky taking a looksee in London of Samuel Bronston's "Circus World," which will get Cinerama release here in June. The Cinerama veepee will also check plans for first portable tent theatre there . . . Howard St. John into "Strange Bedfellows," Panama & Frank production for Universal release. Richard B. Graff, asst. to Universal general sales manager, on special assignment to MCA-TV to handle sales for closed-circuit telecast of "500" Mile Race.

Robert Rossen's "The Hustler" begins a return engagement at the Murray Hill Theatre, N.Y., this Friday (10) . . . Johnny Montanez, in the Interboro Theatres accounting department, also an off-Broadway thesp . . . Sandy Howard, prez of the pix-tv producing company bearing his name, on the Coast setting distrib plans for his "Diary of a Bachelor" . . . Audubon Films will release "Dictionary of Sex" this month . . . the New Yorker Theatre began presentation of a cycle of 28 Humphrey Bogart pix yesterday (Tues.) . . . Metro has made a special five-minute fashion reel for tv pegged to Debbie Reynolds' costuming in "Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Because he believes that the historic pattern of feature releases in the N.Y. Exchange territory as well as the current "showcase" pattern could be improved, N.Y. film man Benjamin D. Gladstone has devised his own distribution plan which he wants to discuss with distrib and exhib reps. Divided into first, second and third engagements, system bypasses road show attractions and exploitation features but divides rest of releases into three categories—important, quality and lesser, with suggestions for releasing terms to three engagements.

B.A. Film Fest

Continued from page 3

experience something of the real Argentine scene and to get to know the nation's most important city. The Argentine film people, however, remain disgruntled. The annual trek to the beach 300 miles to the southeast, was always an excuse to take a vacation and maybe get away from or with the wife. B.A. is home to them and thus the chances to kick up heels have been substantially reduced.

The shift, however, makes much sense financially. Budget for this year's fest is estimated at approximately $135,000, against about $200,000 for the Mar Del Plata affairs. Of the overall budget, almost half goes for the transportation to and from Argentina of the visiting delegations. However, since almost all travel is via the state-owned Aerolineas Argentinas, the government really is just taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another. Same holds true for the room and board, with all delegations billeted in the Alvear Palace Hotel, which also reportedly is state-owned. In addition, by having the fest in B.A., the government no longer has to pick up the travel and room tabs for local journalists.

While it's still too early to tell, it seems likely that the obvious efforts which the Yanks have put into their participation this year may have a beneficial effect on the crucial talks now going on for a new U. S.-Argentine film agreement. The popularity of the Yank personalities at the fest reflects the tremendous popularity of Yank films in this market. Thus, any moves to curb the Yanks access to the Argentine market, or which would result in fewer Yank pix available, would be extremely unpopular with the public as well as exhibitors.

The film pact negotiations, now being carried on by the MPEA's Corkery, are complicated by the fact that the government is now working on an overall revision of the 1957 film law, which governs all aspects of the film industry here. Conceivably, terms of a new film pact might be outmoded in a couple of months time by changes in the film law. Thus there is a chance the Corkery may get only a short-term pact, as opposed to the two-year pact, which set yearly number of import licenses etc., and which expired March 31 last. Still unresolved—and of particular importance to the Yanks—is the status of two decrees which (1) require Yanks to distribute one Argentine film for each six U. S. pix they handle, and (2) call for all prints of imported pix to be made locally. As of April 1, both decrees went into effect (after being held in suspension for a number of months), though there is no sign yet they will be enforced.

'Jones' Here, Too

So far, the only film to be shown to get unequivocable praise has been Tony Richardson's "Tom Jones," an out-of-comp entry which opened the fest Wednesday (1) night. It set a high standard which will be hard for any of the 19 competing films to match. It also sponsored one of the fest's more amusing anecdotes, which may or may not be apocryphal; the translator who was assigned to Mme. Illea, wife of the Argentine president, was heard to say, in the course of the now-famous "Tom Jones" eating scene, "Now here the director is dramatizing the crude table manners of the 18th Century English.")

Another unquestioned hit is the year-old Teatro San Martin, where the fest pictures are being unspooled. The ultra-modern building actually houses two theatres which are usually devoted to legit presentations. The total of 1,627 seats (1,071 seats in the larger auditorium and 556 in the smaller) are reserved entirely for official fest and government people, while the public sees the pix at another downtown house, the Trocadero.

The only scandal to develop thus far concerns the allottment of the San Martin seats. One local paper reported that government ministers, secretaries, and assorted functionaries had been assigned no less than 1,000 of the 1,627 seats available (one minister, in fact, was said to have been assigned 80 seats for himself, family and friends), leaving just about 600 for all the fest delegations (about 250), the Argentine industryites (about 200), and the more than 300 press people. It's a tight squeeze and a big headache to press chief Edmundo Eichelbaum.

Tout-Master Lectures the Troops On Improved Battle Procedure

Hollywood, April 7.

Over 150 pressagents attending the Publicists Assn. first annual awards luncheon, held last week at the Beverly Hills Hotel, were presented with a five-point program designed to raise the standards and performance of Hollywood pressagentry. Plan was developed and presented by Henry C. Rogers, board chairman of Rogers & Cowan praisery.

His recommendations included the adoption of a code of ethics and standards of practice for members of the association and a provision for suspension and/or expulsion for violations. Rogers also proposed a pub workshop where apprentices and juniors could learn from studio pub directors and suggested that indies like his organization would willingly share responsibility.

The chairman also asked that unit pubs be given screen credit on the grounds that they make a contribution equal to many other studio workers who presently get screen notation. Yearly awards given by the association to the studio pub department which conducted the "best publicity campaign of the year" and to the individual praiser who does the outstanding job of the year were also proposed by Rogers. He additionally suggested the adoption of a certification program to give recognition to those members of the association who have "demonstrated a high level of competence in their work."

In addition to the program, Rogers recommended that the unit petition the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences for the establishment of a new Oscar to be known as the "Mike Todd Award." This is to go to the studio pub department or individual press agent who had made the most valuable contribution to the pix industry during the year. He said that adoption of his five-point program would enable inception of the Todd Award.

The praisers were huddled at the BevHills to honor producer Stanley Kramer and trade editor Don Carle Gillette.

Rothman Sees Balcon

Mo Rothman, executive vice-president of Columbia Pictures International, flew to London to powwow with the new BLC (British Lion Columbia) management since Sir Malcolm Balcon's group was given control. BLC is Col's distribution outlet in the UK.

Walter Reade Jr. is the American partner in Balcon's combine but Rothman's meeting is essentially with Balcon and his British associates. New York exec will be back next week.

Gore Vidal

Continued from page 5

ingly important topic of discussion. "Best Man" itself deals with backroom dueling over the nomination of a presidential candidate and therefore couldn't be more timely.

As to the playwright himself, he has been a congressional aspirant, running unsuccessfully in New York's pro-Republican 29th District as a Democrat. He is also the grandson of Senator T. P. Gore of Oklahoma. The author feels strongly about politics and says of films and legit, "anything you can do to get people interested in politics is well worth doing." And, despite their reactions at the boxoffice previously, people are generally interested in it, both in the U.S. and abroad.

Speaking of the foreign market, Vidal noted that special plans have ben developed for the picture when it goes abroad. For one thing, producers Stuart Millar and Lawrence Turman and Vidal will get the leading tv commentator in each country in which the film will be shown to narrate a special lead into the film, present in the English version also, which describes the workings of a political convention, that they are held every four years and for what purpose and so on. The commentators may also be spliced into the pic in spots as foreign correspondents in place of some of U.S. commentator Howard K. Smith's scenes to bring the locals up to date.

"Best Man" did well abroad as a play and Vidal wants to get the same adapters who worked on his legit show to do the foreign film scripts. He feels there is a strong interest in U.S. politics abroad, particularly since the Kennedy Administration and with all the international interest in "the bomb." He also said that, as far as the legit "Best Man" anyway, he found that people in other countries saw a lot in common with the political backbiting and wrangling in their own lands and identified with it. Politics is a kind of international sport is what it amounts to.

Vidal's next film project, an original called "America the Beautiful," is also in the political vein. It deals with right wing-left wing controversy and has some pretty "hot" stuff in it, so hot in fact that some companies have chosen not to handle it. Millar & Turman will again produce but Vidal insists on autonomous deal for the pic, such as with United Artists on "Best Man," so that the script will be done as he intends it.

Elsewhere, he and Sam Katzman have been discussing the possibility of Vidal's adapting Hans Hellmut Kirst's novel "Night of Generals" for the screen but nothing is decided. Also, his first novel in 10 years, "Julian," dealing with the Fourth Century Roman emperor who tries to kill off Christianity will be out in June via Little-Brown. Sam Spiegel had expressed interest in doing it as a film but Vidal turned him down.

Politically, Vidal may be a delegate to the Democratic national convention this summer from New York where he is still active politically and he will cover the conventions for Show Magazine—if there still is one this summer.

U.S. Technicolor To Own British

Hollywood, April 7.

Technicolor Corp. of America expects to complete shortly a deal that will give it complete ownership of Technicolor Ltd. of London. Agreed purchase price is approximately $4,500,000 for acquisition of the 1,540,340 publicly-held British shares, representing about 49% control. The United States company owns about 51% of the total stock of Technicolor Ltd.

Approval of the transaction by the Bank of England is expected to be "shortly forthcoming," it was disclosed by Patrick J. Frawley Jr., board chairman and chief exec officer of Technicolor Inc., the parent corporation.

Financially, and also for its contributions to refinement of the three color process, British Technicolor has figured importantly in parent Techni's growth most of the last 29 years. Technicolor Ltd. was established in 1935. The first film to use its facilities was "Wings of the Morning," produced under the old Quota-Act by 20th-Fox in England.

The British plant of late years has been processing an average of 200,000,000 feet of film annually. It handles the bulk of color processing of prints for American companies in the European market. While Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer does its own color lab processing in this country, the job is turned over to Technicolor Ltd. for prints to be distributed in Europe and other overseas markets. Company had credit on overseas 35mm prints of 20th's "Cleopatra" as well. In addition to these companies, Techni Ltd. also handles prints for Universal, Columbia, United Artists, Warner Bros., Paramount and Disney.

Technicolor Ltd., moreover, does processing of 8mm audio-visual education pix made in England. This, too, is big business in Blighty.

Living Look-Alikes For Nasty Nazis

Wolper Will Mix Simulated and Actuality Footage in Documentary For Theatres

David L. Wolper's first theatrical venture, to be a United Artists release, will be an over-$2,000,000 documentary on the rise and fall of Adolph Hitler and the Third Reich. The two-hour film, which will be made over the next 12 to 14 months, will contain footage purchased by Wolper from various sources, including the Russians, made by various cameramen during Hitler's reign, as well as some specially-filmed "re-creation" of historical moments involving the dictator, on which there is no footage available.

Alan Bullock, author of the Third Reich exploration "Hitler: A Study in Tyranny," will be technical advisor on the project. Sources for available film material include Britain, W. Germany, U.S. official sources as well as G.I.s who recorded some history, scenes from "Triumph of the Will" and others. In the case of the Russ footage, Wolper revealed he is paying $5 to $20 a foot but declined to estimate eventual costs. In some cases he is buying footage outright and in others it is more of a rights agreement.

As far as the plan to simulate non-available scenes, Wolper is conducting a hunt for look-alikes to the figures in Third Reich history including such as Hitler himself, Eva Braun, Goering, Goebbels, Chamberlain, Mussolini. Once found, these doubles will be filmed in the actual historical locations were particuluar events took place. Documentary filmmaking techniques will be used so as to blend the new material with the old unnoticeably.

Wolper believes that some of the film material he has acquired for the picture, which is as yet untitled, has never been seen before in U.S. theatres or on tv. His re-creations of behind-the-scenes events will be filmed sans dialog so as not to show the differences between real and new, narration being the main vocal technique. The narrator himself has yet to be signed.

One problem has already arisen and that is that Wolper needs to go into E. Germany to record some of his scenes. He is not having an easy time convincing the E. German government to allow his camera crews beyond the Wall. Also, he would like to get hold of certain footage presently in E. German hands. This isn't proving an easy task either.

This deal with UA may be the first of others. Wolper is presently talking with the company about other projects but nothing has been firmed. He has been actively involved with UA-TV for a while now via various specials he has made for its distribution and the "Hollywood and the Stars" series. UA is financing the Hitler project.

SAM SPIEGEL GETS IRV THALBERG AWARD

Hollywood, April 7.

Sam Spiegel, producer of three Oscar-winning films—"On the Waterfront," 1954; "Bridge on the River Kwai," 1957; and "Lawrence of Arabia," 1961—has been voted the coveted Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award by the Board of Governors of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences.

Ironically, producer's "Lawrence" swept the board with seven Oscars but Spiegel was overlooked last year by the governors, who did not vote a Thalberg honor. Last recipient of award was Stanley Kramer the year before, for 1961.

Among Spiegel's other top pix were "The African Queen," which won the late Humprey Bogart a best-actor award in 1951, and "Suddenly, Last Summer."

Spiegel marks the 14th producer to win the award, established in 1937 for "outstanding motion picture production" and voted by the Board only in those years in which its members feel there is a deserving recipient. Award itself, however, has been awarded 17 times, variance due to fact that Darryl F. Zanuck, first recipient in 1937, has won three times (also 1944 and 1950), and Hal Wallis twice (1938, 1943). Rules now prohibit any individual receiving the award more than once.

Other recipients include David O. Selznick, 1939; Walt Disney, 1941; Sidney Franklin, 1942; Samuel Goldwyn, 1946; Jerry Wald, 1948; Arthur Freed, 1951; Cecil B. DeMille, 1952; George Stevens, 1953; Buddy Adler, 1956; Jack L. Warner, 1958.

Earl Bellamy's 'Fluffy'

Earl Bellamy, who has been concentrating recently on directing tv shows, has been signed by producer Gordon Kay to helm Universal's "Fluffy."

Tony Randall will lead original comedy by Sam Roeca, which goes before color cameras this month.

THE HOLLYWOOD INTELLGENTSIA

Robert Penn Warren's latest novel, "Flood" (Random House), centers on an imaginary Fiddlersburg, Tennessee, which is to be flooded to make a dam. A feature motion picture is in prospect and at the locale arrives an independently wealthy (sic) film producer and an Oscar-winner screen writer who just happened to be born there. The waters will eventually rise and turn the nearby state penitentiary into an island. In that pen is the author's brother-in-law, an ill-starred M.D. who shot his wife's first lover years before and escapes to try again with the film producer, now ready to wed her. The making of the film never occurs in the story, for the author takes the bullet intended for his employer.

This novel may well interest film folk since its prose is far superior to its contrivences. Only Warren's own skill as a descriptive writer makes the cornball thing stand up at $5.95.

Incidentally, the Hollywood Oscar-winner would also rate a prize for all-round confused-as-in-literary-heel traits. What "Flood" is supposed to prove is confusing to at least one reader and yet the sheer skill of the prose keeps interest until the plot breaks down into sheer letdown at the finale.

Seldom have two guys from Hollywood been addicted to such intellectual conversation. And several of the hillbillies of Tennessee are remarkably erudite. Land.

Pix & Vidpix Makers As One

Continued from page 5

tions under the new setup, said Alliance member companies were unanimous in taking the step in the belief the consolidation of the two groups "will be of distinct benefit in placing the total resources of the association at the disposal of each and every member company, no matter how small." Jencks opined that the move will also create "sounder and more stable employment and labor relations policies to the benefit of all segments of the motion picture production community."

Alliance member companies will be repped on the AMPTP board of directors by George Elber, first exec veepee of Four Star; Saul C. Weislow, veepee of Bing Crosby Productions; Bernard Weitzman, veepee, Desilu; an additional board member still to be nominated by Amigo Productions, Bellmar Enterprises, Calvada Productions, Mayberry Enterprises, T & L Productions and Tycoon Productions.

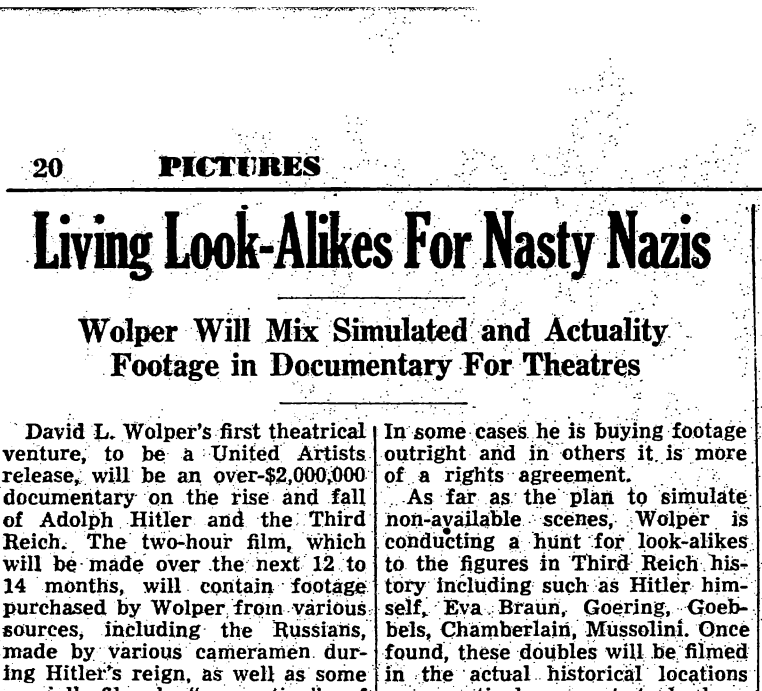
Major pix studios will be repped by Steve Broidy, Allied Artists; Gordon Stulberg, Columbia; Bonar Dyer, Walt Disney Productions; Saul Rittenberg, MGM; Bernard Donnenfeld, Paramount; Fred Metzler, 20th-Fox; Anthony J. Frederick, Universal; Robert Blumofe, UA; E. L. De-Patie, Warner Bros.

AMPTP officers will be Y. Frank Freeman, board chairman; De-Patie, vice chairman; Boren, exec veepee; Broidy and Frederick, veepees; Alfred P. Chamie, veepee-secretary, and Jencks, veepee.

Present AMPP members are Allied Artists, Col, Disney, MGM, Par, 20th, U, UA and Warners.

Alliance members are Amigo, Bellmar, BCP, Calvada, Daystar, Desilu, Flying A, Four Star, Jack Chertok, Mayberry, Revue, T & L, Tycoon and Wrather Productions.

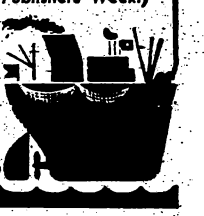
AMPP was organized in 1923 as the trade association of the major film production companies, and the Alliance was formed in 1951 by major vidpix firms.



Youngstein

Continued from page 3

novel by Philip Van Doren Stern, which deals with plotting the assassination of the 16th President and the hunt for John Wilkes Booth. It's understood that there will be only a brief appearance of Lincoln in the film, with the action centering on the before and after events.



Further along in preparation, as scripters and director are set, is "Cry Havoc," a recent novel by Richard Martin Sterne. This suspenser will be scripted by Robert Goldman and Fred Coe, with Coe also signed on as the director.

Youngstein planed east Friday (3) and expects by middle of this week to close for a couple of additional properties which have been in negotiation.

HAIG & HAIG
The oldest name in scotch is the right name for the best
BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY, 86.8 PROOF • RENFIELD IMPORTERS, LTD., N.Y.

"Wacky hilarious journeys on board the fictional s.s. Flying Wind..."*
There You Are, But Where Are You?

A Novel by ROBERT F. MIRVISH
"MIRVISH IS WONDERFUL!"
at concocting funny episodes that get even funnier as they develop. He is a master of the running gag. Very entertaining.
*Publishers' Weekly
"...Down to Earth Pleasure!"
—Bert Lahr
Star of "Foxy"

DUTTON $3.95

Hear . . . Hollywood Commentator
DICK STROUT
ON Over 800 STATIONS IN AMERICA

Available Now!
DISCOUNT COUPONS for attractions at
WORLD'S FAIR
We offer to major corporate and institutional users a selected program of savings coupons for attractions at the fair: exhibits, rides, restaurants and shows.
Ideal for:
Sales incentive programs!
Product promotion!
Premium promotions!
Employee programs!
For further information write or call:
AUTHORIZED DISCOUNT PLAN CORP.
305 East 45th Street
New York 36, N. Y.
(212) OR 9-9280

SPECIAL OFFER
TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE
$2 PER WEEK
Mon. thru Fri.
JU 2-6730
minimum four weeks
ALFA TELEPHONE ANSWERING SERVICE

Sardi's East
123 East 54th St. New York
PLaza 1-6655
Sardi's
234 W. 44th ST. NEW YORK
LA 4-0707

JAKE TRUSSELL'S AFTER HOURS POETRY:
Written from a background of experiences as a combination amusements columnist, jazz disc jockey, sportswriter, radio commentator-sportscaster, managing editor, band leader, and Associated Press correspondent. Nothing else in the world like it. For your copy send $1.00 to Jake Trussell, P. O. Box 951, Kingsville, Texas.

New York Theatres
RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL
Rockefeller Center • PL 7-3100
PETER SELLERS
Paula PRENTISS • Angela LANSBURY
in "THE WORLD OF HENRY ORIENT"
A Pan Arts Company Picture from United Artists in Color
ON GREAT STAGE "Glory of Easter" and... "ALICE IN EASTERLAND"

Amusement Stock Quotations

Week Ended Tues. (7)

N. Y. Stock Exchange

1963-'64 High	1963-'64 Low		*Weekly Vol. in 100s	Weekly High	Weekly Low	Tues. Close	Net Change for wk.
153⅜	117⅞	ABC Vending	281	15	13¾	14⅞	+ ¾
38¼	27⅞	Am Br-Par Th	443	40⅛	37⅛	37¼	— ⅜
22¼	14½	Ampex	1077	17¼	15¾	17⅛	+1⅛
45¾	36½	CBS	656	44¾	42⅝	44¼	+1⅜
18¾	12⅛	Chris Craft	370	17¼	16	17¼	+ ⅝
29½	21⅛	Col Pix	88	22½	21½	21⅞	— ⅛
46¼	45⅛	Decca	7	46¼	45¾	46	+ ¼
46⅜	27¾	Disney	162	46	43¾	44½	+ ¾
131¾	106⅛	Eastman Kdk	323	129	125½	126	—1¼
6½	5¼	EMI	1295	6¾	6	6¼	+ ¼
27⅞	20⅝	General Tire	1941	28¼	26½	27½	+ ⅞
16½	9⅝	Glen Alden	217	14⅛	13⅝	13⅝	— ¼
86¾	57½	Litton Ind	428	70⅞	68⅝	70½	+1⅛
23¾	15¾	Loew's Thea.	214	24¼	22¼	22⅜	—1⅞
68¾	48	MCA Inc.	34	59	54⅜	54⅜	—4⅛
38⅜	15	Metromedia	269	34⅛	32¾	33¼	+ ¼
37¼	26½	MGM	465	34	29¼	33⅛	+3⅞
24¾	20¼	Outlet	†520	21	20⅜	21	+ ⅝
12¾	7⅞	Nat. G'l Corp.	163	9	8¾	9	+ ¼
62⅝	35¼	Paramount	102	61¾	58⅜	61	+2⅛
211½	120½	Polaroid	433	165¾	157½	160⅝	—4⅛
39¼	33¼	RCA	2636	37⅛	35⅛	36½	+ ⅛
10¼	6¾	Republic	79	8⅜	8⅛	8⅜	+ ⅛
16¾	14	Rep., pfd.	11	15⅛	15	15	..
27⅞	20½	Stanley War.	215	29½	27⅛	28⅞	+ ¾
45⅜	31	Storer	54	42⅜	40	41¾	+1¼
28¼	17⅞	Taft Bdcst.	88	29⅝	28	29⅜	+1⅜
37	20	20th-Fox	251	24¼	23⅛	23⅛	— ¼
32	17¾	United Artists	554	28⅝	25	27⅛	+2⅛
16¼	11¾	Warner Bros.	167	13⅛	12⅞	12⅞	— ⅛
87¼	51	Zenith	383	85⅜	82⅞	83⅛	—1

American Stock Exchange

4	2⅛	Allied Artists	89	2½	2¼	2⅜	+ ⅛
10	7	Alld Art., pref	2	9⅛	8⅝	8⅝	— ½
12¼	5	BalM'nt GAC.	32	10⅞	10⅜	10⅜	— ⅜
12¼	6¾	Cam-P'kway	23	7⅛	6⅞	7	..
24⅞	16⅞	Con. Cit. Bdc.	174	27⅜	25⅞	25⅞	— ⅜
17½	10	Cinerama Inc.	353	11¼	10⅛	11¼	+ ¾
9	6½	Desilu Prods.	55	7⅞	7⅛	7⅞	+ ½
9⅞	4¾	Filmways	35	8¾	8⅛	8¾	..
13⅞	5¾	MPO Vid.	16	11⅜	10⅜	10⅜	—1⅛
3⅝	2⅛	Reeves Bdcst.	26	3	2⅞	2⅞	— ¼
5⅛	2⅜	Reeves Ind.	1538	4½	3½	4⅛	+ ⅜
17¾	13¼	Rollins Bdcst.	21	16⅞	16	16⅞	+ ⅞
25⅜	16¾	Screen Gems	22	19⅛	18½	19⅛	..
22	8⅝	Technicolor	298	18⅜	17⅝	17⅝	— ⅛
6¾	4⅛	Teleprompter	181	7¾	6⅛	7¾	+1¼
2¾	⅝	Tele-Indus.	25	13/16	¾	¾	..
14½	10½	Trans-Lux	5	13¼	12⅝	13¼	+ ⅝

* Week Ended Mon. (6).
†Actual Volume.

(Courtesy of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc.)

Over-the-Counter Securities

	Bid	Ask
Commonwealth Theatres of Puerto Rico	5⅜	6	..
Four Star Television	4½	5½	— ⅞
Gen. Aniline & Film	320	347	+5
General Artists Corp.	7⅛	7½	..
General Drive-in	10¾	11¾	+ ⅛
Magna Pictures	2	2⅜	..
Medallion Pictures	16	17¼	— ⅛
Pickwick International	4¼	4¾	+ ⅛
Premier Albums	7⅜	8⅛	+1⅜
Rust Craft Greeting Cards	13¾	15⅛	..
Seven Arts Productions	11⅛	12	..
U.A. Theatres	8½	9¾	— ¼
Universal Pictures	66	70	..
Walter Reade-Sterling Inc.	2⅜	2¾	..
Wometco Enterprises	34½	36⅞	..
Wrather Corp.	3½	4	..

(Source: National Assn. of Securities Dealers Inc.)

Bob Abrams, Bernie Rich Combining to Package Screen, Video Activities

Hollywood, April 7.

Bob Abrams and Bernie Rich, formerly associated with Eddie Fisher, have formed Selena Enterprises for motion picture-tv production, management and packaging. Duo has acquired Willie Heinrich's book, "The Lonely Conqueror," for first feature film deal, as a coproduction with Modern Art Films of Berlin. Pic will be lensed there.

They've also associated themselves with Mike Todd Jr., on nitery musical version of "Around the World in 80 Days," to be followed by bus and truck legit tour. Show is designed after production that ran last summer at N.Y.'s Jones Beach. Similar productions are planned for Todd-owned "Peep Show," "Stars and Garter," "As the Girls Go" and "The Hot Mikado."

National Performing Arts is booking "World" tour. Spread will include live elephants, camels and, of course, a balloon, as well as eight stage hands, two assistant stage managers and other staffers.

SPAIN'S DELEGATION TO B.A.'S FILM FEST

Madrid, April 7.

A big Spanish delegation planed out last week to the Buenos Aires Film Festival to join up there with other Spanish industry figures already in the Argentine capital city.

Heading the junket was sub-director general for cinema Florentino Soria. With him were producer Ignacio Iquino and director Mario Camus who will present the official Spanish entry, "Young Sanchez." Producer Jose Maesso and director Rovira-Beleta joined the group to support "Los Tarantos," invited by the fest to compete for official awards.

Others in the delegation included San Sebastian fest director Fernandez Cuenca, actors Jose Suarez and Julian Mateos. Actresses planing in were Elisa Montes and Helga Line. Awaiting the delegation in Buenos Aires were Uniespana exec David Jato and Spanish screen star Emma Penella, who flew to the fest from Brazil where she is now filming "The Treasure of the Amazons."

'Strangelove' Downtown Date Extended to Nabes On 2d-Wind 'Showcase'

Columbia's "Dr. Strangelove" kicks off a 15-theatre "showcase" run in the metropolitan area on April 12. This will be in addition to current engagements at the Victoria and the Baronet, Manhattan.

Added starters for the Stanley Kubrick suspense comedy include Century's Kingsway and Rialto, Randforce's Duffield (Brooklyn); Loew's Paradise (Bronx); Century's Roosevelt Field and Fantasy, Baker's Bethpage, Brandt's Merrick and Town & Country's Glen Cove (Nassau County); Loew's Mt. Vernon and Island Plaza, Brandt's Yonkers (Westchester). Century's Huntington, Prudential's Bayshore and Patchogue (Suffolk County) will also show the film.

FILMWAYS' HALF-YEAR NET AT $148,564

Net income after taxes of $148,564 (or 25c per share on 601,492 shares outstanding) was racked up by Filmways Inc. for six-month period ending Feb. 29. Sum, pointed out president Lee Moselle, is approximately two and one-half times Filmways' net income for same period last year and even ahead of net income for entire preceding fiscal year.

Company's three tv shows, "Beverly Hillbillies," "Petticoat Junction" and "Mister Ed," have been renewed by CBS and a new series, "The Addams Family," will be seen on ABC next fall.

Motion picture activities include three pix in or ready for release—"Wheeler Dealers" (Metro), "Americanization of Emily" (Metro) and "Topkapi" (UA). Upcoming productions are "Loved One," 'Cincinnati Kid" and "The Sandpiper."

Jimmy Grainger Back; Allstar Distrib Veep

Hollywood, April 7.

J. R. (Jimmy) Grainger, oldtimer distribution executive, has emerged from retirement to join newly-formed Allstar Films Inc., as veepee in charge of distribution. Firm was organized by Alex Alexander, prexy; Jules Salkin, exec veepee; and June Starr, secretary-treasurer.

First two releases will be "Love Italian Style," starring Elke Sommer, and "Storm Over Silver Peak." Pair were acquired from Alexander-Ford-duPont, of which Alexander was veepee.

'Taint 'Religious'

Valladolid, April 7.

"Mani sulla Citta" (Hands on the City), one of the three Italian features entered in the April 12-20 International Film Week of Religious & Human Values, failed to get censor clearance. Italians will only show Ermanno Olmi's "I Fidanzato" (The Fiancees) and Lena Wermuller's "I Basilischi." Despite earlier reports that Unitalia conditioned participation on fest approval for "Mani," the Italians have not protested, nor withdrawn.

Other last minute program changes affect Yank entries. Festival director Antolin de Santiago revealed the addition of "Lilies of the Field" (UA) and simultaneously indicated that previously programmed "Freud." (Universal) had been dropped when an original version print with Spanish or French subtitles could not be made available.

New Leitmotif at North Central: Roasting Distribs Is Pleasure But Showmanship Is Profitable

By ROBERT REES

Minneapolis, April 7.

Two "firsts" for North Central Allied, meeting here tomorrow (Wed.).

One, independent exhibitors' body is not giving usual preponderant time to lambasting film companies for unfair sales policies that allegedly "murder" small town theatres.

Two, exhibs will pay tribute to daily newspaper amusement editor Bill Diehl.

Exhibs attending convention, most from smaller communities, will be told by regional president Ray Vonderhaar that another reason, as important as sponsored tv and general distraction, exists for their boxoffice troubles. That reason could be their failure to promote their showhouses, attractions and even themselves adequately, which might well lead to financial difficulties and even extinction.

This may explain decision of NCA directors and Vonderhaar to pay less attention to denouncement of film companies and more to showmanship. A lengthy "workshop" will be held to help theatreowners sell their theatres, pictures and themselves to advantage.

"It's necessary for us to display the utmost showmanship, sell our films to the limit, make our theatres valuable assets to our towns and take active part in community affairs," will be Vonderhaar's message. "This convention will pave the way for such developments.

"Exhibition can be made profitable, even in face of such tough entertainment opposition as free tv, but this is contingent on realization of the need for improved promotion."

Even so, the convention intends to impress upon the film companies that also essential to survival are more orderly product release, fairer selling terms and elimination of forced bidding, percentage in smaller situations, arbitrary withdrawal, showcasing and 16m competition. Circuit owner and NCA chairman Bennie Berger will undoubtedly get in some of his usual lambasting of distribution trade practices and policies, especially spotlighting the dangers to indie exhibitors of the 60%-nolook business.

Ev Seibel, United Paramount circuit ad-pub chief and not a member of NCA, conceived the idea of citing a newspaper amusement editor and chose the NCA meet to do it. Recipient will be Bill Diehl of two St. Paul dailies—the Pioneer Press and Dispatch. Presentation will be made by another non-member, circuit owner Ted Mann.

Convention speakers will also include Allied States president Jack Armstrong and exec director Milton London.

No Hard-Core Rule

Continued from page 11

down from the bench as to how a trial court would find and use the national standard in ferreting out smut. Justices Stewart and Arthur Goldberg both expressed doubts that local judges, juries or prosecutors could be depended upon to determine if a book or film had violated the national standard of decency.

London also suggested the High Court adopt a rule of "hard core pornography" rather than continue to interpret the more vague concept of obscenity.

Chief Justice Earl Warren said the court would eventually have much trouble defining "hard core pornography" as it did "obscenity."

Justice William Douglas said the suggestion would turn the court into the "top censor," and London replied the court has already been in the position.

The attorney insisted "The Lovers" would not "possibly" be considered obscene under the "hard core" standard and averred that it had been exhibited in toto in 100 U. S. cities and another version minus 130 feet or 30 seconds playing time was exhibited in Boston and New York.

London's view was disputed by John Corrigan, prosecuting attorney in Cuyahoga County in which Cleveland Heights lies. He said one Ohio justice termed the picture "worse" than hard core pornography (This is the film whose final 15 minutes brings a runaway wife and her love into frolicsome tub and bed action—Ed)

Corrigan averred the proposal for national standards would result in "hodge podge" and pointed to the impossibility of enacting an obscenity law.

The Kansas book burning arguments, centering more on the tactics of local judge in issuing warrants, was not particularly revealing for Constitutional insights on obscenity.

Chief Justice Warren suggested the state authorities should have prosecuted the sellers rather than burn the works.

Los Angeles lawyer Stanley Fleishman, repping the book sellers P-K News Service, did, however, rest some weight on the community standards argument. He questioned the jury's evaluation in the case averring several experts demonstrated that works such as "Lady Chatterley's Lover," "Tropic of Cancer," and "Tropic of Capricorn" had more four-letter words and vivid descriptions than the "Nightstand" paper back in question.

Fleishman charged the local judge issuing the warrant for confiscating the books only read racier parts underlined in pencil by the Kansas Attorney General.

Rebutting, Attorney General William Ferguson said officials followed Supreme Court guidelines on obscenity.

His brief, filed before the arguments, was signed by attorneys general of 17 other states indicating their approval of the Kansas action.

Eli Wheelock Productions, Inc. chartered to deal in motion pictures, video films and equipment, with New York offices. Capital stock consists of 200 shares, no par value. Bendes, Stark & Amron recording attorneys.

Legal 'Reality' Suffices; Judge Denies RKO Et Al. Dismissal on Truster

RKO Theatres, List Industries and other defendants' motion for dismissal of anti-trust complaint by Unison Realty Corp. and Palmer Realty Co., on "ground that plaintiffs are not the real parties in interest," was denied Wed. (1) by N.Y. Federal Judge Inzer B. Wyatt.

Court ruled "jurisdiction of this action for alleged violation of the antitrust laws is based on certain federal laws" (which state, in part, that action may be continued by or against the original party).

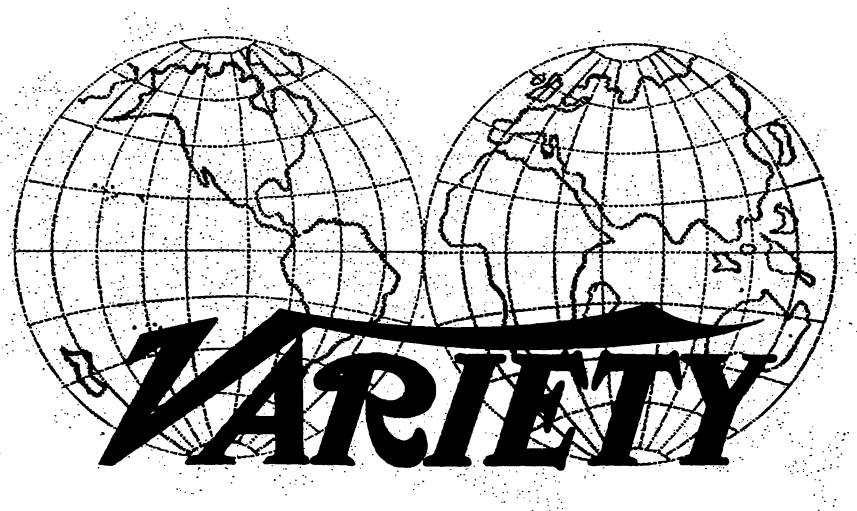
In action, initiated in 1959, Palmer had assigned claim to Brecher Theatres. Defendants moved on ground that, after action was started, Unison was dissolved and its assets distributed to stockholders Leo Brecher and Frank Schiffman. They concluded that the claim was assigned to the individuals. Although plaintiffs did not dispute claim, court overruled the move and denied the action.

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Dogs did not seem the paying customers' best friends last Friday (3) at Brandt's Beacon on Broadway. The audience was openly razzing a 20-minutes Paramount-released short, "Born Hunter", which has to do with a very remarkable, but humble, hound from Harv Butler's much-identified breeding-and-training school at Allen, Okla. Made by Pandora Productions with the commercialism showing through from start to finish, the theme of dogs bred to point quail in the middle states, and to take cups and ribbons at a series of contests in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Illinois and other places, could not have been further from the interest of apartment and hotel dwellers. What made the thing ridiculous was having the narration in the dog's name, so to speak. That, and the cornball theme song. The audience reaction to shorts prompts the wonder sometimes whether the circuit bookers ever view them or take them on faith. Or does the booker know the Beacon audience?

THIS WEEK, BUENOS AIRES

Meaning that, at this very moment, there is an international film festival in session at the Argentine capitol, moved there from the resort, Mar Del Plata, the earlier host city. (It's autumn down there just now). The B.A. event follows by only three weeks the international film festival at Cartagena, in the Republic of Colombia. Late in 1964, still another international film festival will take place in Acapulco, Mexico. Thus, Latin America alone has three major events.



There is an Asian Film Festival annually, rotating from country to country, and there is a film festival in Melbourne, Australia. So the phenomenon is geographically widely dispersed. It shows even in the Near East at Beirut, Lebanon.

But the original seed-bed of international film festivals remains Europe and of the big events there, every summer season, the first notable convocation of buyers and sellers of features is always the one at Cannes. To that exciting resort and marketplace, this weekly addresses itself every spring with a data-crowded, fact-packed, idea-saturated annual compilation.

The wealth of special text alone assures the value of this closely-studied, avidly-retained, long-afterwards-quoted special edition. Add to that consideration the jet-sped circulation at Cannes itself. Here is the reference volume par excellence, relied upon for insight and foresight at all the international film festivals which follow.

Here Is Your Ideal, Production-Charted, Impact-Sure, Specially-Edited Advertising Chance. Astutely Placed Where It Counts Most, and When It Is Most Useful. You OWE It to Yourself, Your Films, Your Company to Advertise in the—

7th ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL FILM EDITION OF

Act at Once • Time Grows Short

Usual Advertising Rates Apply

NEW YORK 10036 154 West 46th St.
LONDON S.W.1 49 St. James's St. Piccadilly
PARIS 80 Ave. de Neuilly Neuilly-sur-Seine
ROME 3 Via Sardegna 43
TOKYO Press Club
BERLIN Enzian Strasse 1 Lichterfelde, West Germany
MADRID 16 Avda. de [illegible] 86

International Sound Track

London

National Film Theatre will be moving to a temporary home from May 1, while the existing theatre on the South Bank is being rebuilt and enlarged. The NFT will be housed at the new cinema in the Vickers Building on Millbank. Meantime, the NFT is presenting a program of German films of the '30s, including "The Blue Angel," "The Congress Dances," "The Last Will of Dr. Mabuse" and Leni Riefenstahl's "Olympiade, Berlin 1936," which runs for three and a half hours. Next month the NFT will present a tribute to Robert Hamer, who died recently. Among his best known films are "Kind Hearts and Coronets," and "It Always Rains on Sunday". . . Filming has started at Pinewood on the third James Bond yarn, "Goldfinger," with Sean Connery again playing the lead role. Albert R. Broccoli and Harry Saltzman are producing for United Artists release and the production is budgeted at over $2,500,000. A replica of Fort Knox has been built at the studio. Guy Hamilton is directing, Honor Blackman is playing Miss Galore and others in the cast include Shirley Eaton and Harold Sakata. The screenplay is by Richard Maibaum and Paul Dehn . . . Hayley Mills will be celebrating her 18th birthday on April 18 . . . Sydney and Muriel Box are producing and directing "Rattle of a Simple Man" at the Associated British Elstree Studios from a screenplay by Charles Dyer based on his play of the same name. Top roles are played by Harry H. Corbett and Diane Cilento and William Gell is associate producer. Pic is for world release through Associated British-Pathe.

Rome

Steve Reeves follows up "Sandokan," which reportedly has grossed $800,000 in three months' Italo dates, with "Pirates of Malaya" for Filmes-Fono Roma . . . Dino DeLaurentiis is producer with most "Silver Ribbon" awards (4) to his credit while pic with all-time record is Vittorio DeSica's "Bicycle Thief," with six; 1963 kudos this week by Italo Film Critics Assn. . . . Report here that Catherine Spaak has some Hollywood bids after U.S. debut of latest, "Empty Canvas". . . Carl Mohner cast in "The Last Gun," Cameron Mitchell topliner under way here . . . Viking ship replica used for "The Long Ships" in Tunis after troublesome navigation from its Yugoslav port of origin . . . Hungarian Film Week planned for Milan in April . . "Seven Days in May" opened to very good reaction here.

"Marco Polo," Horst Buchholz starrer, heads for Egypt after Yugoslav location work, producer Raoul Levy reported during Rome stopover . . "I Dolci Inganni," first Catherine Spaak pic made here some years back by Alberto Lattuada and first cut and then banned, has been okayed by censor and gets new local launching . . . 20th having trouble finding site sufficiently high to accommodate Sistine Chapel sets for "Agony and Ecstasy," which Sir Carol Reed guns here in June.

Milan paper, Il Giorno, quotes thesp Gino Cervi in beef directed at Paramount for trimming a scene out of Italo version of "Becket" in which he appears opposite Paolo Stoppa, ostensibly to avoid displeasure from Catholic authorities; thesp implied he might sue, paper said . . . Piero Gherardi, nominated for costume design for "8½" and winner with "Dolce Vita," is handling same chores for Princess Soraya's pic debut in DeLaurentiis' "The Secret" . . Embassy Pictures may have bought "High Infidelity," an Italo episoder, for the U.S. by the time you read this.

Paris

Arthur Schlesinger Jr. will be the American member of the coming Cannes Film Fest jury which begins April 29 and now winds May 14, rather than 13, due to the many pix that will be in the running. Other jury members are French critic Vera Volmane, French writer and legit critic Jean-Jacques Gautier, Charles Boyer, Fritz Lang, Rene Clement, Hispano critic Joaquin Calvo-Sotelo and Swedish critic Floris Mamstedt. There will also be a Russian and an Italo rep . . . Joe Losey's "The Servant" getting a gala opening under the auspices of the Syndicate of French film and tv Critics . . . Several actresses airing pic scripts they have penned on their lives on tv, radio and in the press with some producer interest awakened. Spilling thesps are Pier Angeli, now winding a role in a French pic "Oss 117," and locals Estella Blain and Sophia Daumier. First two are dramas and latter comic in outlook . . . Writer Andre Couteaux's prizewinning comic book "Un Monsieur De Compagnie" (A Hail Fellow Well Met) is the basis of Philippe De Broca's next pic with Jean-Pierre Cassel. A comedy of manners and morals, Couteaux read the script and found nothing left of his original practically. He says he is not angry but is now writing a screenplay so his ideas will get directly on screen . . . Oskar Werner set for a top role in H. G. Clouzot's "Hell," and then Paul Graetz's war pic "Epitaph for an Enemy" and Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools". . "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" (UA) has taken 150,000 admissions in 14 weeks and moves over to the Gaumont-Palace later this month to make way for Samuel Bronston's "The Fall of the Roman Empire" at the Empire . . . Alain Delon to play opposite Shirley MacLaine in one of the episodes of the British pic "The Yellow Rolls Royce". . . Locarno Film Fest in Switzerland, in July, will give out the Council of Europe Newsreel prize . . . Jean Seberg dubbed herself for the French version of "In The French Style" (Col) . . . "Seven Days in May" (Par) getting neat reviews and probable biz to match. One critic felt nothing like this could be made in France.

Tokyo

Still very much in a tangle is possibility of screen quota being imposed when the import license system is dropped come July 1. Most Japanese exhibs and producers are in favor of a protective screen quota against the expected flood of foreign films. But there's been no indication yet of what formula might be applied . . . Shochiku director Noboru Nakamura will attend Academy Award ceremonies in Hollywood. His film "Twin Sisters of Kyoto" is a nominee . . . Although lensing started here almost two years ago, the Daiei-Harold Hecht film "Flight From Ashiya" was released only lately. After almost a week at the Piccadilly, a Daiei spokesman described the b.o. as "not up to expectations". . "Castaways" opened strong, with Buena Vista International Far East supervisor Alex Caplan predicting film will earn something like $415,000 in Japan . . . Actress Keiko Kishi, wife of French director Yves Ciampi, returned to go before the cameras in indo production of "Kwaidan" with Tatsuya Nakadai. Based on a Lafcadio Hearn story, budgeted picture will be handled here and abroad by Toho . . . Elvis Presley in "Fun in Acapulco" (Par) doing boff biz at Hibiya . . . Japan will confirm participation in six International Film Fests this year—Cannes, Berlin, San Sebastian, Kalovy Vary and Buenos Aires . . French film critic and historian, Georges Sadoul, in for three weeks of cinematic sightseeing.

Universal prez Milton Rackmil and v.p. Americo Aboaf due for sales huddles . . . Disney pictures will play Toho houses for first time in five years as result of package deal . . . Importer-distrib Fuji Eiga, who absorbed Shingaiei, has been renamed Europe Films under new topper Noboru Watanabe . . . Sex-laden "Sin in the Suburbs" did terrific b.o. at Marunouchi Toho . . . Nippon Herald pacted with Titanus for distribution here of "I Malamondo" in deal agented by Robert M. Lury of Select International Films, Titanus' territorial rep. Titanus exec director Alfredo Burla was on hand for formal signing with Nippon Herald prez Katsumi Furukawa . . "Cleopatra" (20th-Fox) holding o.k. at Yuraku-za while "It's a Mad, etc. World" (UA-Cinerama) falling off at Shochiku Central . . "Cardinal" (Col) slated for Piccadilly in June.

Sweden's Film Prod. Shows Real Activity

Stockholm, March 31.

There is a great activity in Swedish pix studios at the present time. More and more films are being made, most of them with an eye on the international market.

Tore Sjoberg of Minerva Film is about to start production of "Brollopsbesvar" (Wedding Troubles) after an idea by the late Stig Dagerman. It will be an expensive production because it has only top-rank names in the cast.

Dagerman was an outstanding playwright and by many considered the Strindberg of our generation. After his suicide in 1954, many of his works still were unpublished. He is credited with being able to describe erotical conflicts artistically.

Lopert Sees U.S. As Sellers' Mart

Paris, April 7.

Ilya Lopert, one of the early foreign film distributors in the U.S., and now a veepee with UA, who is here on investing in foreign production, thinks one of the main changes in overseas pix setup in the U.S. is that it has become a sellers' market since the last war.

When he started in business in 1937 a French pic, or those of other nationalities, Lopert said could be bought for maybe a couple of thousand dollars and if they grossed eight or nine thousand dollars the distributors made money. Theatre overheads were also more reasonable and lower admission prices still led to good takes.

Sure, he admits that a real hit in those days brought in $40,000 while one today can take in $400,000. But there were perhaps five or six firstrun showcase houses for foreign pix in Gotham then where there are perhaps 25 today.

And that tag of "art house" still seems something of a misnomer to him. After all, most of the greatest films of all time were made in Hollywood. But in pre-war days there was no need to shunt Hollywood product into specialized houses.

Back when he started, Joe Burstyn and Irwin Shapiro were also distributing films. And the few houses usually specialized with the Little Carnegie using British pix, the 55th Street, with French; the Stanley, Russian. Another one, the Film Arts housed his first big success, the French "Mayerling," which ran 40 weeks.

JAPAN OKAYS INTERIM IMPORT PIX LICENSES

Tokyo, April 7.

Pending the expected abolishment of the film import license system starting July 1, the Finance Ministry has given approval for interim licenses to cover the period from April (beginning of Japan's fiscal annum) until the anticipated free market. There were 77 interim licenses granted.

Following lists American importer-distribs with the number of interim licenses and parenthetically, number of annual licnses for last year. MGM, 5 (19); Paramount, 5 (18); 20th-Fox, 5 (18); Warners, 5 (19); RKO Japan (including Buena Vista and BCFC), 5 (17); Columbia, 4 (14); United Artists, 4 (15); Universal, 4 (15); and Allied Artists, 3 (9).

Film Producers, Politico Leaders On Spot as Rossif's Pix Play France

By FRANCOIS PASQUALINI

Marseilles, April 7.

Animals, film producers and Spanish-speaking political leaders were in the Marseilles spotlight again recently with the showing of two of Frederic Rossif's films at the Variétes. His "Les Animaux" was acclaimed as an outstanding full-length documentary, and his "Mourir a Madrid" (To Die in Madrid), a collection of old international newsreels on the Spanish Civil War given unity and purpose through his running commentary, got a special boost from the fact that it had been previously vetoed by the French Foreign Minister in order to avoid offending Franco. When the ban was lifted, Rossif came to Marseilles to present the film himself. Rossif, who is also a French tv reporter, revealed that he had had political trouble of this kind with the French Ministry of Information a few years ago, through his refusal to remove from a retrospective telecast on Marshal Petain's 1941 visit to Marseilles a newsreel scene showing a crowd of cardinals and other high Catholic church dignitaries welcoming the top Nazi collaborator. Rossif, who has been called "a movie encyclopedia" by American experts, also disclosed that he had done "To Die in Madrid" as a tribute to Hemingway.

Cayatte's 'Double Film'

Another French producer who recently paid a trade visit to Marseilles is Andre Cayatte, whose double film "La Vie Conjugale" (Married Life) was billed simultaneously in four local theaters. The expression "double film" stems from the fact that the basic screen story is told twice, in different terms. One version, "Francoise ou la Vie Conjugales," offers the wife's viewpoint (she's an angel, of course), while "Jean-Marc ou la Vie Conjugale," the husband's account, makes him the hero, a victim of his wife's alleged or actual unfaithfulness and social ambition.

A shrewd "You be the judge" blurb is flashed on the screen prior to the showing of each film, explaining that what follows is only one side of the story, so that the curious patron, as soon as he or she has seen it, rushes for the theater where the other side is being shown. While one knows no more about the truth after watching both versions, from a box-office standpoint the stunt proves surefire. Cayatte, a former lawyer, has obviously capitalized on his legal experience by turning his firsthand observation of the quality of marital partners' statements in divorce suits into a money-making idea.

Cayatte's film savvy was further illustrated during his Marseilles visit by his explanation of why he chose Jacques Charrier and Marie Jose Nat as the stars for his double film: both actors had had unhappy marital experiences, especially Charrier, who was Brigitte Bardot's former husband.

(Cayatte repeated the technique in his latest, "Two are Guilty.")

Boxofficewise, Cayatte made this interesting remark about cinemas in general: "The best theatres are not the one's billing the best programs but those with a large-size car park in their vicinity."

Another Pic on Castro

French playwright, film producer and exnewspaperman Armand Gatti, whose allegorical play, "The Voyage of the Great Tchou," made one of his cats famous in Marseilles during the play's two-month run at the local Theatre Quotidien, is planning a film on Fidel Castro, a subject which seems to fascinate another former journalist-moviemaker, since it has already inspired Chris Marker's "Cuba Si!"

Disney's "Lobo" made a sensational Marseilles debut at the Studio under auspices of the local Societe Protectrice des Animaux (SPCA). On exhibit in the theatre's entrance hall was a live, caged wolf, a Disney gift to the Port of Seven Seas zoo, and momentarily being used as a box-office come-on.

'Woman in Dunes' Late Cannes Pix Fest Entry

Tokyo, April 7.

Indie production "Suna - no Onna" (Woman in the Dunes), which has been doing great b.o. here, was chosen as a late addition to the Cannes Film Fest lineup. It joins Ishihara International Productions' "My Enemy, the Sea" as entries from Japan. On roadshow just completed at 810-seat Miyuki-za here, "Dunes" earned a record $140,000 in 48 days.

Toho is distributing in Japan and overseas rights are being handled by Indepro International, the export are of a new company called World Films. Most plaudits have been for director Hiroshi Teshigawara, who is being hailed by some as capable of being acclaimed abroad.

Success of "Dunes" has brought about slated re-release in June here of Teshigawara's first feature pic "Kashi to Kodomo" (Swamp Terror), this time in general release. Picture previously played only art houses.

Shochiku Drops Nishiguchi Film

Tokyo, April 7.

In the face of mounting criticism, Shochiku decided to scrap plans to make a feature pic based on the alleged activities of Akira Nishiguchi, who has confessed to a series of murders but has not yet been tried. Believed to be the first time a Japanese filmery bowed to public censure, and cancelled a scheduled production.

Pressure against making of the film was spearheaded by the Civil Liberties Protection section of the Oita Judicial Affairs Bureau, which brought the matter before the Justice Ministry. Nishiguchi's aged father had first protested against the announced pic, saying his family would be immeasurably harmed by such a film.

In stating its case, the Civil Liberties agency made a written request to Shochiku calling for cancellation of the production plans. It pointed out that while the constitution guarantees freedom of expression, each individual has the right of having his honor protected. The picture would have been called "Eyes of the People" and, according to Shochiku, would have shown that crime does not pay

Rap Great Britain's Censorship of 'Texas'

Oldham, Eng., April 7.

Film censorship in the U.K. came under fire at the local council here following the local watch committee's action in mixing a Good Friday screening of "Four for Texas" (WB).

"It seems ridiculous that our children can't watch the fictional deaths of cowboys on films, but can watch the real deaths of Cypriots on television," commented one councillor.

Another suggested that the whole business of film censorship in England required a different approach.

Inside Stuff—International

Soviet Army Chorus has been touring Italy, playing to big crowds without incident. But on the evening of their final performance in Rome's Palace of Sports a group of young people started to pelt the choir with oranges and shouted "Remember Hungary" as the group sang "Russians do not want war." Police moved in and charged 15 youths with disturbing a public spectacle.

New work by Renzo Rossellini was recently premiered at the Opera in Monte Carlo. "The Language of Flowers" is title. Milan's Piccola Scala prepared the production. Monte Carlo orchestra was conducted by Piero Bellugi (formerly conductor at Davenport, Iowa and Oakland, Cal.). Scenery and costumes by George Wakhevitch. Rosanna Carteri, Fedora Barbieri, Alvinio Misciano and Rolando Panerai were the chief interpreters.

First Austrian performance of Rossini's "The Count Ory" will be given by the Volksoper on April 22. A new production of Richard Strauss' "Daphne" will be the Vienna Festival's contribution to honor the composer's 100th birthday on June 11.

MCA Making a Six-Year Promotion Of Indianapolis '500' on Cable

MCA-TV, with the optimism of a youthful scientist starting his first experiment, will soon tackle its first closed-circuit telecast—the May 30 "500" Mile Auto Race at Indianapolis.

Optimistic feeling of the company, according to Richard B. Graff, asst. to Universal general sales mgr. Henry H. Martin and now on special assignment to MCA-TV to handle sales, is based on:

(1) The tied-up rights to future telecasts of the event (for at least six years after 1964), which will enable them to work out any bugs that a first try may bring to light and to assure ticket seekers of the event's permanency. The knowledge, believes Michaels, of being permanent will help sell future years;

(2) A highly-experienced technical and broadcast crew of 102, which includes nine announcers;

(3) An elaborate outlay of equipment, some of it permanently installed, at the Speedway;

(4) An estimated 200-225 installations to be set before the event. Over 70 had been firmed as of last weekend with most of two months to go;

(5) Wide distribution of what MCA-TV claims is the most comprehensive advertising kit ever devised.

Graff said that 12 cameras and 30 microphones will be used to cover the race. A complete studio has been constructed on the Speedway grounds. Although this year telecast will be in black and white, studio is wired for full color telecasting in subsequent years. Limited tape coverage starts May 1, with full operation scheduled by May 23, enabling complete coverage of last two days of qualifying time trials. Some of this coverage will be used on telecast, prior to start of race.

With concentration of five cameras and three announcers at start-stop point, other cameras and announcers will be placed at strategic points, particularly turns and back stretch. This will give spectator a direct view of every foot of the race and fast coverage by announcer. Inserted occasionally will be brief taped comments by race personnel—track authorities, drivers, mechanics, etc. More than 9,000 feet of coaxial cable will be used with two cables to every camera. Three switchboards will be used for internal communications.

The "500" was selected by MCA-TV after an extensive survey by MCA-TV sports supervisor Jay Michaels, which indicated the race had greater family appeal than other events. A comparative study of sport events made by Sports Attendance-Triangle Publications and quoted by Michaels said that attendance of estimated 35,000,000 at auto racing last year exceeded figures for all other sports (except horse racing).

Telecast will begin at noon, EST, which means West Coast viewers will have to be in seats by 9 a.m., PST. Graff sees no problem in fact that show, first big daytime closed-circuiter, must convince spectators that it's worth their giving up four daytime hours, and on a national holiday.

Span of four hours will cover entire event, lasting until approximately ten minutes after finish and, as MCA men were quick to point out, with no danger of a quick windup as in some previous telecasts. Estimation is that event will be all-time record, topping even the Liston-Clay fight, record holder to date. The 200-225 expected installations will provide approximately 600-800,000 seats in both the U.S. and Canada.

First N.Y. spot firmed is Island Gardens, Long Island, but there will be outlets in all boroughs, MCA-TV said. Pact with Speedway requires no outlets be signed within 150-mile radius of Indianapolis. This means elimination (as customers) of such large cities as Cincinnati, Louisville, Dayton, etc. Closest major outlets will be in Chicago and Detroit.

Whether a smash or only a moderate success, first telecast will be sounding board for future events. These, according to Graff and Michaels, will have heavy emphasis on sports but anything will be considered with a national, regional or even sectional appeal. Looking far ahead, one that will get top attention is the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City.

Ticket Taker at 95

Minneapolis, April 7.

Ticket-taker Charles Cobb at the Minnesota Amusement Co. Lyric will be 96 years old his next birthday. At another MAC house the age is 84 and at three Ted Mann theatres the age range is 75 to 86.

All of these eledrly ticket-takers, including Cobb, have been enjoying perfect health ever since they've been on their present jobs and declare they experience no difficulty in staying on their feet for a total of six hours and sometimes more daily.

The 95-year old Cobb didn't start his present show biz career until he was 85 years old—ten years ago. Prior to that for 23 years he had been a telegrapher in a stock broker's office.

Bob Carr, Lyric manager, says that Cobb sets an example for all other of the theatre's employes, being always on the job at 10 a.m.—never late—and being conscientious in every other respect.

British Actors Equity Vexed At Toll Terms

London, April 7.

British Actors Equity, in its 33d annual report, has lambasted the Government for limiting the size of the projected toll tv experiment which should be rolling here by the end of the year.

Union, which recommended the establishment of paysee to the Pilkington Committee, says: "A full national toll system would ... have made possible a close and correct relationship between remuneration of performers and the size of audience which they serve ... This experiment is pathetically different from anything we advocated. The whole of the transmissions will be on wire and different companies have each been given absurdly small areas in which to operate.

"It seems inconceivable that any of them should be able even to recoup the cost of, e.g., the ambitious program of opera. Accordingly, it seems more likely that the toll tv experiment will be used less for purposes of genuine television than as a sort of additional cinema."

Report goes on: "It is impossible to believe that this form of experiment can do what the Government claims to be its purpose, i.e. to show whether tollvision is acceptable to the public or could find sufficient new program material to justify itself.

"This could be shown only in an experiment on a scale which would give a reasonable opportunity to enterprising experimenters of recovering their costs on that ambitious type of program which nationwide tollvision would make possible."

BROADCASTERS: 'OUR ROCKS AT TOLL-READY'

Los Angeles, April 7.

National Assn. of Broadcasters general counsel Douglas Anello met with reps of the Citizens Crusade Free TV here Friday (3) to explore ways and means NAB can render service to the Joint Committee Against Pay TV.

NAB went on record as opposing pay tv in any form at its directors meeting in Florida in Feb. Anello discussed methods by which NAB could aid in campaign to repeal the California law which permits pay tv in the state. Also at meeting were Joint Committee chairman Philip F. Harling, Robert W. Selig, Arnold Childhouse, Don Gutman and Fred Stein.

Julian Myers, publicist, entering indie film production with "Mistress of the Sea," scripted by Mark Hanna.

Levine Further Details Why Production Demands Shake Him Out as Exhib

Joseph E. Levine, Embassy Pictures prez, last week reaffirmed his feeling that "we don't belong in exhibition," referring to his company and its operations. Nonetheless, he indicated that he will continue to operate the Festival Theatre on W. 57th Street and is proceeding with construction of the Lincoln Art Theatre in the same area.

Some months ago, speaking before the press in Boston, Levine had commented that his exhibition holdings were taking time and effort away from exploitation activities essential to pic production. He used "The Easy Life" as an example of a pic which he admittedly allowed to practically sneak into Boston despite the fact that he considered it a solid boxoffice prospect with the right ballyhoo. He blamed the situation on the fact that his local exhibition holdings were absorbing too much attention.

The Embassy prez subsequently sold his Boston theatre interests, which first launched him into the film biz. In New York he's partnered with James J. Mage in the Festival operation but still his staff spends time and effort working on things related to the house when Levine feels they could better use their time on picture promotion.

Despite the distraction, the theatre has proved a good showcase for some of his pix, although it has played other company's product as well. Federico Fellini's "8½" was a resounding success daydating in the Festival with the Broadway-localled New Embassy (no relation). His current "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" is topping "8½" biz in the house, daydating with another off-Broadway situation.

So, in spite of whatever headaches may be involved and regardless of the fact that the prez may feel that Embassy doesn't belong in exhibition, it will continue theatre operation, in New York at least. Having one's own showcase for one's own hit apparently is just too tempting—until the right buyer comes along.

Tucson Seeking Pay-See Sanction

Tucson, April 7.

Atlas Television & Radio Inc., an Arizona corporation, has filed an application with the FCC to operate here 24 hours a day, with pay tv from 7 p.m. to midnight. With FCC approval, it plans to be on the air about Aug. 1.

Fronting as president of the new venture is Mrs. Margaret Kay of Tucson, an employe of the local law firm of Holesapple, Conner, Jones, McFall & Johnson, which also has radio interests on the West Coast.

Other principals are Raymond Hayes, associated with the firm of Johnson, Darrow, D'Antonio, Hayes & Morales, vice president, and Paul Hosking, credit manager of San Xavier Rock & Sand Co., secretary-treasurer. Melvin Berstler of Chicago, formerly with WGN-TV there, will be director of engineering.

Lady president said the station would employ about 15 persons and would have a monthly payroll of $10,000. The station probably will transmit from atop the 17-floor Tucson House.

Atlas applied to operate on Channel 40 of the UHF range and, since it will not have major network affiliation, plans to buy syndicated shows, movies and local shows.

Mrs. Kay said no schedule of charges has been worked out, but that the pay period will specialize in sports events.

Frank Gorshin and his personal manager, Leonard Grant, formed G & G Productions to make feature films and develop tv properties, initial feature to be "An Incident on a Quiet Street."

Dr. Richard Vetter, coinventor of the "Dimension 150" projection process, will be guest luncheon speaker on Saturday (11) at the Theatre Equipment Dealers Assn. convention in Chicago.

NBC Sees Fiscal Doom For Pay-TV But, If Successful, They'll Be In It

Married Talent

Bradford Dillman and Suzy Parker (Mrs. Dillman) will head cast of producer Al Hine's "Child's Play," to be shot on Cape Cod locations this summer.

Hine, who was exec producer on "Lord of the Flies," believes in husband-wife teams as pic's director-writer is Sesyle Joslin (Mrs. Hine).

British Toll Mulls (1) Aid to Exhibs; (2) Pic Clearance

By HAROLD MYERS

London, April 7.

Last obstacles are being flattened out, and all the signs point to the payvision contractors receiving their licenses from the Postmaster-General by the time the month is out. There are still outstanding problems, but areas of disagreement are being narrowed, and a final settlement is within sight, thus making a full start of the new service something of a reality.

There are, however, a number of major hurdles still to be surmounted, not the least of which is the active resistance to the setting up of the new service by a vocal group of independent picture theatre operators who fear their livelihoods are at stake. These indie exhibs have formed themselves into an active defence organization, agitating for the maximum protection as well as seeking rigid safeguards, among them a restriction on the showing of feature films, be they British or American or continental.

So far, the five toll companies which have been nominated to operate the trial runs in London and the provinces are ready to do all that is reasonably possible to help the small theatre owner. They've agreed among themselves to the principle of setting up a fund which would compensate exhibitors for a loss of income, and even for total shutdown, though the methods by which such a fund would be administered have yet to be resolved. The income, however, would be based on a percentage of revenue, and all the coin would go into a common pool for the benefit of the independents.

The payvision contractors are also reconciled to the fact that they will have to contribute their whack to the statutory Eady fund, though once again the mechanics have yet to be worked out. It is still unclear, at this stage, whether the contribution will be calculated on the basis of total income, or whether it will be confined to the revenue received on the showing of feature films.

Also to be resolved is the question of the time gap between the presentation of a feature on general release theatrically, and its availability for screening via pay-tv. The indies are clamoring for a minimum six-months interval, but this would be totally unacceptable to the feevee outfits. They feel that the gap must be narrowed to days or, at the most, a few weeks if they are to have half a chance to make a go of the trials.

One area which loomed as a major danger-point, however, is likely to be agreed without much difficulty. The original draft license prepared by the Postmaster-General recommended a British film quota of 30 percent, comparable with the theatrical quota, but the unions wanted it lifted to something approaching the commercial tv 86 percent quota. It appears, however, as if that latter recommendation has been lost in the shuffle, and the draft license still incorporates the 30 percent recommendation.

The five payvision outfits have drafted their own observations to these outstanding problems, following their meeting with top Post Office officials last Wednesday (1).

NBC-TV's board chairman Robert Sarnoff and prexy Robert Kintner predict economic failure for pay television, but, unlike the current stand of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, the network execs do not think there should be Federal legislation to prohibit payvee by wire.

Sarnoff and Kintner discuss payvee at length in the last of their occasional letters addressed to all personnel at NBC. They cite the fact that payvee has come to the fore again through recent efforts of Subscription Television Inc. to establish pay-tv in California and NAB's switch to advocacy of legislation against payvee.

"On the basis of NBC research," says the letter," ... we have serious questions as to whether it can succeed economically. Certainly none of the systems that has gone into operation in the past has given any cause for optimism about pay-tv's future. The fact that pay-tv has not got off the ground until how, however, doesn't mean that it may not at some time in the future. If such a system should succeed economically, we believe it could do so only by outbidding free broadcasting for the talent and attractions that have demonstrated popularity."

Such a situation, the execs feel, would give these attractions a limited audience, which "scarcely seems to square with the public interest." Subsequently, they say, a significant minority would be forced to move to payvee, thus weekening the economy of advertiser-supported tv and limiting the ability of sponsors to bankroll a variety of specialized programming, particularly news, info and culture.

"This is why we have opposed turning over broadcast frequencies to pay-tv and subverting them to the purposes of 'narrowcasting,' say Sarnoff and Kintner. "We recognize that wired pay-tv could have the same undesirable consequences as pay-tv over the air. However, unlike the NAB, we have not thought it appropriate in principle to oppose wired pay-tv, which will not deprive free broadcasting of the frequencies that are intended for service to the entire public."

The execs say that NBC has no present interest in entering pay tv, but if it should prove to be economically feasible and thus a "vanquishing competitive force," they would have no choice but to enter the field.

"One area of programming that has long sweetened the dreams of pay television promoters is sports," says the letter to staff. "Yet, ironically, sports programming offers a striking illustration of what commercial television already offers free of charge, both in quality and quantity."

The execs go on to cite NBC's recent moves on the sports scene, including the recent NCAA and American League football deals, summer Olympics, continued World Series coverage and increased bowl football schedule."

TelePrompter, '63, Earnings $80,363

TelePrompter Corp. had earnings of $80,363, equal to 11c a share, in 1963. Gross revenues were $4,896,368. These figures compare with the 1962 totals which showed earnings of $55,957, equal to seven cents a share, on a gross of $5,431,930.

Irving B. Kahn, chairman and prez, predicted growth in profits in 1964 due to a greater emphasis on community antenna tv systems and related activities being undertaken by TelePro. He said that the 1962 and 1963 figures are not comparable since the '63 totals reflect the disposition of three manufacturing divisions of Cherry Hill, N.J., as of Sept. 1.

Accordingly, the 1963 numbers include a net non-recurring gain of $106,370 primarily from the sale of the properties, which was more than offset by a loss for eight months of operation of the Cherry Hill divisions, Kahn said. Meanwhile, all of the retained divisions of the company are reported operating profitably. Sale of the manufacturing divisions will enable greater concentration of CATV, Kahn noted.

TelePrompter's annual meeting will be held May 5, Kahn reported.

TILTING AT OLD WINDMILLS

Collins' 5-Point 'Progress' Projection

Chicago, April 7.

Along with an upbeat progress report for the year past, citing victories in full scale battles with the Government and strides made by NAB's new Broadcast Rating Council, Gov. Leroy Collins offered members of the industry organization he presides over an onward-and-upward prescription for the year 1964. It consists of:

1) The further development of broadcast codes, including greater "public visibility" and greater industry reliance upon them;

2) A substantial improvement of radio programming, led by the innovators, the men of inquiring minds and the men who believe in research and realize they do not now have all the answers;

3) Active opposition to pay-tv through impressing upon the public "the great democratic values of free broadcasting . . . and the importance of not having the best of it drained off for only the benefit of a limited number who will ante up special fees for the special privilege," promising a class system in television based on ability to pay;

4) Strenghening of government relations, by seeking to work constructively and in harmony with those in authority "but reserving the power to move with force against any threat . . . that would destroy our lawful freedoms or hamstring our efforts to serve;"

5) Broadening the vision and service of broadcasting through a willingness to serve the nation and the cause of the free world. The NAB leader suggested here that just as the Peace Corps represents a beginning in making friends of peoples abroad, communications can take the next step toward the same end. Collins said he would soon appoint a committee on international broadcasting to explore the need for more NAB effort on an international level.

In point of pay-tv, Collins told broadcasters that much of the public "is being tempted by improbable promises by pay-tv proponents, and they have not been effectively warned of the irreparable damage" the pay system can cause to free tv. "We should puncture a few promotional balloons," he said.

"It is not primarily competition that we oppose, although, admittedly, broadcasters have self-interests involved . . . If the public is aware of what pay-tv will do to family budgets and family viewing habits and still wants to pay, broadcasters can, and doubtless will, provide it. But first the public should be made better aware of the facts. If there is not developed a sufficient public understanding of its stake, a door may soon be opened that can never be closed."

McGannon's Swipe at Intellectuals Who Ask Better TV But Don't Watch; Calls for War on 'Poverty of Ideas'

Chicago, April 7.

Westinghouse Broadcasting prexy Donald H. McGannon, upon receiving this year's NAB distinguished service award, told fellow broadcasters that it was both their privilege and obligation to assume a leader's role in the national matters of civil rights and poverty, and further he urged them to wage war on what he termed "The Poverty of Ideas."

The latter, he averred, is a new kind of war against anti-democratic forces which can only be won by the "Powers of Freedom." The war must be waged, he said, to achieve the true potential of radio and tv, and it requires talented and creative people. McGannon termed it a human stride that broadcasting must make to keep pace with its technical strides. "A relay satellite, remarkable as it is, cannot produce television shows," he said.

Broadcasters, he said, must be "thought leaders and action

(Continued on page 50)

Ollie Treyz's New Station Reppery

Chicago, April 7.

Ollie Treyz, former prexy of ABC-TV, is back in broadcasting now as a partner in his own television station rep firm, National Television Sales Inc. It's his third move since being deposed as ABC-TV prexy—the first having been with Warner Bros. and the most recent with Revlon-Schick.

Treyz is associated in the reppery venture with Tom Judge, ex-CBS-TV Spot Sales, and Jack Mohler of Storer Television Sales. He describes his new role as that of a hard-selling "proxy" sales manager for a short list of tv stations and says he'll call personally on top decision makers at the agencies. The firm has a temporary address on Lexington Ave. in New York and is initiating its pitch for clients at NAB.

Triangle Tintups

Chicago, April 7.

Status of color on Triangle Publications' stations finds WFBG, Altoona, and WNHC, New Haven, set to join two other Triangle outlets this month capable of telecasting film in color.

WFIL, Philadelphia, and WNBF, Binghamton, already telecast in color locally. Triangle's station in Fresno, KFRE, is expected to join the color lineup this year, with the question of WLYH, Lebanon, going to color remaining open.

Collins Deplores B'casters Refusal 'To Get Involved'

Chicago, April 7.

Accepting the complacency of today's broadcaster, NAB prexy LeRoy Collins at a pre-convention news conference on Sunday (5) had some unkind words to say about the broadcasting fraternity, particularly their unwillingness to "become involved" in worthwhile programming undertakings, such as serious drama.

Said Collins: "I want to see the broadcaster be a leader—a force, but he's got to be willing to get more involved than he has been so far."

Generally deploring the sad state of tv programming in the area of live drama, Collins likened the indifference of the average broadcaster to the case of the 38 witnesses to the recent murder of the woman in Long Island, not one of whom made an effort to intervene or notify the police. Such refusal to "become involved," he averred, is indeed lamentable.

SHADOW BOXING DOMINATES NAB

By GEORGE ROSEN

Chicago, April 7.

At this year's NAB convention everything is shadow-boxing, pigeon holing, committeeizing and strawmanship.

The real issues, the vital matters that are really on the minds and consciences of the nation's broadcasters are as if by covert covenant, being bypassed in the official agenda and in the public speeches.

For to grapple with the real, meaningful issues, in the opinion of many an astute, veteran convention-goer, is to compromise the dollar income whose level and resultant profits have made quantum jumps in the past year as to astound even the most optimistic breed of broadcaster.

And thus all is complacency—and even the silence from the White House in the form of no official greetings from the President of the United States, which has always been customary in the past, is "understood." After all "Lyndon" is one of their fellow broadcasters, and having waxed wealthy in their fraternity, is inclined, as they understand, to avoid any semblance of open fellowship with the chosen few hundred who are making it big in their respective communites.

For LBJ's "Better Deal" in broadcasting is now administered by a tamed post-Minow FCC. It had made previously arch Republican broadcasters the very citadel of Democratic support. Such a situation gives the idealists, the remaining vestiges of Minowites, little to talk or dream about. With the vast majority there is little concern that yesterday's tv wasteland is more like a desert, so long as it's yielding the evergrowing bounty of commercial network clearances, compensation checks and spot dollars.

But to retain a semblance of respectability and responsibility, Gov. Le Roy Collins has dutifully tilted at the old windmills, furiously battering the old straw men as the insiders cheered on his "idealism." The trick is to embrace a highsounding, piously worded regulation that indicts, for example, a ciggie commercial that is oriented towards teenagers, but at the same time is sufficiently vague (as illustrated in his pre-convention news conference on Sunday) to permit the full flow of the $130,000,000 in ciggie tv ad revenues that helps make tv broadcasters so tremendously prosperous in the first year of the LBJ era.

Thus, Gov. Collins' press conference and adroitly worded remarks to news correspondents provided a respectable facade, but left unanswered:

1. What about public service? The NAB provided no forum to explore or consider this vital question.

2. What about better programming? While there was a panel discussion that probed into this issue, its most illustrious participant was Joe Levine, whose contribution to American tv culture and art lies in his production and distribution of foreign-vintaged pix.

3. What about the Presidential debates? While Collins at his press conference issued a supporting platitude, the broadcasters were privately banking on what they are sure is the LBJ disposition to skip them this year. After all, such debates would preempt four highly profitable prime time hours and the broadcasters are just as against poverty as the White House.

4. What about commercials? Now that Congress has forbidden the FCC to establish rules and regulations and has tossed the hot potato back to industry "self-government," the issue was magnificently committeeized and otherwise subdued, by every parliamentary device known, to obscurity.

FCC's Henry Challenges Collins On Pay-TV; Champions 'Free & Fee Coexistence & Let Public Decide'

Chicago, April 7.

Once again the FCC gives the NAB no shoulder to cry on.

Only 24 hours after the broadcast organization declared war on pay-tv, via its leader and spokesman Gov. LeRoy Collins, FCC chairman E. William Henry soberly viewed the growing reality of pay systems as perhaps desirable and spoke of it as, at this stage, an enigma meriting the commission's study and attention. His speech—his debut before the industry body as successor to Newton Minow—clearly implied a willingness to let the public cast its vote and expressed a private hope that the pay and free systems might coexist in a way that would offer greater variety of service to the television consumer.

Played against Collins' address of the day before (see separate story), with its assertion that pay-tv spelled doom for free television as it's known today, Henry's words struck a dissonant note.

However, broadcasters were able to take heart from Henry's view that pay television—even in the wire form that is now being set up in Los Angeles and San Francisco—should be brought under Federal control so that it may be "a supplemental, not a substitute service."

"Wire pay-tv should not be allowed to grow like Topsy," Henry said. "For pay television in any form must have a public interest justification. It cannot be so justified unless it brings to the public a greater variety of choices through specialized high quality programming. And in my opinion, if pay-tv is to come into our homes it should not be allowed to bring the sponsor's commercials with it. If viewers must pay for additional programming, they must not pay twice."

Giving the pay system its merits,

(Continued on page 50)

NBC's Affil Rib Roast

Chicago, April 7.

Last week NBC trimmed Chet Huntley's beef. This week it dished out a rib roast to the affiliates at the network's annual NAB convention get-together with the affils at the Conrad Hilton by shipping out en masse that cast of "That Was The Week That Was" for a half-hour of "trade stuff." It all came off in good style.

Dave Tebet, NBC's impresario in charge of the entertainment, could have gone the "safe" way by spotting the web's comics and personalities but instead he elected to go with the rib & roast technique. It was good fun, with Henry Morgan in particular a resounding click.

Goldenson Fights 2-Front Pitch For Seats On AB-PT

Chicago, April 7.

Probably the hottest off-the-agenda item at the NAB Convention here was the wide-range corridor discussion and exchange of views anent Leonard Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, and his impassioned speech to the affiliates advisory committee at last Saturday's closed-door ABC-TV meet at which Goldenson asserted and categorically promised that neither Norton Simon nor any other prominent financial quarters buying heavily into AB-PT would be allowed seats on his 14-man board. Goldenson told them he's got "the tickets" from holders of 35% of the stock to retain absolute and tight corporate control.

A new group bidding for a voice on the AB-PT board consists of a combination of two mutual fund companies, Putnam Growth Fund of Boston and Oppenheimer & Co.

The AB-PT board's decision received strong support today (Tues.) from major stockholders throughout the country, who expressed their feelings in calls to members of the board and to company officials attending the NAB convention and at headquarters in N.Y.

of N. Y., and a N. Y. investor, Walter R. Scheuer.

Goldenson thus vehemently spiked reports that industrialist Simon would unseat him and told the key affils that Simon would not be able to get a seat on the board because it was inconsistent with corporate policy to have a director whose other business interests are competitive with the network advertisers. Goldenson said he took the matter up with the other board members and they agreed.

But in rival network suites, where key officials of the other webs also participate in talks of their own, there was less certainty that Goldenson would not indeed face a proxy fight, particularly on the issue of cumulative voting, retention of which in the AB-PT corporate structure would give minority stockholders definite seats on the board.

The AB-PT board will propose the elimination of cumulative voting at a special stockholder meeting May 19. Under cumulative voting, 350,000 votes would be sufficient to elect one board member.

Goodman: TV Too Big for Sluffoff

Chicago, April 7.

Television has proved itself too valuable an instrument of information to be barred arbitrarily from courtrooms, from legislative chambers or hearing rooms or from any other precinct that is, or should be, open to the public, NBC's Julian Goodman, v.p. in news and public affairs, told the Assn. for Professional Broadcasting Education in assembly here.

"Like many of the great technological advances of the past," said Goodman, "television has arrived providentially at a time when its capabilities are most needed by the society it serves. With its ability to arouse interest, to communicate experience directly to the total public, television could not have been better suited to the complex needs of a modern democracy if it had been specifically designed for the purpose. We will not be doing our duty to the future, unless we see that it has every opportunity to fulfill that potential."

In Goodman's opinion, tv and the public alike "have proved their maturity beyond any dispute. It can no longer be reasonably argued that television, and by inference the public at large, do not have the judment and responsibility to be permitted access to events that are otherwise open to the press. Nor can it be maintained that our cameras, which were permitted inside the UN General Assembly during the missle crisis and inside the church during the funeral of President Kennedy, are too distracting to be allowed to cover the Senate hearing of the Bobby Baker case."

Tanner's Travelling Tote Board Hottest Innovation Since Ampex

By LES BROWN

Chicago, April 7.

The scene-stealer at this year's NAB sideshow on the exhibit floor —making the most sensational debut at a convention since Ampex video tape — is the Tanner Electronic Survey Tabulation panel truck, the brainchild of a 28-year-old Californian, Jim Tanner, which most broadcasters seem to think (or hope) will replace television ratings as we know them today.

It's this year's answer to last year's big NAB problem, the new foolproof system to measure television viewing—assuming it has as much merit as the broadcast engineers who have checked it out seem to think—and the comments etched in the guest book at the exhibit range from "unbelievable" and "at last" to "will revolutionize audience research and tv sales."

While it has inconspicuous space on the exhibit floor and is so ordinary looking that it's easy to miss among the electronic wonders that surround it in the fantasy world that has been made of the Conrad Hilton lower level, it's getting the greatest word of mouth of all. Just how practical a system it will be remains to be seen, but as it stands now on the exhibit floor it's the answer to a broadcaster's dream.

Where it goes from here depends on whether a national firm will lease the vehicles from the inventor, who's not interested in going into the rating business himself but wants only to supply the technical equipment. Tanner states that while there have been numerous inquiries from prospective users of his travelling tote board as yet there's been nary a one from any of the existing rating services. He wants it to be the uniform system of the tv industry, controlled by the industry but with a private company operating it.

The compact panel truck with the electronic unit mounted inside and a bizarre rotating directional antenna projecting from the front costs tanner between $10-$15,000 to build. And he says he'd lease them through a cost-plus basis. At an average speed of 15 mph (although it can count just as accurately at 60 mph) the unit can tabulate several hundred tv sets per minute or an average of 4,000 per half hour. Fifty trucks moving at that speed can do 1,200,000 sets in normal urban density in four hours, and apartment buildings containing several hundred sets present no problem. The counting automatically stops at the speed of 5 mph and there's supposedly no chance that any tv set would be counted more than once.

Magnetic impulses picked up by the rotating antenna are registered electronically on tape inside the truck, and the tape is then taken to a central headquarters where it's collated with existing stored

(Continued on page 56)

AB-PT's 25c Divvy

Directors of AB-PT, the ABC net parent, declared a second quarter divvy of 25c per share on outstanding common.

It's payable June 15 to holders of record May 15.

Film 'Mavericks' At Chi Get Slice Of the Syndie Pie

Chicago, April 7.

Film syndication houses, which elected to be on their own, had varied fortunes at the NAB convention here. Maverick Film Syndicators—that that elected not to join TFE-'64—include MCA-TV, Walter Reade-Sterling, Metro-TV, syndication subsids of the three networks, and others.

Fortunes of those syndicators depended on the desirability of the product, with traffic heavy at MCA, MGM-TV, ABC films, and a few others. It was obvious from a round of these hospitality suites, located in the main at the Conrad Hilton, scattering on different floors, that the smaller film firms just didn't draw. In comparison, some of the smaller film syndication houses, which threw in their lot with TFE-'64, benefited from the traffic pulled in by the major TFE firms such as Screen Gems, United Artists Television, Seven Arts Associated, Four Star, Desilu, et al.

The major syndicators outside TFE fold apparently had no trouble in attracting potential broadcast buyers. There's a pinch on the pool of good, commercial product available for syndication, and the need of such product stimulates the visits by broadcasters.

ABC Films used the convention to kick off the third year of "Girl Talk," the half-hour across-the-board daytime strip which has outlasted many a touted action adventure series. The Hank Plitt-helmed ABC subsid also bought 14 sand-and-sandal features (Joe Levine et al) for tv distribution. First major sale on "Breaking Point," off-network series handled by ABC Films was with Metromedia stations.

New product of Metro, MCA, etc., keyed for the convention push already has been tabulated.

NAB 'CLEARING HOUSE' FOR ADS DRAWS RAPS

Katz reppery exec and prexy of the Station Representatives Assn. Ed Codel has written a letter to NAB Code Authority director Howard Bell taking strong exception to the idea of establishing a central clearing house of tv ad copy and the checking of product claims.

Codel's letter states, "While we energetically support your efforts to eliminate advertising claims that are 'detrimental to the best interests of advertising and to public acceptance,' ultimate acceptance or rejection of any advertising must remain in the hands of the individual broadcaster."

He added, "An advisory office designed to counsel and clarify Code interpretations might well prove to be a real help to advertisers and their agencies, and to broadcasters, but final judgment lies with the specific stations or networks involved."

Abe Voron Helms FM B'cast Assn.

Chicago, April 7.

Abe J. Voron, WQAL, Philadelphia, was elected chairman of the board of directors of the National Assn. of FM Broadcasters.

NAFMB, moving into the field of awards, announced that a "major" awards program for FM was launched this year to commemorate the 25th anni of the first regularly scheduled FM broadcast from Alpine, N.J., and in honor of the late Major Edwin H. Armstrong, the inventing father of FM. The Armstrong Memorial Research Foundation is sponsoring the awards program, categories for which will range from entertainment to community service.

Mrs. Marion Armstrong, the widow of the inventor, was honored by NAFMB for her "significant service to the FM industry" and for her untiring support in furthering the work of her late husband. She was presented with an engraved plaque to commemorate the formal event.

'Remember Hollywood'

Chicago, April 7.

Dick Pack, WBC programming chief, told the NAB convention delegates at the program symposium that the tv industry should be warned by the film business.

"In its gold-and-glory days," said Pack, "the Hollywood film industry allowed itself to become victim of hardening of creative and management arteries. Tv competition was not the only cause of Hollywood's decline. The bright hustling young producer of the '20s became the mighty studio head of the '30s and '40s and the tired tycoon of the '50s and '60s. And beneath these 'grand old men' there were no reserves; no creative or executive defense in depth; no preparation for future manpower.

"Local stations and groups have special responsibility to find, train and develop people for their own future—and for the entire industry. Local stations cannot allow themselves to become mere pushbutton-ride-the-network satellites or programming local hours only from cans of film.

Convention Capers

Chicago, April 7.

South Dakota Broadcasters Assn. received the first annual NAB code authority "award of merit" for its distinction as the first state attaining 100% subscription to the Radio Code. The new award, established at this convention, will be given each year to the State Broadcaster Assn. deemed to have made the most significant contribution to strengthening industry self-regulation. In making the award code authority director Howard H. Bell said the South Dakota broadcasters accomplished what they did "not because they were destined to, but because they were determined to."

Richard Shively, veep and manager of Polaris Broadcasting, squired "Miss Tall U.S.A." Carol Dettman, at the convention to promote the new tall tower of Polaris' KTHI, Fargo, N.D., boasted as "highest man-made tower" in the country. The gal, a six-foot beauty, got an acting job out of it. Martin Umansky, veep-general manager of KAKE-TV, Wichita, and also managing director of Wichita Community Theatre, signed her to play the Julie Newmar role in an upcoming production of "Marriage-Go-Round." Shively, incidentally, will move Polaris headquarters from Evansville, Ind., to Chicago shortly.

The ABC cocktail party this year was such a roaring hit that photographer Mickey Pallas complained of not being able to shoot a single picture. "There were so many people I could never back up far enough to focus," he said.

ABC affiliates board elected Tom Chisman, WVEC, Norfolk, Va., chairman this year. Vice chairman is Herb Cahan, WJZ, Baltimore; secretary, Burton Ladow, KTVK of Phoenix, and treasurer Robert Wiegand, WTVN of Columbus.

Sterling (Red) Quinlan corraled five members of the FCC staff plus commissioners Robert E. Lee and Frederick Ford for an informal lunch on Saturday with the brasshats of Field Enterprises Inc., Chicago publishing house which he is steering into broadcasting. Quinlan, a former veep of ABC, attended the various network functions that day as still a member of the family. He had resigned in January, but with a consultancy.

Michael Reddington, exec producer for Associated Television in London, taking in the NAB sessions as an observer. Reddington is in the U.S. on an Eisenhower Fellowship grant to o.o. American tv.

Bennett Korn, Metromedia's tv cheiftain, on the scene for "smoke-filled rooms" powwowing in bid to muster support for his election to NAB board to project Metro-media move prominently into industry affairs.

Al Sussman, WBC Program Sales, hosting reception for Steve Allen, in from Coast to meet stations carrying his syndicated show. Also on hand to greet customers and potential clients is star of WBC's other syndicated daily show, Mike Douglas, from Cleveland. Both Douglas and Allen are ex-Chicagoans.

Missing from the NBC-affil shindig is network prexy Bob Kinter, who was forced to remain in New York because of back ailment. However, board chairman Bob Sarnoff was on deck along with other NBC echelon.

At the Pump Room at the Ambassador East, Harold Goldman made a handshake deal with Chicago gossip columnist Irv Kupcinet to syndicate his long-running WBKB talkfest, "Kup's Show."

Carl Haverlin, retired BMI prexy who's retained as a consultant of the music licensing firm, is doubling as a consultant for Tanner Electronic Survey Tabulation (the new mobile tv rating device) and is working the test booth on the exhibit floor.

This year's engineering achievement award of the Broadcast Engineering Conference went to John W. Dewitt Jr., president of WSM Inc., Nashville. The citation recognized his pioneering spirit in broadcasting engineering, his efforts to foster engineering advances over three decades, his contributions in the field of radar and radio astronomy and his leadership of a station "consistent with the highest ideals of his profession."

James Gerity Jr., owner and operator of WNEM-TV, Saginaw-Flint, Mich., said he was all for the Television Film Exhibit at the Pick-Congress Hotel. He said on one floor he can practically program his station by visiting suppliers, which for him happen to be Seven Arts Associated, National Telefilm Associates, and Screen Gems.

NAB Launches Rating Audit

The NAB's Rating Council, set up to monitor tv and radio rating services in the wake of the Congressional hearings last spring into the broadcast numbers, last week sent three CPA firms into the field to begin auditing the ratings in various markets.

The audit follows a compilation of criteria for broadcast ratings that was outlined at a meeting of the Council last week. At the session it was announced that NBC research veepee Hugh Beville would chair a committee dealing with the accreditation procedure for those rating services that don't conduct surveys on a regular basis and those that are local or regional in scope.

Council was also briefed on the studies and activities of the Committee on National TV Audience Measurements via a presentation by ABC veepee Julius Barnathan and NBC's Beville.

NAB's Variation On an 'Open End' Programmatic Theme, Chi Highlight

Chicago, April 7.

Innovation of this year's NAB convention, a panel discussion on TV Programming, put the spotlight where it belonged—on the crucial need both on the local and network level to keep pace with the American appetite for watching tv.

That the six-man panel, representing all segments of the industry, didn't come up with ready answers under the kleiglights of the nearby Blackstone Theatre, was understandable.

The key programming problems though were explored and there was some food for thought offered to the assembled broadcasters, who filled the house. Whether the issues raised become as faded as an old show on David Susskind's "Open End" remains to be seen. It would be useful for the NAB to have another program panel next year, under the banner of "progress program conference '65." This time out, staged across the street from the Conrad Hilton Hotel, site of the NAB meet, was called "program conference '64," with the participants being Mike Dann, of CBS-TV, representing the network view, Hubbell Robinson, the view of the indie producer; Dick Pack, of Group W, representing the group stations, Bob Rich, of Seven Arts Associated, syndicators; and Joe Levine, the motion picture producer.

Highlights of the questions raised were these:

1. Need of tv to develop new talent, both before and behind the camera. Dann invited local broadcasters to become sponsors of the "farm team" for network talent.

Joe Levine's Pitch

2. Growing dearth of motion pictures available to tv. Motion picture impresario Joe Levine asked the broadcasters to be "more daring" and telecast the sophisticated pix in late night spots. Robinson said indie producers, such as himself, could possibly fill the void, if a proper economic liaison could be established with broadcasters, apart from the networks.

The frame of reference of the panel was free (commercial) tv as we know it. No one dealt a curve to the advertising fraternity, or the rating game, as establishing terms of reference held out by its proponents as an alternative way of nurturing fresh approaches to new programming. Pay-tv was mentioned only in passing.

Levine in his opening remarks came out like a lion, warning that "tv is an entertainment laggard," but before the discussion was over acknowledged that he didn't know too much about the medium, that he hopes to end his "civilian" status soon, and join the "military" brothers of the fraternity.

Dann, all the way, played it cool, deflating the Levine balloon about the need for "guts," when Levine cited a slang expression on a network show as an example of guts. Dann underlined the need for fresh talent, citing that as the "crisis" of the industry.

Seven Arts Associate's Bob Rich spoke highly of the rating pull of pix on the local level and questioned the use of features on the networks. That may endear him to his company, which pursues that policy, but it won't endear him to the pix suppliers, Metro-TV, United Artists Associates, et al. who have sold and hope to continue to sell to the networks. He held out some hope for more first-run vidfilm product.

Group W's Pack explored the possibilities of group operations getting more and more into the programming act. He, too, saw the need for the development of talent, and his yearning for programming seemed to respond to Robinson's call for station buyers of indie producers.

Jules Power, moderated the panel in okay fashion and Clair McCollough did the introductions. The questions from the audience were few—indicative that broadcasters, while they do have problems, are enjoying good profits and record audiences.

B'CASTERS ON BOOZE & BUTTS

Collins Thinks Celler's All Wet

Chicago, April 7.

NAB prexy, Gov. LeRoy Collins, takes exception to Rep. Emmanuel Celler's (D.-N.Y.) view that the code authority ban on hard liquor is hyprocritical. "It's not hyprocrisy," Collins said at the traditional pre-convention press conference. "Distillers wouldn't want to advertise if they didn't think it would promote greater use of their product. The sale of more hard liquor in this country than is now going on is not in the public interest."

He said that in principle he felt the same way about cigaret advertising. "I don't think it is good for broadcasting to promote the use of cigarets either. An adult should be able to use his own judgment as to whether or not he wants to smoke cigarets, but we owe it to his children not to impress them with the glamor of its use."

Collins, with apparent pleasure, stated that he has felt no indication that a sizable number of broadcasters would follow the WQXR lead and go after hard liquor advertising.

Backed by Numbers and Class Audience, FM Moves Into Profit Era

Chicago, April 7.

For the first time, the 1,200 FM stations in the U.S. plunged into the numbers game on a national scale, and, on the basis of two separate studies, there were forecasts that FM in the U.S. has finally "come of age" and "will turn the profit corner."

Other highlights of the convention of National Assn. of FM Broadcasters (NAFMB), held here in the Conrad Hilton, in conjunction with the annual conclave of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, were these:

1. Federal Communication Commissioner Kenneth Cox took a position to discourage duplicating stations. AM and FM outlets with common ownership and the same programming. Of all commonly owned AM and FM stations, there should be no more than 50% with duplicating programming, he said. Opinion he expressed was his own, but he indicated that there was support for his position among other commissioners.

2. A qualified endorsement of FM by Herbert Zeltner, senior V.P. and director of Media for Lennen & Newell, highlighted one of the working NAFMB sessions.

A special Pulse survey and a separate study by SRDS Data Inc., put FM broadcasters in the national numbers game. The Pulse study, encompassing the top 10 markets in the country, found that about 42.5% of the homes fabulated in the signal coverage area had FM sets. Of the 23,465,000 homes in the top 10 markets, 9,973,000 had FM sets.

Pulse further reported that about 66% of the FM homes listened to FM during the past week of the poll, while 46% listened "yesterday." Of greater importance to the sale of the FM medium, Pulse found that 44% of the daily FM listening homes were not reached by AM radio. The Poll which secured the 44% was confined to those people who reported that they listened yesterday to FM radio and to those who were 18 years of age and over. This finding was underlined by the FM broadcasters

(Continued on page 64)

Raincheck on Radio

Chicago, April 7.

Radio operators, needing an efficient rating service more desperately than their tv brethren, were somewhat disappointed to learn that Tanner's traveling toteboard (or by its formal handle, Tanner Electronic Survey Tabulation) isn't as yet refined for radio tabulations.

However, inventor Jim Tanner is telling them "to look for a surprise within six months." He confided to VARIETY that a solution to the radio problem is on the way that, through a slightly different process from the tv gadget, would be capable of counting transistor sets and auto radio as well as plug-ins. He revealed too that an airborne unit for tv tabulations has already progressed past the drawing board stage.

Maximum Service Boys Opposed To 'Share the Show'

Chicago, April 7.

Maximum Service Telecasters pledged militancy to any and all "share the networks" proposals, which they denounced at their annual membership meeting on Sunday (5) as inconsistent with a licensee's freedom to exercise its own judgment to select its programs." They also felt that the proposals raise serious questions under the First Amendment and Section 326 of the Communications Act.

One suggestion that the networks' program wealth be spread to help the development of UHF was assessed by the maximum service group as actually threatening the growth of the band as an imposition of a "forced feeding" approach. When Congress passed the all-channel receiver legislation it recognized that UHF development would require seven years or more, and MST reminds the "share the networks" exponents that Congress specified that the development would be consistent with sound business principles.

The allusion was partly to an ABC proposal that no network should have more VHF affils than any other in 18 of the top 100 markets with fewer than three VHF outlets. CBS-TV and NBC-TV, which both oppose the proposal, of course, would thereby be required to give up some affils to ABC-TV in certain markets.

MST membership, at same meeting, adopted a resolution to work vigorously for the sound development of an 82-channel national tv system and to oppose all proposals not in harmony with it.

Strouse in Plea To End Bickering

Chicago, April 7.

A plea for NAB to end intramural rivalry and intercine bickering was sounded by Ben Strouse, chairman of the NAB Radio Board at the annual radio assembly's conclave here. "We have a common goal," said Strouse, "of building better radio listening for the public and, at the same time, building a solid and profitable business."

He expressed belief that the industry is maturing and its management is maturing. "We are big, healthy and profitable." Strouse saw in the NAB membership gains (200 AM and FM stations) reassurance that more and more radio stations are looking to NAB as something more than just an ordinary trade or business association.

REACTIONS FROM CHI DELEGATES

Chicago, April 7.

Going by the vox pop in the Conrad Hilton corridors this year, the broadcast code is at a critical juncture. For how do you codify "the broadcasters' own best judgement," which seems to be the consensus on how to draw the fine line in the matter of tobacco and alcohol blurbs?

When WQXR cracked open a can of worms in announcing its acceptance of booze commercials, the moral issue involved immediately related itself to that of cigaret commercials in the wake of the Surgeon General's report; and the whole question is complicated by the fact that the latter has the sanction of the Code while the former has not.

Attitudes of the broadcasters surveyed usually depended on the mores of their sector of the country, and on whether they operated AM, tv or FM. In general, the FM boys seemed the most receptive to whisky commercials and the least receptive to cigs. With the TV crowd it's just the other way around, and the AM operators seem the most nervous and undecided about the whole thing.

It was evident that many broadcasters are of two minds, that their feelings as individuals and as members of an industry were at odds. This is perhaps best typified in a statement of a Texas AM chain, who asked for anonymity: "I have five stations in five dry counties. I wish that both the counties and the stations were wet." A large number of broadcasters who favor drink themselves are strongly against the advertising of spirits on their media because they fear a reaction from the community or because "it's just not right."

Some are enraged by legislation initiated in Congress to outlaw booze advertising in broadcasting, while others indicate that they would find comfort in having the problem solved for them that way.

And as for the NAB Codes, most of the broadcasters interviewed swore by it and hoped for subscription to it but had to allow, realistically, that they could no longer hope for it to be all things to all stations.

Outspoken Critics

One of the more outspoken critics of the Code was C. K. Patrick, prexy and general manager of WCLV (fm), Cleveland, who said, "the NAB Code is archaic, outdated and discriminatory to us as a medium. It dates back to radio when radio was a children's medium." He said that his classical music station had carried hard liquor advertising in the past without a single complaint from listeners but, in fact, with a good deal of favorable opinion. "We do have laws in Ohio which prohibit distillers from advertising on radio prior to 10:30 p.m. and we abide by that law."

A time salesman for Crosley stated that he would like to sell hard liquor advertising for television and felt that the medium was being discriminated against in the competition with print.

Some broadcasters asserted that if 10:30 P.M. is considered a safe time for sophisticated themes on tv, and for the racy business that goes on in Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show, it ought to be okay for the televising of booze commercials. But Ed Wallis, manager of WIND (Group W), Chicago, observes: "Its not the kids who go to bed at 10:30 that I'm worried about but the ones who stay up later. They're the most susceptible group, and they'd be totally exposed to the advertising."

A station exec in the employ of a network, and therefor unwilling to be named, stated: "Liquor commercials ought to be all right as long as the distilling of spirits is a legal business in this country. As long as there is no law against the making and sale of liquor, no one can rightfully legislate that one medium, out of all media, should not be allowed to carry their advertising. If radio and tv are so much stronger than any other media—so potent and so far

(Continued on page 66)

Affils' New Pledge of Allegiance To ABC-TV as Tom Moore & Co. Again Walk Off With Showmanship Laurels

Chicago, April 7.

It's becoming traditional for ABC-TV to steal the showmanship laurels at the annual NAB confabs. What ABC accomplished at last year's convention (when it won an overwhelming vote of confidence from its affiliate body as it put its stars and prime time format on parade in a jampacked International Ballroom at the Conrad Hilton Hotel) was duplicated in spades last Saturday (4).

Neither Nielsen nor general viewer reaction (in the three-web competitive race) can dim the lustre or high enthusiasm of these ABC pre-convention "in-person spectaculars" and this year's sneak-preview was no exception.

No matter what the Nielsen countdown on the '64-'65 semester, no matter that of the 14 new shows which preemed last season most of them fell by the wayside in the hotly-contested race for ratings, Tom Moore and his programming aide Ed Scherick were the heroes of the day—and into the evening for the banquet festivities—as they trotted forth (both in pilot form and in personal appearances) the 7:30 to 11 p.m. schedule that will bow next September.

Like last year and the year before, it was an ambitious, showmanly and costly "ABC on Parade" undertaking, but in terms of affiliate pledges of renewed allegiance (and a hope for the future that's been getting increasingly stepped-up-support from the recent batch of 30-market and national Nielsens) well worth the effort and pain-staking homework.

Like last year ABC will premiere the new season with 14 new entries, and in getting a sampling of what's on tap for ABC viewers, the affils seemed to register their strongest approval for the Sunday night recent-vintage features out of the UA stable; the Monday night 20th-Fox series "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," the Thursday night "Bewitched" series and the Friday night "Addams & Evil."

All told it's probably the most diverse schedule yet evolved by ABC, but as accented by Moore, situation comedy in half-hour form dominates the plotting among new entries for the new semester, as evidenced by such series as the Sunday night "Broadside," the Monday night pairing of "No Time For Sergeants" and "Wendy & Me" and the Bing Crosby series; the Tuesday night "Tycoon" (Walter Brennan); the Thursday night "Bewitched" and the Friday Night Mickey Rooney series.

Other new entries, in addition to the aforementioned, include the twice-a-week "Peyton Place" (out of 20th); "Johnny Quest," action-adventure cartoonery and "12 O'clock High" (20th). Officially announced for return are the Jimmy Dean Thursday night hour and the Saturday 7:30 "Hootenany."

If some affiliates were disappointed in the fact that 10:30 to 11 was being returned to the stations on only two nights of the week (Friday and Saturday) instead of the four that appeared likely a few weeks back, there was compensation enough in the high spirit and renewed verve and zest of Tom Moore & Co.

For this was Tom Moore's show—and he brought it off with telling success.

Conversation Piece

Chicago, April 7.

Liveliest hit at the staid Conrad Hilton Hotel, site of the NAB convention, is the Triangle Publications suite, redone by White Horse Distilleries to resemble the White Horse Inn, of English literary fame.

The pub that reeks of nostalgia drew a lot of traffic and conversation. Ale and roast beef were served. An accident preserved a cool climate in the room, utilized for good followship and the sale of Triangle-syndicated properties. When erecting the Inn's facade, a window was left open. Once the facade was up, there was no getting behind the wood paneling to close the window.

Harris: 'Don't Let Your Businessmen Helm Pubaffairs'

Chicago, April 7.

Rep. Oren Harris (D., Ark.), who has given broadcasters some uneasy moments as well as some comforting ones, showed some sympathy for NAB's drive for greater freedom from government restraints but stated that the industry might make better progress if it left the responsibility of public affairs to broadcast professionals and took it out of the hands of broadcast businessmen.

"It's our concept of business activities that they are conducted, on the whole, in conformity with the principle, 'let the buyer beware.' Professional conduct, on the other hand, is supposed to be governed by discipline, self-restraint and codes of good conduct," he said.

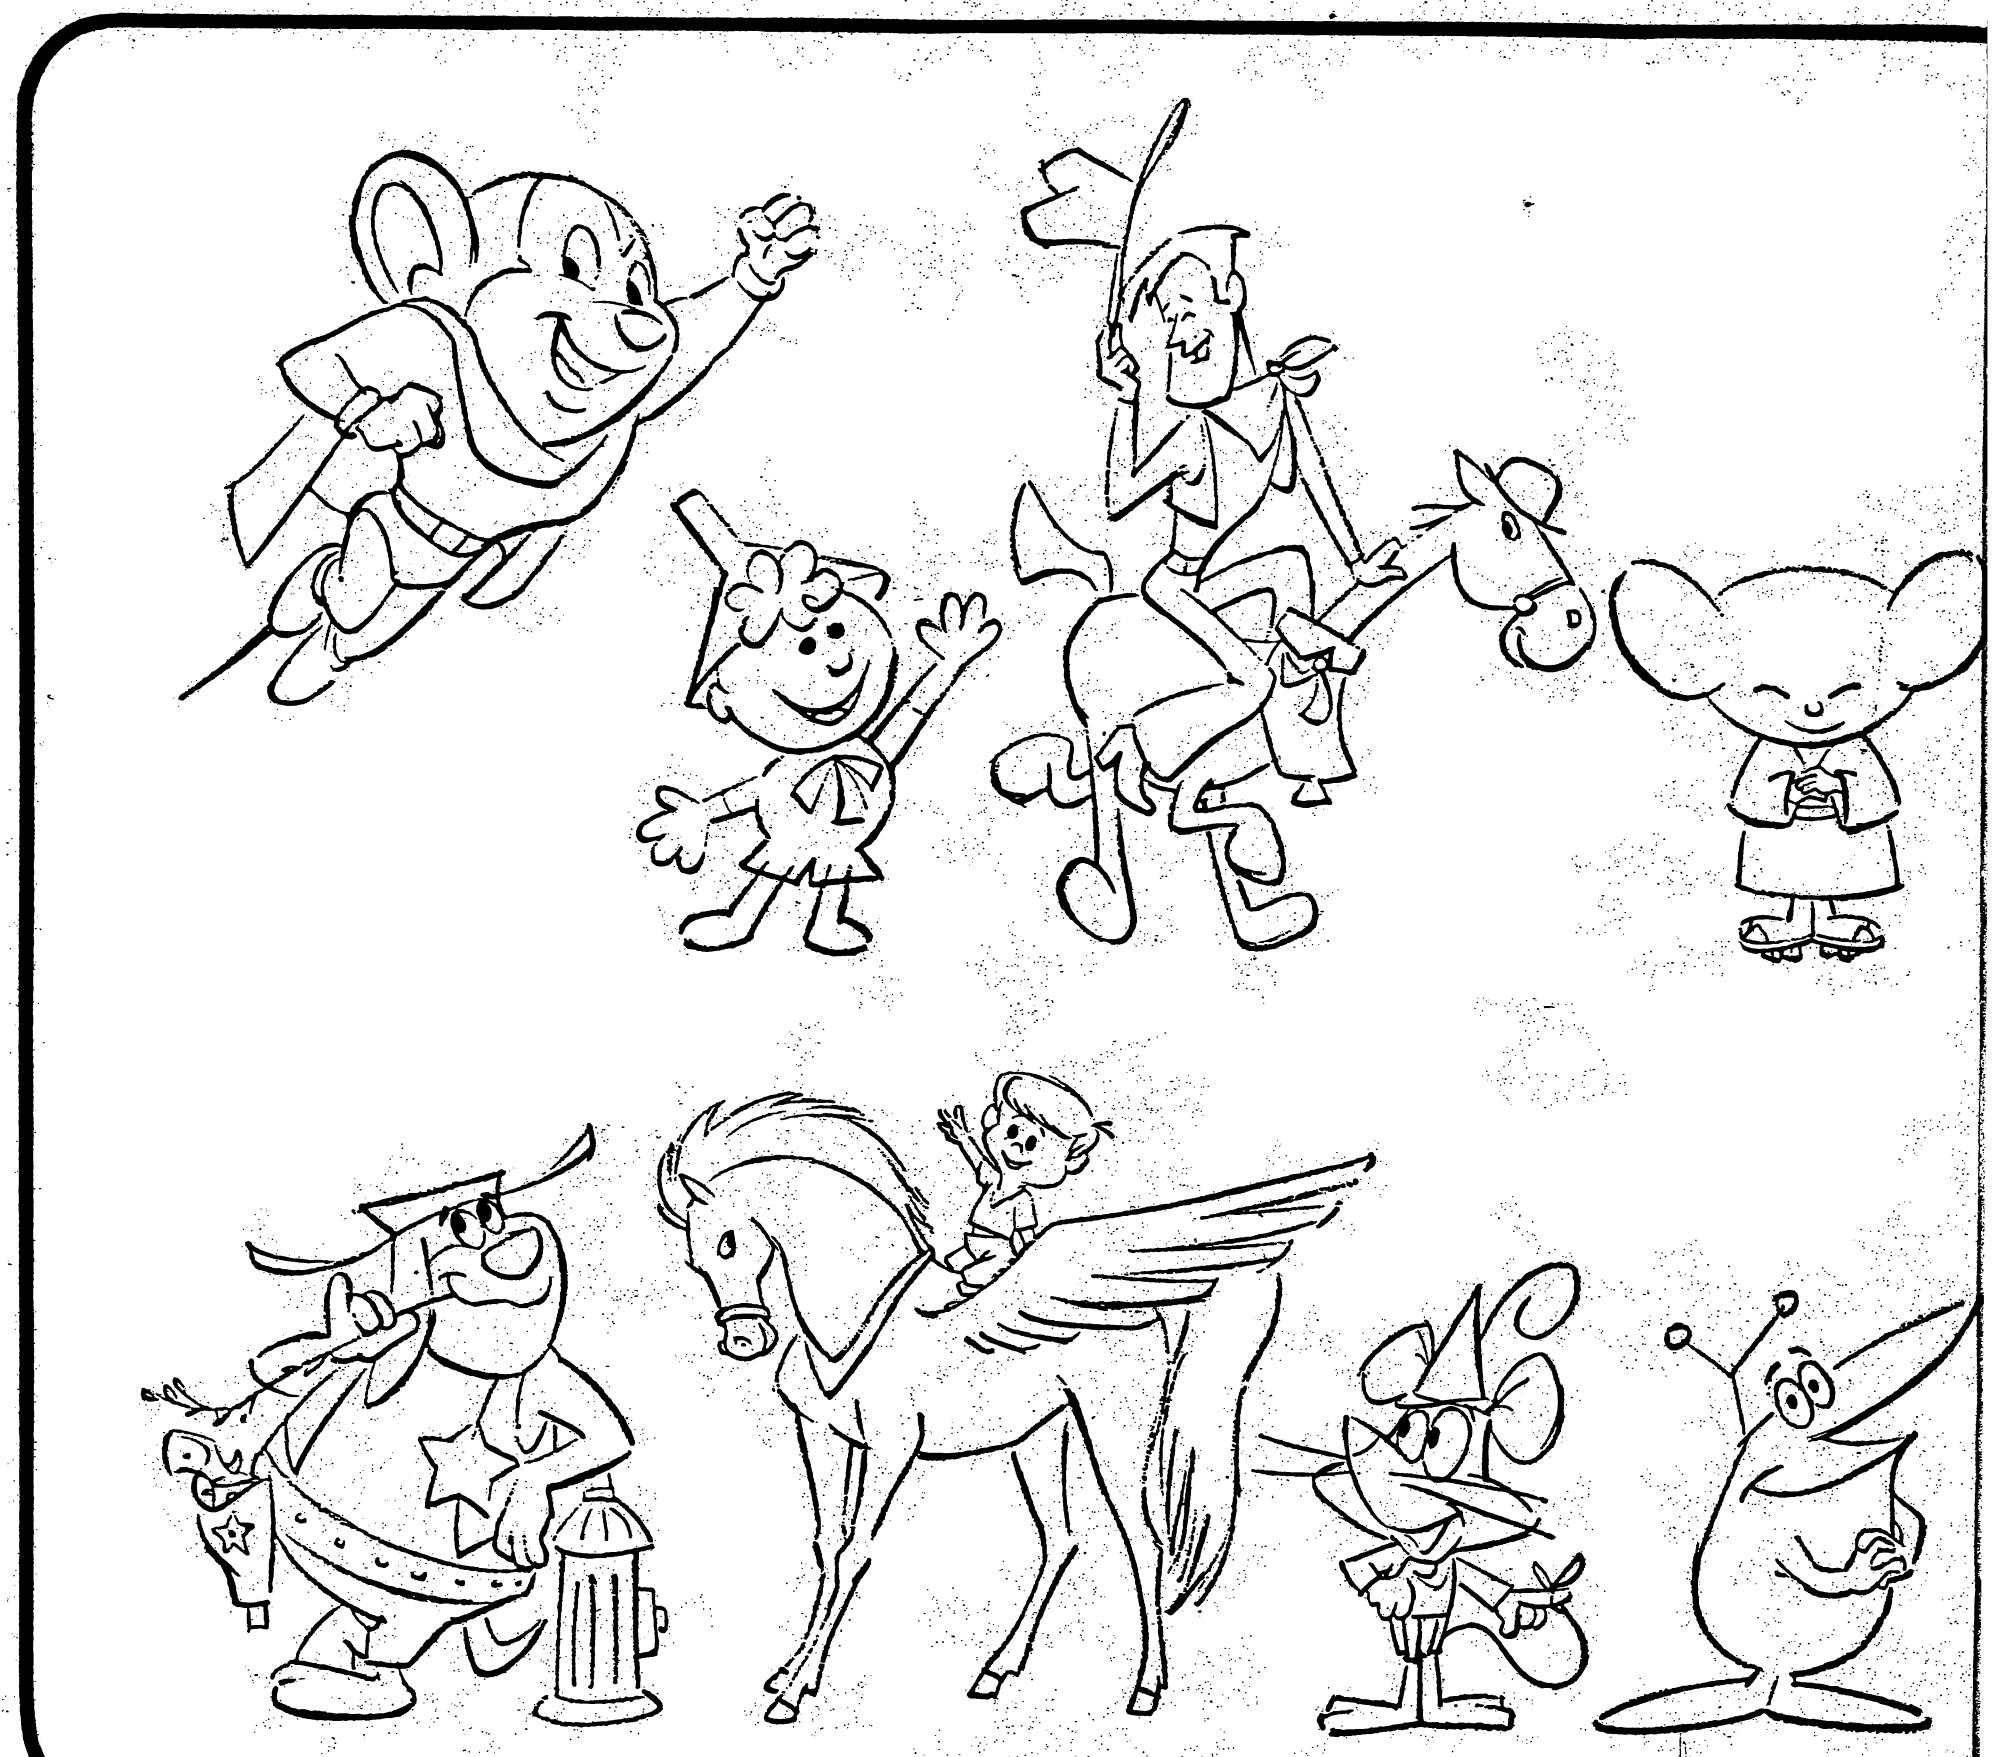
He deplored the opposition he detected within the industry to the codes insofar as they propose to deal with the length and frequency of commercials, or with the type of merchandise that might

(Continued on page 62)

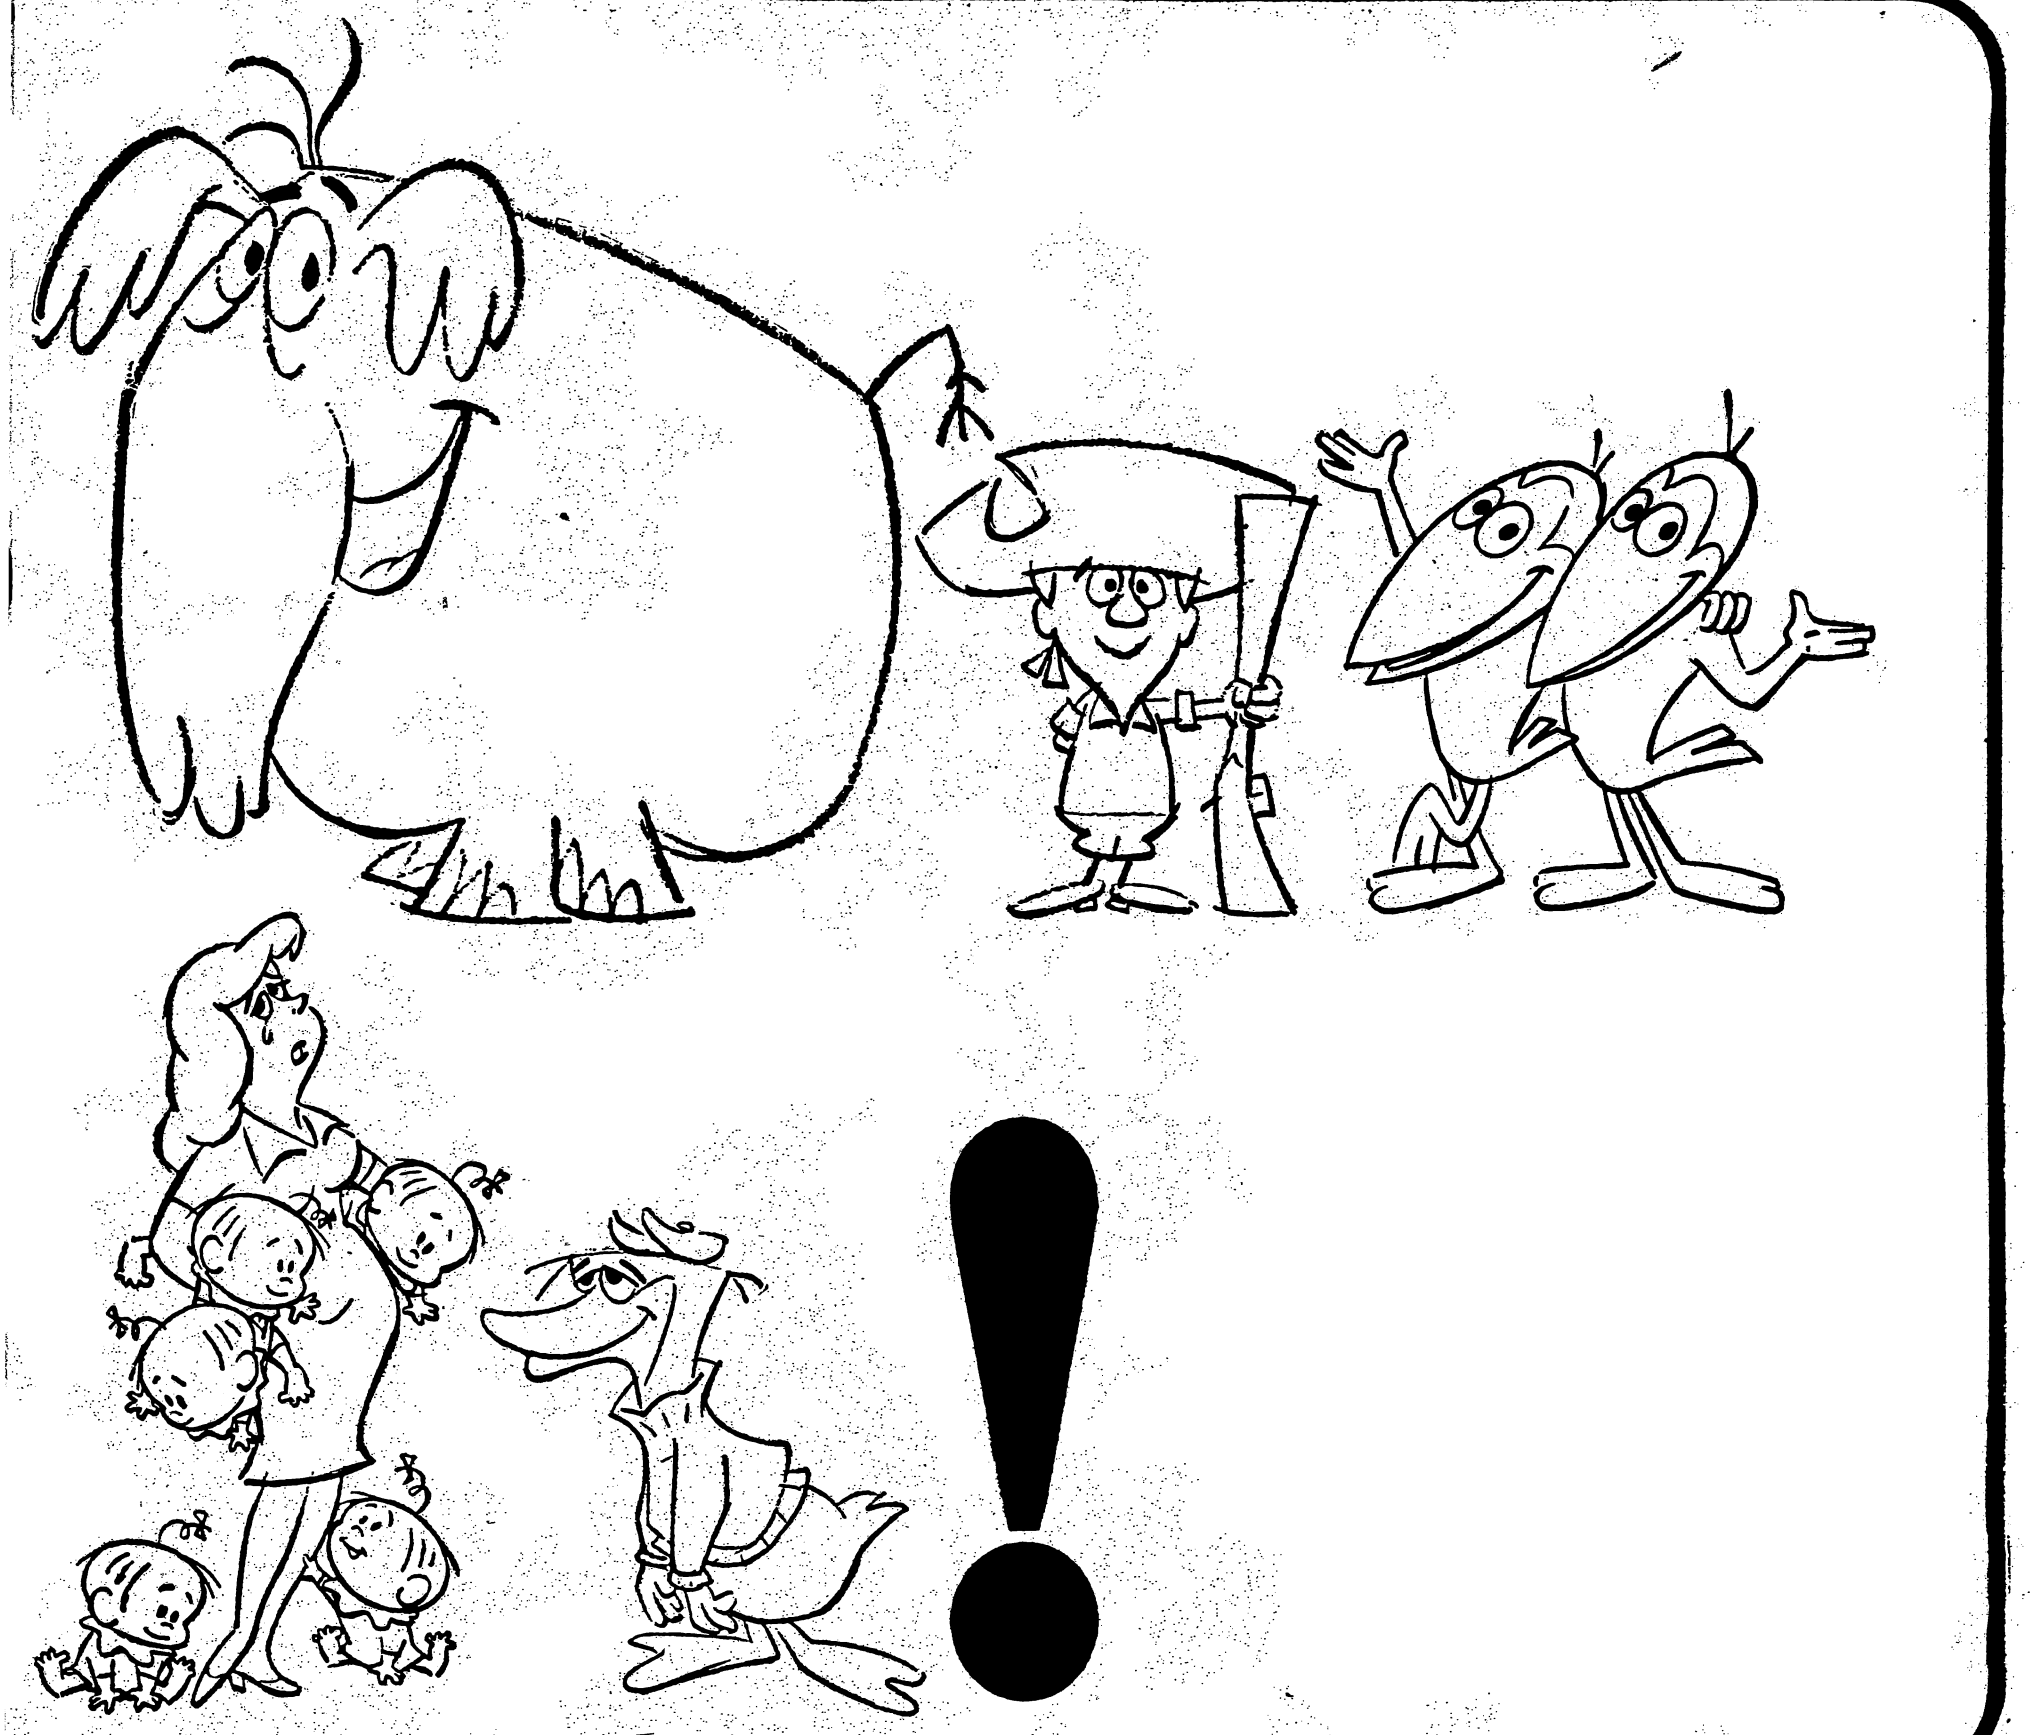
ABC Radio Takes Cue From TV, Struts Its Stuff at NAB Meet

Chicago, April 7.

ABC Radio, taking a cue from ABC-TV, went the affluent way this year at the NAB, putting on a show for the assembled affils at the nearby Hotel Continental.



Business was held at a minimum, with the ABC Radio affils breakfast featuring web talent in a revue. Meet also utilized as the occasion to distribute ABC Radio's first annual awards for "outstanding contributions to broadcasting." Major awards went to Congressman Oren Harris, Chairman of the House Special Subcommittee on Investigations, for his work in probing the rating services, to Dallas affil WFAA for its contribution to coverage of the assassination story; and to Cities Service Oil Co. for the "most creative commercial by an ABC Radio advertiser during 1963."



Each Congressman on the eight-member Harris committee also received citations. In addition, citations were awarded to representatives of Pepsi-Cola and its agency BBDO for "the best commercial jingle"; Campbell Soup (V8 juice) and Needham, Louis & Brorby, for the "best dramatized commercial;" and Mennen and Warwick & Legler for "the best straight copy commercial."

Agronsky Shifts From NBC to CBS

NBC news commentator Martin Agronsky swings over to CBS-TV, effective April 20, and will continue to operate out of Washington.

Agronsky has been with NBC since 1957, and was with NBC before going to ABC in 1943. He will have no specific assignments, working on regular Washington tv newscasts and also radio.

Talk about talent...

Terrytoons has it! Many of the entertainment world's most delightful and most sought-after animated stars are Terrytoons-born and -bred. Big stars like Mighty Mouse, Tom Terrific and Lariat Sam, enjoyed by millions each week on the CBS Television Network. Or Hashimoto, Sidney and Hector Heathcote, starring on the NBC Television Network. Or Heckle & Jeckle, Deputy Dawg and the entire cast of Terrytoons Classics, syndicated throughout the world by CBS Films. (Terrytoons theatrical cartoons are distributed world-wide by 20th Century-Fox.) And more on the way! Luno, Gadmouse, Astronut, Pitiful Penelope and Duckwood are among the new stars on Terrytoons' launching pad. Talent? You know it!

Terrytoons

A Division of CBS Films Inc.

From Bob Hope to Goodson-Todman, Everybody 'Wants In' on Pasadena

Washington, April 7.

A bevy of big name show folk and broadcasters headed the parade of 20 applicants for the spot to be vacated under FCC revocation order by KRLA-AM, Pasadena, Calif.

The outlet on 1100 kc goes off the air May 1 and the proposals swamped in on FCC to either move it all over Southern California or leave it in its lush Pasadena location.

Among the names applying were Bob Hope, Art Linkletter, Nat King Cole, Goodson-Todman telefilm and program packagers, John Daly, Richard Adler, Horace Heidt, Broadcast Music Inc. prez Carl Haverlin, moneybags Edwin Pauley, political pollster Louis Harris, American Pay-Tv Corp. prez Richard Moore, former CBS execs James Conkling and Michael Grilickher and Simpro Productions prexy James Simon.

First year profit estimates soared as high as $430,000 with several first year revenue predictions hitting $1,600,000 and $1,400,000.

The Goodson-Todman group filed as Goodson-Todman Broadcasting Inc. to continue KRLA's 50 kw operation in Pasadena. Predicted were first year revenues of $1,200,000 and first year profits of $120,000. Listed as stockholders were John Daly, Richard Adler, Louis Harris and Robert Steward, exec producer of "The Price Is Right" and "Password."

Goodson-Todman wholly owns Seattle Broadcasting Co. licensee of KOL-AM-FM in that city.

Heading the stockholders of Western Broadcasting Corp. was Bob Hope who owns 25% of the shares. Pay-see chief Richard Moore is company prez while Edwin Pauley is listed as a 15% holder and Art Linkletter is posted for 5%.

The Hope group set first year costs from a Pasadena operation at $1,600,000 and estimated a $200,000 profit.

Orange Radio Inc., hoping to move the allocation to Fullerton listed James Simon, a former KFWB, L.A., general manager among its 16 shareholders. James Conkling, now prez of International Education Broadcasting Corp. of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Michael Grilikher, formerly with CBS-TV in Hollywood and now C/G Productions chief were also listed.

Company said it could pull in $975,000 revenue and $125,000 profit from a Fullerton operation.

Horace Heidt, posting personal assets at $4 582,807, filed as the one stockholder of Radio Southern California Inc. which would operate a Pasadena station.

Operating the outlet with his sons Gerald and John, Heidt averred he could garner an $80,000 profit from $800,000 revenue.

Nat King Cole was listed as a five percenter in Pasadena Community Station Inc. which wants to continue present operations. Actor

(Continued on page 60)

Detroit's TV Collision

Detroit's car makers threaten to run over each other in the race for primetime tv to make those fall new-model announcements.

Three competitors — Oldsmobile, Dodge and Plymouth—have already bought into a single show — NBC-TV's "Wednesday Night at the Movies."

Dick Robbins No Longer Nests At Goodson-Todman

After eight years of promoting prizes for Goodson-Todman game shows, Richard Robbins has been dropped by the packager in favor of a former employe (14 years), Eddie Finch. Latter has hung out his own shingle as a prize procurer for a coupla daytime programs, "Say When" on NBC-TV and "Price Is Right' via ABC-TV.

Cancellation of Robbins' services came even though, he states, his contracts were not to run out till April 24 (for "Price") and May 1 on "Say When." His G-T association dates back to the launching of "Price" (via NBC) about eight years ago.

Finch, as Robbins' aide, apparently had the intimate relationship vis-a-vis 375 Park Ave. giving his duties what a G-T exec terms "constant surveillance."

"Price" and "When" are the only significant prize shows out of the G-T shop, the others dealing only in nominal cash awards.

Robbins has additionally been active in prize promotion for "Queen For a Day," the "Steve Allen Show" and "Art Linkletter's House Party," which alignments, of course, continue.

No comment from the specialist as to prospective legal action, if any, re his G-T contracts.

NAME IRVING ELMAN 'BEN CASEY' PRODUCER

Negotiations between Bing Crosby Productions and the producer-director-writer team of Mort Fine and David Friedkin for the pair to become producers of "Ben Casey" next season have collapsed, and BCP has signed Irving Elman, "The Eleventh Hour" producer, as a result.

Parties couldn't get together on various stipulations. Wilton Schiller continues as producer of the Vince Edwards series next season, but BCP tried to sign Friedkin-Fine as alternating producers with Schiller, since Fred Friedberger and Matt Rapf who produced "Casey" this season have joined BCP's new series, "Slattery's People." Rapf was exec producer.

Fine and Friedkin produced "Breaking Point" for BCP.

CBS-TV's Studio Center To Lens 3½ Hrs Weekly

Hollywood, April 7.

CBS-TV will increase its telefilm production at Studio Center for the 1964-65 season, with three-and-one-half hours weekly of programming being lensed there, as compared to three hours for this past season.

"Gunsmoke" and "Rawhide" will continue in production at the former Republic lot, and also to be lensed there will be a trio of network film comedies, "Baileys of Balbao," starring Paul Ford; "Bill and Martha," starring Bill Bendix and Martha Raye, and "The Cara Williams Show," all half-hour entries.

CBS-TV had in production this past season one other show; "The Great Adventure," but that has exited the web sked.

Reds Beef-Up 'Ion Curtain'

Washington, April 7.

Communist nations continued to add oomph to their radio propagandizing, the U.S. Information Agency reported. Aiming their heaviest barrage at the Far East, the Reds upped their broadcast hours by 381 weekly to a new high of 4,288 per week. The Reds now broadcast in 67 languages.

Both Moscow and Peking — which of course are beginning to spout different lines—boosted airings in Mandarin to Indonesia and upped their tempos in Viet Nam, Japan and North Korea.

Cuba continued its broadcasting adding programs in Creole and a Paraguayan Indian dialect. Nearly 150 hours of propaganda programming now comes from that island.

Broadcasts to Africa rose only by 11% compared to the 50% boost last year. The USSR added Bambara—a West African dialect spoken in Red-leaning Mali and Guinea. Red programming there totalled 332 hours weekly.

CBS-TV Sat Ayem SRO

CBS-TV, which has a three-hour Saturday ayem cartoon bloc next season, has run up the SRO flag for its entire Saturday morning schedule for the fourth season.

The SRO for the period also holds true to all intents and purposes for the opening "Captain Kangeroo" 8 to 9 a.m. show as well.

Wolper Sets Six Specials For UA

Hollywood, April 7.

David L. Wolper plans six hour-long tv documentaries for next season, in an extension of his joint venture deal with UA TV on "Specials of the Times" series.

Wolper productions has skedded: "Prelude to War," about the Versaille Treaty, Nazis' taking over of Austria, and start of World War II; "The Battle of Britain," dealing with Dunkirk, Nazi bombing attacks on Britain, RAF strikes against Berlin; "The Trial at Nuremberg," dealing with the Nazi war criminals trials; "Russia: The Uneasy Truce," about the Russian army revolting against the Czar, leading up to WW I, and through the days of Stalin, Hitler, the Cold War and the nuclear race; "Japan: A New Dawn Over Asia," dealing with Japan's win over Russia in the Russo-Japanese war and the Jap dreams of expansion, leading up to the bombing of Hiroshima; "Korea," story of the North Korean Communist Armies invasion of South Korea, and the subsequent UN "police action."

NBC Radio's Central Div. Picks Up $361,000 From New Offbeat Advertisers

Chicago, April 7.

Network radio, forced to live by its wits in the present advertising climate, has to be credited with doing perhaps the most creative selling in all broadcasting. While the television webs pretty much live off the established advertisers, and the local stations mostly trade cost-per-thousand for the available spot dollars, the network radio boys keep scratching for "originals," new advertisers who've never ventured into their medium before.

NBC Radio's central division recently racked up substantial orders from five such customers, the whole bundle toting up to $361,285. The five include such far out advertisers as a fishing tackle outfit (Zebco) and a maker of conventional household locks (Master Lock). Both went into "Monitor," the former in a nine week plan sponsoring sports and the latter in 10 week participations in "Ring Around the World." The other newcomers to network radio were Holiday Inns, with an $86,000 buy; Colorizer paints, $63,000; and Wyler Soup for its instant foods, $124,000.

In recent years, NBC Radio has also turned up such other offbeat sponsors as Wynn Oil Co., which makes an oil additive; Wagner Electric Co., which sells brake linings; Midas Muffler Co. (when it was a broadcast original); plus air conditioning companies, boat companies and engine makers.

CBS RADIO POSTS 18% HIKE IN SALES

CBS Radio, riding its sponsor growth curve, has posted an 18% increase in sales for this quarter over the comparable period last year.

Prexy Art Hayes reported "at the end of our first 90 days of selling, CBS Radio already has 71% of last year's total business on its books. 'Arthur Godfrey Time,' heard for 50 minutes across the board and representing the greatest sales volume potential of any program in network radio, should soon be SRO."

ABC Radio Sells 'Oscar'

Milani Foods, through Golden Pick Advertising, picks up the tab for ABC Radio's coverage of the "Oscar" award show April 13 from Santa Monica.

Jack Linkletter is set for the blow-by-blow, with film designer Edith Head calling the fashion shots.

TAM's Top 20 in Britain

(Week Ending March 22)

	Homes Viewing (000's)
Conservative Party Political Broadcast—BBC	9546
Coronation Street (Mon.)—GRANADA	8892
Coronation Street (Wed.)—GRANADA	8500
Stars and Garters—AR	7846
Take Your Pick—AR	7846
Crane — AR	7715
Double Your Money—AR	7715
Play of the Week—ANG: TV	7454
Sykes and a Following—BBC	7192
Sunday Palladium—ATV	6800
Dick Powell Theatre—BBC	6539
Emergency-Ward 10 (Fri.)—ATV	6408
The Villains—GRANADA	6408
Arthur Haynes Show—ATV	6148
The Avengers—ABC	6146
Studio '64—ATV	6146
A Little Big Business—GRANADA	5952
Z Cars (Wed.)—BBC	5885
Big Night Out—ABC	5885
Emergency-Ward 10 (Tues.)—ATV	5754
Thank Your Lucky Stars—ABC	5754

More Annual Awards Piling Up With IRTS' New Legion of Honor

Entrance of the International Radio and Television Society (IRTS) in the annual award field became official, with the announcement that IRTS, on an annual basis, would present awards in six categories.

The six categories are Showmanship, Outstanding Radio Personality, Outstanding Television Personality, Overall Treatment of News, Creativity in the Use of the Broadcasting Medium, and Special Recognition.

With the exception of one or perhaps two categories, these are award areas not covered in categories of major awards. To be known collectively as the Legion of Honor, the awards will be presented for the first time June 4 during an IRTS banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria.

At the same time, it was disclosed that the entire slate of incumbent officers has been nominated for reelection. Sam Cook Digges of CBS Films as IRTS prexy heads the slate. This is the first time in the 25-year history of the organization that officers have not been changed following a one-year term. IRTS nominating chairman James Stabile said that the nominating committee felt that a two-year term permitted the president and his colleagues to carry out a society program more effectively.

The Legion of Honor awards will complement the established IRTS Gold Medal award. The activity for which an individual or an organization is to be judged for the Legion award must have taken place between April 15, 1963 and April 15, 1964.

A jury of 12 men and women, chosen for their long experience in broadcasting and broadcast advertising and to be known as the Legion of Honor Committee, will screen all nominations. This committee will submit those candidates it considers worthy of final consideration to the IRTS board of governors whose 17 members will make the final judgments.

Cy Howard's TV Firm May Tie Up With WB

Hollywood, April 7.

Producer-creator-writer Cy Howard, whose pact with Desilu Productions expired March 31, is in the midst of negotiations with Warner Bros. to bring his indie tv company to that studio.

Howard, just signed by Warners to screenplay his original comedy-drama, "Community Property," for Frank Sinatra at the Burbank lot, would develop new tv properties under the deal now being talked.

ABC-TV Beefs Up Sat. & Sun. Ayem In Bid For Kids

In addition to its just-announced Sunday forenoon 90-minute kid-show lineup for next season, ABC-TV is also beefing its Saturday moppet schedule for the fall by opening up the net an hour earlier and adding a couple of brand new stanzas.

As for the Sunday commercial time breakout, the net will have the field to itself (so it now seems) since neither NBC or CBS open up pre-noon.

Kicking off Sunday for the kids in the fall will be "Porky Pig" at 10:30 a.m., followed by "Bullwinkle" reruns and "Discovery," with Wrigley and Chunky understood ready to repeat sponsorship of the last, which now beams Sundays at 1 p.m.

ABC's Saturday sked come fall will incept an hour earlier, at 9:30 a.m. The brand new offerings will be "Hoppity Hooper," a cartooner at 12:30 p.m. (with General Mills and DeLuxe Toys riding), and "Shenanigans," a game show which Milton Bradley Toys will bankroll.

Also going on the net for the first time, both after syndication exposure, are "Buffalo Bill Jr.," a kid oater which will open the Saturday lineup at 9:30 a.m., and "Annie Oakley" at 10:30. Both are out of the Gene Autry vidfilm hopper.

Rest of the sked bills "Beany & Cecil," "Casper Cartoons" and "Bugs Bunny."

Tom Gries to Direct 13 'Reporter' Shows

Hollywood, April 7.

Tom Gries has been signed to direct 13 of the first 26 "The Reporter" vidpix segs being produced by Keefe Braselle's production company for CBS-TV for next season. Arnold Perl is producer of the series.

Harry Guardino stars in the hour-long show.

NABET Agrees To 38-Mo. ABC Pact

The crisis air at ABC ended last week when NABET in a national ballot voted to accept the web's latest contract offer, this one substantially like the one rejected earlier. The vote was 558 for and 461 against, with New York and San Francisco opposed. Locals in Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington carried the day, however.

The new pact is for 38 months, retroactive to last Feb. 1. It provides for a 1½% expansion in the pension plan, a small pay boost (approximately $2 per week) for L.A. clerical personnel, and clarifies "experience" criteria for news positions in Frisco.

Status quo is the issue of technician jurisdiction in Gotham and L.A. relevant to remote taping. This was a key score point with the engineers, and still is, since the technical chaps are fearful for some jobs.

U.K. SIZZLES OVER SEX ON TV

ABC-NBC's Photo Finish For 2d

It's another NBC-ABC deadheat for second in the new national Nielsen (fortnight ended March 22), with both edging up fractionally at CBS expense to a 17.5. Nielsen's first March report had them tied at 17.4.

CBS, which dipped to 20.4 from the previous 21.9, won 11 out of the Top 15 shows, with NBC and ABC getting two wins apiece in the Mon.-Sat. 7:30-11 p.m. and Sunday 7-11 p.m. sweeps. On the half-hour wins, CBS pocketed 25, to 13 for NBC and 12 for Tom Moore's lineup.

On Nielsen's 30-market chart (week ended March 29), ABC for the third consecutive lap notched a 17.8, but upped its share (by 20%) to 29.2. NBC fell off to 15.6 and a 25.7 share, while CBS climbed up with a 19.4 and 31.9 share.

Following are Nielsen's Top 10 for the period.

Beverly Hillbillies (CBS)	39.2
Bonanza (NBC)	39.2
Dick Van Dyke Show (CBS)	34.8
Andy Griffith Show (CBS)	32.8
Petticoat Junction (CBS)	31.7
Lucy Show (CBS)	29.5
Danny Thomas (CBS)	28.9
Ed Sullivan Show (CBS)	28.3
Patty Duke Show (ABC)	26.8
Red Skelton Hour (CBS)	26.8

'Yes, Anne, There Is a Frank Stanton'

Complaint From Moppet Cues CBS Brass to Restore 'Capt. Kangaroo' on Texas TVer

Washington, April 7.

A plaintive letter from a little girl in Alto, Tex. for the return of "Captain Kangaroo" on her local tv station created a flurry of letters in Gotham and Washington and helped crack the myth of the "big bad network."

The episode began when Anne Singletary of Alto carefully printed (with accompanying drawings of the Captain and a dinosaur) a letter to KTRE-TV, Lufkin, asking "please please bring back the program."

In a long reply KTRE prez Richard Lewin said the show was dropped "because CBS made us drop it. We wanted to continue the program but were told by CBS station relation authorities that 'under no circumstances' could we carry the show."

Lewin promised to send copies of her letter to CBS prexy Frank Stanton "who I am sure has never heard of Alto, Texas, and very likely is not aware of Lufkin or KTRE-TV." Lewin added, though, that Stanton "also is a good friend of President Lyndon Johnson who is aware of a network's responsibilities."

Copies of the penning went to President Johnson as CBS' Ed Scoville and to FCC as well as Stanton.

A month later Lewin sent the girl another long letter explaining he had been to New York and talked with Carl Ward, web veep for station relations. Ward, it seemed, enjoyed his Texas mail

(Continued on page 50)

Xerox Splurges On UN Specials

The United Nations is slated to get more network exposure in upcoming months than the World org has had since its start via six specials to be aired by ABC-TV and NBC-TV that will reportedly be bankrolled by Xerox with an estimated budget of $4,000,000.

As planned, the specials will be produced by such film notables as Joe Mankiewicz, Sam Spiegel, Otto Preminger, Fred Zinnemann and Peter Glenville. Frank Sinatra is mentioned among names to star therein. ABC is reportedly scheduled to air four of the specials. NBC two.

Deal, in which the "name" producers will reportedly work for scale, was arranged by Anna Rosenberg, pubrelations consultant to the Motion Picture Assn. of America, and her husband Paul Hoffman, who heads the UN's Fund for Major Technical Assistance Activities, which collects large contributions for the world org.

Home TV Tape for $500

Home tape movies in primetime are in the future with announcement of Fairchild Camera & Instrument Corp.'s television tape recorder for the public at a cost of around $500.

A model of the Fairchild machine, which has a fourth-inch tape and fixed head, is being demonstrated for the press Thurs. (9) and Friday. Made by the Winston Research Corp., a Fairchild subsid, the home tape recorder (which also has possible industrial uses) will be demonstrated for manufacturers in the near future.

Friendly's Quest For Some Fresh News Approaches

A triple thrust to more fully realize "the electronic age of communications" was outlined by Fred Friendly, in his first interview since assuming the presidency of CBS News.

It's Friendly's contention that tv news should be as close to "live" as possible. The newsreel approach for spot news is outdated in Friendly's opinion. For that reason, CBS News prexy is hard at work exploring what he called "revolutionary" techniques in electronic equipment, which would facilitate and cut the costs of "live" coverage of news events.

The time is not too distant when anything happening in the United States can be seen on television within an hour or two; and within 12 hours from any corner of the globe. In a year, there will be a communications satellite Friendly pointed out, which will be available for "live" pickups. "The Town Meeting of the World," which CBS-TV incepted, is just the beginning of the potential of worldwide electronic communications, in the view of the new CBS News prexy.

"We want the news event to take place on tv," Friendly continued, exploring another thrust in another direction. He mentioned the Lee Oswald-Jack Ruby Dallas incident, in passing, as nothing desirable, even though dramatic. What he had in mind was the example of great newspapers making news, originating news, either through their own initiative in digging for news and/or their liaison with leaders of the world.

Just as "Face the Nation" or "Meet the Press" are used by world figures to make their position clear, or make an announcement, "our regularly scheduled tv

(Continued on page 50)

BLUENOSES OPEN CLEANUP DRIVE

London, April 7.

The "super sophistication" of British television which has allowed on the air such "artistically adventurous" scenes as a stripper in action, a fox torn to pieces by hounds, one-meaning blue gags plus unabashed sex emphasis in teleplays, may have gone just about as far as it is going to go.

Indications are that the boundaries of acceptability—often traversed at brink-edge by video producers here—have been transcended once too often. And now it seems that the broadcasters will be curbing their own artistic licence to some extent in the face of mounting evidence that in some cases over-the-air realism can cause offence.

A public movement bent on cleaning up British tv is being activated by local femmes who believe that tv's policy of adult programming is tending to undermine Christianity, morality, health and vitality. Headed up by a teacher and housewife, Mrs. Mary Whitehouse, the movement is reportedly "catching fire" and spreading over the whole nation especially amongst people who are "fed up with evasive answers to direct complaints" that, they claim, are handed out by BBC.

It is anticipated that "hundreds of thousands" of signatures will be appended to Mrs. Whitehouse's manifesto—due to be sent to Government, Post Office and BBC officials—which deplores alleged attempts to "belittle or destroy values" and to present "disbelief, doubt and dirt" on the part of broadcasters. BBC is particularly slated in the document for a "stream of suggestiveness at a time when crime, violence and veneral disease are steadily increasing."

Mrs. Whitehouse's movement—tabbed Women Of Britain Clean TV Campaign—is becoming effective enough to get national press publicity. And some vidcrix are right in the corner of the womenfolk.

Clean-Up Spread

Along with the seemingly rapid spread of the clean-up-tv campaign, it may be a measure of general public reaction to "earthy" dramas that BBC-TV's plays are at a low rating ebb. One informed source reveals that BBC's stock with the public is at its lowest in eight years due mainly to "the relative unpopularity of plays."

And coincidental with the growing body of public dissenters against what has been described as BBC-TV's "habitual game of coital consequences," hardened industryites are also beginning to wonder whether it is time to put the brakes on. Outside the U.K., it's argued, the sexposure in series like "Maigret," is a hamper to sales and, for most countries, bedroom scenes have to be axed.

Beyond this, some tradesters read significance into the fact that following Rediffusion's screening of a stripper in its "This Week" pub-affair program (for which the company was severely rapped by the Independent Television Authority), the ITA subsequently demanded that Granada-TV cut stripper scenes from a factual documentary study of aspects of show biz.

It is known within the biz, too, that the blue air of "TW3"—yanked earlier this year for political reasons—so upset some of BBC's own board of Governors that even before it was finally yanked Corporation top brassers ordered a clean up of the smut in the show.

Howls of Protest

Following the howls of protest, it's thought that BBC will not hurriedly attempt again to expose openly the high sophistication of Graham Greene's "Stamboul Train." And, internally, more than one BBC producer has had his knuckles rapped for getting "carried away" and duly causing BBC to make public apologies or, at least, causing the web some embarrassment and several prestige points.

It is being said in the business that BBC's new line in sophistica-

(Continued on page 58)

Capital Cable (Linked to LBJ Station) Resists FCC in Texas CATV Battle

Washington, April 7.

In the Austin, Tex., CATV battle, Capital Cable Co. Inc. (the company with a link to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's broadcasting interests) has told the FCC it won't furnish a copy of the option agreement permitting KTBC-TV to buy up to 50% of its stock by January, 1966.

KTBC-TV, the only commercial tv station in Austin, is owned by the First Lady and her two daughters, but all their stock is in an irrevocable trust.

Capital Cable is one of two companies operating CATV in Austin. It's a Little Rock, Ark., outfit with Winthrop Rockefeller (Nelson's brother) a major stockholder. Because it has a wired system, it requires no FCC license.

TV Cable of Austin Inc., the other CATVer, uses microwave, necessitating a FCC license, which it has. The issue before FCC is TV Cable's effort to get a waiver on a prohibition in its license stopping it from bringing in a program from any distant city which KTBC-TV intends to air within the next 15 days.

(KTBC-TV, as the sole commercial station, with all three networks to pick from, schedules many high-rated shows on a delayed basis. TV Cable wants to rush all shows into Austin on their regular network hour.)

FCC secretary Ben F. Waple had written Capital Cable last week ordering the company to turn over the option agreement with the Johnson station. Waple didn't say why he wanted it. But an FCC spokesman told VARIETY it was necessary to see the document to determine how much truth was in the claim of TV Cable that it, as a licensed CATVer, was operating at a competitive disadvantage in an Austin squeeze play, with KTBC-TV and Capital Cable doing the squeezing.

Capital Cable responded with a letter from its D.C. attorney, Eugene L. Burke, who asked FCC to tell him which rule FCC had—if any—to require such private corporate information as the option contract. Burke said he knew of none, and that such disclosure would "violate corporate integrity" and be a "detriment" to the company in a rough competitive situation.

Burke did digest the guts of the agreement. Texas Broadcasting (the new name for the old LBJ Co.) can buy as much as 50% of Capital Cable by 1966 by paying Capital Cable its actual expenditures on

(Continued on page 54)

Drink, Drank, Drunk

Perth, Scotland, April 7.

A retired schoolteacher and temperance campaigner Alice Duncan, wants actors to get drunk on tv. "Most tv plays portray people consuming drink after drink without any effect," she said. "This could be very dangerous and give young people and motorists the idea that they can drink continually without it affecting them.

"I have written to the BBC complaining about this. I think they should ban television drinking. But, if they insist on drinking for the sake of realism, then let us see the actors getting drunk."

Paglin Resigns As FCC Counsel To Join New Firm

Washington, April 7.

Max Paglin resigned suddenly as FCC General Counsel. He will join a new law firm starting here under Paul O'Brien, an exec in the Gene Autry enterprises.

No successor has been named to Paglin's spot and it's unlikely the Commission will talk about filling the vacancy until members return later this week from the NAB Convention in Chicago.

If the Commission chooses from within its ranks, Deputy General Counsel Henry Geller is high in the speculation because of his position under Paglin and his effective relationship with FCC Chairman E. William Henry. Another FCC possibility is Asst. General Counsel Daniel Ohlbaum.

There was also speculation the choice might come from the outside as the spot is fairly lucrative plum for election year dangling.

Commission and insiders were taken by surprise when Paglin, a 21-year FCC employee disclosed he was joining the law firm. Four other partners are from Dow, Lohnes & Albertson which has communications dealings. They are William Grove, Leonard Jaskiewicz, Harry Sells and Carroll Gilliam. Another partner, Keith Putbrese, has been an associate with Smith & Pepper.

The firm will carry the names of all partners and will handle general practice as well as dealing with Federal courts and agencies.

Paglin will leave his FCC duties May 1. He was upped to General Counsel in 1961 when Newton Minow became chairman.

CBS News 'Lend-Leases' Collingwood to Britain For Political Portraits

London, April 7.

CBS News is engaged in a form of lend-lease program with Britain, acceding to a request of Britain's Independent Television Authority to lend Charles Collingwood for a series of political portraits.

Collingwood, one of CBS News ace correspondents, will interview the leaders of Britain's three major parties for telecasting by ITV prior to the upcoming national elections in Britain. ITV is the central organization of British commercial programmers. Collingwood was understood to have been selected because of ITV's desire to get a non-national impartial interviewer. Collingwood, too, did a successful interview with former Prime Minister Macmillan, in the past for ITV and BBC.

Collingwood will do the vidtaping prior to his moveover to Paris in mid-May, when he assumes the post as European correspondent for CBS News.

Filmways 6-Mos. Net Up to 148G

Hollywood, April 7.

Filmways Inc., tv and feature film company, reported net income of $148,564 for six months ended Feb. 29, 1964, amounting to 156% over $58,036 profit for corresponding period last year and 21.37% over firm's net income of $122,408 for the entire preceding fiscal year.

Latest figure repped 25c per share on 601,492 shares outstanding as compared with 10c per share on 590,004 shares last year, and against 21c per share for previous full year. Total revenues before taxes for latest six-month span were $7,601,207, compared to $5,195,896 last year.

Take was drawn from most part from three tv series and one feature film, latter "The Wheeler Dealers" released through Metro. Teleseries included "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Petticoat Junction" and "Mr. Ed." Company has a fourth tv show coming up on ABC next Fall, "The Addams Family," recently completed a second Metro release, "The Americanization of Emily," and has another feature, "Topkapi," ready for release through United Artists.

HOW TO IDENTIFY A NETWORK

Connect the numbers and you have one of the world's most familiar insignia.

We've nothing against insignia, but it's our feeling that a network can be recognized just as readily by the caliber of its programs. To get down to cases, there's one network that:

☐ replaced an entire evening's prime-time programming with "The American Revolution of '63," a three-hour report on civil rights.

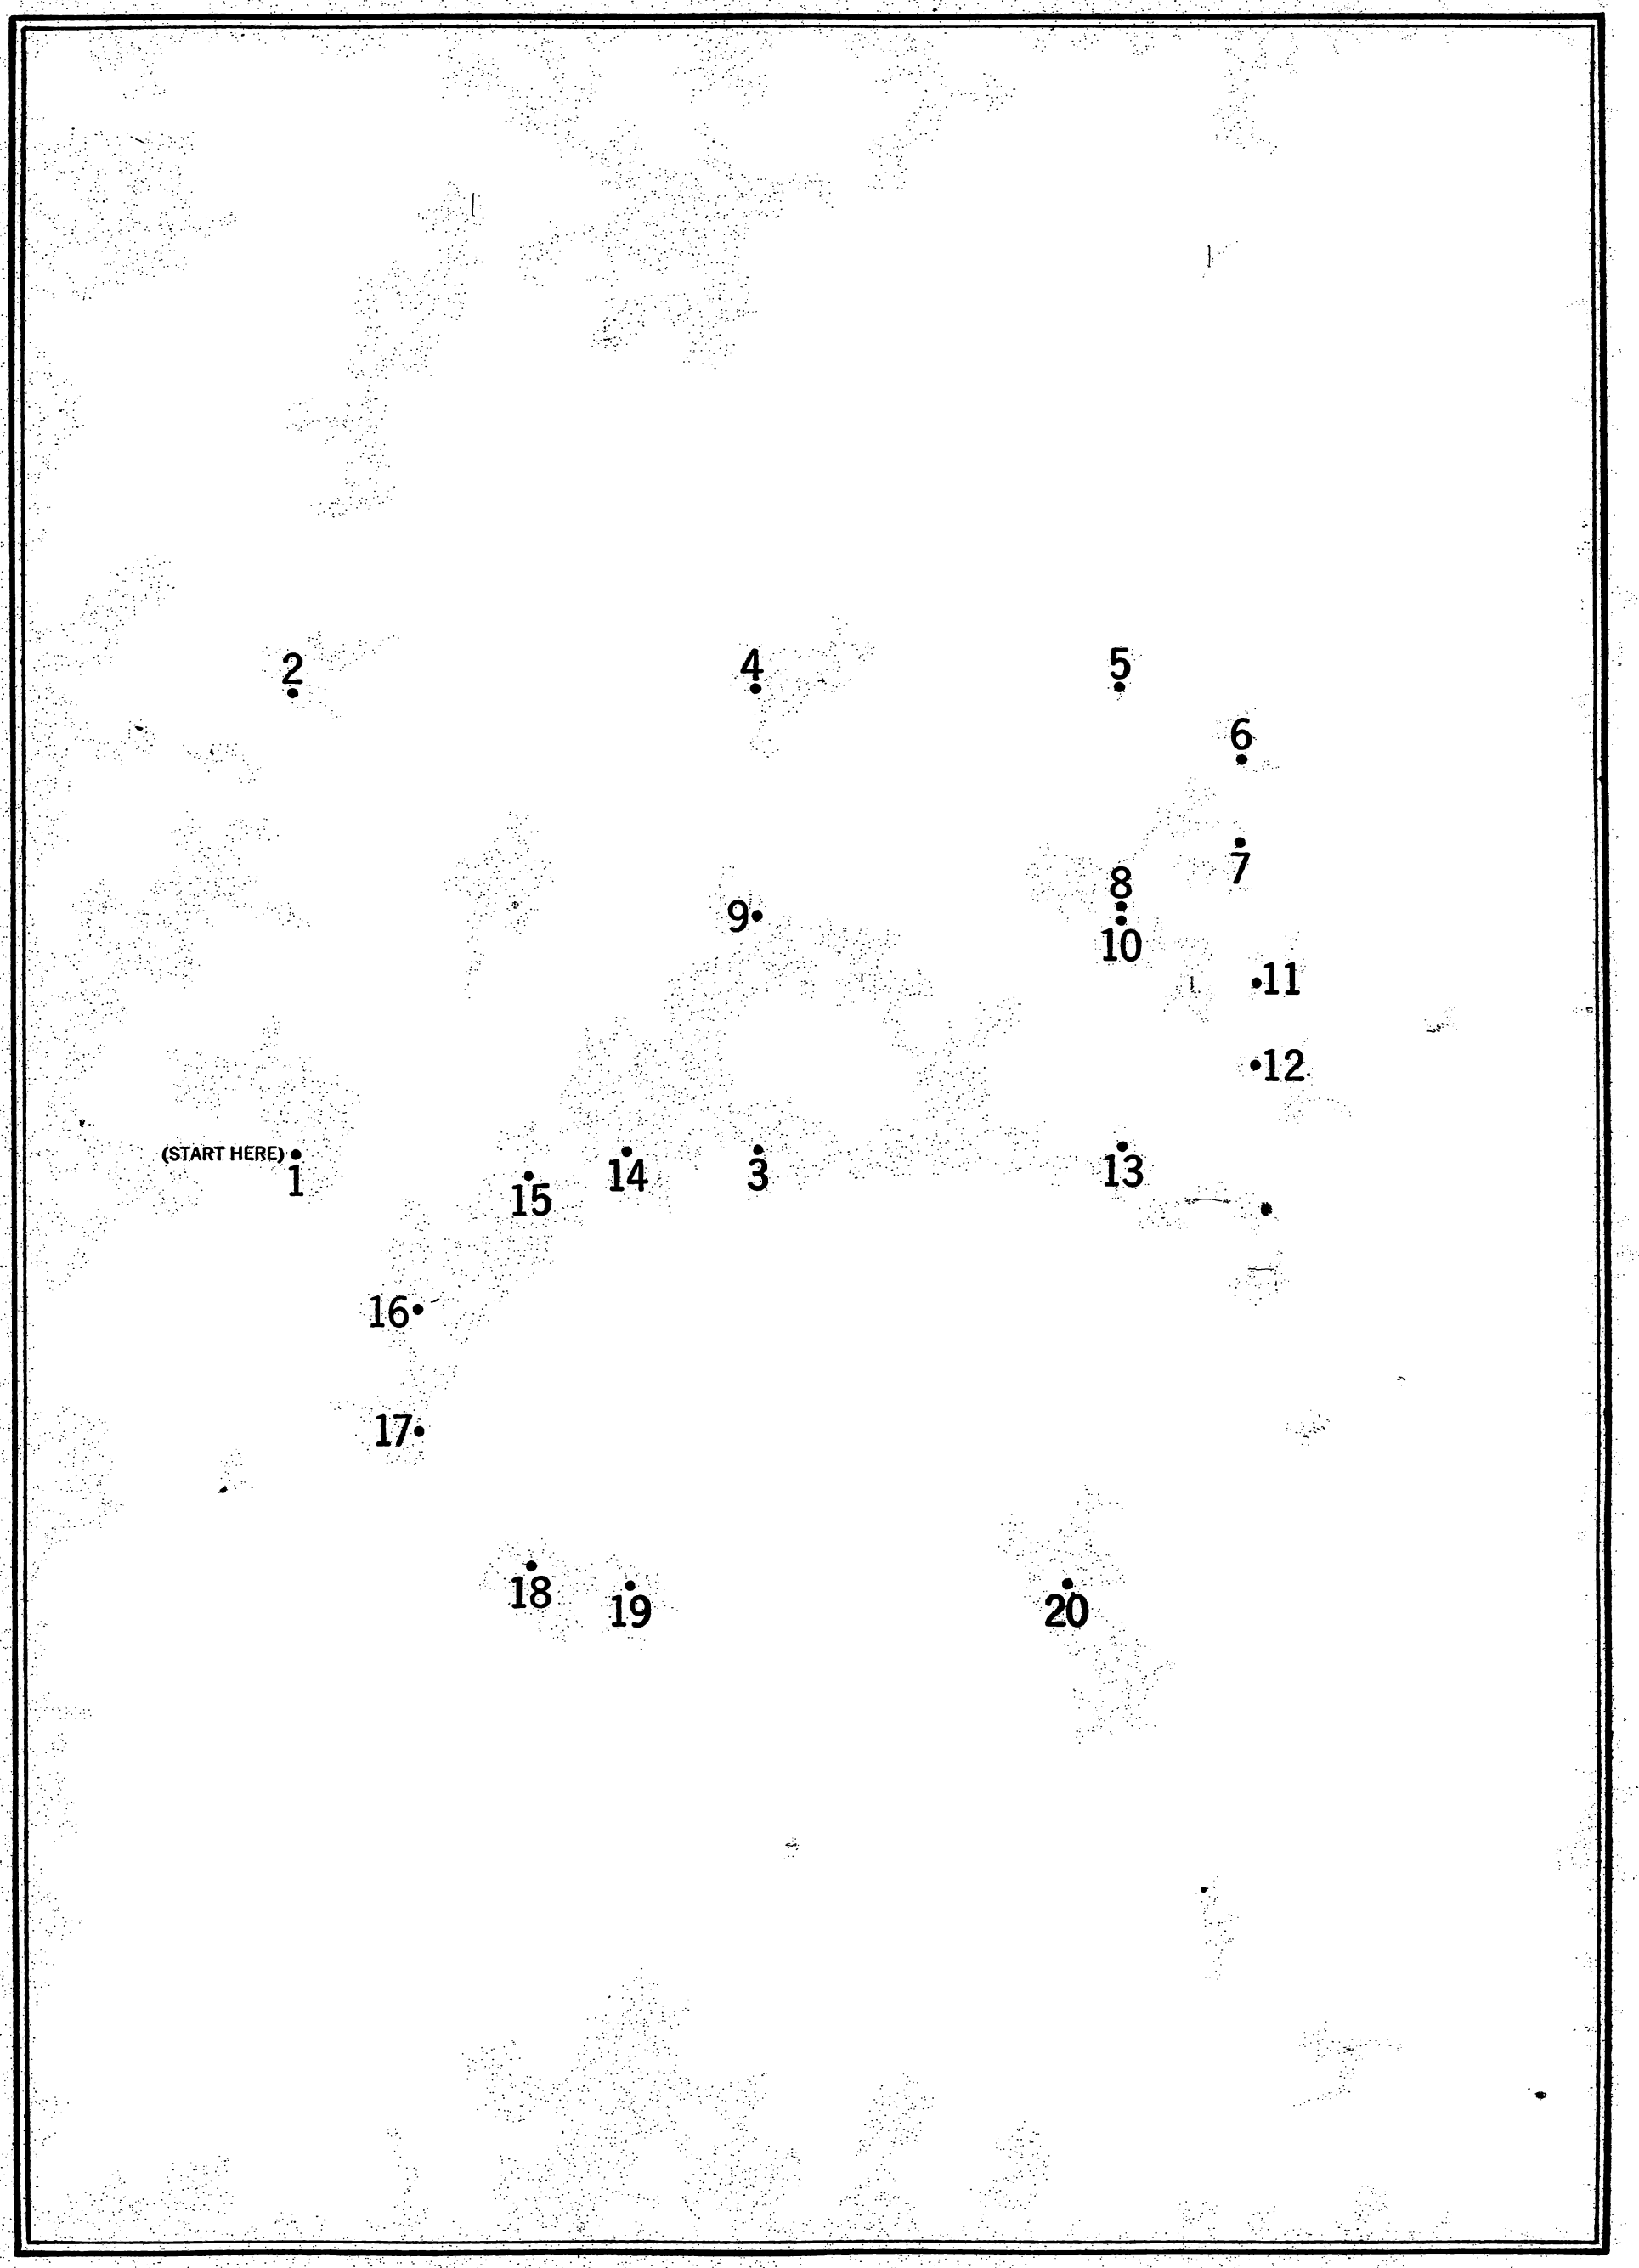
☐ set the entire nation talking about its bold and irreverent satire series, "That Was The Week That Was."

☐ created "Exploring" and "The Children's Theatre," network television's most celebrated programs for youngsters.

☐ explored the inside of the Kremlin—a feat even Russian television had never achieved —to produce one of the classic programs in television annals.

☐ has scheduled an unrivalled sports lineup next season, ranging from NCAA football to the World Series, with most events in color.

☐ presents television's most honored dramatic program: The Hallmark Hall of Fame.



☐ stars television's most impressive array of talent, including such favorites in next season's schedule as Jack Benny, Shirley Booth, Johnny Carson, Richard Chamberlain, Perry Como, Alfred Hitchcock, Bob Hope, Jack Paar and Danny Thomas—to name only a few.

☐ televises the nation's most distinguished newscast, the "Huntley-Brinkley Report."

☐ consistently draws the greatest number of viewers to its coverage of such special events as conventions, elections or space flights.

All in all, it's the network whose balanced and wide-ranging schedule makes its identity unmistakable.

Of course, if you can't get through the day without seeing our signature, just connect the dots. Obviously, though, it's the first time our identity has ever been a puzzle.

2
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
(START HERE)
1
15
14
3
13
16
17
18
19
20

FM Pushers Vaulting Numbers Gap With Own Hand Hewn Program Pegs

What may be reaffirmed by that first-ever hour-by-hour Pulse study of the top 10 markets unveiled last week in Chicago is that stepchild FM, at least for the here and now, is chiefly dependent for advertiser receptivity on its image as a marketing specialist.

For all the static of the Pulse report, this has been the ardent thesis of FM boosters all along—that the megacycle band delivers, if not numbers, a class audience with spendable income. (They fly jets, dig stereo, fine wines, etc.) There has been a flow of impressive evidence, too, that this is a growth audience, per the Hoopers in Philly, Chicago, L.A. and elsewhere.

Yet taken overall, as the aforesaid Pulse reinforces, the medium's listenership has been too fragmented to tempt most timebuyers and national advertisers. To circumvent the "numbers gap," there have evolved diverse plo.s, one of which, separately covered this issue, seeks to inspire the grouping of FMers in the same market to sell combined circulation at cost-per-thousand comparable to a single affluent AM.

Another, cued by FM's appeal for the higher brackets, extols unique programmatic concepts as a refinement of the selectivity theme crooned by FM chaps to advertisers. Thus, RCA formerly underwrote a stereo concert series via the QXR network; and, perhaps as a more pointed example, TWA currently has multi-market sponsorship of "The World of Adventure in Music." Packaged and pending for key markets is a "Paris This Week" series geared for the Europe-bound traffic, hopefully for Air France sponsorship.

Proponents of the multi-market program identification concept argue that for image-conscious advertisers with a yen for FM, it's the far wiser course than buying station schedules, however astutely. Investing in station schedules, they reason, leaves unresolved for the sponsor whether the program or the station has or has not performed for him. (Conversely, the surer gauge for an advertiser is the identical concept in several markets.) How that sits with station stewards is another story.

At any rate, the gambit is neither new nor has it enjoyed much advertiser vogue to date. TWA's "World of Adventure in Music" is the only current such undertaking by a national advertiser. Airing since last September on nine stations in five markets (three more are said to be on tap), it is prepackaged (inclusive of brand new disks and commentary by Frank Waldecker) by Gene LaBrie, and

(Continued on page 58)

Jerry Makes Merry

Chicago, April 7.

A baby elephant just made it through the doors of Desilu Sales at the Pick-Congress Hotel, where TFE-'64 is holding its meet this year. The baby elephant and a chimp were utilized to promote the sale of Desilu's off-network skein "Greatest Show on Earth."

Circus motif was picked up by pretty gals, trainers, etc., with press agent Jerry Franken delivering the spiel "and now look here at the greatest attraction. "

FM Group Sales Solves Riddle Of Circulation

Chicago, April 7.

FM operators, whose problems stem basically from their medium's fragmentary audiences, are being pitched a plan that may help them to get more of the national advertisers who are interested only in mass circulation. The idea is for several FMers in the same market to band together as a group and sell their combined circulation as though they were a single AM station, at a comparable cost-per-thousand.

The plan is the brainchild of FM Group Sales Inc., which has been piloting the idea in Chicago and Los Angeles for nearly two years with reasonably good results. Moreover, the Federal Communications Commission, which clearly wouldn't endorse such a procedure for AM or tv, has thus far looked kindly on it for FM because it deems it in the public interest to enhance the competitive status of that medium.

Whether or not the government Agency does grant special dispensation to the combination rate agreement for FM depends on its being satisfied that (1) there is no conflict of interest by one of the partners in FM Group Sales Inc., co-founder Les Vihon, who is also a station owner; and (2) there is no possibility of unfair competition with the FM stations in the same market that don't choose to join the group. Re the former, Vihon has dropped out of corporate participation to satisfy the commission; and as to the latter, FMGS has assured the commission that participating stations will not share knowledge of each other's rate structures, that each of the group stations will be encouraged to keep an individual rep, and that the group rates will not work an additional hardship on stations that do not join.

As FMGS prexy Art Sakelson explains it in the proposal circulated to FM operators, "There are many accounts that want to buy 'bits and pieces' or can't afford to spend big money in FM. This is where the individual rep can do a job. Media buyers for selective and specialized accounts can and will take the time to look at stations individually.

"But when major radio schedules are bought, only the well known

(Continued on page 58)

Mayer's 'Playback' In Chi WBKB Slot

Chicago, April 7.

Phil Mayer was named program director of WBKB again, and this time the appointment holds. Mayer, who comes from WGN-TV where he was asst. program director, was initially hired away by the ABC owned stations division two months ago; but he quickly retreated to his old job when he found he was walking into the storm that was then brewing between WBKB veep Sterling (Red) Quinlan and o&o division prexy Ted Shaker. In fact, it was the abortive appointment of Mayer that touched off the cloudburst which eventually resulted in Quinlan's resignation.

Mayer, innocent of the intra-company friction, had been hired the first time to replace Quinlan's program director, Dan Schuffman, whom Shaker was trying to move out of the spot. This brought on the test of Quinlan's local authority, and shortly after he resigned Schuffman followed. Quinlan's successor, Tom Miller, interviewed possible replacements for Schuffman for two weeks and then announced the hiring of Mayer.

Mayer, incidentally, had worked for several years under Ed Warren at WGN-TV. Warren is now program director of the ABC-TV owned-stations division and doubtless Mayer's sponsor, although Miller insists the choice was his own.

Screen Gems Preps Another Package

Chicago, April 7.

With features in heavy demand, Screen Gems let it be known that it will soon release another package of pix, again of more recent vintage.

Embassy Pictures' success with sand and sandal pictures has triggered activity by American International and National Telefilm Associates. American International, under the banner of EpiColor '64, has titles such as "Sign of the Gladiator," "Attack On The Normans," "Taur The Mighty," "Colossus & The Amazon Queen."

National Telefilm Associates, in its package of 13, has "Blood and Sand" and "Prince Of The Vikings."

Who's the 'Big Name' Lined Up for Ga. Meet? They Say Mebbe LBJ

Atlanta, April 7.

Jack Williams, executive secretary of the Georgia Assn. of Broadcasters, Inc., has made a preliminary report on speakers lined up for four-day convention, June 13-16, at Callaway Gardens, near Pine Mountain, Ga.

Headliner of 29th annual convention will be Texas Congressman Walter Rogers, described as "a dynamic fighter for broadcasting's freedom."

Other speakers already in the bag, Williams reports, are Harold Krelstein, president of Plough Broadcasting; Prose Walker, of Collins Radio Co.; Avery Gibson of HR Television; Hope Martinez, of BBD&O, New York; and others. An invitation has been issued to FCC's Lee Loevinger.

As a teaser, Williams added that "one of the biggest names in the National Democratic Party" will address the conventon.

This has aroused speculation that, perhaps, President Lyndon Baines Johnson will come south to address the parley.

In addition to GAB parley chief engineers from GAB stations will hold their first annual engineering conference June 16 at Callaway Gardens.

Station Claims FCC 'Studying' Its Editorials

Raleigh, N.C., April 7.

Radio and television station WRAL says it is one of the two stations whose editorializing is under detailed scrutiny by FCC. A. J. Fletcher, president of Capitol Broadcasting Co., issued a statement after it was learned that the station's license renewal has been delayed pending study. The FCC declined to comment.

Fletcher said the company is not alarmed by the study, and that the FCC has expressed no criticism of its policy. Fletcher said the company understood it was selected for the study because it was a pioneer in broadcast editorializing.

"Despite this investigation and withholding of renewal of license, this station in its editorial policy has not deviated one iota from its general purpose of promoting free enterprise and condemning the actions of those who would complete the conversion of our country to a socialist form of government," Fletcher said.

"We cannot believe that our operating license would be placed in jeopardy because we dare to state clearly-labeled editorial views that are not pleasing to some. We have proceeded with our right to editorialize without fear of reprisal. If there is room for fear, then it is indeed later than we think."

Fletcher said the commission has not criticized the station's editorial policy.

Another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, L. Richardson Preyer, recently refused to participate in a political debate originating from WRAL-TV because he said the station was partial. Fletcher said Preyer's complaint was "entirely unjustified."

WRAL's license expired Dec. 1, 1963.

RIGHT-UP-TO-'63 RELEASES FOR AA

Chicago, April 7.

Television subsid of Allied Artists has dipped into the remaining feature library of its parent company and has come up with releases as recent as 1963 theatrically. The more recent pix are being sold to tv stations, on a delayed basis.

These are some of the titles of the new AATV feature package:

"Billy Budd," Robert Ryan, Peter Ustinov, Melvyn Douglas; "Convicts 4," Ben Gazzara, Sammy Davis Jr., Broderick Crawford, Rod Steiger; "Cry of Battle," "Hitler," "The George Raft Story," and "War Is Hell."

Jerry Levin Follows WNEW-TV Signal Into Three States For 'Local' Angles

Whereas most local pubservice programming is just that—local—producer-director Jerry Levin of WNEW-TV's (N.Y.) "Community Dialogue" is a rover boy whose purview stretches to all points of the channel 5 signal perimeter. So that apart from Gotham and environs, the beat covers the southern flank of Connecticut and a good part of northeast New Jersey. In other words, to quote the station, "We're truly local."

The Sunday half-hour prime-time (formerly at 8:30 p.m., now at 8) dialogs, therefore, range from New York City ("The Taxi Fare—Fair?"), to Connecticut ("The Dirty Rivers," anent insufficiency of sewage disposal), to New Jersey ("Will There be an Income Tax").

Levin, who came to the Metromedia flagship from WBBM-TV, Chicago, and Westinghouse, in Cleveland, stresses that community service means the total coverage area must be served.

The show's title is forthright. Says the producer: "We very carefully try to give a cross-section of opinions." This is a shade distinct from trying for exact balance of viewpoint, and thus a more accurate (as a rule) barometer of communal sentiment on an issue at hand.

Thus, when authorities on the q.t. bought an old manse on residential Staten Island as a "halfway" house for dope probationers, revelation of the move outraged most local folk, and the preponderant reaction was so reflected by the program. Airing the issue, however, apparently helped to calm the community and permit more rational discourse on the controversy.

Levin speaks pridefully of his program's residual effects. Often, albeit not always, the citizen dialogues, in combination with ensuing newspaper publicity, have been a prod to action. Shortly after taxpayers waxed irate on the show over Connecticut's "dirty rivers," the board of aldermen in Ansonia (one of three towns immediately concerned) voted to proceed with construction of a sewage disposal plant, and proposed a bond issue to enable said construction.

"Of course," Levin admits, "we did a show on ethics (among New York State lawmakers) and they defeated it"—an allusion to the watered-down measure re conflict of interest that finally cleared the legislature in Albany.

Levin, who regularly scans some 15 newspapers (aside from the New York dailies) in the tri-state area, says he seeks to air issues that

(Continued on page 60)

Now Comes BARB

Atlanta, April 7.

A new organization, Businessmen Against Regimented Broadcasting (BARB), has been formed in Georgia.

Chapters have been activated in Hinesville, Baxley, Glenville and Savannah.

Other units are organizing in Albany and Macon.

BARB was organized to fight alleged inequities in FCC's Fairness Doctrine and to take other action opposing government regulation.

Kidshows Propel WGN-TV Into Tie For Chi 2d Place

Chicago, April 7.

Largely on the strength of its 23 powerhouse kidshows, WGN-TV has jumped into a tie for second place in this market in the just published February ARBs. The Chicago indie, reaching its highest notch yet during a fall-winter tv season, scored a 23 average share of audience in the signon-to-signoff breakdown putting it on a par with the NBC anchor, WNBQ. Matter of fact, the Tribune Co. flagship topped the NBC station in total homes, 156,600 to 154,300.

That would seem to give WGN-TV claim to being the top indie in the nation, a status that appears to be verified by ARB comparisons with non-affiliated stations in other markets. The closest runner-up, in point of relative metro audience shares, would be Time-Life's WTCN-TV, Minneapolis-St. Paul, which averages a 17 share against three-network competition. However, it still places fourth in a four station market.

By the same yardstick, WNEW, New York, ranks third among independents in the nation with a 15 share of its market, although WGN-TV concedes it's unfair to compare independents in six- and seven-station markets with those having no other indie competition. The Gotham station, a Metromedia property, tops all independents in total homes with 329,700, more than twice WGN-TV's total, having the advantage of a larger market.

Other independents getting better than a 10% share of their markets from signon to signoff, in the latest ARB survey, are CKLW, Detroit-Windsor, with a 14; KTVT, Dallas-Ft. Worth, with 13; KTVU, San Francisco, with 12; and KATU, Portland, Ore., with 11.

WGN-TV has run ahead of WBKB-TV (ABC) for much of the current season and has maintained its 23% share for the past two rating periods. But both WBKB and WNBQ each lost audience in the latest survey to the front-running WBBM-TV, and that gave the indie a clear edge over the ABC station and a tie with WNBQ. Indicative of where WGN-TV's strength lies is that the ARB analysis of audience components (men, women, teens and children) shows the Trib station fourth in all categories save the last, where it is a whopping first.

While the second place tie represents WGN-TV's zenith during a regular tv season, the indie has been known to run first in the market during the summer months, especially during baseball season.

Texas Court Proceedings 'Wired In' for Students

Austin, April 7.

Beginning in June, the U. of Texas law students will be able to sit in their classrooms and watch Travis County court proceedings on closed circuit television.

Both criminal and civil district cases will be televised except when participating lawyers object. Some will be on videotape.

The special room with the television facilities will hold 70 students. It is a part of the $1,500,000 addition to the law building.

WCIU Accents All-Negro Gab

Chicago, April 7.

An all-Negro discussion program of two hours' duration is the latest innovation of WCIU, the new UHF station here whose pledge to the FCC is to serve ethnic and minority groups. New gabfest, titled "On Target" and moderated by communications consultant Harland Randolph, has a full sponsor in Nelson Bros. Furniture and has been given the choice 10 p.m. Saturday slot following the station's most popular show, "Bullfights From Mexico."

It's the fourth program currently on Chicago tv using the format of a marathon chinfest and is one of three such offerings on Saturday nights. WBBM-TV's "At Random" and WBKB's "Kup's Show" are still in head-on competition after midnight on Saturdays (the February ARB just out shows the Irv Kupcinet-moderated panel holding a decided edge over the two hour course), and Norm Ross' "Off the Cuff" is still a Friday post-midnight entry on WBKB. All use Negro panelists with regularity, but the WCIU program will address itself exclusively to Negro topics.

Premiere program was on the subject of "Civil Rights—Money and Votes." Future outings will take on such subjects as welfare, Negro taboos, retarded children and problems of ex-convicts.

NAB'S BLESSING ON SYNDIES

Trade Org for Film Syndicators?

Chicago, April 7.

In the midst of the rapprochement with the NAB, more than one film syndicator now is thinking in terms of the possibility of the establishment of a film syndication trade organization. The Television Film Exhibit of the past two years proved that film syndicators can work together for a common goal, albeit the goal is limited.

If film syndicators elect to return with the NAB, one syndicator said it would be a shame if they didn't establish a continuing trade organization. He said the foundation could be the groundwork laid by the Television Film Exhibit, representing the common effort of 16 film syndicators this year. He said such a trade organization for the first time could establish ways and means of securing telling research, expanding the syndication market in the U.S., and even work in a common effort to secure more local time for syndicated programming. The complication of some program suppliers doing business with both the network and the local station, it was argued, need not paralyze the effort of a trade organization's work freeing more local time for syndicated programs.

A trade organization, too, it was agreed, would be more effective in telling the full syndication story at a NAB conclave, (there was some criticism that the NAB film panel did not have a spokesman identified with vidfilm services or series on its panel on programming. Bob Rich, of Seven Arts Associated, is identified with features rather than vidfilm programming. Selection of Joe Levine, of Embassy Pictures, as another party to the NAB program panel, baffled some syndicators.)

No Need to Push Panic Button Cues Collins Booze Blurb Stance

Washington, April 7.

NAB prez Le Roy Collins said the liquor advertising breakthrough by WQXR, New York, should not lead Congress to enacting panic-stricken anti-booze blurb legislation.

Responding to a batch of liquor letters mailed last week by House Commerce Committee chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) Collins tried to head off the inevitable Congressional pressure stemming from the QXR policy switch.

Collins admitted "any widespread rejection of self-imposed standards could develop pressure for restrictive legislation."

Without specifically mentioning QXR, Collins continued, "Occasional deviations, however, from self-regulatory standards should not result in the imposition of government regulations on an entire industry."

Collins' refusal to push the panic button, indicates a slight shift in NAB thinking since the word first went out that WQXR would air booze commercials.

First thought of NAB brass was for Congress to exert pressure on QXR and the industry, realizing

(Continued on page 54)

Deferred Payment

Chicago, April 7.

Tom Duggan, KTLA (Los Angeles) tv personality, was arrested on a five-year-old contempt of court citation in Chi last week when he came to town for his father's funeral. Duggan was taken into custody by two sheriff's deputies and began the 10-day sentence immediately after the funeral.

The contempt charges against Duggan stemmed from remarks made on his old Chi tv show about a divorce case in which he was involved.

FCC Clears Davis On 'Marginal' Rap As Henry Dissents

Washington, April 7.

Deciding station prez Howard Davis did not deceive the Commission, FCC renewed the licenses of KMAC-AM, KISS-FM, San Antonio.

In a 3-1 decision, FCC said that Davis' ill-fated attempt to garner a San Antonio television outlet in 1954 did not develop a record showing misrepresentation. At that time FCC threw out his application charging he had concealed and misrepresented his financial qualifications.

In its latest look, the Commission majority decided Davis' conduct was "marginal, but falls short of establishing misrepresentation."

FCC emphasized, however, that had its decision been closer to the events of 1954 or if a stronger record showing had been made it might have come to the opposite conclusion.

Commission's action upheld a Hearing Examiner's Initial Decision in February, 1963.

In his dissent, Chairman E. William Henry averred the record "discloses a marked, overall pattern of misrepresenting certain salient facts and of failure to disclose other pertinent facts with the intention of deceiving this Commission."

Henry said FCC can't "forgive and forget" because the issues arose 10 years ago. He also refused to back the majority's view that part of the imbroglio stemmed from Davis' bookkeeping and accounting inexperience.

Favoring renewal were Commissioners Robert Bartley, Robert E. Lee, and Frederick Ford.

FCC Parcels Out Station Penalties

Washington, April 7.

FCC was busy on the revocation and forfeiture fronts slapping disciplinary actions on stations in Rhode Island, Alabama and Florida.

Commission affirmed its order of Feb., 1963, revoking the license of WLOV-FM, Cranston, R.I. Rejecting the reconsideration bid of Neighborly Broadcasting Co. Inc., FCC pointed to the station's record of rule violations and financial "irresponsibility."

In view of previous failure to employ a qualified staff or provide good facilities or equipment, FCC said it could not bank on the outlet's promises to do better in the future.

FCC notified UHFer WMSL-TV Decatur, Ala., of an apparent $500 liability for failing to comply with log-keeping requirements.

Logs of outlets licensed by Tennessee Valley Radio and Television Corp did not list each program broadcast and sponsors' names nor did they tell if sponsorship had been announced, FCC said. It was the first time a station has been pegged for such an offense.

Slapped with $500 overtime payment notice was daytimer WIII-AM, Homestead, Fla. Commission said station licensed by Seven League Productions repeatedly broadcast past set hours.

LOOKS LIKE END OF RUMP STATUS

By MURRAY HOROWITZ

Chicago, April 7.

Film syndicators at the convention drew closer to the tv establishment. The sound of dissonance of past conventions, raucous squawks that divided film syndicators from NAB officialdom, was replaced by purrs of satisfactions.

Possibility that 1965 may see the end of the "separate but equal" status of film syndicators at next year's annual conclave looks good. This year out, a band of 16 film syndicators, rallied under the flag of TFE-'64, again proved that they were popular with broadcasters of the nation.

The purrs of satisfaction had many signs.

1. For the first time in many years, NAB sponsored a panel on tv programming, with syndication represented by Seven Arts Associated's Bob Rich. (See separate story).

2. The presence of TFE-'64 was recognized in the official NAB guide for conventioneers.

3. TFE-'64, in return, gave up its rump status and associated itself with the NAB. The NAB sign was prominent in the main social event sponsored by TFE, the Sunday cocktail party.

These and other developments indicate the thaw in what had been a frozen relationship between the film syndicators and the NAB. Next year holds out the possibility that there may be a reunion of the parties, with film syndicators holding their conclave under the NAB umbrella.

What are some of the highlights of TFE-'64?

1. Neither rain nor winds kept broadcasters away from the TFE cocktail party, attended by some 1,200 people, held at the Pick-Congress Hotel, two long blocks away from the Conrad Hilton, site of the NAB meet.

2. Rooms of the film syndicators were smartly and colorfully decorated, in many instances themed to the product sold by the syndicator.

3. The action in most Pick-Congress hospitality suites was lively, if not cluttered. The interested parties, the buyers, made the fourth floor rounds at the Pick-Congress.

4. The film syndicators dealing with features had the greatest play. As one feature film exec put it, "this is the hottest market ever for motion pictures."

What now is dividing the NAB and the majority of film syndicators seems small in comparison to previous years. Many key syndicators, now under the TFE banner, in private say they would rejoin NAB as associate members, if film syndicators at the annual NAB meet would be given one hotel floor, in which to exhibit their wares and meet their customers. The second conclave of TFE, like the first, proved that film syndicators can conduct their affairs in a businesslike manner, without losing some of their color and flair. The hard-sell "girlie" atmosphere of years gone by is a thing of the past, with the syndies looking and appearing very much like their more staid NAB brothers.

N. Dakota's ETV Grant

Washington, April 7.

North Dakota's first educational television station received a $130,173 grant from the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare.

HEW etv matching grant goes to the North Central Educational Television Assn. Inc. in Fargo, N. D., to build KFME-TV Station, which will get some programs from etv outlet KTCA-TV, Minneapolis-St. Paul, will air programs to the Fargo-Moorhead, Minn. area.

HEW has now dished out $3,023,445 in etv unds with another 43 applicants seeking $7,728,740 in Federal coin.

Taft's $33,000,000 Buy of 3 TV Stations Makes It Sole Chain at Max. Strength

No April Fooler was last Wednesday's (1) cash transaction nailing down the deal whereby Taft Broadcasting acquired broadcast properties from liquidating Transcontinent Television Corp. in three markets—Buffalo, Kansas City and Scranton - Wilkes-Barre—for the champ price of $33,000,000 (plus assumption of liabilities). Taft thus becomes dominant among the group operators, at least with respect to numerical strength. It's now the only one among the multiple ownerships (networks included) to hold the maximum tv licenses—five VHF and two on the UHF band.

The transaction received the FCC greenlight last Feb. 20.

Also transferred in the package deal are Transcontinent properties in San Diego, to Midwest Television, and at Bakersfield, Cal., to Time-Life Broadcasting. These acquisitions, together with Taft's, represent an aggregate purchase price of $38,500,000, plus assumption of certain current and long-term obligations and contingent tax liabilities by the purchasers.

Broadcasting's largest previous transaction was the $24,000,000 paid by United Paramount Theatres in 1953 to acquire ABC, thereafter taking AB-PT for its corporate billing.

New links in the Taft chain are WGR-AM-FM-TV, Buffalo; WDAF-AM-FM-TV, Kaycee; and WNEP-TV, Scranton-Wilkes-Barre. The Cincy outfit now owns seven tv stations, five AMers and five on the FM band (latter separately programmed for "good music"). Besides the acquisitions, Taft operates in Cincy, Columbus, Birmingham, and Lexington, Ky.

Midwest Television acquired KFMB-AM-FM-TV, San Diego, and Time-Life took over KERO-TV, Bakersfield. Midwest paid $10,085,000 plus assumption, under certain conditions, of tax liabilities up to $150,000, and Time-Life wrote out a check for $1,565,000.

Under liquidation terms which already have stockholder approval, Transcontinent will keep ownership of WDOK-AM-FM in Cleveland through a subsid, Northeastern Pennsylvania Broadcasting. After the selloff, Transcontinent directors authorized liquidation distribution of $20 per Transcontinent share, plus a proportionate interest in Northeastern. All is payable April 14 to holders of record April 9.

Taft's $33,000,000 payment included assumption of some $6,900,000 of Transcontinent liabilities. Taft, which is publicly owned and on the Big Board, will finance their portion of the purchase through a combo of $13,200,000 in bank loans, and the rest in longterm loans from insurance outfits.

Enclose Return Stamp

Pittsburgh, April 7.

KDKA, like all radio stations, has its share of strange requests but one was last week's could be the topper.

Joel Giuditta of Waterbury, Conn., wrote in and said, "Please send me a copy of your radio station."

Rich's Rosy Salvo: 1,200 Post-'50 TV Features in Tint

Chicago, April 7.

To an increasingly color conscious tv market, Seven Arts Associated v.p. Bob Rich reported that there are approximately 1,200 to 1,300 post-'50 features that are now available in color.

Rich represented the syndicators on the NAB panel, "Program Conference, '64." It appeared to be calculated to win friends and influence people in favor of syndication.

Said he to the assembled broadcasters: "Over the past 16 years film syndication has grown from childhood to full maturity. Today, we represent a highly professional billion dollar business, providing you with a wonderful array of top quality programs, expertly produced, to bring you by far the largest portion of the advertising dollar."

Rich's inclusion on the program panel represented a victory for syndicators who, for years, had all but been ignored by the NAB. Rich, as the syndication spokesman, acepted that victory with grace, using the oportunity to say a good word about the local film salesman, the local program topper, and the wide range of product available to the local market. He also managed to deliver the commercial that stations, when buying and programming syndicated product, retain "the largest portion of the advertising dollar."

MCA TV's Int'l Reps Gather on Coast For Annual Sales Seminar

Hollywood, April 7.

Representatives from nine foreign countries in which MCA TV maintains offices are taking part in an international sales forum for one week, which began Monday (6) at Universal City studios. Global sales sessions were called by Berle Adams, exec veepee of MCA TV Ltd., in charge of the International Division.

Purpose of the annual forum is for MCA personnel to meet and exchange ideas and review business and political conditions in their respective countries, the forum playing an important role in MCA TV's approach to global video sales. MCA's "dominant" position in foreign distribution is attributed to the combined specialists talents of the group of men who head up the company's foreign offices, Adams commented.

Among those participating in the global talks will be Brian Brolly, London; Robert Hussong, Paris; Franz Elmendorff, Munich; Giorgio Vannucci, Rome; Ron Brown, Sydney; Richard Miyamoto, Tokyo; Francisco Padilla and Mauricio Bolanos, Mexico; Herb Stewart, W. L. Smith, Robert Lee, Toronto; Robert Mercer, Montreal; Ralph Franklin, Herb Stern, N.Y.; Bob Bramson and Al Green, Chi.

Taking part from Universal City will be Peter McDonald, veepee, who will chair individual seminars, along with Adams; Raphael Etkes, David Skepner and Ralph Jarvis.

UHF Conversion: Progress Report

Chicago, April 7.

Latest estimate of UHF penetration in this market, according to sole U outlet here, WCIU, is that approximately 205,000 receivers in the area are capable of picking up the station. That's supposedly based on manufacturers' estimates of converter and all-channel set sales, plus the guess that when the station signed on last January 50,000 sets were already in use that could receive UHF.

Station survey of manufacturers and distributors indicated that 75,000 new converters have been sold since January and 50,000 all-channel sets. An additional 30,000 sets are deemed receptive to the UHF station through master antennas in high rise buildings. Those figures plus the estimated original 50,000 receivers bring the total to 205.

WABC-FM GETS RENEWAL

Washington, April 7.

FCC's Broadcast Bureau renewed the license of WABC-FM, New York.

Grant to the ABC o&o was made without prejudice to FCC's Network Study report or other Commission inquiries.

NOW THAT WE'VE HAD A GOOD YEAR...

1963 was a year of innovation. The "new ABC" was a success. Seven of its new shows will be back this fall. That's half the new shows we programmed. (Not even Ty Cobb hit .500.)

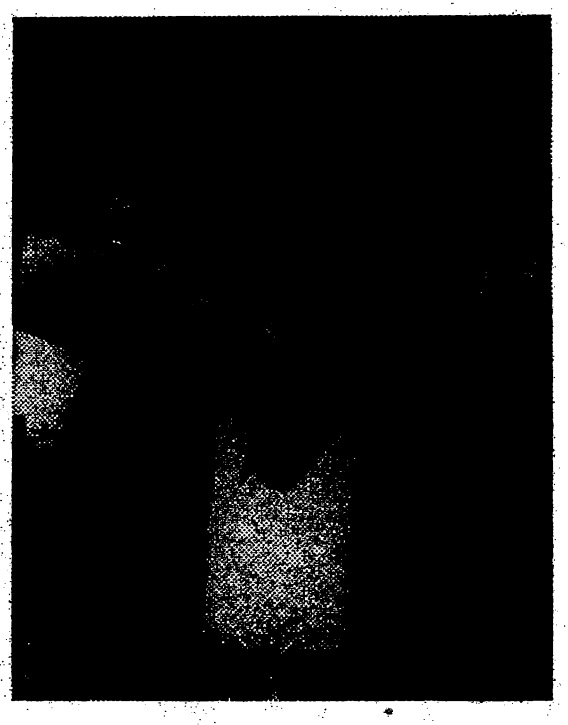
Almost all of our returning shows are having their best years ever. And that includes such long-time favorites as Donna Reed and Ozzie & Harriet.

Current ratings show ABC in its best competitive position of the season—with 20 half hours delivering 10 million or more Average Audience homes—and half again as many programs in the Nielsen Top Forty as another network competitor.

Our new shows are playing a large part in this gain. The Fugitive has joined the ranks of television's all-time greats. Patty Duke has run off with a remarkable share of the young audience. Outer Limits and Burke's Law have become popular viewing habits. So have Farmer's Daughter, Jimmy Dean and Hollywood Palace. All of these new shows will be back next year—an amazing 50 percent of the shows that made ABC "new" this season.

ABC made news in news this year, too. Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan, paired for the New Hampshire primary, were hailed by critics as the hot new news team.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Senators Hubert H. Humphrey and Sam J. Ervin, Jr., were signed to augment ABC's political convention coverage.



In sports, ABC's Winter Olympics coverage reached 35 million different homes—more than two-thirds of all U.S. television homes in a two-week period. ABC will continue its Olympic coverage during the trials this summer.

Most important, ABC is on the move with a stable base of proven entertainment on which next fall's schedule is built...

Sources. NTI Feb.-Mar. 1964 Average Audience, regular programs.
Winter Olympics Nielsen special analysis, 2 weeks ending Feb. 11, 1964

WHAT WILL WE DO FOR AN ENCORE?

1964 will be a year of opportunity. This fall's ABC schedule has real roots. Our ratio of new shows is decreasing while that of the other networks is increasing.

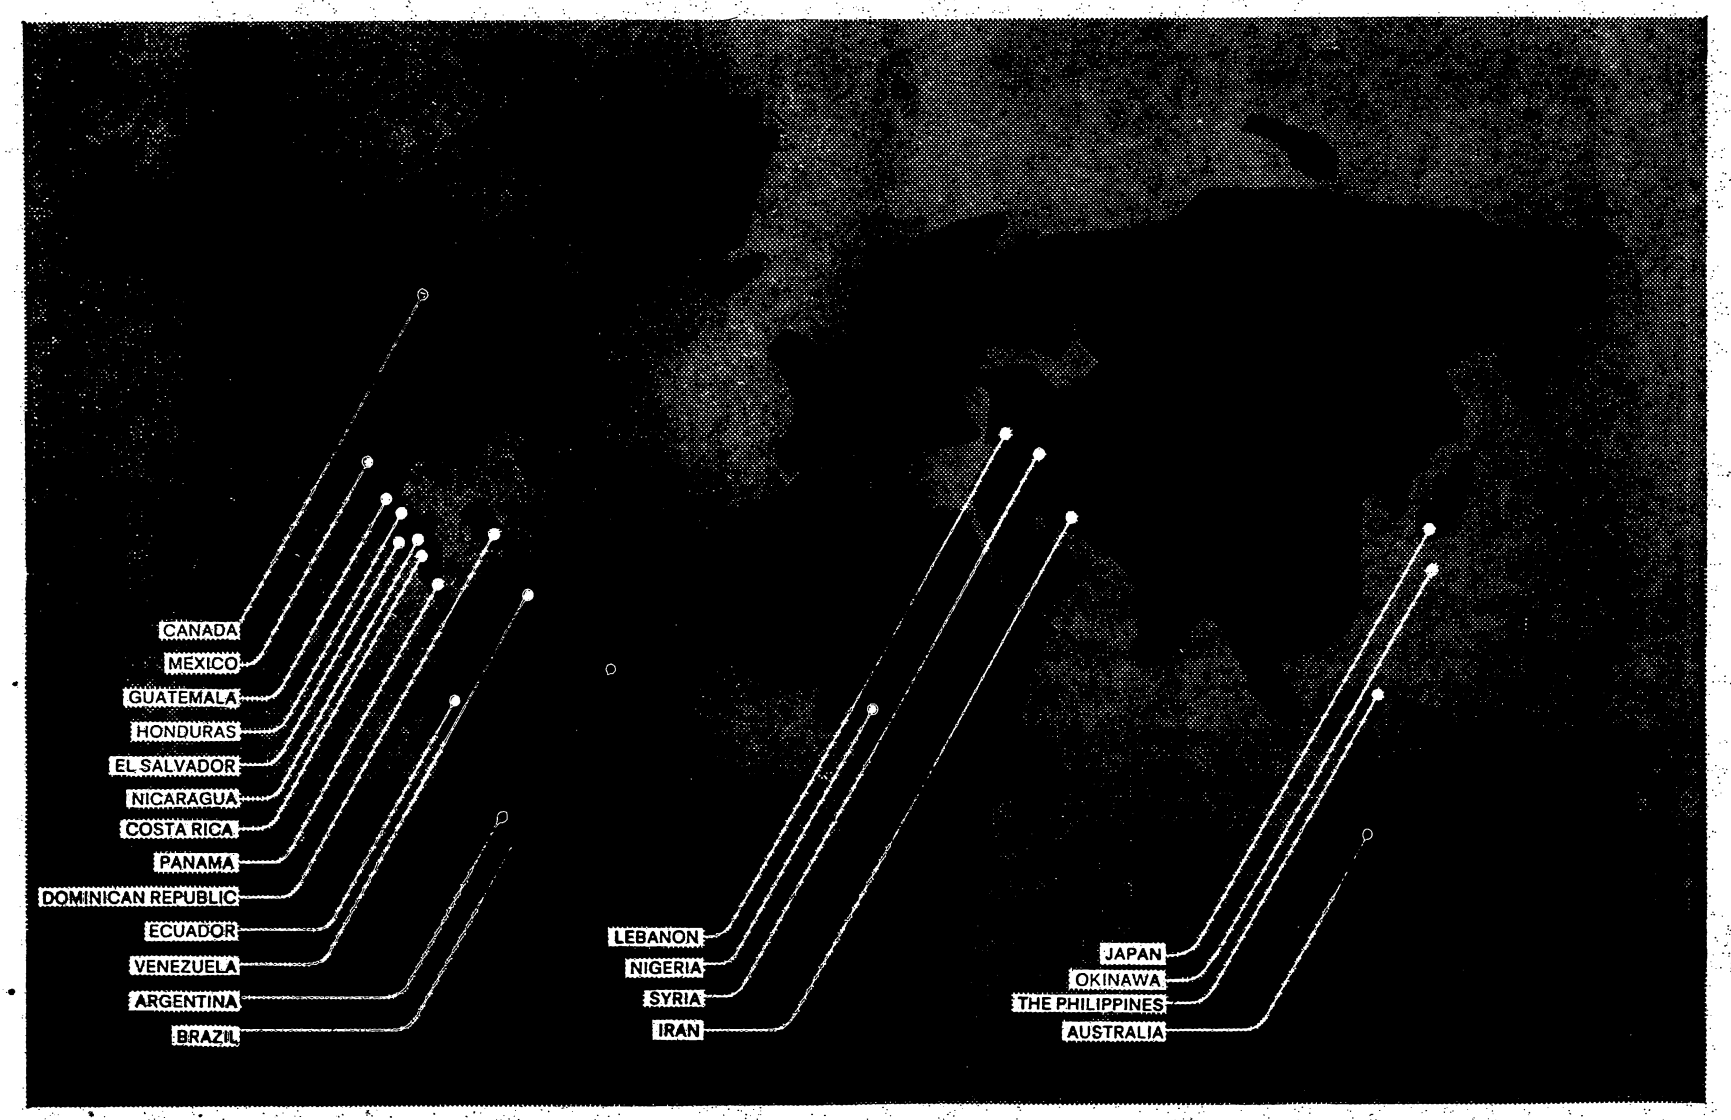
We've got momentum. Every single one of this year's situation comedies will be back next season. So will long-run favorites like Ben Casey, Wagon Train and Lawrence Welk.

We've got a schedule full of new ideas. Peyton Place will be the first serialized drama ever to appear in prime time. Jonny Quest will introduce a new kind of animated adventure. The Addams Family will bring Charles Addams' famous cartoon characters to life. Bing Crosby will appear in his first continuing television series. Bewitched, one of the most sought after properties of the new season, will be treating viewers to contemporary Witchcraft on ABC.

There will be seven Dinah Shore specials—both nighttime and daytime. Walter Brennan will be back with a new show. Broadside and No Time for Sergeants are two sure-fire new comedies. There will be exciting adventure in a unique setting on Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea. Suspenseful drama on 12 O'clock High. Mickey Rooney will star in a new family situation comedy. And George Burns and his cigar return to television in Wendy and Me.

We're not alone in sensing an exciting year for ABC.

We've got an unprecedented list of new and returning sponsors with us, with names representing the entire alphabet of top American advertisers. And the list continues to grow.



To sum up. We have stability—based on proven entertainment and momentum—prodded on by exciting new ideas.

We can't wait until you see our encore!

ABC Television Network abc

Let's get your show on the road

(To 49 television stations in 21 lands)

ABC International Television— the world's largest buyer of programs for telecasting outside the U.S.A.

Ben Casey asks for sutures in Arabic and Spanish. "Little Joe" Cartwright gets the girl in French and Japanese.

Shows like these are weekly hits with 16,000,000 foreign families. Families served by the ABC Worldvision Network.

If you have a program with universal appeal, talk to ABC International Television.

We'll give you complete information about costs and scheduling in any or all of our far-flung markets.

And then we'll help you show the world!

The ABC Worldvision Network: Canada, Mexico, Dominican Republic, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Venezuela, Ecuador, Brazil, Argentina, Lebanon, Iran, Nigeria, Japan, Okinawa, Philippines, Australia, Syria.

ABC International Television, Inc.

A SUBSIDIARY OF AMERICAN BROADCASTING-PARAMOUNT THEATRES, INC., 7 WEST 66TH STREET, NEW YORK 23, NEW YORK. CABLE. AMBROCASTS

LONDON: Richard Job Limited, 109 Park Street, London, W.1, England, Cable. DICKJOB LONDONWI JAPAN: American Broadcasting Company, Rm. 615, Asahi Shimbun Building, Yurakucho, Chiyoda-ku, Tokyo, Japan, Cable. AMCOCASTS

TV-Radio Production Centres

IN NEW YORK . . .

Bob Pauley, ABC Radio prez, set to orate at the Texan Assn. of Broadcasters' annual meet April 27 . . . Martin Waldman, prezy of Communication Planners, speaks April 16 at the National Conference on Public Administration in N.Y. . . . Bob Fleming, ABC News bureau topper in Washington, will attend the Army War College National Strategy Seminar at Carlisle Barracks in June . . . Carl Grande, sports topper at WNHC, New Haven, voted top sports spieler in Connecticut by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Awards Committee . . Richard Heffner, ex-WNDT and latterly an independent communications consultant, has a deal with Simon & Schuster for a book on the role of broadcasting in American life . . . Singer Alan Dale has incorporated himself, projecting an album and post-midnight teleshow as first projects Ben Okulski, sales service traffic manager for WABC-TV, appointed account exec in the sales dept. . . . Chris Schenkel will anchor Sports Network's April 18-19 coverage of the Houston Classic golf tourney. John Derr, Jim McArthur and Bob Toski will also spiel . . . Gimbel Development Corp. prepping "Sights and Sounds," what it calls a "new concept" for a tv musical show. To be filmed on location . . . Lisa Howard, having staked out Cuba as a prime beat, will front "Cuba and Castro Today" via ABC-TV April 19.

Ann Morgan Guilbert, featured in CBS-TV's "Dick Van Dyke Show," in town from Coast . . . Don Knotts back to Coast . . Louis Teicher, CBS-TV director of music operations, back from Coast . . . Father of Bud Materne (CBS-TV v.p. and eastern sales manager), died last week in Richmond, Va. . . . Jack Benny back to Hollywood after month's p.a. in Australia and vacation in Tahiti . . . Phil Silvers to Washington April 15 to launch '64 Savings Bond Drive for the Treasury Department . . . Sal Iannucci, CBS-TV v.p. of business affairs, back from Coast . . . Otto Preminger guests today (Wed.) on WCBS Radio's "Norton Mockridge Show" . . . Sam Cook Digges, administrative v.p. of CBS Films, serves as toastmaster Saturday (11) at the annual luncheon of the Community League for Retarded Children . . . Gil Gates, exec producer and director of "International Show Time," back in N.Y. after six weeks of shooting circus sequence in Munich, Berlin, Budapest, and Bern, Czechoslovakia . . . Beryl Berney's "All Join Hands" on CBS-TV will stay on the air during the summer via reruns for 20 weeks . . . CBS News' Peter Kalischer, who won on Overseas Press Club award, has been signed by Random House to do a book on his 18 years as a Far Eastern correspondent . . . CBS Radio has inaugurated two weekly series of special reports on the Civil Rights debate . . . Edmond O'Brien signed as host-narrator of Wolper Productions' "Men in Crisis" . . . Hollywood columnist Hal Humphrey, in an unusual tribute, devoted his syndicated column last week in praise of the late Ernie Stern, who had been in charge of CBS-TV Coast publicity . . . Jack Sterling show becomes a permanent feature of "The Top of the World" restaurant at the N.Y. World's Fair.

NBC News general manager Robert (Shad') Northshield back from three week tour of web's news bureaus in Europe . . . NBC producer Craig Fisher takes his "Sunday" show to Washington Sunday (12) for cherry blossom festival. "Today" girl Maureen O'Sullivan will also be on hand to crown festival queen . . . NBC Press' Alan Ebert wings to Hollywood for feature assignments . . . "Bonanza's" Lorne Greene in town for taping of NBC's World Fair spec. on Friday (10) . . . "Say When" model Ruth Hasely back from Augusta, Ga., commercial task . . . NBC's pub affairs mgr. George Heinemann speaks at Children's Theatre Showcase today (8) at YMHA in city . . "Today" writer-reporter Paul Cunningham speaks at luncheon for Community League for Retarded Children at the Biltmore Saturday (11) . . . Tom Donovan signed to direct NBC-TV's new daytimer "Another World" which debuts May 4 . . . Tony Randall guests with Bob Hope on NBC-TV April 17 . . . NBC News sponsoring a "broadcasting internship" for students of American University in Washington . . . NBC News Washington correspondent Martin Agronsky out of hospital and recouping from injuries received when home caught fire last week . . . Joey Bishop's NBC-TV wife Abby Dalton named Queen of N.C. Azalea Festival . . . Thomas Tart, Michael Prescott and Richard Zelig upped to new posts at NBC ops and engineering.

Larry Sisson, ex-ad-promo writer for WPIX, named ad-pubrel topper for KHOU-TV, Houston . . . Mel Bailey and Art Forrest, exec producer and director of WNEW-TV's "Wonderama" kidshow, heading for Finland to scout locales and facilities for a May stanza . . . Nicholas D. Newton signed on with the WINS sales staff.

IN HOLLYWOOD . . .

Steve Blauner, who quit personal managing Bobby Darin to take an executive production berth at Screen Gems, reportedly will be No. 2 man to Jackie Cooper when he becomes head of SG production after June 1 when Cooper's pact with UA-TV expires . . . KNXT newsman John Hart drew the plum assignment from CBS-TV, that of bureau head in Washington for the web's western division . . . Hollywood Ad Club poured for six femmes who were impaneled to discuss "How To Succeed in Advertising Without Being an Advertising man." Among them were Mrs. Gail Patrick Jackson, executive producer of "Perry Mason," and Alberta Hackett (sister of Hal), KNXT manager of business affairs . . . Director Seymour Burns followed producer Cece Barker and head writer Ed Simmons off the Red Skelton show. Berns joins Simmons on the Martha Raye-William Bendix comedy on CBS-TV. Only replacement to date by Skelton is Mort Lachman as producer . . . Arizona deejay Joseph Patrick sold his Flagstaff station for $44,500 . . . KLAC's appeal for aid for the earthquake victims of Alaska brought over $1,000 in cash and 50 tons of food and clothing. The station's Charles Arlington and John Dickson flew the cargo to the Air Force base in Anchorage in a plane supplied by Strategic Air Command . . . Walter Bunker, head of Young & Rubicam's Hollywood office, beefing up for the new season with a six-week jaunt through Europe . . . Wesley I. Dumm, owner of a Seattle station but living in Pasadena, was "unflattered" by the item that he had retired from broadcasting . . . RCA Victor Records new Hollywood edifice will be dedicated April 21 . . . Big deal bulletined at CBS Television City: "the CBS barber, Mr. Cal Shipp, will be here Tuesday instead of Monday" . . . KMPC sportscaster Bob Kelley forced to take leave of absence after second heart attack.

IN CHICAGO . . .

GOP gubernatorial hopefuls Chuck Percy and William Scott nixed a debate, so WBBM-TV will do a back-to-back "Target: News" program Saturday (11) with each facing John Madigan in a 30-minute grill session . . . Sheldon Cooper was upgraded to asst. program manager of WGN-TV, retaining duties as exec producer, upon Phil Mayer's move to WBKB . . . Stanhope Gould named to the new post of exec producer of WBBM-TV News, with Mort Edelstein moving up to his previous spot as assignment editor . . . Chuck Benson, coming from WGR, Buffalo, joins WMAQ as manager of special projects, a program post. He'll also do on-the-air work . . . Gene Bohi, onetime sales staffer for WBBM-TV, now an account exec for NBC-TV Spot Sales . . . Frank Daly, ex-TvB in New York, has signed on with WBBM-TV as sales research director . . . "Barn Dance," now on WGN-AM-TV, becomes 40 years old May 2 . . . George Stone's "Promenade Concert" on WMAQ marks its 20th anni this Sunday . . . Frank Reynolds and Hugh Hill prepping a special on the issue of "shared time" for parochial and public schools to be

(Continued on page 64)

Arthur Schlesinger For ABC Politico Punditing

ABC News, ardent for names to bait the ratings for its politico coverage this year, has added ex-White House staffer Arthur Schlesinger Jr.

Whereas the web's other "guest stars"—Gen. Eisenhower and Senators Humphrey and Ervin—will play more limited roles for the net, owing to their partisan involvements, Schlesinger is set to pundit straight through election night in November.

Schlesinger, the Harvard historian, was one of JFK's early "new frontiersmen."

9 Schafitz Bids In FCC Chopper

Washington, April 7.

FCC took a long look at nine applications of Sanford Schafitz and tossed out a mixed decision on proposals for his Pennsylavnia and Ohio stations.

Commission denied renewal for WWIZ-AM, Lorain, O., averring Schafitz had transferred the outlet to the Lorain Journal without approval and violated technical regulations besides. A bid for formal transfer to the Journal was also rejected.

Similarly nixed was the bid of Community Telecasting Co., owned by Schafitz and Guy Gully, to assign the construction permit of WXTV-TV on channel 45 in Youngstown, O., to WXTV Inc. License for the outlet was also refused. FCC charged WXTV skimped in supplying information needed to grant the switch.

Schafitz did get FCC approval for license renewal of WFAR-AM, Farrell, Pa. Commission decided station's programming met the town's needs and that the outlet's practice did not substantially vary from Schafitz's promises.

Commission's decision overruled an Examiner's recommendation in March, 1963 which advised okaying the WWIZ applications. The Examiner had suggested denying the WXTV bid and approving the WFAR application.

VSP'S 250G SUIT VS. MGM TELESTUDIOS

Video Sports Productions, of which Gustave Nathan is prez, has filed a $250,000 damage suit in N.Y. Supreme Court naming MGM Telestudios. The vidtape operation, in turn, has counterclaimed in quest of $25,000, including monies it says are still owed by VSP.

The packager contends that the Metro subsid furnished inadequate technical facilities for the taping of a stanza for its "Journey Into Sports" half-hour skein, fronted by baseball ace Mickey Mantle. Seg in question, on subject of golf, was to have been taped at Shady Oaks Country Club in Ft. Worth.

Telestudios denies the charges re its facilities and claims that a VSP check covering $10,200 was stopped, constituting breach of contract. It also says another $5,000 allegedly owed it by VSP has likewise not been paid.

Westinghouse Ups Mikita, Herman Land

A pair of Group W execs, Joseph K. Mikita and Herman Land, have been handed promotions.

Mikita has been named to the board and upped to v.p. for finance and administration. He was formerly only finance v.p. Land takes over new post of corporate projects director, after more than two years as head of creative services.

Both execs, as before, report to Rolland Tooke, exec vicepresident of the Westinghouse group operations.

Silverman's ABC Slot

Ed Silverman, a roving ABC Newsman, has been tapped for the new post of assistant to operations director Don Coe, with responsibility for planning and coordinating the web's news coverage. He'll also double hence as weekend news manager.

Silverman has been with the net since 1963, including a two-year hitch as news topper for WABC, the N.Y. radio flagship.

Anchored Off Coast of Britain, Radio Carolina Set Up Com'l Shop

London, April 7.

Radio Caroline, a commercial radio station set aboard a onetime passenger ferry vessel Caroline, has become the first commercial radio station to beam to Britain from an anchorage just outside territorial waters.

Berthed approximately five miles off the east coast of the U.K., the ship with a powerful radio transmitter is broadcasting 12 hours a day (6 a.m. to 6 p.m.) of music to these shores. So far the programs are not supported by advertisers, though the intention is that they should be.

It is claimed that Radio Caroline's signals reach London and the Home Counties, but no audience surveys have yet been carried out to establish these initial claims. There is no doubt that the Caroline's transmitters are powerful enough to reach the capital's populace because signals were picked up loud and clear at VARIETY's London bureau on the first day of transmissions (March 28).

Man behind Radio Caroline is 23-year-old Irishman Ronan O'Rahilly, son of a wealthy businessman, Aodogan O'Rahilly, who owns the port of Greenore where the radio ship was fitted out for broadcasting.

According to O'Rahilly Jr. the investment in Radio Caroline so far has involved $750,000 and he estimates that it will cost between $300,000 and $350,000 a year to run, not counting programming costs.

Utter secrecy with which Radio Caroline was conceived and anchored offshore, has necessitated O'Rahilly to start without advertiser support, but he reports that their interest in the station now that it has hit the airwaves and the headlines has exceeded his initial expectations. Large national advertisers, he contends, are now in dickers over airtime.

Programwise, the new station is broadcasting a continual stream of pop music helmed by four disk jockies—Christopher Moore, John Jumkin, Simon Dee and Carl Conway—and is avoiding "stepping on anyones toes" at this stage by closing down as Radio Luxembourg, European based commercial station which also beams to Britain, opens up.

While Radio Caroline is out of the British Post Office's jurisdiction by anchoring in international waters, it is still held by some Post Office officials that the ship is contravening certain international laws (though it has never clearly emerged what these laws are)? Also the native Coast Guard claim that Radio Caroline's signals are blurring their ship-to-shore transmissions and, in case of emergencies where a lifeboat is involved, the coastguarders are worried that the "haze" of pop music will blot out communications.

But O'Rahilly states that at least two BBC channels broadcast closer to the coast guards frequency than does the Caroline and, anyway, his ship would immediately go to the aid of any other vessel in distress.

2 For the Sea-Saw

London, April 7.

Success of Ronan O'Rahilly in establishing an offshore commercial radio station which transmits to the U.K., is encouraging at least one other "pirate" broadcasting outfit, Radio Atlanta, to get into operation.

Plan, it seems is to berth Radio Atlanta less than five miles from O'Rahilly's Radio Caroline, which is riding anchor nine miles off Harwich. Radio Atlanta is backed by a group headed by financier Oliver Smedley and expects to be achored and operational sometime next month.

Normanbrook New Chairman of BBC

London, April 7.

Lord Normanbrook has been appointed chairman of BBC in succession to Sir Arthur fforde, who retired recently for health reasons.

New chairman, who takes up his duties when the new BBC charter comes into operation in July, was previously Secretary to the Cabinet from 1947-62, and head of the home civil service from 1956-62.

Sir James Duff, who has been acting as temporary chairman of BBC, reverts to his former role of vice-chairman of the Corporation.

More Half-Hr. Series, Fewer 90-Min. Shows Good News to IATSE

Hollywood, April 7.

Television's 1964-65 season, as lined up todate, should provide more jobs for Hollywood workers, it was reported in a survey made by the tv research committee of IATSE cameraman's local 659, which found next season's picture overall "encouraging."

Committee said there will be more half-hour series and less 90-min. shows, thus meaning additional crews and jobs. Hour series will be about the same in number, the group reported.

N.Y. vidpix production will hold its own next season, according to sales firmed up for next semester, the committee said.

TELFORD JOINS MILLER AS 'VIRGINIAN' PRODS.

Hollywood, April 7.

Winston Miller will continue as one of two producers on Revue studio's 90-min. series "The Virginian" next season, and Frank Telford joins the series as the other alternating producer, in assignments just set by exec producer Frank Price.

Telford was producer of Revue's "Destry" series for part of this season, being replaced later by Gene Coons. That series has finished production. Don Ingalls, who has been an alternating producer on the NBC-TV show, will not continue on it next semester.

Plans are being finalized for Clu Galager to join the cast of regulars in the 90-min. series, which begins production for next season April 13. Thirty segs have been ordered.

Dick Van Dyke Show Repacts Persky, Denoff

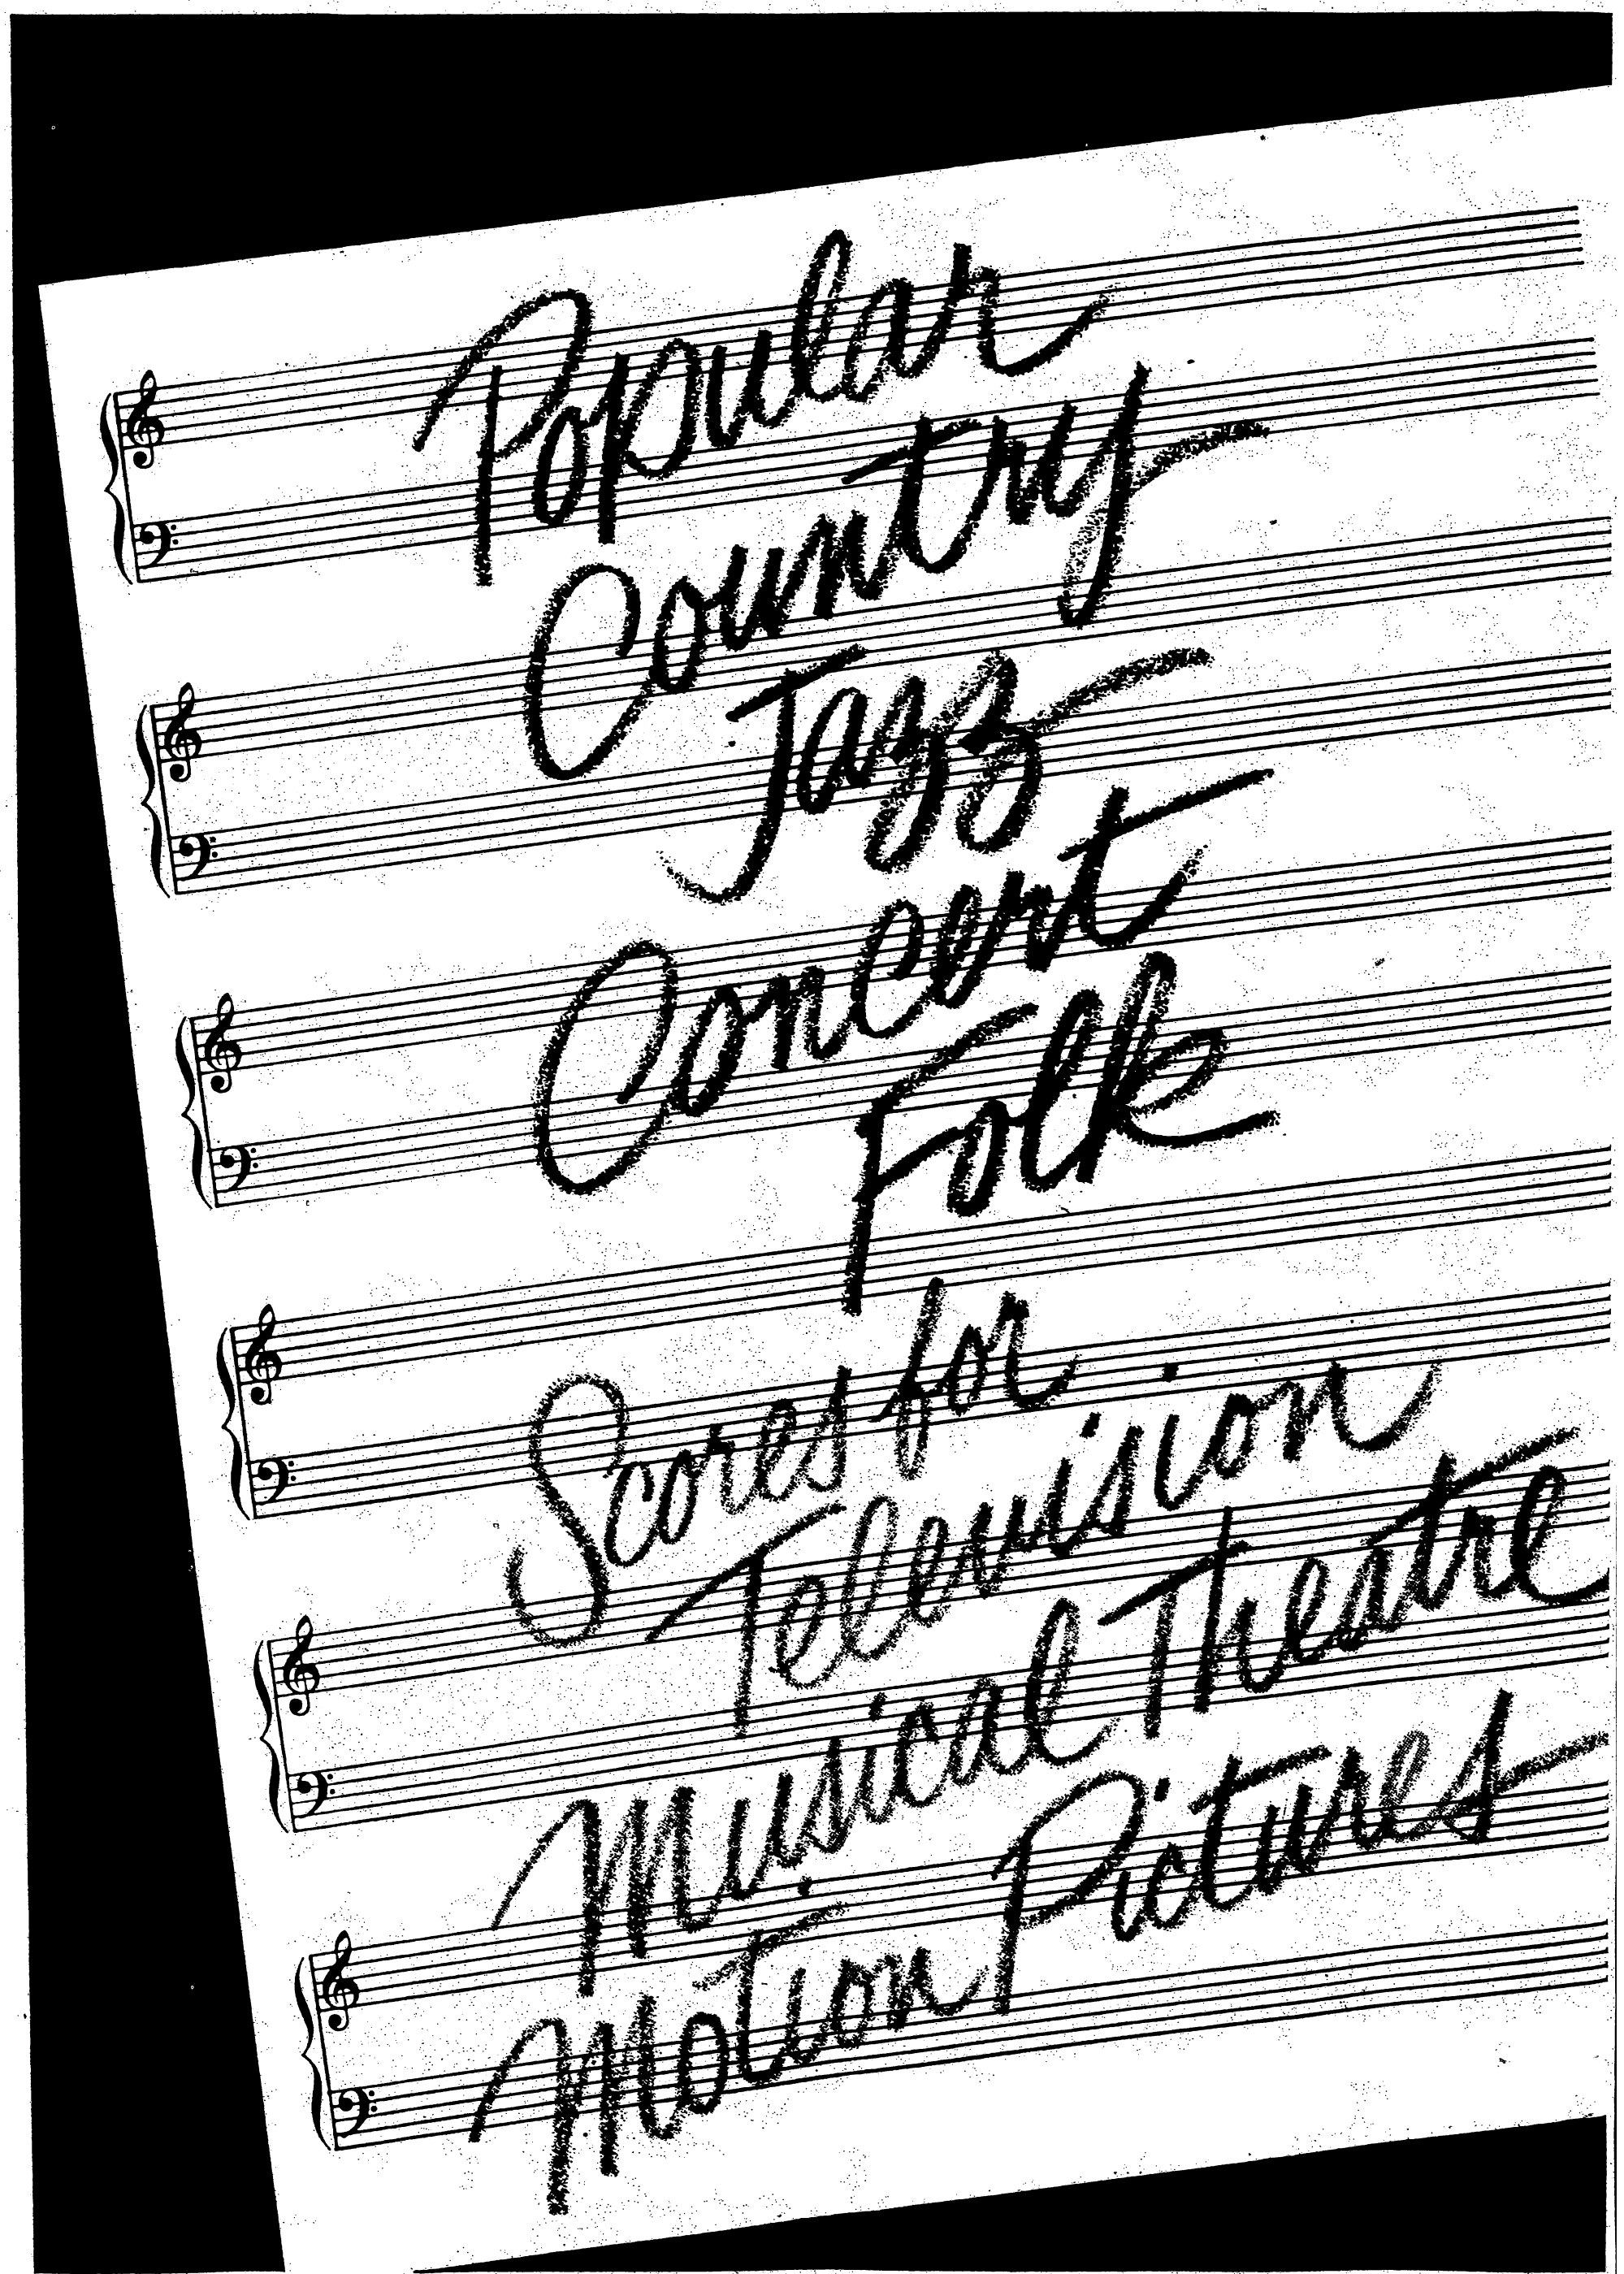
Hollywood, April 7.

Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, who wrote 13 episodes of "The Dick Van Dyke Show" this season, have been signed as story consultants for the series and will write 20 or more episodes for the program.

Carl Reiner will continue to write for the series, but will devote more time to production duties. Reiner also is producer, under exec producer Sheldon Leonard.

NBC Plans '64-'65 'Startime' Edition

NBC-TV's program promotion magazine, "Startime," which last year was peddled to 1,000,000 viewers who sent in a quarter via on-air plugs, will reportedly be repeated this year with modifications.



Although considered highly successful. "Startime" is said to have been a costly proposition, and the mag for the new season will cut the-buck in production tab. Also, the text reportedly will be toned down, last year's having been considered lengthy and high-brow for the average viewer.

Bigger pix of talent and news personalities that can be cut out and pinned up will be featured along with simpler blurbs, is the current report.

KATZ PRODUCES 'NURSES'

Arthur Joel Katz, who is g.m. for Herb Brodkin's Plautus banner, henceforth will rate a producer's credit on "The Nurses."

He's been on the job for several months, but without being billed.

Popular
Country
Jazz
Concert
Folk
Serious
Television
Musical Theatre
Motion Picture

Today's many worlds of music are the result of an opportunity provided by BMI for thousands of composers writers and publishers to be heard.
to be treated with dignity and respect.
and to share impartially
in the economic rewards of their talents.

SEE THE WORLDS OF MUSIC FOR ALL OF TODAY'S AUDIENCE

BMI

MADE IN AMERICA
With Hans Conried, Jan Sterling, Don Murray, Walter Slezak, others Producer: Steve Carlin
30 Mins.; Sun., 9:30 p.m.
CBS-TV (tape)

CBS-TV and MGM-TV, carrier and producer of the new quiz show, "Made In America," have been enough impressed by the 14-year success 'What's My Line" on the same web to rewrite it.

But, by the old show biz axiom, "you don't rewrite a hit," "America" has a poverty of riches in its millionaire guests. The only notable thing about this replacement for the second half-hour of the Judy Garland variety show is emcee Hans Conried, an enlightened and clever man doing the John Daly bit here (Conried can be seen in more compatible frame, at least by New Yorkers, earlier Sunday nights on WOR-TV as host of Jay Ward Product'on's zany syndicated half-hour, "Fractured Flickers," where his fine talent for blunt irreverence is put to fullest use). And Conried as host was an afterthought, Bob Maxwell being scratched at the last minute.

This is "What's My Line" right down the line, except guests are folks who have packed in a million bucks or more (emphasizing the show's theme that "the United States is still the land of boundless opportunity," and one of the best gambits of "Line" has been eliminated. That is that the identities of the guests on "Line" are revealed to the home and studio audience for the benefits derived from the old dramatic gimmick of having the aud in on something the participants are not aware of (they knew as much in Ancient Greece when it came to theatrics).

Opener guested a woman who has made a fortune on plant food, a man who did ditto with a rubbertized dish rack and authoress Fannie Hurst. She was the counterpart of "Line's" mystery celeb. She was shown at an odd angle in shadow. The panel didn't identify her—with this viewer's empathy, since he thought it was Judy Holliday.

Regular celeb panel has some sight values with blonde Jan Sterling and Don Murray's good looks; and Walter Slezak seems a bright addition. It will take Conried, however, to bale out the nonsense. There was a fumbling throughout that may clear up with practice, and some disturbing blips in vidtape editing. Bill.

MARK OF JAZZ
Producers: Sid Mark, Vincent Scarza
Director: Scarza
30 Mins., Thurs., 8:30 p.m.
WHYY-TV, Philadelphia

Sid Mark, jazz buff and WHAT-FM jock, helmed this half-hour session which was distinguished by its high rapport among the participants. This set had the Wes Montgomery Trio as performing guests and pianist vocalist Buddy Greco and conductor-composer Jimmy dePriest at the round table.

Montgomery's guitar, organ and drums group played in its elegant style, with each note given tender consideration by guitar, and not hypoed by frenetic drumming or organ riffs. Genuinely enthusiastic, Greco called Montgomery the "greatest guitarist around."

Both Greco and dePriest had just returned from appearing before royalty: Greco at a command performance in London; dePriest on a State Dept. visit to the King of Thailand. Musicians agreed that although kings and queens were only human beings, they were impressed at such events.

Mark's questioning brought out the fact also that both artists were in the process of finding themselves—drummer dePriest is entering the conducting field and Greco after 20 years "knocking around" as a lounge pianist and sihger has moved into standup vocalist spots in the big rooms and on concert stage.

Scarza's direction coupled with grade A lensing made what is ordinarily a graphically uninteresting set-up achieve pattern and depth. "Mark of Jazz" adds another entertainment plus to the roster of the Philly educational station. Gagh.

TEX. B'CASTERS MEET

Austin, April 7.

The spring convention of the Texas Assn. of Broadcasters will be held in Galveston, Tex. for two days opening April 26, according to Steve Cowan, of Galveston, the convention chairman.

CAREERATHON
With Paul Anka, others
Producer: David B. Fein
Director: Fein
90 Mins., Sun., April 5, 6 p.m.
WABC-TV, New York

In this well-meaning special aimed at the mighty (in numbers) legion of New York City high school drop-outs, WABC-TV registered one of the weirdest 90 minutes on record. Live from Elysee Theatre, "Careerathon" was a conglomeration of finger-shaking adult educational factotums and mainly bleating teen rock 'n' roll talents.

The adult nabobs, ranging from Mayor Wagner to a thick slice of prime beef identified as world wrestling champ (there's a career), were full of threats and cajolery—"stick in high school, kid, or the automation boogeyman will get you . . . Get that diploma, buddy boy, or you'll never own a Thunderbird." Joseph Monserrat, chief of the migration office for Puerto Rico's Department of Labor, went so far as to couch his down-talk in bookmaker terms — "no price, man," he said about the odds on the drop-out. It appears that no one, in this hell-bent-for-the-buck society, will hazard a comment on the abstract values of an education. A solid course in counterfeiting might be the real answer.

On the entertainment side, emcee Paul Anka, an experienced young slicker under ordinary circumstances, was bogged in a production mishmash of musical and camera miscues and atrocious acoustics. Many of the talents lipsynced their disk hits for okay returns. But when a singer like Teri Thornton comes across as a wheeze, something is drastically wrong. Allan Sherman's cynical drop-out fight song was the single success of the entire 90 minutes.

Others on the bill were Charlie Manna (in an embarrassing bit about what goes on in a teen head), the Willis Sisters, Johnnie Tillotson, Brian Hyland, Lesley Gore and others. Bill.

THE CELEBRITY GAME
With Carl Reiner, others
Producers: Merrill Heatter, Robert Quigley
Director: Seymour Robbie
30 Mins., Sun., 9 p.m.
AMERICAN TOBACCO
CBS-TV, from Hollywood (tape)
(Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles)

"The Celebrity Game," which back-to-back with "Made in America" represents CBS-TV's new panel parlay in lieu of Judy Garland's hour, premises its gamesmanship on armchair psychology, and you better believe it because Dr. Joyce Brothers is on the crawl as "consultant." Show's for laughs, of course, and Sunday's (5) preemer managed a fair bunch of 'em.

With a rotating panel of nine showbiz celebs (its only distinction), the temptation to step on the next fellow's line is awesome, but discipline on the initialer was commendable. This partly owed to the brisk manner of Carl Reiner in the lion-taming moderator's chair. Reiner is a fairly fleet-tongued guy himself, and gave some indication he won't brook too much competitive nonsense from the guest talent.

A question is tossed the nine stars. They respond "yes" or "no" by a concealed lock-in electronic gizmo, and it's for a trio of contestants to anticipate how the responses went. As the contestants run through the celeb lineup, those answers light up, explanations follow and the fun hopefully begins.

Questions on the preem session, and presumably typical of what's ahead, ran from "Will a woman fall in love faster with a man who has money?" to "Do European actresses have more sex appeal than American actresses?" (The response was 7 to 2 in the negative.)

"Celebrity Game" may be no less consequential, or imaginaiive, than some of the daytime parlor games pitched to the hausfrau. But in the primetime league its fate is questionable. For CBS, with 90 minutes of panel shows going for it Sunday night, it may be they've run out of categories. Pit.

CHANGING MATILDA
With Chet Huntley, reporter; others
Producer-Writer: Gerald Green
Director: William Birch
60 Mins., Tues. 10 p.m.
HUMBLE OIL
NBC-TV (film, color)
(McCann-Erickson)

It's time to dispose of the old travelog cliches and recognize the new Australia: a melting pot of Anglo-Saxons and middle European immigrants, an industrial and urbanized nation that is enjoying great prosperity, and a country that may play a crucial role in world affairs with the nations of Asia. This was the thematic essence of the Chet Huntley-narrated special on NBC-TV last week, a program that was favored with a crisp and often witty script by producer Gerald Green and lively pictorial accompaniment by director-camerman William Birch.

Not quite a news special and neither a travelog, it had elements of both and was a thoroughly interesting hour of television. Birch's footage revealed Australia as a cheerful land of charming traditions, wide open for expansion into the interior and full of opportunity for the new settler. Whether in the cities or in the outback, the way of life was so attractive it seemed almost idealized, but just when the country grew most inviting Huntley added the perspective of Australia's place in the modern world.

He noted its proximity to Asia, its uneasy involvement with Sukarno's Indonesia owing to shared governorship of New Guinea, its growing trade with Red China, the diplomatic embarrassment of its immigration restrictions against Africans, and the coming threat of the Asian upon its labor market.

The cameras were thorough in the tour of the country and caught what seemed to be the genuine flavor of Australian life, whether in the desolate interior where school is attended by short wave radio and medical help flown in, or in the cities like Melbourne and Sidney where the European influences now show themselves in fashions, the arts, drinking customs and popular songs. The cultural change going on in Australia was epitomized by a sequence on a beach in which a vocal group harmonized a rhythmic "Waltzing Matilda" in Italian.

Not overlooked were the traditional symbols of travelog Australia, the kangaroos and koala bears, but purposely they were seen only in the zoo. As it was pointed out, that's practically the only place the native Australian ever sees them. This in point of the need to eradicate the fiction and misconceptions in order to realize Australia as it is today. Les.

ROMEOS & JULIETS: A THEME WITH VARIATIONS
With Alfred Drake, others
Producer: Michael R. Santangelo
Directors: Joseph Wishy, Gordon Rigsby
60 Mins., Sun., April 5, 6:30 p.m.
Participating
WOR-TV, N. Y. (tape)

This one polishes the Westinghouse Broadcasting escutcheon. It's a classy hour on the Romeo & Juliet theme from Shakespeare to the Bernstein-Sondheim-Laurent "West Side Story" klondike, produced with tasteful reverence.

Alfred Drake, himself an old Shakespearean, hosts in forthright, sparing fashion, and the thematic variations include Gounod's opera, the Todd Bollender - choreoed Tschaikowsky ballet, and the "Tonight" seg from "West Side." All in the wake of, to be sure, the Bard's original "balcony scene," which gets an excellent etching by Paul Roebling and Olga Bellin.

The operatic excerpt, sung in English by Frank Porretta and Lee Venora, is, like the other sections, well done, albeit the least charming, since it is basically a pale carbon of the original. Bollender's ballet is a captivating opus (the classic score doesn't hurt it), danced agreeably by Terrence Miller and Emily Frankel. The clinch 'em finale from "West Side" is a reprise for Broadway original Larry Kert, with Marlys Watters as his love. It's fine pairing.

This airing by the RKO General flagship was, however, jarring for (a) the calibre of blurbs, and (b) an impatient cut to a detergent commercial even before the ballet sequence had concluded. Pit.

ANATOMY OF A TEAM: THE 1964 WHITE SOX
With Jack Brickhouse, narrator; Al Lopez, Ed Short, others
Producers: Dick Hance, Jack Rosenberg
Director: Hance
Writer: Rosenberg
30 Mins., Mon. 8:30 p.m.
WGN-TV, Chicago (film)

For the uninitiated, WGN-TV's special report from the White Sox training camp in Sarasota, Fla. probably answered a number of elementary questions about professional baseball, but the buffs would have found little in it to satisfy their curiosity about the 1964 edition of the southside team. The questions that need answering this time of year centre on how the new team shapes up at each position, how the rookies look and what the pennant prospects are. Producer Dick Hance made it less a preview of the ball club than a peak at the workings of a spring training camp.

Since it must be assumed that the audience for the special report would be approximately the same as that for the regular season telecasts, much of the footage would have to be evaluated as commonplace or even superfluous. Except for an occasional instance, as when manager Al Lopez and general manager Ed Short analyzed the batting of power hitter Dave Nicholson, the program was surprisingly lacking in dope.

Much time was given to Tony Cuccinello's explanation of the coaching signs, something that's done at least once a year during the regular season in the pre-game programs. Ditto J. C. Martin's explanation of the catching signs and the unrevealing small talk with owner Art Allyn. Of even less value to the true ball fan—and especially those who passed up Andy Griffith or "Wagon Train" in their Monday night ritual for this White Sox special—were the lengthy interviews with a couple of baseball wives.

The club house, the training room and the practice field were shown; but to paraphrase the Bard, the player's the thing, and players were scarcely on view. There was, however, a good glimpse of rookie second baseman Don Buford in action, and this was a piece of footage that the buffs must have been grateful for. More of the sort was needed. Les.

MARKED FOR GLORY
Narrator: Joe Templeton
Producer-Director: John Q. Quigley
Editor: H. Prentiss Crouse
Writer: Gwinn Owens
60 Mins.; Thurs., 9:30 p.m.
WJZ-TV, Baltimore (film)
BALTIMORE FEDERAL SAVINGS

WJZ-TV, Westinghouse outlet, holder of the 1963 DuPont Awards for "outstanding and meritorious service," gives further and more conclusive proof as to why it won it, with "Marked For Glory," their hour-long biographical look at F. Scott Fitzgerald, the author whose tragic life paralleled some of the characters he wrote about in his novels.

The special, covering Fitzgerald's life from his birth in St. Paul, in September, 1896, to his death in 1940, was several months in the making. John Q. Quigley, who produced and directed, tapped many sources for the biography.

WJZ-TV camera crews journeyed to Chicago, Minneapolis, Wilmington, Washington, Princeton, Conn.; Great Neck, N. Y.; Boston and New York City where they filmed interviews with people who knew the author. These include John Biggs Jr., chief judge of the Third U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia; Lois Moran, actress and Louis Azreal, Baltimore News-American columnist.

All this has been expertly matched with some 200 still photographs and documents, rare film clips of the Fitzgeralds and newsreels that serve as time bridges.

The script written by Gwinn Owens and based on the Fitzgerald biography by Andrew Turnbull, was excellent in providing both fluidity and cohesion.

If there is any fault to be found, it is a minor one. The narrator delivers the script in a manner that is not always harmonious with the subject. Fitzgerald was a controversial figure. Some liked him, some tolerated him, and some disliked him. He was not the stuff of which saints are made, and the narrative approach is, at times, too dolorous for the subject. Luce.

Tele Follow-Up Comment

Ed Sullivan Show

Ed Sullivan's CBS-TV get-together on Sunday (5) had a more sophisticated mien than is normal. The flavor was definitely international and the level of performances was very high.

There were some unusual turns starting off with the Little Singers of Tokyo garbed in bright kimonas who rendered the traditional "Sakura" and then into "Swanee" in English. Their sound is excellent and the stage deportment is colorful.

Another highspot was Franco Corelli in a rendition from "Cavallaria Rusticana," but perhaps the most entertaining spot was taken by Nipsey Russell who gave a fresh and lively account of himself. The Negro comic within a few lines established himself and then topped the occasion with a demonstration of modern dance turns. He seems to be surefire in most any medium.

Wences also took the measure of the crowd with his assortment of inanimate assistants. Although his turn isn't much different than usual, it remains fresh. There is, of course, Topo Gigio, the Italian mouse who is virtually a fixture on this show, and Mata & Hari pantomimed a piano recital effectively.

Again Sullivan introduced a new British rock 'n' roll group, The Searchers. In common with most of the imports of this genre on the Sullivan show, they indicate vocal and musical mediocrity and boom b.o. Even the kids brought in to whoop it up for The Searchers seemed unusually reserved.

In the closing slot, Teresa Brewer delivered "Bye Bye Blackbird" for good results and the show was completed with a compilation of World Fair sequences narrated well by Sullivan. Jose.

The Lieutenant

Rejected first in script form and finally in its complete state by the Marine Corps, this episode found its way to the NBC-TV airwaves Saturday night (4) without official sanction. It's not clear why the USMC was so concerned. "Mother Enemy" does set up a controversial premise, but then proceeds to sidestep trouble in as neat an example of dodging the issue as one could expect to find. Producer Gene Roddenberry and scripter Robert J. Shaw rate some commendation for at least approaching a ticklish issue, but the cautious, fundamentally inconclusive results are disappointing.

Shaw's teleplay poses the problem of what to do about a Marine sergeant who is being considered for officers training but whose mother is a registered Communist agent. It boils down to a question of individual rights vs. the security of the Corps. There is a melodramatic scene in which the lad confronts his mom, who is principal speaker at a peace rally, and defends the Marines against her. Ultimately, the sergeant is rejected for officers school not because of his lack of loyalty or guilt by association arising out of his mother's beliefs, but because he has allowed these matters to affect his behavior as a Marine (a fistfight and an over-the-hill venture).

Had the story come to grips with the issue by keeping the central character an emotionally stable, desirable officer candidate, a meaningful point might have been made. But, even so, how about the boy's loyalty as a sergeant—or even as a mere private? Officership seems to be basically irrelevant where loyalty is the issue.

The episode contained some intense, high-powered histrionics by regulars Gary Lockwood and Robert Vaughn, Walter Koenig as the sergeant and Neva Patterson as his mother. Vincent McEveety directed crisply. Tube.

CBS Reports

In many ways, Wednesday's (1) edition of "CBS Reports" on the Vietnam war was unsatisfactorily rendered.

The background of the frustrating Vietnam situation was given, some of the principals involved had their say, and no words were

(Continued on page 52)

Foreign Television Reviews

EUROVISION SONG CONTEST
With Hugues Aufray, Anneke Grenloh, Arne Bendikson, Bjorn Tidmand, Lasse Martensen, Udo Jurgens, Rachel, Matt Monro, Nora Nova, Romuald, Antonio Clavario, Gigliola Cinquetti, Sabahudin Kurt, Anita Traversi, Robert Cogoi, Nelly, Tim, and Tony, Lotte Waever, David Jacobs, Kai Mortensen Orch, Royal Danish Ballet Dancers
Producer: Poul Leth Sorensen
90 Mins., Sat., 9 p.m.
BBC-TV, from London

It was Denmark's turn to act as host for the Ninth Eurovision Song Contest, which seemed just as their entry copped first prize last year. Held in Copenhagen's Tivoli Gardens, producer Poul Leth Sorensen nicely captured a sense of occasion and the show was charmingly hosted by Lotte Waever, with British viewers getting a voice-over commentary from David Jacobs. Sixteen nations took part, and also voted on a European sound hookup by allotting nine points among the three songs they considered best, excluding their own. Votes were recorded on a large electrically-operated board, rather too intricate for its purpose.

The runaway winner was a pleasant ballad from Italy, "I'm Not Old Enough Yet," and owed as much to its performer as its composer. Sixteen-year-old Gigliola Cinquetti delivered it with touching simplicity and poise, was skilfully picked to fit the lyric's message, and scored a personal success. In fact, there couldn't be much dispute about the verdict, especially as the standard of the rest was generally low.

Britain's Matt Monro scraped into second place with Tony Hatch's "I Love the Little Things," a gay and jaunty tune that clings to the memory and should do well in the local charts. Monro himself was slightly less relaxed than usual, but his polished phrasing stood out in this largely abysmal company.

The rest of the field was strictly forgettable, although Denmark's "About You" and Monaco's "Where Have They Gone?" were more agreeable than most. Of the performers, Anita Traversi, representing Switzerland, was effectively punchy, and Nelly, from Spain, displayed undoubted vigor.

Orchestral backing, under 16 guest conductors, was fine, and the interlude while the juries assessed their votes was taken by a snatch of ballet on the Harlequin theme, which passed the time without filling it.

Apart from Miss Cinquetti, the most exciting moment came from some offscreen demonstration by anti-Franco agitators. This ruffled the normal aplomb of commentator David Jacobs, who took it as a personal affront. Apart from this testy movement, his description was as placid as the contest itself.
Otta.

DETECTIVE
With John Wood, Brian Oulton, Ivor Salter, Richard Wordsworth, Philip Ray, Enid Lindsay, Derek Francis, Christopher Hodge, Philip Latham, Nicholas Pennell, Susan Farmer, Barbara Couper, Graham Crowden, Sandra Barry, Amy Dalby
Producer: David Goddard
Director: Sharan Sutton
60 Mins.; Monday, 9:25 p.m.
BBC-TV, From London

In BBC-TV's first packaged anthology show, linked by Rupert Davies who has clicked both nationally and internationally as Simenon's Maigret, the idea is to present a series featuring the best fictional detective in the world.

Initialer dealt with Professor Gervais Fen, a University don with a passion for crime detection who solved by swift deduction the case of the missing topshop. Created by novelist Edmund Crispin and adapted by ace scripter John ("Zeas") Hopkins, the piece set off at a cracking pace and never let up until the murderer was revealed.

Given that the condensation of a full blown novel in a tv play is no easy job, especially if atmosphere and characters are to be retained, this was nevertheless managed and characters blossomed refreshingly in a whodunit frolic replete with enough red herrings to sustain a whole series.

Though this first shot was not wholly successful in bringing a novel to the screen, it proved there is still a wealth of rich writing to be tapped. Artists involved in this inaugural seg rallied in sterling support and director Shaun Sutton pulled every trick out of the bag (including "Dick Powell" type still photography scattered throughout the production) to keep the show moving.

Nothing was spared in production either. It's plain that with the same good intentions and endeavor, the rest of the series could easily produce not only some new and original writing for the medium, but some first class entertainment, too.
Watt.

THE PROTECTORS
With Andrew Faulds, Michael Atkinson, Ann Morrish, Barry Justice, Elizabeth Shephard, Martin Miller, Gordon Gostelow, John Baskcomb, Billy Milton, others
Producer: Michael Chapman
Director: Peter Hammond
Writer: Bill Strutton
60 Mins., Sat., 10:50 p.m.
ABC-TV, from Manchester

It's a tricky dilemma to think up a replacement for the popular and fashionable "Avengers" skein, now having a seasonal siesta, and ABC-TV decided to work out a similar formula, with the segments revolving around an outfit offering protection and security at a price.

The regulars are a trio made up of Ian Souter (Andrew Faulds) and Robert Shoesmith (Michael Atkinson), who run the business, and a bubbling secretary, Heather (Ann Morrish). Initialler was a competent piece of work that involved them in the art racket. A costly Monet was desired by all sorts of dubious characters, and, when it was auctioned, they all appeared looking nefarious. It was bought by a comely blonde (Elizabeth Shephard), who was in cahoots with a boyfriend who had quarrelled with his art-dealer boss and wanted to do him down. They had to sell the picture quick to get their money back with profit, and it was Ian Souter's job to watch it.

Skulduggery was predictably attempted, and foiled, and Bill Strutton's script merely had the disadvantage that the payoff was signalled too obviously from way back. It's too early to say whether the series will catch on, as none of the permanent players was given a chance to register a third dimension and there was little contrast in their relationships. But Andrew Faulds, bearded, burly, and man-of-the-world, and Ann Morrish, bright and breezy, showed signs of development.

Peter Hammond directed Michael Chapman's production with a nice feeling for the off-beat melodramatic, and guest thesps varied from the slick (Elizabeth Shephard, Martin Miller) to the clumsy (John Baskcomb). In fact, the opener was a nose ahead of other runners for its fluency, but not sufficiently individual to be a surefire winner.
Otta.

VIA CRUCIS
Producer: Luca di Schiena
Director: Giuseppe Sibilla, Mario Conti
75 Mins.; Fri. 8:55 p.m.
RAI-TV, from Rome (Eurovision)

As usual on such occasions, RAI-TV gave exemplary coverage to Pope Paul VI's Good Friday ceremony of the Stations of the Cross between Rome's Colosseum and the Palatine Hill. Beamed across Europe via Eurovision, it was dramatic and visually striking throughout, transcending even the ceremony and religious aspects of event.

RAI-TV mobilized 12 cameras for its coverage, but made it seem even more than that impressive total. Vast number of arcs helped light up the entire Roman Forum area as it has probably never before been seen, for an unprecedented visual treat. Camera positions were aptly chosen to catch the ceremony and sideline events in technically prohibitive conditions (due to the long route covered—on foot—by Pontiff) made more difficult by a driving rain.

The logistics must have been hazardous, but director Guiseppe Sibilla, his assistant Mario Conti, and coordinator-commentator Luca di Schiena (who's won recognition for similar work on Pope John's death and Paul's Coronation) made it seem a breeze, at least to the general public.

As noted, interest for non-Catholic viewers was maintained by neat digressions from main event to glimpses (and comments) of nearby monuments, majestically lit and lensed. Pacing and sober, understated commentary added to the general high quality and, within limits of event, dramatic sense of mis-en-scene. An outstanding achievement.
Hawk.

I'M A STRANGER HERE MYSELF
Producer-Director: Malcolm Brown
Writer: Patrick O'Donovan
60 Mins.; Tues., 9:25 p.m.
BBC-TV, from London

Ireland is a constantly engrossing subject, and it has rated a couple of hour-long documentaries on the commercial web during the last year. But "I'm a Stranger Here Myself" proved that the theme is not exhausted. It was an elegant and searching essay by journalist Patrick O'Donovan, himself an Irish-Englishman who had severed his links with the country, and it was matched, in Malcolm Brown's outstanding production, by stills, contemporary prints, and a small amount of live film that vividly embellished and enhanced O'Donovan's narrative.

O'Donovan's method was to sift Irish history, and the passions and cruelties that punctuated it, through his own ancestral memory of the country. The improbable miseries of the Great Hunger a century ago, the deprivations that led to the coffin-ship emigration of more than 1,000,000 Irishmen to the U.S., the barbaric shooting of the nationalists who made a bid for independence in 1916—all these were present in the script, as well as mentions of the Irish literary revival at the turn of the century. But the facts were less important than O'Donovan's detached, but implicated, account of them. He closed with a tribute to Ireland's present congeniality and peace, and it made a poignant coda to the stormy proceedings earlier on.

A group of able, but anonymous, thesps voice-overed extracts from the speeches of political figures like Parnell, from poems by Yeats, all aptly chosen to illustrate the theme. And ballads were simply sung, concentrating the despair and the hopes.

It was, in fact, a faultless and brilliant program in an idiom that is natural to tv, which is well suited to such personal expression and to isolating details from the recorded past.
Otta.

Foreign TV Followup

BBC's "Festival" brought a taped version of T. S. Eliot's standout play of the '30s, "Murder In The Cathedral," to the screen as a fitting prelude to Holy Week meditations. The play was produced at Canterbury Cathedral, the actual scene of Becket's assassination, and this turned out to be a double edged sword. The dank, grey corridors gave an air of doom and menace to the surroundings. On the other hand, director George R. Foa, who otherwise did a good job, tended to move his cast around a little too restlessly as if not to waste the opportunity of showing off his authentic background.

But, primarily, "Murder In The Cathedral" is a play of moving and meticulous words and the success of the program depended on the cast's ability to put over those words with significance, color and powerful emotion. This it did, admirably.

The play started coldly with the arrival at Canterbury of Thomas Becket from France. He is on good terms with both the King of France and the Pope, but his relationship with King Henry, his closest companion when Becket himself was a roisterer, is suspect. Except for a few faithful priests his return to Canterbury is regarded as a menace to future peace, and Becket, himself, senses that he is doomed to martyrdom.

Cyril Cusack played Becket with intelligence and a quiet passion of mind and soul. His Christmas sermon was a masterly triumph and his final denunciation of the knights sent to murder him a beautifully poised piece of rhetoric. Any fault in the unassuming Cusack as Becket was the difficulty in believing that he had ever strayed, however little, from his vocation. Denis Quilley, John Bennett, Esmond Knight and John Carson formed a varied and insidious pack of tempters and knights. Their apologia for their crime was well delivered, if rather on the lines of a board of directors explaining the dismissal of a longtime employee to the rest of the staff. It could have been even more effective had the thesps addressed the rest of the cast instead of the camera, directly.

Priests, attendants and messenger slotted well into the atmosphere. The Chorus of the Women of Canterbury, ably led by June Tobin and Veronica Turleight, handled a tricky chore well and using Eliot's sweeping prose and verse to its full, relieved one or two overlong interludes from monotony.

Stuart Durant's designs blended well into the authentic Cathedral scene. Mostly the remembrance of a satisfying and though provoking play came from Eliot's writing and Cusack's sensitive acting.
Rich.

Sunday Night at the Palladium

With musicomedy and revue star Dora Bryan topping the bill for the first time, and the Mary Kaye Trio, in town from the States for a nitery stint, in support, it was quite an engaging lineup for this "Sunday Night at the Palladium" segment from Associated Television. Miss Bryan purveys a brand of wide-eyed and baby-voiced innocence that appeals in small doses, and she deployed it with professional flair in a cozy, but scrappy, act. Her entry, backwards down a flight of steps, mocked the Marlene Dietrich routine, and her material dwelt on the theme of a homey bird trying to capture an unnatural glamor. She trotted out a cod dance number, astonished when she was thrown around by the chorus boys, and embarked upon a so-so phonealog as a wife explaining to her husband how she had crashed his automobile. It was an appealing personality display, but it will need stronger sustenance from the script the next time around.

Zippy vocalising from the Mary Kaye Trio came over more strongly than their uncertain clowning. Miss Kaye herself scored in "My Funny Valentine," which was neatly packaged between an up-tempo "Lonesome Road" and a briskly gay "Lazy River." The act was certainly polished, but not quite extrovert enough for this gusty venue.

The miniature mouse-puppet, Topo Gigio, wittily manipulated by Maria Perego, returned yet again with simple and coy antics that were different rather than hilarious. Unannounced visitors were Stanley Baker and James Booth, garbed as their roles in the currently released "Zulu" movie, and they frolicked with emcee Bruce Forsyth in a takeoff of the battle sequence. This was a moderately funny plug of a movie that has been praised for its fidelity to the facts, and was thus somewhat tasteless. But it would have pleased Joe Levine.

Forsyth was well up to form as anchorman, and the rest of the show took in "Beat the Clock" and a nifty Pamela Devis routine for the terpers. Jon Scoffield's direction was smart.
Otta.

TV7

Giorgio Vecchietti's weekly video magazine continues in its Monday night spot and boasts one of the better quality averages in local video. Show has its natural ups and downs, and recent RAI strikes have resulted in sub-par fare, but it generally manages to be interesting, informative, and topical.

Show caught lead off with a fascinating 20-minute glimpse of wintertime Moscow by Piergiorgio Branzi, RAI's man in the Soviet capital. It furnished an offbeat picture of life, habits, and garb (spotlight on hats, shoes), and hobbies in the long Russo winter, and could make an interesting item for foreign nets.

Follow-up was a visit to Harlem by Carlo Mazzarella, another RAI emissary, keyed to the decline of the area as a bohemian and musical mecca, replaced now by Greenwich Village. Featured were shots of key Harlem spots, plus interviews with John Lewis, Odetta, Sugar Ray Robinson, and others.

Midwives, their plight and low pay in the Italian hinterlands, was the third topic covered (director Giulio Moretti). It was effective in its plea for more attention to a profession which, in the words of an interviewee, is considered "archaic." Interesting, but less impact-ful, was London coverage by Gianni Bisiach, of the South African Freedom movement and its major exponents in the British capital. Editing, narration, and other technical factors were tops.
Hawk.

Studio 64

The light touch being in short supply on all local drama skeins, "The Happy Moorings," from the prolific Keith Waterhouse-Willis Hall team, made a welcome entry in Associated TeleVision's "Studio 64" hour. It had a frolicsome plot, and also cunningly reunited two "TW3" personalities, Millicent Martin and Roy Kinnear, in a different context.

Within its allotted span, the piece packed plenty of twists and turns. Because her future husband could not risk the scandal of a divorce, Jocelyn (Millicent Martin) hired a professional co-respondent (Roy Kinnear) to go with her to a riverside inn, laughingly dubbed a "boatel." They were followed there by the jealous fiance (Brian Murray), and the place was owned by Jocelyn's discarded husband (Nigel Stock). So an intricate series of contretemps was established, and the plot purred along nicely, with the husband refusing to take action about the divorce unless the fiance guaranteed that his firm, a construction company, would not built a main road near the boatel, thus ruining his business. The writers overlaid this with a theme that concerned the lack of adventure and spirit in the new Elizabethan age, but this was take-it-or-leave-it and largely left.

Best performance came from Nigel Stock, who gave a well-judged display of comical cunning, and Roy Kinnear had his moments as the fumbling co-respondent. Miss Martin had little to do, but did it with charm, and nice farcical cameos were forthcoming from Philip Locke and Jack MacGowran. The show slowly frothed, rather fizzled, but David Greene's direction was smooth and detailed, helping the general impression of casual escapism.
Otta.

TV ACADEMY SELECTS SIX SHOWS FOR CANNES

The National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences committee set up to select official U.S. entries in foreign fests has picked six tv shows for the Cannes Television Film Festival.

Selected from more than 35 entries were "The Making of a President," Wolper Productions; "The World of Maurice Chevalier," NBC; "Ten Seconds That Shook the World," Wolper; and (fiction), "Bringing Far Places Together," a "Naked City" episode; "Blacklist," "The Defenders"; and "The Volunteer," "Combat."

Committee, which screened the entries over two weeks, included chairman Ted Cott, Betty Furness, Ernie Kinoy, Worthington Miner, Larry Creshkoff, Wes Harris, Richard Pack, Herb Sussan, Prof. Richard Goggin, Anne Pomex, Bert Gerard, Beryl Pfizer, Burr Smidt.

Kellert Reps Fabian Shops

—Albany, April 7.

Al Kellert Agency has been appointed advertising and public relations representative of the Fabian-owned 35-store Latham Shopping Center, outside Albany, per general manager Jack Merritt.

Kellert is a former commercial manage of WOKO and an ex-chief barker of Albany Variety Club.

Notice to all A

12 O'CLOCK HIGH

The most logical local lead-out program you can find is...

(Friday 9:30-10:30pm)

BC-TV Stations

ZERO ONE

(Friday 10:30-11pm)

Back-to-back adventures of the air age: a new network series followed by MGM-TV's first run syndication series, ZERO ONE of 39 half-hour episodes.

- A natural programming bloc
- A highly promotable first-run show
- An immediate availability for sales

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER TELEVISION

See any MGM-TV salesman today

NEW YORK • CHICAGO • CULVER CITY • CHARLOTTE • TORONTO

VARIETY - ARB SYNDICATION CHART

VARIETY's weekly tabulation based on ratings furnished by American Research Bureau, highlights the top 10 network shows on a local level and offers a rating study of the top 10 syndicated shows in the same particular markets. This week six different markets are covered.

Both the network and syndication study features the total area homes reached and the metro area ratings on each show. The total area homes reached reflects the audiences on the basis of the total market area examined. The metro area ratings are based on the metropolitan markets within the total area examined. Top 10 shows, both network and syndicated, are listed on the basis of their showing in the total area homes barometer.

Various branches of the industry, ranging from media buyers to local stations to syndicators will find the charts valuable.

Over the course of a year, ARB will tabulate a minimum of 247 markets. The results of that tabulation will be found weekly in VARIETY Coupled with the rating performance of the top 10 network shows, on the local level, the VARIETY-ARB charts are designed to reflect the rating tastes of virtually every market in the U.S.

NEW ORLEANS

STATIONS: WWL, WDSU, WVUE. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Beverly Hillbillies	WWL	218,400	54
2.	Bonanza	WDSU	205,900	48
3.	Candid Camera	WWL	174,400	48
4.	Dick Van Dyke	WWL	166,400	43
5.	Virginian	WDSU	154,100	31
6.	What's My Line	WWL	142,500	45
7.	Bob Hope	WDSU	141,000	33
8.	Mon. Night Movies	WDSU	133,100	35
9.	Ed Sullivan	WWL	132,500	36
10.	Dr. Kildare	WDSU	132,300	31

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Adv. In Paradise (Sat. 5:30)	WDSU	20 Fox TV	92,300	23
2.	Naked City (Fri. 10:00)	WWL	Screen Gems	75,400	24
3.	Yogi Bear (Mon. 5:00)	WDSU	Screen Gems	75,300	18
4.	Highway Patrol (Mon.-Fri. 6:00)	WWL	UA-TV	73,700	20
5.	Huckleberry Hound (Thurs. 5:00)	WDSU	Screen Gems	72,900	18
6.	Woody Woodpecker (Tues. 5:00)	WDSU	MCA-TV	67,600	16
7.	Magilla Gorilla; Star (Wed. 5:00)	WDSU	Screen Gems	66,400	15
8.	Popeye Theatre (Sun. 8:30)	WWL	UAA, KING	65,500	14
9.	Peter Gunn; Valley Days (Tu. 7:30)	WDSU	Official; Borax	65,200	15
10.	Roy Rogers (Sat. 7:00)	WDSU	Rogers Synd.	64,400	11

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Twilight Zone; Spts	WWL	63,000
Weekend News; Spts	WWL	61,600
Esso Reporter; News	WDSU	55,200
Early Show; Edit; Spts	WWL	38,300
Huntley-Brinkley	WDSU	138,500
Early Show; Edit; Spts	WWL	42,300
Early Show; Edit; Spts	WWL	37,400
Early Show; Edit; Spts	WWL	40,000
Brok. Arrow; Wizard Oz	WDSU	12,500
Fnny; Stgs; JFK	WDSU	26,600
Red Skelton	WWL	90,900
Captain Kangaroo	WWL	17,000

HOUSTON, TEX.

STATIONS: KPRC, KHOU, KTRK. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Beverly Hillbillies	KHOU	258,500	49
2.	Dick Van Dyke	KHOU	224,400	45
3.	Bonanza	KPRC	215,300	43
4.	Candid Camera	KHOU	208,300	38
5.	Fugitive	KTRK	203,900	39
6.	Burke's Law	KTRK	182,600	33
7.	Combat	KTRK	180,100	35
8.	McHale's Navy	KTRK	172,500	34
9.	Andy Griffith	KHOU	170,600	34
10.	My 3 Sons	KTRK	169,400	34

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Jo Stafford; Hitchcock (Fri. 9:00)	KHOU	ITC	148,800	29
2.	Stoney Burke (Thurs. 6:30)	KPRC	UA-TV	93,500	19
3.	Dragnet; Wyatt Earp (M-F 5:30)	KTRK	MCA; ABC	89,300	17
4.	Divorce Court (Sat. 5:00)	KPRC	Storer	82,400	16
5.	Huckleberry Hound (Thurs. 5:00)	KTRK	Screen Gems	71,800	15
6.	Death Valley Days (Sat. 6:00)	KHOU	U.S. Borax	70,400	12
7.	Casper (Wed. 5:00)	KTRK	ABC Films	67,600	13
8.	Woody Woodpecker (Tues. 5:00)	KTRK	MCA-TV	66,200	14
9.	Superman; Sugar Bowl (Sat. 1:00)	KPRC	Flamingo-	64,100	13
10.	Popeye; Magilla (Fri. 5:00)	KTRK	UAA; Scr. Gem	63,500	12

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Jack Paar	KPRC	126,900
Flintstones	KTRK	137,800
Donna Reed	KTRK	160,500
Huntley-Brinkley	KPRC	69,700
Wide World Sports	KTRK	72,600
Olympic Games	KTRK	75,400
Rescue 8	KHOU	75,900
News; Wea; Sports	KTRK	112,000
Rescue 8	KHOU	59,200
Rescue 8	KHOU	63,100
Larry Kane	KTRK	58,700
Rescue 8	KHOU	61,200

CINCINNATI

STATIONS: WLWT, WCPO, WKRC. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Bonanza	WLWT	242,500	37
2.	Flintstones	WKRC	212,500	33
3.	Patty Duke	WKRC	200,600	31
4.	Donna Reed	WKRC	199,100	41
5.	Hillbillies; Basketball	WCPO	197,700	36
6.	D. Van Dyke; Bsktball	WCPO	183,500	35
7.	Sat. At Movies	WLWT	182,400	27
8.	Ozzie And Harriet	WKRC	182,000	29
9.	My 3 Sons	WKRC	177,000	37
10.	Combat	WKRC	171,100	35

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Death Valley Days (Tues. 7:00)	WKRC	U.S. Borax	165,800	26
2.	Mickey Mouse Club (Mon.-Fri. 6:30)	WKRC	Buena Vista	146,900	23
3.	Sugarfoot (Thurs. 7:00)	WKRC	Warner Bros.	137,700	22
4.	Wonderful World (Wed. 7:00)	WLWT	Trans Lux	114,300	21
5.	Ripcord; Everglades (Fri. 7:00)	WLWT	UA-TV	107,800	21
6.	Woody Woodpecker (Tues. 6:00)	WCPO	MCA-TV	101,200	18
7.	Yogi Bear (Mon. 6:00)	WCPO	Screen Gems	96,000	15
8.	Wanted, Dead-Alive (Wed. 7:00)	WKRC	CBS Films	95,600	17
9.	Bronco; LBJ; Reb. (Sat. 6:30)	WLWT	Warner Bros.	93,100	15
10.	True Adventure (Thurs. 7:00)	WLWT	Teledynamc.	92,500	17

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Hoyt Dixon Show	WLWT	50,600
Huntley-Brinkley	WLWT	109,400
True Adventure	WLWT	92,500
Password	WCPO	106,800
Wanted, Dead-Alive	WKRC	95,600
Whiplash	WKRC	88,000
News Reptr; Wea; Spts	WLWT	110,400
News Reptr; Wea; Spts	WLWT	103,900
Wonderful World	WLWT	114,300
Midwestern Hayride	WLWT	160,800
Sugarfoot	WKRC	138,200

MEMPHIS, TENN.

STATIONS: WREC, WMCT, WHBQ. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Bonanza	WMCT	205,400	45
2.	Beverly Hillbillies	WREC	187,400	38
3.	Candid Camera	WREC	146,500	39
4.	Petticoat Junction	WREC	144,600	30
5.	Andy Griffith	WREC	135,000	35
6.	Dick Van Dyke	WREC	133,300	32
7.	Virginian	WMCT	131,800	25
8.	Perry Mason	WREC	128,300	29
9.	I've Got A Secret	WREC	126,700	25
10.	Alfred Hitchcock	WREC	126,400	30

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Amos and Andy (Mon.-Fri. 6:00)	WREC	CBS Films	124,800	24
2.	Jungle Jim; Early Movie (Sat. 12:30)	WREC	Screen Gems	106,000	26
3.	Grand Ole Opry (Sat. 6:00)	WMCT	WSM-TV	94,400	13
4.	Superman; Jungle Jim (Sat. 12:00)	WREC	Flamingo; S.G.	80,100	18
5.	Hercules (Sat. 9:00)	WHBQ	Trans Lux	74,400	22
6.	Wrestling (Sat. 3:30)	WHBQ	20 Fox TV	62,100	16
7.	Three Stooges (Sat. 8:30)	WHBQ	Screen Gems	61,500	15
8.	Rebel (Sun. 9:30)	WHBQ	ABC Films	59,500	16
9.	Phil Silvers Show (Mon.-Fri. 5:30)	WHBQ	CBS Films	59,000	18
10.	Dobie Gillis (Mon.-Fri. 6:00)	WHBQ	20 Fox TV	56,000	17

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Dobie Gillis	WHBQ	56,100
Western Thea; Pre Olym	WHBQ	11,400
Sugar Bowl; Boys; Quiz	WMCT	27,500
Fantastic Features	WHBQ	84,800
American Bandstand	WHBQ	37,700
Hector Heathcate	WMCT	23,900
Comedy Theatre	WREC	53,400
Rhods; Golf; Spts. Spec.	WMCT	46,200
Ruff and Ready	WMCT	25,700
What's My Line	WREC	122,100
CBS News	WREC	78,200
Amos and Andy	WREC	124,800

WICHITA, KAN.

STATIONS: KARD, KCKT, KOMC, KGLD, KAKE, KTVH. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Bonanza	KARD*	145,500	40
2.	Beverly Hillbillies	KTVH	112,800	42
3.	Andy Griffith	KTVH	98,500	30
4.	Candid Camera	KTVH	97,400	38
5.	Dick Van Dyke	KTVH	93,700	35
6.	My 3 Sons	KAKE	92,900	46
7.	Sing With Mitch	KARD*	92,500	27
8.	Petticoat Junction	KTVH	88,300	29
9.	Lawrence Welk	KAKE	87,600	36
10.	Jimmy Dean	KAKE	87,500	40

*Includes Satellites

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Valley Days; Basketball (Sat. 7:30)	KARD*	U.S. Borax	68,800	27
2.	Yogi Bear (Thurs. 6:00)	KAKE	Screen Gems	61,000	30
3.	Huckleberry Hound (Mon. 6:00)	KAKE	Screen Gems	53,000	29
4.	Woody Woodpecker (Wed. 6:00)	KAKE	MCA-TV	50,300	27
5.	M Squad; Olympics (Tues. 6:00; Thurs. 9:30)	KAKE	MCA-TV	43,300	22
6.	Roaring 20's (Sun. 9:00)	KAKE	Warner Bros.	35,400	19
7.	Ripcord (Mon.-Fri. 5:00)	KARD*	UA-TV	32,200	10
7.	Law And Mr. Jones (Sat. 9:30)	KAKE	Four Star	32,200	16
8.	Popeye And Pals (Sat. 10:00)	KAKE	UAA, KING	27,800	12
9.	Biography (Sun. 5:00)	KARD*	Official	26,100	9

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Lawrence Welk	KAKE	92,200
News; Wea; Sports	KARD*	38,300
News; Wea; Sports	KARD*	44,100
News; Wea; Sports	KARD*	47,200
News; Wea; Sports	KARD*	48,400
Suspense Thea; P. Como	KARD*	81,000
Candid Camera	KTVH	97,400
What's My Line	KTVH	87,100
Big Show	KAKE	22,600
Gunsmoke	KTVH	72,000
Dennis The Menace	KARD*	36,600
Fury	KARD*	34,200
Mr. Ed; Wizard Oz	KTVH	63,700

SACRAMENTO-STOCKTON

STATIONS: KCRA, KXTV, KOVR. SURVEY PERIOD: JANUARY 4-31, 1964.

RK.	Top Network Shows	Sta.	Total Area Homes Reached	Metro Area Rtg.
1.	Bonanza	KCRA	177,200	41
2.	Disney's World	KCRA	145,300	35
3.	Beverly Hillbillies	KXTV	144,800	37
4.	Virginian	KCRA	138,100	29
5.	Dick Van Dyke	KXTV	134,500	36
6.	Flintstones	KOVR	131,600	35
6.	Donna Reed	KOVR	131,600	35
7.	Int'l Shwtm; Rstles Sea	KCRA	126,500	27
8.	Lawrence Welk	KOVR	125,600	29
9.	Dr. Kildare	KCRA	124,300	29

RK.	Top Syndicated Shows Day & Time	Sta.	Dist.	Tot. Area Homes Reached	Met. Met. Rtg.
1.	Stafford; Duke; Ozzie (Wed. 7:30)	KOVR	ITC	103,000	25
2.	Bold Journey (Tues. 7:00)	KCRA	Banner	959,000	20
3.	Big Time Wrestling (Sat. 6:30)	KOVR	CFCN-TV	91,800	20
4.	Cheyenne (Mon.-Fri. 6:30)	KOVR	Warner Bros.	88,900	24
5.	Death Valley Days (Wed. 7:00)	KCRA	U.S. Borax	79,300	19
6.	Superman; Magilla (Wed. 6:00)	KOVR	Flamingo; S. G.	74,900	21
7.	Huckleberry Hound (Mon. 5:00)	KOVR	Screen Gems	72,800	20
8.	Hennesey (Fri. 7:00)	KCRA	NBC Films	72,600	18
9.	Leave It To Beaver (Mon. 7:00)	KCRA	MCA-TV	71,100	15
10.	Yogi Bear (Thurs. 6:00)	KOVR	Screen Gems	69,000	19

Top Competition	Sta.	Total Homes
Virginian	KCRA	137,900
Cheyenne	KOVR	93,900
3 Star Theatre	KCRA	69,900
Channel 3 Reports	KCRA	95,200
Bold Journey	KCRA	95,900
Cheyenne	KOVR	103,100
Huntley-Brinkley	KCRA	112,900
Huntley-Brinkley	KCRA	106,900
Big Movie	KOVR	88,100
Cheyenne	KOVR	99,400
Huntley-Brinkley	KCRA	94,700

Why did 110 national advertisers buy the CBS Radio Network in 1963...as compared with 88 on network B, 85 on network C and 58 on network D?*

Because CBS Radio has the longest continuing record of audience leadership...

Presents the most outstanding array of top personalities and programs...

Delivers the best station clearance patterns, confirmed by electronically-checked reports every month...

Supports your advertising by advertising itself 12 months a year...

Produces results: provable, documented sales results that keep surpassing our advertisers' expectations.

That's why more advertisers used CBS Radio than any other network last year. And that's why our sales for the first half of 1964 have already topped last year's entire first half—with 3 months still to go!

More facts? Plenty. Call us today.

The CBS Radio Network

*Sources: Leading National Advertiser-BAR Reports, and Nielsen Radio Index. Excludes advertisers on religious broadcasts, for which CBS Radio does not accept sponsorship. Statement on audience based on Nielsen Radio Index estimates (plug-in sets only) subject to qualifications which the CBS Radio Network will supply on request. From June 1962 to present, the ABC Radio Network was not reported by this service.

Saddler's Primer For a Flourishing Omaha TV Outlet

Omaha, April 7.

Owen Saddler, exec veepee of KMTV, the NBC-TV affil here, takes the dimmest view of stations that invest heavily in print media promotion. It lets down the telecast medium, he says, and fuels the print ad proponents.

The g.m., true to his preachment, has for some time embargoed newspaper and billboard blurbs for his station. Not to omit the power of network programming. Saddler says that a station out to inspire consumer confidence must identify itself with the commonweal via public interest programming and the support of local good causes.

It's such strength of image, he claims, that has made KMTV generally dominant in the three-station Omaha market. The ARB consensus puts the station on top the 3 to 6 p.m. competition, and in the 10 p.m. news sweeps. In the sevenday Nielsen primetime audits, station is likewise ahead (albeit by thin margin), and in recent years has also led the way in Nielsen quarter-hours.

As an example of the station's pubservice spirit, Saddler cites his dispatch of a news team to Vietnam for a special report. And in the do-good department, exec points to the time when he gave the local medico profession sesame to promote the "Sabin Oral Sunday" (anti-polio immunization) campaign.

That Vietnam project, Saddler intimates, might have been a tougher decision to make were it not for money saved by staying out of print.

4-STAR'S 'DETECTIVES' JOINS CENTURY CLUB

Four Star Distribution reports it has hit the 100 mark in sales with the two-way, off-network package, "The Detectives."

Sales that put the series, which is in both half-hour and hour format, in the century club, include WGN-TV, Chicago; WATE-TV, Knoxville; KELO-TV, Sioux Falls; KPTV, Portland; KIII-TV, Corpus Christi; and WTOK-TV, Meridian.

There are 67 half hours available and 30 hours, and FSD has filmed a special set of bridges with host Robert Taylor that link the half-hours into hours along with another set of bridges that break the hours in half.

Billy Eckstine Hosts 90-Min. WPIX Special

WPIX-TV, N.Y., will vidtape a 90-minute talk and variety special with Billy Eckstine hosting from the Roundtable nightclub with an eye to developing a Monday-Friday strip to follow the syndicated Steve Allen show.

Titled, "Saturday Night in New York," the preview tape, to be produced April 20, will feature such guests as Harry Belafonte, Orson Bean and Nipsey Russell. It's a coproduction deal between WPIX and Tele-tape Productions. Air date is yet to be set.

WPIX has also bought an Intertel A. G., 90-minute music special, "Hello World," produced in Hamburg. Air date will be announced soon.

WHDH's 'Skyway Patrol' Falls in Hub Harbor

Boston, April 7.

WHDH's "Skyway Patrol" helicopter, carrying vet traffic reporter Bruce Talford, fell in the drink Friday (3) just seconds after takeoff from Logan airport. The chopper lost altitude and sank into Boston harbor. Talford, his left leg in a cast from a fracture of six weeks ago in a skiing mishap, swam 75 feet to safety with the help of the pilot Richard Bruce Lord, 28, Brooklyn, N. Y.

It was the first such mishap for the 30-year-old Peabody newscaster and tv announcer, who has been making two flights daily for nearly three years.

VARIETY ARB FEATURE FILM CHART

VARIETY-ARB's weekly chart offers a day-by-day analysis of the top feature evening slots in a particular market. On Saturdays and Sundays, daytime feature slots compete with nighttime pix periods for designation as the top feature slot of the day. The analysis is confined to the top rated feature slots in the ARB measured period, broken down by days in the week. The ARB measured period usually covers three or four weeks. Other data such as the time slot and total area homes is furnished. Top competition and competitive ratings also are highlighted.

Cleveland • STATIONS: KYW, WEWS, WJW. • SURVEY DATES: JANUARY 4 - 31, 1964.

KYW Total Area Homes: 336,900 Metro Rating: 33 Share of Audience: 46

MONDAYS 7:30-9:30
Program: MONDAY NIGHT MOVIES

Jan. 6 "SEVEN CITIES OF GOLD"
Richard Egan, Anthony Quinn
1955, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

Jan. 13 "SINGING IN THE RAIN"
Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds
1952, MGM, MGM

Jan. 20 "ACTION OF THE TIGER"
Van Johnson, Martine Carol
1957, MGM, MGM

Jan. 27 "HOUSE OF BAMBOO"
Robert Stack, Shirley Yamaguchi
1955, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Wgn Train; O. Limit 7:30-8:00	WEWS 219,800
I've Got A Secret 8:00-8:30	WJW 236,600
Lucy Show 8:30-9:00	WJW 266,500
Danny Thomas 9:00-9:30	WJW 252,700

KYW Total Area Homes: 154,200 Metro Rating: 13 Share of Audience: 31

TUESDAYS 5:00-6:30
Program: EARLY SHOW

Jan. 7 "SUDAN"
Maria Montez, Andy Devine
1945, U-I, Screen Gems

Jan. 14 "SUSANNAH OF THE MOUNTIES"
Shirley Temple, Randolph Scott
1939, 20th Century-Fox, NTA

Jan. 21 "ODONGO"
Rhonda Fleming, Macdonald Carey
1956, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 28 "THE PERSUADER"
William Talman, James Craig
1957, Allied Artists, Allied Artists TV

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Comedy Clubhouse 5:00-6:00	WEWS 210,400
Dateline; News; Wea. 6:00-6:30	WEWS 141,100

KYW Total Area Homes: 150,400 Metro Rating: 13 Share of Audience: 35

WEDNESDAYS 5:00-6:00
Program: EARLY SHOW

Jan. 8 "CRIPPLE CREEK"
George Montgomery, Karin Booth
1952, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 15 "STAGE TO TUCSON"
Rod Cameron, Wayne Morris
1951, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 22 "SOUND OFF"
Mickey Rooney, Anne James
1952, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 29 "SCANDAL SHEET"
Broderick Crawford, Donna Reed
1952, Columbia, Screen Gems

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Comedy Clubhouse 5:00-6:00	WEWS 177,100
Dateline; News; Wea. 6:00-6:30	WEWS 137,000

KYW Total Area Homes: 160,800 Metro Rating: 12 Share of Audience: 32

THURSDAYS 5:00-6:30
Program: EARLY SHOW

Jan. 9 "THUNDER BIRDS"
Gene Tierney, Preston Foster
1942, 20th Century-Fox, NTA

Jan. 16 "TARZAN AND THE AMAZONS"
Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce
1945, RKO, Banner

Jan. 23 "HANGMAN'S KNOT"
Randolph Scott, Donna Reed
1952, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 30 "THE PATHFINDER"
George Montgomery, Helena Carter
1953, Columbia, Screen Gems

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Comedy Clubhouse 5:00-6:00	WEWS 195,100
Dateline; News; Wea. 6:00-6:30	WEWS 143,700

KYW Total Area Homes: 148,100 Metro Rating: 13 Share of Audience: 36

FRIDAYS 5:00-6:30
Program: EARLY SHOW

Jan. 10 "DOG OF FLANDERS"
Frankie Thomas, Helen Parrish
1935, RKO, UAA

Jan. 17 "THE SARACEN BLADE"
Ricardo Montalban, Betta St. John
1954, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 24 "HELL BELOW ZERO"
Alan Ladd, Joan Tetzel
1954, Columbia, Screen Gems

Jan. 31 "TANGIER"
Maria Montez, Sabu, Robert Paige
1946, U-I, Screen Gems

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Comedy Clubhouse 5:00-6:00	WEWS 184,400
Dateline; News; Wea. 6:00-6:30	WEWS 147,100

KYW Total Area Homes: 358,000 Metro Rating: 35 Share of Audience: 52

SATURDAYS 9:00-11:15
Program: SATURDAY AT THE MOVIES

Jan. 4 "DADDY LONG LEGS"
Fred Astaire, Leslie Caron
1955, 20th Century-Fox, 20th Century-Fox

Jan. 11 "IMITATION GENERAL"
Glenn Ford, Taina Elg
1958, MGM, MGM

Jan. 18 "THE NAKED SPUR"
James Stewart, Janet Leigh
1953, MGM, MGM

Jan. 25 "UNTIL THEY SAIL"
Paul Newman, Joan Fontaine
1957, MGM, MGM

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Lawrence Welk 9:00-9:30	WEWS 358,400
Hollywood Palace 9:30-10:30	WEWS 254,200
Gunsmoke 10:30-11:00	WJW 231,000
News; Press Box 11:00-11:15	WJW 182,300

(Continued on page 62)

British Com'l TV 3-Yr. Exchequer Tab: $210,000,000

London, April 7.

Apart from normal taxation on profits, the levy on advertising revenue which comes into force at the end of July will withdraw an extra $140,000,000 from the video industry during the next three years (period of new indie broadcast licenses). And, not considering transmitter rentals, the commercial web will contribute more than $210,000,000 to the national Exchequer during the next three years.

These are the calculations of Lord Derby, chairman of Television Wales And The West. In his statement accompanying the station's accounts, to be presented to shareholders on April 23, he says that TWW's "contribution" by way of transmitter rental (which accrues to the Independent Television Authority) and the ad levy will probably be in the region of $3,000,000.

Says Lord Derby: "While it is true that no new industry has developed at such a rate and with such spectacular success (as tv) within living memory, it is also true that no new industry has ever been called upon in its infancy to make so adult a contribution to the National Exchequer."

Later, Lord Derby "regrets" the shortterm licenses issued by the ITA since the three-year limitation "makes planning difficult and inhibits proper training schemes and the long term development of creative talent."

"But," he states, "in view of the intended introduction of a second commercial channel, it was probably wise to contract on the footing that when it comes into operation fresh contracts would then be offered by the Authority."

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1963, TWW showed a profit of $1,752,761 after tax of $2,263,251. Previous year's after-tax profit was $1,617,020. In its first full year of operations, TWW (Enterprises) Ltd., the station's legit-oriented subsidiary contributed $186,027 to group profits before tax.

Notwithstanding the slight increase in profits, the 1963 dividend was maintained at 95%.

DULUTH CHANNEL 10 OPENED TO BIDDERS

Washington, April 7.

FCC opened channel 10 in Duluth, to all bidders and proposed an interim operation on the space to speed up a third television service for that city.

Move came in wake of Commission's refusal to reconsider a decision of last May denying WDUL Television Corp. more time to complete WHYZ-TV as channel 10 in Duluth. A month later FCC brushed aside an application to sell the outlet to Producers Inc.

In its 4-1 decision FCC said the channel is available for assignment and invited competing applicants to propose an interim operation in order to speed service.

Dissenting was Minnesotan Commissioner Lee Loevinger. Backing the refusal to reconsider were Chairman E. William Henry and Commissioners Robert Bartley, Robert E. Lee and Frederick Ford.

7 Arts Film Package Sold in 20 Markets

Seven Arts has notched sales in 20 markets to date for its volume 9 package of 215 Universal post-50 cinematics. Latest sales, all inked last week, include WAPI-TV, Birmingham; WTPA-TV, Harrisburg; KSOH-TV, Las Vegas; WGKT, Miami; WRGB, Schenectady; and WSYR-TV, Syracuse.

Some top titles in the new batch of features are "Magnificent Obsession," "To Hell and Back," "Six Bridges to Cross," and "Winchester '73." Pix are being offered in four parts or in one package.

'NAKED CITY'

starring PAUL BURKE and HORACE McMAHON

...for High-Power Action!

99 hours and 39 half-hours of big TV entertainment... big ratings! This outstanding network series which Newsweek called "the best and most stylish show on American television" continues to win new laurels in syndication. More than 60 stations have already licensed Naked City...and 70% of them are programming it in prime time against top network competition. Here are just a few recent ARB ratings results...

KTVI, St. Louis—16
WBRZ, Baton Rouge—24
KOB-TV, Albuquerque—25
WWL-TV, New Orleans—23
WTVR, Richmond—14
WBTV, Charlotte—16
KDAL-TV, Duluth—22

Looking for Action?

Naked City has it!

Presented exclusively by

SCREEN GEMS

Friendly's Quest for Angles

Continued from page 31

newscasts should get a similar play." In that way, Friendly contended, "our regular newscasts won't be exclusively recounting what happened in the news, but they will be originating news as well." That commanding position of electronic journalism has been assumed by broadcasting's coverage of elections. It will be assumed in other areas, too, Friendly avers.

The third area in which Friendly is moving is that of "digging." He has appointed Jay McMullen to head up a newly organized unit within CBS News, the function of which will be to explore in depth various news areas. (McMullen was the "CBS Reports" producer-reporter who did "Biography of a Bookie Joint" and the more recent documentary on the business of dope traffic).

Friendly, who took over the CBS News helm from Dick Salant about four weeks ago, foresaw some changes within his division, although he declined at this time to spell out specifics. Arthur D. Morse has been named exec producer of "CBS Reports," a post formerly held by Friendly. Morse had been a "CBS Reports" staff producer, whose credits include the documentary on the cigaret-cancer controversy and "The Catholics and the Schools."

Houston, Tom Beck has been named news director here for KILT, the Gordon McLendon operated station. Beck comes from KTRH here.

JOHNSON WAX IN SATURATION BUY

In a major participation deal for the current season on CBS-TV, Johnson's Wax bought a saturation contract in the evening and daytime schedule.

Johnson's inked for participations in "Perry Mason," "Alfred Hitchcock Hour," "Rawhide," "East Side, West Side," "Suspense," "Great Adventure," "Route 66," "High Adventure," and the series of summer specials. Company also bought 81 minutes in the morning minute plan.

DuPont signed for participations in "ESWS," "Rawhide," "Nurses," "Hitchcock" and "Perry Mason." Nestle bought participations in "Mason," "ESWS," "Suspense," "Route 66," and two summer series, "Celebrity Game" and the series of hour outings, called "All-Time Specials."

McGannon Raps Intellectuals

Continued from page 25

leaders" of their communities. "To fail in this regard would be an irreparable default." He said that radio and tv were not merely mirrors of society but also a force within it, a force that "must be guided toward good uses and away from evil ones." He said that American Broadcasting, which takes both its existence and strength from expanding democracy, would be remiss in not using all its powers to help enlarge "the franchise of all Americans"—this appropriate to his main theme that broadcasting is deeply rooted in the essence of democracy and that "all power of mass media derive from the people themselves." These media, he said, only become big when millions of people choose to make them so and continue to be vital only through the people's choice.

McGannon devoted much of his address to answering intellectual critics of tv and radio whom he equates with Alexander Hamilton as having high motives but a questionable instinct for democracy. They are, he said, "The elite who have always found it hard to trust the people's judgments and tastes, even though history has so often reversed such a lack of faith." The intellectuals, he stated, ask television for more serious programs and yet tend not to watch it themselves. They fail to understand that modern mass media are something new in history, and further they are stubbornly unwilling to accept "the basic role of advertising as an inherent part of the American scene."

"They do not see that advertising with all its limitations, is 'the voice of democracy' without prior selection of prejudice, to everyone. This simply is not true in other societies," he said.

McGannon received the industry's highest award for what presenter Gov. Leroy Collins called "his innumerable and inestimable services" to the industry. The reward itself recognized specifically his leadership of Group W and the innovations and inspiration he generated therefrom; his pioneering of and superior service in the group operation concept of broadcasting; his dynamic participation in industry affairs, much of it through chairing NAB committees; and other services to his community and country and to the academic world.

Henry Challenges

Continued from page 25

he said that community antenna (which he recognized as itself a form of pay-tv) and wire enterprises are "not the invention of money mad moguls but primarily a response to expressed public needs." They are betting, he said, that the American viewer wants something more from his television set than the present system makes available.

Of CATV he said, "we should seek ways to integrate it fully into our national television system. We should not shrink from hard choice when community antenna television threatens to thwart basic purposes of the communication act. It must not be permitted, for example, to hamper the development of UHF. But we must make a strenuous effort to find measures which will allow both kinds of television to survive."

He warned the exponents of free tv that they "cannot get protection without providing a service worth protecting. You cannot beat something with nothing."

Yes, Anne

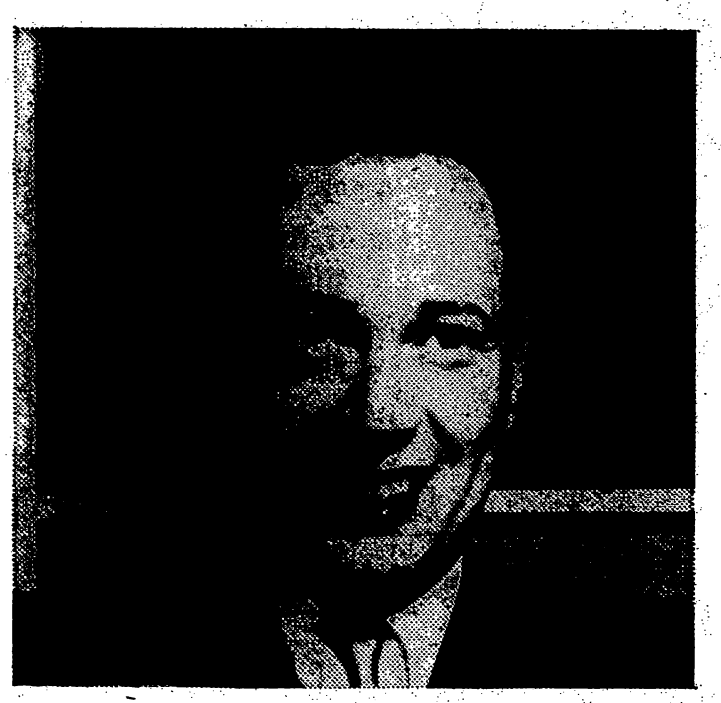
Continued from page 31

and a result "Captain Kangaroo" would soon go to KTRE.

Lewin said little Anne's letter had broken the ice at the net, averring "We are most grateful to those at CBS who were far more understanding than perhaps those of us far away would give them credit."

Lewin received a thank you note from the girl and also a letter from FCC Chairman E. William Henry who said it was "heartening" to find a licensee who would go to such time consuming lengths to help a young correspondent.

The untutored agriculturist of the mid-west are becoming tired of seeing these refugee's from Mayo's clinic on the one-eyed monster. Somewhere in this land there must be an independent film producer with enough guts to tell two stories which do not concern the removal of a gall bladder. The undersigned is not a member of our large social group known as village idiots. If you listen, we shall make a bundle.

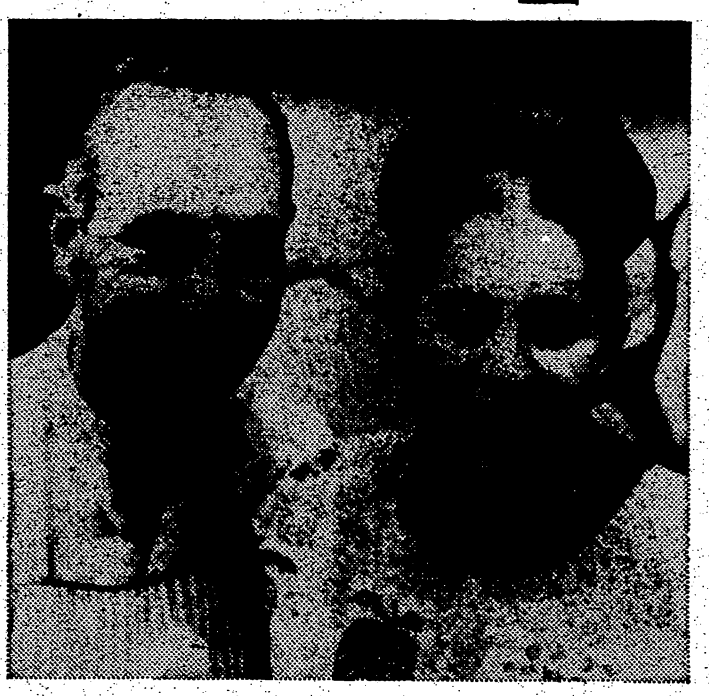


Contact H. B. LUNSFORD

15 North Miami St., Peru, Indiana

WBEN-TV

programs for 885,900 households...



THAT'S WHY YOU SELL MORE ON CH. 4

JOHN CORBETT

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

12:15 – 12:30 P. M. Mon. thru Fri.

BILL AND MILDRED MILLER

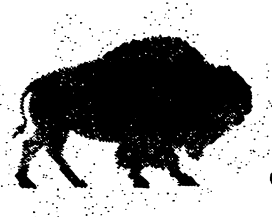
MEET THE MILLERS

1:00 – 1:30 P. M. Mon. thru Fri.

These two daily weekday programs of WBEN-TV reflect the practical side of selling . . . the side advertisers like to be on.

Practical because their content is all about the home, homemaking, home planning, home cooking which is what people at home find interesting and informative. In Western New York television, WBEN is the only station where they find such programming.

Both John Corbett and the Millers have enjoyed top audience loyalty for over a decade, proving their worth as entertainment and proving their value to satisfied sponsors.



If you are interested in the households that last year spent over 1.3 billion at the retail level (plus the vast Canadian market) you'll find them on these Ch. 4 "home" shows. And you'll find these experienced TV salesmen "at home" with your product.

Nationally represented by: Harrington, Righter & Parsons

WBEN-TV

affiliate of WBEN radio

The Buffalo Evening News Station

CH. 4

CBS in Buffalo

New for 1964-65

77 SUNSET STRIP

149 HIGHEST RATED HOURS FOR STRIPPING

Here's the program that offers just about everything—77 Sunset Strip. Bristling action. Breathtaking suspense. Bright romance. Bustling humor. Bouncy music. And best of all . . . bulging network ratings. Over the first four of six seasons 77 Sunset Strip ran on the network, Warner Bros. produced 149 hour-long episodes. These, the highest rated episodes in the series, are now available for the first time on an individual market basis.

Averages 40% Share of Audience

During the first four seasons on the network, 77 Sunset Strip averaged a whopping 24.6 rating, good for a 40% share of audience.* These are the seasons when the dashing team of Bailey and Spencer set the standards for future private investigator series. When "Kookie," the jive-talking parking lot attendant made hair-combing a teen-age must. When the up-beat theme music of 77 Sunset Strip caught the fancy of millions of television viewers—and even non-viewers.

Stars Zimbalist, Smith and Byrnes

Starring Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., as Stu Bailey, Roger Smith as Jeff Spencer, and Edward Byrnes as "Kookie," 77 Sunset Strip also features Louis Quinn as Roscoe, the horse-racing specialist with a nose for news, and Jacqueline Beer as Suzanne, the pretty Gal Friday. Big name guest stars, too! Ask about Warner Bros. new Monday-to-Friday program concept—"The Sunset Strip."

Nielsen National, Oct-Apr averages 1958-59, 1959-60, 1960-61, 1961-62*

WARNER BROS. TELEVISION DIVISION 666 Fifth Avenue, New York 19, N.Y., Circle 6-1000

Also: ROOM FOR ONE MORE · THE DAKOTAS · THE GALLANT MEN · CHEYENNE · HAWAIIAN EYE · LAWMAN

1ST AGAIN!

SEVENTH STRAIGHT MONTH-*

COURAGEOUS CAT CARTOON

*LATEST MARCH NIELSEN REPORT
WABC-TV, New York

COURAGEOUS CAT 5.0

Captain Kangaroo 2.5	Sandy's Cartoons 1.5	Today 4.0

130-Complete 5½ Minute Episodes in COLOR or BLACK & WHITE

Tele Features— Inc.

for details contact
AL ODEAL, President
516 FIFTH AVE., New York 36, N.Y.
YU 6-4979

TV Followup Comment

Continued from page 42

minced in spelling out the precarious position of the U. S, and our friends there. For all that, though, the viewer was offered little that couldn't be found in an educated reading of newspapers.

Of course, the pictures were there, always a tv plus factor viz a viz the print news medium. A big opportunity, though, was missed. Most everyone in the documentary made a point in stressing that the war will be won or lost on the basis of which side wins native support. Yet, there wasn't one interview of any length with a non-government native, a village leader for example. How does the "man in the paddie" feel about the new government of General Khanh? How did he feel about past Saigon rulers? Does he care who occupies Government House and, if not, why not? If the "man in the paddie" is the key to the Vietnam situation, he should be one of the focal points of a documentary on that subject.

The program, in the main, offered a "view from the top," leaders telling about the Vietnam situation. There were interviews with the new Vietnam ruler, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, all spelling out the tough, hard road there. Madam Nhu, in Paris, offered some counterpunches against official U. S. policy, in her interview with Charles Collingwood.

In the opening segment, Senator Wayne Morse was on the screen for a few moments saying we had no business in Vietnam. His position was never examined again, illustrative of the choppy nature of the documentary.

Horo.

Repertoire Workshop

For its contribution to "Repertoire Workshop," the series of shows locally produced by the CBS o&o's, the New York flagship, WCBS-TV, came up last Tuesday night (31) with a showcase for young Gotham artists of Puerto Rican heritage. It was an interesting glimpse at the culture of a large segment of New York's Spanish-speaking population who's image has been widely identified only with the steaming tempos of "West Side Story."

In this half hour titled "Feliz Borinquen" (happy Puerto Rico), the Puerto Rican performers displayed more sedate and cultivated facets of their lives through their poetry, songs and dances. Raul Davila, an actor, introduced each of the turns and also effectively recited an English translation of Puerto Rican poems. Polly & Jaime Rogers headed the dance troupe which contributed the liveliest moments of the stanza with their folk dances which were given very sophisticated choreographic treatments.

Carloa Pinza was the vocal star of the show with her saucy rendition of a pop tune, "You're Too Dangerous," and of a lilting folk number, "Lamento Borincano." In the classical vein, tenor Emilio Belaval and soprano Martina Arroyo contributed two fine Spanish art songs. Pianist Saudhi Adelina Ramirez also sparkled in her performance at the keyboard. Alfredo Antonini's large studio orch backed up the principals in excellent style. Herm.

Jack Paar Program

Cassius Clay, heavyweight champ and converted Black Muslim, failed to guest on NBC-TV's Paar show Friday (3) as originally scheduled but Oscar Levant and Robert Morley filled in admirably. Clay, it's understood, was unwilling to rehearse and he also regarded the program's taping date (two weeks prior to the telecast) as inconvenient for him.

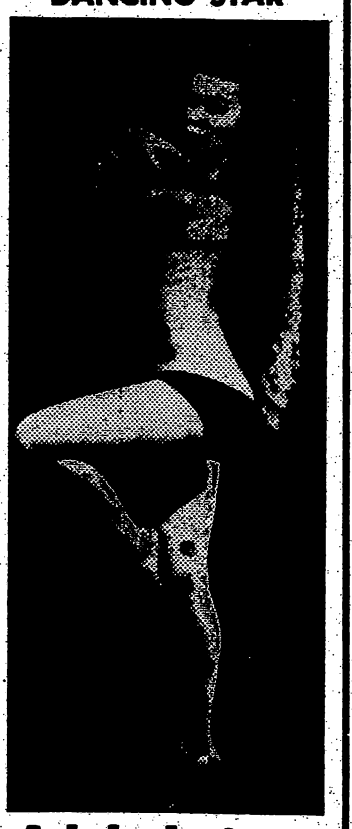
Levant's quips flew fast: For example, on the Sinatra Jr. kidnapping—"At first I suspected music critics." On Elizabeth Taylor—"I'd call her the other woman of the year." Effervescent and articulate, Morley expounded on a variety of topics ranging from gambling to reactions of a baby at birth.

Paar, who charitably dropped his "feud" with the preceding "That Was the Week That Was" program, "for Lent" as he put it, resumed his disparaging references to his lead-in airer. "In any event," he said at the signoff, "we're on after Henry Morgan reads the comic books to you." Gilb.

Ask The Manager (KGO-TV)

Based on the very legitimate premise that the viewer has the right to ask questions of a tv station and let it know how he feels about the fare offered him, "Ask the Manager" (KGO-TV, San Francisco) has its points. Second showing Thursday night (26) was smoother than the preem a month back.

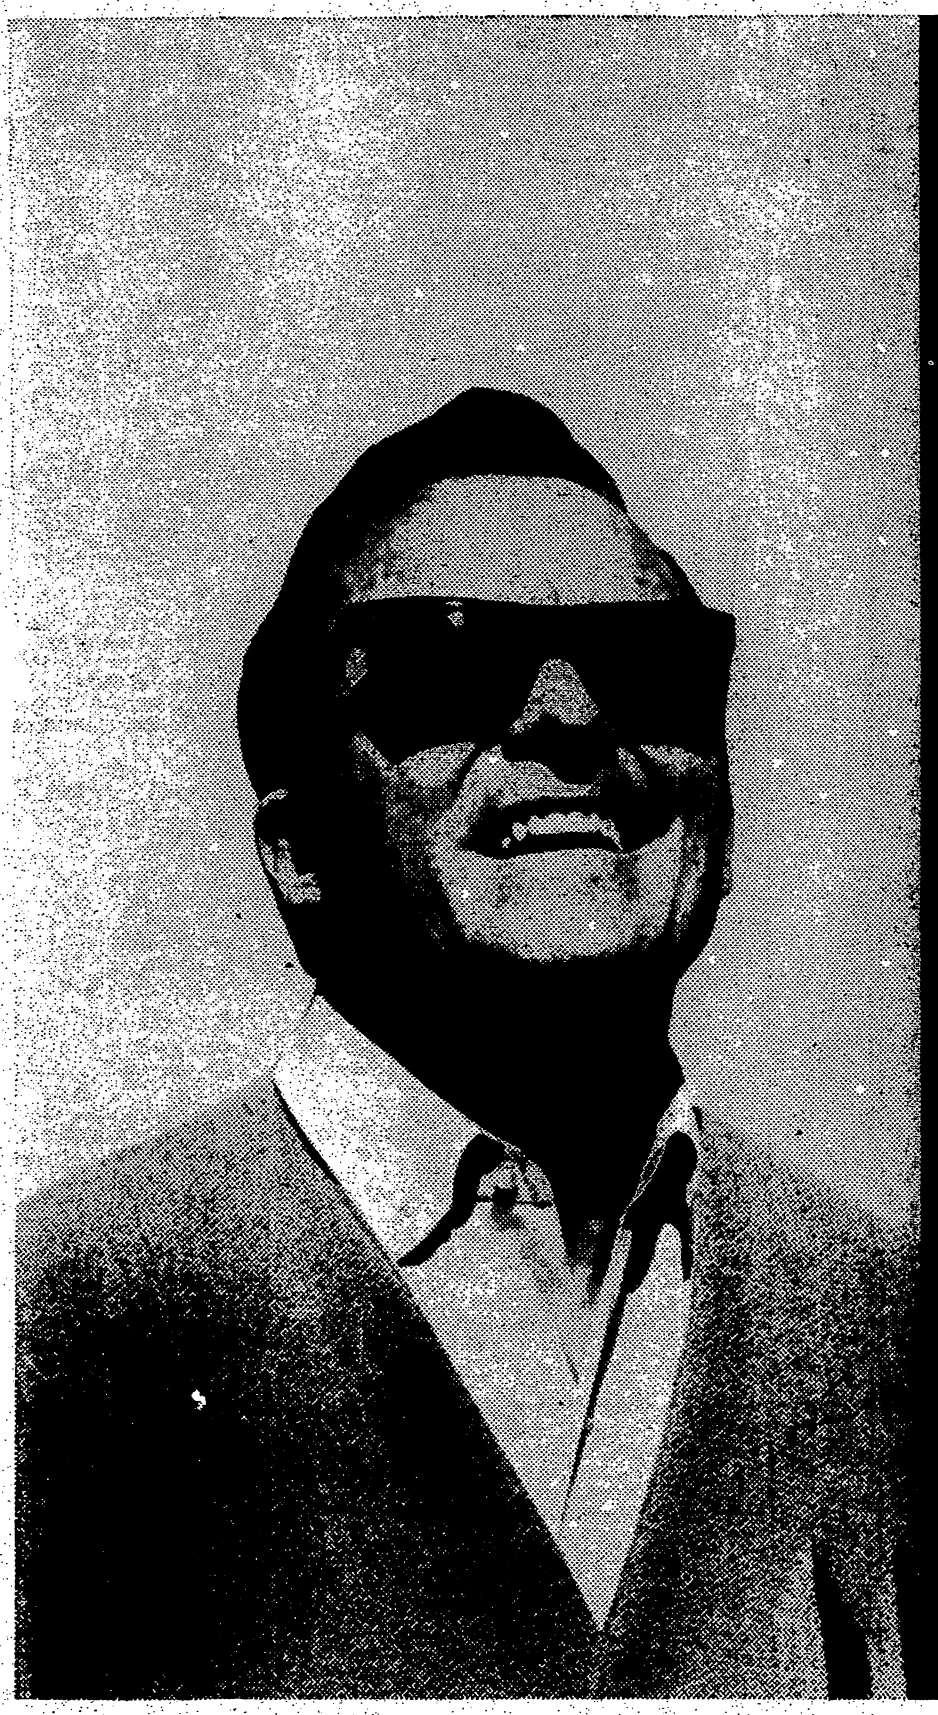
Format has David M. Sacks, ABC veep and general manager of the station, seated at a desk, with George Rodman, station's competent public information chief, feeding him queries sent in by vox pop. It's billed as spontaneous and unrehearsed and undoubtedly is.



Unhappily, the program doesn't come over with much impact. Questions generally are on the blah side: "What happened to The Greatest Show on Earth"? Why doesn't Dick Stewart have a larger studio?" etc.

Sacks, a personable, warm guy off-screen, comes off strictly on the frosty side. Articulate and very opinionated, he seems a little too high-handed.

Sacks opened with a blast at tv critics, who he said serve no useful purpose when they review a show. Their job, in his view, is to print info on television (and KGO sends out more "information" than any other local station). He came up with an observation about how critics may have damned "Beverly Hillbillies" on its birth, as if the success of that show made fools of all who saw it as pure corn.



Placed on the defensive by a letter rapping the "hypnotic" Anacin commercial—"PAIN . . . tension . . . PAIN . . . headache . . . PAIN etc."—Sacks alibied it by saying the presidents of the networks had cleared it, even though he reserved his opinion. Cwin.

AMERICA'S GREATEST EXOTIC DANCING STAR

Adele Latour
'Anatomy Award Winner '64'
Open For Limited Engagements
For Engagements in Theatres, Supper Clubs and Fairs
Contact
KAPLAN AGENCY, INC.
Suite 804, Palace Theatre Bldg.
1564 Broadway, New York, N. Y.
PLaza 7-7247

New York's largest specialists in motion picture & TV insurance
(cast, film, weather, liability, cameras, props, plagiarism...)
WINKLER ASSOCIATES, LTD.
120 W. 57 St., New York 19, Circle 7-3366

Douglas by day Allen by night
Group W, by George!

Group W put Mike Douglas on television five days a week and Steve Allen on five nights a week. Each heads 90 minutes of big-budget, big-star entertainment that brightens the television scene.

Both shows grew from one idea—the continuing need to create fresh, new entertainment for the Group W stations. But they are produced in two totally different ways. The Mike Douglas Show originates from KYW-TV in Cleveland. It is produced by KYW-TV with the creative backing of the Group. The Steve Allen Show is produced by the Group itself in Hollywood.

Group W productions can be Steve Allen, Mike Douglas, a series on Communism in 33 lectures, Specials for Children, or 15 cameo productions on American art. Each is a direct result of the creative, financial, and management resources of the Group. Each points up the role of the Group as a vital third force, along with networks and local stations, in broadcasting.

GROUP W

WESTINGHOUSE BROADCASTING COMPANY

WBZ • WBZ-TV BOSTON • WINS NEW YORK • WJZ-TV BALTIMORE • KDKA • KDKA-TV PITTSBURGH • KYW • KYW-TV CLEVELAND • WOWO FORT WAYNE • WIND CHICAGO • KPIX SAN FRANCISCO

Inside Stuff—Radio-TV

Television and radio stations were honored over the weekend at the 30th annual National Headliners Frolic in Atlantic City. Plaques were presented at the awards luncheon on Saturday (4). Television awards were given to WXYZ-TV, Detroit, Mich, and its president, John F. Pival, for outstanding television editorials; to KMSP-TV, Minneapolis, for public service as exemplified by "The Forgotten", in which conditions in a Minnesota security hospital were brought to light; and to WRCV-TV, Philadelphia, Pa., and Robert J. Shafer, news director, for consistently outstanding coverage of news events as exemplified by its comprehensive coverage of the dramatic rescue of two miners imprisioned in an abandoned shaft for two weeks.

In the radio category, awards went to: KNX, Los Angeles, for consistently outstanding coverage of news events; WSAC, Fort Knox, Ky., and Byron E. Cowan, president, for consistently outstanding editorials; WAIT, Chicago, Ill., and Maurice Rosenfield, executive director, the Public Service Award for its successful campaign to free a man facing death for murder following conviction eight years earlier.

It won't get NBC News back in Moscow, but the recent memo to staff from NBC-TV toppers Robert Sarnoff and Robert Kinter reportedly will have its upbeat effect behind the Iron Curtain. NBC News staffer Tamas G. Madarasz wrote identical letters to Sarnoff and Kintner, advising that their letter, which frankly discussed the NBC brass position re pay television, made a great impression on a friend visiting the U.S. from Communist Hungary.

Madarasz said the friend was "amazed at the informal tone in which it was written, and the letter told her more about the 'American Capitalists' than I could have." He said, in fact that the letter made as great an impression on the visitor as the tour of NBC and Rockefeller Center. "She will take with her back to Hungary lasting memories of the United States, among them the memory of your letter, and I am sure many of her husband's pupils (he's a high school teacher in Budapest) will share those memories with them."

Preview of Saturday's (11) "Defenders" episode, starring Milton Berle in a dramatic role, will be held today (Wed.) at Friars Club. Reason for preview is position Berle holds with organization, that of Abbot Emeritus. For the preview, CBS-TV and arrangements committee of the Friars Club will co-host a cocktail party. Film will be shown in the Milton Berle Room of the Club and a direct telephone line will be opened to Berle's dressingroom at the Desert Inn in Las club comic, faced with an incurable disease, who attempts suicide. Script was written by Roger Lewis, former United Artists ad v.p. Vegas for some initial reaction. In the episode Berle plays a night

---

Both BBC-TV and Granada-TV in Britain have withdrawn their support from the quarterly "Egghead" tv publication Contrast which they launched three years ago in conjunction with the British Film Institute.

According to the spring edition of the paper, the sponsors felt they could no longer support it and appeals for coin from other quarters have failed. Idea was for it to build up circulation in order to become self-supporting. So far it has not done so.

Mag will continue under the aegis of BFI but will be cut in size.

Much praise is accruing to WHK, the Metromedia AMer in Cleveland, for distribution of its "Hymns of Your Church" LP, billing the choirs of 10 churches in the Cleve area. Originally, release was limited to churches in the town, but distribution has since been extended globally to religious and governmental leaders, including the governors of all 50 U.S. states, for which there's been beaucoup appreciation expressed.

Annual advertising awards luncheon (bestowing the "Silver Nail" and "Gold Key") auspiced by the Station Representative Assn. is down for April 28 in the Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y. Guest speaker will be Walter E. Rogers, chairman of the House subcommittee on communication and power.

Panic Button

Continued from page 35

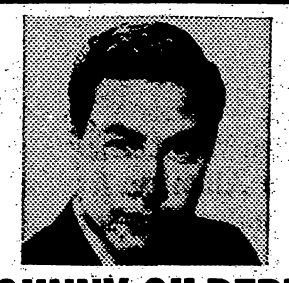
the limits of its own enforcement policy. Collins' response to Harris' questionnaire seems to reflect a new feeling that trouble could be invited by creating the impression that Congress may be called in to enforce the Code.

In response to other Harris questions, Collins extolled self-regulation both by radio-tv and distillers, praised the Code ban on booze and other morally and physically sensitive products, said no more rules than already listed in the Code are needed and averred there was a distinction between hard liquor and beer and cigaret advertising.

Collins averred there "has been nothing to indicate any likelihood of change" in the Code's anti-booze provisions, even though the Code is continually reviewed and amended.

Capital Cable

Continued from page 31



the property in the same percentage as the amount of stock bought.

"Texas Broadcasting has no connection with nor voice in management or financing of Capital Cable unless and until such option is exercised," Burke wrote.

FCC also had asked both companies for the number of CATV subscribers each has.

Capital Cable said it had 706 on March 20 but was at a disadvantage because TV Cable beat it into operation by four months.

TV Cable said it had 2,284 but is losing customers because of the blackout on programs planned for the future by KTBC-TV. Last week, TV Cable said, 23 customers quit.

JOHNNY GILBERT
EMCEE • SINGER • ANNOUNCER
currently:
"PRICE IS RIGHT"
ABC-TV
Mgt.: BERGER, ROSS & STEINMAN
PL 1-2156
Dir.: FRANK COOPER ASSOC.

More than a decade of Constructive Service to Broadcasters and the Broadcasting Industry
HOWARD E. STARK
Brokers—Consultants
50 EAST 58TH STREET NEW YORK, N. Y. ELDORADO 5-0405

Now...a new EASTMAN Sound Recording Tape!

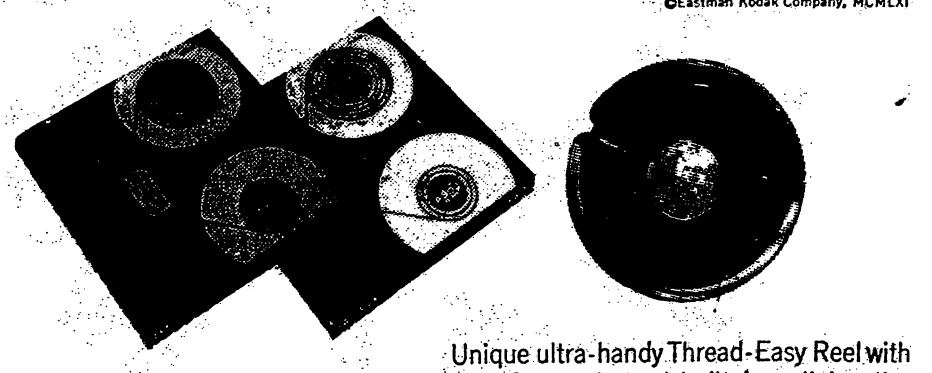
Take a piece of the new Eastman tape. See how tough it is... how clean it breaks under stress.

Look! No stretch...when it breaks—it breaks clean!

NEW! Support material for EASTMAN Sound Recording Tapes is DUROL Base. A specially prepared form of cellulose triacetate—smooth, tough, durable, highly flexible—provides high strength with low elongation. When equipment accidents happen, it breaks clean. Splices are made easily, quickly—with minimum program loss.

Another important feature: "Lifetime Coding," your assurance of highest quality. Printed on the back of all EASTMAN Sound Recording Tapes is a continuously repeated, permanent legend. This identifies Eastman Kodak Company as the manufacturer and provides a convenient means of indexing these tapes.

New "R-type" binder. This gives a smoother, tougher surface, thereby reducing tape noise and distortion. In addition, it provides extreme abrasion resistance, preventing oxide build-up at the head. Even more important, however, are the amazing magnetic properties of coatings of "R-type" binder which make possible two superlative tapes—both available now.



At leading electronic supply houses: Ask for Type A303 for all general recording work. It has vastly superior low-print through characteristics. Need a special purpose high-output tape with remarkably low noise performance? Try Type A304!

For information, see your electronic supplier or write

Magnetic Products Sales

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
Rochester 4, N.Y.

©Eastman Kodak Company, MCMLXI

Unique ultra-handy Thread-Easy Reel with indexing scale and built-in splicing jig.

Tanner's Travelling Tote Board

Continued from page 26

information for a demographic breakdown.

The mobile rating machine has upstaged a number of other notable exhibits at the convention among them the four new items which CBS Laboratories is reentering the equipment business, those being technical innovations it has developed itself. They include Volumax, an automatic peak controller described as a successor to the old-fashioned limiter, a single unit digital display kit originally designed for CBS News' reporting of election returns; a solid state signal generator for testing and adjusting video equipment and components; and a line of solid state video amplifiers for color or black-and-white.

Miniature and highly portable tape recorders and television cameras, capable of being used in news coverage, interviews and on-the-scene commercials, are other revelations of this year's electronic wonderland. The Sylvania 800m, 16-pound camera with a built-in monitor, one of the smallest tv cameras yet developed, is being shown. For newereel work it's intended to be used with one of the pint-sized tape recorders, such as the 78-pound Machtronics ($15,750) or the 96-pound Ampex VR660 ($14,500), or the two-piece and considerably heavier Sony ($13,900) the latter two using two-inch tape. All are capable of working out of the trunk of a car.

Sylvania also has a miniature package for remotes, a miniature camera that comes with a 2,000 megacycle studio link transmitter for sound and picture which the operator straps onto his back. ABC-TV has ordered a dozen of these for its coverage of the political conventions at $16,500 each.

Y&R TV Publicity Hit By Bristol-Myers' Exit

Young & Rubicam's tv publicity department, which has been drastically trimmed in the years in which shows have been sliced up among several sponsors, received another setback this year as Bristol-Myers withdrew its $50,000 underwriting of publicity for CBS-TV's "Candid Camera."

Now manned by a mere two men, the Y&R video drums will still beat for such as the Gulf sponsorship of the coming elections and Goodyear's gold series.

Radio Web for Schools Launched With $66,000 Grant From U.S. Agency

Washington, April 7.

Plans to link the nation's schools in a live non-commercial radio network were underway last week, with a kickoff meeting in Washington.

One necessary ingredient—money—was added with the announcement that the U.S. Office of Education issued a $65,895 grant to the National Assn. of Educational Broadcasters for the plan.

NAEB will handle the coin during a nine-month study of the needs and possibilities inherent in the edcational communications hookup.

Meeting here, a national advisory committee of university broadcasters and professors which will oversee the project, announced broadcast exec Jerrold Sandler will be the staff topper of the program. Sandler, who is now on leave from the Univ. of Michigan, will be backed by Theodore Conant, presently a consultant with the National Film Board of Canada. The staff will have offices here and in Gotham.

Initially the project will center in the east and midwest with hookups in Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago as well as in Washington and New York.

MESSER'S 30TH ANNI IN CANADA B'CASTING

Ottawa, April 7.

When the Queen—then Princess Elizabeth—danced to "Messer's Breakdown" in this capital in '51, Don Messer's network radio show zoomed in popularity. In '56 "Don Messer's Jubilee" began weekly on CBC-TV's web and soon topped "Ed Sullivan Show" as Canada's most popular (except when up against national-league hockey).

Monday (13) Messer, who studied violin and folk music in Boston, marks his 30th year in network broadcasting with a tversion of one of his earliest radio shows. Besides regular singers Marg Osburne and Charlie Chamberlain, he'll have originals Duke Neilsen, Ned Landry and George Cromwell. Chamberlain was also an original.

Storer's Swap

Milwaukee, April 7.

Two of the Storer stations, WITI-TV, Milwaukee, and WJBK-TV, Detroit, have swapped program toppers. Dean McCarthy, who had been operations and program manager of the Milwaukee station, was switched to the Detroit anchor as program director.

He's succeeded in his previous post by Bob Oliver, who had been asst. program director of WJBK-TV.

'Saigon Soundie' As Hal Kanter's Vietnam Contrib

Hollywood, April 7.

As the USO cannot send performers to entertain the 16,000 U. S. servicemen in South Vietnam, Hollywood showfolk are doing it by proxy—via what probably will be one of the most star-studded and talent-enriched radio shows ever taped.

Hal Kanter has been mustered as producer and now in turn is enlisting top pix, tv and music names. He also will tap top scripters and get it all down on tape for airing by Armed Forces Radio out of Saigon April 26.

Certainly not since height of World War II has there been such an undertaking—and probably not even that conflict saw so vast a show planned, i.e., so much top talent on one program.

Unique aspect of South Vietnam is that American troops have no area—either along fringes of fluid hit-and-run war in the field where they serve as advisers, or in Saigon itself where rear echelons are based—at which large groups can be concentrated to watch a USO show or any other type entertainment involving concentration of onlookers.

Viet Cong red infiltrators twice have bombed film theatres in Saigon attended by American servicemen. No attempt ever has been made to put on a live show for them in the boondocks; they would be sitting ducks.

Consequently Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. Ambasador to South Vietnam, and Gen. Paul D. Harkins, who commands U.S. troops in that combat theatre, asked Edwin Bond, exec director of USO, to help in situation.

Bond appealed to William Morris agency prez Abe Lastfogel, who was wartime head of USO Camp Shows. The giant radio program project thereupon was born.

It will be recalled that last Christmas Bob Hope planned entertaining in South Vietnam, but was detoured to Turkey at insistence of Gen. Harkins. When and if situation permits, USO will send small units to area.

NBC Racks Up SRO For 'World Series of Golf'

Chicago, April 7.

The 1964 edition of "World Series of Golf," two-day tv tournament to be carried on NBC-TV Sept. 12-13, has wrapped up its sponsors with Zenith Radio Corp. going for 50% of the coverage and United Air Lines and Kaiser taking a quarter each. Zenith has been an underwriter of the event since it was started two years ago.

"Series" offers pro-golf's top prize, $50,000 for the winner, and annually involves the winners of the Masters, PGA, US and British Opens. Television coverage is of the final six holes in each round, or 90 minutes worth on each the Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

CKXL 400G Sale

Calgary, Alta., April 7.

Sale of radio station CKXL, Calgary, to James and Donna Pryor of Winnipeg has been recommended by the Board of Broadcast Governors in Ottawa.

The Pryors will acquire the assets of CKXL from Tel-Ray Ltd., which is moving into new, unspecified fields of endeavor. Sale price is $400,000.

Transfer will be completed on or about April 30.

WHEN IT COMES TO WOMEN...we've got all the good numbers

In the booming 5th market, WJBK-TV covers the biggest spenders like an umbrella! Who are the biggest spenders? The 18-to-39-year old queens of the pocketbook who shower us with affection. We've been going steady with them for a long, long time because we've got what it takes to keep them happy . . . intriguing programming, featuring great movies and variety shows, the best of CBS, a full hour of dinnertime news. Call your STS man. He'll introduce you to our charmers.

WJBK-TV
DETROIT 2

MILWAUKEE WITI-TV	CLEVELAND WJW-TV	ATLANTA WAGA-TV	DETROIT WJBK-TV	TOLEDO WSPD-TV	NEW YORK WHN	IMPORTANT STATIONS IN IMPORTANT MARKETS
MIAMI WGBS	CLEVELAND WJW	LOS ANGELES KGBS	DETROIT WJBK	TOLEDO WSPD	PHILADELPHIA WIBG	STORER BROADCASTING COMPANY

STORER TELEVISION SALES, INC. Representatives for all Storer television stations.

Mgt.: William Morris Agency

The face is familiar

Television, in its better moments, shows people faces from all over the world. People want to be entertained informatively, and television is capable of drawing from everywhere to provide entertainment and information.

TV Guide magazine is a commentary on everything people see on television and want to know more about. Our viewpoint is a magazine viewpoint. Not a fan magazine. Not a house organ. We are a cocked eyebrow to television and the television industry.

We have nearly 20 million primary readers every week. More young married adults than Look, Life or Post. Active people. Today's big buyers. They're ahead of the readers of Look, Life and Post in purchases of houses, appliances, insurance and food.

In TV Guide magazine, your national advertising will be seen and read. Starch proves our readers read from cover to cover.

We've gathered possibly the finest mass magazine audience there is. You can reach it for half the cost per thousand of Look, Life or Post.

Why don't you?

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES ABOUT OUR MAGAZINE: TV GUIDE magazine guarantees a circulation of 8½ million families; it currently delivers 9,300,000 weekly. TV GUIDE magazine reaches well over five million young married readers—more than any other magazine published. Compared with Look, Life and Post, TV GUIDE reaches more families with children, more families with automobiles, and more families who spend $200 or more on household furnishings per year. The median income of TV GUIDE households is $7503. TV GUIDE offers two to three times more primary readers per advertising dollar than any other mass weekly or biweekly.

Source: Starch Consumer Magazine Report, 1963

America's Biggest Selling Weekly Magazine

TV GUIDE

FM Group Sales Solve

Continued from page 34

AM stations are considered unless it can be proved to the buyers' satisfaction that a group of FM stations can deliver a larger audience (at a good CPM) than some of the AMs." This, he asserts, is the only way FM can offer a "mass" to mass advertisers at present. He adds that media departments frequently don't bother with FM in making mass buys because it involves too much work for the little money involved; whereas the single billing, single order and single CPM calculations for the group buy makes for the same ease and efficiency as a single AM station affords.

To date FMGS has secured more than $300,000 worth of group business from such sponsors as Allstate, DeCaf, Corn Products, Lorillard, Carleton cigs, American Express, Texaco, Phillip Morris and United, Pan-Am and National Airlines, many of which had never used FM before. The Chicago group is made up of five stations (WCLM, WDHF, WFMF, WFMQ and WKFM) and the Los Angeles of eight (KBIG, KBMS, KFMU, KGLA, KMLA, KNOB, KRHM and KUTE). The sales organization hopes initially to set up similar groups in the top 10 and eventually the top 25 markets.

'Bat Masterson' Sales

Eight new sales have been clicked off on "Bat Masterson," putting the Gene Barry starrer in 123 markets.

New deals tabulated by distributor United Artists Television include: WALB, Albany, Ga.; WJHG, Panama City, Fla.; WMAZ-TV, Macon, Ga.; WFTV, Orlando, Fla.; WRCB, Chattanooga, Tenn.; WKOW, Madison, Wis.; XETV, San Diego, Calif.; and WNOK, Columbia, S.C.

ABC-TV Daytime Biz

Arnav Shoe Corp. inked for a regional buy of minutes throughout ABC-TV's daytime sked starting in August to bow its A-OK Children's Shoes, new line of plastic bootery for youngsters. Leber, Katz & Paccione is the agency. The campaign is for the northern states.

The network also renewed daytime blue-chippers Bristol-Myers, Whitehall, General Foods, General Mills and Lever for the second and third quarters.

Wm. Morris Taps Kolmer For Brillstein's Spot

Lloyd Kolmer has been named head of the William Morris Agency sports dept. Chore will be assumed along with his current assignment which is in the commercials field and the servicing of various shows.

Kolmer succeeds Bernie Brillstein who resigned to go with the Martin Kummer-Agency. Arnold Sank and Bert Kammerman have Brillstein's other duties split between them.

FM Pushers Vaulting Gap

Continued from page 34

is contracted by TWA through 1964. LaBrie has some other ideas cooking, and assertedly other sponsors awaiting.

Apparently the medium's only other packaging practitioner at the moment is Roger Colman, who doubles as an FM rep (28 stations), and who hatched the pending "Paris This Week" half-hour format for a potential Air France ride.

In LaBrie's truism, "If you want to buy time you don't need me." This is by way of accenting his function as factotum, a role that includes a followup assist on merchandising the show. Virtually all that remains for Foote, Cone & Belding, the airline's agency, is to supply the hour's two low-key commercials plus the open-and-close billboards. The show has mid-evening bookings on two stations (for alternating nights) in New York, San Francisco, Boston and Los Angeles. In Chicago it's a one station carry.

As a series, the LaBrie package is not "just music," but an exploration of the realm, from "The Children (disciples) of Bach" to "England's Golden Age: from Elizabethan to Elgar."

As an apostle should, LaBrie speaks of FM as "the last source at an inexpensive price for large advertisers to build image," but admonishes the contemplative advertiser to regard the medium "as a 52-week buy"—and, of course, to think of it in terms of concept.

Multi-market amortization of said concept is, of course, implicit for a national advertiser given the cost-per economics of FM, and certainly where a programming middleman is involved.

Meanwhile, as between Colman and LaBrie, there is a cheerfulness of outlook for the medium. Colman, without clarifying his optimism, declares that timebuyer fidelity to numbers is "cooling," to the advantage of FM. He also remarks that agency folk are nowadays more "anxious to learn" about the medium, while LaBrie independently suggests the same by asserting FM's figures "are finally starting to make sense to people."

Such comment adverts to (a) the mounting FM set sales—from 1,500,000 in 1959 to 5,100,000 last year and a projected 6,400,000 for this, and (b) the mounting tunein as a corollary. This last is not uniform on the FM band, but certainly has been invigorating the class clientele stations. Chicago's WFMT, for instance, is consistently outpointing some of its AM rivals (and getting richer in the process); and there's also the "Philadelphia Story"—the January-March Hoopers that vaulted no less than three FMers (WPBF, WPEN and WDVR) past the NBC o&o, WRCV (AM, that is).

British Sizzle

Continued from page 31

tion—which has been developed since Sir Hugh Greene took office as director-general and since Stuart Hood moved in as program controller—was one of the contributory factors in the birth of the recent clamor for a "strong" BBC chairman who could "curb" Sir Hugh's influence.

But probably the major factor in this particular squall, which localized itself over Parliament, was certain aspects of BBC-TV political video coverage, principally the exposure of politicians to severe and searching on-screen scrutinies deemed unfair in some high circles.

Appointment of Lord Normanbrook as Corporation chairman gives little clue as to any change in BBC-TV policy for he is an admitted fan of both "Z Cars" and "TW3", two shows which have on occasion been deeply involved in should-it-be-screened? controversy. His reservations on BBC programming are not yet known, however.

In his role as "buffer" between BBC and the Government, which has sometimes been sorely pricked by the web, it could be that he has plenty.

Denver—Frank E. Roberts, former Portland, Ore., radio newsman, has joined KBTR here as news director and head of program operations.

Roberts will direct both news and other program activity at the station, which schedules six hours of news a day.

She brews a great pot of coffee and swings a mean typewriter. But don't ask her what a roll-top is. She'll tell you it's a new kind of hair-do. For she lives in one world—today's world. We at WABC know her world. So...

We give her news (every half hour). Allan Jefferys' reviews (all the latest Broadway shows). And the music modern America digs. Herb Oscar Anderson gets her day off to a bright start...tells her how to dress for the weather, how late her train will be. When she's home for an evening, Scott Muni keeps her purring with music and masculine charm. The Bruce Morrow Show tucks her in at night. But if she doesn't feel like sleeping, there's always Bob Lewis' All Night Satellite. WABC stays with our gal...and she stays with WABC.

One more thing about this girl wonder: she shops on her lunch hour till the cash registers ring till!

Got the picture? Give her the word on... WABC

AN ABC OWNED RADIO STATION

Represented by Blair Radio

BUDDY HACKETT

Mgt.: FRANK FASKE

450 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y.

EV 4-6000

In the UK it's now

On Monday, 6th April, we changed our working name to 'REDIFFUSION', which is easier to read and remember.

The company name remains the same–
Associated-Rediffusion Ltd.,
Television House,
Kingsway,
London, W.C.2.

Teenagers Learn ABC's of TV

South Bend Youths Produce Quiz Show For Notre Dame Station

By JESSE GROSS

South Bend, April 7.

The annual liquidation of WJA-TV, a teenage project here, has begun following completion Saturday (4) of its local tele quiz show, "Can You Name It?" WJA-TV, a Junior Achievement venture in South Bend, is the firm name for the corporation of high school youths responsible for the total production, selling and televising of "Name It" over WNDU-TV, the Notre Dame station affiliated with NBC here.

"Name It" was the third Junior Achievement project to be carried over WNDU, all running 13 weeks. During the 1962-63 session, the program was also a quizzer, "If I Could Trade Places," and in the '61-'62 semester the teenagers from the South Bend and neighboring Mishawaka area put together a variety show.

"Name It," which was telecast Saturday nights at 6 p.m., was a half-hour entry as were its predecessors. The show, sandwiched between network sports and news programs, was in competition with news on the other two tv stations here, WSBT-TV and WSJV-TV, affiliated with CBS and ABC, respectively.

The kids not only do virtually all of the production work on the shows with technical assistance from WNDU staffers, but they also solicit advertising and write most of the blurbs themselves. The 13-week stretch allows for 52 one-minute commercials and the youngsters have been scoring a complete sellout. Each minute went for $48, but if purchased on a 13-week basis the cost per minute was reduced to $45.

Annual capitalization of $300 for the teenage corporation is raised through the sale of stock at 50c a share with a limitation of five shares per person. Last season, a profit of 22c was paid for every 50c invested. Around $2,200 was grossed by the venture last season on which the net was around $1,700. This season's gross is expected to be the same with a higher net because of lower costs.

Liquidation of the video venture at the end of the 13-week cycle is required as all Junior Achievement companies throughout the country are established and dissolved during a period running from October through the end of April. Junior Achievement is an educational organization sponsored by local businessmen for the purpose of enabling teenagers to learn how business operates through the establishment of miniature corporations under the direction of a counseling body. In the case of WJV-TV, the counseling is undertaken by WNDU.

Counseling the students on the "Name It" venture were Dale Brown, a WNDU salesman; Bill Siminski, a producer with the station, and Mrs. Ann James, of the WNDU auditing department. The teenage executive producer of the quiz show was Gary Weinstein who also functioned in that capacity on last season's "Trade Places" program. Incidentally, all but two of the "Name It" shows were live as compared to only three live editions of "Places."

The teenage corporation pays the station $40 per week for rentals. Last season sets, flats, etc., built by the school kids, cost $63 and at the end of the semester were sold to the station. These were rented this season for "Name It" at a minimal fee. On "Places" $160 in prize money was handed out over the 16 weeks ($5 per prize), but for "Name It" gift certificates provided by local businessmen in exchange for free plugs were given away. On March 28, "Name It" guests were Lloyd Allen, mayor of South Bend, and Mrs. Margaret Prickett, mayor of Mishawaka.

Weinstein, incidentally, is also associated with WNDU as a regular parttime employee. He's the only highschool student employed by the station which does use Notre Dame students. He began working at the station last summer on the production staff, mainly as a cameraman and averaged about 35 hours work weekly. Since the start of school last September, Weinstein has been working at the station from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, prior to the start of classes.

Betty Furness Blasts TV's Distaff Cliches

Columbus, O., April 7.

"More realistic" portrayal of women on tv was called for by Betty Furness, radio and tv personality, in an address before members of the Columbus Chapter of the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences here.

Miss Furness made the point that there are no normal-type gals shown on the typical tv show. "They are either scheming to outsmart their husbands or they are completely scatter-brained types," she said. Miss Furness pointed out that even some programs with families don't have mothers, citing "My Three Sons" and "Bachelor Father" as examples.

The tv-highlighted inadequacy of women has even reached commercials, she said. "Appliance repair men, grocery clerks and now an in-the-flesh Mr. Clean are telling women how to keep their homes clean and in repair.'

Miss Furness stated that she felt there is a definite need for a good afternoon women's interest program on the nets. "Not just a cooking and sewing show, but one along the lines of the old 'Home' shows." It need not be elaborate but it should give women credit for some intelligence and their important contribution to all areas of modern life."

From Hope To Goodson-Todman

Continued from page 30

Robert DeCoy and California assemblyman Mervyn Dynally were listed among the 30 shareholders.

BMI boss Carl Haverlin was among 52 stockholders of the Voice of Pasadena Inc., a group of advertising and broadcasters in the running for the spot.

Promising to donate all of its interim profits and 10% of coin for five years thereafter to the etv station was Crown City Broadcasting Co. It predicted a first year profit of $429,473. Among its 12 partners is Robert Valliencour, a director of WAII-TV, Atlanta and WIBC-AM-FM, Indianapolis.

Averring it could pull a $420,000 profit was KFOX Inc. which wants to move its station in Long Beach to Pasadena. Company predicted $840,000 revenue and $420,000 costs.

Standard Broadcast Co., a Storer Broadcasting subsid and licensee of limited timer KGBS in LA, also pumped for KRLA's frequency. Standard figured it could clear a $200,000 profit from $1,500,000 revenue coin. It listed last year's profit at $16,472 a drop from the $59,054 tallied in 1962.

Parent company Storer also reported a profit decline from $6,264,641 in 1962 to $5,223,780 last year.

Several other neighbors also tried to get in on the Pasadena Act.

Among them were Broadcasters of Burbank which holds 20% of KBLA, Burbank and Hi-Desert Broadcasting Corp. which operates daytimer KDHI in Twenty-nine Palms. Hi-Desert requested KRLA's frequency and some of its power for its operation.

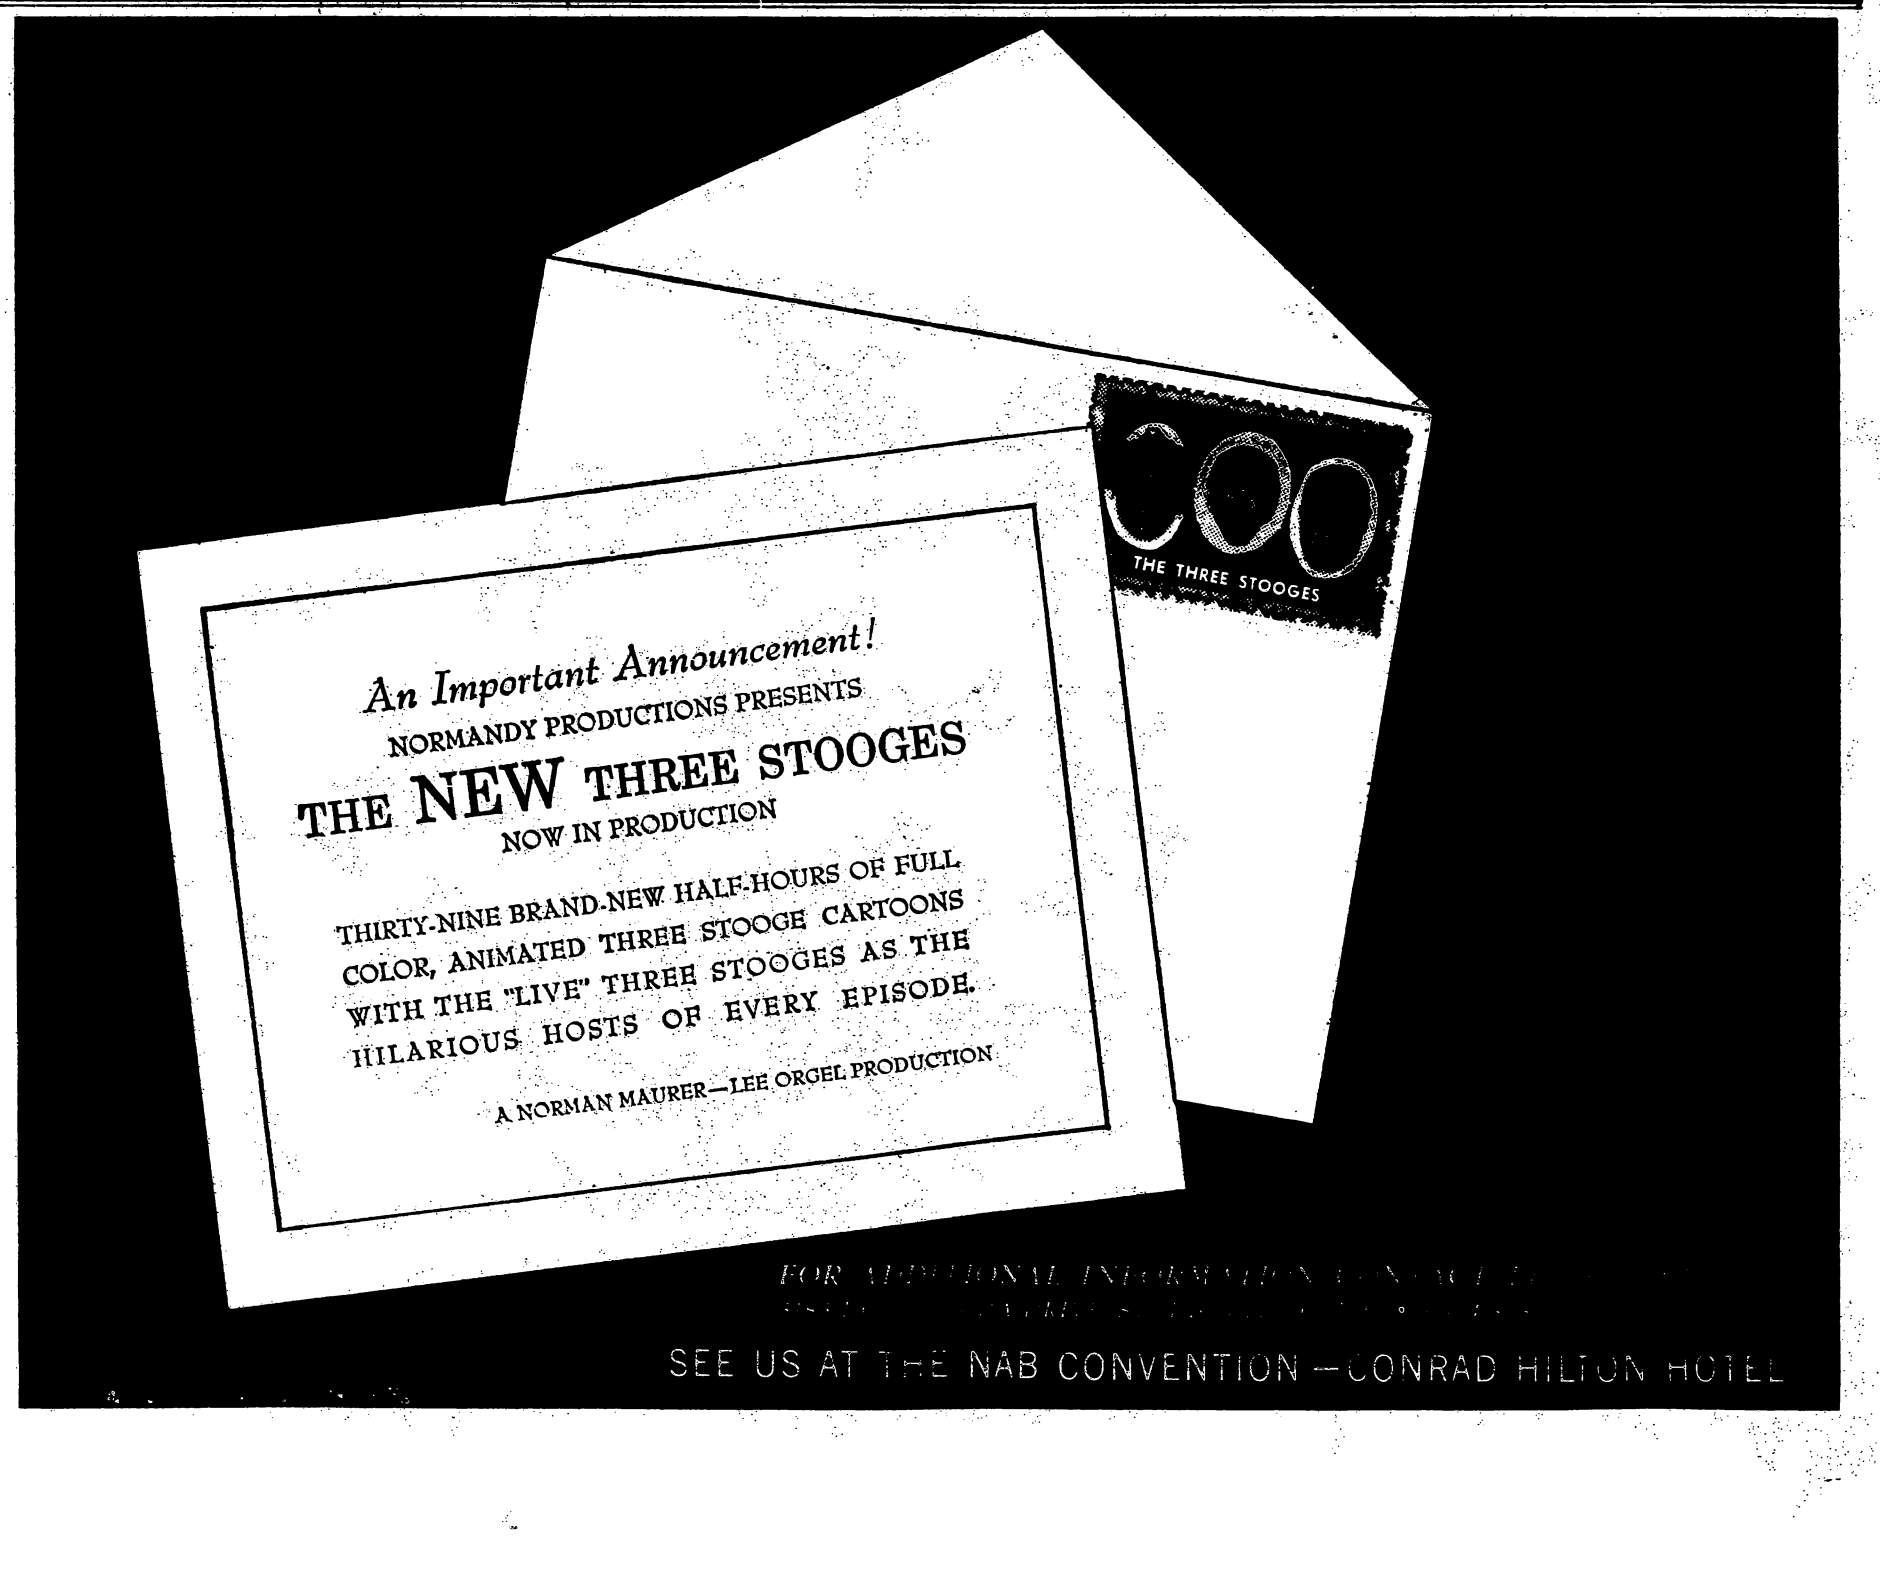
Trying to manuever the allocation to Topanga was the Topanga Malibu Broadcasting Co. Trying to wiggle the frequency to Arroyo Grande was KCBH which operates there. Arthur Crawford, owner of KCBH-FM, Los Angeles applied to move the frequency to Whittier.

The Tacoma (Wash.) Tribune Publishing Co., licensee of KTNT-AM-FM-TV there holds minority interest in a company which applied to continue KRLA's operations in Pasadena. Heading the Pasadena Broadcasting Co. is Los Angeles pubrelations man Edward J. Flynn.

Trying to move the allocation to Costa Mesa—Newport Beach was Charles Jobbins. He submitted the lowest construction cost estimate —$22,067.

The business-civic group Broadcast Foundation which tried to save KRLA from the revocation axe by operating it with profits going to the Los Angeles educational tv station re-applied as the Oak Knoll Broadcasting Corp. It requested an interim grant for the outlet.

Also filing to keep the present operation going were Pasadena Civic Broadcasting, California Regional Broadcasting Corp. which promised locally oriented cultural programming and the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, licensee of KBBI-FM, Los Angeles and KBBW, San Diego.



Jerry Levin

Continued from page 34

"have a pervasive concern." Often, therefore, "a story may be representation of the broader problem besetting a whole area or state." Choice examples would be the stanzas on lowering the voting age, and on medical care for the indigent in New Jersey's Middlesex County.

Not at the outset (nearly a year ago), but soon after, "Community Dialogue" began hitting the Monday news pages in New York. This now occurs with virtual clockwork, as with also most other Sabbath newsmaker shows via Gotham radio and tv.

"Dialogue" does a channel 5 repeat each following Saturday ayem.

LET'S TALK MOVIES!

LAST YEAR WTIC-TV TELECAST

- 180 FEATURE FILMS NEVER BEFORE SHOWN BY A CONNECTICUT TELEVISION STATION.
- 157 FEATURE FILMS NEVER BEFORE SHOWN BY A CONNECTICUT OR A WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS TELEVISION STATION.

NOT ONLY NEW, BUT FINE MOVIES, SUCH AS —

On The Waterfront . . . Sayonara . . . Man in the Gray Flannel Suit . . . Ruby Gentry . . . The Old Man and the Sea . . . The Bad Seed . . . Duel in the Sun . . . Battle Cry . . . The Spirit of St. Louis . . . No Time for Sergeants . . . Hercules . . . Atilla the Hun . . . The Pajama Game . . . A Face in the Crowd . . . Kiss Them for Me . . . Indiscreet . . . The Gift of Love . . . Man in a Cocked Hat . . . Home Before Dark . . . Top Secret Affair . . . Too Much, Too Soon . . . The Lady Killers . . . and more.

THIS YEAR, WTIC-TV HAS CONTINUED TO ENCHANT ITS AUDIENCE WITH —

Auntie Mame . . . The Dark at the Top of the Stairs . . . The Nun's Story . . . Bachelor Party . . . Cash McCall . . . Ice Palace . . . Marjorie Morningstar . . . Tall Story . . . The Fugitive Kind . . . The Hanging Tree . . . Happy Anniversary . . . The Miracle . . . Hercules Unchained . . . The Night Holds Terror . . . Thief of Bagdad . . . Walk Into Hell . . . Wonders of Aladdin . . . Aphrodite with many, many more to come!

For television leadership in movies, look to

WTIC-TV3

HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

REPRESENTED BY HARRINGTON, RIGHTER & PARSONS, INC.

Harris On Public Affairs

Continued from page 27

be advertised on the air, and he assessed this opposition as "very real and very, very dangerous."

"If broadcasting is to survive as a free medium it must become more professional and less commercial minded. Broadcasting is too important to be left exclusively to the mores of the market place."

The Congressman's address to NAB membership served as a preface to two papers and a panel discussion on the subject of "freedom and fairness—the right to know," which was flawed as a convention feature by the lack of a devil's advocate. It apparently had been expected that J. R. Wiggins, editor and exec viceprez of the Washington Post (D.C.), would play the articulate heavy but instead crossed them and started an argument, better than any of the broadcasters on the panel, as to why tv and radio deserve total freedom of expression.

He noted that if the consequences of free expression in the electronic media might involve the loss of license, broadcasters were understandably going to be very timid and careful about what they say. Told that the press was envied for the immunity it had from government restriction he said, "If the broadcast airwaves are a national resource, so are trees—and a diminishing one at that. Remind the government that wood pulp is made from trees, and that's what we publish our papers on."

The two papers, that of Wiggins and the other of Rex Howell, prexy of Krex-AM-FM-TV, Grand Junction, Colorado, both stressed the point that both electronic and pencil reporters would have to "improve their image" or show better and less obtrusive conduct in the courts if the news media are to win the fight for access to court rooms and other hearing rooms from which they are now barred.

For the rest of it, the panel pretty much belabored the obvious.

ABC Film's Brazil Deals

ABC Films within the past three weeks has racked up 48 sales to stations in Brazil, according to global sales topper Harold Klein.

Deals involve seven properties, including "The Fugitive," "Breaking Point," "The New Breed," "Combat" "The Rebel," "Casper, the Friendly Ghost and Company," and "Ben Casey."

The Portuguese-dubbed shows will air in 15 Brazilian markets, including Rio and Sao Paulo.

A WORD FROM WGAN RADIO-TV, PORTLAND, MAINE

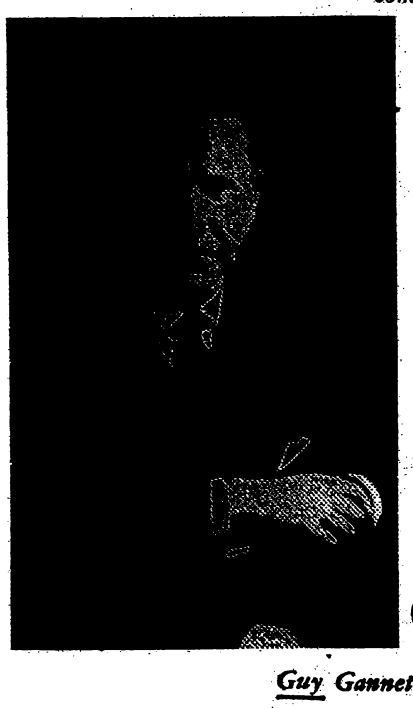
"BY WHOSE MEASURE..."

By whose measure is the Broadcaster's neck to be stretched and cut to fit the "regulated" cloth?

Should the Federal Communications Commissions set the pattern through interpretation of the law, based on what the Chairman feels is the public's interest?

Should the members of Congress make specific the intent and integrity of that body by setting forth a new Communications Act?

Should the National Association of Broadcasters adopt the role of watchdog and policeman as a sort of friendly sovereign?



Or should the individual broadcaster, who is older in time, talent and understanding of the business set the pace of programming... carry the torch of viewer and listener rapport... lead the way in divining the needs and wants of an audience... and, in sum, make the daily decisions that auger for the continued growth of the art of broadcasting.

To put the word "Broadcasting" in the words of Robert Louis Stevenson, "Nor will the practice of Broadcasting afford you pleasure only; it affords an admirable training. For the Broadcaster works entirely upon honor."

The public is quick to pounce on the rats in every enterprise. Though broadcasting is not fully free of problems it does operate somewhere between Ivory Soap and Sir Galahad, as anyone who has ever met and talked with broadcasters quickly learns.

By whose measure is the Broadcaster's neck to be stretched and cut?

There are many who brandish competitive tongues and swords but the militant broadcaster does not fear the truth. He will gladly wear the measure of cloth put together by the millions of American viewers and listeners.

Gene Wilkin
Vice President

Guy Gannett Broadcasting Services

John Blair Companies ◉ CBS Television
NAB • TIO • Mort Bassett Co. • TAC • BPA

VARIETY ARB FEATURE FILM CHART

VARIETY-ARB's weekly chart offers a day-by-day analysis of the top feature evening slots in a particular market. On Saturdays and Sundays, daytime feature slots complete with nighttime pix periods for designation as the top feature slot of the day. The analysis is confined to the top rated feature slots in the ARB measured period, broken down by days in the week. The ARB measured period usually covers three or four weeks. Other data such as the time slot and average share of audience is furnished. Top competition and competitive ratings also are highlighted.

(Continued from page 48)

WEWS — Total Area Homes: 274,600 — Metro Rating: 29 — Share of Adience: 54

SUNDAYS 10:00-12:00
Program: SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIE

Jan. 5 "MOON FLEET"
Stewart Granger, George Sanders
1955, MGM, MGM

Jan. 12 "CONSPIRATOR"
Robert Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor
1950, MGM, MGM

Jan. 19 "THE GIRL IN WHITE"
June Allyson, Gary Merrill
1952, MGM, MGM

Jan. 26 "CAUSE FOR ALARM"
Loretta Young, Barry Sullivan
1951, MGM, MGM

TOP COMPETITION

PROGRAM	STATION & TOTAL HOMES
Candid Camera 10:00-10:30	WJW 311,900
What's My Line? 10:30-11:00	WJW 264,000
Sports; Late Show 11:15-12:00	KYW 64,100

NBC's Old Coast Studios, A 26-Year Old Landmark, Making Way For Bank

Hollywood, April 7.

The big steel ball will start swinging next week to demolish a landmark that stood its corner at Sunset & Vine for the past 26 years. Last rites were said over the NBC studio last week at a ceremonial driven to cover by unseasonable rain. On the site will rise a complex of steel and concrete—a high rise office building, hotel and an edifice to house Home Savings & Loan, owners of the square block, which was bought by NBC in 1938 for $250,000 and sold for $3,500,000.

NBC radio and tv is now concentrated in Burbank. The mid-Hollywood site was in its second life as a landmark for millions of visitors. Previously it had been the studio of Famous Players-Lasky, forerunner of Paramount Pictures. RCA moved into its own building a block away.

Raising a capsule of memorabilia from the well in the foundation for further repose in the Hollywood museum set up a stubborn resistance. Jacked to the top it was found that the bottom had slipped its mooring so salvage operations were employed. It did serve, however, as enough of a ceremonial to mark the passing of a broadcast studio through which passed a few million visiting tourists. Once restored to its original form, Anne Baxter posed for the photogs while Sol Lesser, prexy of the Museum, said a few appropriate words and John K. West, who commanded the electronic citadel for a dozen years, was calmly nostalgic.

When NBC moved from the back lot of RKO in Hollywood to its palatial new edifice, big time radio was just coming into its own. Among the shows that took the Hollywood signoff on the network to christen the "last word" in radio facilities were Chase & Sanborn, Jack Benny, "One Man's Family," Amos 'n' Andy, Lum 'n' Abner, Marion Talley, Rudy Vallee, Bing Crosby, Maxwell House, Hollywood Mardi Gras, Burns and Allen, Frank Morgan, Fanny Brice, Robert Taylor, Tyrone Power, Jimmie Fidler and Elza Schallert. To give the studio a stature comparable to N.Y., it was called Radio City—without West added as later became customery.

NBC publicity at the time proclaimed that "the studio faces west in the direction of Beverly Hills and Santa Monica" and "the new plant was opened without klieg lights or parade of celebrities which characterize all Hollywood premieres." NBC "Carnival" was accorded the honor of being the first show to come out of the new studio.

Columbus, O.—Paul E. (Snook) Neal has been appointed program director of WBNS radio, Columbus, succeeding Parke Blanton, who resigned to take a position with WTOP-TV in Washington, D. C.

Neal joined WBNS in 1934 as a musician. During the 30 years of association with the station he has served as musical director and traffic manager.

PAULEY TO ADDRESS NEW MEXICO B'CASTERS

Albuquerque, April 7.

Robert R. Pauley, prez of ABC radio network, is skedded to be top guest speaker at the 13th annual New Mexico Broadcasters Assn. convention in Albuquerque April 17-18.

Pauley will be featured speaker at the convention's opening night banquet on April 17 at the Western Skies Hotel here.

Other speakers booked include Stephen Labunski, general manager of WMCA in New York, Alvin M. King of NAB and state's governor, Jack Campbell.

Bob Williams of Farmington station KENN is association prexy.

Evelyn Lawson's TVer With Cape Cod Players

New Bedford, Mass., April 7.

Star Nite, a new half-hour variety show, produced by Evelyn Lawson, featuring performers appearing in Cape Cod strawhats and niteries during the summer season, will preem June 23 over WTEV, Vance Echersley, general manager, announced. It will run for 13 consecutive weeks.

Because of its three major summer theatres, niteries and other summer stock companies, Cape Cod plays host to more show business celebs than any other area of it size in the country. In addition to the visiting stars, many names in the lively arts are permanent or summer residents of the Cape.

"Star Nite will not be just an interview program," Miss Lawson, who is a newspaper correspondent, stated. Each segment will have a definite format designed to form a framework that will enhance the star's personality and arouse public interest in vehicles currently playing on the Cape.

Cary to Desilu Int'l

Hollywood, April 7.

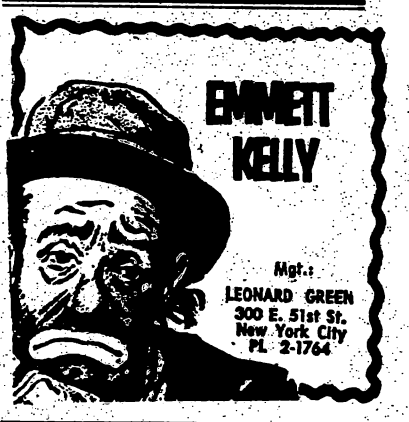
Peter Cary is being transferred to Desilu Sales International division, after having been western and southwestern sales manager for the syndication company. He begins a tour of Desilu's foreign offfices April 18, when he and DS veepee-general manager Richard Dinsmore leave for company's London offices.

Jerry Lee, previously with MCA-TV and Official Films, has been named western sales manager and Hurley Graffius, who has been director of biz affairs, has been named southwestern sales manager.

Publicist Art Franklin Sues Barry & Enright For $125,000 Damages

Art Franklin, Manhattan publicist, is asking $125,000 in damages in a breach of contract action against Barry & Enright Productions filed last week in N. Y. Supreme Court. The suit originally named NBC as well, but web was dropped as a codefendant when it was learned the statute of limitations was operative.

The suit claims that in a 1958 agreement with B&E, Franklin was to serve as p.r. counsel and "advisor" for all B&E shows aired by NBC. Plaintiff says the contract was breached Jan. 23, 1959, and alleges that the network "maliciously" induced the break.



Franklin says his pact with B&E called for a $450 weekly fee, plus expenses.

Automation Marches On

Honolulu, April 7.

KGMB is the fourth of Oahu island's 16 standard-band stations to switch to automation, with about 80% of its air time being fed via its new equipment.

Exerything's automated except for news, special events and an across-the-board afternoon disk jockey show. On Saturdays and Sundays, it's operated entirely by automation.

Top television station in major midwest market
SEEKS
a first-rate writer-producer for its documentary unit. Must have strong working experience in all aspects of the field. If you're the top man in your market and ready to move up, we'd like to hear from you. Please send full details of broadcast experience and productions to.
VARIETY, Box V-3588,
400 North Michigan Ave.,
Chicago 11, Illinois

"Wacky hilarious journeys on board the fictional s.s. Flying Wind..."*
There You Are, But Where Are You?
"MIRVISH IS WONDERFUL!"
A Novel by ROBERT F. MIRVISH
at concocting funny episodes that get even funnier as they develop. He is a master of the running gag. Very entertaining.
*Publishers' Weekly
"...Down to Earth Pleasure!"
—Bert Lahr
Star of "Foxy"
DUTTON $3.95

Everyone is Playing Robin Hood

Every day in the week—

and here's what happens!

BRISTOL-JOHNSON CITY, M.F. 5:00 PM—61% SHARE
PITTSBURGH, M.F. 8:00 AM—38% SHARE
SYRACUSE, N.Y. FRI. 7:00 PM—34.5% SHARE

Four years of peak network success... universal parental acclaim...unmatched response for sponsor promotions...these are just a few of the reasons why Robin Hood offers unsurpassed strip programming. Add to these proven assets an enthusiastic audience that not only watches the program loyally but makes it a part of its playtime...an audience that draws additional recruits each year as a new generation discovers television-you can see why Robin Hood is unrivalled for station and sponsor.

Produced by Sapphire Films, Ltd.

Watch for our new series on man's invincible will to survive—SURVIVAL! with James Whitmore

Official Films 724 5th Ave., N.Y.19, N.Y. PL 7-0100

OF

From The Production Centres

Continued from page 39

aired April 21, the eve of the school board meeting . . . John Callaway moderating a new WBBM Radio pubaffairs opus, "Opinion Unlimited" . . . WGN's Ward Quaal, agency topper Fairfax Cone and director of NAB's Code Authority Howard H. Bell cut a "Your Right To Say It" program this week on the broadcasting challenge to correct program and commercial abuses . . . Norman Ross doing another medical special for WBKB April 19, this one with Dr. Erich Uhlman, "The Man Who Knows Cancer" . . . George Condon, whilom WBBM-TV press chief, is new p.r. manager for Alberto-Culver . . . WIND doing a two-part documentary on the X-15 rocket plane, with Jim Slade reporting on-the-scene . . . Announcer Carl Greyson becomes a 15-year man with WGN Inc. this month . . . Franklyn MacCormack's all-night stand for Meister Brau on WGN Radio clocked five years last week.

IN LONDON . . .

Post Office's February figures for the total tv licenses holders here amounted to 12,863,011 and sound radio license holders totalled 3,028,603 for the same month . . . Ulster-TV bringing in a new hour long family magazine program "Parade," coordinated by Mike Kent . . . Roy Orbison set for ABC-TV's April 18 edition of "Thank Your Lucky Stars" . . Granada-TV picked up and slotted the Robert Taylor show, "The Detectives," which goes out Tuesday 8 p.m. from April 12 . . . New fest of Christian songs due from ABC-TV next Sunday. Titled "Hallelujah" they feature Salvation Army Bands, guitar-playing priests and Christian folksingers . . . Same station to launch a new religioso documentary from April 12 . . . Peter Dimmock, BBC-TV's sports chieftain to quit his on-screen activities to concentrate on administration of his department . . . Rediffusion started a new series of "Gunsmoke" . . . Danny Kaye wings into London April 27 for opening night of his vidshow on BBC-2 . . . Associated Television signed Beverley Todd of the "No Strings" musical cast to a prime spot on the "London Palladium" bill . . . Ethel Merman recorded a 50-minute

IN WASHINGTON . . .

CBS correspondent George Herman feted at luncheon April 2 at chichi Georgetown City Tavern on his 20th anni with web. He received a set of pewter tankards from CBS News veep and general manager Blair Clark who came down from Gotham for the fest . . . Mac McGarry of WRC will emcee Wednesday (8) Cherry Blossom get-together of New York State Society here . . . WTOP-TV is breaking in live with reports from CBS correspondent Roger Mudd on civil rights filibuster in Senate . . . Educational outlet WETA-TV preemed four-program series "Religion and the Arts" Friday (3) D.C. chapter of Junior Chamber of Commerce polled local residents on political preferences with results broadcast on WTOP radio-tv . . . WRC-TV aired special Sunday (5) on Virginia income tax laws for residents in nearby northern Virginia suburbs

IN PHILADELPHIA . . .

Dr. George Gerbner, associate professor at the Institute of Communications Research of the University of Illinois, named dean of the Annenberg School of Communications of the University of Pennsylvania. He assumes post in summer (July 1) . . . ABC-TV news correspondent Lisa Howard to receive the 1964 Award for outstanding achievement in journalism and communications from Theta Sigma Pi, at the women's journalists' annual dinner at the Warwick (24) . . .

Edward Devenney, promotion director for WPBS (Evening Bulletin station), appointed to the new post of editorial director for WIBG . . . WCAU-TV's award-winning documentary "Conformity," selected for showing at the 1964 American Film Festival . . . Les Keiter, WFIL, WFIL-TV sports director, to follow each Phillies' telecast with his "Baseball Wrapup" . . . John O. Downey, CBS veepee and general manager of WCAU, to serve on CARE's public relations advisory committee . . . John A. Scheider, CBS v.p. and g.m. of WCAU-TV, appointed chairman of the advertising section of the Catholic Charities Appeal for the third consecutive year . . . Vincent D. Judd, formerly with Bendix Corp., appointed manager of the auto radio operation of Philco's Lansdale division. Firm has contract with Ford Motor Co., Philco's parent company, for the manufacture of a portion of its radio requirements for the 1965 Ford line

IN ST. LOUIS . . .

Grant Williams moderator for a new "At Your Service" feature on KMOX radio weekdays. The show tailors its topics (fashions, interior decorating, etc.) for housewives . . ."Food For Fun," a program produced by KMOX-TV featuring Globe-Democrat Food Editor Marian O'Brien, will be the station's offering in the annual public affairs series exchange between CBS o&o's . . . KPLR-TV will televise action from four NAB playoff games starting Saturday (11) . . . KSD-TV weathergirl Mary Frann named hostess for a new "Perspective" p.a. show designed for college and upper high school students . . . Clif St. James slotted a drawing contest for the kids on his "Corky the Clown" show and pulled a whopping 13,000 tallies . . Howard DeMere running a series of telephone interviews with prominent recording stars of the past on his "Metronome" series, a vintage music show on weeknight KSD radio.

IN SAN FRANCISCO . .

Frank G. King, KTVU vice-president, named general sales manager effective April 1 . . . KRON-TV looked into farm workers problem Sunday in its symposium, "After Braceros, What?" with three experts pontificating . . . Fred Van Amburg, night deejay, has switched to KFRC . . . Same station has appointed Carlton Cordell news director . . . Mel Torme slotted for the current week on Dick Stewart's KGO five-a-week morning bash . . . He'll be followed by Bill Cosby and then by Corbett Monica and Barbara McNair . . . Helen Bentley of KCBS served as commentator at fashion and art show for benefit of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur . . . Radio KSFO bought a 900-pound shorthorn steer from a youthful 4H breeder at a livestock expo and handed it over to St. Anthony's dining room, a local charity.

IN BOSTON . .

Tony LaCamera, tv editor, Boston Record American, and Tom Covey, veep Bresnick Agcy., did stint on WEEI's "Conversation Piece" with Paul Benzaquin Friday (3) discussing "radio tv ratings and audience preferences" . . . A new daughter, Johna Jo, arrived March 31 to family of WNAC-TV program director George W. Cyr WEEI currently running on the air contest in which it is offering pay listeners 1964 Federal Income Tax up to $250. So far station has received more than 5,000 entries . . . WBZ-TV p.r. chief Joe Ryan hosting press luncheon for Nancy Ames, NBC's "TW3" girl who came in Monday (13) to entertain at Boston Press Club's annual awards dinner . . . David Allan show on WNAC-TV hosts Mike Todd Jr., Monday (13) on his "America Be Seated" minstrel show, which plays the Wilbur Theatre here before its World's Fair run in New York . . . Lighting director Ferd Manning in Hub Monday (13) to conduct seminar in creative lighting techniques at WBZ-TV . . . WNAC radio continues with its yak yak programs across the board inspired by WNAC-TV prexy William McCormick . . . Paul Benzaquin featuring a "hot line" news commentary on his WEEI show.

IN MINNEAPOLIS . .

Perry Como's special to be televised from U. of Minnesota campus Thursday (9) will include comic Bob Newhart, pianist Peter Nero and thrush Keely Smith. University glee club will take part, too . . . Closed circuit tv of the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day race is slated for Minnesota State Fair Hippodrome in St. Paul. Arena which has capacity of 12,500 will be scaled from $2.50 to $5. Promoters had $2,500 in advance orders before mail order opened last week . . . KRSI AM and FM, ABC affiliates in Twin Cities, will broadcast from the Symphony Ball here April 25, feeding part of the coverage to the web. Show will feature Minnapolis Symphony Orchestra and Meyer Davis' band. KRSI has arranged to air the event in stereo through its AM and FM operations . . ."Open Mike," W

IN TORONTO . .

Four horse races will be carried live every day except Sunday on Hamilton's CHCH-TV beginning this week and until the end of the Canadian racing season Nov. 28. The Hamilton station tried race coverage as an experiment last summer and it was an instant hit. They are the first station in Canada to offer the races every day . . . A 12-week nature series, a new hour-long film drama series about present day life in an industrial community and a new children's series on space are highlights of this summer's CBC-TV season. The drama series—"The Plane Makers"—focuses on the Scott Furling Aircraft Co., and the stories deal with people who work there . . . "Dr. Finlay's Casebook," and hour long BBC film series that proved popular last summer, will be back again this year. "Singalong Jubilee", from Halifax, also will be back . . . A Wayne & Shuster special seen in Canada last May has been sold to Associated-Rediffusion Ltd. of England

TOM DUGGAN QUITS KTLA IN SILENT HUFF

Hollywood, April 7.

Tom Duggan, KTLA's controversial news commentator, has exited the channel for reasons known only to himself.

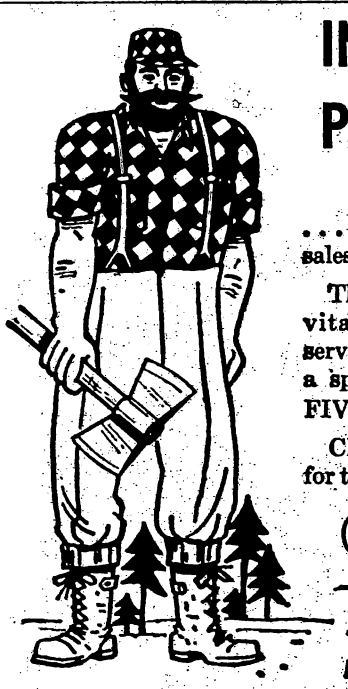
Duggan, with KTLA for the past five months, phoned station veepee-general manager Stretch Adler Friday (3) to tell him he was resigning, effective immediately. Adler, but told Duggan to put it in writing. Duggan then wired his official resignation, and did not appear on station Friday night (20) as scheduled.

Adler reported Duggan gave him no reason for his action. Duggan has been sharing a commentator-type program on KTLA with Bill Stout, on in the early evening and late at night. No replacement is planned.

FM Moves

Continued from page 27

seeking to sell their medium on an unduplicated audience basis.



Educational and income levels of FM homes were found to be greater than the norm for other broadcasting media.

Phillip W. Wenig, SRDS Data prexy, reported that his major findings were these, based on a top 34 market survey:

1. FM and AM were two separate mediums, reaching different people and different kinds of people.

2. In light of the better income and educational levels of FM homes, these homes were rich in the use of major appliances. In consumer products, FM homes held their own.

NAFMB prexy, in his report, forecast that in the fiscal year starting July '64, FM broadcasters will gross about $40,000,000. He predicted that the gross would climb to $100,000,000 the next fiscal year, on the basis of increased sale of FM sets, the sales ammunition being supplied by researchers, and the growing use of FM by advertisers.

IN THE LAND OF PAUL BUNYAN...

...mighty KSTP-TV packs a real sales wallop.

The first and biggest station in the vital Northwest area, KSTP-TV serves and sells 810,800 families with a spendable income of more than FIVE BILLION DOLLARS.

Check your nearest Petry office for the details.

KSTP television 5
100,000 WATTS • NBC
MINNEAPOLIS • ST. PAUL

JACKIE PRICE
Appearing on THE NURSES

Thursday, April 9th in
"THE LEOPARD KILLER"
10:00 P.M.—CBS-TV
Pers. Mgt.:
J. CAVALLARO
Pub. Rel.:
GURTMAN-VANDERVORT ASSOC.

PUBLISHING—BROADCASTING

MACFADDEN-BARTELL CORPORATION
205 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.
MACFADDEN-BARTELL WOMEN'S GROUP
MACFADDEN-BARTELL MEN'S GROUP
MACFADDEN-BARTELL PAPERBACK BOOKS
TELECURACAO • TELEARUBA

WADO NEW YORK
WOKY MILWAUKEE
KCBQ SAN DIEGO

Dear ED SULLIVAN—

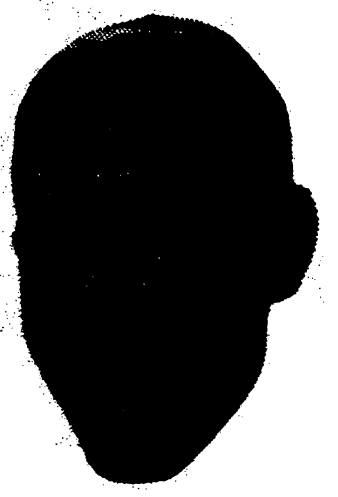
You had the phenomenal BEATLES from Liverpool, England—



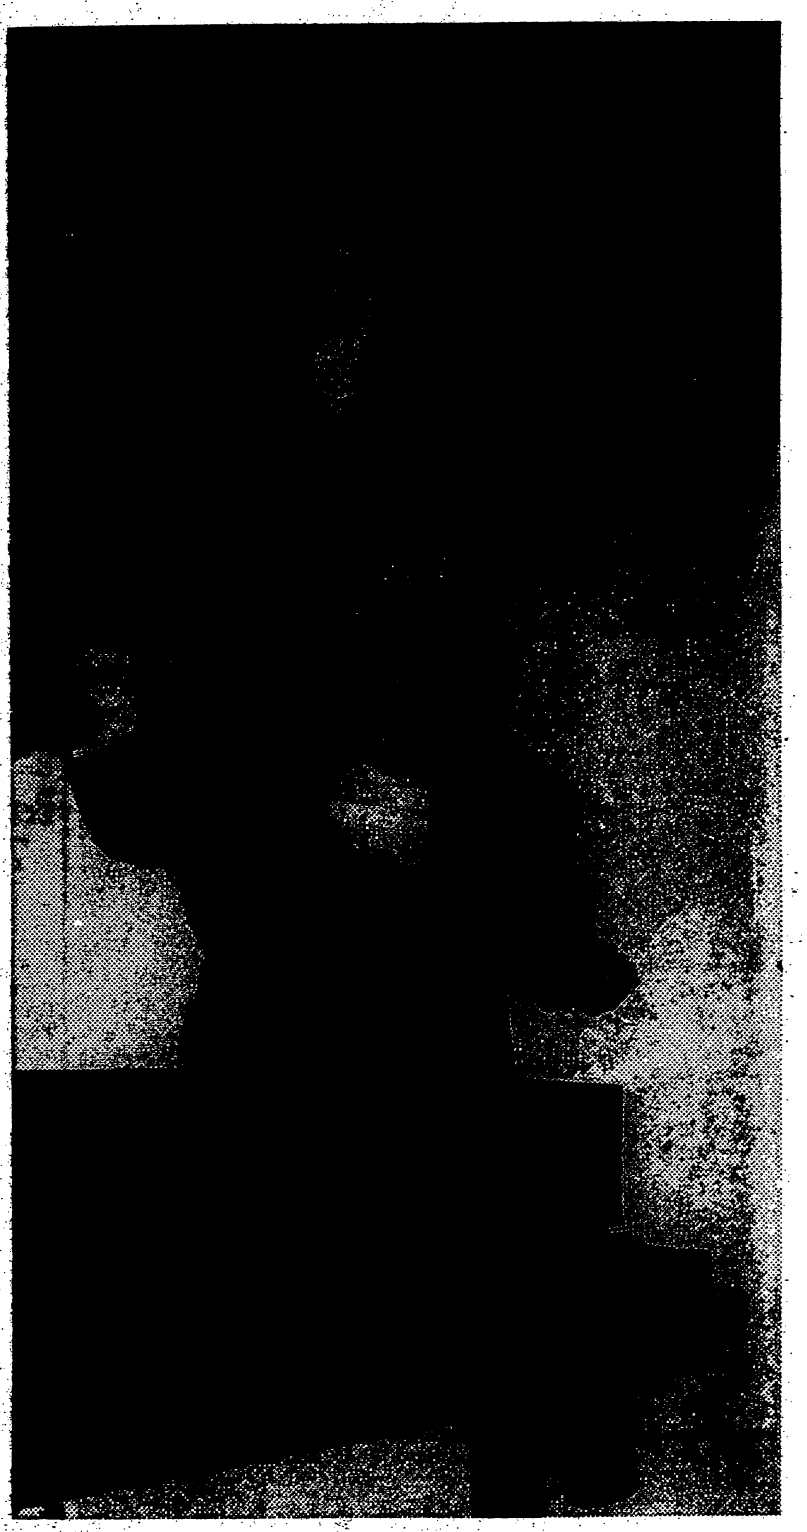
Now, opening with me (April 17) in my

SMART AFFAIRS SHOW OF '64

at the

THUNDERBIRD HOTEL, LAS VEGAS—

ALSO FROM LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND



LARRY STEELE

The most

"ENTERTAINING and EXCITING PERFORMERS in SHOWBUSINESS"

THE STRONG BROS.

HEADLINERS for (12 Sensational Months)

"CAN CAN REVUE" Moulin Rouge, Paris

• Featured on the Jack Paar Show—NBC-TV •

Personal Manager—LEW ENTIN

Blair House, Las Vegas

Nevada

Public Relations—MILTON GRAY

200 West 54th St., New York 19, N.Y. LT 1-0057

NAB's Own Vast Wasteland

Continued from page 1

meeting place for camaraderie and glad-handing, or to witness at first hand the latest fashions in gadgetry and syndicated film, or an opportunity for the network officialdom to greet their respective affiliate body, the question is raised: does this in itself justify the time, effort and expense involved for the individual NAB membership?

On a more meaningful level, they already know most of the answers, the byplay and the maneuverings, even before check-in time, to such vexing and disturbing problems that beset the industry, such as overcommercialization, piggybacking, the cigaret-cancer controversy, the booze blurb, the doghouse status of their leader, Leroy Collins, the "better deal" persuasions of FCC chairman E. William Henry and, in the case of the affiliate, the kind of shake they're getting from the network. But they also know that, in terms of resolving any of the important issues, whether it's the new era of CATV, the challenge of pay-tv or the aforementioned whiskey and cigaret advertising, the convention provided little if any fresh enlightenment. Mostly these are for the inner-sanctum deliberations and considerations of the directorate. All in good time (but certainly not at the over-populated sprawling NAB convention) the broadcasters will know where he stands and what will be expected of him.

The refusal of President Johnson to extend greetings to the convention (even as a gesture on tape), despite official NAB persuasions and the known fact that he's already committed himself to address the annual publishers' conclave, has hardly the effect of bolstering the ego or the stature of the convention delegates. They've long been conditioned to this second-class citizenship status, partly of their own making—but the fact that the LBJ association with broadcasting via the Austin station ownership hasn't particularly helped to assuage feelings.

If, as many contend, the broadcasters themselves are in large measure to blame for their lowercase status in the broad spectrum of communications, it's attributed in part to their own inertia and selfish lack of involvement as, primarily, they stand ready and willing to champion any and every cause that would conceivably translate itself into an additional source of revenue. They like the way things are going, with billings at new peak levels, and their complacency shrieks. Otherwise, it's argued, they couldn't care less who's doing what to whom and their indifference toward industry matters, so long as it doesn't rock the local boat, has assumed appalling proportions.

If, to many, Collins remains the "villain," it's because his efforts to bring a new kind of order to the industry might possibly siphon off some of the station operators' (and network's) lucrative income. In contrast, their big hero today is Walter Rogers, chairman of the communications subcommittee whose needling of Henry and his FCC brethren and pro-industry stances have endeared him as the sweetheart of the kilocycles.

They played it safe (and with complete justification) in the designation of Group W's Don McGannon for this year's distinguished service award, for few will argue his contributions for a more purified industry have been enormous. The applause for "man of the year" McGannon was sustained and enthusiastic. (But that's about as "sustaining" as any of the broadcasters want to go.) If they were attentive to the '64 agenda with its all-too familiar and pat format, it's because nothing, but nothing was asked of them.

Whatever the solution to a more constructive meeting of the industry minds (and there appears to be increasing agitation for at least a separation of the AM boys from tv with their own individual conclaves to permit a proper probing-in-depth and thus allow for a "convention format" with a broader definition of the issues at stake), it's generally conceded that not until such time as NAB can spell out "needs angrier broadcasters" will the industry organization be in a position to don its proper mantle as a meaningful and creative force.

B'casters On Booze & Butts

Continued from page 27

superior to the others that everyone is ruled by what they say—then I would have to agree that they need harnessing. But the plain truth is that they're not all that potent."

Chick Kline, FM Group Sales Inc., Chicago: "My view is that distillers get the best advertising in the world on television without even buying it. When it comes to glamorizing drink, how do you top the glamor of a western hero or a private eye slugging one down before he goes after his man?"

Ward Quaal, exec v.p. of WGN Inc., Chicago, and a staunch exponent of the Code, sees the need for revisions to cope with the booze-and-butts problems. He says: "The broadcast Code will have to come up with narrative material to serve as guide posts, asking each station to cope with the problem according to his own situation. The No. 1 responsibility of the code now is to halt the dramatization to youth that there is something attractive or good about using tobacco. It is ridiculous to deprive cigaret companies of our advertising facilities, but they will have to use more discretion and with cognizance of the fact that we have an obligation to the people we are serving. More people die of obesity than of cancer, so that carried to extremes food becomes a death-dealing item. The code will need refinements and perhaps a little more sophistication."

Martin Umansky, KAKE-AM-TV, Wichita, Kans.: "Liquor is illegal in our state, so it's totally out of the question for me. And yet I feel that, for other markets, perhaps the code ought to be relaxed somewhat so that hard liquor advertising could be carried in the late hours. If advertised discreetly, it might help people to learn about the proper and gracious use of liquor. Good advertising creates a certain amount of knowledge. An alcoholic is going to be an alcoholic whether we advertise whisky or not."

Wally Nelskog, prez and g.m. of KIXI, Seattle: "We haven't even considered taking liquor advertising. However, if the Code is modified we'd take another look, but this is by no means to say that we'd use it even then. As for cigaret advertising, the best thing to do is to take all of it off the top 40 stations."

Ralph Beaudin, prexy of WLS, Chicago: "the Code needs our support or it is nothing. This station goes with the Code. If whisky is considered unacceptable, we won't allow it on the station. If the Code were to permit it, then we probably would too."

Max Bice, g.m. KTNT-AM-FM-TV, Tacoma, Wash.: "the problem is strictly one of children. It's something you can't control and I wouldn't take liquor advertising even if the code were modified."

Elmer Troutman, asst. mgr. WIRC-AM-FM, Hickory, N. C.: "We have had beer advertising for some time and we took some wine advertising with some trepidation a few months ago, but there was no unfavorable reaction. We're in what is popularly called 'the Bible Belt,' and Code or no Code I strongly doubt that we would take hard liquor advertising. The community wouldn't go for it."

Richard Brown, prez KPOJ, Portland, Ore.: "Although I think broadcasting is being discriminated against in not being able to advertise a legal business, I personally will not have hard liquor advertising on my station even if the Code is modified. It's just not for tv."

Marshall Carpenter, prexy of WDTM (FM), Detroit: "hard liquor advertising can be handled tastefully, and on a classical music station the audience is sophisticated enough to handle it. But personally I don't care to promote the use of tobacco and never have, even before the surgeon general's report. I've had occasion to turn down tobacco advertising, but I intend to get involved in advertising liquor. It seems a shame that sophisticated people might not be allowed to be served by an advertiser who wants to serve them."

Gordon Brown, owner of WSAY (AM) Rochester, N. Y. and WNIA (AM) Buffalo, and part owner of WOKR-TV, Rochester: "Those who are getting into hard liquor advertising are inviting stricter Federal control and we'll eventually end up with Federal control of rates. Multiple and corporate control of the stations has invited a tendency for the fast buck."

Performers on Swedish TV Get 35% Pay Hike; 4-Month Dispute Ends

Stockholm, April 7.

After a nearly four month wage dispute between the Swedish Broadcasting Co. and the Swedish Theatrical Union, the groups agreed on an average wage raise of 45% for dramatic performers. The increase means that performers will receive 53% more for radio appearances and 35% more when they take part in television programs.

The new agreements cover all Swedish and foreign dramatic performers. Although the Swedish Theatrical Union did not get as large wage raises as it requested, its chairman, actor Erland Josephson said "We regard this agreement as a big step forward. We also hope that it will help other cultural workers who appear on radio and tv."

Reliable sources say that now that the dramatic performers succeeded in getting substantial raises from the Swedish Broadcasting Co. they will soon start negotiations for similar raises from the film industry.

Atlanta—Two new FM stations soon will be on the air in Georgia: WDEC, Americus, and WJAZ, Albany.

Transistor Tape Recorder Works on Flashlight Batteries

Think of it. A 7-pound, cordless, tape recorder that lets you record (and play back) any performance, anywhere, any time—auditions, readings, rehearsals, lessons—impromptu or scheduled, music or spoken word—with big machine, professional fidelity.

This new, all-transistor, Continental '101' records (and plays back) up to 2 hours on a single 4" reel. Its dynamic microphone picks up any sound within a broad radius with astonishing fidelity. Its bass and treble-control allows you to adjust the tone to your own taste. Its constant-speed motor with capstan drive insures distortion-free performance and broadcast-quality tapes. Ruggedly built . . handsomely styled . . . surprisingly low priced. See it, hear it, try it . . . at your favorite hi-fi dealer or camera store.

Write for brochure W-3: North American Philips Company, Inc. High Fidelity Products Division, 100 East 42nd Street, New York, N. Y. 10017

Norelco®

CBS uses revolving stages from Macton — the world's leading producer of turntables Standard • Custom • Portable (also rental units)

WRITE.. Macton Machinery Co., Inc. Jefferson St. Dept. V. Stamford, Conn. 06902—(203) 324-6161

REAL ESTATE

10 Decontrolled MODERN APTS.
(FOR EXECUTIVES AND OFFICERS)
PLUS: MAIN FLOOR FOR SHOWROOM or NEW YORK OFF.
EXCELLENT for: INSTITUTION or NATIONAL ORGANIZATION
39th ST. and LEXINGTON AVE.
NEW YORK
20 YEAR LEASE for WHOLE BLDG.
Park South Realty Co. MU 3-4821

SMITHTOWN, L.I., ESTATE
20 ACRES
In the center of superbly restored Colonial, 14 rooms, 5 baths, three-car attached garage. Price $135,000.00.
Owner: GENE SMITH
Box #97 or 516 - JU 4-5734

NEW YORK RENTAL
May 1 to November 1. Spectacular Central Park cooperative in historic Dakota Apartments. Spacious rooms, magnificent antique furnishings. Living room, den, Venetian dining room, 2 master bedrooms, 3 baths, huge closets, fireplaces. New kitchen all modern appliances. Linen, silver and china. Air conditioned throughout.
Write Apartment #63, 1 West 72nd Street
Or Phone SU 7-8931

JUST RELEASED!
GREATEST ACTOR IN SCREEN HISTORY
COBBY'S HOBBIES
Available in Black and White and Color
156 Five Minute Shows Or
52 One-Quarter Hour Shows
FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES
Produced by Calvin Productions, Inc., Kansas City, Mo.
For Full Information and Screening Contact . . .
BOB SCHLESSEL
National Sales Manager
PROJECT: TELEVISION SHOWS, INC.
830 N. Wabash Aver Chicago, 11 Illinois MI 2-5664

TRANS-LUX TELEVISION CORP. presents
Felix THE CAT
Write, wire or phone today for Audition Print!
625 Madison Ave., N.Y.C.
Phone PL1-3110
©MCMLIX Felix The Cat Productions, Inc.

ASCAP VS. B'CASTERS: ACT II

Things Aren't Too Bad in Jazz Today, Goodman Sez: Raps Norman Granz

By DAVE JAMPEL

Tokyo, April 7.

"Some jazz is more far out than classical music," said Benny Goodman. "It's a fact, not a matter of criticism."

Goodman was discussing his unique merging of jazz and classical for his sellout eight-city Japan swing. In the first half of his concerts, he soloed with a 35-piece chamber group from the Nippon Philharmonic on Mozart's "Concerto for Clarinet." For the balance of his program, Goodman assumed a more familiar stance with a new jazz quartet, featuring Richard Shreve on piano, Monty Budwig on bass and Colin Bailey on drums.

"It's a very interesting experiment," the clarinet maestro observed, "But I did this last year in New Yprk and I've always done a little bit of it."

Goodman dismissed the possibility that some people sit through only the half of his concerts that coincides with their musical persuasion. "Either they go or they don't go," he said.

"There's no doubt in my mind that some people don't like it," he continued. "I think there are some jazz diehards who don't like the classical part. But you can't please everybody.

"I think the time will come when this will be common procedure," he reflected. "I'm not really trying to convert anybody. But it's a funny thing, when people see somebody friendly playing classical music they accept it better. It's still my clarinet, but using a different vocabulary."

Although he is not as actively involved in the jazz wars as in the days when he pioneered the widespread acceptance of that music with his brilliant big bands and combos, Goodman demonstrated in his performances that he is not yet ready to take a back seat.

A Changing Business

"I've always had trouble explaining this, but you take a fellow like Isaac Stern. He doesn't tour 50 weeks a year. That's the nature of our business now," Goodman said.

"Being that this business has become a concert business, we use the same procedures," he added. "At the time when we used to work 50 weeks a year, people asked how we could stand the pace. Now they ask why we don't work more."

Goodman has little sympathy for those jazzmen who complain about limited job opportunities.

"I think one of the things about jazz musicians who squawk—and I suppose I'll have to speak generally—is that they have a holier-than-thou attitude," Goodman opined. "They should keep in mind that there is an audience and that people don't have to like what they do. I think a little self-criticism isn't bad either," he said.

Goodman does not concur that things are especially difficult in

(Continued on page 72)

SHOLES COMPLETES VICTOR A&R SHAKEUP

Joe Rene, indie arranger-producer, has joined RCA Victor's New York pop artists & repertoire staff. With this appointment, pop a&r chief Steve Sholes completes the reorganization of the department. In the wake of Hugo & Luigi's exit from the label, Sholes said he'll review all independent production deals.

Sholes plans to unify the New York, Nashville and Hollywood a&r operations and the radio-tv promotion force. He added that publishers will be told which a&r producer is responsible for the recordings of a particular artist.

Musical Heist

Honolulu, April 7.

Thieves raided the Musicians Association of Honolulu office and walked off with $1,800 worth of equipment.

Loss was itemized as a $1,200 calculator, a $400 typewriter and a $200 adding machine.

Italian Disk Best Sellers

Rome, April 7.

Lacrima sul Viso ..... Solo (Riccordi)
Non Ho l'Eta ..... Cinquetti (CGD)
Quando Vedrai Ragazza (UA) Pitney
Ogni Volta ..... Anka (RCA)
Please, Please Me .... Beatles (Parlophon)
Un Bacio Piccolissimo (Carosello) Robertino
Sabato Sera ..... Filippini (MRC)
Citta Vuota ..... Mina (Ri-Fi)
Stasera No No No .. Germani (Jolly)
The M'Importa Mondo Payone (RCO)

AFM Now Holds Integration Reins For Chi Locals

Chicago, April 7.

The long-stalled merger negotiations between the all-Negro Local 208 and the larger Local 10 have been taken out of the hands of the Chicago disputants by American Federation of Musicians' national prexy Herman Kenin. The two Chi locals have gone past two deadlines for the completion of the negotiations set by the national office and the case will go from local mediation to national office arbitration.

Kenin has in his hands detailed proposals for the merger as seen by both Windy City locals and it will be up to him to do by fiat what the negotiators have failed to do at the bargaining tables in six months here.

While the two locals have invoked a veil of secrecy about the proposals, it has been learned that there are large differences of opinions in the two presentations.

One Local 10 negotiator said that the proposals actually incorporate many of the disagreements that had been resolved through bargaining, but that the two locals had revived them in order to end up with a better compromise.

British Musicians Union Explains Units Exchange Deal Continues With AFM

London, April 7.

Britain's Musicians Union in the last few days has made it plain to local beat groups with ambitions of going to the U.S. that the MU's one-for-one exchange agreement with the American Federation of Musicians stands for groups as for other tooters.

In other words, for every British outfit that plays the States, an American "counterpart" must be booked in the U.K. "within a reasonably short space of time." According to Harry Francis, MU exec who pioneered the initial exchange agreement, the Anglo-U.S. exchanges need not, however, be on a group-for-group basis.

Francis said it would be perfectly acceptable to the union if, say, an American jazz band was imported into Britain in exchange for a local beat group.

Clarification of this situation—which in fact has been operating since the days when American rockers like Bill Haley came over to the U.K. in the early days of the Yank rock 'n' roll boom—comes at a time when several British beat combos are dickering for U.S. concert and tv-radio engagements.

LICENSE DICKERS AT CRUCIAL POINT

By HERMAN SCHOENFELD

At the financial pinnacle of its 50-year history, the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers is now finding itself in the most precarious situation since its 25th birthday in 1939 when its music was blacked out on the airlanes.

The new critical juncture again finds ASCAP at loggerheads with the broadcasters over new licensing agreements. About 85% of the Society's revenues of nearly $38,000,000 is now hanging in the balance of current litigation and negotiation.

ASCAP is facing a variety of resistances from its various broadcast customers, but all of it adds up to one proposition—the broadcasters want to pay less money for music performance rights. The independent radio stations want a reduction in the ASCAP blanket license fee; the independent tv stations want a new form of per-program license in which syndicated shows would be excluded from the deal; and the radio networks, led by CBS Radio, also want a per-program license that will not involve any flat fee or guarantee of any minimum payment to ASCAP. All of these hassles are now in the courts, chiefly in N. Y. Federal Court which has jurisdiction over rates under the antitrust decree.

ASCAP's frustration in attempting to come to terms with its biggest user of music was reflected at last week's meeting of the New York membership at the Americana Hotel. While much of the griping about ASCAP's leadership came from the circle of perennial dissidents, a real undertone of dissatisfaction with the turn of events was also distinctly heard in the tirades against Broadcast Music Inc.

A demand was made by veteran songwriter Johnny Redmond that ASCAP publishers with BMI affiliates step off the Societv's board ASCAP's general counsel Herman Finkelstein said he too was opposed to the dual allegiance of any publisher on the board, but stated that this was not the opportune time to launch such a fight.

ASCAP prexy Stanley Adams also applauded a proposal, made by Barney Young, that ASCAP writers conduct a "freedom march" against the broadcasters. For the past decade, Young has been a doggedly litigating anti-BMI zealot but his onetime affiliation with BMI was thrown coldly in his face by Pinky Herman.

Herman is another perennial ASCAP critic whose customary lengthy broadsides now have to be trimmed to a five-minute floor discussion limit. Herman was unable to formulate any specific critique within his meager allotment of time and was granted a five-minute extension which also proved insufficient.

Hopeful notes were struck in reports that ASCAP was now in the process of developing new customers. Among them are toll-television and community antenna operators, with which ASCAP is now attempting to open negotiations. ASCAP originally granted a cuffo license to the Hartford toll-tv operation because of its experimental nature, but now feels the time has come to set a reasonable rate.

ASCAP will be making a special foreign distribution of $1,067,999 in May from coin received from England, Sweden and Italy.

Stravinsky's New Work

Jerusalem, April 7.

World premiere during the 1964 Music Festival in Israel is Igor Stravinsky's newest work, "Abraham and Isaac." Robert Craft will conduct it there on Aug. 20.

Composer ("Prince Igor" as he is sometimes called) got the inspiration when he visited Israel in 1962 as a guest of the Festival.

Int'l Disk Biz a 2-Way St. as Liverpool, Nashville 'Sounds' Do O'seas Shuffle

British Disk Best Sellers

London, April 7.

Can't Buy Me Love .. Beatles (Parlophone)
Little Children ..... Dakotas (Parlophone)
Just One Look ..... Hollies (Parlophone)
Not Fade Away ..... Rolling (Decca) Stones
Bits and Pieces .. Clark Five (Columbia)
I Love You Because .. Reeves (RCA-Victor)
Anyone Who Had a Heart (Parlophone) Black
Girl Belongs Yesterday (United Artists) .... Pitney
I Believe ..... Bachelors (Decca)
Boys Cry ..... Kane (Fontana)

British Disks' U.S. Click Spurs Yank Grooving in U.K.

London, April 7.

At a time when the penetration of British disks in American charts has sparked a search for British platters and songs, a further development of the success British record producers have at the moment is the increasing numbers of Yank artists who are waxing while on visits to the U.K.

Following Bobby Rydell's hit a while back with his British-made disk, "Forget Him," the Pye label has recorded other American vocalists like Sammy Davis Jr., Chubby Checker and Big Dee Irwin. Frank Sinatra also recorded for Pye on his last visit here.

At Decca, Roy Orbison was committed to wax and Gene Pitney, who hit here with a Rolling Stones composition, "That Girl Belongs To Yesterday," cut another two British titles, "I'm Going To Find Myself A Girl" by The Avons and Joe Meek's "Lips Are Redder On You," which were flown to the U.S. immediately after the session.

EMI, like most other diskeries, is coping with an increasingly large contingent of local waxers. But it has still found time to record Richard Anthony, Bobby Vee and some Continental artists such as Germany's Rex Gildo. If Connie Francis comes in in May, she too is expected to press a couple of sides here for EMI.

Philips is according U.S. jazz singer Mark Murphy unprecedented treatment. In an effort to establish him here as a leading jazz vocalist, the label plans to employ three musical directors on Murphy's British album. There are Johnny Gregory, a top maestro with string arrangements; Johnny Dankworth, leading British jazz arranger, and Tubby Hayes, another acknowledged jazz musician and composer-arranger.

As one Decca spokesman said: "It seems Britain's success in America is attracting a lot of Americans to our recording studios. Equally, it seems our record producers are more determined than ever to prove their worth as hit makers of world class."

NARAS Making Tri-City 'Grammy' Awards May 12

National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences will make its "Grammy" awards on May 12 at ceremonies in Los Angeles, New York and Chicago. Awards will cover 42 categories in all phases of disk making.

Final nominations, on which the NARAS members will ballot to select the "Grammy" winners, are due to be disclosed this week.

The international disk business is now witnessing its heaviest two-way traffic in talent. While the practitioners of the "Liverpool sound" have been and will be prominently displayed in one-nighters in this country, the exponents of the "Nashville Sound" will be maintaining the balance of trade by touring through Europe. It's all part of a deliberate plan to merchandise disks with the razzle-dazzle of in-person appearance by the artists.

Sparked by climbing sales of its country artists abroad, RCA Victor laid the groundwork for a tour by four of its top Nashville names, Chet Atkins, Kim Reeves, Anita Kerr and Bobby Bare, through Germany, Austria, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland and Belgium.

Tour, which opened Saturday (4) in Hamburg, is the largest of its kind by country artists, most of whom have limited their overseas appearances to U. S. Armed Service Camps.

The Nashville artists will be paid minimums against percentage for their concert appearances, but the chief consideration is the merchandising boost to disk sales abroad.

European impresario Karl Buchman is promoting the concert tour, but the idea for it stemmed from Dario Soria, RCA Victor's v.p. over the international disk division who is now in the Far East studying the potential for similar promotional activity in Japan. Dick Broderick, merchandising manager of Victor's international disk department, helped lay the groundwork for the Atkins, et. al., tour.

Impact of the country genre overseas is indicated in the fact that Jim Reeves has racked up combined sales of nearly 800,000 on two disks in England, "Welcome to My World" and "I Love You Because." Bobby Bare has been on the Norwegian lists with "Detroit City" and "500 Miles From Home." Atkins has been a steady seller throughout Europe.

Tour of the Nashville artists is part of a calculated worldwide promotion for all of its artists via live appearances. In the past year or so, tours have been made by Paul Anka, Neil Sedaka, Della Reese, Al Hirt and Peggy March. Miriam Makeba goes over in May, opening at the Olympia in Paris, May 13-14.

The Atkins troupe will play concerts every night through April 23, covering 12 cities and some Army bases. Werner Muller's orch will accompany the American artists. There were plans to record the troupe on tour, but local union restrictions have caused RCA Victor to shelve this project.

COL STAFF SHUFFLE UPS WEISS & OTHERS

Eugene Weiss, former regional sales manager for the northeastern area, has been promoted to general manager of Columbia Records Sales Corp. Maurice Hoffman moves into Weiss' former slot while William Farr, merchandising director for CRSC, has been assigned additional responsibilities of training field sales personnel. Weiss will report to Bill Gallagher, Columbia's v.p. of marketing.

In other staff assignments, Jack Tessler joins Columbia Records as manager of international promotion and merchandising services, reporting to Harvey Schein, v.p. and general manager of Columbia Records International. Tessler moved over from United Artists, where he was assistant director of foreign publicity.

Richard Killough has been promoted to associate producer in Columbia Masterworks' artists & repertoire division from his former slot as music editor.

The Beatles No. 2, Elvis 'Cousins,' Goulet-Jenkins' 'Manhattan Tower,' Village Stompers Top New Albums

"THE BEATLES SECOND ALBUM" (Capitol). This followup to the Beatles' first smash LP shapes up as another smash. The combo is now hotter than ever and this LP contains two of their top numbers, "Roll Over, Beethoven" and "She Loves You." Other big numbers are "Long Tall Sally," "You Really Got a Hold on Me," "Money," "I Call Your Name," "Please, Mr. Postman" and "I'll Get You." The performances are properly juiced up with pounding beats and high-flying vocal sounds. A photo layout on the jacket will please this combo's juvenile fans.

ELVIS PRESLEY: "KISSIN' COUSINS" (RCA Victor). Once again, Elvis Presley comes up with virtually an automatic LP hit. Taken from the soundtrack of the MGM pic of the same title in which he stars, a solid selection of tunes is delivered with savvy by the singers, whether it be a light country item like "Smokey Boy," a lilting ballad like "One Boy Two Little Girls" or a rocking number like the title song. There are also two non-film songs, "Echoes of Love" and "Long Lonely Highway."

ROBERT GOULET - GORDON JENKINS: "MANHATTAN TOWER" (Columbia). This is a top flight production of Gordon Jenkins' rich musical bouquet to New York, a full-length work that has had only two other disk versions since it was written a couple of decades ago. Robert Goulet handles the narrative and vocal assignment in impressive style, registering with special force in the classic "New York's My Home" and the ballads and special material, "Never Leave Me," "Once Upon a Dream" and "Married I Can Always Get." As conductor, Jenkins has shaped the orch and chorus into a swinging ensemble which handles its own material lucidly and backs up Goulet excellently. A montage of color photos of New York round out this attractive double-fold package.

THE VILLAGE STOMPERS: "MORE SOUNDS OF WASHINGTON SQUARE" (Epic). The Village Stompers continue to blend folk and Dixieland stylings for solid effect. After taking off with their "Washington Square" slice some time back, the group has become firmly established in the widening Ivy League market, with its many offshoots. This takes in a large area. In this LP the unit should corral considerable attention. Joe Sherman has provided the slick Stompers arrangements for the outing and the instrumental group takes off strongly on them.

GLORIA LYNNE: "I WISH YOU LOVE" (Everest). A fine songstress, Gloria Lynne has cracked into the bestselling lists with the slick title song of this LP "I Wish You Love" becomes the takeoff point for an excellent songalog demonstrating Miss Lynne's blues-favored style on a group of standard ballads. She registers with particular effectiveness on songs like "This Is My Beloved," "Indian Love Call," "I Know Love," "If You Love Me" and "End of a Love Affair."

"QUINCY JONES EXPLORES THE MUSIC OF HENRY MANCINI" (Mercury). Arranger and former bandleader Quincy Jones has prepared and executed a fine tribute to composer Henry Mancini. Played by groups of some of the ten tooters on the hipster circuit today, the items, culled from Mancini's film and tv scores, are presented with slick jazz phrasings that set off the Mancini sound with style and rhythmic quality. There's a hip sound throughout but not so far out as to eliminate squarer Mancini fans. Withal, a fine set of musical slices which deserves programming and buyer attention.

SAMMY KAYE ORCH: "COME DANCE TO THE HITS" (Decca). Sammy Kaye, after a long absence from the hit lists, is surging back into contention with this entry. His l. .lowing workover of the pic tune, "Charade," picks up considerable momentum in a groove which diverges from the maestro's trademarked "swing and sway" sound. In this set, Kaye has varied the style, using organ effects for rocking overtones while yet maintaining an overall smooth, listenable sound. Book includes such standards and recent hits as "There I've Said It Again," "Washington Square," "Dominique," "Fools Rush In," "Danke Schoen" and "Red Sails In the Sunset."

FRANCOIS RABBATH: "BASS BALL" (Philips). This is another striking jazz session out of France. Bassist Francois Rabbath and drummer Armand Molinetti combine talents to produce some compelling percussive and melodic sounds. The mascularity of Rabbath's bass is particularly extraordinary, extending the instrument's range with some near-incredible effects. The duo's talents are displayed most sharply in numbers titled "Walpurgis," "Ode D'Espagne" and "Basses En Fugue." Any of the other nine numbers are just as interesting in different ways.

"THE FALL OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE" (Columbia). Dimitri Tiomkin's big and blustery score for Samuel Bronston's "Fall of the Roman Empire" is presented by an 110-piece London orchestra under the baton of the composer. The fulsome backgrounds have been nicely captured and, for some reason, are almost more effective on wax than they are in the film where the music becomes obtrusive after a time. For the disk, Tiomkin selected some of the more listenable themes, many of them quite rousing. Those wishing a bit of musical remembrance from the film will find this LP a substantial and often rewarding effort.

JIMMY SMITH: "WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOOLF?" (Verve). Organ wailer Jimmy Smith has a spirited and swinging session with this album, material for which was arranged by Oliver Nelson and Claus Ogerman. Although Smith is on a high and driving pace throughout the set, there is a lot happening in all that noise. The "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" of the LP's title is a two-part item with lots of hard blowing by Smith. The driving sounds build to big and loud proportions and get their message across with relentless zeal. Other bits are largely in this vein. Those who dig the hard-swinging organ combo sound will have a ball. Others better stay away or be sizzled to death by the drummer's cymbals.

"SURF PARTY" (20th Century-Fox). Jimmie Haskell and By Dunham have penned some rollicking surf music sounds for the film, "Surf Party." Contributing their vocal and instrumental efforts to the picture and this LP are such as Jackie De Shannon, Kenny Miller, the Astronauts, the Routers, Pat Morrow and the Big Wheels. All provide rocking performances,

LAWRENCE WELK
Presents His New Hit DOT ALBUM
"EARLY HITS OF 1964"

under the baton of Haskell who has a big musical section of the LP to himself. Surf music has become a part of the teener sound habit and this session should please their taste.

JACKIE WASHINGTON: "VOLUME TWO" (Vanguard). The Vanguard Records has a knack for coming up with fine folk talent and Jackie Washington is a perfect example. With this, his second LP for the company, the singer-guitar player does a nifty job on a large array of folk items. He has a clear, simple approach to a song both vocally and instrumentally. Folkniks will dig this second effort.

Artist-Disk Deals

Chess: Johnny Nash

Johnny Nash, pop singer formerly with ABC-Paramount, has been signed to Chess Records, Chicago-based diskery. Leonard Chess, prexy of the diskery, will supervise Nash's recording activities with his first releases due out in the next couple of weeks.

Liberty: The Ventures

The Ventures have had their original five-year pact with Liberty Records extended for another two years. Combo is the label's highest grossing act.

Deutsche Grammophon: Evelyn Lear

Evelyn Lear, American soprano who is now a regular member of the Berlin, Vienna and Bavarian opera companies, has signed an exclusive contract with Deutsche Grammophon. Her first recording will be a Richard Strauss song recital and Bach's "St. John Passion" with Karl Richter conducting.

Colpix: Rip Taylor

Rip Taylor, comic, has been signed by Colpix Records. His first release, "How Does I Feel," will be released next week.

Reprise: Michael Callan

Singer Michael Callan has inked a pact to cut an album and two singles for Reprise. His first disk will be a coupling of "Some Days Everything Goes Wrong" and "My Home Town."

Longplay Shorts

MGM Records tying in an LP merchandising campaign with Cal Tjader's tour of college campuses as part of the "Ford Caravan of Music" . . . Tiparm Music has published a "Clancy Bros. & Tommy Maken Songbook" culled from their Columbia Records LPs . . . Singer-writer Rod McKuen on a 21-city tour to promote his first Capitol Records LP. He records his second set May 1 before going on a three-month European concert tour . . . Columbia Records will shortly be recording the Broadway cast album of "Hamlet" with Richard Burton in the lead . . . Columbia's releases this month include 11 popular LPs, two Latin-American albums and eight Masterworks LPs in addition to the soundtrack from "The Fall of the Roman Empire."

To promote its basic 55-album "The Columbia Masterworks Library of Great Music," Columbia is giving away free a two-volume 10-LP set of "The Columbia Encyclopedia of Music" with every side . . . Judy Collins and Judy Henske's folk LPs on the Elektra label getting sales boosts via their concert and night club dates . . . Rich Little, Canadian impersonator, working out the format of his Christmas LP for Capitol . . . Jane Morgan now preparing her second LP for Colpix . . . Enoch Light unveils his new Command album sound today (Wed.) . . . Rusty Warren coming up with her first serious LP, "A Portrait on Life". . . Boxoffice Records issued its first LP, "Bedtime Stories, Italian Style," with special material written by Eli Lloyd Hoffman, Broadway pressagent.

Top Singles Of The Week

(The 'Best Bets' of This Week's 100-Plus Releases)

ARETHA FRANKLIN . . . . . SOULVILLE
(Columbia) . . . . . Evil Gal Blues

Aretha Franklin's "Soulville" (Non-DeLaruet) is a fast-moving blues number which hits with powerful impact via this songstress' performance against a swinging background. "Evil Gal Blues" (Modern Aget) also gives her a sharp piece of material to work out stylishly. Both sides have been culled from Miss Franklin's latest "Unforgettable" LP.

* * *

THE FOUR SEASONS . . . . . RONNIE
(Philips) . . . . . Born To Wander

The Four Seasons' "Ronnie" (Saturday-Gavadima) registers as another nifty ballad dished up in commercial style by this hot pop quartet. "Born To Wander" (Saturday-Gavadima*) is a good folk-styled slice also rendered sharply.*

* * *

JAMES BROWN . . . . . HOW LONG DARLING
(King) . . . . . Again

James Brown's "How Long Darling" (Loist) is a hardhitting blues number which this singer projects with his down-deep style. "Again" (Robbins) is a sedate slice of this fine oldie which could get another jukebox spread on the strength of the new version.*

* * *

JACK SCOTT . . . . . WIGGLE ON OUT
(Groove) . . . . . What A Wonderful Night Out

Jack Scott's "Wiggle On Out" (Jack Scott†) swings smoothly down a rocking groove with a cute lyric which could catch on big via this arrangement for voice and guitars. "What A Wonderful Night Out" (Jack Scott†) is a pleasing ballad with a light country flavor.

* * *

RAY ANTHONY . . . . . LET'S ALL DO THE SWIM
(Capitol) . . . . . Everybody Do The Swim

Ray Anthony's "Let's All Do The Swim" (Kinglet†) hopefully is aimed at launching a new dance, "the swim." The name may be new but the beat is the same old rocking one in an uptempo groove. "Everybody Do The Swim" (Kinglet†) is more of the same toe-tapping parlay of vocal and instrumental effects.

* * *

GARNET MIMMS . . . . . ONE GIRL
(United Artists) . . . . . A Quiet Place

Garnet Mimms' "One Girl" (Keetch, Caesar & Dino-Rittenhouse†) is a strong ballad in the contemporary groove which this young singer projects in striking style for across-the-board impact. "A Quiet Place" (Rittenhouse†) moves with a neat beat through a good rocking number.

* * *

FARON'S FLAMINGOS . . . . . LET'S STOMP
(Columbia) . . . . . I Can Tell

Faron's Flamingo's "Let's Stomp" (Roosevelt†) is a Mersey beat takeoff on a rhythm number which was a hit a couple of years ago and could return on the current tidal wave of British rockers. "I Can Tell" (Berkshire†) is a typical rocking number delivered in a British version of how an American blues singer could have handled it.

* * *

BURL IVES . . . . . FOUR INITIALS ON A TREE
(Decca) . . . . . This Is Your Day

Burl Ives' "Four Initials On A Tree" (Pampert) gives this veteran folksinger a solid ballad idea which should get wide circulation among all age groups. "This Is Your Day" (Hallyjo-Pat) is another highly pleasing side also due for lots of spins.*

* * *

DIANE RAY . . . . . NO ARMS CAN EVER HOLD YOU
(Mercury) . . . . . Tied Up With Mary

Diane Ray's "No Arms Can Ever Hold You" (Gilt) is a well written ballad slanted right for the teenage market via this songstress' rendition in the modern manner. "Tied Up With Mary" (Lyn-Lou Raleight) is a cute rocking ballad also with good chances.

* * *

BILLY BISHOP . . . . . BIRMINGHAM JAIL
(TCF) . . . . . Honey Man

Billy Bishop's "Birmingham Jail" (Charleston-Jonathan Glennt) comes across as a slow, rocking slice by a good blues singer who gives new impetus to this familiar melody. "Honey Man" (Picturestonet) picks up tempo with an interesting rhythm & blues entry.

* * *

JON EARLY . . . . . THE BEST MAN
(United Artists) . . . . . Mr. Happiness

Jon Early's "The Best Man" (United Artists), the title of which is pegged to the upcoming UA film, is a solid ballad with a well-written lyric which this newcomer handles very effectively in legit style. "Mr. Happiness" (Unartt) changes pace with an okay uptempo number.*

* * *

FREDDY . . . . . BY THE WAY
(MGM) . . . . . I'll Hold You In My Heart

Freddy's "By The Way" (Roosevelt†) gives this German singer a lilting ballad which he handles very skillfully in English for big potential in this country. "I'll Hold You In My Heart" (Adams-Vee & Abbott†) is a fair oldfashioned type of sweet ballad.

* * *

DICK & DEEDEE . . . . . NOT FADE AWAY
(Warner Bros.) . . . . . The Gift

Dick & Deedee's "Not Fade Away" (Nor Va Jak†) hits hard as fresh rhythm number which this team projects sharply against a catchy background. "The Gift" (Odin) changes pace with a lilting ballad with a fine lyric also handled very well.*

* * *

KING'S ALLEY BAND . . . . . KING'S ALLEY
(Four Corners) . . . . . Grasshopper

King's Alley Band "King's Alley" (Shapiro-Bernstein) shapes up as a colorful instrumental import from Germany that fits into all programming formats. "Grasshopper" (Mills*) is another catchy number due for spins.* Herm.

*ASCAP. †BMI.

VARIETY ALBUM BESTSELLERS

(A National Survey of Key Outlets)

This Wk.	Last Wk.	No. Wks. On Chart
1	1	11	BEATLES (Capitol) Meet the Beatles (T2047)
2	2	22	AL HIRT (Victor) Honey in the Horn (LPM 2733)
3	4	8	BEATLES (Vee Jay) Introducing Beatles (LP 1062)
4	3	9	HELLO DOLLY (Victor) Original Cast (LOCD 1087)
5	6	6	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Vol. III (CL 2154)
6	5	16	HENRY MANCINI (Victor) Charade (LPM 2755)
7	8	25	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) In the Wind (W 1507)
8	7	35	JOAN BAEZ (Vanguard) Vol. II (URS 9094)
9	13	11	KINGSTON TRIO (Capitol) Time to Think (T 2011)
10	9	11	ANDY WILLIAMS (Columbia) Wonderful World of (CL 2137)
11	11	9	AL MARTINO (Capitol) Living A Lie (T 1975)
12	17	8	NANCY WILSON (Capitol) Yesterday's Love Songs (T 2012)
13	10	4	JOHN GARY (Victor) Encore (2836)
14	14	29	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Volume II (CL 2054)
15	22	17	SMOTHERS BROS. (Mercury) Curb Your Tongue, Knave (MG 20862)
16	—	1	LAWRENCE WELK (Dot) Early Hits of '64 (DLP 3572)
17	16	6	ROGER WILLIAMS (Kapp) Solid Gold Steinway (KL 1354)
18	21	11	JACK JONES (Kapp) Wives and Lovers (1352)
19	12	7	JOHNNY MATHIS (Mercury) Tender Is the Night (MG 20890)
20	20	4	BOB DYLAN (Columbia) Times Are Changing (CL 2105)
21	—	1	ELVIS PRESLEY (Victor) Kissin' Cousins (LPM 2894)
22	—	1	SERENDIPITY SINGERS (Phillips) PHM (200-115)
23	19	11	VENTURES (Dolton) In Space (2027)
24	25	19	BEACH BOYS (Capitol) Little Deuce Coupe (T 1998)
25	32	126	WEST SIDE STORY (Columbia) Soundtrack (OL 5670)
26	18	21	THE SINGING NUN (Philips) Soeur Sourire (PCC 203)
27	—	1	CHAD MITCHELL TRIO (Mercury) Reflecting (MG 20891)
28	23	4	MARKETTS (WB) Out of Limits (W 1537)
29	27	3	RAY CHARLES (ABC-Par) Sweet & Sour (480)
30	28	3	AL HIRT & ANNE-MARGARET (Victor) Beauty & the Beard (LPM 2690)
31	29	5	FRANK FONTAINE (ABC) How Sweet It Is (470)
32	15	21	JOHN GARY (Victor) Catch a Rising Star (LPM 2745)
33	24	13	RICK NELSON (Decca) For You (DL 4479)
34	38	2	GLENN YARBROUGH (Victor) Time to Move On (RCA 2836)
35	26	34	TRINI LOPEZ (Reprise) Trini Lopez at PJ'S (6093)
36	30	12	LAWRENCE WELK (Dot) Wonderful Wonderful (DLP 3552)
37	40	5	PEGGY LEE (Capitol) In Love Again (T 1969)
38	31	9	KINGSMEN (Wand) Louie Louie (657)
39	35	64	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) Moving (W 1473)
40	42	52	ANDY WILLIAMS (Columbia) Days of Wine & Roses (CL 2015)
41	33	53	ROY ORBISON (Monument) Greatest Hits (MLP 8000)
42	37	33	NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS (Columbia) Ramblin' (CL 2055)
43	41	26	AL MARTINO (Capitol) Painted Tainted Rose (T 1975)
44	34	17	TRINI LOPEZ (Reprise) More at P.J.'s (6103)
45	45	2	NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS (Columbia) Today (CL 2159)
46	39	50	BARBRA STREISAND (Columbia) Barbra Streisand Album (CL 2001)
47	36	17	ELVIS PRESLEY (Victor) Fun in Acapulco (LSP 2756)
48	44	13	JOHNNY MATHIS (Columbia) Romantically (CL 2098)
49	46	97	PETER, PAUL & MARY (Warner Bros.) Peter, Paul & Mary (W 1449)
50	43	23	SWINGLE SINGERS (Philips) Bach's Greatest Hits (PHM 200-097)

PP&M Lone Yank Winner In Britain's Gramophone Record Retailers' Awards

London, April 7.

Gramophone Record Retailers Assn., in its National Record Awards, has cited only one American act in the org's top 16 pop and classic disk categories for 1963. Artists are Peter, Paul & Mary, Warner Bros.' pactees, who collected the accolade for best country and western/folk music side, "Blowing In The Wind."

Best pop singles went to The Beatles for "She Loves You," best light vocal to Harry Secombe for "If I Ruled The World," best light orchestral to Ken Thorne's "Legions Last Patrol," best soundtrack/original cast recording to "Pickwick," best children's disk to Wally Whyton for "50 All-time Children's Favorites."

Best spoken word record was "Face to Face with Gilbert Harding," best humorous record was "Fool Britannia," best dance disk was Joe Loss' "Go Latin With Loss," best non-English record (in language of country of issue) was The Singing Nun's "Dominique."

In the jazz field, best orchestral record award went to Kenny Ball for his "Golden Hits" album and the best modern jazz wax was Johnny Dankworth's "What The Dickens."

Classical citations went to Sir John Barbirolli for his "English String Music," Benjamin Britten for his "War Requiem," Birgit Nillson for "Siegried and London Wind Soloists for Mozart Wind Music."

Bedside Network Marks 16th Anni

The Bedside Network of the Veterans Hospital Radio & Television Guild, comprised of broadcasters and songwriters, will be marking its 16th anni April 17 at a ball at the New York Hilton where ASCAP prexy Stanley Adams will be guest of honor.

Adams was chosen as a representative of the music biz which has contributed an important share to the Bedside Network's service to hospitalized veterans.

The Hilton ball will be a fund-raising event with a large roster of show biz names participating, including Richard Rodgers, Gwen Verdon, Bud Collyer, Beatrice Lillie, Allan Sherman, Sally Ann Howes and Carol Knox, among others. A contingent from Washington, D.C., including Mrs. Perle Mesta will also attend.

Co-chairmen of the ball are Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein 2d; Saul J. Turell, president of Walter Reade-Sterling Inc.; Robert F. Hurleigh, Mutual Broadcasting System president; and Mrs. Hyman Melzer, secretary-treasurer of the Guild.

During 1965, the Guild brought its "show biz therapy" to 123,122 patients via volunteer teams which helped the hospitalized vets to tape musical and and radio script shows. The volunteers do not entertain, but assist the patients in recording their own shows.

Volunteers also help in two outpatient clinics in the N.Y. area. In Pittsburgh, tv programs are produced by teams of Guild members and patients.

"Bedside Network" shows often include plays written by patients, interview shows and discussion programs which are played back over the hospital's closed-circuit system for the entertainment of the veterans. Songs used by the music groups contain the lyrics of hundreds of standards most requested by the singers.

Accompaniment is provided by volunteers such as Alfred E. Simon, WQXR, N.Y., director of light music; composers Alex Kramer, Dorothy Fields, Walter Biship; Leighton Guptill, of Watson-Guptill publishers; publicist Bill Stutman; Tom Shepard, Columbia Records producer; and Elou Williams.

The Guild also holds contests each year in which the GI's work is judged by a panel of celebrities with prizes for the top entries. Arlene Francis, Garry Moore and Mike Wallace judged such a contest recently.

Orchestra Leaders Assn.'s Suit Fails To Void 802 Deal With N.Y. Hotelmen

Efforts by the N.Y. Orchestra Leaders Assn. to break an agreement between Local 802, the N.Y. unit of the American Federation of Musicians, and the Hotelmen's Committee and the Restaurant League of N.Y., failed in N.Y. Federal Court last week.

Judge Dudley B. Bonsal denied Angie Bond and other orchestra leaders a preliminary injunction against the terms of labor contracts negotiated by Local 802 and the users of live musicians.

The Orchestra Leaders have been waging a long battle against the AFM policy of including within the union's membership the working musicians and their immediate employer, the bandleader.

In this case, the court refused to grant an injunction against the 802 contract on the grounds that the plaintiffs failed to show irreparable harm and because the practices under attack are longstanding and had the acquiescence of the plaintiffs. The basic contention of the union is that the user of the music, and not the bandleader, is the real employer of the musicians.

Local 802, meantime, has established a policy that orchestra leaders who are employers may not attend the April price list membership meeting which will vote on scales and other terms and conditions of employment. Union took this action to conform with various Federal Court decisions, although there has been no ruling specifically compelling he union to bar the orchestra leaders.

The Orchestra Leaders have been fighting for such a distinction, but are protesting their exclusion on the grounds that they are still dues-paying members of Local 802 and cannot be prevented from attending this meeting since the bylaws do not differentiate between orchestra leaders and sidemen.

Orchestra leaders have been campaigning against increases in the sidemen prices, claiming that "these uncontrolled increases" never took into consideration whether the public could or would pay for them. "These arbitrary increases," they contend, "have resulted in the steady decline in the use of live music."

Main spokesman for the Orchestra Leaders and plaintiffs in various action against Local 802 and the AFM are Joseph Carroll and Charles Peterson. They recently moved to set up a similar organization of orch leaders in Chicago.

In another action involving Local 802, a group of musicians brought suit in N.Y. Federal Court against the local's officers. Action seeks a permanent injunction restraining them from violating parliamentary procedure in membership meetings which, it is charged, have been adjourned before competing its business.

Jazz Unit's N.Y. Preem

American Jazz Ensemble, a group of U.S. musicians residing in Rome, are making their New York nightclub debut at the Village Vanguard tomorrow night (Thurs.). The combo was originally booked here for a one-night performance at the Phoenix Theatre, N.Y., but now may extend their stay beyond the two-week stand at the Vanguard.

Quartet is made up of clarinetist Bill Smith, pianist Johnny Eaton, drummer Jerry Tomlinson and bassist Barre Phillips.

Philly Orch's Summer Hqtrs.: Saratoga Springs

Philadelphia, April 7.

The Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Springs, N.Y., will become the permanent summer home of the Philadelphia Orchestra in August, 1966. Announcement of the move was made jointly last week by Dr. Harold G. Wilm, chairman of the Center's board of directors, and C. Wanton Balis Jr., president of the orchestra.

The opening season will offer 20 August concerts, five a week for four consecutive weeks. These will include two fully-staged operatic performances and four student concerts. Eugene Ormandy, the Philadelphians' regular conductor, will be music director of the Saratoga Festival.

Ground will be broken in the fall for an open-sided amphitheatre located in a sloping wooded site in an 1,800-acre, state-owned reservation south of Saratoga Springs. Plans call for a capacity of 5,200 seats under cover and al fresco accommodations for an additional 7,000 persons on the surrounding lawns.

Amphitheatre will hold a completely equipped stage, stage house and orchestra pit. The total cost of the installation including landscaping and construction of extensive parking ares is estimated at $2,400,000.

Philadelphia Orch's participation in the festival will make it the first major symphony to give permanent year-round employment to its musicians.

Executive director of the Saratoga Festival is Richard Leach, who also heads the Saratoga Performing Arts Center. A former program director at Lincoln Center, Leach expects shortly to announce an additional four-week program for the month of July at the New York state spa.

Col Nabs Track Score To Goldwyn Jr.'s 'Lovers'

Columbia Records prexy Goddard Lieberson, who recently presented a gold disk to Samuel Goldwyn for the "Porgy and Bess" soundtrack LP, has now made a deal for the soundtrack score of "The Young Lovers," which Samuel Goldwyn Jr. is both producing and directing. Film is scheduled for summer release.

Sol Kaplan, who wrote the score for "The Victors," has the music assignment for "The Young Lovers."

A Beatle's Book

John Lennon, the songwriter-member of The Beatles, has turned author for Simon & Schuster with an offbeat book of wit and humor titled "In His Own Write." It was published March 21 in England and within two weeks sold over 100,000 copies.

S&S' American edition will tee-off with a first print order of 50,000 copies.

Victor Rolls 2-Mos. Drive To Push Presley Platters

Amidst all the hoopla about The Beatles, RCA Victor has launched a two-month campaign in behalf of the contemporary heavyweight champ of the disk business—Elvis Presley. Campaign will mark Presley's eighth year on the label and the sale of over 100,000,000 disks worldwide.

The Victor drive is keyed to the release of Presley's new LP, "Kissin' Cousins," but will also focus on the 36 single, 20 LPs and 23 EPs all still active in the Victor catalog.

Gurwitch Joins ASCAP As International Rep

Arnold A. Gurwitch has joined the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers as international representative, working in the Society's foreign department headed by Dr. Rudolf Nissim. Gurwitch will tour abroad on goodwill missions to ASCAP's foreign affiliates. He is an attorney who had been with the law firm of Rosen, Seton & Sarbin.

In another staff appointment, David H. Harmon was named district manager of ASCAP's New Orleans office.

ALL IN PERSON

Stars of TV's

BEVERLY HILLBILLIES

IRENE RYAN (Granny)

DONNA DOUGLAS (Elly May)

MAX BAER (Jethro)

Stars of the ANDY WILLIAMS SHOW

The Good Time Singers

CAPITOL RECORDING ARTISTS

SPIKE JONES and HELEN GRAYCO

with the CITY SLICKERS

YONELY

INTERNATIONAL MUSICAL HUMORIST

RUDENKO BROTHERS
Foremost Jugglers

MALDONADOS
Dancers Supreme

Extra Added Attraction

THE HILARIOUS

HOMER and JETHRO

RCA Recording Artists

COAST TO COAST TOUR

May 15—SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.
May 16—LONG BEACH, CALIF.
May 17—Matinee—FT. WAYNE, IND.
May 17—Evening—ST. LOUIS, MO.
May 19—DALLAS, TEXAS
May 20—FT. WORTH, TEXAS
May 21—HOUSTON, TEXAS
May 22—PITTSBURGH, PA.
May 23—CHICAGO, ILL.
May 24—Matinee—ST. PAUL, MINN.
May 24—Evening—MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
May 26—SIOUX FALLS, IOWA
May 27—DES MOINES, IOWA
May 28—CHARLOTTE, N. C.
May 29—BALTIMORE, MD.
May 30—PHILADELPHIA, PA.
May 31—Matinee—CLEVELAND, OHIO
May 31—Evening—MILWAUKEE, WISC.

BOOKED EXCLUSIVELY BY

ASSOCIATED BOOKING CORPORATION

JOE GLASER, President

50 WEST 57 STREET, NEW YORK 19 JUdson 2-7700

CHICAGO • MIAMI • HOLLYWOOD • LAS VEGAS • DALLAS • LONDON

VARIETY SINGLE RECORD T.I.P.S.

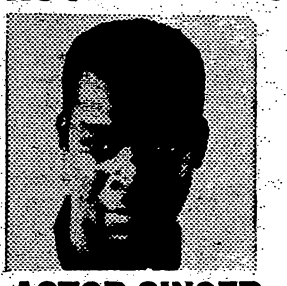
(Tune Index of Performance & Sales)

This Wk.	Last Wk.	No. Wks. On Chart		Label
1	3	4	TWIST & SHOUT Beatles	Tollie
2	—	1	CAN'T BUY ME LOVE Beatles	Capitol
3	10	4	SUSPICION Terry Stafford	Crusader
4	1	11	SHE LOVES YOU Beatles	Swan
5	6	6	MY HEART BELONGS TO YOU Bobby Vinton	Epic
6	2	12	I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND Beatles	Capitol
7	4	8	PLEASE PLEASE ME Beatles	Vee Jay
8	7	6	HELLO DOLLY Louis Armstrong	Kapp
9	8	6	GLAD ALL OVER Dave Clark Five	Epic
10	20	3	CROOKED LITTLE MAN Serendipity Singers	Phillips
11	15	4	SHOOP SHOOP SONG Betty Everett	Vee Jay
12	5	7	FUN FUN FUN Beach Boys	Capitol
13	13	4	THE WAY YOU DO THINGS Temptations	Gordy
14	9	9	DAWN (Go Away) Four Seasons	Philips
15	—	1	DO YOU WANT TO KNOW A SECRET Beatles	Vee Jay
16	16	7	KISSIN COUSINS Elvis Presley	Victor
17	28	3	NEEDLES & PINS Searchers	Kapp
18	25	3	THINK Brenda Lee	Decca
19	21	4	MONEY Kingsmen	Wand
20	14	6	HI HEEL SNEAKERS Tommy Tucker	Chess
21	11	12	JAVA Al Hirt	Victor
22	17	6	STAY Four Seasons	Vee Jay
23	—	1	FOREVER Pete Drake	Smash
24	22	3	DEAD MAN'S CURVE Jan & Dean	Liberty
25	—	1	HEY, BOBBA NEEDLE Chubby Checker	Parkway
26	26	3	NADINE Chuck Berry	Chess
27	—	1	YOU'RE A WONDERFUL ONE Marvin Gaye	Tamla
28	—	1	SHANGRI-LA Robert Maxwell	Decca
29	—	1	ROLL OVER BEETHOVEN Beatles	Capitol of Canada
30	23	8	PUPPY LOVE Barbara Lewis	Atlantic
31	24	7	BLUE WINTER Connie Francis	MGM
32	33	4	I SAW HER STANDING THERE Beatles	Capitol
33	12	9	CALIFORNIA SUN Rivieras	Riviera
34	18	6	FROM ME TO YOU Beatles	Vee Jay
35	—	1	BITS & PIECES Dave Clark Five	Epic
36	—	1	HIPPY HIPPY SHAKE Swinging Blue Jeans	Imperial
37	—	1	WHITE ON WHITE Danny Williams	UA
38	19	9	NAVY BLUE Diane Renay	20th-Fox
39	—	1	NEW GIRL IN SCHOOL Jan & Dean	Liberty
40	—	1	THAT'S THE WAY BOYS ARE Lesley Gore	Mercury
41	—	1	THANK YOU GIRL Beatles	Vee Jay
42	—	1	MY GUY Mary Wells	Motown
43	—	1	TELL IT ON THE MOUNTAIN Peter, Paul & Mary	W. B.
44	—	1	EBB TIDE Lenny Welch	Cadence
45	36	2	ANGELITO Rene & Rene	Jox
46	37	2	GUESS WHO Sunglows	Sunglow
47	—	1	ALL MY LOVING Beatles	Capitol of Canada
48	45	8	WHO DO YOU LOVE Saphires	Swan
49	29	9	I LOVE YOU MORE AND MORE Al Martino	Capitol
50	30	9	SEE THE FUNNY LITTLE CLOWN Bobby Goldsboro	UA

Chi Tooter Local Bans Discotheque

Chicago, April 7.

Disk twirlers in supper clubs may be all the rage in Paris, at the Hotel Drake in New York, and on the Coast, but as far as the Chicago Federation of Musicians is concerned its "discotheque stay away from my door."



Chi AFM prexy Barney Richards has flatly turned down requests from the Buttery in the Ambassador East and the Town & Country Room in the Palmer House for diskologist shows with or without supporting live music per the AFM compromise at Shepheard's in Gotham.

As with most hotels in the Windy City, Richards' thumb-down is final since he could cut off the bands from the important convention and club date biz in the hostelries. The Ambassadors and the Palmer House are even less likely to test his authority because of the former's traditional society band policy in the Pump Room and the latter's show policy in the Empire Room.

Local 10 union execs have expressed surprise that the New York local went along with the compromise. "Any way you slice it," a board member told VARIETY, "it is taking work away from musicians. The players are being put out of work by their own records and are not being compensated for it."

The edict brings up the possiblity that Chi may be used as a base for a new attempt by the AFM to get performance fees from records per ASCAP. The issue, which was kicked around Congressional hearing rooms for years, may be in for another round of discussions.

BROCK PETERS

ACTOR-SINGER

"With his warm baritone and his thespianic talents, he . . . transports pewsters wherever and into whatever mood he wants."
—VARIETY.

Currently Appearing In:
THE PAWNBROKER
L-SHAPED ROOM
Mgt.: JO BASIL KING CI 6-3796

Announcing
Two Great Songs...
CIUMACHELLA &
THE LIGHTS OF ROMA

ARTIST-DISK DEALS

Wilbourne Harvill, Composer (copyright songs) interested in contacting publisher, publicity agent or investment agent, etc.

MUSIC to Suit All MOODS

Contact me at 8253 Appleton Drive
St. Louis 32, Mo.

ENTERTAINING BAND
FOR MIDTOWN
NEW YORK CITY
NITE CLUBS
BOX V-3598, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 10036

MANCINI SCORES AGAIN!

WITH HIS LATEST FILM SCORE!
This time the score abounds with feline fun and joyous Mancini melody. A romping package that includes tunes like "It Had Better Be Tonight," "The Pink Panther Theme," "Something for Sellers," "The Tiber Twist" and "Champagne and Quail." So, stock the "Panther" as fast as you can! It's a cat of a different color!

LPM/LSP-2795

RCA VICTOR

RCA The most trusted name in sound

On the Upbeat

New York

Dolores Hawkins has been set to record for MGM Records . . . Singer-guitarist Eddie Hazell into the Towne, Toronto, June 15 for two weeks . . . Shapiro-Bernstein Music formed a new ASCAP subsidiary, Camelback Mountain Music . . . Benny Goodman will play during the opening performance of a new George Balanchine ballet, to music by Morton Gould, at Lincoln Center April 29.

Jimmie Rodgers, Gale Garnett and other folk acts touring colleges April 8-23 . . . Award Music signed Gregory Carroll and Paul Kaufman to exclusive writing pacts . . . Chubby Checker opens at the Casino Royal, Washington, April 13 . . . Columbia Records leased space in 1650 Broadway for its Blackwood Music subsidiary . . . Hilda Polak joined staff of Gerald W. Purcell Associates in charge of concert bookings.

Wemar Music publishing the Johnny Brandon score for "Cindy," off-Broadway musical . . . Sammy Kaye touring the nation starting with Skyway Room in Memphis' Hotel Peabody April 17 . . . Bob Hilliard writing the lyrics to Bernard Green's music for Chrysler Corp.s "Show-Go-Round" at the World's Fair . . . Songstress Bernadette Castro into the Boulevard, Queens, April 17 for 10 days.

London

"Panorama," BBC-TV's top current affairs entry, profiled Brian Epstein, Beatles' manager . . . Granada-TV dickering with local diskeries re the release of an album of its just-recorded beat spectacular featuring Jerry Lee Lewis and Gene Vincent . . . Little Richard returning here May 8 . . . Ditto Connie Francis, it's reported . . . Island Records, one of the small waxeries here partly responsible for getting the Blue Beat phase off and running, secured a deal with EMI whereby the major diskery distributes Island's 180-tune catalog . . . Searchers' rhythm guitarist John McNally to be hospitalized for minor surgery following U. S. tour.

The HIT! OF THE WEEK

GINNY ARNELL

SINGS

I WISH I KNEW WHAT DRESS TO WEAR

and

HE'S MY LITTLE DEVIL

K 13226

M-G-M Records

DONNA LYNN

New CAPITOL Special Release

"JAVA-JONES"—(Java)

b/w "THINGS THAT I FEEL"

Management JACK WOLF and "BUGS" BOWER JU 6-5577

Maryland U. Singers Click in Mediterranean

Baltimore, April 7.

Although a late February concert date in Cyprus was cancelled because of political conditions, current tour of University of Maryland Madrigal Singers has been a musical click and a peaceful visit to Near East, members report.

The Singers, a group of 16 undergrad and grad students, are making tour as part of State Dept.'s cultural exchange program (one of six academic units participating) and have sung or will sing in Greece, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon, Morocco, Tunisia, Turkey and the UAR. Specialists in Renaissance and 16th-17th madrigals, they've added works of some contemporary American composers for this tour. On Easter Sunday group sang in Palestine's Garden of Gethsemane.

Besides appearances at the American College and University of Athens, they have concertized at such political opposites as the Turkish Airforce Base at Izrin and the Greek towns of Thessaloniki, Mytilene, Crete and Patras. Tour members report, however, that subject of Cyprus is rarely if ever raised with them but Cyprus date was scratched just to be on safe side.

Cleffer John Thompson Estate Set at $1,049,277

Tucson, April 7.

An amended inventory of the estate of Dr. John Thompson, composer and music educator who died here March 1, 1963, lists the appraisal at $1,049,277, which includes music copyrights valued at $553,655.

Tis other assets were real estate, stocks, bonds and cash. Principal beneficiaries in the iwll are his widow and two sons.

DEL SERINO JOINS BOURNE

Del Serino, pop songsmith, has joined Bourne Music's staff, working with Larry Taylor, general professional manager.

Bourne recently formed its own label, Murbo Records, and has issued several albums in conjunction with its educational department.

PETE SEEGER

CURRENTLY ON WORLD WIDE CONCERT TOUR

APRIL

POLAND

SOVIET UNION

Columbia Records/Folkways Records

REPRESENTED BY HAROLD LEVENTHAL Management, Inc.

200 W. 57th St. New York 19, N.Y.

Les Brown Spells Martin In 1st Grove, L.A., Stand

Los Angeles, April 7.

Freddy Martin, new entertainment director for Cocoanut Grove and whose own orch holds an all-time longtime record there, has set Les Brown's band for its first Grove stand June 4-July 4. Martin will be playing Newporter Inn, near Balboa, all summer.

Meanwhile, Martin will select other orchs to later spell his crew during summer at nitery.

Folk Music, Jazz Bashes Helped Soothe Studes At Florida's 'Muscle Beach'

By ODIE ANDERSON

Daytona Beach, April 7.

The tidal wave of college and university students engulfing this east Florida seashore city to varying degrees for the past two weeks is now subsiding, leaving in its wake an avalanche of empty beer cans, a sizable amount of cash and a sigh of relief from city police.

The exodus followed the climatic Easter Sunday peak, when an estimated 90,000 students, at a ratio of about eight boys to each girl, wound up the annual trek with a final sun, surf and "suds" spree.

The recovery from the vacation will doubtless take longer than that required for recovery from the mid-term exams, which prompt the celebration. Students were stacked in most of Daytona Beach's some 40,000 room rentals—reported an averaging $10 per day per person and some went as high as $25 a day per.

Exaggerated cowboy hats, of the Homer & Jethro type, were everywhere, with a barker-type plastic bowler — available at concession stands along the beach — running second in the choice for headgear. Frilly bikinis and Bermuda shorts were topped with heavy college sweatshirts, many bearing identifying school names.

Convertibles, compacts and sports cars bore license plates from Georgia, the Carolinas, Alabama, New York, Ohio and Kentucky predominantly, with a sprinkling from other states and in addition to the thousands from Florida.

Many students brought their own musical instruments, horns, guitars and bongo drums, and impromptu hootenanies and jam sessions sprang up along the 23 miles of public beach at all hours of the day and night, to supplement planned entertainment provided by city fathers.

Cued by belief in the soothing charm of music, a group of folk music artists sponsored by the Ford Motor Co. and a second jazz group headed by the Rev. Ed Beck of Nashville, an All-America U. of Kentucky basketball player, and sponsored by the local ministerial association, were imported on a trial basis.

Both groups gave scheduled concerts and informal day and night performances, spiced with talent hunts among the revelers. The success of the venture was acclaimed when, after the initial session, it was reported by cleanup crews that the surrounding area was completely lacking in empty beer cans Latter were considered acceptable ammunition by past vacationers who found displeasure in any particular event.

The excess of manpower gave the minority group of coeds a field day. But applied sexology seemed to be nixed, as the hordes of collegians exhibited a marked preference for togetherness, which prompted officers to limit gatherings to a mere 2,000.

Although bars did a banner business with the usually well-heeled youngsters, it was obvious that the majority, even among fraternity friends who fanned the firewater flames, were novices with intoxicants This, plus the uncooperative sunshine, probably accounts for students departing with more headaches than sunburns.

Boosey & Hawkes Names W.S. Pope V.P.-Gen. Mgr.

W. Stuart Pope has been named vice-prexy and general manager in the U.S. of Boosey & Hawkes, music publishers. He succeeds David Adams who returns to the London main office to take over the top music post there.

Pope most recently had been in Johannesburg, where he was general manager of the South African branch.

Inside Stuff—Music

It's more than a coincidence that Katyna Ranieri was selected by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences to sing the song, "More," on the awards ceremony show to be telecast April 13 over ABC-TV. Miss Ranieri is the wife of Riz Ortolani, composer of the tune from "Mondo Cane," which won one of the five song nominations. Her rendition was also heard on the film track and was one of the over 65 disk versions of "More" which publisher E. B. Marks Music snagged since the pic was released.

Once again, there's evidence that you can't keep a good song down. "I Wish You Love," which has been having a good run in the bestselling charts via the Gloria Lynne recording on the Everest label, is a 1946 copyright by Leeds Music. Tune was written by French singer-composer Charles Trenet. Charles Beach wrote the English lyric in 1956 and since that time the song has picked up 55 different recordings. The slice by Miss Lynne has been the biggest to date and has established "I Wish You Love" as a good sheet music copy seller, a relative rarity among current pop hits.

Lyle Kenyon Engel has come up with an unusual pocketbook compendium for Bantam titled "500 Songs That Made The All Time Hit Parade." Tied to the sing-along cycle, it includes the lyrics of 500 standards with due billing to the authors and coyright credits to the publishers. Engel also packaged a "Betsy McCall's Song Along Party" record as a promotion for McCall's magazine. Mag is advertising it at $2.98 and has sold over 5,000 copies to date.

Eight BMI-affiliated composers have been awarded 1964 John Simon Guggenheim Foundation Fellowships in music composition. They are William Balcom, Gene Gutche, Robert Helps, Ulysses Kay, Roger Reynolds, Halsey Stevens, Lester Trimble and Charles Whittenberg. They were part of 312 scholars, scientists and artists who received awards totally $1,882,000, representing the largest sum ever granted by the Foundation.

Wagner Chorale's Goodwill Tour of Central America

Washington, April 7.

The Roger Wagner Chorale left Los Angeles March 31 for a 10-week swing in Central America, the State Dept. disclosed here.

Group was selected on basis of recommendations from foreign service posts in the area and from the Dept.'s Advisory Committee on the Arts to send a choral group to that part of Latin America.

Goodman on Jazz

Continued from page 67

jazz today. He pointed to such successes as Miles Davis, Thelonious Monk, Ornette Coleman, John Coltrane and the Modern Jazz Quartet, citing that they are making it on their own terms.

Goodman then lashed into comments recently made in VARIETY by Norman Granz. Here in January with Ella Fitzgerald, impresario Granz, who had presented the "Jazz at the Philharmonic" tours, said, "Jazz was never really big in the United States and now there's almost nothing left."

A resident of Switzerland since 1959, Granz had noted that he hadn't promoted a JATP tour in the U.S. since 1957 and claimed, "I'm the only one who really made money in jazz." He said too, when reflecting on the pre-war big band era, "Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw were not really jazz bands as such. They were basically dance bands."

To this, Goodman responded, "He's always been considered the patron saint of jazz, yet when the business gets a little rough, he runs. And I think things had opened up a little for jazz before he came into it," Goodman wryly offered. "All he did was take a lot of established people and make a circus out of it.

"Sol Hurok will present some ballets and other things, and if he takes a bath he's doing it because he wants to. But certainly anybody who runs away from jazz like that has no right speaking about it.

"Nothing's changed," Goodman asserted. "Jazz musicians have always had problems. But you don't come in for the short ride and then quit. The jazz situation is not that bad. And if it is, you should go out and do something about it."

THE MOST UNPOPULAR GROUP in the universe

THE DAYTONES

July 16th at the New York World's Fair, New York State Pavilion

Hear Them Now on Jubilee #5452

BLESS MY LOVE

b/w KRAMBULI

D.J.'s Don't Pass This Up

Contact: Steve Blaine or Mickey Eichner

JUBILEE RECORDS

315 W. 48 St., N.Y. 19 PL 7-8570

MMMM

Program Tips!

MOONGLOW

BAJA

MARIMBA BAND

(Almo)

STAR DUST

NINO TEMPO AND APRIL STEVENS

(Atco)

MILLS MUSIC, INC.

New York, N. Y. 10019

BECKET

The Original Sound Track Music from The Paramount Picture "BECKET"

Released by Decca Records

FAMOUS MUSIC CORPORATION

The TOMMY DORSEY ORCHESTRA

Miami Beach 54

Area Code 305 - UNion 4-2733

SUBURBAN BUMPER NAME CROP

Tooter Union Hits Back at Hotel Ops In Shuttering of Major San Juan Inns

San Juan, April 7.

Abraham Pena, American Federation of Musicians (Local 468) president, expressed surprise that his union is being blamed for a decision to curtail or shut down four or five club operations in San Juan hotels during the coming slack season. He described the reports as planned "to discredit me personally and to weaken the membership" for upcoming contract negotiations.

Roberto Bouret, Puerto Rico Hotel Assn. executive director, told the local press four or five San Juan Hotels will either "curtail or close down nightclubs by April 15." Bouret placed the blame on the musicians' union because of what Bouret termed "an iron-clad requirement" to maintain a minimum of 17 musicians in all clubs of class-A rated hotels.

The Americana and Ponce de Leon hotels already have closed their nightclubs, and La Concha is on the brink of shutdown. Another hotel, the Conado Beach, indicated its nitery activities would be closed two nights a week during the off-season compared to one night off during the winter.

"This is a traditional weapon of hotels," said Pena. "They say they're going to cut" before wage talks begin. He asserted that hotels are attempting to put the working musician on a seasonal basis. "We

(Continued on page 78)

AGVA Refuses Booker's License to Salmaggi; He'll Seek Producer's Permit

Guido Salmaggi, now a resident of Honolulu, capital of America's island state, does not foresee himself unable to function because of the denial of his application for enfranchisement as a booker by the American Guild of Variety Artists. He learned of the union's rejection after leaving New York.

AGVA invoked an old ruling that no talent booker connected with an advertising agency may be licensed. An apparent fear that Salmaggi would collect commissions for hiring talent for the ad shop lies behind the ruling.

Salmaggi makes his headquarters in the Honolulu offices of The Milici Advertising Agency. The letterhead thereof identifies him as director of the Theatrical Promotion Dept. Salmaggi said that the agency would handle his advertising on theatrical ventures, not the other way round.

However, per suggestions made him, Salmaggi will apply to AGVA for a producer's franchise since this will be his essential role in promoting big name one-nighters in the Hawaiian city. Additionally he is contemplating straight concerts which would come under the jurisdiction of the American Guild of Musical Artists. He reports himself a member of good standing in the International Assn. of Concert Managers.

Salmaggi is due again in New York next month when he will receive an award at Carnegie Hall on May 23 from the Federation of Italian-American Democratic Organizations. This is an echo of his 10 years at Brooklyn's Academy of Music in presenting weekend grand opera, prior to moving to Hawaii with his family. His brother, Felix Salmaggi, now is impresario of the Brooklyn Opera Co.

500G Historical Project Bow in Myrtle Beach

Myrtle Beach, S.C., April 7.

A $500,000 historical and entertainment project will open here Memorial Day weekend. It will feature a reconstructed Indian village, a replica of the original Fort Carolina, re-enactment of an attack on the fort from a Spanish ship and other attractionns.

Backing the venture is a group of businessmen from Anderson and Greenwood, S. C.

R&R 'Cavalcade of Stars' Solid $6,064 in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, April 7.

"Cavalcade of Stars" grossed $6,064 and drew 3,022 rock 'n' roll fans to the Civic Auditorium last Saturday (28). Capacity is 4,100.

Show, which headlined Dion, and featured the Ronettes and Myron Lee, surprised with its solid take. Earlier in the week, the first of two performances scheduled on the Saturday night, was cancelled with only $150 in the till. Boxoffice was expected to be slow, but a heavy door sale turned loss to a profit.

Promotion was by radio station CKY and Trans-Canada Attractions.

Nazarro's Firing Stirs Pitt Protests

Pittsburgh, April 7.

Nat Nazarro Jr., who had served the American Guild of Variety Artists as its head here for 25 years and was the only original executive member of the union at the time of his dismissal two weeks ago, is now in the middle of a showdown fight between over 400 members of the Pitt branch and the national interim committee over his firing.

Leaders of the Pitt branch, following a meeting last week at AGVA headquarters, arranged for all members to file a formal protest of Nazarro's dismissal. In addition to AGVA members, other labor leaders who have been friends of Nazarro since he took over as manager of Local 7, Pittsburgh, in 1940, are also joining in the protest. Nazarro has always been active in trade union affairs in Pitt and is a delegate to the Allegheny County Labor Council.

It was the inability of the first AGVA executive secretary here, Les Litomy, to get along with other labor heads that brought Nazarro into the picture here in 1940. Litomy asked Nazarro, a prominent show biz figure here at the time, to smooth out a few rough spots in AGVA's organizing attempts and when Nazarro did the job, Litomy turned the whole deal over to him and went back to New York.

Nazarro was a club date act in Pitt at the time, a few years after he worked at the Penn Theatre as emcee for over a year at $2,500 a week. He was permitted to continue working because there was no salary connected with the job but when the union decided to bar its reps from outside work, he was paid $50 a week. Some 23 years later, his salary had gone to $100 a week with an extra $25 for expenses.

National interim committee re-

(Continued on page 76)

Jazz Flies Birdland, N.Y., Shifting to Revue Policy

After many years on a jazz policy, New York's Birdland will shift to a revue format. First show under the new blueprint goes in April 16 with Lloyd Price as headliner. The Birdland, currently on a weekends-only policy, will change to a full date with the new show.

Birdland long was the one of the most successful jazz rooms in New York. The progressive jazzsters made it a haven for a youthful set of niterygoers, most of whom sat in the gallery where they could view the proceedings without buying anything.

Birdland, of late, has been handicapped because of the failure of new names to come along in the jazz firmament, and due to increased competition from Greenwich Village spots.

TOP SALARY LURE IN LARGESEATERS

Major headliners activity is increasingly veering outside the major cities and into the suburbs. While New York City nightclubs, outside of hotels, face a name blackout, the suburban spots with their huge capacity and kingsized parking lots are able to snag an ever-mounting supply of names. The latest to enter the name buying sweepstakes in the New York area is the San Su San, Mineola, L. I., which is throwing out offers up to $15,000 for top talent.

This amount is on par with the deals pacted by the Town & Country Club, Brooklyn, but under those shelled out by the Latin Casino, Cherry Hill, N. J. The latter spot is one of the highest salary dispensers in the country outside of Las Vegas.

The San Su San reportedly offered $15,000 to Johnny Mathis, who turned down the date. The bills that the spot has been booking are fairly high. Jerry Vale is reportedly drawing about $10,000 for 10 days at that site. In addition, the San Su San has booked Pat Henry on the bill with him.

There are other combinations that have been set at the Mineola spot that will require a lot of bankrolling. Buddy Greco is paired with Ronnie Martin and Billy Eckstine is coupled with Nipsey Russell, all of whom comprise among the most expensive cards in the New York area.

Most major headliners, also working in television and/or films, are now confining their nitery dates to Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, Miami

(Continued on page 78)

AGVA, U.S. Dept. Foil Scale-Cutting Scheme in Circus

The American Guild of Variety Artists and the U.S. Immigration Service have tripped up a scheme whereby circus performers were being imported into the U.S. to work under established union scales. Eight girl, according to AGVA, were brought to the U.S. via Florida to work in the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus through contractor Digger Pugh, a British subject.

AGVA contends that the original contract called for Beatty-Cole Bros. to pay Pugh $520 weekly for the girls' services. AGVA scale in this situation is $100 per performer. Union charged that Pugh told the girls they would get $28 weekly, and out of that sum they were to reimburse him for their passage from England.

At the outset one of the girls refused to work on the webbing for which they were imported. Another was deported last week after being nabbed as a shoplifter. AGVA then intervened and ordered the circus to pay union scale for the remaining performers. It also got the Immigration Service to help end this scale-cutting practice by working with the union in cases of this nature.

Abbe May Fulfill Dates ABC Booked With Cugie

Bandleader Xavier Cugat and singer Abbe Lane having separated maritally and probably professionally, indications are that the dates booked for the duo by Joe Glaser's Associated Booking Corp. may be shifted to Miss Lane as a single. Nothing is definite yet.

The team has been booked to reopen the season at the Hotel Plaza's Persian Room, N.Y. Sept. 9. Inn has not yet been apprised of disposition of the date.

Meanwhile, Cugie is testing a new act on his own. He's combined with Dorothy Dandridge and bongo player Candido for a turn which breaks in at the Elmwood Casino, Windsor, Ont., starting Monday (13).

Webb Hotels to Form Talent Buying Combine With Vegas-Tahoe as Starters

Las Vegas, April 7.

The first talent buying combine between Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe is now being formulated. The Sahara Hotel here will be paired with the new Sahara-Tahoe now being built by the Sahara-Nevada Corp., a Del E. Webb Corp. subsidiary. In addition, it's anticipated that the huge buying power of these hotels will be augmented by an expanded talent policy at the corporation's downtown Mint, which is mapping a 22-story highrise building to be started shortly.

The Tahoe operation is expected to open in June of next year. It'll be a 350-room structure on 14 floors with the main nitery room seating about 800 and the lounge having a capacity of nearly 500. In addition to the Sahara, which is in the name sweepstakes in Vegas, the buying power of this combine is expected to be enormous. Not figuring in these calculations is the firm's sister Phoenix Towne House, currently under construction, which will be opened next year with comparatively modestly budgeted entertainment.

The expansion of the Webb hotel holdings is going on under direction of A. A. McCollum, president of the Sahara-Nevada Corp., who succeeded Milton Prell in that post when latter moved up to board chairman.

McCollum pointed out that Vegas, particularly is attracting patronage from an increasingly wider orbit. He cited the case of southern California which in former years provided Las Vegas with 75% of its patronage. Today, that area provides only 65% of the visitors coming to the resort. But because of California's phenomenal growth, he added, there are more tourists from the Los Angeles area today.

Part of the Nevada growth, McCollum said, stems from the phenomenal selling to huge organizations. Las Vegas, he noted, is selling conventions to an ever widening area, and once the super-jets now on the drawing boards become a reality, it's fairly safe to assume that they'll draw visitors from Europe and other parts of the world as well.

One of the factors contributing to the tourism rise in Nevada is the ability of the resort to handle children. The Easter school holidays has been attracting the family trade, particularly at the Sahara. For that reason, it's not likely that the Sahara will turn to a nude policy since the family trade is to important to it.

Geallis Rolls 2d Hellenic Fest April 21 in Gotham

James Geallis, whose credits include production of a number of low-budget feature films, is repeating his last spring venture in concert management. He'll unveil a second annual Hellenic-Near East Music Festival April 21 at Philharmonic Hall, N.Y. Greece, Lebanon, Syria and Armenia will provide talent.

Ethnic components are purposeful, in order to dispose of tickets to the foreign colonies around New York and Chicago, the two principal stands. He proposes to tour his company to campus and other dates, as yet unbooked.

Lined up for the unit are Nicos Gournaris, Buddy Sarkissian Orchestra, Eddie Kochark, Hekki Obadia, Belcanto Trio, Kakraman, George Stratis. Others will be added.

More Raids Hit N.O. Stripperies

New Orleans, April 7.

Police continued their crackdown on Bourbon Street nightclubs Thursday (2), arresting 50 persons in 10 striptease spots. Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarusso said legal steps will be taken to put the clubs out of business.

Raided were the Sho-Bar, Blue Angel, Flamingo Club, Gunga Den, Chez Paree, Circus Club, Papa Joe's Ringside, Old French Opera House, Hotsy Totsy and Freida's Parisienne. Those arrested included dancers, barmaids, bartenders and the holders of liquor permits.

Giarusso said police made an "in-depth" investigation of the clubs which he stated were victimizing patrons and perpetrating sex crimes.

A few days before the raids, the Guys and Dolls strippery was padlocked for one year under orders issued by Civil District Court Judge Fred J. Cassibry.

On the heels of Thursday's raids, two Bourbon Street nitery proprietors said they have eliminated striptease shows because "stripping is finished in New Orleans." They pointed out that changing times and the district attorney have made stripping out of date here.

The clubs are Poodle's Patio and Madama Francine's. They will close for about a week for remodeling and will offer bands and dancing when they reopen.

Brothers Four Playing The Global Jet Circuit

Jet age show business permits such jumps as the Brothers Four closing in Tokyo June 10 and being in London June 13 for rehearsals of the new BBC-TV commercial network. From England the folksters go to Sweden and other European bookings for four-to-six weeks.

Their click "Green Fields" and "Green Leaves" disks sparked their return to Japan for 10 days of bookings in Tokyo and other cities from May 23 until June 10. The freres played Japan once before in April, '62. Mort Lewis of ITA is handling them.

Liberace Smash $21,500 In 2 East One-Nighters

Liberace scored heavily in two eastern concerts last week. His date at the Durfee Theatre, Fall River, last Wednesday (1) resulted in a record one-day gross of $12,600. Top was $6.

Liberace also did excellently at the Masonic Temple, Scranton, Friday (3) with $8,900 at a $5 ceiling.

Northeast England, Once A Vaude Stronghold, Now Flourishing With Cafe Acts

Newcastle-on-Tyne, April 7.

Cabaret entertainment has a new vogue as niteries and restaurant floorshows boom in this northeast England area, formerly a stronghold of vaude.

Amid a score of nightclubs and restaurants now featuring live talent, mainly warblers, are two prominent ones, La Dolce Vita and The Blue Parrot. La Dolce Vita has bid for Buddy Greco for a six-night appearance at a salary of $6,000, and the Blue Parrot restaurant is billing name acts like Shirley Bassey.

Clubs in the Newcastle-on-Tyne city area include Alhambra's Old-Tyme Music Hall, The Cavendish, Club A'Gogo, Club 69, Emerson's, Flamingo, Lido Continental and Michael's.

The mining town of Ashington, in Northumberland, features the Cabaret Room in its Portland Hotel. Local and London acts are booked, and the room has a resident line of dancers.

Current boom in niteries is believed due to a new yen for live acts following a surfeit of tv, plus a natural followup to the void caused by the shuttering of local vauderies.

AGVA Says Agents Shift Jurisdiction To Get Around 15% Commission Ban

The American Guild of Variety Artists and the Artists Representatives Assn. are on the verge of a jurdisdictional tiff over the question of variety concerts. AGVA charges its jurisdiction was bypassed at a recent Allan Sherman show in St. Louis. The performance was ruled a straight concert and under American Guild of Musical Artists jurisdiction.

AGVA has taken the position that this is a test case which may determine the future of all such concerts. AGVA spokesman recalled that a recent ruling by the union's national board rejected an ARA request for a 15% commission on promotional dates.

AGVA regards the Sherman concert as a promotional stand under its jurisdiction and feels that the shift to another union was made in order to circumvent its 15% commission ban. A discussion of the matter was held Monday (6) with ARA and other meets are also slated.

ARA, in addition, is seeking talks with AGVA on the status of personal managers who bypass talent agencies. Although AGVA has no jurisdiction over personal managers, it may attempt to aid the agency org by enforcing existing legislation that performers may be booked only by agents who are franchised by AGVA.

La. High Court Upholds Peeler's Obscenity Rap For 'Sexual Indecency'

New Orleans, April 7.

The Louisiana State Supreme Court has upheld the obscenity conviction of Barbara Jean Vines, French Quarter stripper. Miss Vines and Agatha Sullivan were arrested Jan. 11, 1963, at the Silver Frolics Club on Bourbon Street, for "intentionally performing in the presence of other persons with the intent of arousing sexual desire, sexually indecent dancing, posing and body movements."

Judge J. Bernard Cocke of Criminal District Court found Miss Vines guilty on May 13, 1963. Miss Sullivan was found not guilty on April 8, 1963.

Miss Vines appealed, alleging that the law and the evidence were insufficient to sustain a guilty verdict. However, Justice Frank W. Hawthorne of the Supreme Court opined that from the evidence presented at her trial "the inference is inescapable and the appellant (Miss Vines) performed these movements and actions with the intent of arousing sexual desire."

Miss Vines was sentenced by the lower court to pay a fine of $300 and serve 60 days in the Parish Prison.

Dave Clark 5 in May 29 Bow at Carnegie Hall

The Dave Clark Five will get their first Carnegie Hall, N.Y., date May 29 under auspices of Theatre Three Productions. They'll do two shows at 5 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Earlier times were scheduled because of the extreme youth of the expected audience.

Theatre Three, headed by Sid Bernstein, also produced the Easter week rock 'n' roller at the Paramount Theatre, N.Y.

'Opry' Tall $8,140, Regina

Regina, Sask., April 7.

A healthy gross of $8,140 was racked up for two performances of "Grand Ole Opry" in the 1,860-seat Exhibition Auditorium, Saturday (21). Total attendance was 3,529. Tickets were scaled to $2.50.

Unit, booked by Marlin Payne of Billings, Mont., and handled locally by Charlie Underhill, featured Buck Owens, George Jones, Roy Clark, Ernest Asworth and Sheb Wooley.

Stewart's Highland Swing

Glasgow, April 7.

Andy Stewart, Scot minstrel-comedian who recently returned from a quick tred to the U. S., starts a tour of principal Scot towns April 23 at the Alhambra Theatre, Dunfermline, an area starved of live vaude. He will head a package show for three nights at the cinema.

Stewart's current highland and lowlands swing will be mainly through cinemas on the Caledonian Associated Cinemas circuit. He'll spend the summer heading his own show at the H. M. Theatre, Aberdeen, before short seasons in Newcastle-on-Tyne and Liverpool.

Pop Concert

Charles Aznavour

(Carnegie Hall, N.Y.)

Felix G. Gerstman, in association with Henri Goldgran presentation; assisted by Henry Birs, piano; Andre Gerard, drums; Francois Guin, trombone and flute, Pierre Sim, contrabass; Pierre Urban, guitar. At Carnegie Hall, April 4, '64; $5.90 top.

Charles Aznavour, for those who have not seen him, is built like Eddie Cantor, with the face and delivery of a latterday Al Jolson. There isn't the rich, honeyed voice of Jolson, but there is a more sophisticated showmanship and there are all those self-written songs. According to the Gallic authority who sat alongside this reviewer, the ancient art of the trouvere, or Provencale troubadour, has been revived in France and Aznavour is one of the four new practitioners using the medium of pop ditties to carry on an ancient and serious art expression. He is also a terrific entertainer.

In his second annual Carnegie Hall concert Saturday (14), the bard of the boulevards fed more than two dozen of his compositions to a largely French audience overflowing the hall to 250 chairs on stage, delivering the well-paced program in two 50-minute acts. Ever mindful of his U.S. listeners, Aznavour explained the theme or import of his French lyrics and in some cases sang a good English translation.

First impression is that this guy could be a waiter in a not-too-fastidious restaurant, or the guy who talks barbers into letting him put showcards in their windows, but as he warms up, his personality impresses so deeply that he won't be forgotten or mistaken for anyone else. He may be the image for Pierre Average, but he's also what every Parisian housewife would like her husband to be.

The songs run the range from "Baby, you've let yourself become slobby, so try to jack it up because I still love you" to a barker type of rouser:, "Come See The Comedians!" Along the way he likes Paris in the month of May, begs "Sarah" to write the folks a letter, asks "Qui?", advises that "You've Got To Learn," bemoans that he is 20 years older that his wife and hates her second husband already, plays an old, unsuccessful song & dance man waiting in the wings to go on, and achieves the miracle of doing a valid impression of Chevalier without strawhat or protruding lip.

For all of this there was no Beatle-like ovation, but plenty of loud and sincere mitting. He roused them with a wailer titled. "I Lost My Head," got big returns from "Lazy Days of Youth" in English, picked a woman in the front row as the target for "You Exaggerate," and switched from upbeat to blues as the situation called for.

Backing the chanter was a capable imported group, consisting of Andre Gerard, drums; Francois Guin, trombone, Pierre Sim, contrabass, Pierre Urban, guitar and Henry Birs, whose otherwise okay piano was much too intrusive on several of the supposedly piano passages.

If the N.Y. State Legislature is going to pass any laws to help the theatre, the first one should make it a penal offense for a photographer to wander about on stage, destroying the mood at a performance for which an audience has paid its money, as one did here.

Leve.

Inside Stuff—Vaude

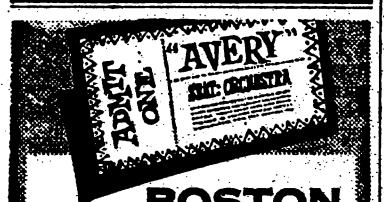
Boston's $20,000,000 War Memorial Auditorium in the back bay section is expected to be open in November. But city officials still have not come to grips with the need for adequate parking for the new convention centre, which is also expected to be a showcase for one-nighters, concerts, band, circus, vaude attractions, ballet and even opera. Feeling is that the approximately 3,000 parking spaces to be provided within the huge Prudential Center, now under construction, will take care of only a fraction of the cars of those attending events. Meantime, it's understood that Donnelly Memorial Theatre, recently sold to the Christian Science Church, will not book after June.

Richard Hearne, English vaude performer, known as Mr. Pastry, has started a drive to raise $30,000 to build Scotland's first water-therapy treatment pool for spastic children. In the past eight years, the Mr. Pastry Swimming Pool Fund, founded by Hearne, has raised more than $300,000 towards the provision of 36 similar pools in the U.K.

The Alhambra Theatre in Bradford, w.k. north of England vaudery, recently staged a special golden jubilee bill to mark 50 years of show biz. Artistes who participated included Yana, Edmund Hockridge, Freddy Frinton and Billy Dainty. House opened in March, 1914, with the Wylie-Tate revue, "A Year in an Hour," starring Nellie Wallace. An independent theatre, the Alhambra is the only survivor of Bradford's six theatres and music-halls.

Vaude, Cafe Dates

New York



Poncie Ponce pacted for the Casino Royal, Washington, starting April 30 . . . Betty Madigan lined up for the Aruba Caribbean, Aruba, June 29. Vi Velasco goes in Aug. 31 . . . Harmonica Rascals set to entertain at the Texas Prison Rodeo, Huntsville, Oct. 18 and 25 . . . Anita Bryant to work the Rutland (Vt.) Fair Sept. 7 . . . Frank Fontaine booked for a string of one-nighters in May by General Artists Corp.

Personal manager Jerry Levy in from the Coast . . . Van Johnson set for a 10-day nitery tour of South America starting May 15. Itinerary includes Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro and Lima . . . Maria Manville started at Jilly's Monday (6) . . . Skater Dick Button off on a promotion tour for "Ice Travaganza," the blades show he's producing with Paul Feigay for the N. Y. World's Fair . . . Clancy Bros. & Tommy Makem tapped for the Crescendo, Hollywood, May 6.

Chicago

Trini Lopez has been set for Mister Kelly's July 27-Aug. 12 . . . Jack Jones down for the same spot Sept. 21-Oct. 10 . . . Jimmy Edmunds has signed with GAC and is booked for a series of fair dates in the Midwest in August and September . . . Frank Fontaine headlines the Republican State Convention at Albuquerque, N.M., May 23 . . . Julius LaRosa plays the Chippewa, Wisc., Home Show April 23-27, the Cabana Motel, Dallas, April 29 for 11 days and the Tidelands, Houston, May 11 for a week.

One of Bob Simpson's "Hits of Broadway" units has been booked into the Candado Beach Hotel, Puerto Rico, June 4 for a month with options . . . Jimmy Dean is inked for the Sidney, Ia., fair Aug. 11 for six days . . . Jimmy Durante down for the Ak-Sar-Ben, Omaha, June 8 for three days . . . Eileen Barton skedded for the Roostertail, Detroit, May 18 for six days.

BOSTON SMASH HIT
THE GLAMOROUS NEW HOTEL
AVERY
Show folks are raving about the all new Hotel Avery. All new, large, beautifully furnished deluxe rooms with private bath, television & radio. Air conditioning.
AVERY & WASHINGTON STS.

"THE COMEDIAN"
The Only Real Monthly PROFESSIONAL GAG SERVICE
THE LATEST — THE GREATEST — THE MOST-UP-TO-DATEST
Now in its 160th issue, containing stories one-liners, poemettes, song titles, hecklers, audience stuff, monologs, parodies, double gags, bits ideas, intros, impressions and impersonations, political, interruptions. Thoughts of the Day, Humorous Views of the News, Vignettes, etc. (20 Pages).
$25 YR.—SINGLE ISSUES $3
Foreign
$35 YR.—SINGLE ISSUES $4
No C.O.D.'s
BILLY GLASON, 200 W. 54th St. New York City 10019, CO 5-1316

AUCTION
WED. APRIL 15th 10 A.M.
NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR
WORLD OF FOOD PAVILION
ONE DAY ONLY! On the Premises
Concessionaires, Operators . . . COME TO THE FAIR AT YOUR PRICE!
If you've given up on working the Fair because of high costs . . . DON'T! Now you can get choice space, some of it already equipped, in the spectacular World of Food at the price you set yourself! Don't miss out on this one day opportunity to cash in on 100 million customers in the best spot, in the biggest Fair of all times!
BIG FREE EXHIBITS INSURE PROFITS!
You can't miss when big space, free exhibits by such famous names as Hershey, Lipton, Whirlpool, Knox Gelatin, Morton Salt and many others are pulling in customers for you.
FINEST LOCATION ON FAIRGROUNDS
World of Food is just 75 feet from main gate where 65% of all visitors will enter and leave. Right at only IRT, BMT and L. I. RR Stations. Next to parking area for Shea Stadium.
COME TO THE AUCTION AND GET YOUR SPOT AT A BARGAIN!
For further Information and Brochure contact
J. L. TODD AUCTION CO.
49 West 37th Street, New York City
Phone: 212 LW 4-2500
LICENSED • BONDED • INSURED

JOYCE'S CHOICE
TOP TALENT
KEN CURTIS
Singing Film Star
Also on TV's
"RIPCORD"
"GUNSMOKE"
TIMMY BROWN
Singing Halfback
No. 1 Ground Gainer of the
PHILA. EAGLES
MERCURY RECORDS
BILL HALEY
KING OF ROCK 'N ROLL
Oyster Barrill Club
Quebec City
BOBBY LEWIS
"TOSSIN' AND TURNIN'"
ABC-PARAMOUNT RECORDS
5 FEMALE BEATLES
Fast Rising Instrumental And Vocal Quintet
Watch New Record Release
VERA ALLIK
Finland's Youthful Starlet
in "OXANA"
JANET STEWART
Song Stylist, Current
Sheraton-King Edward Hotel
Toronto, Ont.
SISTER ROSETTA THARPE
World Famous Singer-Guitarist
Return Tour in April of British Isles
Write — Wire — Phone
JOLLY JOYCE AGENCY
58 West 48th St.
New York City
PL 7-1786 CO 5-9857
Affiliated Offices:
Phila., Las Vegas, Europe

RICKI DUNN IS A THIEF!
Dir.: Harry Greben, 203 N. Wabash Av. DEarborn 2-0996, Chicago, Illinois

GAY'S GAGS
Published Monthly. Topical gags. Original one liners. Jokes. Over 300. Sample Copy $2. $12 per Year. Six back issues (latest) $5; 12 back issues (latest) $9; 40 back issues (first) $22.
Send checks to EDDIE GAY
P.O. Box 181, New York, N. Y. 10023

Returned From European Tour
DON TANNEN
International Comedian

BUCK BUCKLEY

QUARTER WIT
Currently Touring West
with VEGAS VARIETIES REVUE
Direction: CARLSON ARTISTS CORP.
Birmingham

Rock 'n' Rollers Hit Merry B.O. Beat With N.Y. Par's 175G; Bklyn Fox 155G

Rock 'n' roll paid off in the New York area in two of the three instances where it was tried during the Easter school holidays. The N.Y. Paramount scored an impressive $175,000 for the 10-day run of its show, while the Brooklyn Fox taped out a merry $155,000 for the same period which ended Sunday (5).

The third venture, projected on a two-a-day basis at the Ambassador Theatre, N.Y., a legit house, gave two shows and fizzled out. Layout, sans film, was headed by deejay Clay Cole, who brought in an expensive cast with him.

The Paramount's presentation, headed by the Six Good Guys of WMCA, was produced by Sid Bernstein of Theatre Three Productions in conjunction with Martin Kummer. It was one of the rare instances in which a show was booked under auspices outside the Par staff. Included in the layout were Sam Cooke, Jackie Wilson, Bobby Rydell, James Brown & Revue, Leslie Gore, Four Seasons, Ruby & The Romantics, Dean Jean, Terry Stafford, Chris Crosby, American Beatles, Devotions and the King Curtis Orch. Pic was "No My Darling Daughter" (Indie).

The Brooklyn Fox cast was headed by Murray "The K" Kaufman. It included Chuck Jackson, Johnny Tillotson, Diane Warwick, The Tymes, Dick & Deedee, Younger Bros., among others. Film was "Cavalry Command" (Indie).

The rock 'n' roll sessions have become the only major stageshows in the New York area with exception of the Radio City Music Hall and the Apollo, which are regular vaude users. The Brooklyn Fox has been having these displays twice annually, the other try being during The Christmas holidays. The Par venture marked the first stager in six years.

Nothing Like Cafe Field For Polishing an Actor, Eddie Albert Points Out

Ability to play the cafe field is one of the best bargaining weapons a performer possesses, according to Eddie Albert, now at the Latin Quarter, N.Y. Prior to his current tour, he hasn't appeared in niteries for a decade.

Albert now says he will devote four months of the year to the cafes. Through this move he hopes to increase his value in television and films by giving his acting skills a sharper edge.

Albert declared that most Hollywoodites would like to go either on stage or in niteries but are not doing so because of one factor—terror. It's especially prevalent in the thespians who have devoted most of their careers to films and tv.

There are many performers who can be perusaded to appear in a play, where writers and directors shape the show and the performance. But in cafes, an artist is on his own completely no matter how many boys or girls are behind him or how many writers and choreographers have labored over his act.

Albert said that a good cafe act, as far as he is concerned, is never the same twice. In fact he is considering introducing a fire-eating bit in his current LQ stint. He learned how to eat fire while working in Marc Blitzstein's "Reuben Reuben." The only part he doesn't like about it is the gasoline fumes.

Albert asserted that a performer really has no way of completing his education until he starts meeting the public. By working cafes, he feels that he can get the most rounded instruction. It is also easier to adapt to other fields when going from cafes or vaudeville.

Albert personally got his basic education in legit through a series of George Abbott hits. His first major smash was in "Brother Rat," where the audience would return after intermission still laughing at the noted curtain line at the end of the first act.

McKellar & Scot Unit On 11-Wk. Down Under Tour

Glasgow, April 7.

Kenneth McKellar, a top Scot singer, planes from here tomorrow (Wednesday) for an 11-week tour of New Zealand and Australia. In the vaude unit with him will be Jack Radcliffe, Scotland's senior comedian; danceband maestro Jimmy Shand, chirper Moira Anderson, and folk singers Robin Hall and Jimmy MacGregor.

On his return, McKellar will sing in three recitals at the International Edinburgh Festival. He then planes out for a 10-week tour of North America.

Ken Martel Joins ITA

Ken Martel, who last week resigned from General Artists Corp.'s tv dept., has joined International Talent Associates where he will coordinate the eastern and Coast tele section. He will work with Harry Bell and Dick Birkmeier, who will continue in the tele and commercials wings at ITA.

In another move, Shelly Brodsky resigned from ITA to join the Martin Kummer office. He'll work in handling talent as well as tele packaging.

Set 'Tokyo by Night' Unit For Tour of U.S. Hotels

Tokyo, April 7.

Contracts have reportedly been signed for a show packaged by Raoul Appel at the Toyko Hilton to make an extensive tour of U.S. hotels under banner of Associated Booking Corp.

ABC v.p. Bob Phillips caught the show at the hostelry during his visit here a coupla months ago and launched talks with Appel at that time. Appel, a choreographer, is the hotel's entertainment coordinator.

Unit, to be tagged "Tokyo by Night," will headline Wilma Reading and Keiko Chiaki, both thrushes, and also 10 dancers and a few showgirls. Vibes man Seiji Hiraoka, whose combo had been backing the acts during their outings at the Hilton's Starhill supper club, is expected to make the trek to baton the accompanying Yank bands, at least during the early dates.

All of the performers are Japanese except for Miss Reading, a sepia singer from Jamaica with lotsa looks who has been playing the Far East in recent years.

Shipping out May 6, the package will play the Hawaiian Hilton en route, then the Claremont near San Francisco, Palmer House, Chi, and the Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y., before moving into the Riviera, Las Vegas, for a long run.

Shelly Davis, H'wood Cafe Op, Turns 'Do-It-Yourself' Act Buyer For His 2 Sites

Hollywood, April 7.

Shelly Davis, who assumed operation of the local Crescendo and Interlude last autumn after having flacked the niteries when they were owned by Gene Norman, avers he no longer is going to book talent blindly, but hit the road, catch acts before buying them.

"Booking from a catalog won't answer the problem of putting good bills together," he argues. "Buying from agents' available sheets without personally scouting an act can make you miss some great talent and big draws."

Davis admits he has lately bought some acts blind, but quickly advises that a new flock of openers set over coming months all have been o.o.'d by him. Among turns are:

Henny Youngman, added to April 15 bill; Clancy Bros., Bill Cosby and Timi Yuro, May 6; Jackie Vernon, May 27; Phil Foster, June 17; Barbara McNair, July 17; Womenfolk, Fran Warren, Pearl Williams, Peggy Lord and Lenny Kent for subsequent slots.

Davis also feels there's more rising new young talent to be found in New York than Hollywood—as far as niteries are concerned, "especially in Greenwich Village."

PAT BOONE SCORES IN 12-DAY TOUR OF JAPAN

Tokyo, April 7.

Promoter Tats Nagashima, who has presented many top names here, called the just-concluded Pat Boone 12-day tour of four Japan key cities "the most successful I've ever handled."

Except for two nights in this city's New Latin Quarter, the singer played concert dates, accompanied by conductor-pianist Paul Smith, drummer Stan Levey and bass player Sam Cheifetz. First part of the shows in the halls was played by the Sylte Sisters.

Tickets to Boone's dates were virtually sold out in advance—a rare situation here. Audiences overflowed to standees — right through the final night and in some cases there were also fans sitting in the aisles.

High expectation of promotional values from Boone's presencee led to release of an extra shelf of his records shortly before his arrival. Singer's Dot disks are handled here by Ken Cole's Cosdel Inc., which presses and distributes through Victor of Japan. Cole had Boone's final pair of concerts taped. Result will be a Dot LP for release here with at least several singles from the sessions making the U.S. market.

Before the unit's departure for a coupla shows in Hong Kong, Boone's manager Jack Spina was huddling with promoter Nagashima about a return tour.

Burley's Back to Buff With 6 Peelers (Count 'Em) & Discount Les Comics

Buffalo, April 7.

"Burlesk is back," it says here. And you'd better believe it. Because it says here also that "it's live at the Palace" with six (count 'em) strippers and four (discount 'em) comedians. So what do you want for $1.80? Egg in your noggin, just because it's Easter?

The Palace is off-to-Buffalo again with this burley pitch coyly titled "Gee Whiz." It is announced as being "the only burlesk in New York"—which looks like a break for the rest of the State.

The peeling follows a drought of several months dedicated to nudist pictures at the spot. Now, the nudie well has apparently run dry and the house is resuming its traditional 30-year burlesque policy at least for the nonce. And thereby hangs this review.

What has kept this operation alive for three decades is something for showmen to ponder. The medium which once furnished the training ground for numerous national and international stage celebrities has now deteriorated to the point of no return.

Scanty Talent

There does not seem to be a smidgen of talent in a whole season's stageful. Current show marks the beginning of resumed stage burlesque policy for the Spring season, with most of the personnel in for two-week stints.

Company comprises 10 people with Jet Powers, Ann Young, Miss Jubilee, Joni Jones, Shimmy Queen and G. Williams as strippers in that order and with the alleged comics as interludes between each grand peel. The treatment starts with the younger and less experienced ecdysiasts and progresses to the smoother and more sophisticated exponents. All reveal the ultimate in the art of epidermal display which at times almost attains the unattainable.

The "comedy" is practically indescribable. Everything goes—and all the way. One of the most interesting manifestations of the performance is that while the applause for even the hardest working and most seductive of the strippers was merely desultory, the comedians drew roars of laughter.

Scatological Levels

The comic interludes are inept variations of the old burley routines such as the doctor's office, the restaurant-comic waiter bit and the honeymoon hotel gambit — all brought down to the lowest scatological levels.

The only attempt to get off the subterranean floor of single entendre is Bobby Gross, the emcee who does a straight singing bit; and Mickey Jay, one of the comedians, with an outdated brass horn offering. The pit orchestra consists of four white-shirted unionists, the drummer contributing the prime ingredient to the bump and grind proceedings.

For the record and in spite of the foregoing business at the supper show Wednesday (1) (usually an off-night) was close to capacity.

Burton.

Juliette Tops Calgary Show

Calgary, Alta., April 7.

Juliette, singer who has had her own Canadian Broadcasting Corp., television show for the past eight years, will headline the Calgary Stampede grandstand show, July 6 to 11.

Show, titled "Say It With Music," is being produced by Randolph Avery of Chicago.

BILLY GLASON'S FUN-MASTER
PROFESSIONAL
COMEDY MATERIAL
For every branch of theatricals
"WE SERVICE THE STARS!"
35 Gag files $15, plus $1 postage
FOREIGN: 35 for $30
• 3 Parody Books, per Bk. $10 •
• 5 Blackout Books 1-2-3 Each $25 •
No. 4 for $35—No. 5 for $30
• Minstrel (white face) Budget $25 •
• "How to Master the Ceremonies" •
$3 PER COPY NO C.O.D.'s
BILLY GLASON
206 W. 54th St., N.Y.C. 10019 CO 5-1316
(We TEACH M.C'ing and COMEDY)
(Let a real Professional train you)

Do you know this man?

You should . . . if you're promoting shows in Britain. His name: GEORGE PINCHES. His job: Booking Controller, The Rank Organisation Theatre Division.

Over 50 movie theatres in the Rank circuit are equipped for full stage shows and personal appearance tours. These theatres represent a total audience capacity of 100,000. City-by-city guide to technical facilities and any further information from:—

George Pinches, Booking Controller, The Rank Organisation Theatre Division II, Belgrave Road, London SW1, England. Tel.: VICtoria 6633 Cables: CEMAL LONDON SW1

NOW
NICK LUCAS
and the TROUBADORS
HARRAH'S Reno
Thru May 6 ACCENT RECORDS

"KING of the TRAMPOLINE"

VARIETY says:
"Easy click . . DICK ALBERS on the trampoline. He leavens his eye-popper acrobatics with a comicality that sends him off with honors."
Pit.

DICK ALBERS
Currently
RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL
NEW YORK
Opening July 27 (with ED SULLIVAN)
HARRAH's, Lake Tahoe
Television
ED SULLIVAN SHOW
MONTREAL — PARIS — VIENNA — DUSSELDORF
AUSTRALIA

Basin St. East, N.Y.

Pat Collins, Joe & Eddie, Red Hudson-Eddie Robert-Tom Hour Trio, Louie Shelton, Gerald Tomlinson and Barre Phillips; $3.50 cover charge.

Eastern bow of (Miss) Pat Collins, self-labeled "hip" hypnotist who has built a considerable following among the younger Hollywood crowd via a long stand at the Crescendo-Interlude there, was an auspicious one for a first Gotham stand.

The word had evidently spread as Thursday's (2) opener found the Basin Street East tables filled with eager subjects, including some transplants from the sexy blond mesmerizer's western theatre of operations.

Big experiment here will be to see if audience grows as it did in the California climate. Opener suggested that it might. Sprinkling of celebs, some with previous exposure to Miss Collins' tender ministrations, should provide plenty of columnar tidbits.

Basic appeal of act is, naturally, funny reactions of subjects to her commands, suggestions and questions. The fast response to call for subjects probably seemed suspicious to first-time viewers. She'd do well to only accept as many as she can work with. With seven males and five females, some were given nothing to do.

The physical bit in which Miss Collins stretches a rigid male between two chairs, supported only by his neck and ankles, could be used very early as it probably convinced onlookers of authenticity of act more than any other bit.

The wide variety of types making up her first show gave act an added boost as it included an actress, actor and writer who reacted in some unusual manners, particularly the writer who continually fought Miss Collins' control with hilarious results.

Interlude - Crescendo owner Shelly Davis is in east with act to get it started. Miss Collins is ably backed musically by her own trio—pianist Eddie Robart, drummer Tom Hour and bass player Red Hudson.

Opening bit features Joe & Eddie, Negro singing duo, who had rough time getting noisy crowd to listen. Their vocal effects, while excellent, would be better showcased in a more intimate spot. Their selections are offbeat for Basin Street East.

They have an experimental sound, always pleasant even when using cross harmony or being contrapuntal. Their repertoire is broad enough to include folktunes, real and manufactured, such ballads as "Muddy Old River," a weird arrangement by Bob Gibson of "Frankie and Johnny" and even a show tune—"They Call the Wind Maria."

But pair tends to stay on too long—10 tunes per show is too hard on their voices, and unnecessary. Their numbers could be shortened for better effect. Singers have their own guitarist, Louis Shelton (fact that he's an ofay from little Rock is pointed out, unnecessarily). House has provided drummer Gerald Tomlinson and bass player Barre Phillips to round out trio.

During engagement, which winds May 13, two shows will be presented Mon.-Thurs., three on Fri.-Sat.

Ella Fitzgerald opens May 14. Robe.

Mister Kelly's, Chi

Chicago, March 30.

Don Adams, The Turtles, John Frigo Trio; $2.50 cover.

Until they invent a comedy machine that dreams up fresh gags and punches them across at computerized levels of exact timing Don Adams will have to do. And he's doing it very well at Mister Kelley's to highly receptive audience. Perhaps because of the familiarity brought about by his tv exposure, he's getting nearly as many yocks on his straight lines as he is on his payoffs.

Adams is a brash, glib and generally inventive raconteur despite an occasional time-worn anecdote. He covers the subjects that affect us all at one time or another, such as a fearful airplane flight, his frustrations on the golf course and the idiocyncrasies of wives.

He also has a neat panto bit going in a silent reading of a sexy novel, and shows a nice thespic touch in his takeoff of the old films about the British in India and in a sketch on a school for umpires.

The Turtles, the opening act, was a misfire, although Jimmy Gavin and his femme partner Maurey Haydn are young enough and new enough in the trade to rescue their overplayed attempts at satire.

Their spoofs of folk songs and of young married life are broad where they ought not to be broad and their turn shows a lack of focus, discipline and tightness. Miss Haydn is the most frequent offender in this area of aimlessness, but the duo has an amiable comedic rapport that speaks well for them in the future. Mor.

Shoreham, D. C.

Washington, March 31.

Gordon & Sheila MacRae, Bob Cross Orch (16); $3.50 cover.

The introduction went: "Welcome home to Gordon & Sheila MacRae." The MacRaes, of course, have never lived here, but they have played the Shoreham Hotel's Blue Room every year since way back when. The result has been the buildup of a local following of significant size, and their regular fortnight in the city means busy wickets at Bernard Bralove's swankery.

The act is mostly new for the "his" and "hers" team this round. Standout in the fresh material is Sheila MacRae's mimicry of Barbra Streisand. She takes Miss Streisand through several pieces of music, including a serenade to Allan Sherman, beginning, "Hello, Allan, this is mudder . . ."

Fanciers of the MacRaes would be disappointed, natch, without inclusion of the standards, such as his medley of "Oklahoma!" songs he did in the film and her impressions of Liz Taylor, Zsa Zsa Gabor and others.

In need of updating, however, is her spoof of Carol Channing as a Charleston swinging type singing "Bye, Bye Blackbird," when the greeting is no longer a farewell but a hello.

The performance is a neat blend of comedy and music, expertly tailored to bring out the charms of the goodlooking couple.

Fine showbacking and dance tunes, too, are provided by the Bob Cross orchestra. Carp.

Nat Nazarro

Continued from page 73

portedly removed Nazarro as an "economy move."

Lou Smolev, the Eastern regional director, phoned Nazarro to tell him he was fired, a memo following from v. p. Johnny Woods to confirm the dismissal. Smolev told Nazarro that he was being replaced by Matt Irving who has been Nazarro's assistant for the past six years.

Nazarro said that he was not too sorry about leaving and added, "I'll stay if the protest is strong enough but what good is the job, anyway? I have no reason to fight for a lost cause. I'm 60 now and I can get other jobs that pay just as well.

"I have had trouble making ends meet at the salary I'm getting, anyway. I will get severance pay, I suppose, and then there's a few weeks vacation pay. At first I felt like going into New York with a club but it's almost time I worried about my future. There certainly isn't any with AGVA."

Meantime, AGVA national board member Ted Blake said that the whole branch manager system is being carefully checked because of "Little Napoleons" who have "gone into business for themselves."

While he did not include Nazarro in this sweeping condemnation, he added that the new Jack Haley (1st v.p.) slate is very concerned with the branch manager in every area in the country.

"We are pledged to look out for the little performer," Blake said. "We are concerned with things like dressingrooms, better working conditions, welfare and firm contracts. We are also doing everything to protect the performer against the unscrupulous agent. It is this type of agent that presents the worst evil in our business."

"The Haley slate is also pledged to economy and since this is the reason VARIETY said Nazarro was fired, I see no reason to doubt it."

Harrah's, Lake Tahoe

Lake Tahoe, March 29.

Anna Maria Alberghetti with John Bubbles, Vaughn Meader, Moro-Landis Dancers (15), Leighton Noble Orch (18); presented by Bob Vincent; produced for Harrah's by Art Barkow.

Current bill at Harrah's Tahoe would be tough to top by any standards. Teaming Anna Maria Alberghetti and John Bubbles is a smart bit of booking; and Meader, despite this being his debut in this locale, is w.k. from his "First Family" album. It's a first-rate show for pure entertainment values.

Miss Alberghetti, no stranger to the Tahoe shores, has a completely new image (and show) this time around. But she retains that clarity and purity of tone that sets her apart from most other pop singers. And in the coloratura areas she displays exciting eclat. At the opposite extreme she's a natural trading lines with Bubbles in a Buck & Bubbles routine or working tandem with the song-tap artist in a "Porgy" and Bess" medley.

Miss Alberghetti opens with a dramatic "Irma La Douce," segues with a collection of "Carnival" titles, and then, as she's explaining the importance of a lyric, she's interrupted by Bubbles' scat singing from backstage. While the songstress changes from a floor-length yellow clinging creation, Bubbles makes with a couple of stories and a toast before showcasing his legomania talents in a "Tip and Tap Along" demonstration.

With Miss Alberghetti in black tux, two duo to "Summertime," and follow with a "Porgy and Bess" revival, a high point of the turn. Bubbles' raspy pipes and Miss Alberghetti's tonal clarity are skillfully blended on a medley from the score.

Topliner's exit numbers are "Non Dimenticar" and "Sorrento," both essayed bilingually. On the latter, she's highly impressive for sensitivity on the high sustained notes. Expertly batoning the Leighton Noble band for Miss Alberghetti's stanza is Bill Cassilli.

Meader, in his new act, eschews any reference to the "First Family" album, but continues to accent political satire. He has topical lines on Lodge, Rockefeller, Goldwater, Nixon, Glenn, et al, and they are incisive and observant.

He also earns good endorsement in explaining the origination of various political terms. Some of his stuff is lost on those non-politically oriented, but the material indicates full awareness of situations, both local and national.

Meader smartly paces the act, makes no attempt to over-sell. His special lyrics to "Old Man River," hitting at Government subsidies, rates top mention for inventiveness; and his story of a janitor being fired—and the resultant repercussions around the world—also shows originality.

The Moro-Landis Dancers open the curtain with a "Winter Festival" production. Albeit spring is here, the production is timely. A heavy snow was blanketing the Tahoe area as the production unfolded.

Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse in April 9. Long.

Slate Bros., L.A.

Los Angeles, April 3.

Vic Dana, Simmy Bow, Eddie Graham Trio; $1.50 cover, two-drink minimum.

In their current two-week booking of Vic Dana and Simmy Bow, the Brothers Slate have a bill that should appeal to a wide range of tastes. Dana will be bait for the younger, flashier colony of saloonatics while Bow's popularity figures to lie with the more mature, more discerning pub prowler. Neither performer should appreciably alienate the following of the other.

Dana is the headliner and performs his singing chores skillfully. But it's Bow at this juncture who merits special attention. He's an up-and-coming comedian who, were he to be given a sizable boost from influential appraisal and word-of-mouth, could cause at least a small stir in the more discriminating circles of this community.

Yet the beauty of his unorthodox comic style is that it can be enjoyed on two levels. The more intellectual recipient will appreciate the literate essence of his work while the less cerebrally-inclined customer will be pleased by his unpretentious delivery, and appeased by the occasional quasi-four-letter low-comedy-type relief he inserts.

Bow's comic arrows are pointed primarily in the direction of modern scientific gobbledegook and ancient mythological nomenclature. His dissertations sound like nonsense, but the nonsense has roots. Hidden beneath his madcap monolog is a substantial amount of academic information and an awareness of facts and topics that, properly fractured or deflated into comedy form, might amuse his jittery contemporaries in a red-tape world. He also sings.

Dana's stage presence and showmanship savvy are very impressive for so relatively youthful a performer. His singing is competent, and he seems to enjoy most the tunes with a big beat, on which he gives it the old body English. Occasionally there's some lyric feeling lacking in his interpretation of a ballad (such as on "Charade"), but he gets the right air of drama into into another ballad, "Softly, As I Leave You There."

The Eddie Graham Trio backstops vigorously, and percussionist Graham contributes a dazzling solo complete with phosphorescent drumsticks. Tube.

Drake Hotel, Chi

Chicago, March 31.

Carmel Quinn, Jimmy Blade Orch; $2.50-$3 cover

Carmel Quinn was in rare form in her hour-long opening night show at the swank Camellia House. Always a performer of freshness, grace and charm, she now rates with that handful of intimery topliners capable of creating the sort of party spirit and electricity that goes with only the bluechip supper club acts.

Miss Quinn has subtly graduated from a pert chirp with a basic Gaelic gambit to a well-rounded entertainer with a maturely beguiling way with an audience. There is in her turn a blend of naturalness and know-how that will keep her in demand for a long time to come.

While her act is essentially molded of tunes from the ould sod, it is considerably enhanced by her engaging patter and byplay with the audience. For instance, on night caught she treated several tables partially cut off from the stage by a pillar with several numbers sung at their table, chatting with on-mike and bringing them into the show.

Her ability to disarm patrons was also evident in her medley of old tunes which brought forth one of the better singalong responses heard in this room.

Miss Quinn's Irish numbers were all well-received, among them "Look To the Rainbow," a roistering rendering of "Mick McGilligan's Ball," a wistful handling of "Turn Around" and, of course, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." A special nod goes to accompanist Joe Merman, whose zest for playing is exceeded only by his skill in backing Miss Quinn. Mor.

Interlude, L.A.

Los Angeles, April 2.

Paul Winchell, Tony Romano combo (4); $1.50 cover, two-drink minimum.

If Paul Winchell discarded about half his material, he'd have about twice as good an act. That, at any rate, applies to the routines he exposed opening night in a turn that encompassed an extended hour and 10 minutes.

Winchell is a gifted, versatile and imaginative comedian-mimic-ventriloquist but, by too thoroughly exploiting and exhibiting too many facets of his talent over too long a haul, he neutralizes the pleasurable effect of his choicer bits and dilutes the overall impact of his act.

His routines include an upside-down impression of Jack E. Leonard, a live-and-tape vocal duet with dummy Jerry Mahoney, some lip sync shenanigans with members of the audience invited onstage, straight impressions of various celebrities, an exchange with a dilapidated Japanese dummy named "Moses," a bit in which he portrays the voice-from-within a pregnant customer, and a Charlie Chaplin takeoff. To cite just a few, the Japanese dummy bit, the lip sync routine and the vocal duet seem expendable.

It's a one-month booking. Winchell is supported visually by an anatomically spectacular female he calls "Luigi" and musically by vocalist Tony Romano and his combo (4). Tube.

Blackstone, Chi

Chicago, March 30.

Vicky Autier, Frank York Orch; $2-$2.50 cover.

In that specialized world of Continental chanteuses who work the swank hotel supper club circuit, Vicky Autier is a wholesome looking thrush unlike her more lacquered colleagues. She could also double as one of those attractive Parisian shop girls who make girl-watching worthwhile on the Champs Elysees.

Too, she has a softly lyrical voice instead of the throaty pipes usually associated with the more traditional disuses. It's particularly effective in her sensitive handling of such Seine standards as "Mon Manege a Moi" and "Et Maintenant."

She also smoothly renders "Under Paris Skies," "A Quoi Ca Sert L'Amour," a bubbling version of "La Chansonnette" and a pensive reading of her Capitol waxing of "Amor, Mon Amour, My Love."

At the piano, Miss Autier dishes out a clever number in which she counterpoints the bass chords of "Tea For Two" while playing the melodies of other tunes with her right hand, and also solos on "Our Concerto." Mor.

Gammon's, Pitt.

Pittsburgh, April 2.

"400 Miles Off Broadway", an original musical revue produced by Don Brockett; with Esther Lapiduss, Bob McCully, Joe Negri, Phyllis Sydney and Joe Negri Trio (Negri, Jimmy Scholl and Nick Summa). Comedy material and lyrics, McCully; music, Negri; $1.50 cover Wed.-Thurs., $2 Fri-Sat.

Every necessary ingredient of success has been lavishly poured into this fun-filled revue for the entrance of Gammon's into the nitery field. Producer Don Brockett was handed a yock-packed script to work with and he came up with the city's most talented performers to handle the songs, skits and lines.

Show is a triumph for Esther Lapiduss (name is for real). She has been doing club dates around town for years and is an accomplished comedienne. In this revue she's been handed different material that she fields with aplomb and polish, and sets the fast pace of the show.

Phyllis Sydney is another discovery in a different setting with this revue. She's an accomplished coloratura soprano but here she handles lines deftly and her few song spots are taken care of excellently.

Bob McCully and Joe Negri, who collaborated on the show and its predecessor, "An Evening Without Desdemona Fink," have come up with another hit in both writing and entertaining. Boys are expert in devising topical and satirical material and know how to deliver it.

Show is scheduled to run for six weeks, four nights a week. If opening night reaction is any indication, revue can run as long as the four principals can stay away from their daytime duties.

Joe Negri's Trio plays the music with the skilled precision that has marked their work in Pitt for the past 20 years. Lit.

Skyroom, Tucson

Tucson, March 31.

Ted Fio Rito Orch (6); no cover, two drink minimum, closed Mondays.

Mike Crino, skipper of the plush Skyroom atop the Arizona Land Title Building in downtown Tucson, switched his customary comic-singer booking routine to dance music this month—and his gamble is paying off handsomely.

Crino's choice was the listenable and rhythmic Ted Fio Rito group, which includes drums, bass, tenor sax, guitar, accordion and the maestro at the piano. Latter's book is aimed at the 35-year-olds and up—and Twist tunes or top pop numbers are out, unless requested.

Result is a floor full of dancers, a busy Fio and a happy Crino.

The balding Fio Rito, who's been in the biz some 40 years, organized his group last November for a Lake Tahoe date and played the Fremont Hotel Skyroom in Vegas before coming here. He says he's booked solidly for the remainder of 1964.

At show caught (29), Fio Rito featured such standbys as "Toot Toot Tootsie Goodbye," "Charlie My Boy," "No No Nora," "There's a Tavern in the Town," and others. Group cuts two shows weekdays, and three on Fridays and Saturdays. Trump.

Riviera, Las Vegas

Las Vegas, March 30.

Louis Armstrong Orch (6) with Jewel Brown, Kay Starr; Jack Cathcart Orch (18), Chorus (12); $5 minimum.

A couple of show biz vets, namely Louis Armstrong and Kay Starr, hold the reins at the Riviera for the next four weeks, and there's no questioning their ability to do it effectively. Ol' Satchmo is back on the boards after leg surgery. His trumpet, gravelly vocalisthenics and toothy grin are backed by five veteran instrumentalists who come close to the best New Orleans tradition.

There isn't much pretense at production backgrounding for the current show, but with such entertainers as Armstrong and Miss Starr there is little need for it. In several numbers Miss Starr has the aid of four male singers, but this comes long after she has demonstrated amply that she can hold a stage alone with her repertoire of standards, most of which have been disk hits associated with her career.

The opening production number, credited as a salute to the Palace two-a-day tradition, is nothing more than a standard attempt to warm up the stage for Armstrong's troupe. It's a holdover number utilizing the attractive boys and girls from the house line.

Then for a halfhour Satchmo bathes the audience with that sunswept boxoffice personality, aided importantly by this group of bass, piano, drums, clarinet and trombone. Jewel Brown is an attractive songstress with the group who clicks strongly on a couple of numbers that break up the troupe's ensemble work and solo breaks.

Through it all Armstrong, with the standard horn and kerchief in hand, weaves through the proceedings with his tootling and vocals, of which his "Hello, Dolly" recording hit is inevitable along with his standby "St. James Infirmary" and "Saints Go Marching," among others.

Miss Starr, including the finale piece with Armstrong, did almost an hour at the opening, and she held the audience all the way. She goes through a well-paced turn of approximately 15 tunes, from the opening "Keep on Smiling" to finally, her "Wheel of Fortune" disclick.

The finale with Armstrong is a warmly sentimental closer that needs a little tightening. But, withal, Kay Starr remains an artful interpreter of a lyric, whether it's a ballad or rhythm tune, both of which she puts across equally as well. Kahn.

Iroquois G'dens, L'ville

Louisville, April 4.

Irwin Twins, Jan Street, Frank Link, Hollywood Debs, "Sticks" McDonald Orch; $2.50 minimum.

In anticipation of visitors soon to move in for the Churchill Downs race meet starting April 25, preceding by a week the Kentucky Derby, Iroquois Gardens is offering a modest budget show headed by the Irwin Twins (reviewed under New Acts.)

Frank Link, emcee and comic, opens with a friendly style of story telling and establishes rapport with the customers. He introes the Hollywood Debs, who step off a precision tap routine, followed by a costume number made appealing by Strobe lighting on colorful costumes, scanty but cute.

Bill highlights exotic dancer Jan Street, whose shedding of costume is more dainty than frenetic. Gal paces her routine in good taste, and femmes in the audience apparently eyed her performance as much as the males.

Long established spot intends to book some top acts, if and when available. It has set Joi Lansing for an early appearance. John Gatewood, piano stylist and local keyboard practitioner, has his usual grouping of music lovers in the Lounge. Wied.

Queen's Surf, Honolulu

Honolulu, April 2.

Elaine Frisbie's Puka Puka Otea Troupe (13); $2.20 minimum.

What started as a hobby two years ago has developed into the most exciting pro troupe of Polynesian dancers, singers and musicians ever imported to Hawaii. Each entertainer is from Tahiti, Samoa or Rarotonga, each handpicked by Elaine Frisbie, and each contributes substantially to the success of the hottest tropical show this side of Tahiti.

Run in this spacious beachside bistro is nearing the end of its first year, with just about every Waikiki b.o. record being broken by the fast-paced show that draws hometowners as well as tourists.

Troupe numbers 13, but work schedules are staggered so each night's performances (3) are staged by 10. On a seven-nights-a-week grind, talent rotation is both necessary and wise.

While the routines are both authentic and disciplined, performers display individual enthusiasm and a collective sense of humor. Although each show runs about 55 minutes, repertoire changes for each performance.

Solo and ensemble Tahitian dances, complete with frenzied hip wiggles that would make many an "exotic" dancer either blush or turn green with envy, are so uninhibited as they come, but far from vulgar. The gals are comely, the guys are handsome—and the show sparkles with sun-bronzed sex appeal.

Miss Frisbie, herself half-Polynesian (and the daughter of the late author Robert Dean Frisbie, who made his home in the South Seas), is the wife of Don Over, publisher of a thriving Pacific construction trade journal. She's been a solo name performer here for some years.

She assembled a troupe of fellow Polynesians, more or less for the fun of it, and entertained at private parties. First major commercial booking was a series of weekend dates at an unlikely, then-unknown fledgling nitery, the Sandbox, midway between the airport and downtown Honolulu. It was a lucrative deal for cabbies who picked up Waikiki tourists who already had seen Hawaiian shows and wanted to see "something different."

Spencecliff nitery - restaurant chain execs, hunting for a surefire show for the Queen's Surf, promptly pacted Miss Frisbie and her troupe. Contract runs through New Year's Eve, after which the picturesque nitery—once the mansion of the late millionaire Chris Holmes—is slated for demolition, with the site converted into a municipal beach park. Walt.

Palmer House, Chi

Chicago, April 1.

Allan Sherman, Bud & Cece Robinson, Ben Arden Orch; $3-$3.50 cover.

Allan Sherman opened to a jampacked house at the spacious Empire Room, and the enthusiasm with which his preem show was received would seem to portend a busy two frames for this poshery. He's played some concerts here, but this is the first time his hometown folk has been able to see him in a nitery setting.

It's a puzzle to some how Sherman has made such a smash out of the oldest of parlor amusements—song parody. His song substitutes are clever, but they are neither terribly hip and seldom blue—the usual formula for success in this format.

Certainly a good part of his appeal is his own unlikely stage image—portly,owlish and puckish. Too, he delivers his retreated songs with an air of boyish naughtiness as though expecting the teacher to come back in the room before he finishes.

Perhaps for this reason, his best number remains "Hello Mudduh, Hello Fadduh" with its evocations of an overweight child compensating by being overly bright. Much the same applies to his "Overweight People" version of "Over The Rainbow."

He also has a superior talent for word imagery in such numbers as "Skin" ("You Gotta Have Heart") and "Walk Through The Bronx" ("Walk Through The Storm"). Opening night customers got a bonus in that Mimi Hines was in the audience and joined Sherman in his version of "Small World."

Bud & Cece Robinson are veteran headliners-assists at the Empire Room and they carry off their terp chores smoothly and charmingly. They are at their best in their nostalgic versions of the Charleston, "Dark Town Strutters Ball" and a soft-shoe rendering of "Two A Day."

The Ben Arden house band astutely picks up the whimsical tone of Sherman's turn, and, per usual, contribs its own prime brand of dance music.

Jane Russell, Connie Haines & Beryl Davis open April 15 for two weeks. Mor.

NELSON EDDY

Now looking forward to his 12th year as a night-club performer, with gorgeous GALE SHERWOOD, at the Saddle and Sirloin, Tucson, "Best act of the year in Tucson," claimed Dick Alexander in the Arizona Daily Star last season. Bookings are now coming in for 1965.

A.P.A., Inc., handles

Cocoanut Grove, L.A.

Los Angeles, April 4.

Rowan & Martin, Enzo Stuarti; $3.50 cover plus $3 minimum.

Something old, something new is on the current Grove bill. Enzo Stuarti is the newest singer to make a local nitery bow, while Rowan & Martin are regulars who have developed a following with essentially the same material they've used for years.

Stuarti, another of the big voice, designed for romance, Italian singers, comes on with a smooth act that runs the gamut from "Yours Is My Heart Alone" through "Arrivederci Roma," a romantic medley and the inevitable operatic closing. In this case, the latter is "Pagliacci."

Stuarti is fine when he relaxes in the pleasant melodic area. But his sell is a bit too hard.

As a performer, however, Stuarti works well for the ladies. He has a sensual style, polished presence and a certain dynamic flair that give him considerable appeal for average audiences. A nice arrangement of "Exodus" is his top entry. Joe Campus is arranger-conductor.

Dan Rowan and Dick Martin are just fine, but they need new material. But they are saved by their delivery. These are two of the funniest comics working.

Martin's grinning, dumb sex-concentrated character, for instance, gets a perfect foil in Rowan's staunch straightman. Pair have superb timing and an innate sense of audience communication, even working in slapstick burlesque style.

Freddy Martin orchestra and the Eddie Bergman Strings continue for dining and dancing. Dale.

Bon Soir, N.Y.

Karen Anders & Peggy Hadley, Jerry Collins, Marge Cameron; Tiger Haynes Trio; $5 minimum.

Joining holdovers Karen Anders and Peggy Hadley in this Greenwich Village downstairs club are redhead singer-comedienne Marge Cameron and comic Jerry Collins.

Miss Cameron's strength is in her special material, as displayed in a hip, cynical number on name-gossips, "Dirt, Dirt, Dirt," a gouging satire on Richard Rogers' "These Are the Things I Love" (as auditioned by a stripper); and a standup bit on a Rheingold Girl who has become a beer souse. The rest of her stuff—the blue jokes told straightaway and the grievous ballads—she can throw out.

Collins opens slow and builds to a brilliant, breezing close. In a style somewhat remindful of Jack E. Leonard, he broadsides the audience with a flurry of insults to cap his punchlines whether they take or not—"Aren't you folks a little early for the Fair?" "I remember you from three years ago, Madame—I never forget a dress."

With sharp timing, he slips in a flock of swish bits with appropriate accents. He can soar on his theme, with the likes of such bitter reminiscences as the crows for enlisted men and the doves and swans and things for officers.

Collins winds with an incredible show biz narrative, involving all the absurdly titled acts from Frick & Frack to you name it. At one point he laments the fact that he doesn't have Lenny Bruce's guts. He's just the right shade of blue as is, however, and is particularly suited to club work that's just this side of the pokey. Bill.

Sands, Las Vegas

Las Vegas, April 1.

Danny Thomas, Piccola Pupa, Harry Kofal, Walter Popp, Antonio Morelli Orch, Line; $5 minimum.

Danny Thomas is back at the Sands, his perennial playdate since he opened the hotel almost a dozen years ago, and his return is the signal for two things: entertainment and business. And lots of both. It's doubtful if Thomas has ever been better.

One of the paradoxes of Thomas' career is that he can go directly from the push-button show biz that is television back into the saloon biz with a facility that comes only with experience, and showmanship. He certainly has a secured grip on both experience and showmanship as he parades his wealth of monologistic and other talents for an hour on the Sands stage.

The best comedy is invariably by those who resort to their humble beginnings, and it's no casual coincidence that Thomas recalls, for much of his effective comedy, his struggling youth in a city long the butt of the show biz jokesters—Toledo. His marital life, his comments on income tax, a travesty on "South Pacific," his parrot story—these are some of the humorous bits with which Thomas demonstrates how to win audiences and influence business.

This isn't entirely Thomas' show. He has a 12-year-old protegee named Piccola Pupa, whom he found in Italy a year ago, and she sings up a storm. Does three numbers with the assurance of Thomas himself, and only Thomas could follow her.

Opening night she brought down the house with her two Italian rhythm numbers and one Yank standard, the latter with Thomas. Youngster has appeared recently on Thomas' tv show.

Walter Popp remains Thomas' able musical director, from the piano, with Antonio Morelli's house orch. The show's only production number, at the opening is distinguished by the 11 gal lookers.

Show is in for three weeks. Kahn.

Queen Elizabeth, Mont'l

Montreal, April 2.

Carmen Cavallaro, Nick Martin Orch (12), Salle Bonaventure Trio, $2.50 cover, $3 Saturday; no Sunday show.

Carmen Cavallaro's piano stylings are by now so familiar that there's hardly a customer sitting through the Salle Bonaventure's 45-minute current show who doesn't know what he's getting long before walking into the elegant room.

What he gets, in fact, is true Cavallaro, with the sweeping hand movement and delicate fingerings in a style that is lyrically romantic, but never lacking the impeccable discipline of a piano virtuoso.

Cavallaro, moreover, doesn't depend on mere sound, no matter how smoothly projected, to get his musical message across. Rather, he never lets up on his showmanship, which is to sell beautiful music—whether by some tastefully informal repartee with the audience, or lighting carefully designed to create a mood.

Since showmanship is a key to his success in the case of the current Bonaventure stint, it's unfortunate that the room layout does not permit a fuller view of Cavallaro's hands working the full length of the keyboard. His choice of numbers includes almost everything from "Dancing In the Dark" to the background music he did for the Eddy Duchin film, "Voodoo Moon."

Much of Cavallaro's impact can be traced to his own sidemen, Frank Martinez on the bass and Joe Testa at the drums. Also rating plaudits for a good show-cutting job is Nick Martin's band.

It's all a display of mood creation followed by brilliant pyrotechnics at the keyboard. But the audience is captured with little trouble. Cavallaro had to beg off on night show caught.

Next: Jose Greco. Lazo.

Club Tropicoro, P.R.

San Juan, March 28.

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra Revue, Sam Donahue, Helen Forrest, Pied Pipers, Frank Sinatra Jr., Charlie Shavers, Jeannie Thomas; $5 cover, $5 minimum.

Musical nostalgia is the forte of the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra Revue at Hotel El San Juan's Club Tropicoro. Unit is billed as the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra by virtue of acquisition of original Dorsey band orchestrations leased for five years from the late bandleader's estate. The powerhouse crew is headed by Sam Donahue, a competent and versatile musician.

Format is highly reminiscent of the "big band" stage shows that toured theatres throughout the 1930s and 1940s. Show features vocalist Helen Forrest (long with the Harry James band); the Pied Pipers vocal quartet (a permanent fixture with the venerable Dorsey band); Charlie Shavers (trumpet-playing sideman and jazz soloist); songstress Jeannie Thomas, trombonist Larry O'Brien and Frank Sinatra Jr.

Show opens with a medley of Dorsey faves: "Opus 1," "Yes, Indeed" and "Song of India." Group has a fine tonal quality, and rips into a fast passage with precision. Shavers contribs a smooth trumpet rendition of "Embraceable You," with intricate embellishments, an updated, upbeat "Dark Eyes," plus a couple of blues vocals.

Saccharine and sentimental tunes rendered by the Pied Pipers include "Sunny Side of the Street," "Look at Me Now" and "Let's Get Away From It All." Quartet is well-rehearsed, but doesn't always stimulate the excitement the yesteryear Pied Pipers did with the assistance of Jo Stafford and Frank Sinatra Sr.

Aside from the fact that Sinatra Jr.'s voice is undeveloped and without lyrical conviction, he leans heavily on his sire for style. He intones and gestures as does his father tilting his head slightly. His choice of songs are all Sinatra Sr. pop classics: "I'll Remember April," "I Only Have Eyes for You," "I'll Never Smile Again," "Nancy With the Smiling Face" and "Night and Day," among others.

Young Sinatra does not have the lush vocal quality associated with Sinatra Sr., or the ability to slur a passage with liquid sensuality. Moreover, Sinatra Jr. goes off key occasionally. But despite all these faults, he has spunk and a promising future.

Miss Forrest still has her own sound, passion in her delivery and a fine stage presence. She warbles such oldies as "Lonesome Road" and "I Don't Want to Walk Without You." Songstress scores heavily and gives the Dorsey Revue a considerable lift. Din.

King's Club, Dallas

Dallas, April 1.

Dave Madden, Lynda Freeman, Raul Arrambide, King's Club Trio; private club, no cover or minimum.

Dave Madden scores solidly in his first fortnight here and the responsive patrons, by word of mouth, should lure lusty biz to this plush intimery. Comic is bullish with surefire original material, and has flawless pacing to reap biggest returns.

Madden uses headline items and worldwide events, adds fresh punch lines, and with his nervous, almost apologetic delivery, keeps the laughs rolling for hefty mitting.

He satirizes multiple subjects for his steady score, but smartly never steps on his laughs as he offers new twists on tv plugs, Metrecal, safety belts, new cars and fallout shelters.

Sock routine is his Leopoldville Hootenanny, where he dons purple glasses, red beret, a weird robe and strums guitar while singing parodied lyrics of folk tunes. Madden should click in top clubs with his beaucoup material. He has to beg off here after his 40-minute stint.

Femcee Lynda Freeman offers pleasant vocals between shows and Mexican troubadour Raul Arrambide, a fixture here, table strolls with guitar and his Spanish songs for continuous entertainment. House trio has little to do at showtime, except laugh, but dispenses good dansapation.

Show runs a fortnight, with Jerry Van Dyke due April 13 for two weeks. Bank.

CURRENT BILLS

WEEK OF APRIL 8

NEW YORK CITY

MUSIC HALL — Rockettes, Corps de Ballet, Raymond Paige Symphony Orc.

AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Tivoli)—Jackie Warner, Evelyn Page, Katherine & Karen Kessey, Yvonne Barrett, Joan Stuart, Angela O'Toole, Barbara Young, Lesley Secombe, Janet Dearness, Joan Morrow, Sue Menlove.

SYDNEY (Tivoli)—Penny Nicholls, Bob Andrews, The D'Angolys, Two Pirates, Balcombes, Eddie Mendoza, Eric Whitley, Jeff Hudson, Harry Currie, Keith Leggett, Jackie Griffiths, Maureen Wilson, Wendy Faulkener.

BRITAIN

BIRMINGHAM HIPPODROME—Edmund Hockridge, Flack & Lamar, Chris Carlsen, Four Jones Boys, Bert Weedon, The Caravelles, Toni et Margo, Billy Baxter.

BLACKPOOL TOWER CIRCUS—Charlie Cairoli and Company, The Flying Marilees, Lilian Daniels and Her Polar Bears, Konyot's Chimpanzee Rodeo, The 4 Rodriguez, Circus Schumann's 12 Liberty Horses presented by Billy Baker, The Ascots, Kimi Yokoi, See-Hee Troupe, Bartschelly, Evelyn Hans and Her Poodles, Rudi Llata, Desmond and Marks, Fuzzy-Ball Kaye and Tiny Tommy Gallaher, Our Sammy, Little Jimmy and the Circusettes.

COVENTRY—Dickie Henderson, Jimmy Clitheroe, Pinky and Perky, Jimmy Tarbuck, Susan Lane, Four Gale Boys, Los Flamencos, Ugo Garrido, Billy Winsor, Alexandra Dane, Malcom Goddard Dancers, Six In Harmony.

LONDON PALLADIUM—Lena Horne, The Bachelors, Des O'Connor, The Three Monarchs, Arthur Worsley, The Bal Caron Trio, The Del Ray Brothers, The Kuban Cossacks.

LIVERPOOL EMPIRE — Dave Clark Five, McAndrews & Mills, George Meaton, Dave Nelson, Alan Field, Susan Maughan, Mark Wynter.

VICTORIA PALACE — The George Mitchell Minstrels, John Boulter, Tony Mercer and Dai Francis, Leslie Crowther, Margo Henderson, George Chisholm & The Jazzers, Schaller Brothers, The T. V. Toppers, Pat Ellis.

SCOTLAND

GLASGOW ALHAMBRA—Kenneth McKellar, Rikki Fulton, Terry Hall, Paul & Peta Page Puppets, etc.

KING'S—"Old-Tyme Music-Hall," with Dave Willis, Jimmy Plant, Bond Rowell, Jean Kennedy, 'Master' Joe Petersen, Davies & Gray, Nat Gonella, Trevor Moreton, 2 Rexanos.

GLASGOW KING'S—Dave Willis, Jean Kennedy, Bond Rowell, Nat Gonella, Ellis Jackson, Trevor Moreton, Davies & Gray, Master Jo Petersen, Two Rexanos, Jimmy Plant.

GLASGOW PAVILION—Johnnie Victory, Eileen Keegan, Sheila Paton, Don Gordon, Bob & Jack Young, Moxon Girls, etc.

EDINBURGH PALLADIUM—Lex McLean, The Hi-Fi's, Melody-Makers, Carr & Vonnie, Margo Bentley, etc.

AYR GAIETY — Jack Milroy, Glen Michael, Three Scott Boys, Hollander & Hart, Moxon Girls.

GLASGOW METROPOLE — Clark & Murray, Joe Gordon, Alexander Bros., Alan Beale, Ivy Carey, etc.

NEWCASTLE - ON - TYNE THEATRE ROYAL—"An Evening of Old Time Music Hall." Morris & Cowley, Dave Willis, Sandy Powell, Jill Summers, Marie Lloyd, Geddes Bros., Joan Hurley, Davies & Gray, Nat Gonella, Jimmy Gay.

Cabaret Bills

NEW YORK CITY

APARTMENT — Melodye Condos, Charles De Forest.

BASIN ST. EAST—Pat Collins, Joe & Eddie.

BITTER END—Joan Tolliver, Jim, Jake & Joan.

BON SOIR — Three Flames, Marge Cameron.

BLUE ANGEL—Rolf Harris, Ketty Lester, Dan Elliot.

CAFE AU GO GO—Grecco & Willard.

CHARDAS—Bela Baval Orc., Elemar Horvath, Tibor Rakossy, Dick Marta, Janos Hozzsu, Kato Fenyas.

CHATEAU MADRID—Los Chavales de Espana, Emilio Reyes Orc., Carbia Orc.

COPACABANA—Sergio Franchi, Joey Forman, Eddie Albert, Joseph Mele Orc.

CRYSTAL ROOM—Joe Mooney.

EMBERS—Joey Bushkin, Lenore Paxton.

GRINZING — Kalman Banyak, Henry Butz.

HAWAIIAN ROOM—Teiko Yannagi, Keolu Beamer, Auletta Orc.

FIVE SPOT—Sonny Rollins & Co.

HOTEL ASTOR—Eddie Lane Orc.

HOTEL AMERICANA—Julie London, Lee Evans Orc.

HOTEL NEW YORKER—Sylvia Barry, Milt Saunders Orc.

HOTEL PARK SHERATON — Irving Fields 3.

HOTEL PLAZA—Kessler Twins, Emil Coleman Orc., Mark Monte Orc. Plaza-9 Room: Julius Monk, Gerry Matthews, Jamie Ross, Nagle Jackson, Ruth Buzzi, Barbara Cason, Delphi Harrington, Richard Blair, Jan Templeton, Wm. Ray, Robert Colston.

HOTEL ST. REGIS—Peter Duchin Orc, Nancy Manning, Quintero Orc, Walter Kay, Jani Sarkozi.

HOTEL SAVOY-HILTON—Arturo Arturos Orc.

HOTEL SHERRY-NETHERLAND — Juli Christman.

HOTEL WALDORF-ASTORIA — Edie Adams, Emery Davis Orc., Horace Diaz Orc.

INTERNATIONAL—"Vive Les Girls," Mike Durso Orc

LATIN QUARTER—Eddie Albert, Dino Formachini, Rolly & Arry, Jack Le Cayen, Marion Conrad, Jeanne Michelle, Jo Lombardo Orc., Sammy Bidner Or., Kaye Sisters.

LIBORIO—Celia Cruz, Pancho Cardenas Orc., Candido.

LIVING ROOM—Kathy Keegan, Casey Anderson, Bob Manning, Bob Ferro Orc.

NO. 1 FIFTH AVENUE—Hankinson & De Maio, Stan Freeman, Teresa Celli.

RAT FINK ROOM — Jackie Kannon, Marty Walker, Sheryl Easley.

RED GARTER—G-String Strugglers.

RED ONION—Banjokers.

SAHBRA—"Hora Hootenany" Menasha Baharav Orc., Gavri Dcrs., Margolit Ankory, Batsheva Baron & Ezra Zahavi, Leo Fuld.

SNIFFEN COURT INN—Renee Taylor, Joe Randi, Pepi Moreale 3.

SQUARE EAST—"Open Season at Second City," Barbara Harris, Severn Darden, Bob Dishy, Dick Schall, Avery Schreiber, Ben Keller.

THE MOST—Morgana King & Kingsmen.

TOWN & COUNTRY—Buddy Hackett, Jennie Smith, Cass & Desi.

UPSTAIRS & DOWNSTAIRS—"Twice Over Nightly," Jane Alexander, MacIntyre Dixon, Paul Dooley, Richard Libertini, Mary Louise Wilson, "In This Corner" Bill Brown, Virgil Curry, Marian Mercer, Carol Morley.

VIENNESE LANTERN—Maria Carillo, Lillian Cavell, Ernest Schoen Orc.

VILLAGE GATE—Nina Simone, Stratus Near East Ensemble.

VILLAGE BARN—Jess Long, Jeanie Allen, Gene Allen, Barn Stompers, Lou Harold Orc.

VILLAGE VANGUARD—Bill Evans.

CHICAGO

THE BELFRY—"Noises In The Theatre," June Ericson, Haskell Gordon, Ann Hilton, Ross Lashbrook, Bert Vallencourt.

BLUE ANGEL—"Calypso Nights" Lord Carlton, Sami Coe & Anita, Georgia Carroll, Lord Montego, Lord Smiley, Al D'Lacy Orc.

CONRAD HILTON — "Ladies First" Lucho Navarro, Wells & Four Fays, Manuel Del Toro, Marie Langenbein, Ernie McClean & Caroline Paul, Boulevar-Dears (5), Boulevar-Dons (5), Jimmy Palmer Orc.

HOTEL CONTINENTAL—Phyllis Arick, Franz Benteler Orc.

DEL PRADO HOTEL—"Hits of Broadway" revue.

DRAKE HOTEL—Carmel Quinn, Jimmy Blade Orc.

LE BISTRO—Ann Richards, Connie Milano Trio.

LONDON HOUSE—Gene Krupa Quartet, Jose Bethancourt Trio.

MISTER KELLY'S—Don Adams, The Turtles, John Frigo Trio, Marty Rubinstein Trio.

OLD TOWN NORTH—Addiss & Crofut.

PALMER HOUSE—Allen Sherman, Bud & Cece Robinson, Ben Arden Orc.

PLAYBOY—Ray Hastings, Dink Freeman, Burt Taylor, Donna Fuller, Ken Coleman, Cathy Johnson.

SECOND CITY—"New York City Is Missing," John Brent, Jack Burns, Ann Elder, Sally Hart, Gene Kadish, Omar Shapli, David Steinberg, Bill Mathieu

SHERATON BLACKSTONE — Vicky Autier, Frank York Orc.

LOS ANGELES

COCOANUT GROVE—Rowan & Martin, Enzo Stuarti.

CRESCENDO—Jack E. Leonard, Vikki Carr.

DINO'S—Betsy Duncan, Jack Elton, Steve LaFever.

ICE HOUSE—Shaggy Gorillas, Stewart Clay, Pat & Victoria.

INTERLUDE — Paul Winchell, Tani Jones.

MELODY ROOM—Jack Costanzo Quartet, Jacqueline Fontaine.

SLATE BROS.—Simmy Bon.

STATLER HOTEL—George Liberace

TOWN HOUSE—Red Nichols & Five Pennies.

TROUBADOR—Hoyt Axton, Freddie Neile.

YE LITTLE CLUB—Monte Mansfield.

LAS VEGAS

CASTAWAYS—"Holiday In The Orient," Peggy Lord, Patti Kim, Bobby Stevenson Orc.

DESERT INN — Milton Berle Show, Donn Arden Dancers, Carlton Hayes Orc. Lounge: Pinky Lee, Davis & Reese, Mafalda Trio, Lilting Strings.

DUNES—Frederic Apcar's "Casino de Paris," starring Line Renaud. Lounge: "Vive Les Girls!" Gwen Harmon. Sultan's Table: Jose Mario, Arturo Romero Strings (11).

FLAMINGO—Mitzi Gaynor, Russ Black Orc. Lounge: Della Reese, Nita Crul, Bob Sims.

FREMONT—Cables, Fables, Paul Dino.

GOLDEN NUGGET—Buck Owens, Billy Gray, Ronnie Pearson, Judy Kay.

HACIENDA—"Les Poupees de Paris," Ink Spots, Johnny Olenn, Kay Houston.

MINT—"Hong Kong Scandals," Pat Moreno's Artists and Models.

NEVADA—Peter Anthony, Royal Tahitians.

NEW FRONTIER—Bobby Wick and Ray Brand in "Fantasy on Ice," Clara Ward Singers, Dick Rice Orc.

RIVIERA—Kay Starr, Louis Armstrong, Jack Cathcart Orc. Lounge: Johnny Desmond, Jack Ross, Betty Ayres' Sparkling Strings, Marty Heim Trio.

SAHARA—Tony Bennett, Moro-Landis Dancers, Louis Basil Orc. Lounge: Louis Prima, Gia Maione, Sam Butera, Characters.

SANDS—Danny Thomas. Lounge: Martin Denny, Johnny Prophet, Vido Musso, Dave Burton, Ernie Stewart.

SHOWBOAT — Jack "Jive" Schafer, Twin Tunes, Johnny Paul, Frankie Yankovic, Leo Wolf.

SILVER SLIPPER—Hank Henry, Sparky Kaye, Lili St. Cyr, Jack Larson, Eddie Innes, Danny Jacobs, Laura Del Mar, George Redman Orc. Lounge: Charlie Teagarden, Funtastics, Beverly Marshall, Skeets Minton.

STARDUST—"Lido de Paris," Eddie O'Neal Orc. Lounge: Don Cornell, De Castro Sisters, Esquivel, Lobato Dancers, Nelida, Nalani Kele.

THUNDERBIRD—Peter L. Marshall in "Anything Goes," with Eileen Rodgers, Patricia Marand, Irving Benson, Benny Baker, Nat Brandwynne Orc. Lounge: Treniers, Brothers Castro, Micki Lynn.

TROPICANA — "Folies Bergere," Ray Sinatra Orc. Lounge: Perez Prado, Denis & Rogers, Al DePaulis 4, Dubonnet 3.

RENO-TAHOE

GOLDEN—Flapper Follies with Vespia Brothers, Elsa & Waldo, Vega Maddus, Don Staiton, Golden Girls, John Carleton Orc.

HAROLDS — Trini Lopez, Johnny O'Brien, Don Conn Orc.

HARRAH'S (Reno) — DeCastro Sisters, Nick Lucas, Judy Lynn, Joe King & Zaniacs, Red Coty.

HARRAH'S (Tahoe)—Anna Maria Alberghetti, Vaughn Meader, John Bubbles, Moro-Landis Dancers, Leighton Noble Orc. Lounge: Billy Eckstine, Jerry Colonna, Top Notchers, Coquettes.

HARVEY'S—Florian Zabach, Curtiss & Tracy, Town Pipers, Jack Bedient, Chessmen Jets, We Four, Orrin Tucker Orc.

HOLIDAY—Jon & Sondra Steele, Esquires, Sparklers, Charles Gould's Satin Strings.

MAPES—Jan Garber Orc, Bobby Page Show, Tunesters, Joe Karnes.

NEVADA LODGE (Tahoe)—Sawyer Sis, Max Daffner Trio.

NEW CHINA CLUB—Skip O'Connell.

NUGGET (Sparks)—Bill Dana, Gogi Grant, George Arnold Singers & Dancers, Foster Edwards Orc.

RIVERSIDE—Arthur Walsh, Riverside Varieties, Carlton MacBeth Orc.

WAGON WHEEL (Tahoe)—Rowan & Martin Gail Gali, Johnny Hamlin Orc.

MIAMI-MIAMI BEACH

AMERICANA—"Ecstasy on Ice," Bobby Short 3.

CARILLON—"Oui Oui Paree" Lynda Gloria, Arnaut Bros., Steve Danik, Les Stevens, Line (12), Jacques Donnet Orc., Bill Jordan & Lee Coby, Sammy Morris, McCormick's 3, Georgia Kaye, Tanya & Biaggi.

CASTAWAYS—Gospel Singers, Tony Foster, Joe Nero & Dixiecrats, Kirby Campbell, Wreckettes.

DEAUVILLE — Tommy Dorsey Orc., Frank Sinatra Jr., Helen Forrest, Charlie Shavers, Sam Donohue, Pupi Campo, Les Rhode Orc.

DIPLOMAT—Buddy Hackett, Neil Sedaka, Dick Haymes Jr., George Foster, Van Smith Orc.

CORAL BEACH—Steve Alaimo, Bobby Hackett 4, Mal Malkin Orc., Chester Nennett Dancers, Bea Kalmus.

EDEN ROC—Belle Barth, Escobar Orc., Richard Tucker, Monroe Kasse Orc.

FONTAINEBLEAU—Len Dawson Orc., Gonzalo Barr Orc., Chero Del Prado Orc., Pat Galo, Hi Lads, Ziggy Lane.

LeBISTRO—Billy Daniels, Pat Morrisey, Benny Payne.

MURRAY FRANKLIN'S — Murray Franklin, Roy Sedley, Harvey Bell, Guy Rennie.

PLAY ROOM—Dakota Staton, Mickey Gentile 3, Eddie Sack 3.

THUNDERBIRD—Richie Bros., Berj Vaughn 4, Jimmy Holmes, Phyllis Branch.

TONY'S FISH MARKET—Milt Trenier, Remarkable Rubin, Arabian Nights Revue, Dorothy Donegan.

SAN FRANCISCO

BIMBO'S—Lill St. Cyr.

THE COMMITTEE—Kathryn Ish, Irene Riordan, Scott Beach, Hamilton Camp, Gary Goodrow, Larry Hankin

FAIRMONT HOTEL—Ernie Heckscher Orc.

GALAXIE — Nooney Rickett V. Joni Lymon.

hungry I—John Gary, Helen Humes, Turtles.

INTERLUDE—Don Washington, Merrill Hoover Trio.

JAZZ WORKSHOP—Art Blakey Messengers.

LITTLE FOX—"Private Lives," Oliver Cliff, Marrian Walters.

McGOON'S—Turk Murphy band, Clancy Hayes.

OFF BROADWAY—Mel Torme.

ON BROADWAY—"Under the Yum Tree."

PURPLE ONION—Albert T. Berry, Rusty Carlisle.

SAFARI ROOM (San Jose)—Mills Bros.

SHERATON-PALACE—Bola Sete.

SUGAR HILL—Shirley Horn 3.

THE TRIDENT (Sausalito)—Jean Hoffman Orc.

TIN PAN ALLEY (Redwood City)—Terri King, The Henchmen.

Tooter Union

Continued from page 73

don't want to work half the year and starve the other half," he added.

A three-year contract with hotels expires Dec. 1964. Pena declared that if a new contract isn't agreed to before that date hotels will not have musicians. He indicated what his 1,600-member union will be seeking in the coming negotiations.

"I will insist that musicians get wages on a year-round basis. I will also insist on a guaranteed annual wage for musicians whether clubs are open or not. This means those clubs that are closed will be asked to agree to a high scale to compensate for the closed periods."

Pena rejected the suggestion that he is rigid on maintaining a 17-piece band in each hotel room. "Each room has different minimums," he pointed out, "according to its needs."

Suburban Names

Continued from page 73

Beach and Cherry Hill, N. J. The agents say that it's still too early to tell whether the Town & Country Club or the San Su San will be included in that select itinerary. However, they feel that if the money comes up somewhat in either of these two spots, the headliners may come in.

The San Su San has been throwing out offers to Jimmy Durante, Peggy Lee, others. So far, the upper talent echelon hasn't moved, but the agents say that some are on the verge of accepting.

The midcity cafes, such as the Latin Quarter and Copacabana, Basin St. East, with half the T&C capacity, cannot consider these five-figure offers. These bonifaces readily admit that they have been hurt by failure to get the top attractions.

The trend toward suburbia, plus the static capacity of the urban boites, tend to starve the bigcity cafes of their top stars. Bonifaces, thus far, have come up with no remedy to counteract this trend.

Test Youngman For New Crosby Videocast

Henny Youngman, who was on the Jackie Gleason romp for CBS last Saturday (4), is to be tested in Hollywood for the new Bing Crosby videocast. He proceeds there from the Crystal Palace in St. Louis, where he is current.

On the Coast he is dated for the Crescendo Cafe, April 15-May 3, also a one-time April 25 on the Hollywood Palace telecast. He's had a run of eight appearances of late on the Johnny Carson tv session.

House Reviews

Star Theatre, Phoenix

Phoenix, April 2.

Nat King Cole in "Sights and Sounds" with Pete Barbuti, the Merry Young Souls (12), Joe Zito Orch (19); produced by Ike Jones; presented by Buster Bonoff; staged by Jack Regas; lighting, Robert Borod; admission scaled from $3.50 to $6.50.

One of the contradictory commentaries of the day is taking place in Phoenix. Militant pickets from CORE and the NAACP are angrily storming the bastions of the State Capitol with sit and sleepins demanding equal public accommodation laws while, up the street a piece at Buster Bonoff's 1,700 seat Star Theatre, Nat King Cole placidly unfurls a three-hour singathon before a totally mixed SRO house.

But even more startling are his 12 talented Merry Young Souls—an integrated boy and girl song and terp line. The curtain reaction to Cole & Co.'s efforts from the outfront ofays and sepias was a palm-thumping, whistling standing ovation.

For Cole buffs this eight-night stand gives moments to savor. Cole, an obliging gent with a gentle, unpretentious mien, has himself a wonderful time onstage recalling "Dance, Ballerina, Dance," "Laura," "Mona Lisa," "Ramblin' Rose" and a passel of his other disclicks.

He shepherds the Young Souls through their intricate, disciplined turn consisting of western, blues and Broadway medleys like a benigned, fatherly doyen. He also clicks consistently while noodling at the 88's, backed excellently by the muted trumpet of Reunald Jones.

Comic Pete Barbuti, a bearded young neophyte scores nicely with his r&r and airline barbs. Even though his material is sharply honed and richly original the yockster lacks onstage poise and tends to put the outfronters down when his patter starts to sag. But with a bit more exposure and confidence he will be a strong contender in the comedic derby.

Robert Barod manipulates his lights with elan and David Schupback controls the complex Star Theatre sound board efficiently. But kudos aplenty are garnered by conductor Joe Zito who paces his 19 men through one of the most complex folios heard here.

O'Haf.

Apollo, N.Y.

Jackie "Moms" Mabley, Louis Jordan (with the Lalo Wilson Quartet) La Vern Baker, Bunny Briggs, Lloyd Mayers Trio; "The Ugly American" (U).

The Frank Schiffman hospice underwent a last-minute change when one of the Soul Sisters took ill before showtime and Bunny Briggs walked into the breach. In concert with Louis Jordan (working with the Lalo Wilson Quartet), Jackie "Moms" Mabley and La Vern Baker, the Apollo has a change of pace bill in which the more traditional vaudeville verities are more evident.

The topper is Miss Mabley who is a fixture in the Harlem environs. Her homely humor keeps the Apollo customers extremely happy, and with her parodies on pops woven together in an integration medley she wraps up the house with ease and assurance.

Jordan has never abandoned a happy sound even though he has a different group of musicians working with him. He has a West Indian jazziness, combined with a strong beat and a humorous delivery, that keeps him far ahead of the audience. He hits his stride easily and continues in high gear until bowoff.

Miss Baker is another strongpoint. She is given further assurance by the piano backing of Lee Anderson, who has supplied her with some sparkling arrangements. Her highpoint is a multi-tempoed delivery of "Street Where You Live," a clever and extremely melodic treatment of the "My Fair Lady" excerpt.

Bunny Briggs is a smooth and effective tapster who infuses numorous improvisations into his legwork. Per usual, he scores strongly.

The music is in groups. Aside from the Jordan combo, there's the Lloyd Mayers Trio which supplies competent showbacking and offers a pleasant solo piece on its own.

Jose.

New Acts

AKI YOSHIMURA
Songs
25 Mins.
Monticello, Framingham

Imported from Japan by Sam Snyder (Snyder's "Water Follies,") Aki Yoshimura is a Japanese doll 5-3 who unleashes a big belting voice singing American pop songs in U.S. style for a study in incongruity which has to be seen to be believed.

Here's authentic beauty, cameo like features, complexion rivalling color ads, jet black hair piled high on head, dressed in aqua-blue lame Japanese traditional kimono and obi, who snaps her slender fingers evoking images of tea pouring and flower arranging, and belts out "Bill Bailey."

Miss Yoshimura studied singing in Japan, sang in nightclubs there, and made several films in which she sang and danced. But her swinging style, as U.S. flavored as hot dogs, was learned from American platters in Japan in long and ardous study. Possessed of a fine musical ear, she's got the words and music of the pop songs she sings down pat, although she speaks little English and needs an interperter, but it's no mere copy. She's got a big driving voice that can lift and soar and reach hushed whispers as when she sings a Japanese children's song, "Shojoji" (Honey Bear), in her native language.

This is her first U.S. appearance, and the 21-year-old lovely looks destined for big things. Tremendously photogenic, with a voice that surprises, she presents a well balanced stint of songs in Japanese together with the wild numbers she's pulled off the platters. "Mack the Knife," sung by Miss Yoshimura in her Japanese costume in English, with a Japanese accent, with flawless musical beat, is something to hear.

Opening with a Japanese song, "Suki Yaki," she shows slick stage presence, moves about mike in hand winning big response. She builds to an emotional "Sayonara" in Japanese which jolts the audience with impact netting her large rounds of applause.

Undoubtedly the most beautiful Japanese girl to set foot on our shores, and with a voice that any of our distaff top pop singers would envy, Aki Yoshimura is a sure bet for tv, films, musicals and posh nitery rooms.

Guy.

IRWIN TWINS
Singers
15 Mins.
Iroquois Gardens, Louisville

Personable identical twins, Lynn and Glynn Irwin, two lads who vocalize in the folk and pop idiom, with two guitar accomp, are newcomers who have had tv showings and Columbia recordings. Boys are smooth workers in their harmonizing, have pleasing pipes, and know how to project. Working close to the mike, they synchronize body movements without exaggeration. Their youthful clean-cut appearance made excellent impression at show caught.

Opened with "I Can Take His Baby Away," recent Columbia release, and closed with the flip side tune, "Vera Cruz." Moved at a fast clip through "Be Bop A Lula," "Jezabel," "All I Have To Do Is Dream."

With a little maturity, cleaner enunciation of lyrics, and more exposure, twins should be ready for regular bookings at niteries. With a little more seasoning, these boys should make the grade.

Wied.

Establish Free Southern Theatre For Summer Sked in Jackson, Miss., Then Local Groups, Touring Units

A pilot project, as a start toward establishing live theatre in the deep south to acquaint Negro audiences with plays that reflect the struggle of the American Negro, is scheduled for this summer in Jackson, Miss. A 10-week season of legit offerings is planned for the Masonic Temple there beginning June 13 as the initial venture of the newly-formed Free Southern Theatre.

The plays are to be presented before Negro and, in time, integrated audiences. FST, which also intends using integrated casts in some of its productions, hopes to establish permanent stock and repertory companies, with mobile touring units, in major population centers throughout the south.

A number of prominent performers and others in the arts, both Negro and white, are sponsoring the undertaking, for which a fund of $100,000 is being sought. The office of Broadway producer Philip Rose is being used by FST as the mailing address for contributions, scripts and offers of participation.

Live theatre, the FST believes, will provide the most effective means of filling the "void created by the degrading effect of inferior education in segregated southern schools; the omissions and distortions of local press, radio and television, which effectively keep the Negro in ignorance of the problems which most directly concern him and the deliberate exclusions of the Negro community from all but the most meager cultural resources that combine to ensure the intellectual and cultural isolation of the Negro in the south."

Plays by Langston Hughes, James Baldwin, John O. Killens, Ossie Davis, Richard Schechner, Douglas Turner and Ann Flagg are on the production schedule of FST, which intends using specially equipped central theatres plus community centers, schools, churches and fields in rural areas.

The companies will comprise participants from the local Negro communities and, with the cooperation of the appropriate unions, professional actors, directors and technicians.

There's to be no admission charge to the productions. Five offerings are planned for the pilot season in Jackson, with the plays to be presented also in nearby communities. Each of the presentations

(Continued on page 82)

Ready 'Lady' and 'Sound' As Stock Packages For Season at Corning, N.Y.

Packages of "My Fair Lady," co-starring Allyn Ann McLerie and George Gaynes, and "Sound of Music," headlining Lawrence Brooks, are being prepared for stock tours this summer by Omar K. Lerman and Bret Adams. The "Lady" package, which Bill Francisco will direct, will open the 14th season June 22 of the Corning (N. Y.) Summer Theatre, at which Lerman is the producer.

The "Music" package, which Bob Herget will stage, will be the wind-up bill of the Corning season, which will also include resident company presentation of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad . . .." "Take Her, She's Mine," "A Rainy Day in Newark," as well as a production of "The Fantasticks," starring Moreley Meredith of the Metopera. "The Fantasticks" is a special production Lerman is doing with John Daggett Howell of the Chautauqua Institute.

A company of 18 will be used for the "Lady" package, priced at around $5,500. The tab will be about the same for the "Music" package, which will employ a company of 19. Esther Scott, resident designer at the Corning showcase, is doing the designs for both packages. Don Jennings is musical director and Ken Costigan advance director, respectively, for "Lady." Al Evans is musical director and Ed Aldridge advance director, respectively, for "Music."

Besides his stock activities, Lerman is also administrating the Touring Arts Program at the N. Y. State Council on the Arts.

South African Director Studies American Stage

Leonard Schach, South African director-producer, is in New York following a three-month tour of regional repertory companies in the U.S. He made the trip, arranged by the American National Theatre & Academy, as a guest of the U.S. State Dept. While in Madison, Wis., he directed a production at the Union of "Hodag," by David Peterson.

Schach returns to South Africa soon to stage "Twelfth Night," which that country's national theatre will present in celebration of Shakespeare's 400th anni. At the end of the year, Schach is slated to go to Tel Aviv to direct "After the Fall" for the Cameri Theatre there.

Tyro Tunesmiths Flex Talents At BMI Workshop

The BMI Musical Theatre Workshop, regarded by some as a Tin Pan Alley version of the Actors Studio, will audition a musical adaptation of Joshua Logan's "The Wisteria Trees" April 28 at the Maidman Theatre, N.Y., before an invited audience of producers, directors, music publishers and agents.

This unusual event will be the last of three one-hour showcases to be presented at the Maidman on three consecutive Tuesday afternoons at 5 p.m., beginning next Tuesday (14).

The Musical Theatre Workshop was established four years ago by Broadcast Music Inc. to provide composers and lyricists with an opportunity to work creatively in the theatrical medium. This takes in exercises ranging from musical adaptations of classics and contemporary dramas to the creation of original works.

The upcoming showcase series represents the first time the workshop will be displaying its members' works to a collective group of professionals from the theatre and publishing fields.

Broadway musical conductor Lehman Engel, who's in charge of the workshop, will conduct the showcase programs. The adaptation of "Wisteria," which will naturally be auditioned in abbreviated form because of the time limitation, is titled, "Dancing, Dancing, Goodbye" and has book and lyrics by Marvin Schofer and music by William Goldstein. It originated as a workshop exercise, as did "Hexagon," which will be next Tuesday's workshop presentation. "Hexagon" is an original musical with book by Raleigh Bond, lyrics by Francine Forest and music by Gordon Eis. Incidentally, Logan's "Wisteria" is based on Anton Chekov's "The Cherry Orchard."

The April 21 offering will consist of songs written to a variety of plays with music and lyrics by Joan Bender, William Dyer, Carol

(Continued on page 82)

Century Lighting Sold; Ed Kook Remains Prez

The Century Lighting Co., a leading firm in legit, television and architectural illumination, has been bought by the Progress Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Philadelphia, a producer of residential lighting fixtures and other electrical equipment. However, it will retain its name and identity, with the same personnel and with Edward F. Kook continuing as president.

The entire stock of Century is included in the sale. Kook and his daughter, Patricia K. Gibbs, held all the company's shares, having bought out several other partners about a year ago. Century was formed in 1929, with Kook one of the founders.

Met's Touring Divas

Minneapolis, April 7.

Shortened from six to four days and seven to five performances, the annual Metropolitan Opera engagement at Northrop Auditorium here, May 21-24, will present Renata Tebaldi, Anna Moffo, Joan Sutherland and Leontyne Price in "La Boheme," "Manon," "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Don Giovanni" and "Falstaff."

Male complement will include Richard Tucker, Cesare Siepi, Jerome Hines, Giorgio Tozzi, Carlo Beaconzi, Anselmo Colzani and Theodor Uppman.

Pop-Price 'Forum' As Teener Show

Minneapolis, April 7.

Although it has the reputation of being somewhat naughty in spots and scarcely a show for the juvenile trade, the touring "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" has gone after youthful patronage, including even teenagers, for its engagement at the Orpheum Theatre here this week.

Highschool and college students were informed they'd be admitted to the better seats on the engagement's first two nights, last night (Mon.) and tonight (Tues.), at the substantially reduced price of $1.95. The regular top is $5.95-$6.50, the latter on Friday and Saturday nights. The young patrons had to buy their tickets last Friday and Saturday (3-4).

Explaining the inducement, the management referred to producer "Martin Tahse's program to interest young people in the theatre and to give them an opportunity to see good theatres at prices they can afford."

RITA MORENO SET FOR 'LOVES ME' IN LONDON

London, April 7.

Hollywood actress Rita Moreno is to take over a leading role in "She Loves Me," from Nyree Dawn Porter. The tuner, a hit on Broadway, is due to open at the Lyric Theatre on April 29, with Anne Rogers starring.

Miss Porter has had to withdraw owing to an acute attack of jaundice. Miss Moreno, who appeared in the film "West Side Story," will be making her West End debut.

Martin Tahse Schedules 'Gate' on B'way Next Fall

"Golden Gate," earmarked for Broadway production by Martin Tahse, is to begin a tryout tour Sept. 28 at the Geary Theatre, San Francisco. The presentation is a tuner with book by Richard Morris, music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb. Kander and Ebb planed to the Coast last Friday (3) to confer with Tahse and Morris.

Tahse, currently presenting "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" on the road, is due back at his New York office this week.

Bruce Birkenhead to Do Scozzari Play Off-B'way

Bruce Birkenhead, business manager last summer at the Cape Cod Meldoy Tent, Hyannis, Mass., plans moving into the off-Broadway area as producer of "The Bouzingos," by Richard Scozzari. Madeleine Sherwood and Patrick O'Neal are earmarked for key roles, with O'Neal also scheduled to direct.

The presentation, budgeted at $20,000, will have scenery by Phillip Rosenberg.

Players Plan Summer

Players Inc. will begin its 14th season July 7 at St. Michael's Playhouse, Winooski Park, Vt. The schedule will run six weeks. Donald Rathgeb is resident manager of the operation.

The company is also touring this year with "Oedipus Rex" and "The Taming of the Shrew." In addition, arrangements are being discussed for another overseas trip before the company assembles at St. Michael's in June.

During the summer another Players company operates in Olney, Md.

Equity Election Getting Warmer; Bill Prince Raps Ralph Bellamy; But What Are Really the Issues?

By JESSE GROSS

Actors Equity is again embroiled in a factional fracas. Ralph Bellamy, the outgoing president after four consecutive three-year terms, has charged that a faction is attempting to take over the union in the election of officers and councillors that's to be completed May 8. The retiring prez, long-regarded as a moderate, has claimed that the faction is represented by Eddie Weston and Theodore Bikel, the nominating committee's candidates for the posts of president and first vice-president, respectively.

Bellamy is supporting an opposition ticket on which the prez and first veepee candidates are Frederick O'Neal and Lillian Gish, respectively. At the annual Equity meeting last Friday (3) Bellamy, in New York from the Coast to preside, was criticized by William Prince for publicly attacking Weston and Bikel in a N.Y. Times interview March 31. Besides the factional charge, Bellamy also accussed the two of conducting "unprincipled and misleading" campaigns.

The Friday session, at which candidates for officer and councillor posts in the union made statements, was open to Equity members only. It's been learned, however, that aside from the remarks by the candidates, the only discussion in connection with the election was Prince's criticism of Bellamy and the latter's reiteration of his factionalism charge.

Big Turnout

The meeting drew an unusually large turnout, many with more than just the election on their minds. Of major concern was the recent hike in Equity dues and initiation fee. Discussion in this area resulted in the adoption of a resolution asking the Equity council to restudy the changes instituted in the dues structure. The council, in a referendum of the membership, had urged approval of the dues hike because of increased expenditures, and it's considered unlikely that the administrative body will make any drastic changes in the newly-adopted dues setup.

At the meeting, which ran about four hours, the membership decided against floor discussion after the reading of the campaign

(Continued on page 82)

Marc Blitzstein Tribute At Philharmonic Hall, N.Y.

Marc Blitzstein, who was killed by brawling seaman on a Caribbean island during the winter, will be memorialized April 19 at Philharmonic Hall, N.Y. Phyllis Curtain will take the title role in a revival of the composer's opera, "Regina," based on the Lillian Hellman drama, "The Little Foxes." Julius Rudel, head of the N.Y. City Opera, will conduct, as he did originally in 1953. Miss Hellman will read a narration.

The second portion of concert will be Blitzstein's first big stage success. "The Cradle Will Rock." Leonard Bernstein will handle the baton. It is intended to set up a music theatre award in Blitzstein's name.

Kim Stanley In Studio's 'Sisters'; Swap Strasbergs

Kim Stanley, who withdrew several weeks ago from the forthcoming Actors Studio revival of "The Three Sisters," has changed her mind and agreed to appear in the play. Perhaps by coincidence, Susan Strasberg, who was to have costarred with Miss Stanley and Geraldine Page, has withdrawn from the production.

No successor has been engaged so far to replace Miss Strasberg in the role of Irina, but Paula Strasberg, her mother and the wife of Lee Strasberg, who is staging the Anton Chekhov work, is set to be stand-by for the three title roles. It will be her first acting assignment in some years. Strasberg, besides being the director, is the artistic head of the Studio.

Although an April opening on Broadway had been anounced for "Sisters," no theatre has been booked and, with casting not completed, it's assumed that the production will be delayed. Miss Stanley is to play Masha in the Chekov comedy-drama, and Miss Page will portray Olga.

The "Sisters" production is being financed from the proceeds of a grant to the Studio from the Ford Foundation.

Off-B'way 'Madman' Set; Hearing Due on License

"Diary of a Madman" will have its American preem April 16 at the Gramercy Arts Theatre, N.Y. The opening was originally set for April 14 at the same house. An order, signed recently by N.Y. Supreme Court Judge Frederick Backer, adjourns until April 20 a hearing to show cause why the suspension of the Gramercy Arts' license by former N.Y. License Commissioner Bernard J. O'Connell should be upheld.

The adjournment restored the theatre's license, which was suspended March 23 for 90 days because of a film society which was using the premises for a Monday night series of documentaries committed an alleged violation by accepting money for admission without a license. When the infringement was brought to the attention of Alexander Racolin and Martin Rubin, who hold a 20-year lease on the Gramercy Arts, they dispossessed the film society for violation of contract.

Racolin and Rubin are co-producers of "Diary" with Ninon Tallon Karlweis and Alex Hassilev. The Gogol play, with Zack Matalon playing the sole role evenings and William Hickey, the show's director, spelling him at matinees, is now giving previews.

"The Pinter Plays," which had to move from the Pocket Theatre, N.Y., when the house was temporarily closed recently for showing an unlicensed film, is now at Midway Theatre, N.Y.

Gilbert Miller's $5,000 Makes Him Co-Producer Of Madrid's 'Forum' Co.

Madrid, April 7.

American legit interests made an initial appearance on the Spanish scene when Gilbert Miller and Spanish producer-director Jose Osuna opened a coproduction version of "Funny Thing Happened on the way to the Forum" in Madrid last week. The deal was made with Miller's general manager, George Banyai, who is represented here by Andres Kramer.

Coproduction with Spain is not as formidable as it seems. Theater budgets, even for a hit musical comedy, are only a fraction of stateside figures. While amounts are not revealed, Miller's participation is estimated at under $5,000.

"Funny Thing Happened" opened at the Teatro Maravillas with a libretto adapted for Spain by Jose Luis Coll and Manuel Ruiz Castillo, and an adapted score by Moreno Buendia. Unable to come up with a suitable local version of the original title, Osuna named it "Golfus de Roma".

Jose Sazatornil stars as the slave; Erasmo Pascual and Carmen Martinez play Senex and his wife, Domina; the role of Philia goes to Alicia de la Victoria; her lover is Pedro Pecci; Venanacio Muro is the second slave, and Ricardo Royo plays the victorious soldier. Eye-filling courtesans were recruited from among foreign beauties appearing at local cabarets as well as from local guapas.

Ranking cartoonist, Mingote, designed sets and costumes. The latter, fashioned daringly for Spain, were buttoned up considerably following traditional censor modifications at the final rehearsal performance.

Shows on Broadway

Anyone Can Whistle

Kermit Bloomgarden & Diana Krasny presentation of musical comedy in three acts (14 numbers), with book by Arthur Laurents, music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim. Staged by Arthur Laurents; dance and musical staging, Herbert Ross; scenery, William and Jean Eckart; costumes, Theoni V. Aldredge; lighting, Jules Fisher; orchestration, Don Walker; vocal arrangements and musical direction, Herbert Greene; dance music arrangements, Betty Walberg; associate producer, Arlene Sellers. Stars Lee Remick, Angela Lansbury, Harry Guardino; features Gabriel Dell, Arnold Soboloff, James Frawley, Peg Murray, Don Doherty, Sterling Clark, Harvey Evans, Larry Roquemore, Tucker Smith. Opened April 4, '64, at the Majestic Theatre, N. Y.; $8.60 top.

Sandwich Man ..... Jeff Killion
Baby Joan ..... Jeanne Tanzy
Mrs. Schroeder ..... Peg Murray
Treasurer Cooley ..... Arnold Soboloff
Chief Magruder ..... James Frawley
Controller Schub ..... Gabriel Dell
Cora Hoover Hooper....Angela Lansbury
The Boys ..... Sterling Clark, Harvey Evans, Larry Roquemore, Tucker Smith
Fay Apple ..... Lee Remick
J. Bowden Hapgood....Harry Guardino
Dr. Detmold ..... Don Doherty
June ..... Janet Hayes
John ..... Harvey Evans
Martin ..... Lester Wilson
Old Lady ..... Eleonore Treiber
Telegraph Boy ..... Alan Johnson
Osgood ..... Georgia Creighton

Others: Susan Borree, Bettye Jenkins, Patricia Kelly, Barbara Lang, Paula Lloyd, Barbara Monte, Odette Phillips, Hanne-Marie Reiner, Eugene Edwards, Dick Ensslen, Loren Hightower, Jack Murray, William Reilly, Don Stewart.

Musical numbers: "I'm Like the Bluebird," "Me and My Town," "Miracle Song," "Simple," "A-1 March," "Come Play Wiz Me," "Anyone Can Whistle," "A Parade in Town," "Everybody Says Don't," Ballet, "I've Got You to Lean On," "See What It Gets You," Waltzes, "With So Little to Be Sure Of."

Whatever it's supposed to be getting at, "Anyone Can Whistle" should have the distinction of not leaving audiences apathetic. If it isn't entertaining, it's at least apt to be irritating. Don't look here for a rational explanation of the show, which opened last Saturday night (4) at the Majestic Theatre. Just put it down as a boxoffice dodo and of negligible interest for stock or pictures.

Certain details are presumably obligatory. The Kermit Bloomgarden-Diana Krasny production has a book by Arthur Laurents, with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, in what's evidently meant to be a sort of song and dance theatre of the absurd. Laurents staged the remorselessly frolicsome performance, with antic and frequently good choreography by Herbert Ross. The stars are Lee Remick, Angela Lansbury and Harry Guardino.

The book is a kind of surrealist fable about a corrupt Never-Neverland town in which the supposedly crazy people are sane. The point seems to be something or other about the stultifying effect of that pathetically riddled target, conformity. Miss Lansbury plays a caricature mayoress. Miss Remick portrays a nurse who can't let herself go except when she sports a red wig and a transparently bogus French accent. Guardino enacts a visiting nut who is mistaken for a doctor, romances the nurse and finally teaches her to relax and be herself.

Maybe it's supposed to be Brechtian, or something, and obviously it's meant to be symbolic, profound, sophisticated and clever as all get out. By normal entertainment standards, however, it's an enigma — a large, pretentious, numbing shambles. There's not a genuinely memorable song in the show, although the title number, "A Parade in Town," "Everybody Says Don't" and "So Little to Be Sure of" are briefly, mildly listenable.

Miss Lansbury is a solid performer who sings acceptably, gets her laughs and has professional presence and authority. Miss Remick from films is a trim looker (at least when she's not in that unbecoming wig and the gaudy gown and flushed makeup that go with it), as well as a fair enough dancer and singer, but not yet sufficient command or magnetism on the stage. Guardino is an adequate leading man and, at least with mike-amplification, a loud singer.

Ross's choreography is electrifying, but his staging of musical numbers is excessively roguish. William and Jean Eckart's scenery is in the ornately cutesy mode of the rest of the show, and the Theoni V. Aldredge costumes tend to be either deliberately raggedy or elaborately fashioned to show the human anatomy to disadvantage.

In a season already notable for musical mishaps, "Anyone Can Whistle" is an outstanding clinker.

Hobe.

Sponono

Mary K. Frank presentation of drama in three acts (14 scenes), by Alan Paton and Krishna Shah. Staged by Krishna Shah; settings, Pamela Lewis; supervision and lighting, Paul Morrison; costumes, Ruth St. Moritz; costume supervision, John Boyt; traditional chant arrangements, Gideon Nxumalo; additional chant compositions, Fela Sowande, John Knox Bokwe, J. P. Mohapeloa, Gideon Nxumalo. Opened April 2, '64, at the Cort Theatre, N.Y.; $6.90 top weeknights, $7.50 Friday-Saturday nights.

Sponono ..... Cocky Tlhotlhalemaje
Principal ..... Michael Goodliffe
Elizabeth ..... Ruth Nkonyeni
Walter ..... Joe Ngoetjana
Spike Molestane ..... Ferdinand Mafata
Ha'penny ..... Philemon Hou
Mr. Mabaso ..... Lionel Ngakane
Mr. Makatini ..... Obed Dira
Mrs. Makatini ..... Phyllis Mqomo
Johannes Mofoking ..... Sidney Motha
Reformatory Boys ..... Osborne Ferdinand, Paul Makgoba, Herbert Manana, Gideon Manana, Ernest Mohlomi, Sidney Motha, Barney Qhobosheane, Caiphus Semenya, John Sithebe, Victor Shange, Douglas Xaba
Sangoma ..... Vinah Bendile
Imbongi ..... Douglas Xaba
Court Attendants ..... Barney Qhobosheane, Gideon Manana, Caiphus Semenya, John Sithebe
Chief Counsellor ..... Paul Makgoba
Chief Attendant ..... Victor Shange
Choir ..... Osborne Ferdinand (leader), Maria Khule, Virginia Mablane, Margaret McIngane, Betty Mthombeni, Ernest Mohlomi, Gideon Manana, Herbert Manana, Paul Makgoba, Caiphus Semenya

---

What is there to say for "Sponono" on Broadway? The South African drama by Alan Paton and Krishna Shah, opening last Thursday night (2) at the Cort Theatre, is an unmistakably earnest work with interesting elements, fervent performance and a third act that falls to pieces in muddled symbolism. Even at best, the Mary K. Frank adaptation is unsuited for the commercial requirements of Broadway or, for that matter, stock. It offers practically nothing for pictures.

"Sponono" was originally done at Dorkay House, a music and theatre training center for non-Europeans in Johannesburg. The locale is a reform school and in adjacent Victoriatown, a suburb of Johannesburg, and the story involves the futile attempt of the dedicated, compassionate principal to reclaim a likable and remarkably articulate and persuasive inmate. As it happens, the youth is a real rotten apple whom his colored companions see through as a vengeful, self-excusing hypocrite, so the white schoolmaster's sympathy and repeated forgiveness ends in tragedy.

The script is overwritten and repetitious in a primitive narrative style, accompanied by frequent native chants and occasional tribal dances that add atmosphere and texture, but retard the action. Whatever effect the basically realistic plot manages to convey in the long first two acts is tossed away, however, in a wildly fantastic dream courtroom trial in the third act, presumably intended as a parable.

The moral of this lurid concluding pasage is evidently a modern revision of the discredited turn-of-the-century colonialist theme of the white man's burden. As expressed repeatedly by the seemingly well-meaning but invariably recalcitrant youth, and finally endorsed by the principal, the lopsided philosophy is that in this bi-racial situation the white man's Christlike obligation is to be endlessly forgiving but, failing that just once, to be unforgiven.

Co-author Shah has staged the performance with a sense of dimension, but faulty pace, although there are several vibrant and gripping scenes, notably a brutal fight in the second act. The cast includes one English actor, Michael Goodliffe, portraying the schoolmaster, and such jaw-breaker-named native principals as Cocky Tlhothalemaje, Ruth Nkonyeni, Joe Ngoetjana, Ferdinand Mafata, Philomon Hou and Lionel Ngakane. It is a large cast.

"Sponono" is an admirable project and, on its home grounds, probably a credit to the Dorkay House project. It's simply out of its element on Broadway, however, despite the possibility of modest patronage by New York's large international segment, notably the resident United Nations personnel.

Hobe.

David Nelson and his wife, June Blair, will appear in "The Happiest Years" at the Avondale Playhouse, Indianapolis, starting July 7, and at the Canal Fulton (O.) Summer Theatre the week of July 21.

Feldman & Rollins Drop Jack Perry's 'Easy Does'

Laurence Feldman and Jack Rollins, who recently tried out "Easy Does It" in winter stock, have dropped the script as a Broadway prospect. The Jack Perry play, which costarred Tom Poston and Elizabeth Allen, ended a six-week tour early in March at the Yonkers (N.Y.) Playhouse.

Also in the cast was John Crowther, son of N.Y. Times film critic Bosley Crowther.

Show Out of Town

Cool Off

Philadelphia, April 1.

Barbara Griner presentation of musical comedy in two acts (seven scenes), with book by Jerome Weidman; music and lyrics by Howard Blankman. Staged by Herbert Machiz; musical staging Bob Herget, scenery, Stewart Chaney; lighting, Klaus Holm; dance and music arrangements, Genevieve Pitot; orchestrations, Larry Wilcox; musical director, John Lesko. Stars Stanley Holloway, Hermione Baddeley; features Stuart Damon, Sheila Sullivan. Opened March 31, '64, at the Forrest Theatre, Philadelphia; $6 top.

Ed Farrish ..... Stuart Damon
Clara Farrish ..... Sheila Sullivan
Lester Linstrom ..... Stanley Holloway
Bessie Linstrom ..... Hermione Baddeley
Y. M. 2 ..... Stuart Damon
Mistress Bessie ..... Hermione Baddeley
Irving ..... Stanley Holloway
Bessie Diamond ..... Hermione Baddeley
Bessie Crepe de Chine ..... Hermione Baddeley
Policeman ..... Stanley Holloway
Bessie Bucks ..... Hermione Baddeley
Lester Lenz ..... Stanley Holloway

"Cool Off!" the four-character musical at the Forrest, appears inescapably headed for the deep freeze. The show was unready at the preem, with the cast up in the air, the scenery a shambles and the audience receiving everything with a mortuary chill. (The production closed Saturday night (4) —Ed.)

Jerome Weidman is telling a modern version of the Faustian legend in the tuner. The switch lies in a sort of heavenly interceptor command. A disillusioned young wife, tired of her drab apartment and breakfast quarrels, voices the wish to sell her soul for a night on the town with a Cary Grant-type for an escort. Hermione Baddeley and Stanley Holloway, playing the operators of a sort of nether-world DEWline, descend on the wife and trap her with Satan's emissary, a 15th century mutation of her husband.

The devices by which the good angels trap the couple in the building comprise most of the action, which grows insane as well as confusing. The dance sequences, except for a hopeful softshoe by Holloway, are entrusted to the featured leads, Stuart Damon and Sheila Sullivan as the young couple. The latter are personable enough and try hard against the material and its leaden reception.

The four principals are better in the vocal numbers, where they can at least welcome the song stops as recognizable procedure. Howard Blackman's score is a combination of modern awareness and the prettily reminiscent, but his lyrics and the book lack the chic and wit to put over so fanciful a project.

Stewart Chaney's settings are on the drab side as well as eminently unworkable.

Gagh.

Authentic Americana

"Tent Show," by Marian McKennon (Exposition; $3.50), is a novel about dramatic tent shows as they still flourish in the midwest and the south. Since author and her husband lived the story here recounted, book is actually a documentary (and a very good one) of a form of American show biz which has survived movies, radio, television, depressions, wars and famine. Little known to savants of the great legit, tent rep has moved across our land for generations; sometimes a family enterprise (like the McKennons' show), but always peopled by canvas-biting pros who are part of a closely-knit family, the true strolling players of modern times.

Plot line holding this little volume together is slender, but the color and valor of wandering artists who play dramatic repertory in one-week stands on small town vacant lots somewhere "west of the water tower" are caught in these pages with fidelity and warmth.

No reader seeking to understand enduring folk ways of the American theatre should miss this entry.

Rodo.

Show Abroad

Is There Intelligent Life On Earth?

Brighton, March 29.

The London Co. (International Plays), in association with Arthur C. Twitchell, Ralph Alswang and Herbert R. Steinmann, presentation of a musical in two acts (15 scenes, 15 numbers), in the Living Screen process, by Robert Crean, based on the Alan Dunn book, with additional material by Robert Van Scoyk; words and music by Michael Brown. Staged by Ralph Alswang; book direction, James Gilbert; musical staging, Alfred Rodrigues; film direction, John Halas; orchestrations, Norman Paris; musical director, Burt Rhodes. Features Ronnie Stevens, Anne Hart, Meg Walter, Ivor Danvers, Stella Tanner, Hope Jackman, Leon Thau, Brian Hewitt-Jones. Opened March 28, '64, at the Essoldo Theatre, Brighton; $1.75 top.

Kolumbo ..... Ronnie Stevens
Stanley ..... Ivor Danvers
Ellen ..... Meg Walter
Gate Guard ..... Ken Robson
Ben ..... Leon Thau
Orderlies ..... Victor Flattery, Stanley Fleet, Michael Kelly
Commander Conway ..... Brian Hewitt-Jones
Mom ..... Hope Jackman
Mrs. Jones ..... Pearl Prescod
Young Girl ..... Linda Bywaters
Deb ..... Carol Thomas
Randy ..... Stella Tanner
FBI Agents ..... Geoff L'Cise, Victor Duret, Johnny Greenland
Gloria ..... Jenny Kingman
Fran ..... Beth McDonald
Freddie ..... Victor Flattery
Lollypop ..... Anne Hart
Gertrude ..... Beth McDonald
Senator ..... Thick Wilson
Kooky Girl ..... Gloria Johnson

Filmed parts:

Polo ..... Cardew Robinson
Koko ..... John Rutland

Musical Numbers: "I Dreamed About Roses," "Just Imagine What a Blip Can Do," "Crisis," "If I Had a Man," "Communicate with Me," "Is There Intelligent Life on Earth?" "Undercover," "What's Let Nothing Come Between Us," "Goodbye Old World," "Blue-Green Planet," "Nice Cold Beer," "We're Gonna Have Fun," "Love," "You're Sicky, Sick Sick," "The Truth."

After years of planning and preparation, Ralph Alswang has made Living Screen a reality. This is the process whereby motion picture and live action are integrated to provide a unified entertainment —not just as a gimmick, but as a means whereby the resources of both modes of presentation are fully harnessed to complement one another.

Living Screen is a substantial advance on the Czech process demonstrated some six years previously at the Brussels World Fair. That achieved its main effect by having artists step out of the screen onto the stage. That was pure gimmick, though with obvious potentialities, which have not subsequently been developed.

Alswang has started far beyond where the Czech process stopped, and has made a bold effort to combine both film and live action into a unified whole. The least to be said is that it works; the best that its potentialities are enormous and that it opens up possibilities on the widest scale, demonstrating that these two visual arts can be jointly harnessed to provide a new dimension in mass entertainment.

For the initial production Alswang and his associates, Arthur C. Twitchell in the U.S. and Derek Glynne in London, have chosen a satirical musical depicting the adventures of a Martian who lands on earth in a flying saucer. The subject matter may have its weaknesses, but it is an effective instrument for demonstrating the potentialities.

The animated film, produced and directed by John Halas, provides a background which would not have been possible by any other means of presentation. The 35m film covers the entire stage, though because of the position of the projector in the demonstration theatre in Brighton, most of the ceiling was omitted.

That is a minor defect, however, and could easily be corrected in a permanent situation. In any event, it does not detract from the entertainment value of the show, nor does it upset the calculations as to future possibilities.

In selecting the initial vehicle, a hard choice had to be made, and the decision taken is bold. The show could easily have been over-ridden with gimmicks, with artists walking in and out of the screen to demonstrate the possibilities of the technique. But that could have easily have reduced it to the level of a circus sideshow.

Instead, a subject has been chosen in which the gimmicks are of a secondary importance and the prime factor has been to devise an entertainment per se, with the novelty values as an added attraction. Time and the boxoffice will determine whether the decision was correct, but "Is There Intelligent Life on Earth" is not dependent on technical gimmicks alone, but stands or falls as an integrated entertainment.

The book, by Robert Crean, has its slender moments, but Michael Brown's songs and lyrics are acceptable and there are exciting production numbers making effective use of backgrounding by the drums in the pit. The plot outline is slim, and mainly conventional, but the subject matter, allied to the Living Screen process, provides the basis for effective visual backgrounds.

In its own right, the book show might be rated a questionable prospect, but allied to the new method of presentation, it has a novelty value which cannot accurately be measured by the conventional yardstick.

In the live action cast there are a number of sturdy performances, notably by Ivor Danvers as a radar man who first tracks the flying saucer; Anne Hart as a voluptuous holiday maker in Miami caught up with the visiting Martian, Meg Walter as Danvers' loyal sweetheart and Stella Tanner (one of the singing Tanner Sisters) as her buddy.

Ronnie Stevens, a big name locally in revue, disappoints as the Martian and hardly seizes the opportunities the role offers. However, promising performances are given by Hope Jackman, Leon Thau and Brian Hewitt-Jones, while Geoff L'Cise, Victor Duret and Johnny Greenland, as three FBI agents, have a solid hit with their "Undercover" song. Other lively numbers include "Crisis," "Just Imagine What a Blip Can Do," "Nice Cold Beer," "We're Gonna Have Fun" and "You're Sicky, Sick Sick."

Of the three Martians involved in the plot only Ronnie Stevens is seen alive on stage. The other two, Cardew Robinson and John Rutland, are only on film and that limits their possibilities, although they more than adequately fullfil their requirements. Alfred Rodrigues, under the overall guidance of Alswang, has staged the musical numbers expertly and James Gilbert has handled the book skillfully. Through their combined efforts Living Screen comes alive and it's just beginning.

Myro.

Scheduled B'way Preems

West Side Story, Center (4-8-64).
Hamlet, Lunt-Fontanne (4-9-64).
Baby Want a Kiss, Little (4-13-64).
Cafe Crown, Beck (4-20-64).
Blues for Mr. Charlie, ANTA (4-21-64).
Porgy and Bess, Center (5-6-64).
Sunday Man, Morosco (5-12-64).
Roar Like a Dove, Booth (5-15-64).
Royal Shakespeare, State (5-18-64).
White House, Miller (5-19-64).
My Fair Lady, Center (5-20-64).
Fade Out-Fade In, Hellinger (5-26-64).
Hamlet, Delacorte (6-10-64).
King and I, State (7-6-64).
Othello, Delacorte (7-8-64).
Electra, Delacorte (8-5-64).
Merry Widow, State (8-17-64).
Ben Franklin, Lunt-Font. (wk. 10-12-64).

LONDON SHOWS

(Figures denote opening dates)

Boeing-Boeing, Apollo (2-20-63).
Caligula, Phoenix (4-6-64).
Difference of Opinion, Garrick (11-21-63).
Diplomats, Westminster (12-31-63).
E'body Loves Opal, Vaudeville (4-1-64).
Fielding's Hall, Prince Charles (2-27-63).
Formation Dancers, New Acts (3-18-64).
Funny Thing Happened, Strand (10-3-63).
Half a Sixpence, Cambridge (3-21-63).
Hang Head Down, Comedy (3-19-64).
Hedda Gabler, St. Martin's (2-12-64).
How to Succeed, Shafteshury (3-28-63).
Kayf Up West, Royal, East (3-10-64).
Lovely War, Wyndham's (3-19-63).
Mexican Fiesta, Drury Lane (3-30-64).
Minstrels, Vic. Palace (5-25-62).
Mother's Boy, Globe (3-19-64).
Mousetrap, Ambassador (11-25-52).
No Strings, Her Majesty's (12-30-63).
Oliver, New (6-30-60).
One for the Pot, Whitehall (8-2-61).
Pickwick, Saville (7-4-63).
Poor Bitos, Duke of York's (1-6-64).
Reluctant Peer, Duchess (1-15-64).
Repertory, Aldwych (12-15-60).
Repertory, National Theatre (10-22-63).
Round Piccadilly, Prince Wales (3-28-64).
Royal Comm. Revue, Mermaid (3-11-64).
Seagull, Queen's (3-12-64).
Severed Head, Criterion (6-27-63).
Six of One, Adelphi (9-26-63).
Sound of Music, Palace (3-18-61).
Who's Afraid Woolf, Piccadilly (2-6-64).
Wings of Dove, Haymarket (12-3-63); transferred Monday (6) from Lyric.

CLOSED

All in Love, May Fair (3-16-64); closed last Saturday (4), after 24 performances.
D'Oyly Carte Opera, Savoy (12-16-63); closed last Saturday (4), after 127 performances.
Man in the Moon, Palladium (12-22-63); closed last Saturday (4), after 156 performances.
Spoon River, Royal Court (2-13-64); closed March 14, after 36 performances.
Monsieur Blaise, Phoenix (1-9-64); closed March 28, after 87 performances.

SCHEDULED OPENINGS

Schoolmistress, Savoy (4-6-64).
Wait a Minim, Fortune (4-9-64).
Subtoplans, New Arts (4-14-64).
She Loves Me, Lyric (4-29-64).

B'way Lively; 'Wed.' Record $40,987, 'Funny Girl' $73,097, 'Sammy' $60,224, 'Oliver' 63G, 'Love' $48,805, 'Dylan' 47G

Broadway was jumping last week, with Easter vacationers contributing to the substantial gains. Registering the biggest increase was "What Makes Sammy Run?" which topped the $60,000 mark. Continuing in the capacity groove were "Any Wednesday," which set a house record for the second successive week, as well as "Barefoot in the Park," "The Deputy," "Funny Girl" and "Hello, Dolly."

Prospects are glum for last week's two openers, "Sponono" and "Anyone Can Whistle." There were two closings Saturday night (4), "The Chinese Prime Minister" and "Never Live Over a Pretzel Factory."

Estimates for Last Week

Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama), CD (Comedy-Drama), R (Revue), MC (Musical-Comedy), MD (Musical-Drama), O (Opera), OP (Operetta), Rep. (Repertory), DR (Dramatic Reading).

Other parenthetic designations refer, respectively, to weeks played, number of performances through last Saturday, top prices (where two prices are given, the higher is for Friday-Saturday nights and the lower for weeknights), number of seats, capacity gross and stars. Price includes 10% Federal and 5% repealed City tax (diverted to an industry-wide pension and welfare fund), but grosses are net: i.e., exclusive of taxes.

Asterisk denotes show had cut-rate tickets in circulation.

Grosses normally have been reduced by commissions where theatre parties are mentioned.

Any Wednesday, Music Box (C) (7th wk; 55 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,010; $40,000) (Sandy Dennis, Don Porter). Previous week, $40,841.

Last week, house record, $40,937.

Anyone Can Whistle, Majestic (MC) (1st wk; 1 p) ($8.60; 1,655; $81,000) (Lee Remick, Angela Lansbury, Harry Guardino). Previous week, $26,221 for six previews.

Opened last Saturday night (4) to two raves (McClain, Journal-American; Nadel, World-Telegram), one qualified disapproval (Chapman, News) and three pans (Kerr, Herald Tribune; Taubman, Times; Watts, Post).

Last week, $32,728 for opening performance and six previews.

Barefoot in the Park, Biltmore (C) (24th wk; 187 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 994; $38,692) (Elizabeth Ashley, Robert Redford, Mildred Natwick, Kurt Kasznar). Previous week, $38,657.

Last week, $38,861.

Beyond the Fringe, Golden (R) (76th wk; 603 p) ($7.50; 799; $34,874). Previous week, $17,597.

Last week, $18,798.

Case of Libel, Longacre (D) (26th wk; 202 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,101; $40,936) (Van Heflin, Paul McGrath, Larry Gates). Previous week, $13,301.

Last week, $19,368.

Deputy, Atkinson (D) (6th wk; 45 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,088; $43 246) (Emlyn Williams, Jeremy Brett). Previous week, $43,414 with one party.

Last week, $43,488.

Dylan, Plymouth (D) (12th wk; 89 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,084; $48 369) (Alec Guinness). Previous week, $41,284.

Last week, $47,048.

Foxy, Ziegfeld (MC) (7th wk; 56 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,628; $78,305) (Bert Lahr, Larry Blyden). Previous week, $32,615).

Last week, $37,961.

Funny Girl, Winter Garden (MC) (2d wk); 12 p) ($9.60; 1,442; $74,516) (Barbra Streisand, Sydney Chaplin). Previous week, $69,930 for four performances and four previews.

Last week, $73,097 with parties.

Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, Hellinger (MC) (100th wk; 797 p) ($8.60-$9.40; 1,572; $84,000) (Dick Shawn). Previous week, $29,895.

Last week, $38,538.

Hello, Dolly, St. James (MC) (12th wk; 92 p) ($9.60; 1,609; $71,331) (Carol Channing). Previous week, $71,199.

Last week, $71,391.

Here's Love, Shubert (MC) (27th wk; 210 p) ($9.60; 1,453; $67,923). Previous week, $38,795.

Last week, $48,805.

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, 46th St. (MC) (130th wk; 1,031 p) ($9.60; 1,342; $66,615). Previous week, $61,216.

Last week, $62,684.

Mary, Mary, Hayes (C) (161st wk; 1,282 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,164; $43,380) (Mindy Carson, Murray Hamilton, Tom Helmore). Previous week, $15,253.

Last week, $19,382.

Never Too Late, Playhouse (C) (71st wk; 565 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 994; $37,000) (Paul Ford, Maureen O'Sullivan, Orson Bean). Previous week, $29,245.

Last week, $34,047. Martha Scott takes over April 27 for Miss O'Sullivan who's leaving the cast to become a regular on the NBC-TV "Today Show."

Nobody Loves an Albatross, Lyceum (C) (16th wk; 124 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 995; $33,000) (Robert Preston). Previous week, $24,435.

Last week, $27,611.

Oliver, Imperial (MD) (65th wk; 519 p) ($8.60-$9.30; 1,450; $71,977) (Clive Revill, Georgia Brown). Previous week, $54,166.

Last week, $62,874.

110 in the Shade, Broadhurst (MC) (24th wk; 186 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,186; $58,000) (Robert Horton, Inga Swenson, Stephen Douglass). Previous week, $44,586.

Last week, $48,970.

Sponono, Cort (D) (1st wk; 4 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,100; $41,482). Previous week, $3,700 for *seven previews.

Opened last Thursday night (2) to two endorsements (Chapman, News; Taubman, Times), two qualified approvals (McClain, Journal-American; Watts, Post) and two negative notices (Kerr, Herald Tribune; Nadel, World-Telegram).

Last week, $7,508 for four performances and three previews.

What Makes Sammy Run? 54th St. (MC) (6th wk; 44 p) ($8.80-$9.40; 1,271; $68,128) (Steve Lawrence, Sally Ann Howes, Robert Alda). Previous week, $49,195.

Last week, $60,224.

Who's Afraid of Virgina Woolf? Rose (D) (78th wk; 616 p) ($6.00-$7.50; 1,162; $40,485) (Mercedes McCambridge, Donald Davis, Ben Piazza) (matinee company costars Haila Stoddard, Henderson Forsythe, Bill Berger). Previous week, $17,916.

Last week, $23,658.

MISCELLANEOUS

Lincoln Center Repertory Theatre, ANTA Washington Square (Rep) (11th wk; 84 p) ($6-$6.50; 1,158; $46,500). Previous week, $43,206 with subscription for eight performances of "After the Fall," "But for Whom Charlie" and "Marco Millions."

Last week, $40,747 with subscription for same repertory.

PREVIEWING THIS WEEK

Baby Want a Kiss, Little (C). Began previews last Monday night (6).

Cafe Crown, Beck (MC) (Sam Levene, Theodore Bikel, Tommy Rall). Previous week, $16,681 for eight previews.

Last week, $22,914 for eight previews.

CLOSED LAST WEEK

Chinese Prime Minister, Royale (D) (14th wk; 108 p) ($6.90-$7.50; 1,050; $43,908) (Margaret Leighton, Alan Webb, John Williams). Previous week, $11,487.

Last week, $16,654. Closed Saturday night (4) at an estimated loss of its entire $125,000 investment.

Never Live Over a Pretzel Factory, O'Neill (C) (2d wk; 9 p) ($6.90-$7.50; $45,398). Previous week, $6,022 for one performance and two previews.

Last week, $3,767. Closed Saturday night (4) at an estimated loss of its entire $120,000 investment.

OPENING THIS WEEK

National Repertory Theatre, Belasco (Rep) ($4.95-$7.50; 1,008; $34,051). Last week about $6,900 for four previews at the Belasco.

American National Theatre & Academy presentation of National Repertory Theatre productions of Anton Chekhov's "The Seagull" and Arthur Miller's "The Crucible"; opened Sunday (5).

High Spirits, Alvin (MC) ($9.60; 1,334; $69,549) (Beatrice Lillie, Tammy Grimes, Edward Woodward). Last week, $60,901 for eight

Lester Osterman, Robert Fletcher and Richard Horner presentation of musical by Hugh Martin and Timothy Gray, based on Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit"; opened last night (Tues.).

West Side Story, City Center (MD) ($4.95; 3,015; $91,000). N.Y. City Center Light Opera Co. presentation of revival of musical, based on a conception of Jerome Robbins, with book by Arthur Laurents, music by Leonard Bernstein and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim; opens tonight (Wed.) as the first in a series of three musical productions.

Hamlet, Lunt-Fontanne (D) ($8.80-$9.90; 1,478; $73,062). Last week, $81,539, a house record at the Shubert, Boston.

Alexander H. Cohen presentation of John Gielgud production; opens tomorrow night (Thurs.).

OTHER THEATRES

ANTA, Ambassador, Barrymore, Booth, Broadway, Hudson, Miller's, Morosco.

Concert Reviews

Interlochen Symphony
(Philharmonic Hall, N.Y.)

This non-union, youth orchestra delighted a near sell-out audience in Philharmonic Hall with a program which included Alan Hovhaness' "Variations and Fugue for Orchestra." Work is modern and exciting and should be enduring. Hovhaness uses Western notation but achieves an Oriental musical language, including quarter-tones, that is legible to the ear and pleasing to the comprehension. George C. Wilson conducted this with skill and understanding. A. Clyde Roller batoned the Stravinsky "Firebird" suite, also well-performed by the ensemble. First half of program was conducted by Joseph E. Maddy, founder of Interlochen, who led his charges through Philharmonic Chief William Schuman's "New England Triptych." Don Gillis' sweet, melodic and evocative "Five Acre Pond" in its first N.Y. performance, and Deems Taylor's "Through The Looking Glass" with a droll narration by Linda Hunt, a student.

Leve.

Contemporary Music Society
(Guggenheim Auditorium, N.Y.)

Guggenheim Museum's hall is well proportioned, elegant and comfortable but acoustically a disappointment, something between a blotter, a sponge and a cotton ball. A saving grace was the type of music selected for this concert as percussion was represented in all types, sizes and shapes. Though sounding dry it did sound, whereas much of the rest was muffled. Music which came off best was Ian Hamilton's "Dialogue for Flute, Cello and Percussion" (first performance) and the late Colin McPhee's "Invention" and "Kinesis." Lou Harrison's "Canticle No. 5" seemed interestingly scored exclusively for percussion from the tinkling sounds of little bells to the deep rumbling of drums — but the resonance to give its true value was non-existent. The other works by Bo Nilson and Earl Brown were too "far out" to be fairly judged under the circumsances. Brown's "Hodograph 1" seems to be made up of unrelated sounds to a great extent sucked up by the surrounding atmosphere. But as the piece is one of those so fashionable in the contemporary music field (aleatoric, it is called), a scheme for performance which can vary from one evening to another . . . it is probable that another performance of "Hodograph 1" will be much more successful—and audible.

Paul Price was the conductor, Harvey and Sophie Sollbelger, David Soyer, Henry Brant, Nicholas Zumbro — were the instrumentalists and the very active percussion was manned by Wayne Brotherton, Richard Fritz, Robert Lepre, Alan Silverman, Richard Wildermuth and Howard Zwickler.

Goth.

Road: 'Hamlet' Record $81,539, Hub; 'Luther' $36,990, D.C.; 'Me' $52,384, Det. 'Tops' 26½G, Norfolk; 'Bed' 20G, St. P.

Business was generally big on the road last week. "Hamlet" held as top-grosser, with a house record for the Shubert Theatre, Boston. "Camelot," again in second place, registered a nice increase in the second week of its Philadelphia stand.

The two companies of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" were also hot in Chicago and Des Moines, while other sturdy takes were scored by "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "Little Me," in Cleveland and Detroit, respectively.

"A Man for All Seasons" was hefty in Toronto, and "Luther" started its post-Broadway tour promisingly in Washington. "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" did well in Chicago and "Pajama Tops" went clean on twofers in Norfolk.

The Broadway-bound "Cool Off" collapsed in Philadelphia Saturday (4) after the first week of a scheduled fortnight tryout.

Estimates for Last Week

Parenthetic designations for out-of-town shows are the same as for Broadway, except that hyphenated T with show classification includes tryout. RS indicates road show and BT indicates bus-and-truck production. Also, prices on touring shows include 10% Federal tax and local tax, if any, but as on Broadway grosses are net; i.e. exclusive of taxes. Engagements are for single week unless otherwise noted.

Where subscription is mentioned, the gross is the net after the deductions of commissions. Grosses for split weeks are projected when shows play guaranteed dates.

BOSTON

Enter Laughing, Wilbur (C-RS) (3d wk) ($4.95-$5.50; 1,241; $36,699) (Yvonne de Carlo, Alan Mowbray, Irving Jacobson, Alan Arkin). Previous week, $23,089 with Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society subscription.

Last week, $17,990.

Hamlet, Shubert (D-T) (2d wk) ($7.50; 1,727; $81,000). Previous week, $68,330 for seven performances.

Last week, house record, $81,539.

CHICAGO

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, Shubert (MC-RS) (21st wk) ($5.95-$6.95; 2,100; $74,000). Previous week, $52,901.

Last week, $64,625.

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? Studebaker (D-RS) (6th wk) ($5.50-$6; 1,200; $34,000) (Nancy Kelly, Sheppard Strudwick) (matinee company Michaele Myers, Kendall Clark). Previous week, $28,776.

Last week, $30,156.

CINCINNATI

Stop the World—I Want to Get Off, Shubert (MC-RS) ($4.55-$5.50; 2,028; $53,669) (Kenneth Nelson, Joan Eastman). Previous week, $22,954, Auditorium, St. Paul.

Last week, $12,332 for seven performances, plus $4,000 guarantee for March 30 performance at Univ. of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

CLEVELAND

Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum (MC-RS) (2d wk) ($6.95; 1,515; $59(,000) (Jerry Lester, Edward Everett Horton, Paul Hartman, Arnold Stang). Previous week, $53,510 with TG-ATS subscription.

Last week, $58,239.

DES MOINES

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, KRNT (MC-RS-3d Co.). Previous week, $40,694, Civic, Omaha.

Last week, $61,635.

DETROIT

Little Me, Fisher (MC-RS) (2d wk) ($5.70-$6.50; 2,081; $75,000) (Sid Caesar). Previous week, $40,849 with Fisher Playgoer subscription.

Last week, $52.384 with Fisher Playgoer subscription.

NORFOLK

Pajama Tops, Center (C-RS) (June Wilkinson, Richard Vath). Previous week, $8,115 with twofers, Community, Atlanta.

Last week, sellout $26,532 with twofers.

PHILADELPHIA

Camelot, Shubert (MC-RS) (2d wk) ($6.60-$7.50; 1,907; $70,000) (Anne Jeffreys, George Wallace, Arthur Treacher, Robert Peterson). Previous week, $66,453.

Last week, $72,725.

Cool Off, Forrest (MC-T) (1st wk) ($6.60-$7.50; 1,760; $65,000) (Stanley Holloway, Hermione Baddeley).

Opened here March 31 to three pans (Gaghan, News; Murdock, Inquirer; Schier, Bulletin).

Last week, $10,800 for seven performances. The production, capitalized at $200,000, folded here Saturday (4), cancelling a scheduled second week's run at the Forrest and a Broadway booking which was to have started April 28 at the Royale Theatre.

ST. LOUIS

In One Bed (and Out the Other), American (C-RS) ($5.90; 1,863; $31,500) (Jules Munshin, Greta Thyssen). Previous week, $20,506 with twofers, Royal Alexandra, Toronto.

Last week, $20,015 with twofers.

ST. PAUL

Thousand Clowns, Auditorium (C-RS) ($4.95-$5.50; 2,697; $79,000) (Dane Clark, Margaret O'Brien). Previous week, $22,731 with TG-ATS subscription, Orpheum, Minneapolis.

Last week, $17,040 with TG-ATS subscription.

SAN FRANCISCO

Private Ear and Public Eye, Geary (CD-RS) (2d wk) $5.40-$5.95; 1,483; $38,000) (Geraldine McEwan, Barry Foster, Brian Bedford, Moray Watson). Previous week, $17,393 with TG-ATS subscription.

Last week, $20,576 with TG-ATS subscription.

TORONTO

Man for All Seasons, O'Keefe (D-RS) (2d wk) ($5.50; 3,283; $94,587) (William Roderick, Bruce Gordon, Albert Dekker). Previous week, $33,807 with TG-ATS and O'Keefe subscription.

Last week, $53,660 with TG-ATS and O'Keefe subscription.

Theatre de France, Royal Alexandra ($5.50-$6.50; 1,497; $43,670) (Madeleine Renaud, Jean-Louis Barrault). Previous week, unreported.

Last week, $25,456 for five performances of "La Vie Parisienne" and three performances of "Le Mariage de Figaro." Both offerings received rave reviews (Evans, Telegram; Ferry, Star; Whittaker, Globe).

WASHINGTON

Luther, National (D-RS) (1st wk) ($4.50-$5.95; 1,673; $48,926) (John Heffernan). Previous week, $22,067 with twofers, Lunt-Fontanne, New York.

Last week, $36,990 with TG-ATS subscription.

UNREPORTED

(Shows listed below were playing guaranteed dates for which grosses cannot be accurately figured.)

Boys From Syracuse (MC-BT), split-week.

Camelot (MC-BT) (Biff McGuire, Jeannie Carson, Melville Cooper), split-week.

Hollow Crown (DR-BT), split-week.

Bits of London

London, April 7.

The last two plays of the current season at the Ashcroft Theatre, Croyden, will have Sarah Churchill in the lead of "Fata Morgana" and Clive Brook in a Diana Morgan adaptation of "The Judge's Story."

Bill Fraser and Betty Baskcomb star in Terence Frisby's "The Subtopians," which bows in at the New Arts next Tuesday (14).

Ann Jellicoe will translate Chekov's "Ivanov." Tennent will present it in the fall.

Pressagent George Bartram has chalked up 10 years blurbing for Harry Secombe.

The Royal Ballet is signed for a coast-to-coast trur of the U.S. in 1965.

CASTING NEWS

Following are available parts in upcoming Broadway, off-Broadway, and touring shows, as well as ballet, films, industrial and television shows. All information has been obtained directly by the VARIETY Casting Department by telephone calls, and has been rechecked as of noon yesterday (Tues.).

The available roles will be repeated weekly until filled, and additions to the list will be made only when information is secured from responsible parties. The intention is to service performers with leads provided by the managements of the shows involved rather than to run a wild goose marathon. (This information is published without charge).

Parenthetical designations are as follows: (C) Comedy, (D) Drama, (MC) Musical Comedy, (MD) Musical Drama, (R) Revue, (Rep) Repertory, (DR) Dramatic Reading, (DB) Double Bill.

Legit

BROADWAY

"Ben Franklin in Paris" (MC). (c/o Casting Consultants, 22 W. 24th St., N. Y.). Available parts: femme lead, 30-35, must sing and do French accent; male, 19, likeable, must sing and dance; femme, 19, French, must sing and dance. Accepting photos and resumes through agents only, c/o above address.

OFF-BROADWAY

"Arms and the Man" (C). Producer Northwestern Productions (c/o Alfred Geller, 30 E. 60th St., N.Y.). All roles open. Send photos and resumes to Johan Fillinger at 205 W. 57th St., N.Y. Do not phone or visit.

"Dream of Swallows" (D). Producers, Sylvia & Joseph Harris (145 W. 55th St., N. Y.). Available parts: male, lead, 50s, embittered, failure, drunkard, must have bravura; male, 20, must play guitar and sing well. For audition appointment phone Delmar Hendricks at CI 5-1086 daily between 2-5 p.m. Do not visit.

"The Streets of New York" (M). Producers, Gene Dingenary & Jane Gilliland (416 W. 42d St., N.Y.). All roles open. Equity only. Legit voices required. Mail photos & resumes c/o above address. Do not phone or visit.

"The Amorous Flea" (MC). Available parts for touring company and/or understudies for N.Y. production: male, 19-23, tenor, good comedian; femme, ingenue soprano with some dance experience; male, young, character actor, able to cover juve and play older man (45-50); character male and femme comics, servent types loud voices, with some dance experience; character male, 45-55. Mail photos and resumes to John Fenn, (York Theatre, 64th St. and First Ave., N.Y.).

"This Was Burlesque" (R) Audition every Wednesday at 5 p.m. for tall femme dancers, experienced in modern, tap & ballet, at the Casino East Theatre (12th St., and Second Ave., N. Y.).

"Ulysses In Nighttown" (C). Producer, Equity Library Theatre (226 W. 47th St., N.Y.). Sign up for readings through April 10, on the ninth floor c/o above address.

STOCK

EPHRATA, PA.

Ephrata Star Playhouse. Producer-director, John Cameron (c/o P.O. Box 334, Ephrata, Pa.). Accepting photos & resumes from dramatic & musical performers for Equity resident company, also jobbers & apprentices, c/o above address.

SULLIVAN, ILL.

Summer of Musicals. Producer, Guy S. Little Jr. Box 155, Sullivan, Ill. Accepting photos and resumes from musical and dramatic performers for Equity resident company. Also applicants for paid apprenticeships, c/o above address.

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

Williamstown Summer Theatre. Producer, Nikos Psacharopoulos (c/o School of Drama, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.). Accepting photos and resumes for a resident Equity company of twelve and a non-Equity company of six. All types will be considered. Appointments will be scheduled from photos and resumes received; mail to producer at above address. Do not phone or visit.

TOURING

"The Irregular Verb To Love" (C). Myrna Loy stars. All other roles open. Mail photos & resumes to McAloney Productions (853 7th Ave., N.Y.). Do not phone or visit.

Television

"Camera Three" (educational-dramatic series). Producer, CBS (524 W. 57th St., N. Y.; JU 6-6000); casting director, Paula Hindlin. Accepting photos and resumes of general male and female dramatic talent, c/o above address. No duplicates.

"Lamp Unto My Feet" (religious-dramatic series). Producer, CBS (524 W. 57th St., N. Y.; JU 6-6000); casting director, Paula Hindlin. Accepting photos and resumes of general male and female dramatic talent, c/o above address No duplicates.

Miscellaneous

"The Magic Flute." This one-hour version of the Opera will be presented throughout the summer at the N.Y. World's Fair. Agma-open tenor and bass voices only, should contact Mr. Friedberg at Sacramento 2-3220 daily from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. for audition appointment.

Touring Shows

(Figures cover April 6-18)

Boys From Syracuse (bus-truck)—Split weeks (April 6-18).
Camelot (bus-truck) — Dade, Miami (April 6-11); Split-week (April 13-18).
Enter Laughing—Biltmore, L. A. (April 7-18).
Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum (2d Co.)—Orpheum, Mpls. (April 6-11); Auditorium, St. P. (April 13-18).
Hollow Crown (bus-truck)—Split-weeks (April 6-18).
How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying (2d Co.)—Shubert, Chi (April 6-18).
How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying (3d Co.)—Murat, Indpls. (April 6-18).
In One Bed (and Out the Other)—American, St. L. (April 6-11); Hanna, Cleve. (April 13-18).
Little Me—Fisher, Det. (April 6-18).
Luther—National, Wash. (April 6-11); Shubert, Boston (April 13-18).
Man for All Seasons—O'Keefe, Toronto (April 6-11); Capitol, Montreal (April 13-18).
Pajama Tops—Nixon, Pitt. (April 6-11); Orpheum, Madison, Wis. (April 13-14); Music Hall, Omaha (April 15-18).
Private Ear and Public Eye—Auditorium, Denver (April 8-11, closes).
Royal Shakespeare Theatre—National, Wash. (April 14-18).
Stop the World—I Want to Get Off—Shubert, Boston (April 6-11); Forrest, Philly (April 13-18).
Thousand Clowns — Pabst, Milwaukee (April 7-11); American, St. L. (April 13-18).
Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (2d Co.)—Studebaker, Chi (April 6-11); Shubert, Cincy (April 13-18).

B.M.I. Workshop

Continued from page 79

Hall, Robert Hughes, Mel Mitchell, Don Parks, Jerry Powell, Jim Rusk, Norman Sachs, Treva Silverman, Pat Welch, Don Wolf and Cy Young. Some of these writers have pro credits while others will display their talents in a professional atmosphere for the first time.

Young, incidentally, has written the book, music and lyrics for a musical version of "The Italian Strawhat," optioned recently by Broadway producer-actress Haila Stoddard. "Jo," the musical version of "Little Women," which closed off-Broadway last Sunday (5), was adapted by Parks and Dyer. Both were responsible for the book and lyrics, with Dyer also contributing the music.

Sachs and Mitchell, as a workshop exercise, have completed 14 songs to go with a scene-by-scene outline of a musical version of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Admission to the workshop is by audition and is open to all who meet the requirements (affiliation with BMI is not necessary). Classes, however, are limited in size. There are two groups, each comprising about 20 persons. Engel, who's associated with BMI as a consultant, is currently active on Broadway as conductor of "What Makes Sammy Run?" his 156th show.

Engel is also partnered in the operation of the Musical Theatre Academy, a school for performers, and, in addition, makes the gab circuit with lectures on American Musical theatre.

Southern Theatre

Continued from page 79

will have a different director. Richard Schechner, editor of the Tulane Drama Review and previously mentioned as a participating playwright; Ted Shine, professor of theatre at Howard Univ., and Frank Greenwood, a director and writer on the Coast, are committed to the program for this year.

In Jackson, FST will be assisted by Tougaloo College, an accredited interracial institution, and the project there will be called The Free Southern Theatre of Tougaloo College. The staff includes Gilbert Moses, drama director; William Hutchinson, technical director, and John O'Neal and Doris Derby, pressagents.

Hutchinson is drama director at Tougaloo, and Moses, O'Neal and Miss Derby are on the staff of The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. The idea for FST was initiated by SNCC, and the Jackson project will fall under the banner of the Council of Federated Organizations, which includes major civil rights groups in Louisiana and Mississippi.

FST sponsors include Harry Belafonte, Lincoln Kirstein, James Baldwin, Robert Ryan, Ossie Davis, Ruby Dee, Theodore Bikel, Langston Hughes, Sidney Poitier, Lorraine Hansberry, Robert Nemiroff, Frederick O'Neal, Tom Bosley, Madeleine Sherwood, Hal Holbrook and Diahann Carroll.

Those actively participating in the FST productions will be paid.

Equity Election Getting Warmer

Continued from page 79

speeches because of the time factor. The exchange between Prince and Bellamy came under the category of new business.

O'Neal, recently discharged from the hospital after a routine operation, was not present at the meeting, but Larry Gates spoke in his behalf. Ruth Gillette, who had been chairman of the nominating committee, spoke in behalf of Miss Gish, who was also absent. Weston and Bikel did their own talking.

Both Weston and O'Neal have come out in favor of union improvements and their platforms seem somewhat similar. Weston advocates "increasing the efficiency of the operation of the office" and in "policing contracts we already have." He also favors an increase in rehearsal pay to the performing minimum level, better protection for American actors in connection with the employment of aliens and a better royalty and residual setup for actors.

O'Neal wants to organize the Equity office "in the most modern way possible and make it more responsive to the members' needs." He's for wider national and Canadian representation on the Equity council and is concerned about such things as the alien employment problem and protection for members in the area of pay tv. O'Neal, who also seeks merger between parallel theatrical unions, says, "We can't operate in 1964 as we did in 1919."

Weston, whose supporters have sent out a mailing to the membership, has been campaigning vigorously backstage at Broadway theatres. He planed from New York last Sunday (5) for Chicago to continue campaigning, prior to moving on to Los Angeles to address the Equity membership meeting there next Sunday (12). Backers of the O'Neal ticket have sent out personal letters of endorsement and will soon send a mailing to the membership. Ballots for the election are to be mailed by Equity no later than April 17, with the counting of ballots scheduled to start May 4.

Equity is also sending out a special mailing in connection with the election because of a "clerical error" which resulted in an omission from the April issue of Equity, the union's official publication. The Equity council had directed that the April issue carry four reports relating to the election. The first was to be the report of the nominating committee, the second the majority report of the nominating committee, the third the minority report of the nominating committee and the fourth a statement by O'Neal.

The material was to have been published in the order outlined by the council. However, the nominating report was left out of the magazine and the minority report ran first, followed by the majority report and then O'Neal's statement. Weston complained to the council and it was decided that the four reports, in the order originally designated, be mailed to the membership.

In the mailing sent out by Weston's supporters, it's stated, "Two fine and experienced men are running for the office" of president. Bellamy, in rapping Weston and Bikel, said they were attacking everybody except their opposing candidates.

According to a member of the union, the attacks referred to by Bellamy, were allegedly made against him. Helen Hayes and the union's executive secretary, Angus Duncan. Bikel has stated, "We have never attacked anybody except on the basis of laxness in performance of union duties, the only issue at stake. And Weston has attacked inefficiency in office procedure wherever it existed."

A sidelight to Weston's candidacy is that he's from the chorus ranks, and it's the first time since the merger of Equity and Chorus Equity that anybody other than an established principal has been a candidate for the presidency of the union. It's also understood that a number of those who supported O'Neal when he was a candidate for the top office six years ago are now backing Weston. Others see this as the beginning of a longrange push to get Bikel into presidential post.

O'Neal, the first Negro candidate for the office of Equity president, is the incumbent first vice-president. He was the nominating committee's original candidate for the latter office in the current election, but declined the nomination via a telegram which stated, "Trust you will not think me presumptuous or egotistic, but considering my years of service to Equity and knowledge of the affairs of our union, I felt I deserved greater consideration. In any event, many thanks to all of you, but I cannot accept the nomination for First Vice-President."

Mario del Monaco Okay

London, April 7.

Tenor Mario del Monaco is completely recovered from the automobile accident of several months ago. He will return to the stage as Otello in Covent Garden on April 11.

In May he will sing Wagner's "Rienzi" at La Scala, Milan.

OFF-BROADWAY SHOWS

(Figures denote opening dates)

Amorous Flea, York (2-17-64).
Blacks, St. Marks (5-4-61).
Blood Knot, Cricket (3-2-64).
Boys Syracuse, Theatre 4 (4-15-63).
Caretaker, Players (1-30-64).
Cindy, Gate (3-19-64).
Fantasticks, Sullivan St. (5-3-60).
Immoralist, Bouwerie Lane (11-7-63).
In White America, Sher. Sq. (10-31-63).
Life Is a Dream, Astor Pl. (3-19-64).
Little Eyolf, Actors (3-16-64).
Pinter Plays, Midway (11-26-62).
Repertory, Phoenix (3-4-64).
Salad Mad Cafe, Masque (3-31-64).
Six Characters, Martinique (3-8-63).
Streets of N. Y., Maidman (10-29-63).
Trojan Woman, Circle in Sq. (12-23-63).
Triple-bill, Cherry Lane (3-24-64).
Trumpets Lord. 1 Sher. Sq. (12-21-63).
White Rose & Red, Stage 73 (3-16-64).

SCHEDULED OPENINGS

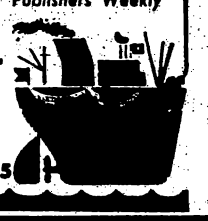
Dream Swallows, Jan Hus (4-14-64).
Diary Madman, Cinem. Arts (4-16-64).
Billygoat Eddie, Writers (4-15-64).
Marietta, Hotel Astor (4-16-64).
Knack, New Theatre (5-20-64).

CLOSED

Betty-Sponge, East End (2-24-64); closed last Sunday (5) after 49 performances.
In Summer House, Little Fox (3-25-64); closed last Sunday (5) after 15 performances.
Jo, Orpheum (2-12-64); closed last Sunday (5) after 63 performances.

"Wacky hilarious journeys on board the fictional s.s. Flying Wind..."*

There You Are, But Where Are You?



A Novel by ROBERT F. MIRVISH

"MIRVISH IS WONDERFUL!"

at concocting funny episodes that get even funnier as they develop. He is a master of the running gag. Very entertaining.
*Publishers' Weekly

"...Down to Earth Pleasure!" —Bert Lahr Star of "Foxy"

DUTTON $3.95

SID MELTON

The DANNY THOMAS SHOW
Monday Nights
CBS-TV

NOW AVAILABLE
REHEARSAL THEATRE
The Japanese Gardens Theatre, above the Riviera Theatre. 97th Street and Broadway, New York. Full stage—32' deep x 75'9" wide—Separate Principal and Chorus Rehearsal areas. Reasonable rates. For information—Barry B. Yellen. JU 6-0500.

FOR LEASE
THEATRE-BY-THE-SEA
Matunuck, R. I. Seats 550. Unusually large stage. $5000 yr., including inn, restaurant, bar.
MRS. CLIVE L. DUVAL
4615 Buchanan St.
McLean, Va.

BILLY DE WOLFE
Co-Starring in
"HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING"
Shaftesbury Theatre
London W.C.2, England

FOR THEATRICAL HAULING in LOS ANGELES
CONTACT GEORGE CONANT
ATLANTIC TRANSFER CO.
OUR NEW ADDRESS & PHONE IS
10053 INTERNATIONAL ROAD
LOS ANGELES 45, CALIFORNIA
PHONE: 776-1870

FULL & PART TIME
HELP WANTED—MALE & FEMALE
Well Dressed & Attractive—Age 25-35. Tremendous opportunity for unlimited earnings—3 months—Presentation of World's Fair & NYC Discount Book ($200 value) to executives of large corps. Interviews: Wed-Fri. 12-3, 7-9. Sat. 9-3.
156-11 Northern Blvd. (2nd fl.) Queens, N. Y.

Now Available for Summer Bookings!
LOOKING GLASS REVUE
CHILDREN'S THEATRE
direct from 3 yrs in new york
Contact: AMERICAN TALENT MGT.
200 W. 57 St., NYC 19 CO 5-4300

ATT: STOCK THEATRES
Broadway producer has under option new, sure-fire musical by well known authors. Wishes to try out same in small theatre, within 150 miles NY. Resident company preferred.
BOX V-3602, VARIETY
154 W. 46th St., New York 10036

Repertory Reviews

The Seagull

American National Theatre & Academy presentation of the National Repertory revival of a comedy-drama in two acts (four scenes), by Anton Chekhov; translated and staged by Eva Le Gallienne. Producers, Michael Dewell and Frances Ann Dougherty; settings, Peter Larkin; costumes, Alvin Colt; lighting, Tharon Musser; production supervisor, Robert Calhoun; musical director, Dean Fuller. Opened April 5, '64, at the Belasco Theatre, N. Y.; $4.90 top weeknights, $7.50 weekends.

Masha ..... Barbara Stanton
Semyon Semyonovitch Medvedenko ..... Ben Yaffee
Pyotr Nikolayevitch Sorin ..... Thayer David
Konstantin Gavrilovitch Treplev ..... Farley Granger
Yakov ..... Fred Ainsworth
Nina Mihailovna Zaretchnaya ..... Anne Meacham
Polina Andryevna ..... Betty Sinclair
Yevegeny Sergeyevitch Dorn ..... G. Wood
Irina Nikolayevna Arkadina ..... Eva Le Gallienne
Boris Alexeyevitch Trigorin ..... Denholm Elliott
Ilya Afanasyevitch Shamraev ..... Jerome Raphel
Cook ..... Richard Bowler
Maid ..... Susan Carr

After two seasons on the road, the National Repertory Theatre is making its Broadway bow with Anton Chekhov's "The Seagull." It's not a memorable production, because the acting is uneven, but it is competent and indicates that the cities and towns visited by the company have been fortunate.

Eva Le Gallienne, whose admirable translation of the play is used, has staged it skillfully and tastefully, and she illuminates the role of Irina. She makes the vain and selfish actress a pathetic figure, and is particularly fine in the third scene when she is at one moment imploring Trigorin not to leave her, and at the next powdering her nose with complete assurance.

Anne Meacham is not ideally cast as Nina, and is only partially successful as the breathless, romantic girl of the early scenes. However, she is moving in the last act, when the disillusioned Nina returns to the country estate. Farley Granger is a believable Konstantin, and Thayer David is amusing and touching as the invalid Sorin.

Denholm Elliott is not a convincing Trigorin. Similarly, Barbara Stanton, though effective at times, gives a pale, low-key performance that does not do full justice to the role of Masha. There is good support, however, from Ben Yaffee, Betty Sinclair and especially G. Wood.

Peter Larkin's two settings are right, particularly the drawing room of the second act, executed in shades of brown, gold and orange. Alvin Colt's costumes are suitable, and Tharon Musser's lighting is fine. Kenn.

The Lower Depths

Phoenix Theatre (T. Edward Hambleton, Norris Houghton, managing directors), by arrangement with the Assn. of Producing Artists, revival of drama in four acts, by Maxim Gorki, translated by Alex Szogyi. Staged by Ellis Rabb; setting, James Tilton; costumes, Nancy Potts. Opened March 30, '64, at the Phoenix Theatre, N.Y.; $4.95 top.

Cast: Ellis Rabb, Eve Roberts, William Larsen, Gordon Gould, Jan Farrand, Joanna Roos, Paul Sparer, Clayton Corzatte, Richard Woods, John Ragin, Jane McArthur, Sydney Walker, George Pentecost, Nancy Marchand, Joseph Bird, Keene Curtis.

"The Lower Depths," fourth play presented this season by the Assn. of Producing Artists, shows the repertory group at its best. Staged with insight and imaginativeness by Ellis Rabb, the production conveys the intensity, the sordidness and the pathos of the Maxim Gorki drama.

As the residents of a hellish flophouse, 16 actors work together smoothly and effectively, almost like instruments in a well-rehearsed orchestra. On James Tilton's properly repugnant set, they bring the group of assorted derelicts to life.

Sydney Walker gives a strong performance as the wandering wise man who brings hope into the house temporarily. Also skillful are Clayton Corzatte as an actor turned drunkard, Paul Sparer as a loquacious tramp, Ellis Rabb as a noble who has seen better days, John Ragin as a thief and Richard Woods as the owner of the establishment.

The play reaches its peak at the end of the third act when, with almost unbearable intensity, a girl is tortured, a fight breaks out, and a man is killed. Some of the acting here is a bit shrill, but it is a powerful scene, superbly staged by Rabb.

"Lower Depths" is the most impressive of the APA's current offerings. Although George Grizzard, Rosemary Harris and the late Gerry Jedd, all with the company during its last New York stand, are missed, the group is still excellent. Kenn.

The Mikado

(CITY CENTER, N.Y.)

At a 1 p.m. Sunday capacity matinee, the audience for the first "Mikado" of the present spring season was too young to be mistaken for dedicated Savoyards. Not every tot came equipped with such a "hip" commentator as the pair who had Leonard Bernstein in tow. But moppets gave the performers close attention and hearty applause.

Adults present, however, were more reserved. Performance had some ragged moments, less in the generally excellent singing than in the acting. While Dean Ryan got better results from his musicians than stager Dorothy Raedler did with her cast, the orchestra at least was bound by traditional arrangements while the singers' thespic styles ranged from D'Oyly Carte to some uniquely original.

Norman Kelley's Ko-Ko, a delightfully broad performance that even the tiniest ticketholder could understand and appreciate, had only Herbert Beattie's snobbish and ridiculous Pooh-Bah for competition and quickly captivated the audience. George Gaynes' Mikado and Evelyn Sachs' Katisha cornered most of the other laughs but David Smith's Pish-Tush failed to manage the absurdities of Gilbert's lyrics.

William Diard's Nanki-Poo and Carol Bergey, Mary Burgess and Marlena Kleinman's three little girls from school waxed properly demure, thereby losing many of the small spectators who squirmed at "all that mushy stuff." The chorus was in fine form vocally and that's the most anyone could ask.

Donald Oenslager's scenery remains more functional than inspired while Patton Campbell's costumes showed little imagination, the greater part of them being apparently rentals. The hodgepodge result contributed more bright colors than authenticity. For some unexplained reason, Miss Sachs effected a Kabuki-type makeup which jarred with the only slightly Oriental look of the others. Performance was repeated Sunday evening with same cast. Robe.

Off-B'way Reviews

In the Summer House

Peter Goldfarb presentation of a drama in two acts (four scenes), by Jane Bowles. Staged by Alfred Ryder; settings, Oliver Smith; costumes, Ann Roth; lighting, Tom Skelton; music arranged by Nito San Miguel; production supervisor, Lyn Austin. Stars Leora Dana, Estelle Parsons. Opened March 25, '64, at the Little Fox Theatre, N.Y.; $4.50 weeknights, $4.95 weekends.

Cast: Leora Dana, Estelle Parsons, James Farentino, Dennis Cooney, Susan Tyrell, Mary Grace Canfield, Kay Frey, Coco Ramirez, Rosemary De Angelis, Jan Tanzy, Peter Gerety, Philip Magdalany, Nito San Miguel, Eric Sydney.

The Jane Bowles play, "In a Summer House" is a misty, half-written drama about a group of misfits who use different methods to escape reality. A Broadway flop several years ago with Judith Anderson and Mildred Dunnock in the leads, the play is unlikely to fare better downtown.

Estelle Parsons has effective moments as a woman who seems at first to be cold-blooded and practical, but turns out to be as troubled and desperate as the rest of the characters. Leora Dana, as a drunkard, manages to evoke sympathy, but is stymied by the unconvincing part.

Susan Tyrell as the young woman whose retreat from the world is the titular structure, Dennis Cooney as her husband, Kay Frey as a thoroughly confused young lady, and Mary Grace Canfield as a waitress, all have opportunity to show their talent, but can't make the roles credible. James Farentino, Coco Ramirez, Rosemary DeAngelis and Jan Tanzy do what they can as boisterous Mexicans.

Oliver Smith's set and Ann Roth's costumes are suitable, and Tom Skelton's lighting is an asset. The staging, by Alfred Ryder, is helpful, but doesn't save this unsatisfying, tedious drama. Kenn.

The Salad of the Mad Cafe

Ray Salerno & Danorm Productions presentation of a revue written and staged by Danny Logan. Musical director, Donald Chan; setting and lighting, Jim Rule; costumes, Rita Bottomley. Opened March 31, '64, at the Masque Theatre, N.Y.; $4.20 top.

Cast: Marguerite Davis, Mark Malone, Susan Murphy, Danny Logan, Norman Farber.

"Salad of a Mad Cafe" is a wretched little revue, notable only for its appalling taste. The first act, all that this review can cover, is devoid of merit. The show was written and directed by Danny Logan, whose hobby, according to the cutesy program notes, is undertaking. Kenn.

N.Y. City Opera Schedules Revised Russe 'Macbeth'

"Lady Macbeth of Mzensk" the Russian operatic version of Shakespeare's play, revised and re-titled as "Katerina Ismailova" (is that simpler?) will be staged in the spring of 1965 at the N.Y. City Opera. English lyrics will be added.

The Shostakovich score was banned by Stalin and not heard in the Soviet Union for years. Julius Rudel will produce and conduct the production.

Australian Shows

(Week Ending April 4)

ADELAIDE
Opera-Ballet, Her Majesty's.

MELBOURNE
Barefoot in Park, Princess.
Camelot, Her Majesty's.
Don't Tell Father, St. Martin's.
Love Rides Rails, Russell St.
Philippine Dancers, Comedy.
Stop the World, Tivoli.

SYDNEY
Black Theatre Prague, Royal.
Boeing-Boeing, Palace.
Do You Know Milky Way, Independent.
Henry V, Tent.
How to Succeed, Her Majesty's.
Importance Being Earnest, Old Tote.
Importance Being Oscar, Old Tote.
Minstrels, Tivoli.
Physicists, Ensemble.

Legit Bits

Jan Murray, who finishes a two-week stint next Sunday (12) in "A Thousand Clowns" at the Playhouse on the Mall, Paramus, N. J., goes into the Copacabana, N. Y., for a fortnight starting April 16.

A Coast edition of "The Establishment" opens next Tuesday (14) at the Little Fox in San Francisco with Peter Bellwood, Paddy Edwards, Harvey Jason, Paul McDowell and Patricia Scott featured. Peter Cook is producer-director.

Sonia Moore, author of "The Stanislavski Method," now in its second edition, is conducting an open class for students, agents and others interested in the art of the theatre at the Mermaid Theatre, N. Y., on Monday evenings until the end of May.

Scotter Teague is due back in the cast of "110 in the Shade" next Monday (13) following two weeks of Naval Reserve submarine duty. He's being spelled by Joel Warfield.

Edward H. Davis will be general manager for the upcoming George W. George-Frank Granat production of "Ben Franklin in Paris," a well as other presentations planned by the porcudngi team. Davis is general manager for the current Broadway production of "Any Wednesday," in which George and Granat are partnered with three other producers.

Broadway producer Morton Gottlieb made a quickie trip to Los Angeles for the opening last night (Tues.) at the Biltmore Theatre there of his presentation of "Enter Laughing." He planed to the Coast Monday (6) with Joseph Stein, who adapted the comedy, and Gene Sachs, who staged it. Gottlieb is flying back to New York today (Wed.) for the start of rehearsals of "The White House," which he's coproducing with Gilbert Miller and Helen Bonfils.

Greta Keller will appear in a series of four Monday evenings of song at the Stage 73, N. Y., beginning next Monday (13).

Tomi Romer will appear in "Spinner Boy," one of three one-acters by Joseph Golden to be presented next Monday night (13) and the following Monday eve (20) at the Sheridan Square Playhouse, N. Y., by the American laywrights Forum.

Sam Wanamaker is to direct George Zuckerman's "Remember the Poor Baker" for Broadway production by Hillard Elkins.

Jules Fisher is lighting designer for "The White House," which Henry Kaplan is directing, having succeeded William Ball in that assignment.

The American Theatre Wing, which has broadened the voter list for its Tony Awards from ATW subscribers to members of the first and second night Broadway press lists, has appointed the nominating committee for this year's awards. It comprises N.Y. Daily News drama critic John Chapman as chairman, N.Y. Post aislesitter Richard Watts Jr., producer Jean Dalrymple, N.Y. World-Telegram and Sun columnist Norton Mockridge and Al Hirschfield, caricaturist for the N. Y. Times.

The Ephrata (Pa.) Star Playhouse, formerly the Legion Star Playhouse, has scheduled a June 4-Sept. 12 run for its 11the season. John Cameron is producer-director.

Joel Cook and Sally Gifft are designers of the sets and costumes, respectively, for the off-Broadway production of "Billygoat Eddie."

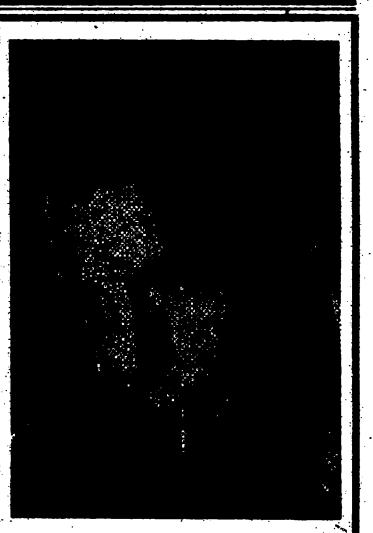
Colin Romoff will conduct "Fade Out—Fade In," which will have orchestrations by Ralph Burns and Ray Ellis, vocal arrangements by Buster Davis and dance music arrangements by Richard De Benedictis.

Barry Nelson will take over the starring role in "Nobody Loves An Albatross" when Robert Preston vacates the assignment May 30.

Tommy Brent is pressagent for the Bellport (L.I.) Gateway Playhouse which opens its 1964 season June 16 with "Oh Dad, Poor Dad . . ."

Walter Pidgeon is scheduled to tour the summer theatres in a Floyd P. Ackerman package of "Take Her, She's Mine."

Donald McKayle is choreographer for "Golden Boy."



CHICAGO'S NEW
allerton HOTEL
. . . and you will enter the world of the luxury hotel. Tastefully decorated rooms and suites, elegant dining facilities, convenient parking and transportation, attentive service—all are yours and at a surprisingly modest price.
PHONE SU 7-4200
allerton HOTEL
Michigan Ave. at Huron St.
Home of Don McNeill's BREAKFAST CLUB
Radio Program

SUMMER THEATRE FOR SALE

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY to acquire a Cape Cod Summer Theatre (near Hyannisport). Large permanent following. Very successful operation—$9,000. NET PROFIT every summer. Small theatre (therefore, non-Equity recommended). Does a sell-out business. Sale includes valuable real estate; the theatre itself, parking, scenery, props & costumes. Ready to open June 15. Has 14-week season but is heated & could operate year-round! Owners retiring; will sacrifice (land, building, equipment, good will, etc.) for $35,000. And only $10,000. down and pay Bank the balance over 25 years. Better yet, only $3,500. will be needed to acquire everything, balance of $6,500. out of this year's box office profits. Ideal man and wife set-up. Most unusual. Tell something of yourself in first letter and appointments will be made for March.

BOX V-3603, VARIETY
154 W. 46 St., New York City 10036

American Playwrights Forum
Presents—The Golden Plays—
A Garden Shady, Spinner Boy and The Exhibit by JOSEPH GOLDEN
April 13th and 20th at 8:40 P.M.
At The Sheridan Square Playhouse
Public is Invited
Directed by DAVID G. KENNEDY

WELLS RICHARDSON
OH CURSED SPITE,
RICHARDSON will not be Opening in HAMLET
Tomorrow night!

On March 4th, The Amen Corner opened to a glowing ovation. Reviews in the local, New York, and foreign press have been high in praise of the writing, directing, acting, and set design. Recipient of the greatest accolades is an actress from New York, new to the theatregoers of Los Angeles.

Unrestrained and unprecedented praise befitting the first lady of the American Theatre—"fantastic . . . superb . . . consummate . . . magnificent . . . phenomenal . . . fabulous"—continues to appear in print. Nightly, she continues to receive standing Bravos.

Here in the entertainment capital of the free world much less praise has resulted in significant parts in film or on TV. On March 30th the "industry" discovered this magnificent actress and she was offered one day's work as a maid—a role in which she would speak eight lines.

"ONE DAY AS A MAID"

We think that phrase would make a nice title for a feature movie.

The performance of Miss Bea Richards is indeed unforgettable and continues to soar and sing, to be a shattering and beautiful experience in The Amen Corner, a play by James Baldwin in its world premiere at Frank Silvera's Robertson Playhouse. We are grateful for the overwhelming response which has necessitated our adding Tuesday eve. performances.

A THEATRE OF BEING PRESENTATION
1024 S. Robertson Blvd. Los Angeles, Calif.

Hearst's Salute To 'Times'

On the Macy's-doesn't-tell-Gimbels premise, any newspaper's community welfare campaign is never saluted by a competitor or colleague, no matter how good—in fact the better it is the least likely this will happen.

But Hearst's N.Y. Journal-American not only saluted the N.Y. Times' "important job for New Yorkers today" but, by courtesy of the Times, reproduced the shocking Kew Gardens (Queens) photographic montage of how a lone woman was permitted to be thrice-attacked, (finally fatally) despite the fact that 37—count 'em, 37—"good people . . . saw the man stab the woman and heard her cries."

So preoccupied are New Yorkers today with "not wanting to get mixed up in anything," and presumably a reflection of the national inertia and breakdown of morale and responsibility, that the woman's 15 stab wounds, in three attacks, witnessed at divers times by 37 of her neighbors resulted in not one single phone call to the nearest police station. This was the Times' Page One blast which the Journal-American picked up.

Buchwald's Chinese Restaurant

When Art Buchwald was stationed in Paris he financed his Indochinese chef in a Chinatown restaurant hard by the Hotel George V and it was doped to be an instant click considering its bankrollers. Among them were/are Sam Spiegel, William Golden, Darryl F. Zanuck, industrialist Harry E. Gould, Mike Frankovich, agent-cum-producer Charles K. Feldman and kindred jet set showmen.

It was such a big hit that none of the bankrollers has ever been able to get a table in the miniature bistro-chowmeinery and, one investor's CPA had the temerity to ask Buchwald how come no dividends. The columnist, now stationed in Washington, wrote the accountant as follows:

"Concerning Mr. Gould's investment, I visited him in the PanAm Bldg. not long ago and you can imagine my dismay that amongst all the holdings he had listed under his vast corporate umbrella no reference was made to Chinatown. But to answer your letter concerning the semiannual check which should have been sent out on Jan. 1, well, as you are probably aware, France has recognized Red China. This seems to have affected our investment though I am not quite sure how. All I know is that ever since the French recognition of Peking, my Chinaman refuses to answer his mail, is withholding the receipts of the restaurant and has given all my emissaries a rough time.

"I finally contacted my lawyer, Mr. Charles Torem, of Coudert Bros., who is also a good friend of Mr. Gould, and pleaded with him to do something about this matter. Mr. Torem also has not answered any of my letters, so I can only assume he has gone over to the Chinese side . . . I am well aware that most of Mr. Gould's fortune is tied up in Chinatown and I am hoping to snag a Chinese fortune cookie to find out how he will come out. This is one of the strangest investments in the history of Chinese restaurants. I personally have lost between $6,-$7,000 but to make up for it I have had nothing but aggravation . . . In the meantime, please bear with me. We must fight the 'Yellow Peril' together!"

'The Group' Banned

Mary McCarthy's novel, "The Group," which has been on sale in Melbourne freely for the last month, has now been ruled as obscene by the Victorian Police vice squad, and booksellers have had to withdraw all copies. The publisher, Hutchinson is expected to contest the ruling.

Victoria is the only Australian state which has banned the novel, consequently sales in other states have boomed.

In Adelaide noted Aussie artists attending the Adelaide Festival of Arts there, have signed a statement condemning the banning. Among 38 signatures are included Russell Drysdale, Sidney Nolan, Xavier Herbert, Alan Marshall and Max Harris. A "Freedom to Read" Committee of victorian writers and artists and others interested in the ban also is being formed.

Poles Worry French Pubs

French publishing circles are upset by the recent appearance of a strong move by Polish printers, apparently with government approval. Poles have made the rounds with propositions to print books, magazines, etc. (in French or whatever language) for diffusion in France. Apparently the Poles can print books, pamphlets, magazines, especially in color, a great deal cheaper than is possible in France. They claim that, even with the addition of tariffs, the total costs will be much cheaper.

Poles say that "for the moment" they are concentrating on the French market, but hope to spread their activities internationally. What is especially interesting to publishers, and worrisome to printers and unions, is that the Poles are willing to accept part payment for their work in merchandise, i.e., French books and mags.

No Hotelier He

William L. Ryan, of Associated Press, is running for presidency of the Overseas Press Club on a platform of skepticism about the 11-story hotel-restaurant-catering building now occupied by the club. Previously it was the National Republican Club, which supposedly failed to solve the economics of so enormous a structure. Ryan argues that even if wholesale serving of meals to strangers and renting of facilities to outsiders balanced the books the "white elephant" edifice may ultimately destroy the quality of the club.

Meanwhile the club is in the red month after month, dues have gone up, membership drives are bringing in outsiders in numbers. Ryan declares "working newsmen are being priced out of the restaurant by soaring charges."

"Why burn up energy on hotel management instead of developing the kind of World Press Center we all want?" asks Ryan. He adds, "We can get out of all—or part—of the building."

Daily's Journalism Scholarships

High school senior boys in the South Bend (Ind.) area, with a yen for a career as a newsman, will be aided by a permanent $500 scholarship in Indiana U.'s department of journalism. Donor of the scholarship, which becomes effective next fall, is the South Bend Tribune.

"The purpose of the scholarship," said Franklin D. Schurz, president and editor of The Tribune, "is to interest qualified young men in newspaper work as a career and to emphasize the opportunities for public service, rewards and satisfactions to be found in this field."

Scholarship will be awarded for one year, but may be renewed for one or more years up to four years. A winner and an alternate will be chosen from the most promising candidates. Announcement of the award will be made early in May.

Harry Golden's SOS

Taking a page out of William F. Buckley Jr.'s pitch for "donations" and "contributors" in order to keep his foundering National Review going, Harry Golden is dittoing with the Carolina Israelite. The difference, says the editor-publisher, is that he is not soliciting $500 and $1,000 pledges but pitching for three-for-$10 new subscribers.

As a bonus, Golden will send as a gift his newest, "Mr. Kennedy and the Negroes," which World is bringing out.

Luke Green's Post

Luke Green, associate editor of the Atlanta Journal, has been named editor of the Atlanta Times, a new daily scheduled to go to press shortly. Times is backed by a group of Atlanta and Georgia businessmen and stock in it has been on sale for a couple of years.

New paper's competition will be p.m. Journal and a.m. Constitution, owned and operated by Atlanta Newspapers Inc., formed after late former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio purchased Atlanta Journal and Hearst's Georgian and Sunday American (which he folded) and subsequently merged it with Constitution in 1950.

$1600 CONTEST for WRITERS

OF UNPUBLISHED MANUSCRIPTS.

Send for contest rules and free Brochure on publishing your book. In case of tie, duplicate prizes awarded

Dept. VA

Pageant Press, 101 Fifth Ave. N. Y. 3

HOLLYWOOD COLUMNIST

Hollywood columnist with contacts and an "in" with celebrities for weekly column with expanding national newspaper. Get in on the ground floor. Send resume to: Marvin S. Weiss, 2713 N. Pulaski Rd., Chicago, Illinois, 60639.

Publishing Stocks

(As of April 7, closing)

Allyn & Bacon (OC)	20⅝	+ ⅝
American Book (AS)	40
Amer. Book Strat (AS)	4½	— ⅝
Amer. Heritage (OC)	7¼	— ⅜
Book of Month (N.Y.)	17	— ⅜
Conde Nast (N.Y.)	13	+1½
Cowles (OC)	13¼
Crowell Collier (N.Y.)	21¼	—1½
Curtis Pub. (N.Y.)	7¾	+ ⅛
Esquire Inc. (AS)	10⅜	— ⅝
Ginn & Co. (N.Y.)	31½	+ ½
Grolier (OC)	44
Grossett & Dunlap (OC)	12	+1¼
Harcourt Brace (N.Y.)	38½	— ¾
Hayden Pub. (OC)	3
Hearst (OC)	27
Holt R & W (N.Y.)	25¼	+1¼
LA Times-Mirror (OC)	35¾	+ ¼
Macfadden Bartel (AS)	6¼
McCall (N.Y.)	27	— ⅛
McGraw-Hill (N.Y.)	36¾	+1¼
Meredith Pub Co.	27¾	+ ¼
Nat'l Per. Pub. (OC)	12¾
New Yorker (OC)	121	+1
Pocket Books (OC)	5⅛	— ⅛
Popular Library (OC)	2½
Prentice Hall (AS)	27¼	+ ⅛
Random House (N.Y.)	13⅝
Scott Foresman (OC)	28¼	+1¼
H. W. Sams (OC)	32½
Time Inc. (OC)	119	+4½
Universal Pub. Co. (OC)	5½
Western Pub. Co. (OC)	25⅝

OC—Over the Counter.
NY—N.Y. Stock Exchange.
AS—American Stock Exchange.
(Supplied by Bache & Co.)

'West Side (N.Y.) News'

Some 23 stockholders are the new owners of a regional midtown Manhattan weekly, the West Side News.

Group includes attorneys, a former newspaperman, a theatrical producer, realtors, broker, business men, social worker, psychologist and accountants.

'Playboy' Shares the Wealth

Playboy has incepted an escalating $250, $500, etc. bonus for each successive story sold by the same author to the monthly within one year. This is in addition to the $3,000 fees (and under) paid for lead aricles and fiction.

Editor-publisher Hugh M. Hefner's theory is that worthwhile writers who land more than once in Playboy should receive these bonuses in appreciation of their repetitive popularity with his readers.

McGovern's Mpls. Pitch

If 6,000 of the many locals solicited respond to the appeal of Francis R. McGovern to come across with $28 in advance for a one-year subscription, he'll establish a Minneapolis daily newspaper to compete with the city's present two, the jointly owned Morning Tribune and Evening Star.

McGovern was editor of but sans financial interest in the Minneapolis Daily Herald which came into existence in 1962 when a strike closed down the two regular dailies for six months during which it operated profitably, minus competition. However, shortly after the Star and Tribune resumed publication the Herald tossed in the sponge.

'Hot' Satevepost Edition

Doubleday bookshops sell the Feb. 1 issue of the Saturday Evening Post (20c) at 50c.

Reason: this is the edition which included Arthur Miller's "After The Fall," inaugural play of the ANTA Washington Square Theatre, in its entirety. Viking publishes the book version at $3.95. SEP paid Miller $25,000 for the prepublication rights.

Prolific Geo. Farwell

George Farwell, public relations officer for the Adelaide (Australia) Festival of Arts, writes books and does research work on them the alternate years he is not working for the Festival. At the end of the Fest in 1962 Farwell and wife Noni Spent six months in Tahiti and "The Last Days in Paradise," which is being published in London by Victor Gollancz later this year, is the result.

At the end of April the Farwells are off to Greece, via Britain, where Farwell will work on a novel about Tahiti, a historical novel and a book on Australia — as well as doing research for a later Greek book.

English-born Farwell has over 10 books to his credit, as well as many radio plays.

Femme Publicists' Shifts

Mrs. Dolly Guinther switched from the Coward-McCann-John Day-Putnam's parlay to Farrar, Straus & Cudahy, succeeding longtime incumbent Mrs. Lynn Caine, who has retired to mind her new baby.

Succeeding Mrs. Guinther at the triumvirate outfit is Pearl Goodwin, ex-John Wiley Co.

'Buried' News Story

"Greatest news story buried in the financial pages," remarks Canada Week, new weekly published by Canada Month mag. Story referred to: "Immediately after the assassination of President John Kennedy, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York borrowed $20,000,000 from the Bank of Canada (government's central bank). Reason: to backstop any drop in the value of the American dollar.

Bank of Canada Governor Louis Rasminsky disclosed the loan in the bank's annual report for 1963, said "the money was repaid by mid-December."

Featuring Maxine Mesinger

Maxine Mesinger, for several years columnist-reviewer for the Houston Press, transferred to the Houston Chronicle when the Chroncle purchased its evening opposition and shuttered the Press operation last week.

The Chronicle is giving the paper's new columnist top promotion efforts and maximum display.

2 More By Brand

Folksinger Oscar Brand, a prolific writer, has two more books due from Alfred Music. The first is "Humorous Hootenanny," a collection of whacky folksongs, to be released next month. The second is more in the nature of a text in guitar accompaniment, and has the make-it-easy assist of a disk packaged with the book, on which Brand sings the first verse of each folksong.

In this way the guitar student, who doesn't read music, will hear the correct melody and pitch of the folktunes presented in the kit.

CHATTER

Mrs. Ruth Howell (Stanley) Walker, widow of the former New York newspaperman who committed suicide in November of 1962 at his Lampasas, Texas, ranch upon learning of his incurable throat cancer, died April 4 in Rollings-Brook Hospital, Lampasas. She was former music critic of the Washington Star.

Don Freeman, San Diego Union-Copley News Service tv ed and VARIETY man there, cracked the Saturday Evening Post with a piece on Donna Reed (March 28 issue).

Holiday's new editor, Don A. Schanche (he just succeeded the late Ted Patrick) and publisher James M. White visiting Germany this week in connection with the upcoming (October '64) issue devoted entirely to Germany. They are scheduled to interview Chancellor Erhard and West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt along with native writers and illustrators, business and political leaders. Holiday's special issue already has pieces scheduled by British author V. S. Pritchett on "Who Are the Germans?", Neil Ascherson on German youth, Joseph Wechsberg on German music, Hannah Arendt on "The Jews," William Manchester on "The Krupps," Ronald Searle on illustrations, etc.

Audrey Williamson writing regular pillar "On the Boards of Broadway," on New York shows, for The Scotsman, Edinburgh prestige morning sheet.

"Beatscene" is title of new monthly magazine about the Scottish beat scene, edited by television promotion-scribe Norman Shannon, and published at 10c.

Esquire Inc. has declared a dividend of 15c a share, and a 5% stock dividend. It's the first cash payment declared by the company since 1958.

'Black Bottom' Negro

Continued from page 2

name them—the Black Bottom, the Charleston, the Lindy Hop and all of the variations on the Twist stemmed from the poor Negroes. Why they haven't created any new dances in Europe since the gavotte, they just keep importing ours." And by "ours" he means the American Negro.

Negro-Inspired Dances

Asked if 20th century progress might not cut the Negroes off from their creative taproots, Brown replied: "It'll change things. With diesel engines, the train whistle doesn't blow any more and it's been a long time since anyone advertised a sporting house by blowing a trombone over the tailgate of a truck.

"But as the old saying goes 'you've got to pay your dues to sing the blues', and the Negro has not only paid his dues in bitter living, he is a charter member of the element of our society that gets the leavings of life. There's that special quality of joy and pain that the Negro has learned the hard way."

Brown relates how he was once called upon by Chicago welfare officials to talk to and entertain the Egyptian Cobras—the toughest of Chi's Negro gangs with a long record of zip-gun fights, bicycle chain whippings and one known case of outright murder.

Improved the Twist

"It was held in a juke joint," he recalls, "and it was right at the time that New York high society had discovered the Twist at the Peppermint Lounge. But these kids had already worked out three or four variations on the Twist, like the Watusi, the Roach and the Horse. Sure enough, a couple of months later these same dances were all the rage in Twist clubs in the United States and Europe. If that's not creativity, what is?

"Jazz? It's the greatest popular art form ever created by mankind and it was invented and is sustained by the Negroes. The blues, the hot jazz of the '20s, boogie woogie, bop, cool and rock and roll have all got the 'Made By Negroes' stamp.

"I'm not trying to deprecate the contributions made by white musicians, but they have mostly been in the nature of applying other musical forms, such as Afro-Cuban rhythms and classical approaches, to basic jazz. The greatest white contribution has been in their players and not in their innovators."

Brown is currently preparing for a month-long concert tour of Sweden. He is also his own indie disk producer and has cut four records at his own expense that he's trying to sell to the major companies. Also on tap is a series of concerts for the Canadian Broadcasting Company's "Parade" show, and he is working on a pilot with ABC-TV.

'Giving the Finn'

Continued from page 2

is setting back the soon-expected "greater freedom of international trade" now in prospect. Partly this is due to Finland proposing to severely tax telepix of foreign origin while exempting its own producers.

The Finnish situation has been acute for the past two years, the government favoring its own television network at expense of the theatrical feature producers of the country. There has now been a change in favor of theatre features but apparently part of the new scheme is to penalize imports.

Capsule 'Marietta'

Continued from page 1

and liquor will be available at an additional charge.

Carlton Productions Inc., comand Red Weiss, is producing the prised of Josh Baldwin, Jack Friel operetta, in which Marcia King will play the title role. The abbreviated version, with music provided by two pianos, was adapted by Alan James and is being directed by Brian Shaw. Bill Memmott is musical director. The Coffee House seats about 275.

Broadway

Josephine Baker guest at today's (Wed.) luncheon of Overseas Press Club.

Honorary chairman of Better Hearing Month is Joan Fontaine. Previously Nannette Fabray.

Austria handed Grand Insignia of Honor to William Weissel, asst. mgr. of N.Y. Philharmonic. He's a Viennese.

Otto Preminger will be the guest speaker at the United Jewish Appeal luncheon on April 30 at the Americana.

Business partners Gene Autry and Robert O. Reynolds have been insured for $1,000,000 each by the Massachusetts Mutual Life.

Increased usages of coinmachines (automatic vendors, jukeboxes, toll roads for "exact change" entree, etc.) given as reasons for shortages of coin. Even the banks have become worried.

Loew's Theatres has taken a 140-year lease on the two-story ramp garage on the northeast corner of 7th Ave. and 53d St. as auxiliary parking space for its Americana Hotel which is south of the parking lot.

Susan Kintner, daughter of the Bob Kintners (NBC prez), engaged to William Thomas Oliver, senior at Bowdoin College. Bride-to-be is a senior at Middlebury (Vt.) College. Both plan to join the Peace Corps after their marriage.

Trader Vic's celebrates its sixth anniversary April 13 with an invitational celebrity party and the introduction of its new fortune cookies inspired by Mignon McLaughlin's "The Neurotic's Notebook," by arrangement with Bobbs-Merrill.

Lou Chesler's Lucayan Beach Hotel, Grand Bahama Island, will be the 40th hostelry to be managed by the Dinkler Hotel Corp. Lucayan has its own gaming casino, the second on the island. The Bahamian Club, in Nassau, is a private casino.

Irene (and Vernon) Castle, now 71, who came to New York as honored guest of a Hotel Plaza dinner dance under Ballroom Dance Mag auspieces, sounded off on today's Twist and other "jerky" dance styles—and naturally got beaucoup press space.

RCA exec Frank M. Folsom, just back from Hawaii vacation, was caught in one of those tidal waves, backwash of the Alaska earthquake, which chased beach hotel guests to high ground until 3-in-the-morning for safety. It was eerie but not dangerous he reports.

Peter Duchin, 26-year-old maestro-son of the late Eddy and Marjorie Oelrichs Duchin, currently at the St. Regis' Maisonette, engaged to socialite Mrs. Cheray Georgea Zauderer, who resumed her maiden name following divorce. A June wedding is planned.

Comedian Orson Bean bought a three-story building on West 15th St. where he will establish a private school for children from 4-7 years. Classes start in September. The 15th St. School, as it will be called, will operate on the Summerhill (England) System—some 45 years old—which is based on noncoercive discipline.

Same-day cocktaileries are being held here and in Paris tomorrow (Thurs.) to launch the 13th annual April in Paris ball which is scheduled for Oct. 30 at the first major function in the newly rebuilt ballroom of the Hotel Astor. Paris party is in the Hotel de Ville (City Hall) and Gotham shindig at the Pierre.

Alec Cohen hosts the post-"Hamlet" premiere tomorrow (Thurs.) night at the Rainbow Room which teed off its post-opening night business with "Funny Girl" and this past Sunday with the Eva LeGallienne Lincoln Repertory supper. The RR, since Jerome Brody took it over, is now open seven nights a week.

Tokyo Shibaura Electric Co. Ltd., better known as Toshiba, unveiling its new spectacular in Times Square—a 1,800 square foot sign on 47th and Broadway — next Thursday (16) with a cocktailery and all the trimmings. The Douglas Leigh installation will use Toshiba's own light bulbs, especially flown in from Tokyo.

Irving Geist, w.k. in show biz, attached five Rolls-Royces at the just-opened auto show at the Coliseum as part of his $27,231.94 damage suit against the British automotive concern. This results from a custom-built Rolls he bought in 1961 for $23,000, with which the industrialist was dissatisfied and sued. It was replaced, but not to his satisfaction.

Gail Benedict signed as guest commentator for the International Fashion Festival at the Desert Inn, Las Vegas, and takes five days of leave from her p.r. post at the Savoy Hilton to handle the assignment. She'll introduce the top foreign designers on the 18th and the American group on the 19th. She recently appeared on the "Tonight" Show with Johnny Carson.

Chicago

(DElaware 7-4784)

Bill Corcoran, press agent for Drury Lane Theatre, on the sick list.

"Garden District" is Chicago Stage Guild's next presentation April 10, 11, 17 and 18.

Sherman Wolf, former veepee at Aaron Cushman Associates, opened his own pubrel firm.

Bob Newkirk will be preem act when the Edgewater Beach bows its new Marine Room April 14.

Phil Ford & Mimi Hines set so many midwest club dates that they have taken an apartment at Astor Towers for five months.

Lew Davenport penned a revue, "Windfall," which will be presented June 5 at Theatre First. Opening night is a benefit for March of Dimes.

Bob Newhart will be garlanded with the Notre Dame Club of Chicago's "Decency In Entertainment" award at the club's annual dinner at Palmer House, April 13.

Larry Garnello, business manager at Drury Lane Theatre, departing the theatre to join Electronics Representatives Associates. His Drury Lane replacement is Tom Cunningham.

Radio station WGN currently conducting search for folk and bluegrass talent, with a top prize of an Epic Records contract and a one-week engagement at the It's Here coffee house plus a tape recorder.

Recipients of the Jaycees' annual "Chicagoan of Year" award included Louis Sudler, businessman and host of WNBQ's "Artists' Showcase," cited in the category of arts; Orion Samuelson, WGN's farm service director, agriculture; and Sterling (Red) Quinlan, broadcast exec of Field Enterprises, communications.

Tel Aviv

By Azaria Rapoport

(73 Ahad Haam St.; Tel: 235066)

Dr. Ophira Bar-Ilan, head of Suber music publishers, chosen to seat on the board of ACUM, the local ASCAP.

Jack Garfein, film director, in for a brief private visit here, seen touring some of the locations used presently by French and American film companies.

Flutist Jean Pierre Rampal, concluding his second tour of this country, concertizing with orchestras and playing chamber music, most successful once more.

Italy's music publishing house, Ricordi, has come to terms with the Israel Opera concerning fees for local productions of Puccini operas. These will be resumed now and include "La Boheme," "Turandot," "La Tosca" and "Girl of the Golden West."

Pianist Clifford Curzon and conductor Istvan Kerteez shared the podium during the recent series of the Israel Philharmonic concerts. Israeli singer Nathania Dovrat repeated her New York fest (under Leonard Bernstein), singing the solo part in Mahler's Fourth symphony.

"Une Soiree A Paris," with Zizi Jeanmaire and a troupe of 40 singers and dancers, had a warm audience reception at Tel Aviv's Fredric Mann Auditorium, but received mild reviews only, at the start of a two weeks' tour of Israel. The Yves Saint-Laurent costumes stole the show.

The Italian-Danish circus, Palmiri-Benneweis, set up its huge tent at the State Plaza in Tel Aviv and started a most successful venture, playing to capacity audience and enjoying high critical acclaim. The company includes Moslem acrobats from Morocco, the Gli Hassani, who had been granted special visas by the Israel Government in spite of the fact that Morocco doesn't recognize the existence of Israel.

London

(HYde Park 4561/2/3)

Harry Secombe guest of honor at the Easter parade celebrations in Battersea Park.

Dorothy Baker opened a three-week cabaret engagement at the Society last week.

Decca Records tossed a cocktailery at their West End headquarters for Peter, Paul and Mary.

The Queen Mother attending a gala performance of Ibsen's "Brand" at the Questors Theatre, Ealing, on April 22.

Roman Polanski, the Polish director of "Knife In Water," joined forces with Gene Gutowski in a British production company.

Michael S. Baumohl planed to N.Y. over the weekend for confabs with Seven Arts and Universal. He will be away from his London base for about two weeks.

Granada, Associated-TeleVision, Rediffusion and Four Star joint hosts at a Dorchester reception on Monday (6) for Gene Barry, who stars in "Burke's Law."

Sol Hurok, celebrating his 75th birthday this week, made his debut in West End management last week with the presentation of the Mexican Ballet at the Drury Lane.

Henry Geddes named executive producer of the Children's Film Foundation, and will start his new position July 1, after he has completed "Eagle Rock" for the CFF.

Harold Cheshire flew to Budapest last weekend, at the invitation of the principal of the Istvan Barlanghy School of Pantomime, for lecture demonstrations and a performance at the Budapest Youth Theatre.

B'way Jr. in H'wood

By Walter Winchell

L. Welk, batoneer, one of few showfolk honored by G-men with pew near FBI's W. G. Simon, at capacity-packed Kowloon ta-ta event. Mr. Simon resigned after nearly 25 years. Chief'd Sinatra Jr. kidnap case, Greenlease child kidnap-murder, Weinberger baby kidnap-murder near NYC.

Prolific bookwriter Richard Gehman's tome "That Kid: The Story of Jerry Lewis," speedy sellout here.

Ambassador did not pick up tab (as VARIETY erratumed) for opposition L.A. news media which flang 67th birthday party for this Grandpa at Grove last night. Removed couvert charge ($7 per pair) only. (End of Lesson-in-Reporting!)

Veteran film pet Preston Foster and star Vera Miles gemceed Safety Council affair attended by over 1,500. VARIETY's cub fractured crowd with old safety slogan on back of big truck: "Watch My Rear—Not Hers!"

Mass. Gov. Peabody's mother (jailed in deep Southland with other Civil Rights demonstrators) called "Mrs. Peebeedee" by many L.A. news people. Peebeedee? As in The Pea-BODY Award???? (Whut school didjiz went at?)

Jim Wilson, giant-sized KNXT-CBS camerace (his camera and floodlamp wrecked by over-zealous Fed cop when Wilson snapped Sinatra Sr. in Fed Bldg garage during kidnap case) arrested and charged with violating Fed Court's edict banning lensmen. U.S. Attorney Francis C. Whalen wants to drop charge but KNXT rejected same. Plan test case, along with AP, UP, etc.

Manny Harmon, band chief here, guided New York scribe into rally for Ike at Biltmore Bowl where GOPeople refused admish without pass.

Salinger h'quarters in LA at Ambass "Royal Suite." (Sech Airz!)

"Cholly Angeleno" (Lynn Spencer) back at Her-Ex society desk after long illness. Started with Hearst 45 years ago as police scribe after college. One of first 1 ales to report society stuff.

Hearst blatts coming out for LBJ? Figures. Hearst exec F Conniff running for Congress as Demo in NY versus Ogden Reid Jr. whose family owned HerTrib, "Voice of the GOP."

At last night's Grove bash top surprise introductee was our guest, the "Wes" that defense table promised they'd put on stand (as "the real mastermind of Sinatra Jr. hoax press stunt, etc") but didn't.

L.A. Times city ed Hank Osborn belted out furious critique (at Press Club) on meaning of Free Press. Aimed at local Fed Courts. Corker.

HerEx circ not up "from" 812,000 — up from 721,00 to 812,000. The blatt's m.e. "Bud" Lewis, exed of ex-LA Mirror.

N. Y. Journal-American composing room "slowdown," ordered by same Union that started 114-day strike last year, depressed all NY news people wondering What-Next???

Dorothy Malone, Oscar Winner (1956), going slightly daffy waiting for 20th to sign her for tv series. Two episodes in the can, but no sig.

Paris

By Gene Moskowitz

(80 Ave Neuilly; SAB. 0712)

Music Hall and the legit ABC may disappear next season.

Hazel Scott playing nightly in Mae Mercer's Blues Bar boite.

Vet film producer Georges Lourau reelected head of the Syndicate of French Film Producers.

Madame Nhu, living here, now charges for tele appearances to raise money for living expenses for herself and her children.

First Military Film Fest will unspool in Versailles, June 2-8. Films will be all sorts of army shorts from different countries.

Screen stars Jeanne Moreau and Serge Reggiani may take top roles in a French legit version of Arthur Miller's "After the Fall" next season.

Dan Oppenheim in to huddle with local playwrights and directors on promising plays for Broadway as well as the possibility of making a Yank-slanted tele series.

Yves Robert will stage the French version of Yank legiter, "A Funny Thing Happened," next season at the Palais Royal. Yank producer Arthur Lesser produces with Madame De Letraz.

Actress Maria Mauban penning a novel about an aging actress reminiscing. She herself is still young and star of the hit French transposition of Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary," on legit stage here.

Coming Palais Des Sports shows include a performance of Russo and French gymnasts, Mexican Folk Ballet, Jazz Fest headed by Ella Fitzgerald and Oscar Peterson, and then an international circus.

"Holiday on Ice" doing even better than last year with big attendance hikes because of bus service from outlying districts. It is drawing daily around $2.000 over last year at the big-seating Palais Des Sports.

Albert Sarfati will produce a musical version of that old faithful "The Three Musketeers" next season, with Opera director Georges Auric doing the music and starring comedy team Roger Pierre and Jean Marc Thibault.

Malaysia

By Gordon Ooi

(3-C, Raffles Place, Singapore, Tel. 70606/43505)

Diners' Club here has come out with a bi-monthly members' magazine.

The Troika Restaurant, new here, dispensing Russian though not necessarily Red cusine.

Kemanan Motel opened in Trengganu, on Malaya's East Coast, to cater to American tourists.

Cathay's Hong Kong production, "Story of Three Loves" breaking record at Odeon Katong. Another pic doing record biz is "Fun in Acapulco" (Par) at Cathay Cinema.

"Tarzan's Three Challenges" (MGM) drawing capacity crowds at Odeon because of current Chinese New Year season; pic was shot in nearby Thailand and the admission price was normal.

The Lion City Show, now rechristened to read Lion City Nightclub, has moved house to four doors away from the world-famed Tiger Balm Garden, Singapore's No. 1 tourist attraction.

Chaiman of the Singapore Tourist Promotion Board, ex-Health Minister K. M. Byrne, back from Sydney where he headed a 12-man delegation at the 13th Annual Pacific Area Travel Association (PATA) Conference.

To cope with the inflow of tourists into the island, the Singapore Tourist Promotion Board has been established along with the Singapore Tourist Assn. on the government Tourist Information Centre, it will help to bring in more visitors.

Hollywood

David Miller to Argentine Film Fest as only U.S. member of jury.

Stefanie Powers reoptioned by Columbia Pictures for another year.

Walter Pidgeon to tour strawhat circuit with "Take Her, She's Mine."

Jim Richardson retired after 33 years with Fox West Coast as theatre manager.

John Payne and Lisa Kirk to head L. A. Civic Light Opera's "Here's Love."

Hollywood Museum set to clear $10,000 at Universal's "Chalk Garden" Fashion Gala.

Joan Shawlee returned from starring in "Guerrillas in Pink Lace" in Philippines.

Phil Gittelman switched from Helene Towers agency to Hal Shafer office as associate.

Ralph Carter, managing director of Republic Pictures of New Zealand, homeward-bound.

Ken Drake heads newly-opened Chicago office of Hanna-Barbera as veepee in charge of sales.

Jack Kruschen tees off 15-day p.a. tour on May 4 to bally Metro's "Unsinkable Molly Brown."

Sam Marx, vet film producer, set as West Coast rep of Keefe Brasselle's Richelieu Productions.

Gene Kelly succeeds James Whitmore as co-chairman of Hollywood Arts Division of American Civil Liberties Union.

Bob Hope will receive third annual "headliner of the Year" award May 4 from Greater Los Angeles Press Club.

Edgar Bergen breaking in his new nitery act at Saddle & Sirloin, Tucson, before opening at the Roosevelt, New Orleans.

Mia Farrow, daughter of Maureen O'Sullivan and late John Farrow, hopped to London to replace Britt Ekland in 20th-Fox' "Guns of Batasi."

Vivian Blaine replaces Betty Grable as femme star with Dan Dailey in "Guys and Dolls," Selden-Bufman production opening May 5 at Cocoanut Grove Playhouse, Miami.

Everett Sharp resigned post of veepee-general sales manager of Manhattan Films International, effective May 1, to become exec assistant to Robert Benton, veepee-general manager of Sero Amusement Co.

Mrs. Ida Mayer Cummings honored last Sunday at Ambassador Hotel with Silver Jubilee dinner celebrating her 25th year as prexy of L. A. Jewish Home for the Aged; Mary Pickford also installed for 25th year as honorary chairman of home.

Palm Springs

Bill Bendix spending most of his time at his manse at Canyon Country Club.

Desi Arnaz and Hoagy Carmichael amid golfers at Thunderbird Country Club.

Rod Serling vacationing at White Sun Guest Ranch after completion of 150 "Twilight Zones."

Doug McClure teams with Duke Mitchell to break in new act at Palm Springs Ranch Club.

Alan Jones bought former Al Jolson estate here after selling his manse at Eldorado Country Club.

Kim Sisters, appearing at Chi Chi, practice several hours a day to perfect the instruments they play in their act.

Frank Sinatra and Harpo Marx are on a citizens committee to raise funds for a JFK statue to be placed at new P.S. airport.

George Murphy, a candidate for U.S. Senate, addressed a meeting of the Palm Desert Republican club at Indian Wells Hotel.

Fifteenth annual Racquet Club tennis tourney was played last weekend with Dinah Shore and Donald Woods among those vying for champion honors.

Buddy Rogers, Hugh O'Brian and Bullets Durgom in the throng at opening of Johnny Bash's Clubhouse. The Pacers Plus One provide lively music at night spot owned by Bash and Jack Narz.

Mrs. George Hearst chairmaned Desert Press Club's Awards dinner Saturday night. Event honored Charlie Farrell for his contributions at Palm Springs. Past recipients of Press Club award have been Bob Hope and Gene Autry.

Leith Stevens sweating out Academy Award night by building at Pinyon Crest, in the pine-covered snow country, 15 minutes from Palm Desert. He will live here and commute to L.A. for "Mr Novak" tele chores as well as film assignments.

Ray Stark & Fanny Brice

Continued from page 1

scripters who had worked on the Fanny Brice story including the current libretto by Isobel Lennart, based on her own original story.

Thus, Stark not only owns the preproduction film rights to her script but any other participations by Jule Styne (music), Bob Merrill (lyrics), and previous screenplay and other treatments he had commissioned Ben Hecht and the Ephrons (Henry and Phoebe) to do. Ditto all rights for use of Nicky Arnstein's identification with the Fanny Brice saga; the Brice estate (which includes Mrs. Stark, nee Frances Brice, now better known as Fran Stark in BevHills circles, and her brother, Billy Brice, who has the reputation of "being quite a painter" on the Coast).

Whether Stark, despite his hookup with Seven Arts, will produce the film on his own (which he doesn't anticipate can happen for two or three years because of the legit musical's seeming Broadway click) or in association with another major studio, is for the future. Columbia offered him over $400,000 and 25% of the world rights three years ago; he has similar firm offers from Warners and Metro.

"But if somebody was to lay $700,000 on the line, that only would make me even on the story property investments not counting the more than $500,000 the Broadway show cost to bring in. The 600G-plus, of course is not all mine," says Stark.

"Backers in 'Funny Girl' had to be bought out, in advance, for the same reasons as with the present show's authors, the Ephrons, Hecht and all the others. Point is that nobody can do anything to jar the image of my wife's mother and father, whom Barbra Streisand and Sydney Chaplin personate onstage."

8-Year-Old Project

He is also noncommital of how much the 83-year-old Nicky Arnstein, now in retirement on the Coast, was paid other than stating negotiations with him started some eight years ago when the Fanny Brice bio, for stage or screen, started to fulminate. That's when, incidentally, Stark details he had to trade "The Maltese Falcon" remake rights, which he acquired from Warners, and cede them to Metro in exchange for the Culver City studio "springing" Isobel Lennart to work on the libretto. He seemingly has great respect for the latter, citing her Hollywood record as "a five-time Oscar nominee". She already had written a film treatment before the segue into producing it as a stage musical first.

It was because of full awareness of authors' prerogatives that he bought in all rights "because then, if it's no good, I have the privilege of not making it. There can never be the desparation problem of salvaging a bad investment as would be the case with anybody else who is not so sentimentally and intimately tied up with the subject matter. If it's right, and obviously we think the stage version is now close to 'right', we'll then proceed to produce an equally 'right' motion picture. However, the fact that three major studios had marked interest in the property before—and most certainly all will from now in—certainly attests to its filmusical potentials".

To a VARIETY man's wonderment if the authors and he must certainly have been tempted to violate Broadway tradition with an original musical by repriseing the classic "My Man" in that second act, Stark says that that's what he might do in the film version.

At the moment he feels Barbra Streisand is as well known through her records and general exposure as Fanny Brice, and probably even more so to the present generation, so that while the subject matter is one segment of the comedienne's struggle to Ziegfeldian heights (and her abortive romance with the gamblin' man), the intent was to cloak the vehicle with original song-and-dance material. Accent, in fact, is in the pop dansapation metier, so far as the words and music and Carol Haney's musical staging is concerned. (Jerome Robbins was only called in latterly to work with Garson Kanin who directed. Stark feels there is much credit for all, "now that we're in," but he observed that "Jerry Robbins' work with the show in the last four weeks was incredible").

Of his star, he feels she was a great song seller in Boston—as she in any medium and in any place—but that in the transition from the break-in dates en route to Broadway "she also became a great actress, truly the 'Funny Girl'." Incidentally, her deal puts the 21-year-old songstress up there with the big girl stars (Merman and Martin), said to be guaranteed $5,000 — again producer Stark copped a plea — and a percentage. On this he too was vague. Costar Sydney Chaplin is on flat terms. "Funny Girl" at $9.60 top can gross $80,000 at the Winter Garden.

As for the hazards of "overworking", he says both he and Miss Streisand agree she's "young and in a nitery act she sings more songs twice nightly than in eight-a-week shows here".

Morning after the notices there was an unbroken line, according to Shubert spokesman, and an extra boxoffice had to open.

Another Starkian footnote on those "postponed" openings; he explains the last one as being an accommodation to a theatre party and, contrarily to general impression, "now the party agents love us" because the show was kept out long enough to make it "right" although, admittedly, it snafued several earlier party bookings.

Las Vegas

Continued from page 1

Nevada casino had been charged with using loaded dice. The Slipper is dominantly owned by Robert O. Shulze, a former pitcher for the defunct Hollywood Stars baseball team. Although the "flat dice" (shaved so that the 6-and-1 combination does not come up as often) charge took place at one of the two dice tables, 105 slot machines, a roulette wheel, five blackjack games and a "wheel of fortune" were also shut down by the State Gaming Control Board.

The Nevada casinos have been in the spotlight with more than their share of notoriety of late via such diverse items as "The Green Felt Jungle," current bestseller which includes some lurid accents on Vegas' gangster control; Senator Barry Goldwater's $3,000,000 libel suit against the authors thereof, because of inferential friendship with Gus Greenbaum, slain former owner of the Riviera, Las Vegas; and last week's Life story feature by Paul O'Neil, on Dr. Edward O. Thorp. He is the Ph.D. mathematician on faculty at New Mexico State Univ. whose mathematical genius has successfully beaten the Nevada casinos time and again. He even wrote a book on it, "Beat The Dealer" (Random House, 1962), with accent on "21" or blackjack. O'Neil's story baldly states that as soon as Dr. Thorp is recognized—he wears disguises, changes his spectacles for contact glasses, changes attire, and otherwise tries to look as anonymous as possible—the casinos send in their mechanics (cheating dealers). This is one of the boldest allegations in a national magazine. Obviously, Thorp quickly becomes a marked man. As the pit bosses recognize his skillful and scientific blackjack playing methods, they send in new dealers.

NAACP & 'Bonanza'

Continued from page 1

get NBC to drop the show, threatening to take the case over the heads of network program execs to network board chairman Robert Sarnoff. A meeting of NBC officials and GM and Campbell-Ewald ad agency execs (for Chevrolet, "Bonanza" bankroller) was held Tuesday afternoon, March 31. The network at that time stood firm on its plan to air the stanza, titled, "Enter Thomas Bowers," on Sunday, April 23.

Besides its request for answers to the VARIETY story, Wilkins' wire to Donner declared, "VARIETY reports almost incredible story that General Motors in 1964 seeks to bar Negro performer from its sponsored program, 'Bonanza,' on NBC television. If this story is true your company has incalculably damaged not only its own prestige but also the image of America among people of all races, colors and nations who believe that our country stands for equality and justice for all mankind. Repudiation by General Motors of this principle at this time is particularly significant in light of the civil rights crisis confronting the country. This is no time for a major American corporation to line up in open support of exclusion based upon race. It is a time for men and corporations to take affirmative action in behalf of human rights for all."

Joan Baez & CORE Picket GM

Austin, Tex., April 7.

Folk singer Joan Baez joined more than 200 civil rights demonstrators who jammed the front of the City Hall here Thursday (2) while Negroes appeared before the city council to urge a municipal civil rights ordinance.

Miss Baez exhorted the crowd, many of them students from the U. of Texas, to stage more demonstrations. The singer remained in the city following two concerts at the university on Wednesday (1).

Charge Performer Bias

Detroit, April 7.

In protest against alleged segregation in industrial shows, members of the Congress of Racial Equality picketed the General Motors Bldg. last week. They carried signs reading: "GM discriminates against non-white performers."

There were no incidents. GM did not comment on the demonstrations.

Sarnoff 25 Yrs. Later

Continued from page 1

of an Industry," and in it he made reference to tv as that "miracle of engineering skill which one day will bring the world to the home."

His dedication remarks of last week simply picked up where the 1939 predictions left off. Said the chairman, "Appropriately, the 1964 World's Fair coincides with a most important development in the life of television. Through communications satellites, such as Telstar and Relay, international television signals are moving at the speed of light through outer space. The technical means now exist to give television a new programming dimension that is distinctively global in character."

Fair Corp. prexy Moses called Sarnoff a "major prophet" in his portendings of the future of video in 1939, and added, "He is a forerunner here again today at the new Fair, introducing our Communications Center, and an all-seeing color tv closed-circuit network within the Fair which enables millions of visitors to see themselves as they and others see them. General Sarnoff can tell you how close we are to live worldwide color television.

Par's Loren Pic

Continued from page 2

ment Film Encouragement office to the last laborer, helping to lay the special road cut in the hilly landscape of Western galilee.

Some equipment would be brought from Rome, to augment locally rented items and a large number of Israelis are going to be in the picture. Mann and Rackin seemed excited by some actors they saw and more so by the children and some of the kibbutz members whose faces and personality will add to the picture's local color.

Jayne Mansfield

Continued from page 2

national Films, had negotiated the U.S.-Israeli coproduction of the Mansfield picture about half year ago but last week the letter received announced that Miss Mansfield, shooting presently in Beiruth, Lebanon, bowed-out and the deal is off. Asher Hirshberg, government man in charge of the encouragement of local film production, refrained from any statement.

Col. Marcus' life-story had been planned for motion picture treatment for some time and rights to this West Pointer hero, who died on the outskirts of Jerusalem a few weeks before the establishment of the State of Israel, had been negotiated with his widow a few years ago.

The present production, scheduled for next year, in color, is based on the Ted Barkman story and shooting should take place in New York, West Point, Washington, France, Germany, England and Israel, with an international cast.

Mr. Shavelson said this was not going to be an "anti-Arab film," but rather "another picture about a fight for freedom, a kind of sequel to 'Exodus'."

Lenny Bruce

Continued from page 2

on for Bruce. He also played Saturday-Sunday performances and will continue for two-week date. House is given over on Mondays to experimental entertainment.

Other than concert date at Village Theatre on March 28, booking at the Cafe au Go Go was first N. Y. appearance for Bruce in several years.

Warrant was issued on basis of tape recordings of bit made first two nights of program by two plain clothesmen. Bruce was released on $1,000 bond put up by Solomon. Latter was released in his own recognizance. Both men are scheduled to appear in Criminal part, N. Y. Supreme Court.

Beatles

Continued from page 2

hovering around the 4,000,000 sales mark.

"Can't Buy Me Love" had a built-in Gold Record since Capitol had order of over 1,000,000 even before the release date. According to Voyle Gilmore, Capitol's v.p. over artists & repertoire, "Can't Buy Me Love" had an initial press run of 2,000,00 copies and sold three-quarters of that in the first 10 days.

In addition to Capitol facilities, three outside plants are pressing the coupling of "Can't Buy Me Love" and the flip, "You Can't Do That."

Both sides were written by two of the Beatles, John Lennon and Paul McCartney during their stay in the U.S. "You Can't Do That" has been included in the Beatles' second LP along with two other hits, "She Loves You" and "Roll Over Beethoven."

Metromedia Ban

Continued from page 1

livered from reps of DuPont and Coca Cola, charging the show was controversial.

Striking back at UAW's assertion that WCBM violated its programming promises to FCC, Metromedia referred to the UAW petition as a "mass of misstatements, innuendo and half-truths."

Metromedia averred it did not "cancel" the program but that contract expired on March 20. Charging UAW with attempting to embroil the commission in censorship, Metromedia said it would not allow any sponsor—labor or management—to use WCBM "as an instrument to advance its parochial views" without airing contrasting opinions.

Wha' Hoppens If Rain

Continued from page 2

the fairgoing public. Linen reiterated the importance of such a service.

Of course, there will be lots of unresolved questions. One of the strips demonstrating the operation stated that these pillars of wisdom would be to provide information of all types and it stated specifically that it would give weather forecasts. That's something that will have to be considered in a calmer atmosphere. A prediction of imminent showers might provide a stampede.

Sue Amacker new manager of the Fine Arts, Dallas. She was assistant manager of the Fine Arts, Denton, Tex. Her assistant manager here is Jim Wilson, promoted from the Capri in Dallas. Houses are of Trans-Texas Theatres circuit.

LBJ's Wit

Continued from page 2

but didn't risk humor in public until a few years ago. The more he has done it, the more his delivery has improved. The verdict at the Thursday night (2) photographers' dinner was that LBJ is in the Bob Hope class in comedy.

Hope was in top form and had a White House wattage crack, too. "I was invited to spend the night in the White House but can't do it; I don't have a flashlight," he gagged.

On the afternoon before the dinner, President and Mrs. Johnson had all the entertainers in the White House for a complete tour, including all the rooms in the living quarters. President Johnson was the guide, even taking them into his bedroom for a look at where he sleeps.

Mrs. Johnson served the performers coffee. Few people, in or out of show business, have been entertained on the second floor.

Besides Hope, the cast included the Jane Russell-Connie Haines-Beryl Davis Trio, Leslie Uggams and the dance team of Lowman & Lawrence.

Shows at banquets attended by a President are normally held to 45 minutes or less. This one ran almost an hour and a half.

With the Charles Cliff Orchestra turning in a fine job all evening, Leslie Uggams opened the show with some high charged numbers like "Rock-a-Bye My Baby," which overtaxed the strength of her voice. She had one appropriate tune in the performance before the President, "He's Got the Whole World in his Hands."

Lowman & Lawrence have much style and originality in their modern dance routines. They clicked fine in a number with a medley of "West Side Story" tunes as the accompaniment.

Miss Russell, Haines and Davis drew ovations from the crowd (largely male) with some spirited spirituals trio singing and a solo by each. Miss Russell was smash in a red spotlight pounding out "Mack the Knife."

Hope sang one number with them.

The Motion Picture Assn. arranged for the talent. Joel Margolis staged the show.

Taped Bout

Continued from page 1

5 P.M. will beam directly to London where a tape will be made for U.S. telecast. A "back-up" tape will also be made at the fight site (Stockholm or Goteborg) and flown over to U.S. as a protective measure.

Machen gets 30% of the anchilliary action (primarily tv coin) which his manager Walter Minskoff estimates will be worth some $60,000. Word from fight's promoter Al Bolan is that Patterson's tv take will be about the same as Machen's though his basic guarantee is more. Bolan, incidentally, stated that the final terms for the Fourt Network to beam fight had not been shaped and that present committment hinges on a "handshake" agreement.

Johnson, who asserts that 90% of the nation's sets will be within range of fight signal, says that station charges will be computed on a percentage of the regular network rate. Web prexy John Vrba is presently at the National Assn. of Broadcasters Convention in Chicago lining up stations.

World's Fair Biz

Continued from page 1

be had from the following figures: A hotel Saturday night was 47% occupied, 30% on Sunday; B hotel, 46 and 60; C hotel 72 and 62; D hotel, 68 and 60; E hotel 53% Sat. and 46% Sun.; F hotel 30 and 45; G hotel, 71 and 74; H hotel, 64 and 60%; I hotel 57 and 79% on Sat. and Sun. (Obviously, the actual names are skipped here.)

A mass popular tourist hotel was 76%; last year it was 100%. The motor inns, however, are doing 80-90% of occupancy capacity.

Last year, at least, they weren't waiting for the fair to open so the Easter business was much better.

OBITUARIES

WILBUR MACK

Wilbur Mack, 91, oldtime vaudevillian who played the major circuits as member of team of Mack & Walker and for years appeared on the screen, died in Hollywood, March 13. (Not to be confused with playwright Willard Mack, deceased 1934.) One of the oldest film extras, which he became after a long period as a comedian and character man, he retired several years ago.

But at the age of 90 Mack still was playing golf and remained a dapper dresser, one of his trademarks when he was appearing in vaude with his then-wife, Nella (Walker), latter now a screen actress.

Launching his career as a blackface comedian, he became a featured player in a repertoire company at 19. He organized, managed and acted in his own dramatic stock company, with which he toured for four years. He also wrote a vaude sketch tabbed "Flirtation," which he presented over the Keith-Orpheum circuit for several years.

When talkies started, Mack followed the exodus of many variety artists from the older medium and started in films in 1928. He first appeared at Warner Bros. in "Honky Tonk." While at WB he did such other films as "The Argyle Case"; at Metro he was seen in "The Girl Said No" and "Remote Control"; at Fox Films, "Annabella" and "Up the River." He was active until 1959 when he began to take only occasional film assignments.

Surviving are his wife, actress Gertrude Purdy, and a sister.

FRANK A. BURT

Frank A. Burt, 82, retired vaudeville comedian who worked with his wife as Burt & Rosedale, died April 3 in Brooklyn. Born Augustus Berek, he changed his name when he went on the stage at 16 as a dancer.

Burt later became a Dutch comic and added a flute as well as other instruments to his act. He met Myrtle McKinley, a Coast Florodora girl, and they were wed when he was 21. Their adventures were described in "Mother Wore Tights," a book by their daughter, Mrs. Miriam Young.

A film version of the tome, starring Betty Grable and Dan Dailey, was released by 20th-Fox in 1947. Shortly after her marriage, Mrs. Burt retired to rear a family but was recalled to the act to fill a vacancy.

Burt & Rosedale toured the Keith, Loew's and Pantages circuits as well as playing the Palace, N.Y. Burt also appeared in the Shubert musical, "Facts & Figures." When vaude started to fade, he became a refrigeration salesman.

Besides his wife, also surviving are another daughter and three grandchildren.

ELAINE ROSSLYN

Elaine Rosslyn, femme half of the former vaude duo of Plant & Rosslyn, long on the U.K. circuits, died recently in Blackpool, Eng. She was a member of the "Rockets" company at the London Palladium when she first met her husband, actor Jimmy Plant.

Pair toured the U.K., and also South Africa and Australia. In later years, after her husband became foil to comedian Dave Willis in Scotland, Miss Rosslyn retired from show biz, and, with her husband, managed a hostelry, the Grosvenor Hotel, w.k. to the show biz fraternity, in Blackpool, Eng.

Survived by her husband, and two daughters, Pamela and Gay, both former actresses. Pamela is wife of actor Larry Noble.

EDWARD VAN SLOAN

Edward Van Sloan, 82, stage and screen actor who launched his career in 1910 in "Under the Greenwood Tree," died March 6 in his home town of San Francisco, where he retired in 1946. Prior to many years on the Broadway stage, he appeared in stock in Canada and New Jersey.

Van Sloan went to Hollywood in the early '30s, and was seen in more than 50 films. Among them were "Dracula," "Frankenstein," "The Mummy," "The Death Kiss," and the "Man Who Reclaimed His Head." His last picture was Columbia's "Betty Coed" in 1946.

Sister survives.

CLAIRE M. ANDERSON

Claire Mathes Anderson, 68, former Mack Sennett bathing beauty and silent screen leading lady, died March 23 in Venice, Cal. She got her break shortly after World War I when an actress in a Sennett comedy refused to enter a lion's cage and the producer placed her under contract when she undertook the assignment.

Following Miss Anderson's tenure with Sennett she was with Fox Films for several years, where she played opposite such stars as Tom Mix and John Gilbert. She retired in 1925.

Brother survives.

WILLIAM SAMUELS

William Samuels, 52, jazz pianist whose recording of "I Cover the Waterfront" sold more than 1,000,000 copies, died March 23 in Minneapolis. He was playing at Minneapolis' Hotel Sheraton Ritz shortly before his death.

When only 17 Samuels was touring midwest cities with his 15-piece band. He was best noted for his own jazz trio. His latest album, "Sing'n Swing'n," was released under the Gaiety label.

His wife and six children survive.

JILL ADAMS

Jill Adams, 41, tap dancer who played the midwest during 1946-53 and since had appeared in shows in Las Vegas, Tahoe and Reno, was killed in a head-on crash near the California-Nevada border March 30 in an accident which claimed the lives of five persons. Most of her midwest tenure was in the Chicago area, where for one year she was at the Frolics, and six months at Helsing's.

At the time of her death, she was a waitress in a Whittier Cal., bowling alley.

BEATRICE MIRANDA

Beatrice Miranda, prima donna of the British National Opera Company from 1900 to the 1930s, died March 19 in Buffalo. She sang soprano leads in "Butterfly," "Tosca" and "Gotterdamrung" in England.

"Upon her retirement in the mid-1930s she directed the Scottish National Opera Company of Edinburgh. At the time of her death, she was residing with her daughter who is head of the Department of Music of the Buffalo Museum of Science.

CHARLES E. ELLIS

Charles E. Ellis, a founding shareholder in radio station CJME, Regina, Sask., when it began in 1959, and a member of the board of directors, died March 18 in Regina. A son, Marshall, is president of the station.

Survived by his wife, son, a sister and two brothers.

JOE TERMINI

Joe Termini, 72, longtime vaude comedian, died March 20 in Miami Beach after a long illness. A pantomimist, he had played 42 engagements at the Palladium, London, as well as dates in some of the top theatres in the U.S.

In show business for about 50 years, Termini entertained extensively on USO-Camp Shows during World War II. He also appeared on the Ed Sullivan and Garry Moore tv shows.

Two sisters survive.

ANGELO L. FILOGRASSO

Angelo L. Filograsso, 67, secretary of Local 750 of the Ticket Sellers Union for more than 30 years, died April 1 in Chicago. He was also treasurer of the National Assn. of Amusement Parks, Pools and Beaches. From 1918 to 1946 he was an advertising and personnel exec with Riverview Amusement Park in Chi.

Wife, three daughters and two brothers survive.

ZACK HURT

Zack Hurt, 62, radio announcer and sports broadcaster who was known as the "Voice of the Fort Worth Cats," died March 31 in Fort Worth after suffering an apparent stroke. He had been in failing health.

Hurt, in the late 1940s and early '50s had a show on the Texas State Network originating from KFJZ, Fort Worth. He was with KFJZ from 1933 until his retirement two years ago.

EZRA J. CRANE

Ezra J. Crane, 62, head of the Maui Publishing Co. and editor of the Maui News for 28 years, died March 29 on Maui island, Hawaii. Publishing company also owns and operates KMVI-TV and KMVI radio.

Crane, born in Honolulu, was a director of the National Editorial Assn.

Wife, son and daughter survive.

JOHN McKERNAN

John McKernan, 49, a Maine broadcaster and newspaper man, died March 20 in Boston, where he had gone to broadcast a basketball tournament.

He had been editor and publisher of the Penobscot Times in Old Town, Me., sports editor of the Bangor (Me.) Daily News and a reporter for the Framingham (Mass.) Evening News.

LEON GOODMAN

Leon Goodman, 54, tv and advertising executive, was killed in an air crash March 21 at Liverpool, Eng. He was chairman of TV Commercials Ltd. and head of Leon Goodman Displays Ltd. of London and Leon Goodman Inc. of America. He was a pioneer of ITV's Advertising Magizine.

His wife also died in the accident.

In Loving Memory

MAURICE ABRAHAMS

April 13, 1931

HENRY PINCUS

Henry Pincus, 63, longtime manager of San Francisco's Larkin Theatre, died March 27 in that city. His father, uncles and brothers had also been theatre managers or publicists for years in the San Francisco Bay area.

His brother, Charles, is manager of the Stage Door, Frisco. A sister also survives.

VLADIMAR GUTERSON

Vladimar (Wally) Guterson, Hollywood music conductor, died there March 28. He was at the Orpheum Theatre, Los Angeles, for years and toured in "Showtime," with Jack Haley and Ella Logan. He also conducted at the Majestic Theatre, N.Y.

His wife and two children survive.

VICTOR G. (VIC) SORRELL

Victor G. (Vic) Sorrell, former Seattle radio executive and announcer who moved to Hawaii in 1939 when doctors told him he had less than a year to live, died in Honolulu April 3.

Sorrell, survived by wife and four children, underwent 34 operations between 1956 and 1961.

BARBARA DALE

Mrs. Barbara Dale, wife of General Artists agent Fred Dale, died of a liver ailment March 31 in Hollywood. She formerly was a film editor at WGN, Chicago.

Two daughters also survive.

JOAN WERNER LAURIE

Joan Werner Laurie, 48, editor of She magazine, was kiled in an air crash March 21 at Liverpool, Eng. A widow, she is survived by two children.

HAROLD KNETTLES

Harold Knettles, 54, sound cutter at Paramount for 29 years, died March 31 in Hollywood. He most recently was with Technicolor, after having been with 20th-Fox following departure from Par.

His, wife father, brother and two sisters survive.

ELSIE L. SMITH

Mrs. A. A. Southwick, 86, who sang and acted in Broadway plays under name of Elsie Linehan Smith, died March 26 in Cleveland. She appeared in "Prince of India," "Pygmalion" and was a leading lady to William Farnum and Dennis O'Sullivan.

Surviving is a son.

NESDON BOOTH

Nesdon Booth, 45, film-tv actor, died of a heart attack in Hollywood March 25. His most recent features were "Damn Yankees" and "Critic's Choice." He had been working in a "Destry" teleseg at the time of his death.

Wife and three children survive.

FRANK MARLOWE

Frank Marlowe, 60, screen-tv actor, died of a heart attack March 30 in Hollywood. He was particularly active in the '30s, when his credits included such films as Fox Films' "Now I'll Tell" and Paramount's "Glass Key."

His wife survives.

WANDA PHILLIPS

Wanda Phillips, 38, former script writer with radio station CKRM, Regina, Sask., died March 16 in Toronto, Ont., where she had been a writer with the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., since 1948.

Mother and a sister survive.

LEYBURN M. McMANNEN

Leyburn M. McMannen, 61, film projectionist, died of lung cancer March 20 in Durham, N.C. He had been seriously ill for past three weeks.

Survivors include sister and several nieces and nephews.

HAROLD PETERS

Harold Peters, born Harold Ginn, pianist and bandleader, was killed in an air crash March 13 at Shoreham, Eng.

He was assistant leader at Butlin's Ocean Hotel, Saltdean, Eng., at the time of his death.

Robert Goldblatt, 80, owner of the Music Hall, a motion picture theatre he opened on Main Street in Tarrytown, N.Y., died March 25 in Tarrytown. In 1910 he established the Electric Theatre, the first film house in White Plains. His son, two daughters and a sister survive.

Leonard Gray, 50, former vaudeville performer, died March 28 in Newport Beach, Calif. He was a member of his family's act called "The Six Grays," which played all the major vaude circuits including the Palace Theatre. His wife and five sisters survive.

Floyd Wyatt, 52, city manager for Fox West Coast Theatres, and manager of the academy theatre, in Inglewood, Calif., died March 28 in Inglewood. His wife and two daughters survive.

James P. Goss, 89, father of television personality Tom Duggan, died March 28 in Chicago. Also surviving are another son and a daughter.

Wife, of Oliver B. Johnston, veepee of Walt Disney Productions, died of a heart atack March 19 en route from Chicago to Hollywood.

Charles S. Cray, 73, owner of the Star Theatre, St. Johnsbury, Vt., died there Feb. 29 after a long illness.

Mother, 80 of Orlandus Wilson, member of the Golden Gate Quartet, died March 19, Chesepeake, Va.

Mother, 74, of Everett E. Everett, nightclub and tv comedian, died March 27 in Revere, Mass.

John (Jack) Heath, 76, Chi ragtime pianist and entertainer for 50 years, died March 3 in that city.

Father of Bruce McClure, revue and tv producer-choreographer, died recently in Glasgow.

Colin Muir, manager of the Ritz Theatre, Linlithgow, Scotland, died recently in Edinburgh.

Vincent O'Brien, 58, manager of Esseldo Cinema, Stockport, Eng., died there recently.

MARRIAGES

Susan Slavin to Larry Moss, New York, March 1. Bride is an actress; he's an actor.

Margaret Laura Cohen to David Immanuel Leinsdorf, April 4, New York. Bride, a sophomore at Sarah Lawrence, is the daughter of Abraham W. Cohen, editor-publisher of Chartcraft Stockmarket Advisory Service, Larchmont, N. Y.; groom, a Columbia senior, is son of Erich Leinsdorf, the conductor, now music-director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Cele Goldsmith to Michael Anthony Lalli, April 4, New York. Bride is an editor at Ziff-Davis; groom is with Crowell-Collier Pub. Co.

Valerie Croucha to James Patton, England, April 4. Bride is a dancer; he's one of the Patton Bros. comedy act.

Eleanor Leith to Ron Barton, Dundee, Scotland, April 3. Bride is a tv folk-singer; he is a cameraman for Grampian Television.

Geraldine Scott to Bill Kerr, Kingston, Eng., March 25. He's an actor.

Marti Webb to Alexander Balfour, London, March 29. Bride is leading lady in the musicomedy, "Half A Sixpence;" he's an actor.

Sheila Devitt to Michael Gilleney, London, April 2. He is production assistant of BBC-TV-drama.

Jackie Knight to Gil Dova, Blackpool, Eng., recently. Bride is a singer; he's a juggler.

Claire McNaughton to Alex Beattie, Paisley, Scotland, March 28. Bride is a dancer.

Angela Langton to Michael Rowlatt, Ewell, Eng., March 31. Both are singers in the BBC-TV "Black and White Minstrel Show."

Sheila Prytherch to Tommy Bruce, Speke, Eng., March 26. He's a singer with the "Stars and Garters" tv show.

Patricia Ann Mulhern to Michael Spodick, New Haven, April 4. He's associated with his father, Robert Spodick, a Connecticut exhibitor.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Lea Ashton, son, Glasgow, March 29. Father is a BBC television director.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Roddick, daughter, Glasgow, Scotland, March 27. Father is a tv announcer and actor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moss, daughter, North Tarrytown, N. Y., March 5. Father is a WQXR, N. Y., announcer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherman, son, New York, March 25. Father is director of WQXR, N. Y., special programs; paternal grandmother is concert pianist Nadia Reisenberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Greenberg, daughter, Brooklyn, March 30. Father is WQXR, N. Y., promotion manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baer, son, Westport, Conn., March 30. Father is host of WMCA, N. Y., "Ed Baer Show."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shumaker, daughter, Columbus, O., April 1. Father is program promotion director of WBNS-TV.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Townsend, son, New York, April 1. Father is a reporter for the N. Y. World-Telegram & Sun; mother is a Long Island Star-Journal scribe.

Shelagh Delaney, daughter, March 4, London. Playwright ("A Taste of Honey," etc.) announced she is the mother of a baby girl, but so far has not announced any marriage or other details.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Shacklett, daughter, April 1, Nashville, Tenn. Mother is Brenda Lee, the Decca disker; father is a Nashville music publisher. Prematurely born (by six weeks) baby weighed 4½ pounds at birth and is in serioous condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lefko, daughter, New York, April 1. Father is son of Morris Lefko, Metro v.p.-general sales manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Shelley, son, New York, April 4. Mother is actress Molly McCarthy; father is a producer with Talent Associates.

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Patterson, son, Indianapolis, March 29. Mother is Julie DeJohn, of DeJohn Sisters singing act.

Mr. and Mrs. Mort Schwartz, daughter, April 3, New York. Mother is tv actress Ruth Franklin; father is a theatrical agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vale, daughter, March 18, New York. Mother is actress-writer Nancy James; father is an actor.

"Reflecting the Voice and Spirit of All Young America"

THE BROTHERS FOUR

Concerts and Television Appearances

April: UNITED STATES • May: JAPAN and FAR EAST • June: ENGLAND and The CONTINENT

Exclusively COLUMBIA RECORDS

Exclusive Representation

ita INTERNATIONAL TALENT ASSOCIATES, INC.

NEW YORK 75 East 55 St. PL 1-3344

BEVERLY HILLS 9538 Brighton Way CR 5-4562

Management MORT LEWIS

FILMS | VIDEO | TV FILMS | RADIO | MUSIC | STAGE

VARIETY

PRICE 35¢

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th Street, New York, N. Y. 10036, by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $15. Single copies, 35 cents.
Second Class Postage Paid at New York, N.Y.
© COPYRIGHT, 1964, BY VARIETY, INC., ALL RIGHTS RESERVED
Vol. 234 No. 8 NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1964 72 PAGES

TENSE SHOWMEN AWAIT FAIR

Oh, To Be in England Now That It's Shakespeare's 400th Anni There

By DICK RICHARDS

London, April 14.

Even to the swans on the River Avon it must by now be evident that the 400th anni of Shakespeare's birth occurs April 23. There will be 117 flags, representing 105 countries, to prove it. World over, 1964 will be remembered as the year of Shakespeare hi-jinkery.

Flouting the old adage that a prophet is without honor in his own country, Britain is falling over backwards to give the event a boost. In fact, there is a slightly jaundiced camp that maintains that, by year's end, even his most stolc fans will have had their bellyful of the Bard.

Naturally, Stratford-on-Avon will be the focal point of the Shakespearehead. The bosses of taverns, caravanserai and "ye olde teashoppes," plus the vendors of souvenirs, are gleefully anticipating bonanza biz. The usual row, inseparable from any big event, is bustin' out all over. This time, the squawks are over the local council's decision to hike the rates of car parking.

Throughout the country a rash of well-meant plays, masques and pageants are planned for even the poorest hamlets. A lot of this will certainly be rubbish, pleasing only to theatrical costumiers. The thought's the thing, however, and everybody wants to get in on the act of raising a toast to Will.

It's even suggested that in London the paltry bust of Shakespeare standing forlornly in Leicester-square Gardens seems to be getting slightly more respectful treatment than usual from the pigeons.

But despite all the folderol, there will apparently be genuine

(Continued on page 70)

A Natural

Internal Revenue Service topper Mortimer M. Caplin is the honored guest at the annual dinner of the advertising, publishing and public relations division of the United Jewish Appeal of Greater New York at the Hotel Americana May 19.

His theme, "Advertising and the Expense Account."

'Foxy' Will Fold 350G-Odd in Red; A 2-Time Loser

The closing next Saturday (18) of "Foxy" at the Ziegfeld Theatre, N. Y., will put the musical in the unusual position of being a two-time loser within a period of less than two years. An original 1962 tryout version, which closed after playing seven weeks at the Dawson City Gold Rush Festival in the Yukon, is believed to have dropped over $400,000. It's expected that the current production reactivated this season for a regular road break-in prior to going into the Ziegfeld, will represent a loss of around $350,000.

The Canadian government is understood to have provided much of the bankroll for the initial presentation, which was produced primarily for the Yukon festival by Broadway producers Robert Whitehead and Stanley Gilkey, in association with Canadian Theatre Exchange Ltd. The presentation at the Ziegfeld, produced by David Merrick, was capitalized at $350,000, with provision for 20% overcall.

Bert Lahr and Larry Blyden, currently costarring in the musical, are repeating the roles they

(Continued on page 70)

WILL IT THRIVE IN NITE HOURS?

By ABEL GREEN

Nobody is rooting more than show biz in general, along with civic proponents and native and transplanted New Yorkers, not to mention the interests most vitally concerned, that the New York World's Fair 1964-65, which opens exactly a week from today, i.e. on Wednesday, April 22, is everything that a "fun fair" should be. Undoubtedly most concerned that the accent will be on "fun," meaning that it will be "an after-6" exposition—as Broadway puts it—is Robert Moses, the president of the fair corporation. "Fun fair" seemingly has been a sensitive phrase with the admittedly dedicated civil servant since a VARIETY story over a year ago echoed some concern, within savvy show biz circles, as to whether or not the reliance on "industrial showmanship" will be the answer.

Everything points to the affirmative. The Big Business Barnums seemingly have insured their industrial shows with more than sufficient showmanship as part of the shill. The "products" exhibits are all there at the end of the trail, following the sundry "show" and

(Continued on page 70)

7-Arts & Spiegel In on Scot Toll

London, April 14.

Seven Arts and Sam Spiegel's Horizon Pictures are now revealed as substantial stockholders in Caledonian Television Ltd., the company which has been awarded a franchise to run a payvision service in Scotland. The amount of the investment, however, has not, as yet, been disclosed.

The 7A holding is in the name of Seven Arts Productions Ltd., the British outfit which is directly linked with the Canadian organization. Norman Katz is the company's nominee on the board, with Kenneth Hyman as an alternative delegate. Irwin Margulies is the board representative for Horizon Pictures.

Additionally, Katz, Margulies and Hyman have personal holdings in the company, of which labor leader Sir Tom O'Brien is chairman and Desmond Hershfield is managing director. It is understood that 7A and Horizon have equal holdings in the outfit.

Caledonian TV, in common with the other four payvision companies, expects to receive its license to operate from the Postmaster General within the coming month, and provided there are no last-minute obstacles, they all aim to start their piped service in the fall of this year.

Catholic Bishops' Committee Fears H'wood 'Anything Goes' Onslaught

By LESLIE CARPENTER

Washington, April 14.

A warning that "powerful factions in Hollywood" are trying to revive the "anything goes" film policy of pre-code days was issued Tuesday (14) by a Roman Catholic Bishops' Committee.

The Motion Picture, Radio and Television Committee did have some praise for the U.S. film industry averring a "commendable" 85% of Hollywood pictures received some form of Legion of Decency approval. Statement marked the Legion's 30th anni.

In its downbeat reference to the Hollywood "factions," the committee said, "If these producers were to have their way, nudity and various forms of voyeurism would become standard elements for film treatment."

But the committee also pointed direly to what it called "a new and far more serious problem . . . the growing tendency on the part of some filmmakers to challenge the Judaeo-Christian vision of man."

The trend in "overtly un-Christian and anti-Christian themes" was more discernable in foreign and indie productions. "Nevertheless," the committee averred, "in Hollywood there are already enough signs to justify concern."

The committee rapped the "covert attempts to condone and even promote" premarital sex as an example of the trend. Terming these productions "fundamentally dishonest in their manner of presen-

(Continued on page 70)

Loew's Greenland

George Jessel claims a record for the longest jump to play a benefit—Harry S. Truman's birthday in Washington—come May 8.

From May 4-8 he will be making his fourth foray to Thule, the U.S. 8th Air Force base near the North Pole, and flies back the same day to be in the capital to toastmaster the dinner at the Hotel Mayflower for the former President's 80th birthday.

Fair's Advance Guard Already Perking Cafes

The N. Y. World's Fair has already brought some benefit to the beleaguered Gotham niteries. Many coming into the city in advance of the fair's opening has perked up nitery trade considerably. Some top exhibitors are running previews and letting dealers and others look into the Flushing exhibit in advance of the April 22 opening. These parties have helped considerably.

The Auto Show at the Coliseum last week also contributed a lot of parties.

The increase at this time heightens the feeling that the Fair will bring visitors and will help. Some cafe ops are not completely sold as to how many Fairgoers will patronize cabarets at night after trudging around Flushing, but meanwhile none is quarreling with the biz pickup. Julie London, at the Americana, for example, has been doing some of the best business of the year in that inn. There were approximately $13,500 in covers last week and, for the sec-

(Continued on page 58)

Churchill Okays Disking His Speeches for Charity

Sir Winston Churchill has authorized a limited run of the Colpix album of his speeches on condition that the record company contribute to the "Save The Children Fund" and "Freedom From Hunger Campaign," both of which were designated by the former British Prime Minister.

Churchill has explicitly retained copyright ownership of the speeches in the LP titled, "Sir Winston Churchill, First Honorary Citizen of The United States."

Attorney Solomon Granett represented Churchill in the negotiations with Colpix.

NBC's 'Biggest Show In History': New York World's Fair Opening

The NBC-TV 90-minute special now in production on that 646-acre set called the New York World's Fair is being billed as the "single, largest show in the history of television" by the network's veepee in charge of special programs Ed Friendly.

The star-studded and technically-loaded show, scheduled for the Fair's opening day, Wednesday, April 22, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., is estimated to be costing between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 for time and production. Sponsor U.S. Steel, via BBDO agency, is, in addition to bankrolling, busily shooting special blurbs on location for the costly spread.

While allowing that coverage of a five-day political convention may be a bigger tv event, Friendly points out that his P. T. Barnum billing for the Fair extravaganza is based on its being an entertainment rather than news or documentary vehicle. It's impossible at this time to say how many per-

(Continued on page 71)

Chi's Ofay AFM Local Chides Kenin for His '66 Integration Delay

Chicago, April 14.

Execs of Local 10, Chicago Federation of Musicians, are doing a not-too-slow burn over the action of national AFM prexy Herman Kenin in putting off until 1966 the merger of the big Chi local and its all-Negro counterpart Local 208.

The Kenin "plan" comes after six months of enforced negotiations between the two Chi locals that started last year after 100 members of the Negro local marched to Local 10 to sign up amid much ballyhoo. The move was reportedly made at instigation of the national h.q.

The Local 10 negotiators are reportedly angry at Kenin to a man. Prexy Barney Richards has publicly accused the national topper of "unwarranted foot-dragging." One

(Continued on page 52)

Ex-Ruby Stripper Jada A Mpls. Pic & Cafe 'Star'

Minneapolis, April 14.

Jack Ruby's shooting of Lee Oswald has catapulted a stripteaser tagged Jada from amusement world nonentity to local entertainment prominence. She was working at Ruby's Dallas nitery at the time he killed Oswald and on the strength of that fact was booked into Augie's here as the latter's floor show headliner.

While in her first Augie's week the local El Lago, a theatre with a sexy film policy, opened "Naughty Dallas" (Indie) as its twin bill topper and its newspaper ads billed Jada as the star.

Sellers' Illness Spotlights Uniqueness Of U.S. Acceptance, Buildup By UA

British actor Peter Sellers' recent serious heart attack in Hollywood has not only brought a number of necessary changes of plans for United Artists. There have been two significant developments which the illness, which is no longer critical, has tended to emphasize. (1) Seldom has the American public so sympathetically followed the bedside news on a British player and (2) seldom nowadays does any foreign star get such a build-up by American showmen as that accorded Sellers by UA.

Many British players have, of course, become great favorites in the past. Ronald Colman for one. Rex Harrison, Greer Garson, Deborah Kerr and David Niven for others. And so on. But the great buildups were in the era of studio exclusivity, when the individual company stood to reap solely the harvest of popularity. Sellers' situation is virtually unique because it lies wholly within modern trade conditions.

Yank audiences have greatly admired a number of British players, notably Harrison, Sir Alec

(Continued on page 69)

Delon, Having Won Spurs In Italy, Now Top Male Money Star in France

Paris, April 14.

After Brigitte Bardot, it is generally conceded that Alain Delon is the second French film star name with the biggest pull abroad. His take per pic is now only second to Miss Bardot. And at 28, he is already his own producer.

On the set of his latest pic "La Mort du Loup," which his own company Delbeau, formed with manager Georges Beaume, coproduces with Metro-bankrolled company Cipra, Delon points up how it all happened. The title means "Death of a Wolf" and concerns the recent Algerian War.

Delon landed coveted parts in Luchino Visconti's "Rocco and His Brothers," Rene Clement's "Purple Noon" and Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Eclipse," all made in Italy. These got him known in arty houses around the world and brought him to the attention of French producers.

After "Any Number Can Win," by the local Cipra, which turned out to be a bonanza in the foreign field, he was in. In fact, he was given rights to Japan and South America in lieu of a lesser pay. He turned it into a lucrative swap by selling it for $125,000 in Japan alone. Soon getting from $180,000 to $200,000 a pic, more than vet Jean Gabin or Jeanne Moreau, he formed his present company. Delon now feels that he is a pro.

Pola Negri's H'wood Base

San Antonio, April 14.

Pola Negri says she is planning to return to make her home in Hollywood and will attempt a new full time career in films. She staged a comeback in Walt Disney's "The Moonspinners."

Miss Negri is slated to sell the home she inherited here from her friend, Margaret West, and move to Hollywood.

Widow Republishing A. J. Balaban's Memoirs, Proceeds to Show Biz

Mrs. A. J. (Carrie) Balaban, widow of the former managing director of the late Roxy Theatre, N.Y., and cofounders of the Balaban & Katz theatre circuit, is having her late husband's memoirs "Continuous Performances," reedited for publication into a memorial edition.

Mrs. Balaban, now engaged in updating the book which she originally worked on with her husband, plans to republish the book in Geneva in a limited edition. Only 5,000 copies will be printed. Half of them will go into a cloth edition to sell for $5 and the other half into a paperback at $1.95. Proceeds will go to the various actor guilds. According to Mrs. Balaban, her husband always felt that he owned much to the little actor who helped him make good. This is one way of showing his appreciation.

Book was originally published by Putnam in 1942, but because of the war was unable to carry out certain contractual commitments, and therefore copyright reverted to her.

Mrs. Balaban also disclosed that she is also revamping her pamphlet, "What You Will See in Israel," for republication in Geneva. She'll print 10,000 copies with the Sohpie Tucker Playground in Israel as beneficiary. She lives part of the time in Switzerland and she'll return there around June 1.

Chinese Propaganda

Washington, April 14.

Red Chinese propaganda efforts —film and television—boomed with new intensity last year, according to the U.S. Information Agency.

The Communist Chinese overseas broadcasting hit a new high of 898 hours weekly with 509 hours beamed to the Far East.

On the film front, Peking produced nine full-length documentaries and 30 short subjects which have been shown in 65 countries on five continents.

PAUL ANKA

I've visited 26 countries these past 12 months and though it's been said before I feel it's important to say again: whether it's a concert hall, theatre, or auditorium, once the music starts all language and customs barriers evaporate. Love of music is a clear indication that all people are united in one world.

Levine Musical For Broadway With Susskind

Joseph E. Levine has made a deal for the production of a Broadway musical next season to be coproduced with David Susskind and his partner Daniel Melnick. Details of the project are unavailable at present, none of the participants wishing to do much talking prior to a press parlay slated for later this week.

Levine has made one stab at Broadway, coproducing Peter Ustinov's "Photo Finish" a couple of seasons back. He also not long ago became the principal angel behind the Establishment Theatre Co., an off-Broadway project spearheaded by Sybil Burton, Peter Cook and Ivor David Balding. The Embassy Pictures prez has often commented that he was interested in extending his Broadway activity.

Susskind has been a Broadway producer on a couple of occasions, including "Roshomon" and others. Neither has done a musical before. The issue of film rights is a major consideration and it is figured that Embassy will figure strongly in this.

No Place Like New Masquers Home

Hollywood, April 14.

Masquers Club, formed here 40 years ago with a charter membership composed mostly of New York Lambs and in present premises for 35 years, will erect a new clubhouse. Plans call for new structure to include 40 apartment units, a theatre, dining rooms, library, athletic facilities and other club works.

Present location, on North Sycamore half a block above Hollywood Blvd., and valued at about $150,000, will be sold. Harlequin Frank Faylen has appointed a ways and means committee and five working committees to submit a master plan. New location hasn't yet been decided upon nor cost of upcoming project.

Jay Carmody to Pasture

Washington, April 14.

Jay Carmody, longtime drama and film critic of the Washington Evening Star, will retire May 1. Succeeding him will be associate drama editor Harry MacArthur.

Carmody, who has been reviewing for the Star since 1933, will be feted at a luncheon April 24 at the National Press Club. Loew's area manager Orville Crouch is arranging the $7.50 per affair with proceeds going to the Catholic Univ. Theatre Building fund.

The Friday roastbeef lunch has been given a special dispensation by the Archbishop of Washington.

Critics Richard Coe of the Post and James O'Neill of the News lauded Carmody, dean of the D.C. reviewing corps, in their columns.

Calls Actors Guild Logic Faulty; Will Speed, Not Slow, 'Runaway' Pix

Hollywood, April 14.

Producer William Perlberg aims a broadside at backing by the Screen Actors Guild of a new U.S. Labor Dept. directive which will make importation of foreign thesps for American pix difficult. Same view, in essence, was expressed by director Mark Robson. Both are readying features at 20th-Fox.

Said Perlberg, "It will have just the opposite effect of what the Guild has in mind. Instead of bringing more production back here it will drive it away. It will tend to increase 'runaway' instead of lessening it."

Robson, now prepping "Von Ryan's Express," observed that ruling could present "very serious problems to production companies which require foreign actors." His film, he notes calls for many Italian and German thesps. Plan however is still to lense exteriors in Italy and bring cast back here for interiors. He deems it unlikely that new ruling will force them to stay overseas for interiors, averring "I trust that the problem will be worked out satisfactorily. I hope that good sense and good judgment will prevail."

Perlberg says he got in "just under the wire" with German actor Werner Peters for the Perl-

(Continued on page 71)

Oscar's Top Rating

A special Nielsen for the New York area gave ABC's Monday night Oscarcast a 52.4 rating for a 75.3 share of audience.

Web's own projection of this arrives at a national tune in of approximately 30,000,000 homes and a suggested viewership of 70,000,000 persons.

Interracial 'Showboat' Plays to Segregated Audiences in So. Afr.

Cape Town, April 14.

The Alhambra here is licensed for white audiences only, and, by special permission, performances are arranged for non-whites, but when the Johannesburg Dramatic Society staged "Showboat" the cast was mixed for the first time on this stage but the audience was still segregated. The cast numbered 100 of which 44 were members of a non-white theatrical and cultural organization called Eoan Group which is trained by Dr. Joseph Manca.

The production was a great hit and one of the biggest draws next to "My Fair Lady." Inia Te Wiata returned from the Royal Opera House, London, and Sadler's Wells, after his success in "Showboat" in Johannesburg, and took the part of Joe. His interpretation of "Old Man River" forced repeated encores.

Actor-Son of Red Lewis Rues Vince Sheean Tome

Toronto, April 14.

Actor Michael Lewis, playing King Henry VIII in "A Man for All Seasons," doesn't think highly of Vincent Sheean's biography, "Dorothy and Red," written about the married life of his parents. Actor is son of Nobel prize winning novelist Sinclair Lewis and political journalist Dorothy Thompson.

"Sheean is the last man on earth able to report objectively on anything," said Lewis, almost 34. "Mr. Sheean is very, and I hate to use the term, neurotic. He can't remain aloof from his subjects." Lewis admitted he has read only snatches of the book, finding it too embarrassing to totally read.

A major Lewis complaint is that Sheean pictured himself being the normal bystander in the book. "That wasn't the case at all. He wasn't just a pleasant young man on the edge of things. He was a kook. He was very kookish." Lewis said that Sheean considered his mother to be a combination big sister and mother confessor. "And I think his reasons for writing the book were very unfortunate."

Natalie Kalmus Alone, At 84, in Rosindale Hospital Near Boston

Boston, April 14.

Natalie Kalmus of Technicolor fame lies in Roslindale General Hospital where she celebrated her 84th birthday Wed. (8) with no one on hand to share her birthday cake except the corps of sympathetic nurses who presented it to her.

Discovered in the hospital, where she has been a patient for the last two years, by Mary X. Sullivan, former drama and film editor of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, now a bylined reported and feature writer on the Record American, the cofounder of Technicolor "wept tears of gratitude," Miss Sullivan reported when the cake was wheeled in.

Mrs. Kalmus after divorce from the late Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, founder of the color process, remained as color director fo Technicolor at a salary of $32,000 plus $7,500 alimony. She still receives income from the company.

But, Miss Sullivan told the VARIETY rep here, "There were no cards, no messages, no calls from her many friends and onetime associates in the film business. Perhaps they don't know where she is, and perhaps a story in VARIETY will bring forth some cards and messages for her."

4/15

VARIETY

Subscription Order Form

Enclosed find check for $.....

Please send VARIETY for ☐ One Year ☐ Two Years ☐ Three Years

To .....
(Please Print Name)

Street .....

City..... Zone.... State.....

Regular Subscription Rates

One Year—$15.00 Two Years—$28.00

Three Years—$39.00

Canada and Foreign—$1 Additional Per Year

VARIETY Inc.

154 West 46th Street New York, N. Y. 10036

VARIETY

Trade Mark Registered

FOUNDED 1905 by SIME SILVERMAN; Published Weekly by VARIETY, INC.

Syd Silverman, President
154 West 46th St., New York, N. Y. 10036 JUdson 2-2700
Hollywood, Calif. 90028
6404 Sunset Boulevard, HOllywood 9-1141
Washington, D. C. 20004
784 National Press Building, STerling 3-5445
Chicago, Ill. 60611
400 No. Michigan Ave., DElaware 7-4984

London, S.W.1
49 St. James's Street, Piccadilly, HYde Park 4561-2-3
SUBSCRIPTION Annual, $15; Foreign, $16; Single Copies, 35 Cents

ABEL GREEN, Editor

Volume 234 120 No. 8

INDEX

Bills	60	Music	47
Casting	66	New Acts	60
Chatter	68	Night Club Reviews	59
Film Reviews	6	Obituaries	60
Ice Show Review	58	Pictures	3
Inside Legit	64	Radio	26
Inside Music	51	Record Reviews	48
Inside Pictures	13	Frank Scully	67
Inside Radio-TV	41	Television	26
International	23	Television Reviews	35
Legitimate	61	TV Film	31
Literati	67	Vaudeville	53
		Wall Street	18

DAILY VARIETY
(Published in Hollywood by Daily Variety, Ltd.)
$20 a year $25 Foreign.

'SUBSIDY': THREE-PENNY OPUS

Sad Is the Misfit Son in Film Biz

Hollywood, April 14.

Addressing the Society of Motion Picture & Television Engineers here last week producer William Dozier touched upon the failure of the film industry, as such, to make provision for future manpower. He deplored the reliance upon bright sons and nephews and in-laws. Not only didn't it work out on occasion but it created needless distress. Said Dozier: "How many times have we all witnessed the tragic spectacle of a successful father or uncle or father-in-law in our business being determined his son, nephew or son-in-law will be an equally smashing success? Maybe the son, nephew or son-in-law would have made a great surgeon or stock broker or lawyer but instead he has been pushed, prodded and forced-fed in a desperate effort to make him a great producer or executive, resulting only in the father or uncle resenting everyone else because his son or nephew just hasn't got what it takes, and the son or nephew winding up a miserable, unhappy misfit."

Opinion of Craft Leaders Favors, Some Showmen Cautious On, 'Subsidy'

By MICHAEL FESSIER Jr.

Hollywood, April 14.

Tight secrecy prevails still as to the proposed "American Eady Plan" (see separate story) but an informal canvass of trade views here by VARIETY finds everybody liking the proposal of raising production subsidy funds by collecting "pennies" on every ticket sold. This might roll up something like $100,000,000. Precautionary measures would assure all of its serving feature production in the United States, and with American union labor. A 10% leeway for foreign locales, if justfied, might be sanctioned in given cases.

Comments elicited as to proposed subsidy ranged from the strongly positive comment by American International Pictures prexy James H. Nicholson to the qualified—until he knows more details firsthand—observation of director-producer Robert Aldrich.

"It can do a lot towards helping Hollywood regain the lead in production," Nicholson declared.

"How much and how soon?," asked Aldrich, adding, "I have to be a little suspicious if the Motion Picture Association is behind it." However, he asserted that a plan along the lines of an admission ticket surcharge to be pooled for production, is a "wonderful idea" —on the face of it.

Of the "about-timers," Herb Aller, biz rep of Cameraman's IATSE Local 659, led the parade. "I'm glad to see an awakening on the part of employers to realize we'll

(Continued on page 18)

Jonas Mekas' Two Trials

Trial dates on two "obscene" films (i.e. homosexual), originally set for April 6 and 13 and have been rescheduled for May 12 and 18. First date is case on "Chant D'Amour," Jean Genet film for which Jonas Mekas was arrested on March 13.

Second is case of "Flaming Creatures" for which Mekas had been arrested a week earlier. Trials will be held in N.Y. Criminal Court.

12 Unions, Guilds Form East Coast Joint Council

Following a round of discussions, a group of 12 eastern film production unions and guilds met last Monday (13) in New York and established an organization to be known as the Joint Council of Motion Picture Production Unions.

The group also adopted a six-point program aimed at encouraging eastern production, elimination of jurisdictional labor disputes and removal of on-job irritants. Another purpose is to combat non-union film production.

Steve D'Injillo, exec secretary of the East Coast Motion Picture Council, a group of IATSE film locals which first suggested formation of the new body, and business manager of projectionsts Local 306, was elected president of the

(Continued on page 20)

MPAA PROMOTES A YANK 'EADY'

By THOMAS M. PRYOR

Hollywood, April 14.

Studio executives and labor and talent union reps are studying a plan for a proposed motion picture production subsidy, outlined at a meeting held in offices here of the Assn. of Motion Picture and Television Producers. Printed copies of the proposal were distributed to about 25 persons who attended, all sworn to secrecy.

Subsidy plan, not unlike Britain's Eeady Plan in some respects, calls for a surcharge of a few cents, less than five apparently, per ticket on admissions. Whether or not the proposal has been submitted on an exploratory basis as yet to the Federal Government is unknown, but it's anticipated that in any event the blessings of Congress would be required.

Idea of a subsidy has been under consideration for more than a year, and it's believed to have drawn nods of approval from the two big exhib orgs, Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn. of Motion Picture Exhibitors.

The current proposal differs importantly from suggestions that were being considered a few years ago when the first serious thought was being given to a possible U.S. film production subsidy. At that time, the idea was that a certain percentage of the Federal Tax collected at film houses would be channeled into a special production fund. Now, however, the subsidy fund would be tacked on and the public would pay it without involving the 10% Federal tax now imposed on theatre admission over $1.

Furthermore, it's reasoned that no price-fixing charge could be levelled in the case of the plan now under consideration because varying admish scales would continue. There's no law against a theatre raising prices, any more than there is against a merchant—providing no secret "conspiracy" exists. Should the subsidy plan be approved, it would not be any secret and the funds would be used only for qualified pictures to be produced in the United States and thus provide more employment for U. S. workers.

It's believed that Spyros P. Skouras, board chairman of 20th-Fox, is a prime-mover behind the subsidy plan. Skouras, several

(Continued on page 20)

Spain, and Paramount, 'Simpatico' To Bronston's Future Films, Also Studio

Despite his present impasse with Pierre S. DuPont, III, Samuel Bronston's relationship with Paramount Pictures with regard to future productions remains unchanged, prez Barney Balaban noted last week. The Madrid-based showman has pacts to make two more pix for Par. These contracts still stand. Paramount is adopting a wait and see attitude as to their starting, and so on.

Films in prospect are (1) "Nightrunners of Bengal" and (2) "Suez." Actually, construction had begun on "Nightrunners" at the time of the trusteeship action by Pierre S. DuPont III. The producer also has pacts with Cinerama for the production of "Brave New World" and "Paris 1900" and Cinerama and Par are sharing the release of the completed "Circus World," Cinerama handling the roadshowing and Par the general release in the U.S.

Bronston has expressed himself again as having definite plans to resume production by this summer, although he hasn't yet decided which pic will roll first. He has commented that perhaps two films may be in the works within the next few months. Balaban said that Par is waiting to see how Bronston's financial situation fares. "When" is the unanswered question.

Aside from the interest of a couple of companies in a return to production by Bronston, the Spanish government is also understood to be concerned. The producer had a clear and appreciated effect on the local economy via his employment at "generous" salaries for Spain of many craftsmen. Also there is the matter of the planned construction of a new $15,000,000 studio on the plains of Las Matas outside Madrid which was to have been a major employment impetus. Bronston has steadfastly asserted that his present in-town studio will not be put on the block and that his plans for the new one continue. The Spanish government hopes so.

At the moment, however, the producer still has the trusteeship to content with. He commented last week that he doesn't "recognize" the arrangement but it's there all the same. It is understood that some legal action regarding the setup is planned by Bronston and his attorney Louis Nizer but, natch, neither is commenting on that subject until a move is actually made.

Pass 'Christine Keeler'

Sydney, April 14.

Australia's censors have given the greenlight to "The Christine Keeler Story," made in Denmark, on an "Adults Only" basis. Censors clipped the pic to a running time of 60 minutes.

Pic will probably go into art houses via indie interests.

See Half-Edited 'Greatest Story,' UA Sanguine

Several United Artists officials journeyed to California last week to get a "glimpse" at the first lengthy assembledge of footage for George Stevens' Bible saga, "Greatest Story Ever Told." Although they only saw about half of the eventual film, they returned to New York breathing considerably more serenely. UA simply won't discuss the cost. Estimates have run to $20,000,000.

The viewing party included prez Arthur Krim, board chairman Robert Benjamin, exec v.p. Arnold Picker and v.p. David Picker. Also on hand was Cinerama prez William Forman. The Cinerama chief was particularly interested since Stevens has yet to make a decision as to what process the pic will eventually be made in. Both the possibility of a three-panel or a single lens Cinerama print has been discussed, as well as just 70m ultra panavision, in which it was lensed.

At any rate, the returning execs were turning on the enthusiasm valves. A statement was forthcoming from UA which predicted that "Story" will be viewed by "more people throughout the world for a longer period of time than has been true of any other pic yet made." A few weeks back a pub exec, in discussing the film for the press, commented that "it will be running as long as there is a UA." This provoked some comment about the possible necessity of such a run considering the cost but that was allowed to pass.

Anyway, the UA brass is now out to quell industry qualms about "Story", related to doubts about more Biblicals. They are also calming themselves in the process. The film is presently slated to open in October.

COMEDY ABOUT DEATH AND MADE IN BOSTON

Boston, April 14.

General Films Inc. plans a 90-minute feature film, "The Playground" to be filmed in Boston this summer. Producer is Richard Hilliard. All local financing (amount kept secret) is proposed.

Hilliard, who came to Boston in 1962 as a producer for WGBH-TV, Channel 2, educational station, will detail project at press confab at Parker House today (Tues.). Hilliard has been prexy of General Films Inc. for eight years, and has been involved in five feature films, all of which are in theatrical distribution.

"The Playground" is called a comedy about death.

CLEVELAND JURY VIEW: 'PROMISES' IS OBSCENE

Cleveland, Apjril 14.

"Promises, Promises," the Jayne Mansfield film, was officially declared by a Cleveland jury and judge to be obscene—at least in this area.

Common Pleas Judge Hugh Corrigan, who heard the case last week, turned down request by Bexley Art Theatres Inc. for an injunction against East Cleveland officials. Latter had banned the film shown at the Continental Art Theatre after complaints that "Promises, Promises" violated community standards.

Jury of nine men and three women, who viewed the picture, had previously found it obscene and Judge Corrigan agreed with them in final hearing.

"Producers and directors of this movie," he said, "found it necessary to include three scenes in which Mansfield displayed fully her elephantine charms, accompanied by writhings, squirmings and gyrations. Several jurors said, after the trial, that they summarized their opinions of the sex-boiler in two words: "It smells."

Sheldon Berns, attorney who defended it and the Bexley Art Theatre Inc., charged that the jury was not equipped to make an obscenity judgment, but lost the battle. East Cleveland's assistant law director, Donald Barklay, said he considered the jury finding as a guide line for future action by enforcement officials against "profit-hungry exhibitors" who violate "standards of decency."

Average So Far of $1,000,000 A Week: '64 Shapes As UA's Biggest O'seas Year

United Artists is headed for its biggest overseas year. For the past 14 weeks the company has been averaging $1,000,000 a week in foreign film rental meaning earnings of over $14,000,000 abroad since the start of 1964. This is a record for UA, running ahead of the previous high by more than a couple million dollars.

This score is being registered mainly by 10 features. Included among them is "West Side Story" which is in its 111th week in Paris and has carded some other super runs like 71 weeks in Barcelona, where it is holding. Also in the long run groove is "Irma La Douce," which is repeating its U.S. staying power demonstration abroad. The pic is in its 28th week in W. Germany and is showing similar stamina in situations all over Europe.

Another hefty contributor is "From Russia With Love," which has recently opened in New York setting "showcase" records but which has been showing in the U.K. and elsewhere abroad for several months. It is running two to three times ahead of "Dr. No," the first James Bond pic and a film which was a substantial success. Then there's "Great Escape," another large grosser in the U.S., which has been scoring well in the U.K. and in S.E. Asia and is playing second and third runs in Paris still.

"Tom Jones," UA's hotsy pic in the States, is also mopping abroad, performing in the same manner as "Irma" also, "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" is showing strength in foreign marts, repeating its strong showing stateside. Also in on the action is "Kings of the Sun," a big outdoor adventure yarn which didn't exactly clean up at Christmas time for UA in the U.S. but which is doing nicely overseas as do most epics. "Johnny Cool," another less than stirring performer here, is drawing some attention abroad. The gangster opus is particularly strong in France.

There are other factors besides the pix themselves that are helping UA to its new fiscal position overseas. The product is being booked and handled in a way which is providing maximum loot and the company is spending to promote. During Easter week, for example, there were five UA pix playing firstrun engagements in 38 Paris theatres. Like any holiday period, this meant considerable return for the company.

UA is also perking on the production side overseas. In England, the company currently has three pix in work, "The Beatles," "One Way Pendulum" and "Goldfinger" (third of the James Bond series). In Paris UA is trying to get "The Train" into the roundhouse. This costly item is now in its final shooting stages. The company is also at work in Africa where "Mr. Moses" is being made. And there are several other projects slated for foreign production on the UA books.

With things progressing nicely for the company at the U.S. wickets, this foreign pic performance could push UA to a record year in 1964. The first half of the year has already been projected for new highs, a prediction which now seems assured when all angles such as b.o. performance on both side of the pond, the recent sale of a new block of pix for network airing and other factors are considered. The company has its most active summer in history slated for the coming months and all of these elements are seen as heading UA for fiscal greatness in '64.

GIDEON BACHMANN'S MISHAP

Broke Back Last Fall—Now Writes And Tapes From Rome

Gideon Bachmann, former president of the American Federation of Film Societies, and in the past two years an incessant traveller among the film festivals of Europe, including most of those in the Communist orbit, is currently in Rome. His long silence is now explained: he broke his spine last August while scouting the film industry in Yuogslavia.

The American is at work completing a biography of Federic Fellini for publication by Simon & Schuster. He continues his film commentary series on WBAI, New York, via tape.

French-Canadian Experimental Film Doing Well at $1.25 in Two Spots

By CHARLES LAZARUS

Montreal, April 14.

Showing in Montreal currently, at two theatres, is a rather unique film which is doing solid business and which, according to the new French-Canadian wave of intellectual freedom fighters, may well set the path for a unique feature production industry.

Name of the film is "Trouble-Fete," whose free translation is one which is controversial and always creating trouble.

It is playing at the St. Denis and Bijou theatres, with respective seating of 2,600 and 800, at a flat $1.25, and has been submitted as one of the Canadian selections to the Cannes Film Festival.

Whether it will qualify at Cannes in the final rounds, will be known soon.

What makes the venture so unusual and appealing to the local experimental film fraternity, and intriguing to the hard-sell, commercial film boys is its success reflected along these lines:

Acceptance by the public in terms of boxoffice—although it should be noted that a bulk of the business is that of students who possibly see their own reflections in the frustrations of the young male lead in the film.

Acceptance of the idea that, while it may be a tougher way to do things—after all, rich is better than poor — meaningful pictures can still be turned out by those with a bankroll of integrity and purpose, and little more than dreams, devotion and equipment that is little more than the very basics.

In other words, on a cooperative basis, even if it goes back centuries to the barter system of doing business.

It all started in June of last year when Pierre Patry, who has been active in film work locally for some years, had an idea. Patry, working on a screenplay by and with Jean-Claude Roy, developed the cooperative idea, set up the production group which was called Co-operatio (correct) and went to work selling this idea to almost anyone he knew that was interested in "better" films with a touch of realism:

Everyone was to be paid at the recognized salary scale, but "on credit" against the film's future profits. To this was added a 100% "participation" clause (also on credit, natch), which means a doubling of the original salary.

This formula was applied to everything and everybody to the start of distribution beyond Montreal, which incidentally, is awaiting the news of how the film makes out at Cannes.

Once the distribution and exploitation of the film is begun, there will be a 25% payment of each contributor's wage when the gross revenue of the film reaches 25% of production costs.

Brochure issued at the time the film opened March 20 says:

"Trouble-Fete," a film by Pierre Patry, will permit you to understand intimately, the world of a young, middle-class French-Canadian teen-ager . . . The film is good and will be popular. Nevertheless, one may deplore that this feature length adventure had to be produced on a precarious financial basis since the provincial and federal governments . . . have not yet taken upon themselves (the responsibility) of helping film-makers practice their art: If Canada were to produce only 10 films as good as Trouble-Fete every year, our country would be on the world map to stay."

Among the commercial outfits who cooperated in the production of the film were Omega Productions, Incro Production, Morride Production, Serge Roy Production, and Crawley Films.

All except Omega and Crawley are relatively small operations.

The best things in air travel are on TWA

Sparkling wine, a connoisseur's menu, and a fine first-run movie.* What more could you ask for when you're going places? You get them all...at no extra charge...when you're a TWA First Class Royal Ambassador. In fact, only TWA treats you so royally on nonstop coast-to-coast and overseas flights to ten of Europe's favorite cities. Live it up next time you travel. Call your travel agent or Trans World Airlines.

Nationwide Worldwide depend on TWA *Films by

Danger of Subtlety

Chicago, April 14.

A promotion stunt for UA's "From Russia With Love" came a-cropper last week when a "secret invitation to a screening turned out to be top secret to get the bearer in.

The invite was printed with a special ink that only became visible when soaked in water. At least one press guest at a sneak preview at the Woods got an unbelieving stare from the manager when he presented the blank piece of paper for admission. It took a trip back to a utility room to get the matter straightened (and moistened) out.

Jack Goldstein Heats AA Irons At Home Spread

Jack Goldstein, ad-pub-exploitation national director at Allied Artists, has formalized the running of his department which is now set up and functioning out of New York. As forecast here, Sanford Abrahams, who formally ran the department from the Coast, stays there as public relations director.

Marty Weisre, formerly assistant to Abrahams, has shifted from the Coast to Gotham to become assistant to Goldstein. Lee Bergman, who had been eastern pub manager has had the "eastern" dropped from his title and is now overall pub manager. Jack Schachtel continues as biz manager for the department with Sam Hart as his assistant. Harry Goldstein is exploitation manager.

In noting this lineup, Goldstein commented that all department heads are assuming expanded duties. Under the former system, they all reported to Abrahams on the Coast who made all the decisions by phone, letter or wire. Now the boys will get a chance to carry on more for themselves, under Goldstein of course. An increased ad-pub overall campaign for future product is the plot, working more closely with the sales department which has always based in New York. One of the problems with the company's arrangement in the past was that sales and ad-pub were run from opposite shores thus hampering coordination.

Also, board chairman Claude A. Giroux, who has become chief operating officer of the company headquarters in Gotham, is expected to play an active role in the operation of the ad-pub department. His more aggressive thinking and planning are expected to push the company to a more active position in the pic market place and sales arena.

'Spartacus' Blade Cuts Good on Re-Release

General re-release of Universal's "Spartacus" in the greater Cincinnati area rolled up $18,000 in five drive-ins and three hardtop situations. Mutli-theatre territorial engagement was backed by concentrated ad-promotion campaign. The Madison, Covington, Ky., booking outgrossed original engagement of the picture. At the Twin Drive-In, Woodlawn Drive-In, Forest Drive-In and Westwood, film outgrossed Universal's "Thrill of It All"; at the Mariemont, it topped "Come September" and at the Montgomery Drive-In, "Lover Come Back."

Similar type engagement has been set for the St. Louis area, opening April 22.

N.Y. to L.A.

Jerry Franken
Ronald House
Ernest Pintoff
A. Scheider

U.S. to Europe

Sarah Caldwell
Peter Carey
Dick Dinsmore
Keir Dullea
Steve Franken
Anne Jackson
Robert Lantz
Fruce McClure
Ray Milland
Carl Peppercorn
Louise Rainer
Donald S. Rugoff
Leo Van Munching
Eli Wallach
Alan Webb

Order Writers to Snuff Those Butts

American Intl. Takes Lead in Constant 'Lighting Up' as Stage Business

Smoking is no joking matter as far as American International Pictures is concerned. James H. Nicholson and Samuel Z. Arkoff, AIP toppers, sent out the word last week (8) that, effective with its next production, there would be a complete ban on cigarette smoking by characters in all productions.

First feature affected is "Bikini Beach," which director William Asher rolls April 20. Reason for the ban, says Nicholson, is "the majority of filmgoers today are between 15 and 25, the young people of America, and the part of the film audience which we're most concerned, especially our teenagers."

"Our films can set an example by showing that smoking need not be a part of everyday life. The characters can live their fictional lives in just as exciting a manner as ever without smoking, just as we can live our own lives fully without smoking." (Ed. note—Speak for yourself, Jim!)

Dreyer's Latest Film, Just Launched, Asked To Venice Film Fest

Copenhagen, April 14.

Carl Dreyer finally has started shooting on his latest picture, a screen version of Hjalmar Soderberg's play, "Gertrud" about a woman torn between three men—her husband, the lover of her youth and her present lover. Originally, the play was a liberal-minded defense for a woman, caught up in Victorian moral demands versus new political winds plus the call of the flesh. Film script, written by Dreyer during the last six months is not expected to stay within such narrow limits.

Cast for "Gertrud" includes Nina Pena, Ebbe Rode, Bendt Rothe and Baard Owe. Except for Rode, all seem rather unlikely choices for a demanding role, but Dreyer prefers such actors to more established ones.

Palladium produces the film with Henning Bentsen at the camera. Bendtsen also did Dreyer's "Ordet." Film will be in black-and-white and wide screen. Production costs are expected to run a little more than the average for a Danish non-color film.

The Venice Film Fest has invited the Dreyer film to be shown as Denmark's official entry late in August. Dreyer thinks the film may be ready by then. The Museum of Modern Art in New York also has asked permission to show "Gertrud" during the museum's "Dreyer Week" next September.

Nelson-Engel Tenanting U Lot for 18 Mos.

Hollywood, April 14.

Nelson-Engel Productions, newly-formed production unit of Fred Engel and Ralph Nelson has moved onto Universal lot with an 18-month program. Involved are three production or co-producing deals with three separate distributors.

Engel, former GAC exec, will prepare projects while Nelson first directs the Robert Arthur production, "Father Goose," formerly "Place of Dragons," Cary Grant-Leslie Caron starrer, for Universal release.

Projects on N-E program are "The Seven File," one of two-film pact with UA, and "The Pied Pipers," for Universal release. Also planned is co-production of "Scratch a Thief" with Jacques Bar's Cipra Films, to star Alain Delon, with Metro releasing.

Col Adv. to Schlaifer

Columbia Pictures has appointed Charles Schlaifer & Co. as its new ad agency. Col's biz was formerly handled by the Monroe Greenthal Agency.

Schlaifer, which has offices in New York and Los Angeles, recently acquired Kaiser, Sedlow & Temple in an expansion move.

Col's $1.06 Divvy

Columbia Pictures has declared a regular quarter dividend of $1.06¼ per share on the $4.25 cumulative preferred stock.

Divvy is payable May 15 to holders of record May 1.

L.A. to N.Y.

Beverly Adams
Hanna Ahroni
Jack Carter
Jack Fier
John Gabriel
Dale Garrick
L. Wolfe Gilbert
William J. Heineman
Joi Lansing
David Levy
Joe Lebworth
Jeff Livingston
Mike Merrick
Arnold Picker
David Picker
Sid Raymond
Jonas Rosenfield Jr
George Schlatter
Mort Segal
Richard Sylbert
Henry Tobias
Sam Weisbord
Joe Wolhandler

B.O. Bells Ring For Bond, Sexy Sleuth

United Artists' "From Russia With Love" hit Gotham with a bang last week, establishing a new first-day record for either "premiere" or "Hollywood showcase" in New York. The company wasn't taking any chances of coming up with egg on its face with this one, however, spending upwards of $50,000 in the New York area alone on advertising, a hefty figure for a multiple release albeit firstrun.

"Russia" logged a $56,573 opening day gross in 30 "showcase" houses, including the Astor on Broadway and various RKO, Skouras and other theatres. Accordingly, this second James Bond adventure yarn seems surely headed toward repeating its sock European performance. Overseas it has run two and three times better than the first Bond opus "Dr. No," which was also a hefty performer in the States. It was, in fact, the champ on the old "showcase" layout before the major circuits got involved.

For the first five days of the spread, "Russia" grossed a hotsy $411,897, another record. For its first "showcase" week it will surely top the $500,000 mark.

UA's $50,000 Gotham ad nut included some $23,000 in newspaper advance and first week trumpeting. On tv the company spent about $16,000, with $6,000 going to radio and $2,200 for subway advertising. Although the total is large, it isn't as much as was shelled out for "Dr. No," which got a $61,000 Gotham push when Bond and "showcase" were both in their pic infancy.

Harry Saltzman and Albert R. (Cubby) Broccoli, producers of the Bond pix via their Eon Productions in England, are presently making the third such opus with "Goldfinger." In all, about 10 Bond adventures are planned and it looks like a solid gold series for UA and, incidentally, Sea Connery who portrays Bond in the pix. Since "Dr. No" he has sprung into demand, having made "Women of Straw" for UA and "Marnie" for Alfred Hitchcock and Universal. His deal with Eon is exclusive but Saltzman and Broccoli have figured that loan-outs help them, as well as keeping Connery happy.

Europe to U.S.

Tom Curtiss
Kenneth McKellar
George Rosen
Mo. Rothman
Tony Walton
Felix de Wolfe

N.Y. to Small Point, Me.

(and back)

Bill Cannon and Mark Lawrence's

VO

Via Pamela Goldblatt's Boat

(now syncing in 1600 Broadway yacht basin)

(advertisement)

SCIENCE'S OWN AVANT-GARDE

National Boxoffice Survey

Biz Turns Uneven; 'Jones' Back in First, 'Doctor' 2d, 'World' 3d, 'Newman' 4th, 'Empire' 5th

Trade in most key cities covered by VARIETY this stanza is down sharply from last (Easter) week's biz. Plenty of rainy weather proved a downbeat factor while fine outdoor weather over weekend was also blamed for offish trade. Likely a dearth of enough strong product to go around was more to blame than either of these factors.

As if getting geared in anticipation of the best picture Academy award, "Tom Jones" (UA) (20th wk) is climbing back into first place. "It's a Mad World" (UA) (21st wk) is slipping to third position after being No. 1 for two weeks in a row.

Second place is going to "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (9th wk), highest rating it has won although near the top for weeks. "Capt. Newman" (U) (5th wk) again is winding up fourth.

"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (2d wk) is capturing fifth money although out in only five key cities currently. It looks to be heard from additionally. "Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk), is finishing sixth.

"7 Days in May" (Par) (8th wk) is winding up in seventh spot. "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (3d wk) will take eighth position. "Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk) is finishing ninth. "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (3d wk) will be 10th.

"Silence" (Janus) (10th wk) is pushing up to 11th position. "How West Was Won" (MGM) 61st wk), helped by boosts from Academy nominations, rounds out Top 12. "America, America" (WB), "Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) are the runnerup films.

Several new pix, just launched this week, hint high potential. "The Carpetbaggers" (Par) is heading for a new record in Denver on its preem week, after a new high opening day. "From Russia With Love" (UA) looks to be a real blockbuster judging from its showing in N.Y., where it is smash at the Astor and equally great in a batch of Showcase theatres.

"Best Man" (UA) is rated big on its openings in N.Y. "Strangler" (AA) looks torrid on first week in Boston. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) still is socko in L.A. and Washington and smash in two N.Y. cinemas.

"Tiger Walks" (BV), okay in Louisville, looks good in Chi. "To Bed or Not To Bed" (Cont), fine in Chi, looks okay in L.A.

Note: The number of weeks out in release for bigger and longrun pix are designated in such cases.

(Complete Boxoffice Reports on pages 8-9-10.)

Big Promo Blow to Fill Sails As 'Mutiny on Bounty' Resumes, Standard Width But Uncut Time

"Mutiny on the Bounty," Metro's $19,000,000 Marlon Brando-starring opus which travelled some troubled fiscal seas its first time out as a roadshow presentation, will be reissued this summer in 35m general release.

To date, "Mutiny" has played only a limited number of hardticket dates. The pattern for the summer's re-release will be a wide spread encompassing a concentration on drive-ins and other prime warm weather outlets in a national saturation campaign. Metro prez Robert H. O'Brien has been promising stockholders that "Mutiny" was not a dead issue and that there was still revenue in the vehicle and the test of his faith is now at hand.

The company has been keeping its plans for the reissue under wraps. Not in any of its conversations or printed matter have the ideas been advanced. This is a somewhat strange approach considering the fact that the summer buying season is already in full swing and promo pushes for summer releases are already underway at most companies, including Metro. (A big splash trumpeting the pic's return is anticipated.)

It is understood that the "Mutiny" print won't be cut or tampered with for general release, except for the elimination of the intermission. Latter is standard policy when roadshows go grind. This will mean a running time of slightly over three hours, the major drawback of which is that less shows can be unspooled per day. Nonetheless, most hardticket pix moving to a saturation policy have not been trimmed for the sake of an extra show.

As a special gimmick, Metro's N. Y. World's Fair exhibit, the $750,000 replica of H.M.S. Bounty used in the filming of the pic, will be plugged via a special bit of footage tacked on the end of the pic inviting viewers to be sure and visit the ship when and if they go to the Fair. In her first commercial venture (the other showings were free to the public and staged for publicity purposes) the Bounty has been doing well at the Fair Marina, with the exposition not even open yet. It is hoped that the ship will be able to recoup its costs, or a goodly portion, by the end of the Fair run.

EXHIBS COLLECT 200G

Illegally Taxed on Water-Cooled Airconditioning

Detroit, April 14.

Some 48 Michigan Allied members in the Metropolitan Detroit area received checks from the City of Detroit totaling more than $200,000.

The payoff brought to a successful conclusion action initiated by Michigan Allied eight years ago against a discriminatory tax imposed upon water-cooled airconditioning equipment. The litigation twice went to the Michigan State Supreme Court and once to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Some Hope Brazil Can Steady Down

Rio De Janerio, April 14.

While Brazil's political future still is uncertain, local reps of Yank film companies here feel that ouster of president Goulart at least spells hope that something will be done to curb this nation's spiralling inflation. Goulart, they say, could not, or would not, take the drastic measures necessary to stablize the cruzeiro which, two years ago, was valued at about 300 to the U.S. dollar, climbed to 900 last year and now stands at about 1,800 to the dollar.

For a while, Yank biz was growing so rapidly here that it could keep up with the currency devaluation, that is, total dollar remittances continued to grow, or at least, remain at an even level, despite the inflation. In the last year, however, inflation outstripped any possible biz increase.

During the two days last week that the nation edged towards outright civil war, nearly all entertainment biz came to a standstill here. Firstrun film theatres were closed both Wednesday and Thursday (1-2), though some subruns remained open. By the weekend, all was back to normal, however.

WORLD'S FAIR POINTING WAYS

A prediction that motion pictures of the future will make today's techniques obsolete was made this week by Arthur Finston, exec producer for Cinerama at the N. Y. World's Fair. In two different exhibits at the Fair, according to Finston, Cinerama will show how audiences can be taken out "of their traditional three walls-and-screen setting" and made actual participants.

"At the Federal Pavilion, they will be carried through the screens, while viewers of our Spacearium film at the Transportation and Travel Pavilion will be surrounded by the picture."

The new Cinerama techniques are described by production director Jeremy Lepard as "Environmental Movies." "We are using projected movie images to put our audiences into a situation," he added. "This is really the future of motion pictures, added realism through new theatre designs and new projection processes, so that people will actually find themselves in the action."

The Federal Pavilion film exhibit, which Cinerama has done for the U.S. Government, will indicate that "audiences will actually have to learn a new way of looking at life-through-movies. It will be something like walking down a strange street. Our techniques produces the real 'feel' or aura of an era."

At one time 55 viewers will sit in an open conveyance and be whisked through something like a big, twisting tunnel, comprised of some 120 motion picture screens of various sizes and shapes. Some 2,000 viewers an hour or 20,000 a day can be accomodated at this exhibit which is under supervision of U.S. Commissioner N. K. Winston and the U.S. Dept. of Commerce. There will be 12 vehicles, one departing every 80 seconds, all with individual seats outfitted with a personal speaker system so every viewer will have a clear narration. One vehicle will have a five-channel selector speaker system with a choice of narration in either French, German, Spanish, Italian or English.

Narration, written by sci-fi specialist Ray Bradbury, is spoken by John McIntyre of the "Wagon Train" tv series. Over 170 film and slide projectors are used during the 13-1/2 minute ride. The show, entitled "The American Journey" begins with the historical beginning of North America and ends with some startling rocket effects, courtesy of NASA and the U.S. Air Force. Material was provided by 100 historical societies, Library of Congress, National Archives and the Smithsonian Institute. There's even a movie sequence with a montage of early screen stars.

The Spacearium Show, "To the Moon and Beyond," was produced by Cinerama and co-sponsored by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines. Narrated by Rod Serling, it will be shown at the Transportation and Travel Pavilion on the inner surface of a 70-foot high dome for an audience of 700 seated below and within it. The 70m projector sits on the floor at the center of the dome surrounded by viewers. It shoots the picture up and out into the dome giving the sensation of completely surrounding its audience.

Viewers, in seats which tilt up to 35 degrees, are made space travelers speeding backward in time and out into space. The show, 15 minutes long, was filmed via animation techniques, scale models, live-action photography and a combination of microphotography and optical effects. Graphic Films, L.A., produced the film under the supervision of Lepard and Finston.

Finn Takes Up in Denver

Denver, April 14.

John Finn, for the past 6 years with Universal in the Boston exchange, has been named branch manager of the Denver office to replace exiting Murray Gerson.

Abe Swedlow, Western Division Manager of Universal with headquarters in San Francisco has been in the city supervising the changeover.

Stunt-Minded & Commemorative, Hollywood Pavilion at World's Fair Will Be Hub of Lotsa Promotion

Aside from its function as an exhibit at the N. Y. World's Fair, the Hollywood Pavilion is planned by its designers as a major plugola centre for the film biz in the east this year and next. Accordingly, several events are being plotted with premieres, anniversaries and other industry occasions, all aimed at making the Pavilion the hub of pic glamor in the east.

In connection with this, Pavilion touters Lee Savin and George Murphy have lined up two gold Lincoln Continentals to take visiting v.i.p.s, including film personalities and execs, to the site as the guests of the Pavilion, picking up the tab for their day at the Fair. Special guides are being hired to show filmdom's finest around the exposition.

Savin and Murphy have been making a strong pitch to film companies to try to get them to use the Fair and Pavilion to spotlight pub activities. This will benefit the exhibit, of course, but it will also work well for the companies, Savin and Murphy feel, because of the concentrated press activity expected during the Fair's run. Also, the Pavilion is quite close to the press headquarters, thereby providing a coincidental and advantageous situation.

Among the gimmicks the boys are trying to establish is the naming of a "day" at the Fair tied with the preem of various pix throughout the run of the exposition. An example would be "Unsinkable Molly Brown Day" and there would be various activities carried on in connection with such an event. They are also trying to get companies to hold opening night celebrations at the Pavilion and "Molly," which opens this summer at Radio City Music Hall, is one being dickered with.

Other special events being worked on is a first anni costume party at the exhibit to celebrate the sustenance of "Cleopatra," an event which hasn't been firmed yet. There are others as well but the companies have been slow to react to suggestions. It is figured that once the Fair gets rolling and is an established success (hopefully) that more cooperation will be

(Continued on page 21)

FEDERAL OKAY FOR HARDTOP

National General Will Erect At Vegas Shopper

National General Corp. was Friday (10) granted permission by N.Y. Federal Judge Edmund L. Palmieri to acquire a new conventional theatre to be constructed in the Charleston Plaza Shopping Center, Las Vegas, to be operated on a first-run basis.

Judge Palmieri said "This is the first time in ten years a new theatre has been built there. The petitioner has sufficiently demonstrated that the new acquisition will not unduly restrain opposition, despite objections by Huntridge Theatres who appeared as 'amicus curiae' and who operate a theatre in Las Vegas."

Stalks Vaulties For 16m Showmen

Hollywood, April 14.

Indie producers are exhorted to lift some of their old pix out of the vault and make them available to the generally ignored field of 16m distribution. Plea came from attorney Martin Hersh, just appointed Hollywood rep for Ideal Pictures, a narrow gauge distrib with offices in 25 cities.

Hersh's drive to unearth product centers on features with time-obscured ownership. Hersh terms 16m potential of such product, "a sleeping giant."

Particularly sought are films which are suitable for church and school screenings for adolescent audiences. Films should have a good moral tone though primary goal is entertainment, he says. Fact that they have had tv exposure does not detract from their utility, says he. Ideal is specifically after pix "which have had a theatrical release in the last ten years," he adds.

Deals for films are made on basis of so-much-per-showing on five or seven year contracts, percentage of price Ideal is able to get for films or flat purchases. Films can be had for prices ranging from $15-$25 a showing up to a high of $50, says Hersh. Flat buys range anywhere from $1,000 to $5,000 to as high as $7,500 for exceptionable product, he declares. All deals include stipulation that no admission may be charged to screenings.

'Fall of Roman Empire' As Kansas City Benefit For Showmen's Charity

Kansas City, April 14.

Motion Picture Assn. here is sponsoring premiere of Samuel Bronston's "Fall of the Roman Empire" via Paramount at the Capri Theatre. It'll be benefit for the Crippled Childrens Nursery School. Date is April 22. Association includes persons from all branches of the film industry.

Capri showing is scaled to gross $3,800, and MPA seeks to come up with more than $2,500 for the Nursery School. Scale is $2 balcony, $3 orchestra, with limited number of "gold seats" at $10 each. The 1,200-seater of the Durwood circuit needs to be a virtual sellout to realize the desired figure for the charity.

Richard Durwood, president of circuit, reported at week-end that the receipts already are past the half way mark. Reservations and ticket details are being handled through Tom Gailey, MGM manager. Picture opens its regular engagement on a hard-ticket policy April 23.

Loss-Unloaded Theatres Curtail Second Quarter Profit for Loew's Chain

Gross income for the second-quarter ended Feb. 29 for Loew's Theatre Inc. was $374,200, almost double the $192,200 for the same period last year and equivalent to 15c per share of common stock.

A net loss on disposition of fixed assets (including loss on sale of theatres in depressed areas), however, resulted in a net loss of $21,800 for the period. Loew's declined to explicate what theatres or towns were shed.

Income of $757,500 for the six months ended Feb. 29 was up from $592,100 of previous year but net loss on disposition of fixed assets restricted net income to $361,500, down from the $682,100 of previous year.

MAGDALENE MASKELL'S BAD AUTO CRACKUP

Los Angeles, April 14.

Magdalene Maskell, cofounder of Blowitz-Maskell pub relations firm (now Blowitz-Thomas-Canton), is recuperating satisfactorily in Valley Doctors Hospital following an auto accident Sunday (12) in which she suffered seven broken ribs, concusions and internal injuries which necessitated surgery. The publicist, now corporate secretary of B-T-C, was thrown into a freeway wall.

Partner Bill Blowitz died in N.Y. March 14 after being struck down by a hit and run driver on March 10.

The Carpetbaggers
(70m SUPER PANAVISION—COLOR)

From Harold Robbins' best-seller, a lusty but erratic, sometimes distasteful film. Could be hot moneymaker.

Hollywood, April 6.

Paramount release of Joseph E. Levine production. Stars George Peppard, Alan Ladd, Bob Cummings, Martha Hyer, Elizabeth Ashley, Lew Ayres, Martin Balsam, Ralph Taeger, Archie Moore, Leif Erickson, Carroll Baker. Directed by Edward Dmytryk. Screenplay, John Michael Hayes, from Harold Robbins' novel; camera (Technicolor), Joseph MacDonald; editor, Frank Bracht; music, Elmer Bernstein; asst. director, D. Michael Moore. Reviewed at studio, April 6, '64. Running time, 150 MINS.

Jonas Cord Jr. ..... George Peppard
Nevada Smith ..... Alan Ladd
Dan Pierce ..... Bob Cummings
Jennie Denton ..... Martha Hyer
Monica Winthrop ..... Elizabeth Ashley
McAllister ..... Lew Ayres
Bernard B. Norman ..... Martin Balsam
Buzz Dalton ..... Ralph Taeger
Jedediah ..... Archie Moore
Jonas Cord Sr. ..... Leif Erickson
Rina ..... Carroll Baker
Morrissey ..... Arthur Franz
Amos Winthrop ..... Tom Tully
The Prostitute ..... Audrey Totter
Moroni ..... Anthony Warde
Denby ..... Charles Lane
David Woolf ..... Tom Lowell
Ellis ..... John Conte
The Doctor ..... Vaughn Taylor
Cynthia Randall ..... Francesca Bellini
Jo-Ann ..... Victoria Jean

Joseph E. Levine's screen version of "The Carpetbaggers" is lusty, vulgar and gusty and, on one notable occasion, painfully brutal. It projects with harsh, driving force—often erratically—the same two basic elements that propelled the novel into the bestseller lists. One is the underlying connection of its principal characters to several real and glamorous people around whom there has always circulated a certain aura of mystery. The other is a notorious reputation—a hint of sexual wickedness. Add to these alluring features an array of fairly salable marquee names and a physical production of considerable opulence and Paramount, by accompanying it into the marketplace with an explosive adpromo campaign, would seem to have an attraction of great moneymaking potential.

That's the sunny side of the picture, but there's a negative side, too. For despite its gaudy and glamorous sugarcoating, "The Carpetbaggers" is hardly to be recommended for youngsters and there will be adults who will find this a rather distasteful melodrama that wears awfully thin long before its kingsized running time of 150 minutes is expended.

The story of a ruthless, emotionally unstable chemical-aircraft-film tycoon is told in a vague, often lurching manner in John Michael Hayes' scenario out of Harold Robbins' tome. The career of the "hero"—a heel in fact—is traced sketchily from the point at which he succeeds his just-deceased father (whom he detests) in business to the phase in which he manages to pull himself together emotionally after an unbroken string of brutally cold-blooded dealings, business and personal.

Psychological facets of the story are fuzzy, and vital motivational information about the focal character is withheld to the point where it no longer really seems to matter why he is the miserable critter he is. His sudden reform is little more than an unconvincing afterthought. There's nobody to root for in "The Carpetbaggers." And Hayes' screenplay never seems to miss an opportunity to slip in connotations of sex, whether or not they are necessary. The dialog is frequently clever, but thoroughly artificial. And there is an accompanying narration that seems quite superfluous and too pretentious.

There are several competent performances. George Peppard growls and glowers his way through the pivotal role, wearing one basic expression—a surly, like-it-or-lump-it look—but there is an underlying animal magnetism to this performance that demonstrates Peppard just needs the right film to make a big explosion. The late Alan Ladd limns with conviction one of the few appealing characters—the cowboy star who ultimately restores Peppard to his senses. The climactic fistfight between these two will make the audience wince.

Carroll Baker has the flashy role of a Harlowesque sexpot, and makes the most of it. Elizabeth Ashley, currently a toast of Broadway, is considerably less auspicious in this screen assignment as the hero's long-suffering wife.

Other major roles are played capably by Bob Cummings, Martha Hyer, Lew Ayres, Martin Balsam, Ralph Taeger, Archie Moore and Leif Erickson, with satisfactory support from Arthur Franz, Tom Tully, Audrey Totter, Anthony Warde, Charles Lane, Tom Lowell, John Conte, Vaughn Taylor, Francesca Bellini and Victoria Jean.

Director Edward Dmytryk has fashioned some high-voltage individual scenes out of Hayes' melodrama, but overall has not been able to avoid a rollercoaster effect in the flow of the story. The going gets pretty tedious and erratic after the first few vicious clashes of personality. Energetic cinematography by Joseph MacDonald is an asset, but more editing by Frank Bracht wouldn't hurt this picture a bit. Lavish, colorful sets have been designed by art directors Hal Pereira and Walter Tyler. Edith Head's costumes are sleek and revealing. A lot of skin to go along with skin-deep characterizations. Elmer Bernstein's pulsating score sounds a great deal like the one he composed for "Walk on the Wild Side." Tube.

Rhino
(COLOR)

Engaging African adventure, filmed on-the-spot. Humorous approach compensates for occasional story lapses. Favorable b.o. prospects.

Hollywood, April 10.

Metro release of Ben Chapman production. Stars Harry Guardino, Shirley Eaton, Robert Culp. Directed by Ivan Tors. Screenplay, Art Arthur, Arthur Weiss, from Arthur's story; camera (Metrocolor), Sven Persson, Lamar Boren; editor, Warren Adams; music, Lalo Schifrin. Reviewed at Wiltern Theatre, April 10, '64. Running time, 92 MINS.

Alec Burnett ..... Harry Guardino
Dr. Jim Hanlon ..... Robert Culp
Edith Arleigh ..... Shirley Eaton
Jo-Po ..... Harry Mekela
Haragay ..... George Lane

Production ingenuity and a sense of humor combine to distinguish "Rhino" from most of the stark, stock African adventure melodramas of recent years. Pound for pound, dollar for dollar, it's one of the best films of its type since Metro's "King Solomon's Mines." There are flaws aplenty, to be sure, especially in its haphazard story construction, but the favorable elements prevail and should pave the way to commercial success for the Ivan Tors enterprise, produced by Ben Chapman.

The Metro release was filmed at the Umfolozi Game Reserve in Zululand, South Africa, and the on-the-spot photography gives the picture that fresh, authentic flavor that cannot be duplicated by mere educated soliciing of stock wild animal footage, the method employed in so many Dark Continent dramas of the past several years. The screenplay provided for this ambitious enterprise was penned by Art Arthur and Arthur Weiss, and they have come up with a servicable and, in several instances, highly amusing script for the occasion. It concerns the idealistic and sometimes physical tangle between a white hunter (Harry Guardino) and a zoologist (Robert Culp) as they beat around the African bush in search of nearly extinct white rhino—the object being to tranquilize a male and female specimen via hypodermic needle gun so that they may be captured and transported to a game reserve for purposes of preserving the vanishing species. Guardino's greed causes complications until he reforms after his life is saved by Culp.

Although scattered story artificialities and irrelevancies mar the flow and blunt the impact of "Rhino," it is on the whole an engaging film. Director Tors rates major credit for the success of the enterprise, but he also is responsible for such superfluities as a brushfire sequence, evidently inserted for pictorial value, and a pulsating animal stampede that is clumsily incorporated into the story.

The better-than-average humor quotient that reinforces "Rhino" is, for the most part, a credit to the creative perception of Tors, the finesse of the cast principals, and the resourcefulness of the production staff. For example, there is a tongue-in-cheek fistfight sequence between Guardino and Culp in which "reaction" shots of the friendly neighborhood wild beasts have been inserted as if to comment ironically, "who's civilized and who's really the animal around here, anyway?" Warren Adams' editing has a lot to do with the humorous impact of this passage, as does the intimate animal photography by Sven Persson and Lamar Boren. The camerawork is an especially telling plus factor in this film, notably during the climactic rhino charges.

In Guardino and Culp, the picture is endowed with two solid actors, neither a particularly big name but both intelligent and spirited performers. The girl in the story is Shirley Eaton. Miss Eaton hails from England but will soon belong to the world. She's a knockout, and knows a thing or two about acting which, in her case, is enough.

Fred Turtle's soundwork is alert and vivid, and Lalo Schifrin has contrbiuted an unorthodox musical score with a bright personality. It's got that Mancini-like sparkle. Even the main titles come up with a few surprises like "animal immobilization" by Ian Player (golfer Gary's brother) and "psychopharmacology" by Keith S. Ditman. Tube.

The Quick Gun
(TECHNISCOPE—COLOR)

Routine lower-berth western with Audie Murphy.

Hollywood, April 7.

Columbia Pictures release of Grant Whytock production. Stars Audie Murphy. Directed by Sidney Salkow. Screenplay, Robert E. Kent, based on story by Steve Fisher; camera (Technicolor), Lester Shorr; editor, Whytock; music, Richard LaSalle; asst. director, Herbert S. Greene. Reviewed at the studio, April 7, '64. Running time, 89 MINS.

Clint Cooper ..... Audie Murphy
Helen Reed ..... Merry Anders
Scotty Grant ..... James Best
Spangler ..... Ted de Corsia
Tom Morrison ..... Walter Sande
Rick Morrison ..... Rex Holman
Reverend Staley ..... Charles Meredith
Dan Evans ..... Frank Ferguson
Cagle ..... Mort Mills
Donovan ..... Gregg Palmer
George Keely ..... Frank Gerstle
Dr. Stevens ..... Stephen Roberts
Mitchell ..... Paul Bryar
Elderly Man ..... Raymond Hatton
Mike ..... William Fawcett

Current king of the budget western field appears to be Audie Murphy, who rides again in this conventional sagebrusher from Admiral Pictures. The Columbia release is a little long for the companion slot in a program, but the added pictorial values of Technicolor and Technicolor compensate somewhat for its tendency to drag in the latter half. Although there are no surprises in the Grant Whytock production, there's enough action to appease the diehard western buff.

Murphy is cast as a gunslinger in the process of reforming in Robert E. Kent's screenplay from a story by Steve Fisher. Riding back to his home town, he comes in contact with a band of desperadoes who want to enlist his aid in their plan to raid the town, in which he is not thought of too highly. Instead he alerts the townspeople to the threat and supports them in the defense.

Murphy is an appealing western hero, still boyish in appearance but all man when it comes to scruples fists or six-shooters. Reliable, hard-working Merry Anders is his romantic partner. Third member of the triangle is sheriff James Best, and it doesn't take long to see that he's going to bite the dust. Bite he does. Best performs ably, and so does "heavy" Ted de Corsia, who has a great laugh for a villain. Adequate in key roles are Walter Sande, Rex Holman, Charles Meredith, Frank Ferguson and Mort Mills. Sidney Salkow's direction is undistinguished, but creditable.

Satisfactory, if stock, production contributions are made by cameramen Lester Shorr, are director Robert Purcell and composer Richard LaSalle. Producer Whytock did the editing. He should have done more of it. Tube.

Panic Button
(SONGS)

Banal as in 'B.' Chevalier, Parker, Mansfield names make the appeal for marquees. Filler.

Gorton Associates release of Yankee (Ron Gorton) production. Stars Maurice Chevalier, Jayne Mansfield, Michael Connors, Eleanor Parker; features Akim Tamiroff, Carlo Croccolo. Directed by George Sherman. Screenplay, Hal Biller from original story by Gorton (dramatized by Mort Friedman, Gorton). Tradeshown in N.Y., April 3, '64. Running time, 90 MINS.

Phillipe Fontaine ..... Maurice Chevalier
Angela ..... Jayne Mansfield
Frank ..... Michael Connors
Louise ..... Eleanor Parker
Pandowski ..... Akim Tamiroff
Guido ..... Carlo Croccolo

This indie production was started back in 1961, being filmed in Rome and Venice, Italy. It has been a long time in getting to market. Despite a cast headed by Maurice Chevalier, Eleanor Parker and Jayne Mansfield, this is skimpy fare for lower half of dualers.

"Panic Button" starts out like a meller, turns to sexy, romantic

(Continued on page 22)

B.A. FILM FESTIVAL REVIEWS

Los Tarantos
(The Tarantos)
(SPANISH-COLOR)

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Tecisa production. Stars Carmen Amaya, with Sarita Lezana, Daniel Martin, Margarita Lozano, Carlos Villafranca, Antonio Singla, Aurelio Galan, Antonio Gades. Directed by F. Rovira Beleta. Screenplay, Beleta; camera, Rafael Perez de Rozas; music, Emilio Puiol, Fernando G. Morcillo, Jose Sola, Andres Batistax. At Buenos Aires Film Fest, April 8, '64. Running time, 92 MINS.

To a reviewer who had previously felt that the "Romeo and Juliet" theme had just about had its final reworking for this generation, anyway in "West Side Story"), "Los Tarantos" comes as a stunning surprise. The pic (Spain's entry in this year's foreign language Oscar derby) is a wild, pulsating drama, exotic in its passions and its color. Film is a fine bet for artie release in the U.S. The film immediately recalls "Black Orpheus" in its remarkably successful fusion of music, dance and drama, a romantic folktale set in a grimly realistic setting with no apparent clash between cinema styles. Director F. Rovira Beleta has, in fact, succeeded in blending his extremely stylized tale with a completely real physical background to an extent seldom matched by most American musicals.

"Tarantos" comes close to being a "dance opera," as it unfolds the tragic story of a pair of young lovers whose marriage is opposed by their feuding gypsy families. The setting is Barcelona and the gypsy camps high on the outskirts of the city. The gypsies don't live so much by their dancing as in their dancing and it's in the flamenco and the constant flamenco beat that the story rolls on at a furious, relentless pace. Rovira's accomplishment is that the dancing never seems quaint, nor are there any "set pieces." The vigor and the strength of the dancing make the tale.

Setting the pace for the entire film is the performance of the late Carmen Amaya who, as the gutsy mother of the gypsy "Romeo," comes across as a sort of musically exalted Katina Paxinou. The remainder of the dancing actors come close to matching her, which is indeed praise.

Most importantly, however, the film succeeds as a film. Color and camerawork are extraordinary. The individual images are rough and alive and seldom artily self-conscious. Director Rovira has seen to it that next to "Los Tarantos," "Carmen" would probably look like a Romberg operetta. Anby.

Oldas Es Kotes
(Cantata)
(HUNGARIAN)

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Hungarofilm presentation of an Estudios Hunnia production. Stars Zoltan Latinovits, with Miklos Szakats, Andor Ajtay, Bela Barsi, Edit Domjan, Gyula Bodrogi, Maria Medgyai. Directed by Miklos Jancso. Screenplay, Jancso, based on story by Jozsef Lengyel; camera, Tamas Somlo; music, Balint Sarosi. At Buenos Aires Film Fest, April 6, '64. Running time, 101 MINS.

If this film can be taken as an indication, the arts in Hungary are now swinging to the kind of personal statements which, though common in the West, are seldom made in Red Bloc countries. "Cantata" is an extremely subjective tale, the search by a young doctor to find some meaning in his life as he pushes towards material success. Unfortunately, like so many first novels which tackle the same dilemma, the central character, rather fuzzy and vague though undoubtedly sincere, is overshadowed by a number of much more interesting subsidiary characters.

Story covers several days in the life of this doctor, beginning with his routine in the hospital, taking him back to his old bohemian haunts and, finally, to a visit to the farm where he grew up and where his father is now dying. Although director Miklos Jancso has not been fully successful in dramatizing in cinematic terms the hero's interior emotions, the film does contain a number of vivid, poignant scenes, including a closeup view of a heart operation which, though disturbingly clinical, is quite appropriate.

There is also an amusing sequence set in an artist's studio where the doctor's old friends raptly watch a crazily avant garde picture totally concerned with geese. (Says the artist angrily; "I have just shown you the film and you ask me what I am trying to say!").

Less interesting are the doctor's encounters with a couple of former amours, as well as his final resolution that life, after all, is meant to be lived in full commitment to one's family and friends. Film's view of a rather hip, intellectually active Hungarian society is something of an eye-opener, but is hardly enough to indicate any commercial b.o. success Stateside. Film is well-acted and all technical credits are firstrate. Anby.

Tudor
(RUMANIAN)

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Bucarest! Film Studio production. Features Emanoil Petrut, George Vraca, Lica Georghiu, Alex Giugaru, Geo Barton, Olga Tudorache, Ion Besoiu, Anza Pelea, Toma Dimitriu. Directed by Lucian Bratu; camera, Constantia Ciubotaru; screenplay, Mihnea Georghiu. At Buenos Aires Film Fest. Running time, 139 MINS.

"Tudor" is an "epic" that might best be described as anemic Eisenstein. It would tend to suggest that the Rumanian film industry is not yet prepared to undertake large scale productions of this type.

Film goes back to Rumanian history during the first half of the last century, showing the struggle of the people for liberty, with the Boyards and Turks as oppressors. Tudor, the hero, is murdered at the very moment his revolution is approaching success, and there is a great deal of intrigue in the upper echelons of society.

Dialogue is at times appalling, and the whole pic has a naive air, too simple characterization, a general lack of subtlety and poor handling of mass scenes. Lensing, in black and white scope, is unimaginative. It all adds up to a Western in which the peasants are the good guys and the nobles, the heavies. Social content is on a rudimentary scale.

This pic unlikely to earn exposure in the West. Chile.

The Man in the Photograph
(YUGOSLAV)

Buenos Aires, April 14.

A Jadran Film (Zagreb) production. Features Nicola Milic, Olavera Markovic, Milan Pusic, Tomanija Duricko, Janez Vrhovec, Severin Bjelic. Directed by Vladimir Pogacic. Screenplay, Dragoslav Ilic; camera, Milorad Markovic. At Buenos Aires Film Fest, April 2, '64. Running time, 88 MINS.

An interesting script is wasted by director Vladimir Pogacic. The story, set in wartime occupied Yugoslavia, concerns Zhiko, a little man who tries to avoid involvement in the issues of his time specifically expressed in the struggle between the Germans and the Partisans. A series of circumstances, which are strange but at the same time credible, puts him right in the middle of things, forcing him to make a choice.

Zhiko finally dies a hero's death, but his dilemma is hardly convincing because the pic does not penetrate deeply enough and the action fails to build up suspense and excitement. Technical credits are barely adequate and the acting is not impressive. Strictly for the Yugoslav market. Chile.

Placeres Conyugales
(Conjugal Pleasures)
(ARGENTINA)

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Argentina Sono Film presentation of a Nicolas Carreras-Guido Parisier production. Stars Luis Sandrini, Ana Maria Campoy, Diana Maggi, Ambar La Fox. Directed by Luis Saslavsky. Screenplay, Abel Santa Cruz and Saslavsky, based on a play by Carlos Llopis; camera, Alberto Etchebehere; music, Lucio Milena. At Buenos Aires Film Fest, April 6, '64. Running time, 93 MINS.

Take "La Ronde" and cross it with "Kind Hearts and Coronets," and you might come up with something resembling "Placeres Conyugales" (Conjugal Pleasures). This broad, stylish farce looks to clean up in its home market, though it's hardly weighty enough to buck the competition outside Spanish speaking territories. Pic, based on a well-known play here, shows its legit origins, both in the exaggerated acting manner and in its formalistic progression of scenes. In this case, however, that only adds to the charm

Story, set in Buenos Aires circa 1900, concerns the woefully inept

(Continued on page 22)

B.A. MADLY MAULS U.S. STARS

Argentina Festival Prizes

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Sixth annual Argentina International Film Festival which ended Saturday (11) here (not Mar Del Plata) made the following awards:

Best Picture—"I Campagni" (Italy)
(Film also won Critics Prize, International Catholic Film Office Prize.)
Best Screenplay—"I Campagni"
Best Actress—Natalie Wood in "Love With The Proper Stranger" (Warners)
Best Actor—Vittorio Gassman and Ugo Tognazzi for "The Monsters" (Italy)
Best Director—Karel Kachnya for "The Hope" (Czechoslovakia)
Eric Johnston Award For Human Values—To "His Own Blood" (Russia)
Special Award for Best Production—To "Los Tarantos" (Spain) with special citation to late flamenco dancer Carmen Amaya.
Best spectacle production: "Tudor" (Rumania)
Best Spanish language film: "Demon in The Blood" (Argentina)
Best actor in a Spanish language film: Julian Mateos, "Young Sanchez" (Spain)
Best actress in a Spanish language film: Pina Pellicer, "Dias de Otono" (Mexico)
Best director of a Spanish language film: Marió Camus, "Young Sanchez" (Spain)

Art & The Argentinos

By VINCENT CANBY

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Final day of Argentina's Film Festival (Saturday) went through as planned despite a bomb thrown early that morning damaging front of Teatro San Martin . . . somebody doesn't like festivals . . . or those who show up . . . Janet Leigh accepted the award given Natalie Wood for "Best Actress". . . Robert Corkery, MPEA veep who headquarters in Mexico City and is fluent in Spanish, handed the Eric Johnston Award given to the Russians, and this gesture of harmony between the two great powers was enthusiastically applauded . . . "I Campagni," the Italian film which put Best Picture, Best Screenplay and other awards into its basket here was reviewed in VARIETY some time ago . . . previously unreviewed product unreeled at the festival here appears on the review page.

MPEA veep George Vietheer, who was in Rio during recent unpleasantness, reports the following anecdote as testimony to the high regard in which film people there hold Harry Stone, the MPEA Rio man, who had come down to B.A. for the fest. According to Vietheer, when it first appeared that the Leftists were going to win out, a Yank film man called him frantically: "My God, the whole country's going Communist and Harry Stone isn't here!"

Competing with the Buenos Aires Film Fest for the attention of the public was the in-person appearance here of Sir Ralph Richardson and the Shakespeare Festival Co. They're doing "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Merhcant of Venice" . . . Vittorio Gassman and director Dino Risi here shooting "An Italian in Argentina" with a fest background . . . David Kohon, the young Argentine director who made the highly successful "Three Times Ana" and who last year emigrated to Israel, has returned here to live.

Cracked a Brazilian newsman here for the film fest: "We had our 'Seven Days in May' in April". . . British director Clive Donner, whose "Nothing But The Best" was his country's official entry at the fest, made the 24-hour flight from London to B.A. to spend two days here and then make the same long trip back. He's directing a play in London and couldn't stay any longer . . . About halfway through Spain's "Los Tarantos," the audience at the Teatro San Martin broke into thunderous applause for one particularly moving flamenco by the late Carmen Amaya.

Harry Stone, the MPEA's man in Rio, left here Sunday (12) to escort Janet Leigh, husband Bob Brandt, Tony Perkins and Karl Malden on a quick p.a. and looksee through southern Brazil, winding in Rio at midweek. They were to be guests of the governor of the state of Parana (Brazil) Monday (13) night at a special American Film Night. Mr. & Mrs. David Miller flew to Rio directly. From Rio the Millers, Brandts and Malden take off for Hollywood and Perkins for New York . . . You Can't Win Dept.: Perkins, who was probably interviewed, photographed, pushed, shoved, mauled and otherwise adored by the locals more than any other personality at the fest, refused one afternoon to let in a lady reporter who was banging on his door during a rare siesta. The next day she wrote him a long abusive letter . . . And then there was the little boy who asked Miss Leigh in shy, hesitant English: "Why are you so nice to us?" Her answer: "Because I like you."

Whatever else they say about the B.A. Fest, it certainly had its fair share of lookers, including Janet Leigh, Britain's Sue Lloyd, France's Catherine Deneuve, Italy's Silvana Pampanini, Mexico's Pina Pellicer, Russia's Via Artmane and Germany's truly spectacular Marisa Mell. These, of course, were in addition to such local talent as Graciela Borges and Libertad Leblanc and native non-pros too numerous and anonymous to mention.

Unifrance chief Robert Cravenne looking for a new man in B.A. The former Unifrance rep here has been transferred to Spain . . . French star Lino Ventura reportedly was confined to the Alvear-Palace Hotel for a day because his passport had expired. Matter was eventually fixed . . . The Czech delegation had a close call on their arrival when the car bringing them in from the airport collided with another. The auto was demolished but they were luckily unhurt. Local traffic may well be the most chaotic in the world—a 24-hour "chicken" race.

David Miller's next firm pic commitment is "The Praying Mantises" for 20th, but there are several other deals, any one of which might jell before he starts the 20th project late this year. Yank director got good treatment from the Latin press and, like all the other jurors, was a bit goggle-eyed by the fest's end . . . Tony Perkins, at one of his press conferences, reported that according to Orson Welles' conception of "The Trial," Joseph K. was guilty. Another interesting quote, in answer to a question about the passivity of Joseph K. as interpreted by Perkins: "Any central role in a Welles film is liable to be a passive character. Orson likes to have things happen to his characters—he's more interested in the plight of an individual than in an individual who tries to change the world". . . Dramatizing the new internationalism of films was the fact that Yankee Perkins, undoubtedly the most sought after of the offshore personalities at the fest, was seen in a French entry, "The Ravishing Idiot," in which he costars with Brigitte Bardot.

Columbia has picked up Leopoldo Torre-Nilsson's "The Terrace" (shown at last year's Lincoln Center Fest) for Yank distribution and reportedly also has made a four-picture deal with the Argentine di-

(Continued on page 18)

FESTIVALS ARE LOOK-ALIKES

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Argentina's International Film Festival which ended in this city Saturday last (11) was typical of film festivals on almost any continent. That is to say, the films presented were subject, alternately, to the mutually contradictory charges of being either (a) too "festivalish" in tone and quality, or (b) not sufficiently meritorious for unreeling at a festival. Few festivals nowadays but fall victim to one or two films slipped into the diplomatic pouch and embarrassing to everybody. Only diplomacy could explain the presence here of the United Arab Republic's "A Man in Our House."

Actually this year saw only a few truly exciting films in the total of 20. One of these, "I Campagni" from Italy won the "Best Picture" prize. Another, from Spain, "Los Tarantoe," drew a "special" prize. It helped the festival over-all that it was inaugurated by the United Artists-Lopert release, "Tom Jones." Probably this most-laurelled feature of this season, "Jones" was out-of-competition here.

German Faux Pas

Politics also got into the act in the acceptance by fest authorities of the official German entry, "Druchbruch Lok 234," a blatantly anti-East German propaganda film which bored even western viewers and so irritated the Russ delegation that they henceforth boycotted all German functions. It was an avoidable faux pas, unredeemed by any artistic considerations.

Fact that there were even fewer offshore producers and distributors here this year than at past Mar Del Plata fests would seem to indicate that future fest heads of the Argentine affair (the presidency rotates each year) must succeed in getting a generally higher quality of picture to entice biz elements and those reporters who have an international readership. A definite plus this year was the greater emphasis on reporters from all over the latino hemisphere. This can be of real value to offshore distribs seeking to launch their product in South America via the Argentine fest. The 1964 leadership, under fest prez Lucas Demare, a rep of the Argentine directors guild, seemed quite okay but this fest needs—maybe more than anything else—a permanent chief to assure some sort of continuity in policy and procedure.

Anyone for Swimming

Whether or not this fest will continue to be held in B.A. is still a moot point. Few Argentine cinema people would vote for keeping it here, not simply because they like the vacation atmosphere of Mar del Plata, but also because they feel the fest is lost in this city of 4,000,000-plus. In Mar Del Plata, all delegates, foreign and domestic, were billetted together in one central spot, making for much easy, impromptu exchange of information. Here, the locals, living all over the city, didn't have that constant contact which over a period of a week or so may breed important friendships, economic as well as social.

For offshore delegates, of course, being in B.A. was a good deal more interesting than being in one of the provincial cities. There already is talk in the local press that next year's fest may be held in Mendoza, Cordoba or Bariloche, the latter considered a particularly attractive possibility. Located high in the Andes, about 800 miles from B.A., Bariloche is fast becoming very much "in" with that portion of the jet set which either skis or fancies itself in stretch pants. It has only one drawback as a fest headquarters: no theatre.

Buenos Aires, on the other hand, not only has an ideal festival theatre in the lovely Teatro San Martin (containing three auditoriums) but also, because almost one-quarter of the nation's citizens live here, is the center of all Argentine

(Continued on page 70)

Goldenson Wants Cumulative Voting Out to Spike Any Move-In By Simon

Board of directors of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres las week (6) unanimously voted to recommend to company stockholders (at a special meeting on May 19) an amendment to the corporation's charter to eliminate cumulative voting in election of directors.

Leonard Goldenson, AB-PT president, is girding for a showdown battle with industrialist Norton Simon, who has become a heavy investor in AB-PT and wants to put a representative on the board (as a starter,). He could do so with 350,000 shares under the present cumulative voting procedure. He was holding more than 100,000 shares a couple of weeks ago when he informed Goldenson of his intentions. The special meeting on May 19 will be held one hour in advance of the regular annual assemblage.

News handout on action did not make reference to Simon but said that Goldenson, in an oral report to the board, had "reviewed the requests from two different groups for Board membership." It also said that he had discussed the requests with ABC network affiliates at the NAB convention in Chicago and "in all instances, wholehearted support was received to oppose the pending Board membership requests."

The procedure of cumulative voting, which allows a minority interest to elect a board member, was a provision in the original charter of Paramount Pictures, a predecessor corporation. The board said that it had carefully considered that matter before reaching its conclusion.

It is the board's decision that the broadcasting business, which constitutes most of the corporation's activities, is substantially regulated by the Federal Communications Commission and is subject to responsibilities beyond the requirements of normal commercial enterprises. It said that the broadcasting industry must operate in the public interest "and cannot be subjected to the will of special interests."

The board also noted that the cumulative voting provision was a device by which two different groups had attempted to gain a seat on the board under circumstances which it considered against the best interests of the company and its stockholders. It felt that the presence on the board of a rep of a special group would be divisive and contrary to the best interests of AB-PT and its stockholders.

Col. Glenn Cancels Out

Hollywood, April 14.

Rod Serling replaces ailing astronaut Col. John Glenn as narrator of Cinerama's Spacearium presentation for the N.Y. World's Fair.

Fifteen-min. film titled "To the Moon and Beyond," has Jeremy Lepard as producer-director.

Karl Malden As Yank Conscience

Buenos Aires, April 14.

A large part of the credit for the improved norteamericano "image" at this year's Argentine film fest must inevitably go to the official head of the U.S. delegation, Karl Malden. Star worked long hours at the job, which he performed somewhat like a benevolent Marine drill sergeant keeping his rookies in line. Malden saw to it that the Yanks were repped at every official function, that they arrived on time and that there was some accommodation for straggler-victims of the Latin American sense of punctuality.

That the star's hand-across-the-sea efforts were equally successful was reflected in his being named the muy simpatico actor at the fest. And, at the award ceremonies, he received an ovation for his short but pungent acceptance remarks. Malden recalled a speech from "that great Russian playwright, Maxim Gorky," who in "The Lower Depths," said that "man is not you or you or you. But man is you and you and you, the sum of all of us." Star added: "I came here with love and affection and that is what I have received from you." There was hardly a dry eye in the houseful of often prickly Latinos.

BREAK PIGGY BANK FOR ROONEY SQUARER

Los Angeles, April 14.

Mickey Rooney, who went into bankruptcy last August but still was liable for $91,008 in Federal and California State back income taxes, is square with the government.

Superior Court has revoked a $126,000 trust fund set up for Rooney in 1940 when he was 20 (a minor) so actor could pay off $87,196 in Federal and $3,812 State income taxes and "get a fresh start."

Under terms of fund when set up, Rooney could draw only interest, not principal, until he was 60. Attorney for Rooney told court that interest on the tax delinquency would equal the entire amount of trust fund if it remained unpaid until he was 60.

U's TACTICS ON 'BRASS'

Film Into Cod-and-Bean Area with 100 Prints

Universal's "The Brass Bottle" opens in more than 100 theatres in the New England territory Friday (17) as part of a territorial saturation. Campaign is back by ad-pub-promotion campaign similar to those used in Texas, Atlanta, Charlotte and Pittsburgh.

Two special field reps are already working the territory and 12 cities are conducting "Harem Girl" contests, with tie-ins with newspaper, radio and tv promotion. Universal's Magic Carpet will visit many communities in the five-state area. Following series of territorial playoffs, "Bottle" is scheduled for a May release.

FELLINI AND BUNUEL AS ACTOR'S FAVORITES

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Federico Fellini's "8½" and Luis Bunuel's "The Exterminating Angel" were named best foreign-language film and best foreign Spanish language film, respectively, for 1963 by the Argentine Actors Assn. and the Assn. of Argentine Film Journalists. Awards were announced at a charity ball, sponsored by the two associations, at the Alvear-Palace Hotel Saturday (4) night.

Awards for Argentine films were as follows: best film, Fernando Ayala's "Paula Cautiva"; best director, Juan Antonio Bardem, "Los Inocentes"; best actor, Alfredo Alcon, "Los Inocentes"; best actress, Susana Freyre, "Paula Cautiva"; best newcomer, the child actress Belita, featured in Leopoldo Torre-Nilsson's "The Terrace"; best black-and-white photography, Alberto Etchebehere, "Los Inocentes"; best settings, Gori Munoz, "Los Inocentes"; best music, Astor Piazzola, "Paula Cautiva."

Because there was no clear majority in the voting, the associations made no awards for original screenplay, adaptation, new male personality nor color photography.

L.A. Okay Despite Oscars; 'Newman' Socko $28,000, 'Paris' 22G, 'Jones' Smash $24,500, 'Today' Great 21G

Los Angeles, April 14.

Firstruns here currently are taking it easy although the overall outlook is fairly okay despite generally poor biz Monday because of Academy Oscar telecast. Pair of openers are showing well in multiples as well as hardtops. "Captain Newman," on first general release, shapes socko $28,000 in five while "Paris When It Sizzles" looks good $22,000 or near in four houses. "Mail Order Bride" looms slender in three spots.

"Tom Jones" is still smash at $24,500 playing three houses, one of them on 20th week. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" shapes sockeroo $21,000 in fourth round at Fox Wilshire.

"Pink Panther" is rousing $18,000 in fourth Hollywood Par week. "South Pacific" is hefty in second Egyptian stanza. "Becket" looks solid $20,000 in fourth at Warner Beverly.

On multiple front, "Captain Newman" is likely to hit $176,000 in 30 spots, "Paris" $140,000 in 24 sites and "Bride" $102,000 in 25.

Estimates for This Week

Baldwin, Hillstreet, Hollywood (State - Metropolitan - FWC) (1,800; 2,752; 856; $1-$1.49)—"Mail Order Bride" (MGM) and "Muscle Beach Party" (AI) (m.o.). Slender $14,000 or close. Last week, Baldwin—with Iris, Los Angeles, Village, Wiltern, "The Cardinal" (Col) (1st general release), "Great Armored Car Swindle" (Fal), $36,100. Hillstreet, "Flight from Ashiya" (UA), "House of Damned" (20th) (2d wk), $3,700. Hollywood, "Sunday in New York" (MGM), "Global Affair" (MGM) (subrun) (2d wk), $6,500.

Beverly (State) (1,150; $1.49-$2.40) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (8th wk). Big $13,500. Last week, $15,400.

Chinese (FWC) (1,408; $1.49-$2.40)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (6th wk). Fancy $12,000. Last week, $19,000.

Cinerama (Pac) (915; $1.49-$3.50)—"Mad World" (UA) (23d wk). Slick $24,000 or over. Last week, $26,700.

Crest, Iris, Los Angeles, Loyola, Wiltern (State-FWC-Metropolitan-SW) (750; 825; 2,049; 1,298; 2,344; $1-$1.49)—"Captain Newman" (U) (1st general release) and "Brass Bottle" (U) (m.o.). Boffo $28,000. Last week, Crest, "Mr. Limpet" (WB), "Legend of Lobo" (BV) (reissue) (3d wk), $2,500. Loyola with Pix, Warren's, "Muscle Beach Party" (AI), "Summer Holiday" (AI), $18,000.

Egyptian (UATC) (1,392; $1.55)—"South Pacific" (20th) (reissue) (2d wk). Hefty $12,000. Last week, $15.900.

El Rey, Pix, Village, Warren's (FWC - Prin - FWC-Metropolitan) (856; 756; 1,535; 1,757; $1-$1.49)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) and "To Catch a Thief" (Par) (reissue). Good $21.000. Last week, El Rey, "Charade" (U) (Moveover), "Man in Middle" (20th) (subrun), $3.200.

Fine Arts (FWC) (631; $1.50-$2)—"Silence" (Janus) (10th wk). Fine $3,000. Last week, $2,900.

Four Star (UATC) (868; $1.25-$2)—"Sunday in New York" (MGM) (m.o.) and "The Prize" (MGM) (subrun). Tepid $1,500.

Fox Wilshire (FWC) (1,990; $2-$2.40)—"Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" (Emb) (4th wk). Sockeroo $21.000. Last week, $25,300.

Hollywood Paramount (State) (1,468; $2-$2.40)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk). Rousing $18,000. Last week. $21,000.

Lido (FWC) (876; $1.50-$2)—"To Bed or Not To Bed" (Ster) (3d wk). Okay $3,000. Last week, $2 900.

Orpheum, Picfair, Vogue (Metropolitan-State-FWC) (2,213; 750; 810; $1.25-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (20th wk, Orpheum; 16th, Picfair, Vogue). Stout $24,500 or close. Last week, $25,400.

Pantages (RKO) (1.512; $2.50-$5 50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (43d wk). Bulky $18,000. Last week, $18 900.

Warner Beverly (SW) (1,316; $1 65-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (4th wk). Fine $20,000. Last week, $22.100.

Warner Hollywood (SW) (1,291; $1 75-$2.80) — "How West Was Won" (MGM) (60th wk). Classy $19,000. Last week, $19,900.

Key City Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $3,850,900
(Based on 24 cities and 279 theatres).
Last Year $4,466,050
(Based on 24 cities and 299 theatres, chiefly first runs including N. Y.)

'C'baggers' Giant $37,000 in Denver

Denver, April 14.

Big news here currently is the mighty take being registered by "The Carpetbaggers" on world preem at Paramount. It did so well in the first five days that a new record looms for full week. Launching of the new pic brought personals by many of the film's stars and producer Joseph E. Levine. Initial days was an all-time high for the house.

Elsewhere, it's mostly holdovers or extended-runs. "Fall of Roman Empire" shapes sock in small-seater Denham second round. "Tom Jones" still is good in eighth session daydating two very small houses.

Estimates for This Week

Aladdin (Fox) (900; $1.45)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (6th wk). Good $5,000. Last week, $6,200.

Centre (Fox) (1,270; $1.25-$1.45)—"Captain Newman" (U) (4th wk). Okay $6,500. Last week, $8,000.

Cooper (Cooper) (814; $1.65-$2.50)—"How West Was Won" (MGM) (56th wk). Big $8,700. Last week, $10,500.

Denham (Indie) (800; $1.45-$2.50)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (2d wk). Sock $10,000. Last week, $6,000.

Denver (Fox) (2,432; $1.25)—"Muscle Beach Party" (AI) and "Young Swingers" (20th) (2d wk). Nice $8,000 or close. Last week, $14,500.

Esquire (Fox) (600; $1.45)—"Cleopatra" (20th). Stout $4,200. Last week, "To Bed or Not To Bed" (Cont) (2d wk), $1,700.

RKO International 70 (RKO) (1,530; $1-$1.50)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (3d wk). Fair $4,500. Last week, $7,500.

Paramount (Wolfberg) (2,100; $1.25-$1.45) — "Carpetbaggers" (Par). Giant $37,000 or close. Last week, "Irma La Douce" (UA) and "Some Like It Hot" (UA) (reissues), $10,000.

Towne (Indie) (600; $1.25-$1.45)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Good $4,500. Last week, $5,500.

Crest (Wolfberg) (700; $1.25-$1.45)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Good $4,200. Last week, $6,000.

Vogue (Art Theatre Guild) (450; $1.25)—"Point of Order" (Indie). Mild $1,100. Last week, "Devil and Ten Commandments" (Indie), $1,100.

Cincy Brisk; 'Night' Hep 9G; 'World' Hot $12,500, 17th; 'Merlin' 7G, 3d

Cincinnati, April 14.

Cincy firstruns are in brisk step despite income tax deadline and baseball season's opening frame. "Night Must Fall," lone downtown newcomer, looks good at Albee. "Cleopatra" is exiting after a favorable engagement and 42-week record tenancy at the Grand. Continuing as stalwarts are "It's a Mad World," boffo in 17th lap at Capitol and "Tom Jones," great in ninth at the Times. In their third weeks, "Merlin Jones" rates nice at Keith's, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" bids okay at Palace and "Captain Newman" shapes soft at Valley.

Hilltop arters are in so-so trend. Twin Drive-In, which operates the west side throughout the year, has opened the other half where subruns of "Four For Texas" and "A Summer Place" look so-so.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (3,100; $1.25-$1.50)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM). Good $9,000. Last week, "Man In Middle" (20th), $8,000.

Capitol (SW-Cinerama) (1,329; $1.25-$2.75) — "Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Hotsy $12,500. The 16th week was $13,000.

Esquire (Cin-T-Co) (500; $1.25)—"The Silence" (Janus) (3d wk). Okay $1,400. Last week, $1,800.

Grand (RKO) (1,396; $1.80-$3)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk). Oke $4,500 or better for final week of theatre's longest run. Last week, $4,600.

Guild (Kilgore) (272; $1.25) — "And Suddenly It's Murder" (Indie). Fair $1,300. Last week, "Aliki-My Love" (Indie), $1,000.

Hyde Park (Cin-T-Co) (700; $1.25)—"Silence" (Janus) (3d wk). Fair $1,000. Last week, $1,200.

Keith's (Cin-T-Co) (1,500; $1.25-$1.50)—"Merlin Jones" (BV) (3d wk). Nice $7,000 after $8,000 for second.

Palace (RKO) (2,600; $1.25-$1.50)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM) (3d wk). Pleasing $7,000 or near. Last week, $8,000.

Plaza (Fine Arts) (600; $1.25) — "Dangerous Love Affairs" (Indie). So-so $1,200.

Times (Mid-States) (660; $1.25-$1.50) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Great $11,000 or over after $11,700 in eighth session.

Twin Drive-In (Cin-T-Co) (800 cars each side; $1)—West: "Commando" (AI) and "Torpedo Bay" (AI). Fairish $4,200. Last week, "What's Up Front" (AI) and "Strange Creature" (AI), $4,800. East: "4 For Texas" (WB) and "A Summer Place" (WB) (subruns). Modest $4,000.

Valley (Cin-T-Co) (1,275; $1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Soft $5,000. Last week, $6,000.

'Arabia' Huge 36G, T'ronto; 'Love' 7G

Toronto, April 14.

Tele coverage of the semi-final playoffs of the National Hockey League, in which Toronto ousted the Montreal Canadiens in seven games will cut deeply into film biz here currently. However, the reissue of "Lawrence of Arabia" is doing boffo trade in three houses opening week plus some five other houses and two ozoners. And "It's a Mad World" still is okay in 17th session at Carlton if down sharply.

"Becket," too, shapes wham in third Eglinton round. "Tom Jones" is rated wow in 16th stanza at Hyland. "Paris When It Sizzles" shapes good on opener in three spots. "Fall of Roman Empire" looms boffo in third session at the University.

Estimates for This Week

Carlton (Rank) (2,158; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Good $10,000. Last week, $14,000.

Coronet, Danforth, Humber (Rank) (799; 1,328; 1,203; $1-$1.50)—"Lawrence of Arabia" (Col). Boffo $36,000 or near. Last week, "Brass Bottle" (U) $18,000.

Eglinton (FP) (1,042; $2-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (3d wk). Wow $20,000. Last week, $21,000.

Fairlawn (Rank) (1,165; $1-$1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (11th wk). Big $7,000 or near. Last week, $8,000.

Hollywood (FP) (1,080; $1-$1.50)—"Love With Proper Stranger" (Par) (9th wk). Big $7,000. Last week, $8,500.

Hyland (Rank) (1,357; $1-$1.50)—"Tom Jones" (IFD) (16th wk). Wow $20,000. Last week, $23,000.

Imperial, Yorkdale, Golden Mile (FP) (3,206; 760; 1,004; $1-$1.50)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par). Good $14,000. Last week "The Victors" (Col), $15,000.

International (Taylor) (557; $1-$1.50)——"Purple Noon" (IFD) (2d wk). Okay $3,000. Last week, $4,000.

Loew's (Loew) (1,639; $1-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Nice $15,000 or near. Last week, $17,500.

Tivoli (FP) (935; $1-$1.50)—"The Cardinal" (Col) (17th wk). Big $5,800. Last week, $6,000.

Towne, Yorkdale Cinema (Taylor) (693; 450; $1-$1.50)—"America, America" (WB) (4th wk). Sock $9,000 or close. Last week, $10,400.

University (FP) (1,344; $2-$3.50)——"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (3d wk). Boffo $17,000 or near. Last week, $18,000.

Uptown (Loew) (2,245; $1-$1.50)—"Why Bother to Knock" (7 Arts). Fair $7,000. Last week, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM), $8,300.

Hub Spotty; 'Strangler' Fancy 10G; 'Limpet' Fine 7G, 'Doctor' Boff 23G, 2d; 'Paris' NG 10G, 'Tiara' OK 6G

Boston, April 14.

Biz continues spotty at wickets here, with only a few new entries this stanza. "Strangler," based on the Boston strang'ing murders, is hotsy at the Center for opener. "Tiara Tahiti" finished up at okay in first week at the Exeter. "Girl in Trouble' 'is also okay at the Pilgrim.

"Mr. Limpet" is slick in second at the Mayflower, and on multiple-run in 35 suburbans nabbed over $95,000 opening week. "Dr. Strangelove" is smash winner in second at Astor. "Captain Newman" looks hotsy at Memorial for third round.

"Night Must Fall" is fine in second at the Paramount. "Of Women and Pleasure" shapes stout in second at the West End Cinema. "Tom Jones" continues great at Beacon Hill in 17th week. "Pink Panther" is rated sock in fourth at the Gary.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (B&Q) (1,117; 90-$1.80)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (3d wk). Third week opened Friday (10). Second week, smash $23,000.

Beacon Hill (Sack) (900; $1-$1.80)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (17th wk). Big $18,000. Last week, $18,500.

Boston (Beacon Ent.) (1,354; $1.20-$3.95)—"Mad World" (UA) (22d wk). The 21st week ended Monday (13) was great $17,000. Last week, $17,500.

Capri (Sack) (900; $1-$1.80) — "Servant" (Indie) (subrun) (3d wk). Oke $5,000. Last week, $6,000.

Center (E. M. Loew) (1,250; 90-$1.25)—"Strangler" (AA) and "Secret Door" (Indie). Hotsy $10,000. Last week, "Naughty Dallas" (Indie) and "Passion Street" (Indie) (2d wk), $4,000.

Cinema, Kenmore Square (Indie) (320; $1.50-$1.90)—"Silence" (Janus) and "Old Man and Flower" (Indie) (8th wk). Big $3,500. Last week, $3,600.

Exeter (Indie) (1,276; 90-$1.49)—"Tiara Tahiti" (Zenith) (2d wk). Second week opened Saturday (11). First week, okay $6,000.

Gary (Sack) (1,277; $1.25-$1.80)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk). Socko $12,000. Last week, $10,000.

Mayflower (ATC) (689; 90-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). Bright $7,000 or near. Last week $9,000, over hopes.

Memorial (RKO) (3,000; 90-$1.80) — "Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (4th wk). Fourth week began Friday (10). Third was stout $15,000.

Music Hall (Sack) (4,400; 90-$1.80)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (3d wk). Mild $10,000. Last week, $12,000.

Orpheum (Loew) (2,900; 90-$1.80) — "L-Shaped Room" (Cont) and "Sundays and Cybele" (Indie) (reissues). Weak $7,200. Last week, "Queen of Sheba" (Indie) and "Barbarians" (Indie), $8,000.

Paramount (NET) (2,357; 90-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM) (2d wk). Hotsy $14,000. Last week, $16,000.

Pilgrim (ATC) (1,909; 75-$1.25)—"Girl In Trouble" (Indie) and "Love on Riviera" (Indie). Perky $8,000. Last week, "White Slaves Chinatown" and "Surfside 77" (Indie) (reissue) (2d wk), $4,000.

Park Square Cinema (Indie) (300; $1.80)—"Billy Liar" (Cont) and "David and Lisa" (Cont) (subruns) (2d wk). Good $3,000. Last week, $3,300.

Paris Cinema (Indie) (608; $1.75)—"America, America" (WB) (6th wk). Nice $4,000. Last week, $4,500.

Saxon (Sack) (1,100; $2-$3.90)—"Cardinal" (Col) (18th wk). Socko $18,000. Last week, same.

State (Trans-Lux) (730; $1-$1.50)—"Heavenly Bodies" (Indie) and "White Slavery" (Indie) (2d wk). Perky $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

West End Cinema (E. M. Loew) (500; 75-$1.50)—"Of Women and Pleasure" (Indie) (2d wk). Potent $7,000. Last week, $8,000.

Broadway Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week $582,500
(Based on 35 theatres)
Last Year $818,100
(Based on 34 theatres)

'Empire' Big 19G, Philly; 'Shock' 8G

Philadelphia, April 14.

Three-day downpour this session is cutting into biz at first-runs currently. However, "Fall of Roman Empire" shapes very big on initial week at Stanley with $2.75 top. "Shock Treatment" is only mild on opener at Stanton. Reissued "8½" looms trim at Yorktown on first.

"Capt. Newman" looks sturdy in second at Fox. "Tom Jones" is rated mighty in seventh Midtown week, "It's a Mad World" looms lofty in 17th session at the Boyd.

Estimates for This Week

Arcadia (S&S) (623; $1.20-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM) (2d wk). Busy $7,000. Last week, $9,000.

Boyd (SW) (1,536; $2-$2.75) — "Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Lofty $15,000 or over. Last week, $16,000.

Bryn Mawr (Goldman) (630; $1.49)—"America, America" (WB) (5th wk). Pleasing $3,800. Last week, $4,100.

Fox (Milgram) (2,400; 95-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) (2d wk). Sturdy $16,000. Last week, $24,000.

Goldman (Goldman) (1,000; 95-$1.80)—"Flight From Ashiya" (UA) (2d wk). Fair $5,000. Last week, $7,000.

Lane (SW) (1,000; $1.49)—"Silence" (Janus) (2d wk). Noisy $6,500. Last week, $11,000.

Midtown (Goldman) (1,200; 95-$2.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA (7th wk). Mighty $20,000. Last week, $25,000.

Randolph (Goldman) (2,200; 95-$1.80) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (7th wk). Slick $8,000 or near. Last week, $10,000.

Stanley (SW) (1,450; $2-$2.75)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par). Big $19,000. Last week, "Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk), $10,000.

Stanton (SW) (1,483; 95-$1.80)—"Shock Treatment" (20th). Mild $8,000. Last week, "Global Affair" (MGM) and "Mail Order Bride" (MGM), $7,500.

Trans-Lux (T-L) (500; 95-$2) — "Charade" (U) (16th wk). Okay $4,200. Last week, $5,200.

World (Rugoff) (499; 95-$1.80)—"America, America" (WB) (5th wk). Fine $3,400. Last week, $3,800.

Yorktown (SW) (1,000; $1.49)—"8½" (Embassy) (reissue). Trim $4,200. Last week, "Name Is Ivan" (Indie) (2d wk), $2,000.

'Jones' Wow $26,000 In Det.; 'World' Ditto Both 9th; 'Doctor' Big 18G

Detroit, April 14.

Overall biz among the firstruns stays first-rate this week. "Tom Jones" at Trans-Lux Krim shapes wow in ninth round. "It's a Mad World" at Music Hall looks great, also in ninth.

"Dr. Strangelove" stays smash in fifth round at Madison. "South Pacific" is back for a profitable session at the Michigan. "Capt. Newman" shapes fine in third at Mercury. "Pink Panther" looks smart in third frame at the Adams.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Downtown Fox Corp.) (5,041; $1.25-$1.49)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM)) and "Centurion and Gladiator" (Indie) (3d wk.) Fair $9,000. Last week, $15,500.

Michigan (United Detroit) (4,926; $1.25-$1.49)—"South Pacific" (20th) (reissue). Oke $12,000. Last week, "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk), $10,000.

Palms (UD) (2,995;; $1.25-$1.49)

(Continued on page 10)

Chi Trade Offish With 'Way' Slight 13G, 'Night' 13G, 2d; 'Panther' Fast 16G, 'May' Brisk 14G, 'Becket' 17G

Chicago, April 14.

Chi firstrun biz is sluggish currently despite good weather as holdovers begin to show their wear. New this round is "One Man's Way," which is rated a light $13,000 on Oriental bow, and Monroe tandem of "Right Hand of Devil" and "Sadist," which looms okay.

"Night Must Fall" is registering a good second Woods frame. "A Tiger Walks" shapes trim in third Roosevelt round. "Captain Newman" is snappy at the Chicago in fourth.

"Pink Panther" is tallying a slick fourth State-Lake lap. Daydated "The Silence" is grabbing a hep fourth frame at Loop and Carnegie.

Of the longruns, "Seven Days In May" is notching a sturdy seventh United Artists session. "Dr. Strangelove" remains torrid in its Esquire eighth. "Tom Jones" is nailing a terrific last five days in its 17th Todd week.

Hardticketed "Becket" is still strong in its Cinestage fourth.

Estimates for This Week

Carnegie (Brotman) (495; $1.25-$1.80)—"Silence" (Janus) (4th wk). Smart $4,500. Last week, $4,400.

Chicago (B&K) (3,900; 90-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (U) (4th wk). Nice $16,000. Last week, $19,000.

Cinema (Stern) (500; $1.50)—"To Bed Or Not To Bed" (Cont) (4th wk). Nice $3,700. Lask week, $3,800.

Cinestage (Todd) (1,038; $1.75-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (4th wk). Strong $17,000. Last week, $18,500.

Esquire (H&E Balaban) (1,236; $1.25-$1.80) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (8th wk). Tall $14,000. Last week, $18,000.

Loop (Brotman) (606; 90-$1.80)—"Silence" (Janus) (4th wk). Sharp $8,000. Last week, $7,900.

McVickers (Beacon) (1,100; $2.20-$3.80)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (21st wk). Smash $22,000 or close. Last week, $25,700.

Monroe (Jovan) (1,000; 65-90)—"Right Hand of Devil" (Indie) and "Sadist" (Indie). Okay $5,000. Last week, "Seven Capital Sins" (Indie) (reissue) and "Bluebeard" (Indie), $4,500.

Oriental (Indie) (3,400; 90-$1.80)—"One Man's Way" (UA). Slim $13,000. Last week, "Flight From Ashiya" (UA) (3d wk), $12,000.

Roosevelt (B&K) (1,400; 90-$1.80)

(Continued on page 10)

Estimates Are Net

Film gross estimates as reported herewith from the various key cities, are net; i.e., without usual tax. Distributors share on net take, when playing percentage, hence the estimated figures are net income.

The parenthetic admission prices, however, as indicated, include U. S. amusement tax.

'Horrors' Modest $10,000 in K.C.

Kansas City, April 14.

Only two first-run pix opened here this round, one being a British semi-art duo at the small Rockhill. Other one is "Horrors of Party Beach" and "Curse of Living Corpse" at Fox Granada and three local ozoners. This looks fair.

On the extensive holdover front, "Mr. Limpert" is sagging in third week at Paramount but "Seven Days in May" still is neat in third at the Roxy. "Dr. Strangelove" shapes solid at the Brookside for third session. "Tiger Walks" is rated slow at Uptown, also third. Hard-ticket "It's a Mad World" shapes sock at Empire in 17th stanza.

Estimates for This Week

Brookside (Fox Midwest-Nat. Gen.) (800; $1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (4th wk). Solid $5,000 or near. Last week, $6,500.

Capri (Durwood) (1,260; $1.85-$3)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (22d wk). Sturdy $7,500. Last week, $7,000.

Crest, Riverside (Commonwealth) (900 cars each), Boulevard (Rosedale) (750 cars), Granada (FMW) (1,219; $1.25)—"Horrors of Party Beach" (20th) and "Curse of Living Dead" (20th). Reaching for fair $10,000 or close. Last week, subruns.

Empire (Durwood) (866; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Smash $11,500. Last week, $11,000.

Kimo (Dickinson) (504; $1.50-$2) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Plush $7,000. Last week, same.

Paramount (Blank-UP) (1,900; $1.25-$1.50) — "Mr. Limpet" (WB) (3d wk). Fair $6,000. Last week, $8,000.

Plaza (FMW) (1,630; $1.25-$1.50) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (3d wk). Fairish $6,000. Last week, $8,000.

Rockhill (Art Theatre Guild) (821; $1-$1.25)—"Trial and Error" (MGM) and "Kill or Cure" (MGM). Mild $1,500. Last week, "To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (2d wk), $1,000.

Roxy (Durwood) (644; 75-$1.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (3d wk). Neat $7,500. Last week, $8,000.

Uptown (FMW) (2,043; $1.25-$1.50) — "Tiger Walks" (BV) (3d wk) and "Big Red" (BV) (2d wk). Slow $5,000. Last week, with Granada, $8,000.

'Newman' Big $12,000, Col.; 'World' Sock 10G

Columbus, O., April 14.

"Captain Newman" at the Ohio and "Incredible Mr. Limpet" at the Palace, new bookings here, look okay on openers. "Newman" is big. "Cleopatra" is continuing hefty at the New Main and Beechwold. "It's a Mad World" shapes pleasing in ninth week at Grand.

Estimates for This Week

Beechwold (Academy-Neth) and New Main (Yassenoff) (860; 1,100; $1-$2)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (4th wk). Hefty $10,000 or near. Last week, $12,200.

Grand (RKO) (860; $1.50-$2.75)—"Mad World" (UA) (9th wk). Socko $10,000 or over. Last week, $11,000.

Ohio (Loew) (3,079; 50-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U). Big $12,000. Last week, "Seven Days in May" (Par), $8,500.

Palace (RKO) (2,845; 50-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB) and "Thunder Island" (WB). Adequate $8,000. Last week, "Merlin Jones" (BV), $7,000.

'Terrors' Meek $7,000, Buff; 'Newman' 9G, 4th

Buffalo, April 14.

Trade shapes uneven to dull this stanza, with little or no help coming from newcomers. "Comedy of Terrors" shapes slim on opener at Paramount. "Mail Order Bride" is rated dull in first at the Buffalo. "It's a Mad World" looms solid in third at the Teck. "Captain Newman" is fine in Fourth at two theatres.

Estimates for This Week

Buffalo (Loew) (3,500; $1-$1.49)—"Mail Order Bride" (MGM) and "Young Racers" (Indie). Dull $6,000. Last week, "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) and "Battle of World" (MGM) (2d wk—6 days), $7,300.

Center (AB-PT) (2,500; $1-$1.49)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (2d wk). Big $8,000. Last week, $15,000.

Century (UATC) (2,700; $1-$1.49)—"Captain Newman" (U) (4th wk). Fine $5,000. Last week, $6,000.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,000; $1-$1.49)—"Comedy of Terrors" (AI) and "Night Tide" (AI). Slim $7,000 in 9 days. Last week, "Tiger Walks" (BV) (2d wk), $8,700.

Teck (Loew) (1,260; $1.25-$2.50)—"Mad World" (UA) (3d wk). Solid $7,000. Last week, $12,500.

Cinema (Martina) (450; $1-$1.49)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (10th wk). Okay $4,000. Last week, $5,000.

Amherst (Dipson) (1,000; $1-$1.49)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (10th wk). Neat $5,000. Last week, $6,600.

Granada (Schine) (1,000; $1-$1.50) — "Captain Newman" (U) (4th wk). Sturdy $4,000. Last week, $5,000.

'Doctor' Sock 10G, Prov.; 'Jones' 11G

Providence, April 14.

Ideal weekend outdoor weather had the roads crowded with Sunday travelers and also helped downtown film biz here. On the socko side was opening week of "Dr. Strangelove" at the Strand. Also still smash is Elmwood's 10th round of "Tom Jones." RKO Albee's "Man In Middle" and Majestic's "Strangler" are only fairish. State is on poor side with "Night Must Fall."

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (2,200; 90-$1.25)—"Man In Middle" (20th) and "Surf Party" (20th). Fairish $5,500. Last week, "Captain Newman" (U) and "Dream Maker" (U) (3d wk), $4,000.

Elmwood (Snider) (2,200; $1-$1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (10th wk). Wow $11,000 plateau. Ninth week was $10,800.

Majestic (SW) (2,200; 90-$1.25)—"The Strangler" (AA) and "Secret Door" (AA). Adjoining city's drive-in showing of these two films is not helping one bit and looks fairish $4,000. Last week, "America America" (WB), $3,800.

State (Loew) (3,200; 90-$1.25)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM). Fairing very badly at $3,000 or near. Last week, "Tamahine" (MGM), $4,500.

Strand (National Realty) (2,200; $1.25-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col). Mighty $10,000. Last week, "Cardinal" (Col) (5th wk), $6,000.

B'way Spotty; 'Russia' Boffo $35,000, 'Paris' Lush 36G, Best Man' Big 22G; 'Jones' 28G, 'Today' 37G, 'Becket' 34G

Ideal outdoor weather, both last Saturday and Sunday, hurt trade at Broadway deluxers those two prize boxoffice days. Result is a very spotty Broadway firstrun setup which was further damaged a bit by telecast of Oscar awards Monday (13) night.

Bright feature of current stanza is some sturdy to smash new product. "From Russia With Love" is hitting a smash $35,000 or close opening week at the Astor, and is doing equally well on Showcase. "Paris When It Sizzles" looks good $24,000 or close at the Paramount on opener and socko $12,000 in first at the Trans-Lux 52d Street. "Best Man" landed a big $22,000 opening round, daydating the Coronet and 34th Street East.

"World of Henry Orient" with stageshow looks to hold with big $135,000 in fourth session at the Music Hall, and goes a fifth week. "Fall of Roman Empire" still is socko at $24,000 in third week at the DeMille. It was hurt as were all hardtickets this session, as compared with a week ago.

Some idea of how badly biz is down from a week ago is gleaned from what happened to "Dr. Strangelove," which was socko $37,000 in 11th stanza, daydating the Victoria and Baronet, down some $13,000 from a week ago.

"Becket" is heading for boffo $34,500 in fifth session at the State. "Capt. Newman" is down to fair $14,000 or less in third week at the Palace, with two reissues replacing today (Wed.). "Seven Days in May" is off to big $21,500 in eighth round, daydating the Criterion and Sutton.

"Tom Jones" is landing a great $28,000 this week, daydating the Cinema One and Cinema Two. In addition, it is racking up a huge $201,469 in 15 Greater N.Y. Theatres.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (City Inv.) (1,094; $1.25-$2)—"From Russia With Love" (UA) (2d wk). Initial round finished yesterday (Tues.) was wow $35,000 or over. Also on Showcase where doing equally as well.

Cinerama (Loew) (1,552; $1.50-$2.50)—"Cardinal" (Col) (subrun) (4th wk). The third week completed yesterday (Tues.) was big $19,000 or near after $25,000 for second. Also playing secondary Showcase.

Criterion (Moss) (1,520; $1.50-$2.50)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (9th wk). Eighth stanza ended yesterday (Tues.) was sturdy $14,000 or close after $26,000 for seventh. Daydating with Sutton. Got some aid from a preview last night (Tues.).

DeMille (Reade) (1,463; $1.50-$3.50)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (3d wk). This week winding tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like big $24,000 after $33,000 for second.

Embassy (Guild Enterprises) (500; $1.50-$2.50) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (5th wk). Off to okay $6,000 in fourth week ended yesterday (Tues.) after $8,500 for third.

Forum (Norel) (813; $1.25-$1.80)—"False Shame" (Embassy). Opened Friday (10). Hit big $11,000 in first three days ended Sunday (12).

Palace (RKO) (1,642; $1.25-$2)—"Operation Petticoat" (U) and "Pillow Talk" (U) (reissues). Open today (Wed.). Last week, "Capt. Newman" (U) (subrun) (3d wk), dipped to fair $14,000 or less after $23,500 for second.

Paramount (AB-PT) (3,665; $1-$2)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). First round completed yesterday (Tues.) was good $23,000. On Showcase.

Radio City Music Hall (Rockefellers) (6,200; 99-$2.85) — "World of Henry Orient" (UA) and Easter stageshow (4th wk). This session ending today (Wed.) is heading for big $135,000 or close after $175,000 for third. Holds a fifth week. "Pink Panther" (UA) opens April 23 after five weeks of "Orient."

Rivoli (UAT) (1,545; $2.50-$5.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (45th wk). The 44th round ended yesterday (Tues.) was fair $14,000 or close after $19,000 for 43d week.

Rialto (Brandt) (600; $1.25-$2.50)—"The Silence" (Janus) (11th wk). The 10th week ended yesterday (Tues.) was big $9,000 or near after $15,000 for seventh. Also at Trans-Lux East.

State (Loew) (1,850; $1.50-$3.50)—"Becket" (Par) (5th wk). Current stanza ending today (Wed.) looks to hit socko $34,500 for 10 performances after $46,000 for 12 shows in fourth.

Victoria (City Inv.) (1,003; $1.25-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (12th wk). The 11th frame completed yesterday (Tues.) was great $20,000 or close after $32,000 for 10th week. Daydating with Baronet.

Warner (SW) (1,504; $2.50-$4.80)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (22d wk). The 21st session completed Saturday (11) was lively $22,000 for standard 10 performances after $60,000 in 20th week for 20 shows.

First-Run Arties

Baronet (Reade) (430; $1.25-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (12th wk). The 11th round ended yesterday (Tues.) was smash $17,000 after

(Continued on page 10)

'PT 109' Lively $8,500, L'ville; 'Stranger' Big 9G; 'World' 10G, 16th

Louisville, April 14.

Conventions, and pleasant spring weather, combined to beef up biz at firstruns here this week. Kentucky Education Assn. meeting brought in large groups of teachers from all parts of the State. "PT 109" and "Palm Springs Weekend" at the Mary Ann is the only fresh entry downtown lineup, and shapes lively.

"Love With Proper Stranger," in third at the Penthouse will equal last week's take. "Tiger Walks" at the United Artists is rated okay Sixteenth stanza of "It's a Mad World" at Rialto is being helped by school teacher trade, and fact that the kids had a vacation. It looks sock. "Tom Jones," in eighth at the Kentucky looms nice.

Estimates for This Week

Kentucky (Switow) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Nice $5,000, same as seventh week.

Mary Ann (People's) (1,100; 75-$1.25)—"PT-109" (WB) and "Palm Springs Weekend" (WB) (reissues). Liveliest spot on Fourth Street, and likely to do bright $8,500. Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk), $5,000.

Ohio (Settos) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (3d wk). Brisk $5,500. Second was $5,000.

Penthouse (Fourth Avenue) (900; 75-$1.25)—"Love With Proper Stranger" (Par) (3d wk). Big $9,000. Second week was same.

Rialto (Fourth Avenue) (1,100; $1.50-$2.50)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (16th wk). Sock $10,000 after 15th week's $6,500.

United Artists (Fourth Avenue) (1,700; 75-$1.25)—"Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Lassie's Great Adventure" (BV) (3d wk). Okay $7,000. Second week, $7,300.

This Week's N.Y. Showcases

(Primary Firstrun Showcases)
(Week's Secondary Showcases)

"The Cardinal" (Col)—$167,000 in five days of third week, 20 spots.

Cinerama, Loew's 83d St., Orpheum (Manhattan); Loew's Kings, Oriental, Triboro, Valencia (Jamaica), New Rochelle, White Plains, Jersey City; Century's Avalon, Green Acres, Grove, Plainview, Huntington; Paramount Staten Island; Bayshore, Cove, Patchoque, Big A, Dale, Luxor, Bronx Palace, Elmwood, Parkhill, RKO Proctor's, Newark.

"Captain Newman" (U)—$160,000 in third week, 24 spots.

Palace, 86th Street; Skouras' Academy, Riviera (Manhattan); RKO Alden, Albee (Brooklyn); Albemarle, Proctor's, New Rochelle, Colony, Elmsford Drive-In, Fordham; Skouras' Astoria, Midway, Valley Stream, Calderone, Central, Town, Squire; Westbury Drive-In, Pelham; Sunrise Drive-In, Whitestone Drive-In.

"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par)—$125,000 in 19 spots.

Paramount, Trans-Lux 52d St. (Manhattan); Loew's Mt. Vernon, Plaza, Scarsdale; Yonkers; Bronx Paradise; Queens' Meadows, Bliss, Hillside; Brooklyn Kingsway, Rialto, Metropolitan; Nassau Glen Cove, Fantasy, Roosevelt Field, Freeport; Suffolk Regent, Rialto, Shore.

"From Russia With Love" (UA)—$428,000 in 5 days, 29 spots.

RKO Coliseum, 58th St.; Astor; Skouras Riverside (Manhattan); Skouras Valentine, Forest Hills, Merrick, Bronxville, Cove, Playhouse, Rivoli (Hempstead), Westbury Drive-in; RKO Castle Hill, Kenmore, Dyker, Madison, Keith's Flushing, Strand, White Plains; Fabian's Fox; Elmsford Drive-in, Belair; Town and Country's Wantagh.

'Today' Smasheroo 17G, D.C.; 'Jones' Wow 20G, 'Empire' Lofty 12G, 2d

Washington, April 14.

Washington's big spring time bash—the Cherry Blossom Festival—has nipped film biz in the bud a bit this round. However, "Tom Jones" looms socko in 16th session at the Ontario. "Pink Panther" figures boffo in fourth frame at Keith's.

"Seven Days in May" is hefty in ninth round at Trans-Lux while "Captain Newman" shapes nifty in third at the Town. "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" is rated smash in second at Embassy. "Fall of Roman Empire" looms great in first holdover week at Warner. "It's a Mad World" still is sockeroo for eighth session at Uptown.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador-Metropolitan (SW) (1,480; 1,000; $1-$1.49) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Fair $7,000. Last week, $9,500.

Apex (KB) (940; $1.25-$1.40) — "Silence" (Janus). Big $8,000 or near. Last week, "Beat Devil" (Indie), $4,700.

Calvert (Mann) (900; $1.25-$1.50) — "Easy Life" (Emb) (6th wk). Okay $3,500. Last week, $4,000.

Dupont (Mann) (400; $1.50-$2)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (8th wk). Big $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

Embassy (Loew) (567; $1.25-$2) — "Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow" (Emb) (2d wk). Sock $17,000 after opening at $21,000.

Keith's (RKO) (1,838; $1-$1.49)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk). Boffo $18,000. Last week, $19,000.

MacArthur (KB) (900; $1.25-$1.40)—Shakespeare Festival pix. Okay $6,000. Last week, "Satur-

(Continued on page 10)

'Jones' Boffola $16,500 in Balto; 'Panther' Wow $11,500, 'Newman' 10G

Baltimore, April 14.

Still in the lead here currently is "Tom Jones," boff in seventh week at the Charles. "Pink Panther" looks sock in fourth round at the Senator. "It's a Mad World" is holding strongly in eighth session at the Town. "Captain Newman" is big in third at the Hipp.

"Dr. Strangelove" shapes sock in eighth at the New. "Seven Days in May" is sturdy in seventh round at Mayfair. "Cleopatra" is fair in third at the Little. "Incredible Mr. Limpet" looks slight in first week at the Stanton. "High and Low" is holding up in fourth at the Playhouse.

Estimates for This Week

Charles (Fruchtman) (500; 50-$1.80) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Boff $16,500. Last week, $17,000.

Five West (Schwaber) (435; 90-$1.50) — "To Bed or Not to Bed" (Cont) (3d wk). Warm $2,000. Last week, $2,300.

Hippodrome (T-L) (1,800; 50-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Hep $10,000. Last week, $11,500.

Little (T-L) (300; 60-$1.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (3d wk). Fair $2,900. Last week, $2,800.

New (Fruchtman) (1,600; 50-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) 8th wk). Sock $7,500. Last week, $8,000.

Mayfair (Fruchtman) (700; 50-$1.50) — "Seven Days in May" (Par) (7th wk). Strong $8,000. Last week, $10,000.

Playhouse (Schwaber) (700; 90-$1.50) — "High and Low" (Toho) (4th wk). Steady $2,000. Last week, same.

Senator (Durkee) (960; 60-$1.50) —"Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk). Boff $11,500. Last week, $12,000.

Stanton (Fruchtman) (2,800; 50-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Mild $6,000. Last week, "Children of Damned" (MGM), $8,000.

Town (T-L) (1,125; $1.50-$2.65)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (8th wk). Strong $15,000. Last week, same.

Rex (Freedman) (500; $1.50) — "Bell, Bare and Beautiful" (Indie). Oke $2,300. Last week, "At Lil's Place" (Mishkin) (2d wk), $2,500 after opener did remarkably well.

'World' Socko $9,000, Port.; 'Jones' Big 10G

Portland, Ore., April 14.

Bulk of strength currently is with the longruns, with the three newcomers highly disappointing. Probably the dullest new entrant is "Mail Order Bride" at Paramount. "It's a Mad World" still is mighty in 17th round at Hollywood while "Tom Jones" looks great in ninth at the Irvington. "Dr. Strangelove" shapes tall in third at the Fox.

Estimates for This Week

Broadway (Parker) (1,890; $1-$1.50)—"Captain Newman" (U) and "One Man's Paris" (U) (4th wk). Nifty $4,000. Last week, $5,600.

Cinema 21 (Foster) (648; $1.50)—"America, America" (WB) (7th wk). Snappy $2,500. Last week, $3,000.

Fine Arts (Foster) (421; $1.50)—"Irma La Douce" (UA) (m.o.) and "Mary, Mary" (WB) (reissue) (13th wk). Nice $2,000. Last week, $2,200.

Fox (Evergreen) (1,600; $1-$1.49) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (3d wk). Tall $6,500. Last week, $6,300.

Hollywood (Evergreen) (1,188; $1.49-$2.75) — "It's a Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Sock $9,000. Last week, $9,300.

Irvington (Smith) (650; $1.50)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Wow $10,000. Last week, $10,400.

Music Box (Hamrick) (640; $1-$1.50)—"All Way Home" (Par). So-so $3,000. Last week, "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) and "Tammy and Doctor" (U) (reissue) (2d wk), $3,400.

Orpheum (Evergreen) (1,536; $1-$1.50)—"Shock Treatment" (20th) and "Man In Middle" (20th). Mild $5,000. Last week, "Soldier In Rain" (AA) and "Gunfight Comanche Creek" (AA), $6,300.

Paramount (Port-Par) (3,006; $1-$1.50)—"Mail Order Bride" (MGM) and "Palm Springs Weekend" (WB) (reissue). Slow $4,000. Last week, "I Want to Live" and "God's Little Acre" (UA) (reissues), $2,300.

'Jones' Hotsy $12,000 In Seattle; 'Doctor' 10G, 3

Seattle, April 14.

It's virtually 100% holdover here this round, with the two new entrants not creating much excitement. However, "Mr. Limpet" is rated good on opener at Orpheum. Big news is the continued socko showing of "Tom Jones," in sixth week at the Blue Mouse, and "Dr. Strangelove," in third at Coliseum.

Estimates for This Week

Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (739; $1.50-$1.75)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (6th wk). Big $12,000 or over. Last week, $13,300.

Coliseum (Fox - Evergreen) (1,870; $1.25-$1.50)—"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (3d wk). Swell $10,000. Last week, $12,700.

Fifth Avenue (Fox-Evergreen) (2,500; $1.50-$2) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (6th wk). Big $9,000. Last week, $9,700.

Martin Cinerama (Martin Theatres) (870; $1.25-$2.25). Dark this week. Last week, "How West Was Won" (MGM) (52d wk), great $17,600 in 9 days.

Music Box (Hamrick) (838; $1.50-$1.75)——"Irma La Douce" (UA) (38th wk). Solid $6,000. Last week, $6,600.

Orpheum (Hamrick) (738; $1.25-$1.50)—"Mr. Limpet" (WB). Good $6,500.

Paramount (Fox-Evergreen) (3,000; $1.25-$1.50)—"One Man's Way" (UA) and "Great Escape" (UA) (reissue). Sad $3,000. Last week, "Muscle Beach Party" (FF) and "Pyro" (FF) (2d wk), $5,400.

BROADWAY

(Continued from page 9)

$22,500 for 10th week.

Beekman (Rugoff Th.) (590; $1.50-$2)—"Adorable Julia" (Indie) (2d wk). First week completed Monday (13) was unattractive $4,000 or close.

Carnegie Hall Cinema (F&A) (330; $1.50-$2)—"Dimka" (Artkino) (4th wk). Current round winding tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for great $8,200 after $10,500 for third week.

Cinema One (Rugoff Th.) (700; $1.50-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (28th wk). The 27th session ended Sunday (12) was wow $17,300 after $29,280 for 26th week. Now playing on saturation booking, as of April 8.

Cinema Two (Rugoff Th.) (300; $1.50-$2)— "Tom Jones" (UA) (10th wk). Ninth week completed yesterday (Tues.) was great $10,700 or close after $14,500 for eighth.

Coronet (Reade) (590; $150-$2)—"Best Man" (U) (2d). Initial stanza completed Sunday (12) was big $12,000. Daydating with 34th St. East.

Festival (Embassy) (546; $2-$2.50) —"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (5th wk). Fourth round completed Monday (13) was great $21,000 or close after $27,500 for third. Daydating Tower East.

Fifth Ave. Cinema (Rugoff Th.) (250; $1.25-$2)—"Open Door and See All World" (Indie) (3d wk). Second week ended yesterday (Tues.) was lean $1,900 after $2,000 on opener.

Fine Arts (Davis) (468; $1.80-$2) —"La Bonne Soupe" (20th) (5th wk). Fourth session ended Saturday (11) was smooth $8,000 after $11,000 for third.

Guild (Guild) (450; $1-$1.75)—"Mistress For Summer" (Indie) (3d wk). This frame finishing tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like fair $5,000 after $10,000 for second. "Olympic Games" (Indie) opens April 21.

Little Carnegie (Landau) (472; $1.25-$2)—"The Servant" (Landau) (5th wk). Fourth week ended Sunday (12) was socko $14,500 after record third week of $20,900.

Murray Hill (Rugoff Th.) (565; $1.50-$2)—"The Hustler" (20th) (subrun). First week looks like big $8,200. Stays on.

Paris (Pathe Cinema) (568; 1.50-$2)—"Bandits of Orgosolo" (Indie). Opened Monday (13).

Plaza (Lopert) (525; $1.50-$2)— "Great Dictator" (Indie) (reissue) (7th final wk). Current session ending tomorrow (Thurs.) looks like sock $12,000 after $13,400 for sixth. "Modern Times" (Indie) opens next Friday.

Sutton (Rugoff Th.) (561; $1.50-$2)—"Seven Days in May" (Par) (9th wk). The eighth round ended yesterday (Tues.) was fancy $7,500 after $15,500 for seventh.

34th Street East (Reade) (456; $1.50-$2)—"Best Man" (U) (2d wk). First week finished Sunday (12) was fine $9,500. Daydating with Coronet.

Toho Cinema (Toho) (299; $1.50-$2)—"Challenge To Live" (Toho) (2d wk). Opening session completed Monday (13) was fair $4,200. "Life of Oharu" (Toho) opens next Monday (20).

Tower East (Loew) (588; $1.50-$2)—"Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" (Embassy) (5th wk). Fourth stanza ended Monday (13) was sock $16,000 or near after $22,000 for third week.

Trans-Lux East (T-L) (600; $1.25-$2)—"The Silence" (Janus) (11th wk). The 10th frame ended Sunday (12) was nice $5,500 after $9,300 for ninth. Daydating with Rialto.

Trans-Lux 52d St. (T-L) (540; $1.25-$2)—"Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Initial round ended yesterday (Tues.) was smash $12,000 or over. Daydating with Paramount.

World (Perfecto) (390; 90-$1.50) —"Psychomania" (Vic) and "Flamboyant Sex" (Ellis) (9th wk). This week winding up tomorrow (Thurs.) is heading for sturdy $7,500 or close after $8,000 for eighth round.

'Silence' Noisy $9,000, Mpls.; 'Dr. Lao' $4,800, 'Party' Smash $12,000

Minneapolis, April 14.

There are some Loop newcomers this session, but some are of minor biz calibre. Impressive is the freshly arrived "The Silence," daydating in two nabe first-runs. Touching in the ads upon its sex daring and being a Swedish picture in a heavily Scandinavian-populated city, "Silence" looks big. Two downtown newcomers, "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" but only "Muscle Beach Party" is doing well, being smash in first at State.

The still high-flying "How the West Was Won" and "Tom Jones" are in their 58th and 8th weeks, respectively, are standout among the longruns. "Seven Days to May" in ninth round is big at the Park. "Paris When It Sizzles" is good in second at Lyric.

Estimates for This Week

Academy (Mann) (1,050; $1.75-$2.65)—"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par). Opens tomorrow (15). Last week, "Mr. Limpet" (WB) (2d wk). oke $2,000 three days at $1.25-$1.50.

Avalon (Frank) (900; $1) — "Queens Wild" (Indie) and "Playgirl and War Minister" (Indie) (subrun). So-so $1,200. last week, "Forbidden Sands" (Indie) and "I'm All Right, Jack" (Col) (subrun), $1,000.

Campus (Mann) (600; $1.25) — "Silence" (Janus). Lively $4,500 or near.

Century (Par) (1,300; $1.50-$3.50) — "Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk). Mild $4,000. Last week, $4,000.

Cooper (CF) (905; $1.25-$2.50)— "How West Was Won" (MGM) (58th wk). Wow $10,000. Last week, $9,800.

Gopher (Berger) (1,000; $1-$1.25)—"Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM). Fair $4,800. Last week, "Singin' Cousins" (MGM) (3d wk), $4,500.

Lyric (Par) (1,000; $1-$1.25) — "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk). Good $5,000 or over. Last week, $8,000.

Mann (Mann) (1,000; $1.25-$1.50) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (8th wk). Big $5,000, but bows out after this stanza. Last week, $7,000.

Orpheum (Mann) (2,800; $1-$1.25)—"At War With Army" (Indie) and "Night Passage" (Indie). Give way to "Mobsters" (Indie) after five days. Dim $2,000 in 5 days. Last week, stageshow.

Park (Mann) (1,000; $1.50) — "Seven Days to May" (Par) 9th wk). Big $4,000. Last week, $4,500.

State (Par) (2,200; $1-$1.25) — "Muscle Beach Party" (AI). Sock at $12,000. Last week, "Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk), $7,500 at $1.25-$1.50.

Suburban World (Mann) (800; $1.25) — "Silence" (Janus). Trim $4,500 or over. Last week, "Easy Life" (Embassy) (2d wk), $1,500.

World (Mann) (400; $1.25-$1.50) —"Tom Jones" (UA) (8th wk). Smash $7,000. Last week, $9,000.

Pitt Torrid But 'Night' Mildish $9,000; 'Jones' High 13G, 'World' 12G

Pittsburgh, April 14.

Newcomers are not bringing much additional wicket activity at Pitt deluxers this round. "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" is soft at the Penn on opener. "Night Must Fall" shapes as only fairish in first at Stanley. "Tom Jones" is still sparkling as it heads for another mighty take in ninth session at the Squirrel Hill.

"Captain Newman" remains slick in fourth at Gateway. "It's a Mad World" is headed for a boffo 17th round at the Warner. "Irma La Douce" looks okay in second at Fulton on reissue.

Estimates for This Week

Forum (Assoc.) (380; $1.75) — "Lilies of Field" (UA) (23d wk). Boff $3,500. Last week, $3,800.

Fulton (Assoc.) (1,900; $1-$1.75) — "Irma La Douce" (UA) and "Some Like It Hot" (UA) (reissues) (2d wk). Okay $5,000. Last week, $8,500.

Gateway (Assoc.) (1,900; $1-$1.75) —"Captain Newman" (U) (4th wk). Slick $7,000. Last week, $8,000.

Penn (UATC) (3,472; $1-$1.50)— "Seven Faces of Dr. Lao" (MGM). Sad $5,000. Last week, "Brass Bottle" (U) (2d wk), $9,000.

Shadyside (MOTC) (623; $1.75)— "America, America" (WB) (7th wk). Still in chips at $2,300. Last week, $3,200.

Squirrel Hill (SW) (800; $1.75)— "Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Amazing $13,000. Last week, $14,000.

Stanley (SW) (3,700; $1-$1.75)— "Night Must Fall" (MGM). Fairish $9,000. Last week, "Oklahoma" (20th) and "Can-Can" (20th) (reissues), $6,500.

Warner (SW) (1,260; $1.50-$3)— "It's a Mad World" (UA) (17th wk). Socko $12,000. Last week, $13,000.

DETROIT

(Continued from page 8)

—"Horror of Party Beach" (20th) and "Curse of Living Corpse" (20th) (2d wk). Good $13,000. Last week, $17,000.

Madison (UD) (1,408; $1.25-$1.49) —"Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Great $18,000. Last week, $20,000.

Grand Circus (UD) (1,400; $1.25-$1.49)—"Two Women" (Indie) and "8½" (Emb) (re-issues). Good $8,000. Last week, "Kissin' Cousins" (MGM) (2d wk), $7,500.

Adams (Community) (1,450; $1.23-$1.50)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (3 wk). Smart $10,000. Last week, $13,000.

United Artists (UA) (1,667; $1.50-$2.50)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (42d wk). Steady $7,500. Last week, $7,400.

Music Hall (Beacon Enteprises) (1,213; $1.80-$3)—"It's a Mad World" (UA) (9th wk). Wow $26,000. Last week, $36,100.

Mercury (Suburban Detroit) (1,468; $1-$1.80)—"Captain Newman" (UA) (3d wk). Good $10,000. Last week, $10,400.

Trans-Lux Krim (Trans-Lux) (980; $1.25-$2)—"Tom Jones" (UA) (9th wk). Wow $26,000. Last week, $30,000.

'Newman' Good $16,000, St. Loo; 'World' 14G, 8th

St. Louis, April 14.

Several new pix here this week but only some reissues of fresh bills are doing much. "This Sporting Life" looks okay for an oldie on opener at the St. Louis. "South Pacific" likewise is okay in first at Ambassador. "Tom Jones" is rated big in seventh week at Loew's Mid-City while "It's a Mad World" is even doing better in eighth at Martin Cinerama. "Capt. Newman" is good on opener at the Fox.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador (Arthur) (2,970; 90-$1.25)—"South Pacific" (20th), (reissues). Okay $8,000. Last week, "Paris When It Sizzles" (Par) (2d wk), $9,000.

Apollo Art (Grace) (700; 90-$1.25) — "Brief Encounter" (Indie) and "I Know Where I'm Going" (Indie). Mild $1,500. Last week, "Everybody Go Home" (Indie) and "Householder" (Indie), $2,000.

Esquire (Jablonow-Komm) (1,800; 90-$1.25)—"Cleopatra" (20th) (5th wk). Good $7,000 or less. Last week, $9,000.

Fox (Arthur) (5,000; 90-$1.25)— "Captain Newman" (U). Okay $16,000 or better. Last week, "Man's Favorite Sport" (U) (5th wk), $9,000.

Loew's Mid-City (Loew) (1,160; 60-90) — "Tom Jones" (UA) (7th wk). Big $14,000. Last week, $15,000.

State (Loew) (3,600; 60-90) — "Night Must Fall" (MGM) (2d wk). Slim $7,000. Last week, $9,000.

Martin Cinerama (Martin) (913; $1.30-$2.50) — "It's Mad World" (UA) (8th wk). Big $14,000. Last week, $15,000.

Pageant (Arthur) (1,000; 90-$1.25)—"America, America" (WB) (2d wk). Fine $3,000. Last week, $3,500.

Paris Art (Chernoff) (800; $1)— "Summerskin" (Indie) and "Hand in Trap" (Indie) (2d wk). Dull $1,000. Last week, $1,200.

St. Louis (Arthur) (3,800; 75-90) —"This Sporting Life" (Cont) and "Lord of Flies" (Cont) (reissues). Okay $8,500. Last week, "Hustler" (UA) and "Peyton Place" (UA) (reissues). $8,000.

Shady Oak (Arthur) (760; 90-$1.25) — "Dr. Strangelove" (Col) (5th wk). Nice $2,500. Last week, $2,000.

Shaw Pic in Honolulu

Honolulu, April 14.

Consolidated circuit booked its newest Chinese-language import, a Shaw Bros. color (Eastman) film re-titled "The Love Eterne," into its downtown Princess for a first-run showing.

Film, with English titles, features Ivy Ling Po and Betty Loh Tih.

CHICAGO

(Continued from page 9)

—"Tiger Walks" (BV) and "Arizona Sheepdog" (BV) (3d wk). Good $9,500. Last week, $14,000.

State-Lake (B&K) (2,400; 90-$1.80)—"Pink Panther" (UA) (4th wk). Fast $16,000 or close. Last week, $18,000.

Surf (H&E Balaban) (664; $1.50-$1.80)—"Suddenly It's Murder" (Cont) (2d wk). Lively $2,500. Last week, $3,800.

Todd (Todd) (1,089; 90-$1.80)— —"Tom Jones" (UA) (17th wk). (Cont) (2d wk). Lively $2,500. Hot $14,500 in five days or near. Last week, $21,000.

Town (Teitel) (640; $1.25-$1.80) —"Beat Devil" (Indie) (reissue) (2d wk). Brisk $2,000. Last week, $3,200.

United Artists (B&K) (1,700; 90-$1.80)—"Seven Days In May" (Par) (7th wk). Sturdy 14,000. Last week, $17,000.

Woods (Essaness) (1,200; 90-$1.80)—"Night Must Fall" (MGM) (2d wk). Good $13,000. Last week, $18,000.

World (Teitel) (608; 90-$1.80)— "The Doll" (Indie) (2d wk). Nifty $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

WASHINGTON

(Continued from page 9)

day Night, Sunday Morning" (Cont) and "Room at Top" (Cont) (reissues), $3,400.

Ontario (KB) (1,240; $1.50-$2)— "Tom Jones" (UA) (16th wk). Socko $20,000. Last week, $21,000.

Palace (Loew) (2,360; $1.25-$1.80) —"Night Must Fall (MGM). Big $11,000. Last week, "Shock Treatment" (20th), $6,500.

Playhouse (TL) (459; $1.25-$1.80) — "America, America" (WB) (5th wk). Busy $5,500. Last week, $4,500.

Plaza (TL) (278; $1.25-$1.80) — "Lorna" (Indie) (3d wk). Slick $6,000. Last week, $5,500.

Town (King) (800; $1.25-$1.80)— "Captain Newman" (U) (3d wk). Nifty $10,000. Last week, $13,000.

Trans-Lux (TL) (598; $1.49-$2)— "Seven Days in May" (Par) (9th wk). Hefty $9,500. Last week, $8,000.

Uptown (SW) (1,300; $1.65-$2.75) —"It's a Mad World" (UA) (8th wk). Boffo $12,000. Last week, $16,000.

Warner (SW) (1,250; $1.50-$2.75) —"Fall of Roman Empire" (Par) (2d wk). Great $12,000 after $15,500 on debut.

FILM ACADEMY WINNERS: 1963

Hollywood, April 14.

Herewith the winners in the vote covering 1963 eligibles for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences Oscar statuettes. These were presented in ceremonies from the west coast telecast over ABC. Separately, the program itself is reviewed in this issue's television department.

BEST MOTION PICTURE OF THE YEAR

"Tom Jones," A Woodfall Production, United Artists-Lopert Pictures. Tony Richardson, Producer.

* * *

BEST FOREIGN LANGUAGE FILM OF THE YEAR

"Federico Fellini's 8½," A Cineriz Production (Italy).

* * *

BEST DIRECTOR

"Tom Jones," a Woodfall Production, United Artists-Lopert Pictures. Tony Richardson.

* * *

BEST PERFORMANCE BY AN ACTOR

Sidney Poitier in "Lilies of The Field," a Rainbow Production, United Artists.

* * *

BEST PERFORMANCE BY AN ACTRESS

Patricia Neal in "Hud," a Salem-Dover Production, Paramount.

* * *

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR

Melvyn Douglas in "Hud," a Salem-Dover Production, Paramount.

UA Dominates Awards

United Artists, which last year copped only a pair of Oscars, snapped up seven Golden Men this year in the 36th annual Academy derby. It far outdistanced its three closest competitors, Metro, 20th-Fox and Paramount with four apiece. Metro's take was augmented by a scientific or technical award, only one handed out in current sweepstakes.

Two other majors garnered one apiece, Warner Bros. for black-and-white art direction ("America, America"), Columbia Pictures for cartoon short subject. Columbia, however, last year's leader with seven Oscars, all from "Lawrence of Arabia," shared lustre when the Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award went to one of its producers, Sam Spiegel.

UA's wins were divided between four features, but of these "Tom Jones" grabbed best picture, best direction, best screenplay, best music score. Best actor award went to Sidney Poitier for "Lilies of the Field," best scoring of music to "Irma La Douce," sound effects to "It's a Mad (4) World."

"Cleopatra" was responsible for all of 20th-Fox' gleanings, best color cinematography, art direction and set decoration, costume designing and special effects. Metro turned to "How the West Was Won" for three of its nods, but its statue for best supporting actress came from Margaret Rutherford's matchless trouping in "The V.I.P.'s" "West" contributed best story and screenplay, film editing and sound recording.

Paramount's quartet was drawn from pair of pix, including three for "Hud," with Patricia Neal and Melvyn Douglas capturing best actress and best supporting actor, respectively, for work in this film. "Hud" likewise showed for best black-and-white cinematography.

Best song "Call Me Irresistible," came from "Papa's Delicate Condition."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS

Margaret Rutherford in "The V.I.P.'S," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

* * *

BEST STORY AND SCREENPLAY—WRITTEN DIRECTLY FOR THE SCREEN

"How The West Was Won," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer & Cinerama. Story and screenplay by James R. Webb.

* * *

BEST SCREENPLAY—BASED ON MATERIAL FROM ANOTHER MEDIUM

"Tom Jones," a Woodfall Production, United Artists-Lopert Pictures. Screenplay by John Osborne.

* * *

BEST FILM EDITING

"How The West Was Won," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer & Cinerama. Harold F. Kress.

* * *

BEST CINEMATOGRAPHY, COLOR PICTURE

"Cleopatra," a 20th Century-Fox Ltd.-MCL Films S.A.-Walwa Films S.A. Production, 20th Century-Fox. Leon Shamroy.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN CINEMATOGRAPHY, BLACK-AND-WHITE

"Hud," A Salem-Dover Production, Paramount. James Wong Howe.

* * *

BEST ART DIRECTION, COLOR PICTURE

"Cleopatra," a 20th Century-Fox Ltd.-MCL Films S.A.-Walwa Films S.A. Production, 20th Century-Fox. John Decuir, Jack Martin Smith, Hilyard Brown, Herman Blumenthal, Elven Webb, Maurice Pelling and Boris Juraga. Set Decoration . . . Walter M. Scott, Paul S. Fox and Ray Moyer.

* * *

BEST ART DIRECTION, BLACK-AND-WHITE PICTURE

"America America," an Athena Enterprises Production, Warner Bros. Gene Callahan.

* * *

BEST COSTUME DESIGN, BLACK-AND-WHITE PICTURE

"Federico Fellini's 8½," a Cineriz Production, Embassy Pictures. Piero Gherardi.

* * *

BEST COSTUME DESIGN, COLOR PICTURE

"Cleopatra," a 20th Century-Fox Ltd.-MCL Films S.A.-Walwa Films S.A. Production, 20th Century-Fox. Irene Sharaff, Vittorio Nino Novarese and Renie.

* * *

BEST SONG FIRST USED IN AN ELIGIBLE MOTION PICTURE

"Call Me Irresponsible" from "Papa's Delicate Condition," Amro Productions, Paramount. Music by James Van Heusen. Lyrics by Sammy Cahn.

* * *

BEST SCORING OF MUSIC—ADAPTATION OR TREATMENT

(FOR WHICH ONLY THE ADAPTER AND/OR MUSIC DIRECTOR SHALL BE ELIGIBLE).

"Irma La Douce," a Mirisch-Phalanx Production, United Artists. Andre Previn.

OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT IN MUSIC IN CONNECTION WITH MOTION PICTURES

(BEST MUSIC SCORE—SUBSTANTIALLY ORIGINAL . . . FOR WHICH ONLY THE COMPOSER SHALL BE ELIGIBLE).

"Tom Jones," a Woodfall Production, United Artists-Lopert Pictures. John Addison.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN SOUND

"How The West Was Won," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio Sound Department. Franklin E. Milton, Sound Director.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN SOUND EFFECTS

"It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," a Casey Production, United Artists. Walter G. Elliott.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN SPECIAL EFFECTS

"Cleopatra," a 20th Century-Fox Ltd.-MCL Films S.A.-Walwa Films S.A. Production, 20th Century-Fox. Emil Kosa, Jr.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN DOCUMENTARY

(FEATURES)

"Robert Frost . . . A Lover's Quarrel With The World," WGBH Educational Foundation, Robert Hughes, producer.

(SHORT SUBJECTS)

"Chagall," Auerbach Film Enterprises, Ltd.-Flag Films, Simon Schiffrin, Producer.

* * *

BEST ACHIEVEMENT IN SHORT SUBJECTS

(LIVE ACTION SUBJECTS)

"An Occurrence At Owl Creek Bridge," Films Du Centaure-Filmartic, Cappagariff-Janus Films. Paul De Roubaix and Marcel Ichac, Producers.

(CARTOON SUBJECTS)

"The Critic," Pintoff-Crossbow Productions, Columbia, Ernest Pintoff, Producer.

No Hersholt, or Class I and II

Hollywood, April 14.

Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences this year made only a single technical award, entirely bypassing both Class I and Class II to hand out a Class III Scientific or Technical Award. Nod goes to Douglas A. Shearer and A. Arnold Gillespie of Metro for the engineering of an Improved Background Process Projection System.

Board of Governors, on recommendation of the Committee, ordinarily makes at least one and usually several Class II awards, although no Class I award has been made since 1957. Last year four Class II and two Class III awards were distributed, the previous year three Class II and two Class III awards.

Governors this year also are completely bypassing the annual Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award and all Special Awards, according to an Academy spokesman. Sole special vote of any kind was the Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award, which went to Sam Spiegel.

This marks only the second time that the Hersholt honor has been skipped since it was established in 1957, when Y. Frank Freeman copped prize. None was handed out in 1959. Last year, Steve Broidy received the award.

IATSE Studio Mechanics Local 52 Accepts 45 of Brethren From 340

Effects of the merger between International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees New York studio mechanics Local 52 and Nassau-Suffolk stagehands Local 340 are beginning to be felt at 52. So far the local has admitted 45 new members to its ranks from 340, these men of course continuing to hold 340 cards separately for legit work.

This swelling of the ranks was anticipated, naturally, after the merger was passed. The way it was set up 340 men were enabled to join 52 for film work at a considerably-reduced initiation fee thereby allowing them to work on pix throughout New York, Nassau and Suffolk instead of just the latter two areas, while continuing with legit in Nassau-Suffolk.

Also a predicted side effect of the merger was its being an aid to Michael Myerberg's Long Island Studios. The first pic to be made there under the merger, in fact the first to go since last summer when "The World of Henry Orient" was made there, will soon begin. Fred Coe will put his filmization of the Broadway click "A Thousand Clowns" into production starting May 11, with interiors at the Studio and locations in Gotham. One of the things the merger did was to remove jurisdictional barriers between New York and Long Island, thus eliminating travel time charges and so on, and this is seen as fostering the "Clowns" start.

Another membership development at 52 has been the admission within recent weeks of 12 newsreel soundmen and electricians. These men are employees of the news units at ABC-TV, NBC-TV, UPI and WCBS. With the 340 men and these, 52's ranks have been swelled by 57 new men in the past couple of weeks and this is quite a step in an era of continued labor reluctance to open its doors, especially in the overall theatrical field, to number of new men. Expansion by 52 is cited by some labor observers as a mark of growing progressiveness within that local and perhaps the parent IATSE in general, although there are still some mighty tough union nuts to crack without contracts.

Premiere Productions Inc. has been formed to conduct a business producing motion pictures and recordings, with New York offices. Myron Saland filed.

Commended By Toll

Last Monday night's Oscar show on ABC-TV was the object of some promotion from an unusual source—the RKO General Phonevision toll operation in Hartford.

The toll outfit sent out a special mailing piece to its 5,000 clients advising them to tune in the competitive web to watch the Oscar presentations. The mailer was backed up by full-page ads in the weekend tv supplements of Hartford newspapers. After plugging the ABC event, the notice listed a group of pix nominated for awards and noted that "all of these pictures were seen at home on Subscription TV," continuing that such will be the policy in 1964 as well.

Jack Jr. Vice R. Zanuck On Producers Guild

Hollywood, April 14.

Jack Warner Jr. has been elected to directorate of the Screen Producers Guild, succeeding Richard Zanuck in three-year term which still has two to go.

Zanuck resigned due to pressure of work as 20th-Fox studio production head.

'Self-Policing of Film Promotion Material Remains Unique'-Linden

Motion Picture Assn. of America's Advertising Code Administration reviewed, during 1963, some 77,657 units of advertising, publicity and exploitation material.

Lesser-known partner of industry's Production Code Administration, the fact that ACA must approve all advertising, promotion and publicity released in connection with all code-approved films, is still news to many people.

Michael Linden, Ad Code Administrator, believes that the department is unique in one respect. "It is remarkable that the major companies, in an industry handling nearly $1.5 billion annually in consumer expenditures in the U. S., should continue to submit voluntarily all of their ad and promotion material to their self-regulatory body." He feels, also, that it is unfortunate that only organized and responsible segments of the industry are required to submit their advertising for code review and clearance. "If all motion picture advertising had to meet our standards, I'm sure that complaints about film advertising would diminish rapidly."

MPAA is acquainting ad departments of American newspapers with the code with the hope that they'll eventually accept, with little concern, code-approved ads. Exhibitors are urged to spotlight the code-approved insignia when placing ads.

AAC's work in 1963, because of fewer pictures, ads, posters and other accessories totaled 5,861, which was 14% less than the 6,817 reviewed in 1962. Rejected and revised materials in these categories total 8.22%, an increase which, according to Linden, reflects the difficult advertising problems involved in today's adult market.

Up Frank Diaz, Ex-Usher

Los Angeles, April 14.

Frank Diaz, who started his career as an usher with Pacific Drive-In Theatres, has been appointed South California division manager of circuit. He will work under supervision of Pat R. Notaro, circuit director of operations and spend most of his time in the field directing district managers.

He most recently was field supervisor of snack bars, moving up to new post.

D-DAY MINUS 2

The rush is on! More and more exhibitors are joining the salute to the 20th Anniversary of D-Day by booking

DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S

THE LONGEST DAY

Based on the Book by CORNELIUS RYAN
Released by 20th Century-Fox

Birmingham, Ala.
Mobile, Ala.
Hot Springs, Ark.
Pine Bluff, Ark.
Bakersfield, Calif.
Riverside, Calif.
Pomona, Calif.
San Francisco, Calif.
Oakland, Calif.
Sacramento, Calif.
San Jose, Calif.
Stockton, Calif.
Fresno, Calif.
Salinas, Calif.
Boulder, Colo.
Colorado Springs, Colo.
Denver, Colo.
Grand Junction, Colo.
Hartford, Conn.
New Haven, Conn.
New London, Conn.
Wilmington, Del.
Pensacola, Fla.
Albany, Ga.
Savannah, Ga.
Boise, Idaho
Idaho Falls, Idaho
Pocatello, Idaho
Twin Falls, Idaho
Champaign, Ill.
Springfield, Ill.
Rockford, Ill.
Bloomington, Ind.
Indianapolis, Ind.
Evansville, Ind.
Muncie, Ind.
Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Des Moines, Iowa
Dubuque, Iowa
Rock Island, Iowa
Sioux City, Iowa
Waterloo, Iowa
Lexington, Ky.
Fall River, Mass.
Lowell, Mass.
New Bedford, Mass.
Pittsfield, Mass.
Worcester, Mass.
Portland, Me.
Ann Arbor, Mich.
Battle Creek, Mich.
Bay City, Mich.
Flint, Mich.
Jackson, Mich.
Kalamazoo, Mich.
Port Huron, Mich.
Muskegon, Mich.
Saginaw, Mich.
Duluth, Minn.
Mankato, Minn.
Minneapolis, Minn.
Rochester, Minn.
St. Cloud, Minn.
St. Paul, Minn.
Winona, Minn.
Frederick, Md.
Biloxi, Miss.
Gulfport, Miss.
Helena, Mont.
St. Louis, Mo.
Grand Island, Nebr.
Omaha, Nebr.
Lincoln, Nebr.
Las Vegas, Nev.
Asheville, N. C.
Durham, N. C.
High Point, N. C.
Hickory, N. C.
Raleigh, N. C.
Rocky Mount, N. C.
Wilmington, N. C.
Winston Salem, N. C.
Charlotte, N. C.
Columbia, N. C.
Minot, N. D.
Grand Forks, N. D.
Fargo, N. D.
Concord, N. H.
Manchester, N. H.
Nashua, N. H.
Albuquerque, N. M.
Sante Fe, N. M.
Atlantic City, N. J.
Camden, N. J.
Ocean City, N. J.
Manahawkin, N. J.
Trenton, N. J.
Wildwood, N. J.
Cincinnati, Ohio
Dayton, Ohio
Middletown, Ohio
Newark, Ohio
Zanesville, Ohio
Columbus, Ohio
Cleveland, Ohio
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio
Canton, Ohio
East Liverpool, Ohio
Findlay, Ohio
Lima, Ohio
Mansfield, Ohio
Steubenville, Ohio
Toledo, Ohio
Warren, Ohio
Youngstown, Ohio
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Tulsa, Okla.
Eugene, Ore.
Portland, Ore.
Salem, Ore.
Roseburg, Ore.
Philadelphia, Pa.
Reading, Pa.
Harrisburg, Pa.
Allentown, Pa.
Bethlehem, Pa.
Butler, Pa.
Lancaster, Pa.
Chester, Pa.
Chambersburg, Pa.
Easton, Pa.
King of Prussia, Pa.
York, Pa.
Pottsville, Pa.
Williamsport, Pa.
Johnstown, Pa.
Lebanon, Pa.
Sharon, Pa.
Scranton, Pa.
Wilkes Barre, Pa.
Sunbury, Pa.
Bloomsburg, Pa.
Hazelton, Pa.
State College, Pa.
Shenandoah, Pa.
Lewistown, Pa.
Washington, Pa.
Charleston, S. C.
Greenville, S. C.
Spartanburg, S. C.
Aberdeen, S. D.
Sioux Falls, S. D.
Rapid City, S. D.
Austin, Tex.
Dallas, Tex.
Jackson, Tenn.
Knoxville, Tenn.
Nashville, Tenn.
Logan, Utah
Salt Lake City, Utah
Charlotteville, Va.
Danville, Va.
Lynchburg, Va.
Newport News, Va.
Norfolk, Va.
Richmond, Va.
Roanoke, Va.
Harrisonburg, Va.
Petersburg, Va.
Staunton, Va.
Winchester, Va.
Everett, Wash.
Olympia, Wash.
Seattle, Wash.
Spokane, Wash.
Tacoma, Wash.
Superior, Wis.
Madison, Wis.
Racine, Wis.
Sheboygan, Wis.
Appleton, Wis.
Fond du Lac, Wis.
Oshkosh, Wis.
Schofield, Wis.
Eau Claire, Wis.
Bluefield, W. Va.
Charleston, W. Va.
Huntington, W. Va.
Parkersburg, W. Va.
Wheeling, W. Va.
Honolulu, Hawaii
Calgary, Alta., Canada
Toronto, Ont., Canada
London, Ont., Canada
Ottawa, Ont., Canada
Vancouver, B. C., Canada
Halifax, N. S., Canada
St. John, New Foundland, Canada
St. John, New Brunswick, Canada
Kitchener, Ont., Canada
Sudbury, Ont., Canada
Victoria, B. C., Canada
Winnipeg, Man., Canada
Regina, Sask., Canada
Saskatoon, Sask., Canada

SHOWCASE: NEW WORD GAME

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Lack of zest was sounded by William H. Mooring, syndicated Catholic film columnist, as to "The Green Sheet" and the planned doubling of its circulation. He characterized the move as "intended to strengthen the resistance of the Motion Picture Assn."—which, he said, puts out "The Green Sheet." This is partially true; ratings themselves are determined by civic groups). "Such classification was seriously urged upon the film business by your Bishops' Committee which heads the Legion of Decency more than a year ago," Mooring wrote. "The producers since decided to follow the American Civil Liberties Union line, oppose all forms of classification and restriction and insist that parents assume sole responsibility for the shows their children attend." Mooring questions Green Sheet alertness to many angles of morality.

"Have The Movies Become Adult—Or Simply Adulterous," Dan Jenkins' article in the May issue of Pageant, manages to cover seven pages with as many "scandalous" photos as editorial matter. For the most part, the flashily-titled article is a rehash of what the public already knows. Although he says nothing new, he does say it in an engaging, readable manner. His observations are not always accurate —"Tea and Sympathy" was filmed with John Kerr, who originated the role on Broadway. "T&S" did launch Tony Perkins' career, but only because he followed Kerr in the play. He frequently quotes Production Code Administrator Geoffrey Shurlock, but in one place has Shurlock say that "Legion of Decency ratings are available in all churches and in all diocesan publications" without making it clear that he meant all Roman Catholic churches and publications.

Two of the four lawyers "cordially invited to leave the country" by the Portuguese government are Robert W. Kenny of Los Angeles and Robert E. Treuhaft of San Francisco. Latter is the husband of Jessica Mitford, author of the bestselling "American Way of Death" and a specialist in civil rights cases. Kenny figured as principal attorney for the "Hollywood 10" in the House Un-American Activities Committee probe of film writers and Commie infiltration in motion pictures. Portugal's Premier Salazar is the target for his "repressive measures" against any political opponents. The visiting lawyers were charged with "prying" into Lisbon's internal affairs.

This is new in postwar Germany's film biz: five of a season's six commercially best German-language features come from the same producing (Rialto Film Preben Philipsen) and distributing (Constantin-Film) companies. Per "Film-Echo," the current winner of the season is the western "Winnetou, Part I" (Rialto-Constantin). Second spot is currently held by "The Squeaker" (Rialto-Constantin) while "The House in Montevideo" (Domnick-Constantin) is third. The following three spots in this category (German-language films) are held by "Room 13," "The Black Abbot" and "The Indian Cloth"—all Rialto productions, all Constantin releases and all crime thrillers.

A Second Vancouver International "Amateur" Film Festival will be held April 16-26 with 11 programs slotted in the 10 day period. The non-pro event, not to be confused with the full fledged Vancouver International Film Festival which is now in its seventh year, was the only one of this type ever presented in North America when first staged here in 1962. It is still unique in this respect but VIAFF people will help a Montreal group produce an amateur film festival immediately following the Vancouver one. Between 125 and 130 films have been entered from 31 countries and will be in competition for donated prizes totalling $2,500.

On occasion of its 40th anniversary, Praesens-Film A.G. Zurich, Switzerland's oldest production company founded in 1924 by Lazar Wechsler, has set a contest to obtain new story ideas. Prizes total $3,500 for the five stories judged as the best by a jury. Participation is not restricted to Swiss authors alone. Deadline is June 30.

Preaesens specifies that stories and/or ideas submitted should be of "literary value" and preferably concern topical themes. Company would welcome it if themes were connected with Switzerland one way or the other, although this is not a condition.

Republic Corp. will purchase its 4% debentures, due June 30, 1965, at a price of $97.75 per hundred plus accrued interest, prexy Victor M. Carter reported at company's annual stockholders meeting held in Manhattan. Carter declared such debentures, with June 1964 and subsequent coupons attached, should be sent to the Corporate Trust Dept., of United California Bank, 108 W. 6th Street, Los Angeles, for processing.

Carter disclosed he had purchased an additional 25,300 shares of Republic common stock in March to bring his holdings in this class to 114,800 shares.

Sylvania introduced its new 2,000-watt precision studio light as conference of Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers convened at Ambassador Hotel in L.A. Designed for motion picture, television and commercial photography, it weighs only 12 pounds and is described by Robert Kleinfeld, Sylvania veepee, as a major improvement in modern studio lighting. It will sell for less than $139.

If anyone has been looking for Garbo lately, she's in the Congressional Record. Lawrence J. Quirk, editor of TV & Movie Album mags and nephew of two former Massachusetts Congressmen, had an article he had written on Greta Garbo read into the Congressional Record on March 25 by Representative Alphonzo Bell (Calif.), whose district includes part of Hollywood.

Republican Town Committee of Needham, Mass., picked "Love With the Proper Stranger" (WB) for a benefit theatre party to raise funds for campaign year expenses at the Paramount Theatre.

Arnold Burk New Aide To UA's Arthur B. Krim

Arnold D. Burk has been named exec assistant to United Artists prez Arthur B. Krim. He has been exec assistant to Coast operations v.p. Robert F. Blumofe for the past four years.

Burk will move to New York early in July. Blumofe will appoint a new assistant shortly, it's expected. Krim's new assistant has been with UA since graduation from Columbia Law School in 1955. He was a member of the legal department for nearly five years before becoming Blumofe's right hand.

Demos Freres Go Art

Chicago, April 14.

Balmoral Theatre on Chicago's north side is converting to a first-run art policy April 22 after 15 months as an A and B run house. The theatre is owned and operated by three brothers, Peter, Lambros and Chris Demos. The 510-seat house was built in December, 1962.

The Balmoral's first pic under the new policy will be "Julie The Redhead." The Demos brothers decided upon the art policy when they found that such art films as "L-Shaped Room' and "Women of The World" were outdrawing their regular subrun pix.

FIRST & SECOND N.Y. FIRST RUN

The "showcase" assault on status quo in greater New York continues with Unitec Artists, which started the idea in the first place, very much in the thick of it. Within recent weeks, UA is putting five pictures into multiple releases of one sort or another, calling three cases a "showcase" run.

Most "firstrunning" of these is "From Russia With Love" which opened last Wednesday (8) in 23 "Hollywood Showcase" theatres throughout the Gotham area. This is one of the RKO-Skouras "showcase" tracks. Since the run really is the first appearance of the film in the area, it is living up to the full notion of "showcase"—first-run multiple release. "Flight From Ashiya" also goes the same route shortly.

Within the next week, "The World of Henry Orient" will be about ready to depart Radio City Music Hall, having completed a successful Easter run. During Easter week itself, the pic grossed $210,860, ranking among the top 10 grossing pix to play the Hall at that time. "Orient" likewise breaks on an RKO-Skouras "showcase," per pattern of Universal with "Charade" and "Captain Newman" after the Music Hall, and ditto Metro's "The Prize."

"Best Man," which opened last week at the Coronet and 34th Street East, wil. spring onto "showcase" via RKO-Skouras on May 6. This is a rather quick first-run trip but has been specially plotted by UA to build interest in the film, leading to a hoped-for killing on "showcase." Here again "showcase" is being used as a followup multiple to a initial showing and not as firstrun itself. This is the emerging pattern.

A similar "secondary showcase" developed with UA's "Tom Jones" last week. It is holding at Cinema I & II but moved into 15 additional Gotham area houses as well. In this case, however, UA is not billing the move as a "showcase" development. Pic, incidentally, moves out of Cinema I around April 20 to make way for Shirley Clarke's "Cool World," giving it a total run of 11 weeks at the house. It is already in its 28th frame at Cinema I.

Another example of the after-firstrun usage to which "showcase" has come to become primarily used is Paramount's "Seven Days in May," which hits a 20-theatre spread today (Wed.), while holding at the Criterion and Sutton Theatres. True to its policy, however, Par isn't billing the multiple as a "showcase" spread. It did the same thing with "Love With the Proper Stranger" but has always avoided the "showcase" tag.

Out of it all, and experiences like "The Cardinal," "The Victors" and others, is beginning to emerge the shape of things to come for "showcase." Instead of primarily being the firstrun multiple plan it started out to be, it has now become merely a high-toned limited multiple followup to the firstrun engagement. The main thing seems to be that, except for the Music Hall, a pic holds on at its Broadway and/or eastside houses. Slowly, the pattern is drifting back to the traditional patterns of the past.

Briton in Japan, 1600, Trumbo's Embassy Pic

Embassy Pictures has acquired the rights to an original screenplay by Dalton Trumbo. Called "Will Adams," script is based on the true adventures of a shipwrecked British sailor who rose to power in the Japanese court in the early 1600s.

Pic will be produced by Embassy prez Joseph E. Levine and Eugene Frenke. It will location in Japan and base in Hollywood and is planned as a mult mil'ion dollar production. No director or cast have yet been signed.

Those Who Await 'Showcase' In Chicago May Have to Query Uncle Sam to Alleviate Stress

Chicago, April 14.

If exhibs and distribs here can't iron out some of the kinks in the new "showcase" system of playdates, prevailing for the Chicago market, there is a danger that the Government will. Jack Clark, prexy of Allied Theatres of Illinois, asserts that Chicago's showcasing has created a situation of "poverty in the midst of plenty," and he recommends that a national "czar" be appointed to arbitrate disagreements as to which theatres get the pictures and to mediate rental percentages.

It's a suggestion that can be expected to fall upon deaf distributor ears. The preferred-theatre and limited run approach has produced a cash bonanza for major distribs, he implies. At this point, compromises and adjustments would have to favor the exhibitors.

The present Chi "showcase" method of 12 to 20 preferred A-run houses adds up to a bottle "cork" in distribution, Clark maintains, with a backup of films behind it and an economic vacuum in front of it. He wants the new windfall spread around, with some of the less-favored houses getting an occasional shot at the big grosses.

The current bee in Allied's bonnet is "Tom Jones," which is going into 20 nabe houses April 17 after a smash downtown run. Bidding on the picture was limited to theatres which would take the pic for a minimum of four weeks with a 70% distrib rakeoff. Houses willing to take it for a longer run were given a preference in the bidding, Clark says.

"It's obvious that no distributor with a big picture ready for the outlying houses is going to bypass those 20 big theatres," Clark maintains. "So, for from four to seven weeks the smaller houses are going to have to scratch around for product—and I mean scratch."

To date, the Chi subrun showcases (and one major firstrun showcase) have reaped nothing but coin in the nabes. It's the first significant factor in revitalizing outlying biz in years and has both slowed the annual ratio of nabe theatre shuttering and has caused investors to take another look at situations for out-of-the-Loop sites.

But the system has also produced a wider dollar gap between the large (and better situated) and the smaller houses. Experience has proved that the selected A-runs tend to take the steam out of a picture before it gets to the remaining B-run houses.

Prem Party Pearling

Honolulu, April 14.

Technicians and cast of "In Harm's Way," an Otto Preminger production to be released by Paramount, are due here soon for exterior filming that's expected to continue into mid-September.

Much of the filming will take place at Pearl Harbor Shofield Barracks, Hickam Air Force Base and Bellows Field. Search already is under way here to locate old World War II equipment, including trucks and jeeps.

Crew and cast, topped by John Wayne and Kirk Douglas, will be quartered at the massive new Ilikai hotel and apartment complex.

Metro's 2d Qtr. Recovery With $1,201,000 Net

Metro's fiscal position continues to reflect recovery from losses. The 16 weeks ended March 12, the second quarter, resulted in a net profit of $1,201,000 or 47c per share as compared with a loss of $6,350,000 or $2.47 per share in 1963. First half figures for '64 show a net profit of $1,886,000 or 73c per share, as against a loss of $8,716,000 or $3.39 the previous term.

In his quarterly letter to stockholders, prez Robert H. O'Brien noted that there have been "major improvements" in pic production and distribution and repeated his prediction made at the February stockholders' meeting of rising operating profits in the second half of the year. He cited in this anticipation two particular productions, "Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "Night of the Iguana," as well as other pix in the company's hefty summer release sked.

The prez also drew attention to the sock biz being done around the world by the 35m reissue of "How the West Was Won," noting that it is attracting grosses representing 107% of the record-breaking "Ben Hur" in comparable situations. He additionally commented that the company is beginning to show benefits from other prior issues like "The Prize," "The Wheeler Dealers," "Children of the Damned," "Mail Order Bride" and "Kissin' Cousins."

O'Brien reported continued strength for Metro's tv operations, noting a 28-week profit of $5,254,000 as compared with $3,266,000 the previous year. He related returning and new shows as projecting a solid future for the division, also noting in this connection the recent option exercised by NBC-TV on a block of 30 of the company's post-'48 pix for web airing. He cited continued strength of pre-'48 features on tv as well.

The prez made note of MGM Records' release of "The Kennedy Years," the only recordings officially licensed by trustees of the Kennedy Library. He reported also that, in line with Metro's policy of reassessment of is real estate holdings, a parcel of land in Cologne, Germany, has been sold resulting in a net gain of $663,000 before taxes. A similar transaction in the same quarter last year resulted in the sale of MGM's London office building for $2,264,000.

Accompanying the president's letter was a quarterly divvy check at the rate of 37½c per share.

Cambrook Theatre Corp. has been authorized to conduct a theatres and drive-ins business. Capital stock consists of 200 shares, no par value. Weisman, Celler, Allan, Spett & Sheinberg of Manhattan filed.

Razz Goldstein Borrows An Adjective: 'Incredible'

"The Incredible Mr. Limpet," Warner's "fishy" comedy which was abit slow getting hatched, is more than making up for time lost in getting released by rolling up some "incredible" grosses, according to WB v.p. Morey (Razz) Goldstein.

Easter holiday with mass release of kids largely accounted for seventh day grosses tripling those for opening day in almost every situation pic has played. Gross for seventh day compared to opening was, at Keith's, Syracuse, $2,386 to $422; Monroe, Rochester, $1,952 to $386; "Showcase"-N.Y., $28,875 to $5,885; Stanley, Jersey City, $1,531 to $414; Paramount, Newark, $857 to $273; Stanley, Utica, $1,937 to $345; L.A. multiple-run, $13,725 to $4,950; Warner, Milwaukee, $1,009 to $244; Delman, Tulsa; $1,124 to $302; Strand, Albany, $1,032 to $400; Troy, Troy, $764 to $253; State, Schenectady, $776 to $246.

One situation where it started good and maintained steady pace was the Fox, Atlanta, where grosses for first five days (with Friday opening) were $2,246; 2,912; 2,737; 2,289 and 2,302.

For His Consistent High Quality in Motion Picture Production

COLUMBIA PICTURES CONGRATULATES

SAM SPIEGEL

ON BEING HONORED BY THE ACADEMY OF MOTION PICTURE ARTS AND SCIENCES WITH THE

IRVING G. THALBERG MEMORIAL AWARD

New York Sound Track

UA, which is always one for trumpeting press breaks, has been keeping one such under wraps involving Peter Sellers who is off the critical list in Hollywood after a serious heart attack. The break was a several-page spread in Playboy mag with Sellers portraying various lovers throughout history along with some posed femmes but because his latest pic, "World of Henry Orient," is a "family picture" and because it has been playing at Radio City Music Hall, this particular break went uncrowded.

Peter Glenville arrived in New York over the weekend having completed a European promo tour for "Becket" . . . Edmond O'Brien inked for 20th's "Rio Conchos" . . . Virginia Mayo into "Young Fury" at Par, which A. C. Lyles set in motion last week as his third outdoor opus in a row for the studio . . . UA-Lopert's "Tom Jones" will be playing in 400 U.S. engagements by April 22, including several hotsy holdovers Kathleen Freeman into Metro's "The Rounders".

Jean-Luc Godard (currently here) purchased film rights to the American mystery novel, "Fool's Gold" for $10,000. Its author, Delores Hitchens, who has written 20 novels alone and collaborated on six more with her husband, Hubert Hitchens, a specialist in railroad crime. Latter's son by earlier marriage is Gordon Hitchens, film buff editor and documentary producer . . Star Weekly, national mag of Canada, has sent Frank Rasky to Hollywood to track down Canadian and other talent there for prefiling . . . Army Pictorial Center on Long Island has made a telepic for overseas intitled "Soldiers In Greasepaint," the phrase borrowed from this journal. Celeste Holm makes the identification in the film.

Ely A. Landau has enrolled his firm as an Independent Film Importers & Distributors of America (IFIDA) member . . . George Chakiris back in the States after his tour of European capitals in connection with the third anni of "West Side Story" for which he copped an Oscar . . . Italo publisher-film producer Angelo Rizzoli arrived in the U.S. yesterday to dicker establishment of a distribution arm for his pix in the States.

Jonas Rosenfield Jr., Fox ad-pub v.p., and pub manager Mort Segal back in New York last week after Coast studio huddles . . Sally Kreger, charge nurse in the Paramount medical department, and Louise Parente, who holds the same spot at UA, in Pittsburgh attending the annual meeting of the American Assn. of Industrial Nurses . . . tv-pic composer-conductor Johnny Williams inked to pen the score to Fox's "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home" . . . UA's "Flight From Ashiya" opens April 22 in a "premiere showcase" spread in New York. With it on the bill will be a shortie called "The Beatles Come to Town."

Sir John Gielgud set to appear in Metro's "The Loved One," to be directed by Tony Richardson . . . Pat Buttram signed for Par's "Roustabout" and motorcycle stunt riders Arthur Levy and Ray Kellog will do their stuff in a carni sequence in the pic . . . Michael Kanin, author and coproducer of Metro's "The Outrage," in Gotham for biz huddles . . . 20th will put "South Pacific" into 15 additional re-release engagements this week . . . Paramount reissuing "Hud" in 68 Gotham theatres today (Wed.) accompanied on the bill by "Come Blow Your Horn" . . Ralph B. Serpe, Yank rep for Dino De Laurentiis huddling with the producer in Rome and Lon Jones, pub director for the Italo producer, is in New York from Rome for meetings with U.S.-Canadian ad-pub chief Arthur Manson on the "Bible" campaign.

Alfred Katz, UA foreign sales v.p., in Mexico City on the first lap of an extended Latin American tour discussing current and upcoming product . . . New American Library has gone into its second printing of its paperback edition of Jean Anouilh's "Becket," which has a cover etc. tieup with the Hal Willis-Par pic . . . Mitchell Kowal in Chicago from the Coast today (Wed.) to screen his new Polish import "Guests Are Coming" for exhibs . . . 20th's "Shock Treatment" will open in 24 new domestic engagements this week.

Gore Vidal, who suffered a torn ligament in his right foot running to catch a plane in Washington (where else?) last week, off to the Coast from Gotham to attend the preem there of his "Best Man" April 21 at the Varsity Theatre and to do some promo work in front . . . Chill Wills inked for Metro's "The Rounders" . . . Paramount's annual report figures expected within the week and UA's will most likely not be far behind.

Seymour Mayer, Metro International first v.p., in Tokyo for a series of regional meetings with the company's Far East sales personnel in Hong Kong (April 14) and Manila (April 17) as well . . . "Bandits of Orgosolo," Italo pic written, directed and lensed by Vittorio De Seta, will have its U.S. preem April 13 at the Paris Theatre, Pathe-Contemporary Films distributing . . . Metro is so anxious that the trade know that its "Yellow Rolls Royce" has begun lensing in London that producer Anatole De Grunwald is cabling wordy wires to that effect from abroad.

Besides that double-truck in Sunday's (12) Times, Warners has another and more subtle angle to its longrange ad campaign for "My Fair Lady." Subway placards blossomed last week, reading only "Watch this space for the most 'loverly' announcement in motion picture history". . . Catholic critic John E. Fitzgerald takes two pages in the April 12 "Our Sunday Visitor" to explain the Second Vatican Council's "Decree on the Media of Social Communication". . . Sam Zerinsky, coproducer of "W.I.A." (Wounded In Action), back from Philippines with completed work print. Pic was produced under Myriad Productions banner, features Steve Marlo and Maura McGiveney. Myriad is negotiating for distribution.

Lionex Films has acquired Antonio Pietrangeli's "Love A La Carte" with cast headed by Simone Signoret, Emmanuelle Riva, Sandra Milo and Marcello Mastroianni, for early summer release. Pic, made in Italy in 1960, was originally "Adua E La Compagne."

Charlton Heston was awarded a 1964 Northwestern U. "applause award" last week at the school's New York Annual Variety Night at the Lamb's Club. His wife, Lydia, accepted for him since the actor is on location in Mexico with "Major Dundee" and Judith Crist presented . . . James Garner back in Hollwood after shooting in Lisbon for Metro's "36 Hours" . . . art director Richard Sylbert and production manager Jack Fier in New York scouting locations for UA's "How To Murder Your Wife" . . . Connie Francis on the Coast appearing at Melodyland . . . Joseph Brenner has acquired "The Moral and the Immoral" for U.S.-Canadian distribution.

Dino De Laurentiis hosted 100 visiting U.S. newsboys in Rome last week to a tour of his "Bible" exhibition and posed for photos with the boys, as did director John Huston and Italo comedian Alberto Sordi. Youngsters are on a European junket sponsored by Parade Magazine . . . George Hamilton back in Hollywood after a research trip to Nashville, Tenn., prepping for his role as Hank Williams in MGM's "Your Cheatin' Heart" . . . Bache & Co., the investment house, was touting Disney stock last week . . . UA currently perking in the Gotham area with six pix in release . . "Carpetbaggers" getting plugged this week at the International Photo Fair in New York via pix by unit still man Art Say and Par studio portrait photog Hal Bulloch.

Universal's "Island of the Blue Dolphins" has been given an A-1 rating by the Legion of Decency with recommendations as "superior family entertainment". . . Ross Hunter's "Chalk Garden" awarded Parents' Magazine "special merit medal" for June.

Terry Hatch new account supervisor for Fred A. Niles Communications Center, Chicago . . . Sturgis-Grant Productions, industrial filmmakers, observing 15th anni with record six films in the works. Titles include such intriguing items as "Modern Obstetrics: Normal Delivery". . . John Anthony Hayes, actor in Columbia's "Ride The Wild

(Continued on page 20)

Industrial Film Companies In Box; Denied Federal Loans As 'Service'

Film Producers Assn., an east coast organization which represents a large percentage of commercial and industrial filmmakers, has been trying to get its classification by the Small Business Administration changed from a service to a manufacturer. This is because (1) FPA feels that commercial production is not a service actually and (2) because its service rating with the SBA is cutting producers out of considerable government contract work.

Reason for the conflict over government contracts stems from the fact that companies classified by the SBA as a service must not exceed a certain gross dollar volume to qualify for contracts. As a manufacturer this is not the case because the requirement then is that a firm in question employ less than a given number of workers. Commercial filmmakers don't make it as a service but would easily qualify as a manufacturer.

As it stands now, a service must not gross in excess of $1,000,000 to bid for government work. This eliminates almost all commercial filmmakers. In appealing to the SBA, the FPA got at least this point across and the Administration is raising the limit to $3,000,000. This new top isn't in effect yet but even when it does take effect, FPA claims that the new limit won't help much.

The major difference is that, as a manufacturer, the requirement for bidding on government contracts is that a company not employ more than 750 workers. There are practically no commercial film houses who employ close to 750 people so this would be a requirement easily filled by FPA members and just about any other for that matter.

FPA exec director Harold Klein has been in Washington pleading the producers' case on a couple of occasions. So far the most he's been able to accomplish has been the raise in top to $3,000,000. But he isn't satisfied and is still aiming at the reclassification. He will meet again in another month or so.

Government contract work, is of course, of considerable importance to almost all forms of industry. Commercial filmmakers are frequently in biz jams and the more government work they could corral the better. It seems a difficult task, however, to convince the SBA that a commercial picture maker is a manufacturer and not a service as he has been carried on the books for some time.

'Tom Jones' May Be Hit But North Central Allied Hits Terms Versus Cost

Minneapolis, April 14.

Is up to 90% being demanded for a picture that cost only $400,000 to make?

Although "Tom Jones" (UA) is breaking boxoffice records for a non-roadshow picture and has garnered unanimous newspaper rave reviews, it received somewhat of a slap at the annual convention of North Central Allied, this territory's national Allied unit, here last week.

The verbal blow actually was struck at the picture's distributor, United Artists.

During a discussion anent percentage, charges were made that up to 90% is being demanded for a movie that cost only $400,000 to make. [UA says "Jones" cost $1,300,000.]

There were glaring errors in NCA members' figures, UA people here are saying.

British Censor Passes 'Silence'

London, April 14.

Ingmar Bergman's "The Silence," which has already proved to be a good grosser in the United States as well as in Europe, has been passed by the British film censor with little more scissoring than a few frame cuts. It has, inevitably, been accorded an X certificate, which imposes an automatic bar on under-16s.

The film is being distributed in Britain through Gala Films, and managing director Kenneth Rive is now finalizing plans for a dual West End launchings in two of his first run art theatres within the coming week or two. He is presenting it in the same dubbed version as used by Janus Films in America, and confidently predicts that it will develop as one of the company's all-time b.o. champs. There is, it appears, also a possibility of a full circuit release, which is quite unique for an import of this nature.

The presentation of "The Silence" is the spearhead of the company's 1964 schedule, which includes a number of major European and Japanese productions, among them, Henry Clouzot's "Du Fond de la Nuit," with Romy Schneider and Serge Reggiani; Francois Truffaut's "La Peau Douce"; Louis Malle's "Le Feu Follet"; and Akira Kurosawa's "Swordsman of Death" (Sanjuro). The current release schedule also includes "Women of the World," Jean Cocteau's "La Belle et la Bete" and "Orphee," "Mondo Cane" and "Mondo Cane No. 2," "8½" and "Mama Roma."

Rive, who is partnered in Gala with William Boxer, is a member of the Variety crew and will be attending the international convention in Buffalo next June. On his return he will go into immediate production with his latest British film, "Lion Man," which is a combined Galaworld and Gordon Film venture. Richard Gordon represents Gala in the U.S. The company's recent British productions have included "Devil Doll" and "The Boys."

Situation in Chile

Buenos Aires, April 14.

Robert Corkery, the Motion Picture Export Assn.'s Latin American veep, took time off from the Argentine film fest here last week to make a quick trip to Santiago, Chile, in an effort to clear up the dollar remittance problem and to speed the issuance of import licenses. Dollar-short Chile promised in November, 1962, to okay the remittance of the then substantial backlog of dollars over the next 18 months and to keep abreast on the remittance of current earnings. However, they are now four months behind on the backlog and six months behind on "current" earnings.

Corkery reportedly received assurances that the dollar remittances would be stepped up, and that the Federal Bank of Chile would speed the issuance of import licenses. In the case of the latter, the situation has been complicated by the fact that the Bank, when it issues the import permits, is also required to issue remittance permits for the amount of dollars repped by the cost of prints and ad-promotion material. These "import dollars" have not been approved recently, aggravating the already tough remittance situation.

Balaban: Par Not Cold on Telemeter

Contrary to some reports which have been circulating in the trade, Paramount isn't planning any demise of its Telemeter tollvision division prez Barney Balaban affirmed this week. In fact, he noted, a meeting was held last Thursday (9) at which the future of the subsid was charted.

Telemeter prez Leslie Winik, also commenting on the toll arm, said that several negotiations involving product which have been in the works for some time are coming to a head. Also, other developmental plans involving Telemeter equipment are understood to be progressing satisfactorily. The result of both of these factors will mean considerable progress for the subsid within the next few months, it was projected, although not spelled out.

One project which Telemeter has been trying to activate is the reshowing of "Showgirl," the Broadway show starring Carol Channing which it produced for toll at a cost of $100,000. It has been shown but once in the Toronto area at which time 37% of the total number of subscribers paid $1.50 to see it via pay tv. There were 5,000 sets on the line at that time. This was considered an effective showing but, of course, didn't make but a dent in the overall nut.

Pat Weaver's Subscription TV on the Coast and the RKO General Hartford toll setups are reportedly interested in showing it now and so is Telemeter interested in re-screening it in Toronto, considering the success on Broadway of "Hello Dolly," another vehicle for Miss Channing. A stagehands union demand that $16,000 be paid for each additional re-showing is holding things up.

Screen Directors Intl. As Home for Assistants?

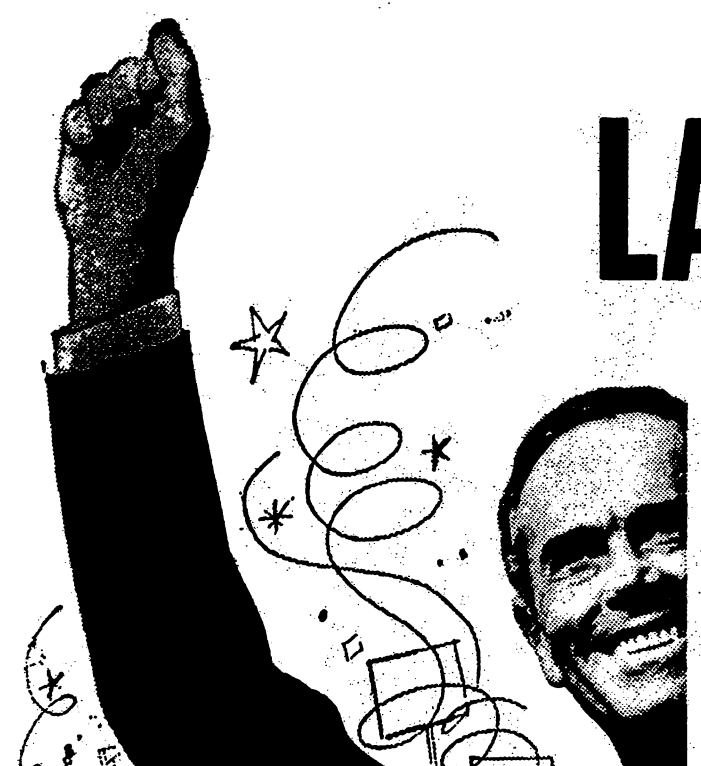
A possibility exists that the Screen Directors International Guild may at some future date attempt to establish an assitant directors divsion. A few months ago, the Coast Directors Guild of America took into its ranks the assistants who belonged to International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes Local 161, which has remained in existance as a script supervisors unit.

It is pointed out that the SDIG midwestern arm presently has such a subdivision. The parent SDIG, however, includes assistants in its regular ranks, making no distinction. The result is that, while assistants are separately represented on the Coast via DGA, they have no individual representation in the East. Although this is not of major consequence, the move is part of the growing labor re-thinking that has begun to develop on the Atlantic shore.

No action in this area will be even seriously discussed for at least a month or two pending the SDIG elections which will be held May 27 in New York. It will be up to the new administrations to take up or reject the suggestion which has been kicking around the guild lately. Other moves, aimed at strengthening the guild's position, are also being tossed about in the aftermath of the membership's rejection of merger terms proposed by DGA.

Dig Dynamic Downtown Denver

Denver, April 14.



All the first run houses this week cooperated with the Downtown Merchants Assn. and the Rocky Mountain News for a week of special activities that pulled a lot of people to the centre of town.

Daily bargain specials were offered by most of the retail stores and the theatres outdid themselves with special events. A week long free cooking and homemakers school was conducted each morning by Ralph Batschlet, manager of the 2,432-seat Denver, packed the house. Midweek saw the World Premiere of "The Carpetbaggers" (Par) at the Paramount with stars in person and much of the ballyhoo of the old days.

Other houses had special matinees, shoppers bargain hours, Salute to Armed Forces programs and various events to tie in with the theme of "Dynamic Downtown Denver," all of which was designed to reverse the trend to the countless shopping centres which now ring this burg.

Vivien Leigh makes her first Hollywood appearance since 1951, when she did "A Streetcar Named Desire," will be in Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools" for Columbia Pictures.

A LANDSLIDE VOTE FOR 'THE BEST MAN'

"HIGHLY ENTERTAINING! A RAZZLE-DAZZLE RENDERING OF GORE VIDAL'S STAGE PLAY! Even more vivid, energetic and lacerating on the screen . . . more shockingly intense! Stuart Millar and Lawrence Turman are fortunate to have Henry Fonda . . . he gets precisely the mixture of hot ambition and cool humility to make the Presidential aspirations. Cliff Robertson is excellent, too." — Bosley Crowther, N. Y. Times

★★★★ "FOUR STARS (HIGHEST RATING) DEVASTATING DRAMA THAT IS ALSO SCANDALOUSLY AMUSING! Brilliantly written, with malice toward some, by Gore Vidal. Directed skillfully and with no waste motion by Franklin Schaffner and superbly acted! Lee Tracy, bless him, steals the show as a cagy, vinegary old ex-President!" — Wanda Hale, N. Y. Daily News

"A LITERATE, TRENCHANT FILM ABOUT POLITICS AND IT COULDN'T BE MORE TIMELY! Sophisticated, cynical . . . minces no words. Impressive cast!" — William Peper, N. Y. World-Tel. and Sun

". . . A SWIFT, TAUT, SHARPLY DRAWN AND ENGROSSING PICTURE! On stage . . . a first-rate theatrical entertainment . . . in film it is even better! Performances are excellent! Franklin Schaffner directed for power, pace, realism and achieves them all!" — Jesse Zunser, Cue

"'THE BEST MAN' IS A WITTY, SOPHISTICATED SCREEN COMEDY! It is funny, it is biting, it is wise. As for wit, the quips fly like chips and one's only regret is that one can't catch them all. Lee Tracy is great, just great." — Philip K. Scheuer, L. A. Times

"A FIRST-RATE MOVIE! BRISK, BITING AND OUTSPOKEN! IT'S STRONG MEDICINE — NO PUNCHES HAVE BEEN PULLED! Gore Vidal's hard-hitting political melodrama has been brought to the screen with gusto. Top-notch performances. Lee Tracy's superbly subtle portrait of the bourbon-and-branchwater politico . . . is perfection! Henry Fonda . . . ideal. Franklin Schaffner's direction is marked by a taut immediacy!" — Judith Crist, N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"'THE BEST MAN' IS A PICTURE OF OUTSTANDING WIT, WISDOM, KNOWLEDGE AND BACKGROUND! Three astonishing performances . . . Lee Tracy, Henry Fonda and Shelley Berman. The picture entertains grandly! Gore Vidal, a brilliant writer. Wickedly witty dialogue. Young producers Stuart Millar and Lawrence Turman have here put together a picture that can be rejected only by the thoughtless!" — Archer Winsten, N. Y. Post

"ONE ABSORBING INCIDENT AFTER ANOTHER! Gore Vidal's observations are sharp, his theatrical craftsmanship is adroit and his dialogue is topical and frequently hilarious! Script fairly crackles with knowledgeable quips! Both Fonda and Robertson score soundly as the antagonists, and Lee Tracy, repeating his stage role, does a good deal of scene stealing. Highly entertaining melodrama!" — Rose Pelswick, N. Y. Journal-American

STUART MILLAR and LAWRENCE TURMAN present GORE VIDAL'S

THE BEST MAN

STARRING
HENRY FONDA ☆ CLIFF ROBERTSON ☆ EDIE ADAMS ☆ MARGARET LEIGHTON
SHELLEY BERMAN ☆ LEE TRACY and ANN SOTHERN

CO-STARRING
GENE RAYMOND · KEVIN McCARTHY
and MAHALIA JACKSON · HOWARD K. SMITH
JOHN HENRY FAULK · RICHARD ARLEN

Directed by FRANKLIN SCHAFFNER Screenplay by GORE VIDAL Produced on the Stage by ROGER L. STEVENS Music by MORT LINDSEY
Produced by STUART MILLAR and LAWRENCE TURMAN

THRU UA

S.E.C.-Reported Buys & Sells

(Feb. 11 to March 10)

Washington, April 14.

David Sarnoff sold a big chunk of Radio Corp. of America stock, William S. Paley did likewise with CBS shares and Harry Brandt made heavy additions to his Trans-Lux Corp. holdings to highlight insider deals for Feb. 11 to March 10 round.

As reported by the Securities and Exchange Commission, Sarnoff disposed of 60,000 RCA shares, dropping his total to 137,235. In other RCA deals, Melvin Kearns picked up 1,908 boosting his total to 3,114 and Robert Werner took an option on 8,424 upping total to 23,424.

At CBS, Paley sold 65,500 shares leaving him 1,391,968 personal holdings. He owns another 297,430 through a holding company 9,178 as a trustee.

Directly and indirectly Brandt pulled in 17,500 Trans-Lux shares. Of that amount 3,500 were personal holdings boosting that total to 131,985. Through wholly owned companies he gained 9,200 raising those holdings to 19,836. He brought in 3,400 shares through 50% owned companies and 1,400 through foundations giving him totals of 10,212 and 52,237 respectively in those categories. His wife also owns 20,265.

Other insider deals reported by SEC (Common unless otherwise noted) were:

Allied Artists — Roger Hurlock privately purchased 400 for total 41,900.

Capitol Cities Broadcasting Corp. Roger Peebles took option on first 1,000 and Daniel Welnig did the same on 1,300 for total 2,600.

Columbia Broadcasting—Samuel Dean sold 3,400 with 3,556 remaining. William Fitts disposed of 2,200 leaving him 1,508. J. A. W. Iglehart purchased 220 and pulled in 20,000 through a stock split giving him 40,000.

Columbia Pictures—Rube Jacter shed 2,900 leaving him 2,946. Stanley Schneider picked up 269 for total 687 and Sol Schwartz added 200 for total 3,355.

Decca Records — MCA Inc. bought 1,277 for total 1,397,597.

Loew's Theatres Inc.—Jay Wells sold 5,000 through a holding company with 15,100 remaining in that bracket. He personally holds 1,933 and his wife owns 3,450.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer — William Parker, through the Parker Corp., let go of the corporation's only 500. He still holds 1,000.

Movielab Film Labs Ins. — Harry Brandt through the Brandt Foundation disposed of the foundation's 1,000. He still owns 2,028.

National General—Eugene Klein added 3,000 personals for total 241,787. He holds another 15,818 in a partnership and 3,120 through a foundation. Samuel Schulman disposed of 6,700 with 48,928 remaining. Of that total 2,500 was transferred to ex-associates, 1,200 sold in a private transaction and 3,000 switched in lieu of counsel fees.

Reeves Broadcasting — Morris Schecter gained 500 for total 1,300.

Taft Broadcasting—William Hansher took option on 106 for total 1,247 and Lawrence Rogers II did same on 1,470 for total 5,005. R. T. Schlinkert shed 800 of prior 832 and Charles Taft sold 300 leaving him 16,052.

Factions Marshal In Directors Vote

Screen Directors International Guild will hold its annual election of officers at the body's May 27 membership meeting in New York. A slate of candidates is now being firmed up by the nominating committee to be mailed to members.

The way things appear to be shaping up, the elections will reflect the continued struggle within the guild of factions favoring immediate merger with the Hollywood Directors Guild of America and those opposed to amalgamation until what the group considers to be satisfactory terms are worked out. In a recent referendum, the SDIG membership voted down a merger offer by DGA. The SDIG is continuing to maintain its merger committee in the hopes of starting some fresh talks on the subject. Next move, however, the guild claims is up to Hollywood.

One stipulation laid down by the nominations committee is that no director who is also in a position to hire other directors, such as a producer-director, will be permited to run for Guild office. This is being done in the interest of running an election on the issues, with no employment pressures being brought to bear. There are directors who also operate on the side of management from time to time and it is also figured that bargaining position of the Guild would be weakened by having divided loyalty.

New Buffalo Playoff Pattern Reaches Peak

Buffalo, April 14.

Current tendency toward multiple day and date bookings reached a peak here Easter week when Elvis Presley's "Kissin' Cousins" (Metro) was exhibited firstrun at the downtown Shea's Buffalo (Loews) and at the Aero, Sheridan and Star Drive-ins. Each of the theatres is under separate management and operation.

Also, at the same time the first run Century (UATC) is showing "Captain Newman" (U) day and date with Schine's Granada.

To top the disarray, Dipson's Colvin, north side nabe, is showing "Paris When It Sizzles" (Paramount) on an exclusive first run for the first time.

Times Film Mixed Bag (France, Greece, Brazil) For Marketing in 1964

In addition to acquisition of the "Grand Olympics," Italo film coverage of the 1960 Olympics in Technicolor, Times Films has also set for 1964 distribution three French one Greek and one Brazilian film.

Jean Goldwurm said last week that his company would release, starting in July, "The Devil's woman," "Highway Pickup," "Chair de Poule" (tentative title), "The Red Lanterns" and "The Greatest Train Robbery."

"Devil's Woman," the 1960 French-Italian "Eva," stars Jeanne Moreau and Stanley Baker. Director is Joseph Losey, whose "The Servant" is playing here currently. Featured in the film is Verna Lisi, now in Hollywood as Jack Lemmon's co-star in "How to Murder Your Wife." The film, to be released in July, presents no dubbing problem as it was originally filmed with an English soundtrack.

"Highway Pickup" was produced by Roger Vadim and directed by Christian Marquand. Under its French title, "Les Grands Chemins," it was shown at the 1963 Locarno Film Fest. An August release, it will be dubbed. Starring Robert Hossein, Renato Salvatori and Anouk Aimee, pic is in Cinemascope and Eastmancolor.

"Chair de Poule," scheduled for October release, will be given a new English title. The Julien Duvivier suspenser stars Robert Hossein and Jean Sorel.

"The Red Lanterns," one of the "best foreign language nominations" for the Academy Award, is Greek production directed by Vassilis Georgiadis. It will be released in sub-titled version at first, followed by a dubbed version.

"The Greatest Train Robbery" is a Brazilian thriller, the title of which is self-explanatory. It will be dubbed.

Financial investments in these six pictures is over $1,000,000 according to general sales manager Irving Sochin. "This is the biggest expenditure we have had since the company was formed in 1946 for one year's product and this is only April. When Mr. Goldwurm goes to Cannes he may add a few more pictures."

Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, once married, join forces again professionally as costars of William Castle's "The Night Walker" at Universal.

Loew's Chieftains Disperse

Two days of meetings of Loew's Theatres division manager and home office execs and dept. heads concluded Thursday (9). Co-chairmen of the confabs were Arthur M. Tolchin, asst. to the president, Bernard F. Myerson, exec v.p. and Bernard Diamond, general manager.

Division reps attending were Orville Crouch (southern), William Trambukis (northeastern), Herbert Brown (midwest), James Bruno and Dan S. Cohen (Greater N.Y.).

Income Rises In Foreign Parts For American Int'l

Foreign income for March was 25% higher than any previous month in the history of American International Pictures, per its foreign distribution v.p. David D. Horne.

Just back from seven weeks in the Far East in which he made some distribution deals (reported in April 1 issue of VARIETY), Horne also set William Dow as Far Eastern Supervisor, replacing Ed Ugast. Dow will h.q. in Tokyo. The company has ended its association there with Robert Lury, who had been its special rep, and is in final steps of setting up a representation deal with one of the major Japanese distributors. Deal is pending lifting of its licensing arrangements by the Japanese government, now scheduled for July 1. AIP has a temporary agreement for distribution until then.

Horne reported that AIP is currently negotiating for distribution of a package of major company reissues in the East as a service to its franchisers and to supplement the AIP product.

Distribution agreements have been set during the last few weeks also in East Africa, Venezuela, Trinidad, Chile, Peru, Greece, Spain, Iceland, Liberia and Jamaica, deals that are supplemental to existing ones. Also to be served are Hong Kong, Singapore, the Philippines, Australia, Iran, Iraq, Greece, UN troops in the Gaza Strip, and ARAMCO (the oil company). Horne will leave April 20 for a fast swing through the Caribbean before departing May 1 for the Cannes Film Festival.

Horne said that decline in production by all the major companies puts AIP in much better position than ever before in concentrating on the world market. He agreed that AIP would consider coproduction with foreign companies but only on a good, completed script.

Asked whether the pending deal in Japan included tv, Horne said that he did not discuss tv as he has nothing to do with it (even though AIP has a newly-formed tv arm).

Busy Casting Directors As U Turns Up Steam

Accelerated production at Universal has necessitated fast but important casting of key roles in some shooting and ready-to-go features. Charles Boyer will do his first Hollywood feature in almost two years with one of the leads in "The Favor," a Universal-Lankershim-Gibraltar production written by Stanley Shapiro and Nate Monaster. Rock Hudson is also toplined, with start set for mid-July.

Terry-Thomas has been set by producer-director Melvin Frank for a guest bit in "Strange Bedfellows," headlining Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida and Gig Young. The British comedian checks in at Universal as soon as he winds UA's "How To Murder Your Wife."

Kim Darby, tv actress, has been inked by producer Elliott Kastner to make her film debut in "Bus Riley's Back In Town." She'll play Michael Parks' younger sister in the original by William Inge.

Verboten, Natch

The one theme a motion picture cannot have if it wants to be shown by Inflight is that involving travel disaster.

No use even screening it, they just won't consider it.

WB, Disney Eschew Jet Set As Other Majors Go Airborne

By ROBERT B. FREDERICK

With the exception of Warner Bros. and Disney product, the major film companies are going along with the showing of motion pictures to passengers on transcontinental and international flights.

The long romance between Trans-World Airlines and Inflight, which equips and shows the airborne features, was really solidified when the airline stated last week that service would be extended to cross-country coach passengers as of April 26.

The new audience, however, will be required to come up with $1 for use of earphones if they're interested in hearing as well as seeing the proffered films.

Abstainer distributors from the plan have their own reasons why they'd rather have filmgoers do their viewing between flights rather than Inflight, reasons which probably aren't as inflexible as they sound.

Buena Vista president Irving H. Ludwig said, of the Disney policy, "We do not feel that we have to do what everybody else is doing. Our pictures are, perhaps, a little different than the other fellows and until we get a better feeling of the manner in which our family-type pictures will be shown, we're just going to wait. There's no substitute for a theatre filled with children and their parents. That is the only reason we have abstained so far from showing on board airlines."

Downing's Reservation

One theatre operator who'd rather not have films shown to passengers on planes coming into New York is Radio City Music Hall prez Russell Downing. He's not against the idea, generally, but said that he had "pointed out to the film companies" that planes coming into New York is Radio out-of-towners who planned to visit his theatre. If they were shown, on the plane, the same picture that he was showing, he considered it a conflict of interests on the part of the patrons.

"I have nothing against the idea as long as they're showing something that has been here already. I don't care what they do with a film after it has been here."

Warner Bros. attitude was also in the "include me out" category for the present. A company spokesman in N.Y. said "Warner Bros. isn't selling films to Inflight nor do we have any plans to do so. We have investigated the idea and do not consider it a very good business possibility."

Happier Ones

Happier about the whole thing, apparently, are the other majors who've been serving Inflight for some time. Upcoming bookings include "Paris When It Sizzles," "Honeymoon Hotel," "From Russia With Love," "Third Secret," "Wild and Wonderful," "Rnino," "Best Man," "World of Henry Orient," "Pink Panther," "Bedtime Story," "Signpost to Murder" and, possibly, "Looking For Love" and "Chalk Garden."

TWA has had Inflight service since 1961 and, actually, served as testing ground for development of process over the preceding five years.

David Flexer, president of Inflight and its developer, said that necessarily slow growth of company was result of the necessarily large technical and financial outlay. TWA has exclusive U.S. rights to process for approximately another year but Inflight has long been negotiating with other major airlines.

Cost of installing system in one plane, according to Flexer, is approximately $25,000 and it must be in all planes before service can be made available to the public. "You can't advertise it until you have it throughout the fleet," said Flexer.

Installation is far from simple. Time required is approximately 48 "down" hours but, while a plane is down every ten hours, it seldom is doing so at Kansas City, the installation point, for a consecutive two days. Potential, even on TWA, is large as the airline has 25 domestic and seven transatlantic flights daily that can use the service.

Pakistan Airlines has also been using Inflight on its London-East flights since April 1962.

20 Potential Users

Flexer said that approximately 20 international airlines are potential customers, 18 of them having North Atlantic-to-Europe flights. Not all, however, have a large number of planes to equip, such as TWA's 50 and Pan-Am's 64. "We expect to be on half of these 20 lines," said Flexer, "but the half that represents 75% of global traffic. That's why we'll do business with the big lines even when it costs $25,000 to equip one plane."

Contract negotiations with these airlines are long, drawnout affairs and create another delay in the spread of the system. All equipment used is the property of Inflight, which also buys and books the films. TWA buys the total service.

Operation is completely automatic as use of an operator would make it economically unfeasable. Two projectors, showing the same feature, will be used when coach showings start. The first-class screen is two feet X four feet, with a 20-foot throw; coach, because of a necessary 52-foot throw, will use a slightly larger 30" x 60" screen. Flight engineer turns on service and can repair any mechanical failure if comparatively simple. Major repairs, which Inflight people say are very rare, would require turning off service.

Film purchases are handled out of Inflight's N.Y. office. Director of film industry affairs Max Fellerman and booker Bob Pigue see an average of five features a week. With weekly change (made mid-week so weekending regulars won't see same film), 52 features a year are needed and are usually bought in groups of six.

Inflight pays film companies a stipulated fee per showing, which is the same regardless of feature or company. The 16m film must not run much over two hours. This is necessitated not only by flight time but size of reels which are much larger than would be required in ground-based operation. With no room for changeover, all film must go on one reel. Longest film shown to date has been Metro's 135 min. "The Prize."

Most popular films shown are comedies, mysteries and musicals, although TWA reports it has had comparatively few requests from customers for particular films. "They're more concerned with whether they've seen the feature already," said TWA's Dave Moffett. "It is true that we've had flight reservations changed because the seatholder had already seen the film or wanted to catch one that would be shown on a later flight."

Stanley Warner Notably Enhanced

Stanley Warner Corp.'s consolidated operating profit for quarter ending Feb. 29 was almost double profit for same period last year. Amounted to $846,600, equivalent of 41c per share. Profit for same quarter last year was $429,200 or 21c per share.

For the six months period ending Feb. 29 figure of $1,973,900 equalled to 96c per share compared with 52c per share for similar half-year prior.

Stanley Warner charged $368,800 to earned surplus during this six months, amount resulting from unusual property dispositions. During same period last year, charge of $10,100 was made.

Merchandise sales, theatre admissions and other income amounting to $35,102,100 was racked up for the three months compared to similar income of $32,672,900 last year. This income, for six month period, amounted to $72,021,900, up from 1963's $66,881,700.

Theatre Network Television Inc. has merged TNT Electronics Inc., according to a certificate filed at Albany by Weil, Gorshal & Manges.

